No. 21 Rutgers field hockey will play its final two regular season games this weekend. The Scarlet Knights will travel to No. 6 Penn State for a contest Friday, then return home to host No. 12 Maryland Sunday for Senior Day, televised live on the Big Ten Network. Dean Linke and Kara Lentz will have the call on BTN.

The Scarlet Knights (9-6 overall) are seeking to reach double-digit wins for the first time since 2008 and the first time under current head coach Meredith Civico. The team has already recorded a recorded three Big Ten Conference wins this season.

Rutgers finishes the regular season against two top-12 opponents, making it eight of their final ten games of the season coming against nationally ranked foes. RU's three ranked wins this season (over No. 23 Old Dominion, No. 19 Iowa and No. 12 Stanford) are the record for ranked wins in a season, and the victory over No. 12 Stanford was the highest ranked team beaten in program history.

Emily Howarth notched defensive saves in each game last weekend, and now sits ninth in the NCAA with five defensive saves on the year. RU has eight defensive saves on the year. Penn State leads the nation with 14 defensive saves.

Rutgers will honor five seniors on Sunday for Senior Day - captains Haley Meade and Simrin Dhillon, Katie Beilin, Jessica Carey and Jade Dixon.

Penn State enters the weekend at 12-3 overall and 4-2 in the conference. The Nittany Lions are led offensively by Moira Putsch, who paces the squad with 13 goals, 11 assists and 37 points. Between the pipes, Jenny Rizzo has a 1.27 goals-against-average and a .802 save percentage that tops the conference. In the all-time series, Penn State leads 16-4-3, with Rutgers last win coming in 1985.

Maryland comes into the weekend at 11-5 overall and 5-2 in the league. The Terps have won five straight, including three straight ranked wins versus No. 25 Ohio State, No. 6 Penn State and No. 3 Virginia. Lein Holsboer leads the team with 10 goals, nine assists and 29 points. In goal Sarah Holliday has a 1.47 goals-against-average and .769 save percentage. Maryland leads the all-time series against the Terrapins 29-3-1. The last RU victory came in 1998.

HEAD COACH MEREDITH CIVICO

Meredith Civico enters her sixth season at the helm of the Rutgers field hockey program in 2017.

In 2016, Rutgers won nine games, and made their second appearance in the Big Ten Tournament. The team claimed its highest ranked victory in program history by defeating No. 15 Iowa. Senior Alyssa Bull was named Second Team All-Big Ten, while underclassmen Linde van Schaik (First Team) and Katie Larmour (Second Team) were named all-region selections.

In 2015, Rutgers won seven games under Civico's leadership. Freshman Linde van Schaik had a breakthrough debut campaign, earning Second Team All-Big Ten and All-Mid-Atlantic Region honors.

Civico guided Rutgers into a new era in 2014, as the team joined the Big Ten Conference. The Scarlet Knights qualified for postseason play for the first time since 2010, reaching the Big Ten Conference Tournament by claiming two victories over Big Ten foes. Back Sofia Walia was honored for an excellent sophomore season, being named to the First Team Longstreth/NFHCA Division I All-Mid-Atlantic Region and Second Team All-Big Ten.

In 2013, Civico was responsible for leading the program to a 9-9 finish, the first .500 record at season's end for the program since 2008. The Scarlet Knights battled eight nationally ranked opponents, picking up a 1-0 win over No. 16 Drexel, and losing by just a single goal in five of those matchups. Two of Civico's players earned postseason recognition from the 2013 campaign. Midfielder Sophie Wright and back Sofia Walia were each named to the 2013 All-Big EAST Second Team and 2013 Longstreth/NFHCA Division I All-Mid-Atlantic Region Second Team.

In her debut year, Civico led the Scarlet Knights to a 9-10 overall record. Civico guided RU through six matchups against nationally-ranked opponents, highlighted by a thrilling 3-2 victory over No. 19 Albany in the season opener. The Scarlet Knights lost by a single goal on three occasions against ranked opponents.

Civico would also mentor the BIG EAST Rookie of the Year, Alyssa Bull, in her inaugural season. Bull's accolade marked the first player in program history to receive the honor. Additionally, Bull and teammates Lisa Patrone, Carlie Rouh and Jenn Staab were named to the All-BIG EAST Second Team, while Bull and Patrone were named to the 2012 Longstreth/NFHCA Division I Mid-Atlantic Region Second Team and Rouh was selected for the 2012 Division I Senior Game. Under Civico's leadership, Rutgers had won at least nine games in three consecutive seasons for the first time since 1999.

Off the field, Civico's teams have been impressive in the classroom. Most recently, Sarah Regn was recognized as a Big Ten Postgraduate Scholarship recipient. In the 2016-17 academic year, RU had 12 players named to the Big Ten All-Academic Team, following having 13 representatives on that list the year before. The team had 15 members named to the 2016 ZAG Field Hockey / NFHCA Division I National Academic Squad, with two players (Nicole Imbriacco and Victoria Crans) named Scholars of Distinction for holding a cumulative GPA of 3.9 or higher.

In 2014, Rutgers had 11 members of the All-Big Ten Academic Team, with junior Nicole Imbriacco receiving recognition for her unblemished 4.0 cumulative GPA. The team recorded a 3.51 GPA, which was the highest among Rutgers' teams and fourth among the nation's field hockey squads. Sixteen members of the team were named to the NFHCA National Academic Squad.

Former Rutgers field hockey standout Lisa Patrone was tabbed the field hockey recipient of the 2013-14 BIG EAST Scholar-Athlete Sport Excellence Award. Rutgers has been well represented on the BIG EAST All-Academic team, with eighteen members named in 2012-13 and seventeen in 2013-14. In addition to the team award, 13 Scarlet Knights were named to the 2012 Gladiator by SGI / NFHCA Division I National Academic Squad. To be named to the squad, student-athletes must achieve a cumulative GPA of 3.30 or higher through the first semester.

Prior to being appointed head coach in January of 2012, Civico served as interim head coach for two months and was an assistant coach with the Scarlet Knights for two seasons. Civico enjoyed success in her first season on staff for the Scarlet Knights, helping secure a trip to the 2010 BIG EAST Tournament, the program's first appearance since 2003.

Civico spent the 2009 season as an assistant coach at Towson University, aiding in all aspects of the program. She oversaw recruiting, helped in tracking academic progress of student-athletes, and helped to coordinate team travel, among other duties.

Before her stay with the Tigers, Civico was an assistant for three seasons at the University of Vermont. She contributed on every facet of the team, from recruiting and scouting to the development of players. In addition, Civico also taught several classes at Vermont.

Civico commenced her collegiate playing career at Boston University, earning a spot on the 2001 America East All-Rookie team. She transferred to the University of Maryland, helping the Terrapins advance to the NCAA Final Four for three-straight seasons, including the 2005 ACC title and the 2005 NCAA National Championship. Civico was a member of the NFHCA/Styx Academic All-American team in 2003 and earned a spot on the ACC Honor Roll during the 2003-04 and 2004-05 campaigns. Civico graduated from Maryland in 2005 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in philosophy.

While at Ocean City High School, Civico played on three state championship teams (1998-2000), was a member of the United States Field Hockey Association High Performance Mid-Atlantic team and was a high school All-American.

Civico is a member of the National Field Hockey Coaches Association (NFHCA) and the United States Field Hockey Association (USFHA). In addition, she has been the head coach for the USFHA Futures Elite Program and the Mid-Atlantic Futures Elite Academy Site.
