NCAA Tournament Notes

- Iowa is 31-31 in NCAA Tournament games, including a 26-23 mark in NCAA Regional contests. This marks the ninth time in the last 10 seasons the Hawkeyes have competed in the NCAA Tournament, and the 16th time overall.

- The Hawkeyes have advanced to the Women's College World Series four times (1995, 1996, 1997, 2001).

- Iowa recorded a 12-9 record against teams that were selected for the NCAA Tournament this season. Iowa picked up wins over Purdue (twice), Miami, OH, Texas, Tennessee-Chattanooga, Cornell (twice), Ohio State, Cal State Fullerton, Illinois (twice) and Long Beach State. Iowa's losses include Florida State, Michigan (twice), Northwestern (twice), Texas, Ohio State, Arizona State and UCLA. In addition, Iowa played against six of the 16 national seeds in this year's tournament, collecting a 1-7 record against those teams (No. 2 UCLA, No. 3 Michigan, No. 10 Arizona State, No. 11 Ohio State, No. 12 Northwestern, No. 16 Florida State).

- Iowa is 2-1 all-time vs. Auburn, 1-1 vs. Boston and 0-2 vs. Georgia Tech. The teams have never faced each other in NCAA Tournament play.

- Georgia Tech's home facility, Shirley Clements Newborn Field, was just built for the 2009 season. The state-of-the-art, $5 million stadium was officially dedicated March 10, 2009.

- The Hawkeyes own a 5-0 record this season when playing in the state of Georgia. Iowa shut out all five opponents at the K-Club Classic Feb. 20-22, hosted by Kennesaw State University. Iowa defeated Drexel (4-0), Memphis (8-0 in five innings), Miami, OH (5-0), Buffalo (4-0) and Kennesaw State (8-0 in five innings).

- Iowa played Auburn twice during the 2005 season, losing the first matchup 2-1, but winning game two 16-1 in five innings. In that second game, Iowa set school records for most home runs (7) and total bases (36), while Emily Nichols broke single game records for most home runs (3), RBI (8) and total bases (12). The Hawkeyes also defeated Auburn, 7-5 in eight innings during the 1997 season.

- Iowa lost to Georgia Tech, 6-0, in 2007 and 2-1, in 2002.

- The Hawkeyes defeated Boston, 4-0 in 2004, but lost to the Terriers, 7-5, during the 2007 season.

- Auburn Assistant Coach Steve Johnson has plenty of ties to the state of Iowa. Johnson is from West Des Moines and graduated from Wartburg College in 1997. He began his coaching career at the high school level at nearby Cedar Rapids Kennedy from 1999-2000. In addition, Johnson and current Hawkeye assistant Shane Bouman coached together at South Dakota State in 2002. Bouman was the head coach at SDSU, and Johnson was one of his assistants.

Head Coach Gayle Blevins

Gayle Blevins is in her 22nd season as the head coach of the Iowa softball program and she has established herself as one of the nation's premier coaches.

In 1999, Blevins was the 17th inductee into the NFCA Hall of Fame. She was also inducted into the Indiana University Hall of Fame in 2005.

In her 10 seasons at Iowa, Blevins has guided the Hawkeyes to four College World Series berths, 15 NCAA Tournament appearances and four Big Ten Championships. She is Iowa's all-time winningest coach with a record of 920-415-3 (.689).

One More on Weil • Senior pitcher Brittany Weil has now thrown more innings than any other pitcher in Hawkeye history.

Weil, who has thrown 203.2 innings this season, holds Iowa's career mark for innings pitched with 996.1.

Another No-No • Senior Brittany Weil tossed yet another no-hitter against Wisconsin May 6, bringing her single-season and career total to five hitless games.

Weil now holds both the Iowa single-season and career record for hitless games, breaking former Hawkeye all-American Debbie Bilbao's marks. Weil threw her first career no-hitter against Kent State (Feb. 13), her second at Kennesaw State (Feb. 22) and her first perfect game against Illinois (April 1). She followed with another no-hitter at Purdue (April 12), and her fifth of the season against Wisconsin (May 6).

Bilbao threw one no-hitter in 1995, a no-hitter and a perfect game in 1997 and a no-hitter in 1998.

Flare For the Dramatics • Iowa has won four games this season in walk-off fashion.

Senior Sam Heinzman hit a sacrifice fly against Kent State (Feb. 13) to score the game-winning run in the bottom of the eighth. Freshman Liz Watkins hit a walk-off, solo home run in the bottom of the seventh against Illinois (April 1), and freshman Missy Mazur slapped a single through the left side against Michigan State (April 18) in the 10th inning.

The latest walkoff was against Wisconsin (May 6), when senior Colleen McGlaughlin gave Iowa a 5-4 win with a solo home run in the ninth inning.

Impressive Freshman • Liz Watkins is closing in on two freshman records at Iowa.

Watkins is currently ranked second in home runs (9) and RBI (45) among freshman at Iowa. Emily Nichols holds both records with 16 home runs, which is also the Iowa single-season record, along with 49 RBI.

McGlaughlin Climbing • Senior Colleen McGlaughlin's 10 home runs and 49 RBI rank are tied for third on Iowa's single-season lists.

Emily Nichols holds the top two single season home run marks, at 16 and 12, respectively.

Christy Hebert is second with 50 RBI, while Debbie Bilbao is first with 61 runs driven in.

Brown Likes the Finale • In the past two seasons, junior Katie Brown has definitely saved the best for last.

In Iowa's final two-game series last year, Brown batted .833 (5-for-6) with three home runs, one double and six RBI. She had an eye-popping 2.500 slugging percentage and a .857 on base percentage.

Last weekend against Wisconsin, Brown hit .500 (2-4) with two solo home runs and three RBI. She slugged at a 2.000 clip and had a .667 on base percentage.

Using the DP Spot • Head Coach Gayle Blevins has used many different lineup combinations, including plenty of players as the designated player.

Five players have started for Iowa this season as the DP, including senior Colleen McGlaughlin (17 starts), sophomore Jenny Schuelke (16 starts), freshman Missy Mazur (12 starts), freshman Katie Keim (seven starts) and junior Taylor Leichsenring (three starts).

Infield...Same • Iowa has used the same defensive lineup in the infield for 38-straight games.

The Hawkeye defense of junior Katie Brown at first base, sophomore Chelsey Carmody at second base, senior Erin Riemersma at shortstop, freshman Katie Keim at third base and freshman Liz Watkins behind the plate has remained consistent since Iowa's game against Florida International March 7.

The Hawkeyes are 28-10 over that 36-game stretch.

Weil Reaches 1,000 K's • Iowa senior pitcher Brittany Weil joined a very elite group April 18 against Michigan State, becoming just the eighth pitcher in Big Ten history to record 1,000 career strikeouts.

Weil struck out her 1,000 batter with the bases loaded and two outs in the top of the fifth in game two against the Spartans. Weil is also the first Hawkeye to ever reach the 1,000 strikeout plateau, and holds Iowa's career strikeout record. She currently has 1,072 career K's.

Below is a list of Big Ten pitchers who belong to to the 1,000 strikeout club.

1. Jennie Ritter - Michigan - 1,205 K's
2. Lisa Ishikawa - Northwestern - 1,200 K's
3. Andrea Kirchberg - Wisconsin - 1,156 K's
4. Eileen Canney - Northwestern - 1,142 K's

Not Too Bad With the Books • Senior Colleen McGlaughlin has been named to the ESPN the Magazine Academic all-District first team. McGlaughlin will now be on the national ballot for academic all-America consideration.

As a junior last season, McGlaughlin was one of 11 Division I softball students nationally to be named first team Academic all-American. She was also an academic all-district pick as a sophomore and junior.

Pitchers Rank High Nationally • Iowa's pitching staff of senior Brittany Weil and junior Amanda Zust rank very high in some national statistics.

According to the NCAA stats released May 12, Iowa ranks ninth nationally in earned run average (1.38). Individually, Weil ranks sixth in strikeouts (328) and shutouts (14), 10th in ERA (1.1.06), 13th in strikeouts per seven innings (9.7), 16th in victories (26) and 24th in saves (3).

Gayle Blevins

Head Coach

22nd Season

Head Coach Gayle Blevins is in her 22nd season at the University of Iowa and her 30th season as a collegiate head coach. Blevins is the second winningest coach in Division I history with a record of 1,220-563-5.

As a head coach, Blevins has led her teams to seven Women's College World Series appearances (four at Iowa), won eight Big Ten titles (five at Iowa) been named both the Big Ten and National Coach of the Year, and has been inducted into both the Indiana University and NFCA Hall of Fame. Blevins enters the 2009 season as the Big Ten's winningest coach with 483 conference wins.

Blevins became Iowa's head coach in 1987 and immediately produced success. Just two years after Blevins took over a struggling program at Iowa, the Hawkeyes secured their first-ever Big Ten title and their first-ever NCAA Tournament appearance. The 1989 Hawkeyes finished the season ranked ninth in the nation, the first time an Iowa team had ever been nationally ranked.

Blevins built on that success and in 1990, the Hawkeyes won another Big Ten title and produced the school's first All-American in Diane Pohl.

The 1995 season proved to be an extraordinary one for Blevins and her Hawkeye squad. After receiving an all-time big to the NCAA Tournament, the Hawkeyes became the nation's Cinderella story. Iowa advanced to its first NCAA Women's College World Series after defeating No. 8 Cal State Sacramento, 3-0, and twice beating No. 5 Fresno State (1-0 and 2-1 in nine innings). At the World Series, the Hawkeyes lost to No. 2 UCLA but rallied back to beat No. 9 Michigan, 9-7 in 14 innings and No. 3 Cal State Fullerton, 6-5 in nine innings. Unfortunately, the Hawkeyes fell short in their quest for a national championship, losing to UCLA in the national semifinals.

The 1996 Hawkeyes paved their way to a second-consecutive appearance in the Women's College World Series by winning the Midwest Regional held in Iowa City. The Hawkeyes finished third in the nation after losing to eventual national champion Arizona.

After a 52-9 record and a No. 5 national ranking, the 1997 Hawkeyes made its third-consecutive appearance at the Women's College World Series. During the regular season, Iowa marched through the Big Ten schedule with a perfect 22-0 record, marking the first and only time in conference history that a Big Ten team has completed the conference schedule undefeated.

Iowa returned to Oklahoma City and the Women's College World Series for the fourth time in school history in 2001. Blevins guided the Hawkeyes to a 49-14 record and a Big Ten Tournament Championship.

The 2002 season marked another milestone for Coach Blevins. While competing in the National Invitational Softball Tournament, Iowa defeated eventual NCAA Champion California to give Blevins her 900th career NCAA Division I victory. She was just the fourth coach to reach that mark in NCAA Division I history.

In 2003, Blevins coached the Hawkeyes to both the Big Ten Regular Season and Tournament Championships, the first time an Iowa team had captured both in the same season. She also took the Hawkeyes to the Lincoln, NE, Regional Championship game.

Blevins eclipsed the 1,000 win mark during the 2004 season with a 9-1, six-inning victory over Coe College. With the historic win, Blevins became only the third Division I coach to reach 1,000 wins. The win was also her 700th at Iowa.

In 2005, Blevins led the Hawkeyes to their third 50-win season in school history and their sixth straight NCAA Tournament appearance, where they advanced to the Lincoln, NE, NCAA Regional Championship game.

The Hawkeyes finished 2006 with a 39-22 overall record and were selected as a host site for the 2006 NCAA Regional tournament.

Blevins reached the 1,100 win mark in 2007 with an 11-0 win over Howard in the season opener. The Hawkeyes finished with a 37-21 record including a 10-7 record in conference play, which was good enough for a fourth place finish.

Blevins led Iowa to both the Big Ten Tournament and NCAA Regional Championship game in 2008, finishing with a 42-20 overall record. The Hawkeyes were selected to host an NCAA Regional for the eighth time in school history, all under Blevins.

Under her direction, Iowa has finished in the top three in the Big Ten Conference every year but two from 1989-2007 and in 1989, 1990, 1997, 2000 and 2003 her squads captured the Big Ten Conference title. A Blevins coached team has never finished lower than fifth in the conference.

Blevins was one of the first coaches in the country to effectively use the “slap style” hitting as an exciting offensive weapon. One of her student-athletes was the first-ever slapper chosen as a first team all-American in 1983. Blevins is one of the nations best at using the speed game.

Blevins came to the University of Iowa after a successful career at Indiana University, where she led the Hoosiers from 1980-87 and compiled an impressive 301-146 (.670) record. She led Indiana to the Women’s College World Series three times where they finished third in 1986, fifth in 1983 and second in 1980, when the series was a part of the AIAW.

Blevins, a native of Dayton, OH, is a 1973 graduate of the University of Dayton. After graduating cum laude with a degree in health and physical education, she taught and coached at Dayton’s Stebbins High School. Five years later she went on to Indiana University where she earned her master’s degree in administration while serving as IU’s assistant softball coach. She was named Indiana’s head coach during the 1979-80 season. She moved to Iowa during the 1986-87 season and is only the third head softball coach in Hawkeye school history.

Shane Bouman

Pitching Coach

Second Season

Shane Bouman is in his second season as Iowa's pitching coach, while also being promoted to the team's recruiting coordinator in the summer of 2008.

Bouman enjoyed a successful first season at Iowa in 2008, as the Hawkeye pitchers garnered top-25 national rankings in four categories. The Hawkeye pitching staff finished seventh nationally in team earned run average (1.23) and Brittany Weil finished the season ranked 22nd in individual wins (28) and 23rd in earned run average (1.22). Weil was also a four-time Big Ten Pitcher of the Week honoree, first-team NFCA all-Mideast Region selection, and second team all-Big Ten pick. Amanda Zust finished the season ranked 14th in hits allowed per seven innings (3.87) and 24th in earned run average (1.24).

Before coming to Iowa, Bouman served as head coach at South Dakota State University for six seasons. He is the winningest coach in SDSU school history. Bouman also guided nine players to Division I All-Independent teams, seven players to Division I all-Academic teams, and an ESPN Academic all-American honoree. During Bouman's tenure, the Jackrabbits set school records for career home runs, stolen bases, RBI, and sacrifices.

Aside from coaching, Bouman is also an accomplished softball pitcher. He is a four-time Amateur Softball Association (ASA) all-American and a two-time North American Fastpitch Association (NAFA) all-American. Bouman led five teams to ASA National Championships and competed in nine International Softball Congress World Tournaments, placing third in 1995, and fifth in both 1996 and 1997.

Diane Stephenson

Assistant Coach

First Season

Diane Stephenson is in her first season as an assistant coach at the University of Iowa.

Stephenson, who will serve as Iowa's hitting coach and instruct the Hawkeye catchers, is no stranger to Blevins or Iowa softball. She served as an assistant at Indiana from 1983-87 under Blevins during the most successful era in Hoosier softball history. The duo helped lead Indiana to two Big Ten championships (1983 and 1986), two NCAA Midwest Regional championships (1983 and 1986) and three NCAA Women's College World Series berths (1980, 1983 and 1986).

Stephenson was then picked to replace Blevins as Indiana's head coach and held the position from 1987-2002. She was named both the Big Ten and Midwest Region Coach of the Year in 1996 after leading the Hoosiers to their third Big Ten championship in school history. She led Indiana to two of its five NCAA Tournament appearances (1994 and 1996), while coaching five all-Americans and 18 first team all-Big Ten selections. She also coached former Iowa Associate Head Coach Michelle Venturella from 1992-95.

From 2003-07, Stephenson served as an assistant principal, athletic director and teacher at St. Charles School in Bloomington, IN. She has also been a private consultant and guest lecturer since 2002, providing private pitching and hitting instruction to student-athletes, including camps and clinics at Michigan, Iowa and Mississippi State.

Stephenson received her degree in physical education in 1982 and her masters in athletic administration in 1989, both from Indiana University. Stephenson also enjoyed a successful softball career as a Hoosier. She was the first female student-athlete to receive a full athletic scholarship at Indiana and was also the school's first softball all-American, earning the honor in 1981.

She led the Hoosiers to a Big Ten championship in 1978 and the team made back-to-back appearances in the AIAW College World Series in 1979-80, finishing fifth and national runner-up, respectively. Blevins coached Stephenson at Indiana during the 1980 and 1981 seasons.

FIVE HAWKEYES NAMED ALL-BIG TEN

IOWA CITY – The Big Ten Conference announced its 2009 all-Big Ten softball teams Wednesday, which include seniors Brittany Weil and Colleen McGlaughlin, junior Katie Brown and freshmen Liz Watkins and Katie Keim.

Both Weil and McGlaughlin were first team all-Big Ten selections. Iowa has now had at least one softball student-athlete named first team all-Big Ten in 22-straight seasons, dating back to 1987.

Weil, a native of Garden Grove, CA, led the Big Ten in opposing batting average (.146) and ranked second in both ERA (1.29) and strikeouts (136) in conference games only. During Big Ten play, Weil went 11-4, tossing 10 complete games and seven shutouts. This is the first time Weil has been named first team all-Big Ten. She has garnered all-league honors in every season at Iowa, earning third team honors as a freshman and sophomore and second team laurels as a junior.

McGlaughlin ranked in the top 10 in six different offensive categories for Big Ten games only, including on base percentage (5th, .493), home runs (T-6th, 5), slugging percentage (7th, .759), batting average (8th, .379), hits (T-9th, 22) and RBI (T-9th, 16). She started and played all 20 Big Ten games this season, and did not commit an error, defensively. This is McGlaughlin's third all-Big Ten accolade, after being named third team as a sophomore and second team as a junior.

Brown was named to the all-Big Ten second team after leading the Hawkeyes with a .393 batting average and six home runs in Big Ten games. Brown also ranked in the top 10 in six different categories, including slugging percentage (4th, .768), batting average (5th, .393), on base percentage (7th, .471), home runs (T-8th, 6), hits (T-9th) and RBI (T-9th). This is the second all-Big Ten accolade for Brown, after being named first team all-conference last season as a sophomore. Brown was also named Iowa's softball Sportsmanship award nominee for the 2009 season.

Two Hawkeye freshmen named third team all-Big Ten. Watkins caught 130 of Iowa's 131 innings during Big Ten play, and did not commit a single error. She also brought a hot bat to the Iowa lineup, hitting .296 with three home runs and 16 RBI with a .556 slugging percentage in league games.

Keim started all 20 league games at third base, with only two defensive errors and a .966 fielding percentage. She batted .306 with two doubles and nine RBI during Big Ten play.

Northwestern shortstop Tammy Williams was named Big Ten Player of the Year, while Michigan's Nikki Nemitz was Pitcher of the Year. Northwestern's Adrienne Monka earned Freshman of the Year honors, and Michigan's Carol Hutchins was Coach of the Year.

The Hawkeyes will open NCAA Tournament play against Auburn Friday at 4 p.m. (CT), in the Atlanta Regional.

WEIL TABBED NFCA NATIONAL PLAYER OF THE WEEK

IOWA CITY – University of Iowa senior Brittany Weil has been named the National Fastpitch Coaches Association (NFCA) National Player of the Week. The announcement came Tuesday from the NFCA. Weil is the first player in Iowa history to be named NFCA National Player of the Week.

Weil, who was recently named Iowa's Most Valuable Player, spent last week tearing apart the Iowa record books. She tossed her fifth no-hitter of the season in game one against Wisconsin Wednesday, breaking Iowa's career record for most hitless games in a career.

Weil followed with two dominating performances against Minnesota to close the regular season. She shattered Iowa's single-season strikeout record, along with tying the Iowa career record for wins (99), complete games (109) and games pitched (181). Weil fanned 20 batters Saturday to set the new single-season mark at 328.

Weil threw 14-straight shutout innings against the Golden Gophers Saturday. In game one, Weil broke the single-season strikeout mark, recording 11 K's while allowing five hits. She flirted with another no-hitter in game two, but gave up a single in the top of the seventh. She tossed another complete game shutout, allowing just two hits with only one walk and nine strikeouts.

For the week, Weil went 4-0 with two complete game shutouts and a microscopic 0.30 ERA. She threw 23.3 innings and struck out 32 of the 51 batters she faced.

"I am very honored to receive this award," Weil said. "My team deserves all the credit. Without the defense behind me or the offense getting runs, we wouldn't be in such a great spot. I know the entire team wants to carry all this momentum into the NCAA Tournament."

Weil and the Hawkeyes will take on Auburn Friday at 4 p.m. (CT) in the opening round game of the NCAA Tournament Atlanta Regional.

WEIL EARNS NINTH PITCHER OF THE WEEK HONOR, TIES BIG TEN RECORD

IOWA CITY – University of Iowa senior Brittany Weil was named Big Ten Pitcher of the Week for the fourth time this season and the ninth time in her career Monday. Weil received the honor after an impressive week to close the regular season.

Weil is only the third pitcher in Big Ten history to earn Pitcher of the Week honors nine times in a career, sharing the accomplishment with Northwestern's Eileen Canney and Michigan's Marissa Young.

This is also the second-consecutive year Weil has been named Big Ten Pitcher of the Week four times in a single season. Last season, Weil became the first Hawkeye player to garner the award four times in a season.

Weil spent last week tearing apart the Iowa record books. She tossed her fifth no-hitter of the season in game one against Wisconsin Wednesday, breaking Iowa's career record for most hitless games in a career. She took a perfect game into the fifth with the Hawkeyes leading 8-0, but committed a throwing error with one out in the inning. She managed to get the final two outs after a 45 minute rain delay to secure the no-hitter.

Weil saved the best for last on "Senior Day" against Minnesota at Pearl Field. She shattered Iowa's single-season strikeout record, along with tying the Iowa career record for wins (99), complete games (109) and games pitched (181). Weil fanned 20 batters Saturday to set the new single-season mark at 328.

Weil threw 14-straight shutout innings against the Golden Gophers Saturday. In game one, Weil broke the single-season strikeout mark, recording 11 K's while allowing five hits. She flirted with another no-hitter in game two, but gave up a single in the top of the seventh. She tossed another complete game shutout, allowing just two hits with only one walk and nine strikeouts.

For the week, Weil went 4-0 with two complete game shutouts and a microscopic 0.30 ERA. She threw 23.3 innings and struck out 32 of the 51 batters she faced.

Weil and the Hawkeyes will take on Auburn Friday at 4 p.m. (CT) in the opening round game of the NCAA Tournament Atlanta Regional.

Weil tosses 1st no-hitter

BY JON LINDER | FEBRUARY 17, 2009 7:40 AM

Brittany Weil has spent the better part of the last three years accumulating staggering numbers pitching for the Iowa softball team. On Feb. 13, it was what the senior didn't accumulate that stood out.

For the first time in her storied collegiate career, Weil recorded a no-hitter — and it could not have come at a better time for the Hawkeyes.

Locked in a pitchers' duel, the Garden Grove, Calif., product pitched a perfect game for seven and a third innings and collected 17 strikeouts before brushing Kent State's Jessica Blanton in extra innings — preventing a perfect game by the slimmest of margins. Weil struck out the last two batters in the inning, and Sam Heinzman's walk-off double did the rest, driving home Erin Riemersma for Iowa's winning run.

"Britt is a very confident pitcher on the mound," Iowa head coach Gayle Blevins said. "Pitchers need poise, skill, and determination — she brings all of that."

Weil is certainly a daunting figure on the mound, and Iowa's intimidation factor is only increased by the presence of junior pitcher Amanda Züst. Both pitchers posted ERAs under 1.30 a year ago, combining for 39 complete games, 14 shutouts, and 416 strikeouts. Not surprisingly, the duo entered the 2009 season regarded as one of the most potent one-two punches in the country.

Blevins is quick to acknowledge the benefits that come with having two upper-tier pitchers. "There would be so much more pressure on both of them if the other was not around," she said. "The relationship they have is special, and they give each other a lot of confidence on the mound."

Blevins also noted the importance of a catcher in the day-to-day performance of a pitcher. Fittingly, another duo has split the duties behind the plate this season — sophomore Lindsey Major and freshman Liz Watkins. Major and Watkins have started four and six games behind the plate, respectively and through 10 games, the pair has allowed just one passed ball and have maintained a perfect fielding percentage. The most important aspect they bring to each game, however, doesn't show up in the stat book — the ability to control the direction of a game and help their pitchers.

"The four of us have connected this year," Weil said. "This battery realizes that we can all make each other look good, and those two [Major and Watkins] have come a long way."

With each pitch, she inches closer to breaking nearly every major career record for pitchers at Iowa. After pitching five complete games so far this season, she sits just 20 shy of the career mark of 109 complete games set by Karen Jackson in 1994. Weil sits 39 games short of the career record for game appearances and just 137 innings away from the innings pitched record. With 148 more strikeouts, Weil will become the most prolific strikeout artist in Iowa history. She's also only 22 wins away from becoming the first pitcher in school history to reach the 100-win plateau and eclipsing Lisa Birocci's record of 99 wins, set in 2005.

"I just hope we can look back after this season and say my best was good enough and we didn't leave anything out on the field," Weil said.

Pitching coach Shane Bouman said he was excited about Weil, but he insists a no-hitter has been and will remain secondary to winning.

"[Brittany and I] came to Iowa to go the College World Series," Bouman said. "So, if we need a no-hitter to win, that's what we want. Big situations are nothing new to Brittany."

Softball: Weil looks for K record

BY MIKE SLUSARK | DAILY IOWAN, APRIL 03, 2009

Iowa senior pitcher Brittany Weil will likely break the school strikeout record this weekend against Penn State.

The Garden Grove, Calif., native has 943 strikeouts in her career, just three Ks behind former Hawkeye Lisa Birocci, who struck out 946 in her time with Iowa.

The Hawkeyes (29-7, 3-1) meet the Nittany Lions (9-18, 0-6) at 2 p.m. on Saturday and 1 p.m. on April 5 at Pearl Field.

Although Penn State is last in the Big Ten and has not beaten the Hawkeyes since 2006, Iowa head coach Gayle Blevins is not taking the Nittany Lions lightly.

“They’re a team that runs a little bit more, uses a bit more of the short game, but they also have power hitters,” she said. “They matched up with Illinois last weekend, and it was a 15-13 slugfest, so obviously, they can put up runs in a hurry.”

If Penn State faces Weil this weekend, the Nittany Lions may have a tough time making the game a slugfest. In addition to 200 strikeouts this season, Weil has a 1.10 ERA, and opposing batters are only hitting .131 against her. She’s also coming off the first perfect game of her career in a 1-0 victory against Illinois Wednesday night.

These numbers don’t bode well for a Penn State team that ranks in the bottom half of the Big Ten with a .255 team batting average.

Another area the Nittany Lions have struggled this year is preventing stolen bases, something Iowa may look to exploit this weekend.

Opposing runners have successfully stolen 55 bases against Penn State this year, the most in the Big Ten and 18 more than the second highest team, Wisconsin. Teams facing the Nittany Lions have a .902 success rate stealing bases this year, which is also the highest in the Big Ten.

The Hawkeyes lead the Big Ten in steal attempts with 62 and are second in successful steals with 49.

“We continue to make sure that that’s part of our game because that’s how we manufacture a couple runs,” Blevins said. “If we can get people in scoring position and get a quality at-bat, then we’ve got a run.”

Both teams are coming off of Big Ten double-headers on April 1.

The Nittany Lions were swept by No. 10 Michigan, 9-1 and 11-3. Penn State freshman pitcher Lisa Akamine struck 11 batters total through both games and also was 2-for-3 with an RBI from the plate in the second game.

Iowa swept Illinois 1-0 and 9-1 in Iowa City on Wednesday. Freshman catcher Liz Watkins’ walk-off home run guaranteed the win for the Hawkeyes in Weil’s perfect game. Watkins then went yard again in the first inning of the second game with a three-run shot to center field that gave Iowa an early 3-0 lead.

Amanda Züst came on in relief to seal the victory for Iowa.

Despite Penn State’s struggles, Iowa players are approaching the Big Ten opponent the way they would any other team.

“We try to approach every team the same,” Watkins said. “We always want to bring Iowa softball to the field.”

This weekend, Weil and Iowa softball are just four strikeouts away from a new milestone on Pearl Field.

Commentary: Freshman Watkins sparks Hawkeye softball

BY MIKE SLUSARK | DAILY IOWAN, APRIL 02, 2009

In the spirit of March Madness on Wednesday night, Iowa freshman catcher Liz Watkins performed like one of Dick Vitale's "diaper dandies" with two home runs in a home double-header against Illinois.

She sealed the win in Brittany Weil's perfect game with the first walk-off home run of her career, a solo line-drive just over the right field wall in the first game.

"I'm just glad I could do it for the team," she said. "I had a lot of teammates helping me out with that, letting me know where pitch locations were."

Her first home run may have snuck over the wall but, the second, a three-run bomb in the first inning of the second game, looked as though it could have landed in traffic on Highway 6.

"As soon as I hit it, I knew it was gone," Watkins said. "It felt awesome coming off the bat."

She has performed above expectations for a freshman all season.

She has started 31 games for the Hawkeyes, is batting .351 on the season, leads the team in home runs with six, and is second on the team in RBIs with 28.

Iowa head coach Gayle Blevins said Watkins is the player this year whose development has most pleasantly surprised her.

"When I think about where she was when we started work in the fall and where she is now, it's just not even the same," the coach said. "It's just beyond what you can imagine."

She also complimented Watkins' leadership at catcher as a freshman.

"Some people just have that quality instinctively," Blevins said. "She is a natural leader."

Although the switch from high-school to college softball has been a lot of work, Watkins said, her teammates have aided her.

"This team has really helped me," Watkins said. "A lot of the women have taken me under their arms and helped me transition in to playing Big Ten softball. I owe it all to them."

Her toughest challenge has been learning to catch college pitching.

"Their pitches move so much," Watkins said. "They actually make it easy for me, though, because their balls usually go right where we want them."

She has caught some pretty pitching this season — having been behind the plate for three no-hitters and a perfect game so far.

Regardless of age and experience level, she has always been a leader on the diamond. As a freshman at Rockridge High School in Taylor Ridge, Ill., Watkins led her team to an Illinois state championship and won co-MVP honors of the tournament. She was a four-time all-conference selection and was named to six all-state softball teams throughout her high-school career.

She was also a multi-sport star in high school, graduating with the school volleyball record in blocks and three basketball school records. Academically, she was her class valedictorian.

Despite all her prep success, she didn't think she would receive so much playing time as a freshman.

"I was coming in to work my butt off and do anything the team has asked of me," Watkins said. "I hope I've done that."

If her two-home-run performance against Illinois is any answer, it looks like so far, so good.

IOWA CITY, Iowa -- In her own words, University of Iowa catcher Liz Watkins said she uses her big mouth to motivate teammates. Using her big bat doesn't hurt, either.

Watkins, a freshman from Taylor Ridge, Ill., combined to go 2-for-6 at the plate during a Big Ten Conference doubleheader April 1 against Illinois at Pearl Field. The two hits -- both home runs -- provided two game-winning RBI as Iowa swept Illinois 1-0 and 9-1 to improve to 29-7 overall, 3-1 in the league.

The first round-tripper was a one-out, walk-off home run in the bottom of the seventh inning. The second came with two runners on in the first inning of the nightcap.

"It was good being able to see (Illinois pitcher Monica Perry) two at-bats beforehand," Watkins said of the walk-off game-winner. "It was a curve ball and I knew she was throwing me out and way. I just went with it and it felt awesome coming off the bat."

Perry had allowed just one hit before Watkins' home run. At first, Watkins thought she was simply setting the table for another Hawkeye's heroics.

"I had no idea it was (a home run)," Watkins said. "I was just trying to get on base to let my teammates move me over. It felt great coming off the bat, but I thought it was more of a line drive than a home run. When I saw it go over the rightfield fence, it was just exhilarating. I was just so happy I could do it for the team."

For the season, Watkins has started 32 of 34 games. She is batting .351 with a team-high six home runs and 28 RBI. The RBI total is second on the team to Colleen McGlaughlin's 34.

"We work hard every day in practice," Watkins said. "I try to take every at-bat the same and I don't put pressure on myself because when you start thinking when you're at the plate, that's when bad things happen. I go out, trust myself and the abilities I have and go with it."

Sweeping a twinbill from Illinois gave the Hawkeyes a 4-0 record at Pearl Field this season with Penn State coming to town this weekend for a two-game series (2 p.m. start on Saturday, April 4, and 1 p.m. start on Sunday, April 5). But the victories over the Illini had added significance for Watkins -- an Illinois native -- who prepped at Rockridge High School.

"My dad is an Iowa softball fan, so I made him get rid of all his Illinois jerseys, basketballs, anything like that," Watkins said. "It's that much sweeter because I have a lot of friends who go to the University of Illinois who were all watching the game. They said they were cheering for the Hawkeyes, so that was awesome, too."

Perry was the starter for Illinois in the second game as well, and despite a different pitching

University of Iowa freshman Liz Watkins is batting .351 with six home runs and 28 RBI for the Hawkeyes this season.

"I had no idea it was (a home run). I was just trying to get on base to let my teammates move me over. It felt great coming off the bat, but I thought it was more of a line drive strategy, she didn't have any better luck against Watkins.

"With two of my teammates getting on, it helped get our bats going," Watkins said. "She threw me inside, I got my hands out and it felt great coming off the bat again."

Watkins also had a front-row seat to some pretty fine hurling Wednesday. The Hawkeye winning pitcher in the first game was senior Brittany Weil (14-6, 1.10 ERA), who tossed a perfect game with 13 strikeouts. Weil started the second game, but was relieved by junior Amanda Zust (15-1, 1.35).

"We have awesome pitchers," Watkins said. "Coming in as a freshman, I couldn't have two better girls to take me under their wing and show me how Big Ten softball is played. They're so fun to catch and they make the game easy."

Weil threw just the third perfect game in Iowa history and she is now three strikeouts away from tying the all-time record of 946 set by Lisa Birocci from 2002-05.

Even as a freshman, Watkins has attempted to lead.

"I don't like to follow people, I like to be a leader," she said. "I like to use my big mouth and talk and get everybody going. That's just kind of who I am. I owe a lot (to the pitchers) because they're always making me look better than I am."

The Hawkeyes are currently in a four-way tie for second place in the Big Ten with a 3-1 record (Ohio State, Purdue, Minnesota). Northwestern has a two-game lead on that pack with a spotless 6-0 mark.

Catcher Liz Watkins has nine home runs and 45 RBIs in her freshman season at Iowa.

IOWA CITY - With two veteran pitchers returning, coach Gayle Blevins said she thought her Iowa softball team had a chance to enjoy a good season this year.

She also knew a lot would hinge on the performance of freshman catcher Liz Watkins.

"An average receiver can make good pitchers look good," Blevins said. "A good receiver can make good pitchers look great and that is what Liz has done for us this season. She's been exceptionally consistent for a freshman."

The former Rockridge athlete won the starting position early in the season and hasn't looked back.

In addition to batting .338 and ranking second on the team with 19 extra-base hits and 45 RBIs, she has just one error in 52 starts this season and has been the catcher for senior Brittany Weil in each of her school-record five no-hitters.

Watkins has found college softball to be a completely different game from the one she played for years on the ASA diamonds in the Quad-Cities and on the field next to her high school.

"I learned pretty quickly that I was going to have to take my game to a completely different level if I wanted to succeed here," she said. "This is so much different than the other levels I've played. I came in ready to work and learn as much as I could because I knew that would help me."

Weil and Iowa's other starting pitcher, junior Amanda Zust, have helped Watkins learn to adjust to catching at the college level. The movement of the pitches she now receives is much greater than she was accustomed to.

"Both Brittany and Amanda have helped me so much," Watkins said. "They're both great pitchers and being around them has helped me a lot. They make it easy for a catcher.

"I keep finding new things to work on. One day, I find myself needing to work on the way I frame pitches. The next, I'm working on hitting and becoming more consistent in my approach at the plate. I'm the type of player who is never satisfied, and I don't want to be. There is always something to work on in this game."

Blevins said Iowa assistants Diane Stephenson and Shane Bouman found Watkins to be a willing pupil, something that didn't surprise the 30th-year head coach.

"Liz has a great spirit and that was something I saw even before I recruited her," Blevins said. "She came to camps here when she was younger and some of the littler kids, they just gravitated toward her. That stuck with me."

That personality is illustrated in the blog entries Watkins contributes to the "Softblog" that appears on the softball home page of the Iowa athletics department Web site at hawkeyesports.com.

She is one of three Hawkeyes posting short messages this season, providing an inside perspective on the Iowa program.

Her most recent entry details the longer-than-expected ride home from Michigan a week ago. Mechanical problems with the team bus and a minor accident with a semi extended an already long road trip.

"It's been fun to share my thoughts and let fans know what is happening with our program," Watkins said. "There's a lot that people don't always get to know and hopefully, they can learn from it."

Softball sweeps Illinois

BY JON LINDER | DAILY IOWAN, APRIL 02, 2009

Wednesday's Big Ten double-header between Iowa and Illinois was supposed to be a shootout, a high-scoring event between the conference's top two offensive teams.

The offense showed up late, but it was consistent after a walk-off home run by freshman Liz Watkins gave Iowa a 1-0 win in the seventh inning of Game One. Despite the lack of scoring, the crowd of 566 in attendance at Pearl Field was not cheated early on. The opening game featured two pitchers on a mission.

Iowa's senior pitcher Brittany Weil (14-6) threw the first perfect game for Iowa since Debbie Bilbao did it in 1998. It was also Weil's third no-hitter of the year.

"My smile was as big as it gets," Iowa pitching coach Shane Bouman said. "After we got the three outs in the seventh, we knew she had the perfect game. We just hoped we could get her a run."

With the bases empty in the bottom of the seventh, Watkins stepped into the box and promptly lifted a ball toward the fence in right-center field.

"I was trying to push it," head coach Gayle Blevins said. "I was trying to lift it. I thought it might hit the top of the fence."

Illinois' Monica Perry showed great poise as a freshman pitcher in a hostile environment, allowing only two hits in the first game. One just happened to be the walk-off home run.

In some games, a pitcher can get away with a home run or two. Perry learned that doesn't apply when the opposing pitcher allows zero baserunners and strikes out 13.

"I was really focused tonight; my pitches were doing exactly what I wanted them to," Weil said. "The defense behind me was making plays, and it was really easy today just going out and throwing the ball."

For 6½ innings, Iowa seniors Colleen McGlaughlin and Erin Riemersma were the only players on either team to reach base. McGlaughlin was stranded twice after hitting a single in the first inning and walking in the fourth. Riemersma also was stranded after being walked in the bottom of the fifth. Watkins' solo homer ignited the Hawkeyes' bats going into Game Two.

Perry and Weil started again in the second game, but Perry lost energy quickly.

Watkins hit another long ball in the bottom of the first after Iowa had two hits to open the inning. Four batters later, the bases were loaded again when Sam Heinzman drew a walk to bring Callie Adreon home. Christine Chirstopoulos relieved Perry after an inside pitch hit Missy Mazur, bringing in Lindsey Digmann to make the score 5-0.

Iowa sent two more homers over the fence before the end of night, courtesy of Katie Brown in the fourth and Quinn Morelock in the fifth. Digmann concluded the scoring in the bottom of the sixth on a Katie Keim single, ending the game in six innings due to the eight-run mercy rule.

Iowa cruised to a 9-1 victory behind five more strikeouts by Weil and a solid relief appearance by Amanda Zust. Zust picked up the win to bring her record to 15-1 on the year. Weil now sits just three K's behind Iowa career strikeout leader Lisa Birroci's 946 heading into a pair of home games this weekend with Penn State.

Power, perfection

Hawkeye ace Weil tosses her first perfect game

Pat Harty

Power and perfection were both on display as the Iowa softball team swept a doubleheader against Illinois on Wednesday at Pearl Field.

The Hawkeyes pounded four home runs, including three during a 9-1 victory in the second game, and senior Brittany Weil pitched a perfect game during a 1-0 victory in the opener.

Freshman catcher Liz Watkins ended the first game by smacking a solo home run to right center in the bottom of the seventh inning.

"I knew it felt good coming off the bat," said Watkins, who is from Taylor Ridge, Ill. "That feeling is just exhilarating. It's an indescribable feeling.

"And I had a lot of help with my teammates letting me know where pitch locations were and stuff like that. It was a whole team effort that game. Brittany threw awesome."

Iowa coach Gayle Blevins said she wasn't sure if Watkins' line-drive homer would have enough distance to clear the fence.

"I was trying to push it," Blevins said. "I was trying to lift it. I thought it was going to hit the top of the fence, honestly."

Weil, meanwhile, frustrated the Illinois batters from start to finish while recording her first perfect game as a Hawkeye. She finished with 13 strikeouts, and 68 of her 95 pitches were strikes.

"I was just really focused tonight," said Weil, a senior from Garden Grove, Calif. "My pitches were working and doing exactly what I wanted them to do.

"And my defense behind me was making plays, so it was really easy just going out there and throwing the ball."

Weil has 944 career strikeouts, and she needs just three more to become Iowa's all-time leader in that category.

She also started the second game before giving way to Amanda Zust with two outs in the fourth inning.

Zust allowed just two hits and had three strikeouts in relief. She also improved her record to 15-1 on the season.

"Brit did a super job in the first game and did a real good job in starting game two," Blevins said. "She started to run out of gas, and we slipped Zust in there in a bases-loaded jam and she pitched us right out of the inning."

Iowa improved to 3-1 in the Big Ten and 29-7 overall and now will play single games against Penn State on Saturday and Sunday at home.

Illinois fell to 18-10 overall and 3-2 in the conference. Illinois has lost eight games in a row against Iowa.

Watkins also smacked a three-run homer in the second game, which saw Iowa bolt to a 5-0 lead after the first inning. Watkins now has hit six home runs on the season.

Blevins thinks being a freshman actually might help Watkins at the plate.

"I think sometimes that's the advantage of being a freshman -- you don't even know," Blevins said. "She has just a real special kind of calmness about her and real special leadership on the field, too.

"You can feel her out there. As a freshman, she just has a real special presence."

Former Solon star Quinn Morelock also hit a home run for Iowa in the second game, as did junior Katie Brown.

The second game ended after just six innings because of the mercy rule. Any team leading by at least eight runs after five innings is awarded the victory.

RECORD SETTING

Coach, pitcher reach career milestones

*Pat Harty
Iowa City Press-Citizen*

Iowa coach Gayle Blevins needed one victory heading into Saturday's doubleheader against Minnesota to become the second all-time winningest Division I softball coach.

Her team needed two victories to finish in fourth place in the Big Ten.

And star pitcher Brittany Weil needed six strikeouts to become the UI single-season leader in that category.

It was mission accomplished on all three fronts as Iowa defeated the Gophers by scores of 2-0 and 3-0 before a season-high crowd of 832 at Pearl Field.

Weil struck out two of the first three batters she faced in the first game and then recorded her record-breaking sixth strikeout in the fourth inning. She finished with 11 strikeouts and scattered five hits in the first game.

She was as dominant in the second game, holding the Gophers to just two hits and finishing with eight strikeouts to push her season total to 328 and her career total to 1,072, which also is a school record.

Lisa Birocci held the previous single-season record of 313 strikeouts set during the 2004 season.

Weil also on Saturday tied the school record for career victories (99), complete games (109) and games pitched (181).

And then afterwards she praised freshman catcher Liz Watkins for making her job easier.

"All season she's been an anchor back there making sure that we're getting pitches that we need," said Weil, a senior from Garden Grove Calif. "I credit a lot of it to her because, yeah, I'm throwing the ball, but she has to receive it."

Iowa (42-14) finished a half-game ahead of Illinois in fourth place in the Big Ten standings with a 13-7 record. Illinois finished 12-7 in the conference, the difference being that Illinois had one of its conference games canceled because of the weather.

The Hawkeyes now have to wait until Sunday night to find out if they made the 64-team NCAA Tournament. The selection process will start at 9 p.m. Sunday.

"It's bittersweet, but I think we have three weeks left, so I think it'll be OK," Weil said of her career almost being over.

Iowa helped its cause by winning its final four regular-season games and by winning 42 games overall. Big Ten champion Michigan and Northwestern were the only other Big Ten teams to win at least 40 games during the regular season.

"Everything is just another statement on your resume, and it never hurts to have as strong a resume as you can as you're being selected as an at-large team," said Blevins, who now has 1,220 career victories, including 920 during her 22 seasons at Iowa.

Weil's resume will show that she is one of the greatest pitchers in the history of the Iowa program. She just missed throwing a sixth no-hitter in the second game Saturday, allowing two singles in the seventh inning.

"She's just done a tremendous job for us," Blevins said of Weil. "Her sophomore year what she went through a lot of kids would have never come back from something like that."

Blevins was referring to when Weil was struck in the head by a ball during practice two years ago. Weil missed nearly half of the season because of the injury.

"I'm just very proud of her," Blevins said. "I really appreciate what she has given to our program and having gone so far away from home. It would have been very easy to stay close to home for her family to see her every day."

As for her coaching milestone, Blevins tried to down play it.

"It just means that I've been around for a long time," she said. "If you do anything, you start to think about all the people that you've ever been associated with, and I've had a lot of wonderful people in my life.

"I'm very fortunate to be at Iowa, and I love Iowa. It couldn't be in my opinion a better culture or environment for me personally. And that's why I've chosen to stay here."

Iowa won the first game despite only getting three hits, which are two less than Minnesota had in the first game.

Junior first baseman Katie Brown provided all the scoring in the first game by smacking two solo home runs. Her second homer, which came in the bottom of the fourth inning, was hit to left centerfield and directly into a strong head wind.

"Today, we played for our seniors," Brown said. "We just love to give them wins and had a good time today."

Brown struggled with her emotions while the seven seniors on the team were honored after Saturday's doubleheader.

"It's awful, I don't like it all," Brown said of the seniors whose careers are about over.

'Newbie' senior sparks softball offense

BY MIKE SLUSARK | FEBRUARY 18, 2009

7:50 AM

Sam Heinzman found herself in an oddly familiar situation when she arrived at Iowa.

"I was referred to as 'the new people' with the freshmen," she said. "It kind of felt like I was reliving my freshman year all over again."

She may have been new, but Heinzman was far from an inexperienced freshman. A senior transfer from South Dakota State, she had built herself an impressive résumé. She batted .329 as a junior center fielder for the Jackrabbits and led the team in hits, home runs, runs scored, stolen bases, and walks. She ranks third in career stolen bases and is tied for sixth in walks in the school's history.

Batting primarily in the ninth spot for Iowa, she is leading the Hawkeyes (7-3) in batting average, home runs, on-base percentage, and slugging percentage.

A coaching change made her consider transferring. South Dakota State released her from her scholarship so she was able to transfer to Iowa and play without sitting out a year. She is the first senior transfer in the 22-year tenure of Iowa head coach Gayle Blevins.

"She's a natural lefty, and any left-handed slapper would tell you that it'd be wonderful to be three-dimensional," Blevins said. "That's what Sam is. Sam can swing away, so she's got good power, she can drop a bunt, and she can slap."

Heinzman displayed her power right away, going 2-for-3 with two solo home runs in her first game as a Hawkeye against Stephen F. Austin on Feb. 6. A week later, she tallied two of Iowa's seven hits and an RBI in a 5-2 loss to No. 3 Arizona State.

However, she didn't have immediate success when she arrived at Iowa.

"Honestly, this has all kind of happened in the last few weeks," Blevins said. "She's been with us the entire year and gone through the struggles and adjustments that you go through when you're in a new situation. What has started to happen here in just the last two weekends is she has started to fall in place more."

An open competition in the outfield gave her a shot at playing time. So far this season, she has started all 10 games.

The national reputation of the business school and the opportunity to be on a nationally competitive team drew Heinzman to Iowa. Despite transferring as a senior, she said, she will be able to graduate with the addition of one summer course.

But the hardest part of her move to Iowa City wasn't on the diamond or in the classroom. It was leaving those closest to her behind.

"I had made so many friends at South Dakota," she said. "I didn't know anybody here." That too, has changed. The Hawkeyes embraced her, and she feels comfortable in her new surroundings.

"These girls are awesome," Heinzman said. "I wouldn't trade them for anything."

Blevins believes her strong work ethic helped her transition into the program.

"Sam is a real good worker, and in that respect, she fits in real well with our team, because I think we have a really committed team," the coach said. "Sam embraces that. Sam has always been a good worker, and that helps everybody approve of her, even in being in a new program in her senior year."

This season, she will try to finish a college career that began in South Dakota State Blue and Yellow with a Big Ten championship for the Black and Gold. A "new" offensive weapon such as Heinzman certainly helps the team's chances.

Starting over as a Hawk

Pat Harty, Iowa City Press-Citizen, May 2, 2009

The words senior and newcomer rarely are used to describe the same student-athlete. But such is the case with Iowa softball player Sam Heinzman.

Her first season as a Hawkeye is also her senior season.

That's because Heinzman spent her freshman, sophomore and junior seasons playing softball at South Dakota State University.

But she didn't just play there, she was a star after having started 143 games and leading her team in hits as both a sophomore and junior.

She also stole 46 bases in three seasons at South Dakota State, which ranked third on the school's all-time list at the end of last season.

But Heinzman figured she could do better, not only as an outfielder in softball, but also in academics.

So despite being three-fourths of the way through her college career, she decided to transfer to the University of Iowa for her senior season.

Heinzman wanted to play big-time college softball, even if it was for just one season.

"It was by far the hardest thing I've done in my life," Heinzman said after taking batting practice Thursday. "Just making the transition from moving to South Dakota in the first place, and going from high school to college, that was hard.

"But moving from college to college and not knowing anybody, that was really difficult for me. Not really having a whole lot of people to turn to besides my teammates. They helped me so much."

Heinzman can relate to the phrase that time flies when you're having fun because now all that's left of her senior season are six regular-season games, beginning with today's showdown against No. 8 Michigan in Ann Arbor, Mich.

The adjustment has gone smoothly for the most part, with Heinzman starting 47 of 50 games this season and with her excelling in the classroom.

"It's exactly what I thought," she said. "The classes are a little harder, but that's what I wanted."

Iowa was attractive to Heinzman not only because of the status of the softball program, but also because of what it offered academically.

Gayle Blevins has been the head softball coach at Iowa since 1988, and during that time she has built the program into a Big Ten power.

Heinzman saw glimpses of that the two times she played against Iowa while at South Dakota State.

"I was looking also to play for a successful program, and we had come down to play Iowa my freshman and sophomore years. I was really impressed with how the girls handled themselves and coach Blevins over there on the third base line," Heinzman said.

Heinzman was frustrated with her academic situation at South Dakota State. She thought that transferring to Iowa not only would be more challenging, but also more beneficial after she graduated from college.

She once thought about pursuing a career in marketing or advertising, but now is leaning toward the financial planning industry.

"There was an (emphasis on academics), but it just wasn't enough," Heinzman said of her experience at South Dakota State. "Here they're really focused on getting your schooling done in four years and making sure that you're successful at what you're doing."

Blevins said Heinzman is the first player to transfer into her program as a senior.

"I think anytime that a student has been in a program for three years you probably don't expect them to contact you," Blevins said. "But she did and she had to go through the procedure for clearance to contact us first.

"Once that was all taken care of, then we had a chance to talk to her at that point."

Heinzman also considered transferring to Nebraska, but the campus was too close to her hometown of Omaha.

"I wasn't really interested in playing for that softball program just because it's so close to home and it would have been a lot easier," Heinzman said.

Heinzman said getting her release from South Dakota State was a big hassle. Besides all the paperwork she was required to do, she also had to deal with the negative reaction caused by her decision to leave.

"They didn't want me to go," Heinzman said. "But when I made up my mind, it was made up."

Blevins praised the way Heinzman has handled the transition and blended in with her new teammates.

"I think why Sam has adjusted so well is because she's a good worker," Blevins said. "I think anytime you come in and you just put your head down and you really work hard, you gain respect right away from your teammates, from your coaches and from everybody.

"She knew that she had to come in and prove herself and work hard and be prepared for any opportunity that would present itself."

Heinzman praised her teammates and coaches at Iowa for accepting her from the beginning. She already had a connection to the Iowa program in that second-year pitching coach Shane Bouman also used to be the head coach at South Dakota State.

"The girls are really open-minded about a lot of things, and they didn't make it hard for me at all," Heinzman said.

Heinzman has a .291 batting average and she leads Iowa (38-12) with three triples heading into today's game against Michigan. Her most recent triple came in Wednesday's 1-0 loss to Drake at home.

It was one of just three hits for Iowa.

"I've been kind of going through a slump lately, but I've recently gotten out of that," Heinzman said. "So I feel like I'm right back on track and where I wanted to be."

McGlaughlin an RBI leader with a job after graduation

BY MIKE SLUSARK | APRIL 22, 2009, DAILY IOWAN

There's a lot to be jealous of with Colleen McGlaughlin.

Not only is the Iowa softball player second in the Big Ten in RBIs, she has something that every senior would kill for — a job after graduation.

McGlaughlin is going to be an actuary for State Farm Insurance in Bloomington, Ill.

An actuary?

"My uncle was an actuary, and ever since I was like in first grade, he's been trying to get me to be an actuary, and I finally listened to him," she said. "I had an internship there over the summer, and they immediately offered a position."

For those unfamiliar with the insurance industry, an actuary evaluates risk and sets premiums for clients. It's a field that requires an understanding of several disciplines, but McGlaughlin has shown as much skill and determination in the classroom as at the plate. Last year, she was named a first-team Academic All-American by ESPN: The Magazine, an achievement she considers the proudest of her collegiate career.

Did I mention she's a damn good softball player?

After Iowa's 5-3 win over Northern Iowa on Tuesday, McGlaughlin has 42 RBIs this season, tying her with Northwestern freshman Adrienne Monka for the conference lead.

"I love coming up to bat in an RBI situation," she said after Iowa's April 18 double-header against Michigan State. "I think the top of the order has been doing a great job of getting on base."

She is also tied for the Big Ten lead now with 54 hits this season and leads Iowa starters with a .367 batting average.

"What Colleen does is she is really good at knowing her zone," Iowa head coach Gayle Blevins said April 18 after the Hawkeyes' sweep of Michigan State. "She doesn't swing at a lot of bad pitches. That's such a big difference with a lot of hitters."

In the two games against the Spartans last weekend, McGlaughlin was a combined 4-for-6 with three walks. In the bottom of the sixth, with her team down one, she smacked a double to left center to lead off the inning and scored the tying run, which sent the game into extra innings in the Hawkeye victory.

Despite entering the lineup mainly as the designated player this season, she looked sharp in the outfield against Michigan State, making a nice grab against the wall in foul territory after a full sprint from her position in right field.

In high school, McGlaughlin was also her team's best pitcher, although it didn't enjoy much success. "We were not particularly good in high school," she said. "I had like 300 strikeouts my senior year, but I also hit 30 people, so I was pretty wild."

She said the Iowa coaching staff noticed her as an outfielder and third baseman for her Amateur Softball Association team, the Illinois Southern Force. McGlaughlin was on the team when the Southern Force won the under-18 Gold Division national championship in 2004.

Since arriving at Iowa, she has not made any major changes in her swing or how she plays defensively. Blevins attributes her success to a good work ethic.

"She has that ability to come in and take extra balls or get extra cuts in the cage," Blevins said. "She's always had that mentality and I just think good things happen for people that just work really hard."

With an outstanding season and a secure job, good things are certainly happening for McGlaughlin.

Blevins at the top

BY MIKE SLUSARK, DAILY IOWAN MAY 11, 2009

She might not have the instant name recognition of Hayden Fry or Dan Gable, but Gayle Blevins deserves to be remembered as an all-time great in Iowa coaching.

Blevins quietly moved in to second place on the all-time Division-I wins list May 9 with a 2-0 defeat of Minnesota in the first game of a double-header. It was her 1,219th victory as a head softball coach.

During her illustrious coaching career, Blevins has been inducted into the National Fastpitch Coaches Association Hall of Fame and the Indiana University Hall of Fame. She has been named both the Big Ten and national Coach of the Year.

Before Blevins took over in 1988, the Iowa softball program, which began in 1974, had only five winning seasons. The team only had one season above .500 in the Big Ten, an 8-7 conference record in 1983.

When she took over, the program immediately turned around. The Hawkeyes won their first Big Ten title and made their first NCAA Tournament. Since then, the softball team has won four more conference titles and made four College World Series appearances. Her overall career coaching record is 1,220-563-5.

In 1997, Blevins' 22-0 Hawkeyes were the first team to go undefeated in the Big Ten. No other team has been undefeated in Big Ten play since.

When Blevins began coaching at Indiana in 1980, she was an innovator for the game of softball. She was one of the first coaches to use slap-hitting regularly. In 1983, one of her players was the first slap-hitter to earn All-American honors. Slap-hitting is now a regular tactic used by almost all softball teams.

She plays an aggressive style of softball that is immediately apparent to anyone who watches her teams. Her teams are always near the top of the conference in steal attempts, and they try to get extra bases on hits as much as possible. They force opponents to make plays defensively and are always poised to benefit from the defense's mistakes.

This distinct brand of play has inspired coaches throughout all levels of softball. Six former players or assistants under Blevins are current collegiate softball coaches.

Carol Hutchins, the current head coach at Michigan who ranks fifth on the all-time wins list, served as an assistant under Blevins when she was the head coach at Indiana. Current Iowa assistant coach Diane Stephenson was an All-American at Indiana under Blevins in 1981. Stephenson was the head coach at Indiana from 1988-2002 and earned Big Ten Coach of the Year honors in 1994.

In total, 43 former players or assistant coaches under Blevins have moved on to head coaching or assistant coaching positions at the college level.

Under her leadership, 15 Hawkeyes have earned All-American honors and three Big Ten Player of the Year accolades.

Although it is often overlooked, college coaches have a responsibility to ensure their student-athletes are successful in the classroom as well as in competition. The recently released academic progress rates from the 2007-08 academic year list the Iowa softball team in the top 10 percent within its sport. Seven different players have received Academic All-American honors during Blevins' tenure.

The state of Iowa is not generally thought of as a hotbed of Division-I athletic talent in most sports, but Blevins has consistently won with homegrown talent. Eight in-state players have gone on to be All-Americans for the Hawkeyes and eight of the 18 players currently on the team are from Iowa.

Blevins will probably never become the winningest coach in Division-I history — Fresno State coach Margie Wright has a solid hold on that spot — but the effect she has made on softball nationally and at Iowa cannot be overstated.

Quite simply, Blevins is Iowa softball.

Hawks' softball coach is unique— he's a man

BY MIKE SLUSARK | APRIL 30, 2009, DAILY IOWAN

Iowa softball pitching coach Shane Bouman has something that no other Big Ten softball coach does — a Y-chromosome.

Of the 34 paid assistant and head softball coaches in the conference, Bouman is the only male.

In Iowa head coach Gayle Blevins' 22 years as a Hawkeye, she has had one other male assistant. Rich Calvert, now the head coach at Drake, was an assistant at Iowa from 1997-2002. He led the Bulldogs to a 1-0 victory in Iowa City on Wednesday night.

In softball though, Xs and Ys aren't nearly as important as Ws and Ks, especially to Bouman. "It's not about just hanging out; let's see if we can have fun," he said. "Winning is fun to me, winning championships is fun."

This season, his Hawkeye hurlers are coming through in a big way. Senior Brittany Weil currently has a 22-8 record and a 1.00 ERA. She has thrown three no-hitters plus a perfect game so far this season. Junior Amanda Züst is also putting together a solid season with a 1.74 ERA and a 16-4 record. Weil attributes some of her success to Bouman's teachings.

"He's really helped with developing my drop ball, and he's really been working on focusing in on every pitch and being committed to each pitch," Weil said. "He really helped both me and Amanda develop as pitchers at this level."

Having a male coach was not any different for her, Weil said, and she actually had never had a female softball coach until arriving at Iowa.

Bouman got involved with softball at an early age, hanging around the field while his father played competitively. While also playing baseball, he started playing softball seriously as a sophomore in high school in fast-pitch leagues. Male softball was a bigger sport at that time than it is today, he said.

After high school, he had a distinguished football career at South Dakota State University. As a three-year starter at quarterback for the Jackrabbits, Bouman threw for 4,663 yards, eighth in school history. He finished with a 100.72 quarterback rating. Football runs as deep in his family as softball does — brother Todd Bouman is an NFL quarterback with the Baltimore Ravens. But even while playing on the gridiron, Bouman continued his career on the softball diamond.

"I played all through my college years. We played softball all summer and then tried to train enough so that we were ready for football when it came in the fall," Bouman said. "I can remember both my junior and senior year at South Dakota State that we went right from the state tournament or from a regional tournament right into fall camp."

As a pitcher, Bouman was honored as a four-time Amateur Softball Association All-American and a two-time North American Fastpitch Association All-American. His teams competed in five national championships and nine International Softball Congress World Tournaments. He finished with a 532-124 record in a 16-year career.

During his playing days, Bouman clocked out from the rubber between 78-82 mph which from 46 feet, although 3 feet farther than the NCAA women's distance, appears at least as fast as the hardest throwing major-league pitcher.

"If you're throwing 80 mph, it's like 106 in baseball," Bouman said. "So we can get it there in the air."

In 2002, Bouman accepted the head softball coaching position at his alma mater. He coached South Dakota State for six seasons before accepting a position at Iowa with eyes set on winning a championship. In 2008, Bouman was also named Iowa's recruiting coordinator.

While softball may only be a female sport at the NCAA level, Bouman knows his way around the grassless infield of the softball diamond and of course, the pitcher's circle. "This game all starts in the circle," Bouman said.
