SCOUTING THE OPPONENTS

The Cyclones are coming off their first loss of the season, a 1-0 setback against No. 16 Virginia Tech. Iowa State started with three straight wins, all of them shutouts. Iowa State has outscored their opponents 6-1.

HAWKEYES START STRONG

The Hawkeyes are one of four teams in program history to start with four consecutive victories (1998, 2000, 2011). After wins against Eastern Illinois and North Dakota to start the season, Iowa stayed on track with two more victories last week.

Iowa earned a convincingly 4-0 victory against Loyola University Chicago at home on Friday. The Hawkeyes went into the half up 3-0 with goals from junior Ashley Catrell (16') and sophomores Cloe Lacasse (20') and Katie Nasenbenny (28'). Iowa added to its advantage in the second half when Catrell found the net for the second time (67'). Iowa outshot Loyola 18-7. Freshman Hannah Clark earned the win between the posts.

The Hawkeyes looked just as sharp two days later, handing Northern Iowa its first loss of the season two days later on the road. Iowa won, 3-0, to improve its all-time series record against the Panthers to 10-0-0.

Lacasse scored the matches' first goal on a breakaway in the 34th minute. Iowa played great soccer in the second half, and would win going away. Catrell scored in the 50th minute to add to Iowa's advantage, and sophomore Nicole Urban scored in the 80th minute to make it final. Freshman Meg Goodson started at goalkeeper and took the win, notching one save.
