SYRACUSE (13-12-5, 12-4-2 CHA) vs. PENN STATE (9-18-5, 8-8-2 CHA)

Paul Flanagan

Head Coach • 9th Year (18th overall)

Paul Flanagan joined Syracuse in March 2008 as women's ice hockey head coach and over the following eight seasons has built the program from an upstart to a perennial contender in the CHA.

In his eighth year at the helm, Flanagan led the Orange to its fifth CHA Championship Game appearance.

In 2015-16 Flanagan guided a league-high five student-athletes to all-conference accolades on the way to a fifth appearance in the CHA finals. He was also named CHA Coach of the Year for the third time.

In 2014-15, Akane Hosoyamada and Melissa Piacentini were named to the All-CHA First Team, Nicole Renault and Jenn Gilligan picked up second team honors and Alysha Burriss and Stephanie Grossi were added to the All-CHA Rookie Team. Grossi also was named CHA Rookie of the Year.

Flanagan also reached the century mark in wins at Syracuse, notching the program's 100th win in program history on Feb. 14, 2015 vs. Lindenwood.

Flanagan coached the squad to its best record in program history, 20-14-3 in 2013-14. In addition, Flanagan also reached a career milestone, becoming the ninth all-time winningest coach in women's college hockey with 332 wins including 102 at Syracuse.

Four Orange were named to the All-CHA team for their regular season performances. Nicole Renault earned a spot on the first team while Melissa Piacentini was voted to the second team. Jessica Sibley and Larissa Martyniuk each earned All-Rookie honors.

In 2012-13, Flanagan coached the squad to a 20-15-1 record and its highest finish in the CHA at second place with a mark of 13-6-1 in conference play. Flanagan also reached a coaching milestone, earning his 300th career victory and 70th at Syracuse.

Flanagan was named the 2013 College Hockey America Coach of the Year for the second time in his career. During the 2012-13 CHA tournament, the Orange advanced to its third title game before falling to Mercyhurst, 4-1. Akane Hosoyamada and Kallie Billadeau garnered all-conference first team honors in 2013 while Nicole Ferrara and Margot Scharfe were named to the second team. Nicole Renault was named to the All-Rookie team. Scharfe was named the CHA's best defensive forward for the second-straight year while Hosoyamada was honored as the best defenseman.

Flanagan is one of the most recognized names in collegiate ice hockey, leading St. Lawrence to four consecutive NCAA Frozen Four appearances which places second among active coaches.

The 300-Club

With a 4-1 win against Lindenwood on Feb. 27, 2013, Flanagan became just the sixth active coach in women's ice hockey to win 300 career games. The win against Lindenwood was also his 70th as the head coach of the Orange.

Coaching the 'Cuse

After just eight seasons, Flanagan and the Orange have made a name for SU ice hockey and are contending with the nation's best. Syracuse finished the 2009-10 season with an overall record of 18-17-1 and its first post-season victory in program history with a win against Niagara in the semifinals of the CHA tournament, doubling its win total after posting a 9-16-3 record in its inaugural season in 2008.

Flanagan has recruited an all-star roster including Syracuse's first Winter Olympian, Stephanie Marty, who competed for her native Swiss National Team at the 2010 Olympics in Vancouver and the 2014 Olympics in Sochi, where she helped earn Switzerland's first-ever medal in women's hockey. Marty's impressive work on and off the ice during the 2009-10 season earned her Second Team All-CHA, CHA All-Academic and ESPN The Magazine Academic All-District honors.

The 2010 College Hockey America (CHA) Coach of the Year led the Orange to its second consecutive appearance in the CHA Championship game in 2010-11, finishing the year with an overall record of 14-16-6.

Flanagan's squad boasted three members with CHA honors in 2010-11 led by Isabel Menard, who picked up her second straight selection to the All-CHA First Team list. Defender Akane Hosoyamada and goaltender Kallie Billadeau were both named to the CHA All-Rookie Team, making SU the only team with multiple student-athletes on the list.

Success at St. Lawrence

Flanagan was the head coach for the St. Lawrence women's ice hockey program from 1999-2008. He led the Saints to the women's NCAA Frozen Four Championship five times in his nine-year tenure, tying him for the most appearances in the country. Flanagan's four-year run (2003-07) of Frozen Four appearances is also tied for best in college hockey.

The Canton, N.Y. native accrued a 230-83-24 record with the Saints. His .692 win percentage is the sixth-best in the nation among active Division I coaches. Flanagan also has the seventh-most victories among active coaches.

While at St. Lawrence, he directed his fleet to the ECAC Hockey Tournament in each of his nine years. Flanagan's 2003-04 team shared the ECAC Hockey regular-season crown and the 2005-06 team won it outright. The 2005-06 Saints became the first squad in any sport at St. Lawrence to win more than 30 games in a season.

Flanagan made his presence felt in the Eastern College Athletic Conference (ECAC) hockey league. After Flanagan led St. Lawrence to its first National Championship game in only his second year, he was awarded the 2000-01 ECAC Hockey Coach of the Year and the American Hockey Coaches Association (AHCA) Coach of the Year.
