Brunner and Horner completed their careers by helping the Hawkeyes post a 25-9 record this past season. Iowa placed second in the Big Ten regular season standings before winning the Big Ten Tournament title with three straight wins in Indianapolis.

Brunner, a native of Charles City, led the Hawkeyes in scoring (14.1) and rebounding (9.2) while shooting 45.4% from the field and 69.5% from the free throw line. Brunner collected 990 rebounds to become Iowa's career leader. He led the Big Ten in rebounding as a senior. In career statistics, he also ranks sixth in blocked shots (104) and free throw attempts (566), ninth in field goals (553) and 10th in scoring (1,516).

Brunner earned first team all-Big Ten honors and was also a member of the all-Tournament team after helping Iowa win the league tournament. He also earned third team academic all-America honors and joined Horner in earning academic all-Big Ten recognition.

A native of Mason City, Horner concluded his career as Iowa's all-time leader in assists (612), three-point field goals (262) and three-point attempts (713). Horner scored 1,502 career points and is the only Hawkeye player ever to surpass 1,000 points, 600 assists and 500 rebounds in a career.

Horner, as a senior, averaged 13.6 points, 5.6 assists and 4.1 rebounds per game. He earned third team all-Big Ten honors and was named Most Outstanding Player in the Big Ten Tournament after leading the Hawkeyes to the tournament title.

"This is a great reward for Jeff and Greg for their success this season," said Iowa Coach Steve Alford. "Being selected for the coaches all-star game is a highlight for any senior. It's a chance for Greg to showcase his skills while playing with some of the top seniors in the nation. The three-point contest should be a great experience for Jeff as well. They are both very deserving of the recognition."
