Shay Hagans | Guard | Freshman

Q. Where do you think the team is in terms of reaching its potential and how much room do you think you guys have to grow still even though you had that big fourth quarter and you get that momentum going? Where do you think the team is in terms of potential and growing from that?

A: The team right now, we're trying to set a goal right now, and I feel like we had that mindset and we want to do it, but we're not giving our all. I feel that everything comes from practice, so if we win in practice, we're going to win in the game, and I feel like we have to have that 'Mamba mentality.' We just always have that one struggle and I feel as if we all combined as a team, we can make it as far as we want it to be. I think we have a lot to improve. This is just the start. With the first year I'm here, I have three more years and we are going to prove so much that I'm actually really excited, and I'm excited to have Coach Kieger so we have a lot to prove.
