- Jaeden Burnham, Ava Eldridge, Arlette Hernandez, Madison Lenton, Taryn Madlock, Makayla Madrid, Kaylie Olivarez, Katia Reyes, Demiree Stafford, Emmersyn Villa and Sabrina Wick will all don the decal for UTSA softball - the highest percentage of any team on campus.

JUST DO IT

- The Roadrunners will don new threads in the 2026 season, as the squad makes the switch to Nike apparel.
- Nike became the official outfitter of UTSA Athletics beginning June 2, 2025, following a partnership with Nike and Game One that was announced in October of 2024.
- Game One, one of the largest and fastest growing equipment suppliers in the country that serves a loyal customer base of more than 130 colleges and universities nationally, will serve as the official supplier of the Roadrunners' uniform, apparel and footwear needs.

ON THE AIR

- UTSA boasts one of the top broadcasting crews in the country, as the tandem of Alex Loeb and Cat Osterman were up for several of the D1Softball Golden Mic Awards that recognize excellence in softball broadcasting.
- Loeb (play-by-play) and Osterman (analyst) call the Roadrunners' home games on ESPN+.
- Loeb recently completed his first season in UTSA's broadcast booth, while Osterman has called the Roadrunners' games for two seasons.

- As a team, Loeb and Osterman received nominations for the Best Broadcast Team award as well as Best Local Booth for announcing UTSA Softball.
- Loeb was also nominated for the Best Local Play-by-Play and Osterman for the Best Local Analyst.

FIRST GENERATION SPOTLIGHT: UTSA SOFTBALL'S SABRINA WICK

By: UTSA Athletics

Sabrina Wick will be a sophomore on the UTSA Softball team in 2026. She is a first-generation college student from The Colony, Texas.

Q: How is attending college as a first-generation student a unique experience?

Sabrina Wick: "It means a ton! Being a first-generation student has allowed me to learn independence, resilience and allowed me to build opportunities. My parents have also been a huge part of this journey, as they have always been super encouraging and supportive, and I think that's what makes it an even bigger deal to me."

Q: Why is attending college and graduating important for you?

Sabrina Wick: "Attending and graduating college is so important to me because of my parents. I know both of them want the best for me and they are so supportive of me. My parents have been there for me throughout every struggle, and I can't wait to graduate and use that education to better people's lives."

Q: How impactful is it to attend UTSA, where approximately 45 percent of students are first-generation, including more than one-third of student-athletes?

Sabrina Wick: "It's extremely impactful! Being around others like me allows me to grow better connections and relate with others' experiences. Coming to college can be stressful for sure, as it's a whole new area and completely different people, but knowing that they share similar experiences as me makes me 100 times more comfortable."

Q: How important is competing in athletics to first-generation college students?

Sabrina Wick: "Competing in athletics as a first-generation student is amazing. My parents have been with me through every game and practice, and it makes me so proud to be able to play in front of them for a couple more years. I'm an extremely competitive person and I always want to be the best, so being a first-generation student allows me to push myself to be the best in both athletics and academics."

Sabrina Wick: "Don't be afraid to make a change and take that leap. College is amazing! You get the opportunity to not only expand your knowledge, but also to meet people from all over the world. And if anyone ever doubts you, prove them wrong."

MAC MORGAN BRINGS INDIVIDUALIZED APPROACH, CHAMPIONSHIP PEDIGREE TO UTSA SOFTBALL

By: Sean Cartell/UTSA Athletics

SAN ANTONIO - It's been just over a month since Mac Morgan was on the biggest stage in Oklahoma City celebrating an NCAA Women's College World Series Championship with her University of Texas teammates. On Wednesday, she officially began her collegiate coaching career as UTSA Softball's newest assistant coach.

"The last couple months have been super busy for me," Morgan said during her introductory press conference on Thursday. "Still trying to focus on ending my career in a good way - and I accomplished that - while still trying to land a first-time gig. I'm really excited."

Morgan, a Creighton, Mo., native who starred as a pitcher at both Arizona State and Texas, helped lead the Longhorns to their first NCAA Championship in program history this past season. She posted an 11-4 record in 2025 with 27 appearances and 17 starts. Her victory against Tennessee on June 2 propelled Texas into the championship series.

Morgan has long since aspired to a softball coaching career, but the mentorship she received while playing at Texas further inspired her post-playing career.

"I kind of knew around high school age that I still wanted to be in the sport," Morgan said. "But then it was my college experience, taking that and learning from the coaches on how to develop my own coaching skills and how to be the best coach I can be to inspire these girls."

As she looked to enter the coaching realm, Morgan was drawn to the position at UTSA largely due to the opportunity to work with head coach Vann Stuedeman, whose highly successful coaching career includes a reputation as one of the nation's most respected pitching coaches.

Leading the pitching staff at Alabama from 2000-11, Stuedeman helped the Crimson Tide become one of the nation's top teams, totaling a 579-150 record during her stint in Tuscaloosa and reaching the Women's College World Series six times. Prior to becoming the UTSA head coach, Stuedeman led the program at Mississippi State, accumulating 276 victories and making seven NCAA Tournament appearances in Starkville.

"I'm excited to learn from Vann," Morgan said. "She's a great person. I was looking for somewhere where I'm going to gain experience and where I'm going to learn and grow myself as I grow other players. I think it's going to be a great start and it's going to be a good year for experience and learning."

As she begins to work with UTSA's pitching staff, Morgan's first order of business is goal setting with each student-athlete.

"I'm going to have them set a goal at the beginning of the year and have them revisit it right before season and make sure they're getting on track for it," she said. "And making sure they all believe in themselves as much as I believe in them. I'm giving them my all and I'm giving all my resources to help them meet their goals."

Morgan enters her role with a focus on individualized coaching, an approach that she says she learned while at the University of Texas. Each player has a different personality and is motivated differently and the coaching should reflect that, Morgan believes.

"I'm excited to help them learn in a way they want to learn and still let them be themselves," she said. "Finding ways for them to be comfortable in their pitching movement and let their personalities shine through."

Morgan's adaptability is something she credits to Texas pitching coach Pattie Ruth Taylor, who worked directly with her in Austin.

"One of the lessons I learned from Coach Pattie Ruth is that there's always different ways to approach a problem," Morgan said. "Like watch it on video and talk it through. Give an example."

At UTSA, Morgan inherits a young but incredibly talented pitching staff. Aside from former NJCAA All-American Katia Reyes, the returners include sophomores Ava Eldridge, Kaylie Olivarez and Reagan Stoudt along with juniors Madison Collins and Meredith Schmitt, all of whom saw significant collegiate innings for the first time last season.

"They all have something different to bring to the table," Morgan said. "I'm ready to shine a light on their strengths and continue to build them up so that they have many strengths and not just one. A big thing we're going to be pushing on is believing in themselves, coming together and having that united family feeling. That's what gets everybody through the hard challenges."

While she'll no longer be in the circle, Morgan won't be far from it, living out her dream mentoring the next generation of softball standouts.

"My cleats are hung up, but I'm still in the sport I love, encouraging younger kids and inspiring them," Morgan said.

FIRST GENERATION SPOTLIGHT: UTSA SOFTBALL'S TARYN MADLOCK

By: UTSA Athletics

Taryn Madlock will be a junior on the UTSA Softball team in 2026. She is a first-generation college student from Boerne, Texas.

Q: How is attending college as a first-generation student a unique experience?

Taryn Madlock: "I feel like the difference is that I don't have any standards or expectations on how I'm supposed to go through college. It definitely brings an open mind and optimism that I don't have anything that I'm expected to do, so I just get to freely go and make my own story."

Q: Why is attending college and graduating important for you?

Taryn Madlock: "It is important to me because I get to flip that chapter in my family's story and I feel like that's the same for the rest of the families. I feel like my generation, we're prioritizing college and education, so I feel like that will just be a huge future success for us."

Q: How impactful is it to attend UTSA, where approximately 45 percent of students are first-generation, including more than one-third of student-athletes?

Taryn Madlock: "It's very impactful being surrounded by a bunch of first-generation college students and it's encouraging being in the classroom with them and being able to go through this journey together."

Q: How important is competing in athletics to first-generation college students?

Taryn Madlock: "Athletics, I think, is the gateway for first-generation college students. A bunch of people out of high school don't know what they want to do, so they kind of go off and figure it out on their own. With athletics, it gives us an opportunity to go figure it out while we're competing and in college."

Q: What advice would you give to other first-generation college students?

Taryn Madlock: "Don't put a timeline on your dreams. If you have dreams, achieve them and go after the goals that you want to set for yourself."
