IOWA BASKETBALL TRADITION

ONE OF THE NATION'S VERY BEST

Iowa City, Iowa. It is the home for one of the nation's leading public universities, the University of Iowa.

It's also the home of one of the nation's most successful college basketball programs, the Iowa Hawkeyes.

Friends and fans of the University of Iowa basketball program support Hawkeye basketball because Iowa can boast of some of the most exciting, most successful, and most recognized teams in college basketball.

Carver-Hawkeye Arena, with a seating capacity of 15,500, is the home of Iowa basketball. The Hawkeyes annually rank among the national leaders in home attendance.

HERE IS A SAMPLING OF IOWA'S MOST RECENT SUCCESS:

Iowa basketball posted seven straight winning seasons between 2000-07, including 25 victories in 2006, second most in school history. Along with winning the 2006 Big Ten Conference Tournament, Iowa placed second during the regular season, just one game from first place.

The Hawkeyes won all 17 home games in 2006, posting the first-ever perfect record in Carver-Hawkeye Arena. Iowa has posted a 54-14 record in Carver-Hawkeye Arena over the past four seasons, including a 24-10 Big Ten record.

Iowa has averaged over 18 victories per season (91 wins) the past five years, advancing to the NCAA Tournament in both 2005 and 2006.

Iowa has appeared in the NCAA Tournament 19 times over the past 31 years. The Hawkeyes have made three appearances in the NCAA Final Four and have advanced to the Sweet 16 three times since 1987.

The six winningest seasons in Iowa basketball history, 30 wins in 1987, 25 wins in 2006, 24 wins in 1988 and 23 wins in 1989, 1993, 1996 and 2001, are an indication of the past successes of Iowa basketball. With 20 or more wins in eight of the past 14 seasons, Hawkeye fans are confident of bigger and better things to come.

Leading the Hawkeye program is Coach Todd Lickliter, who was named the national Coach of the Year in 2007 by the National Association of Basketball Coaches. Now in his third year at Iowa, Lickliter led Butler to a 29-7 overall record in 2007, including an appearance in the NCAA Tournament Sweet 16.

IOWA BASKETBALL: GREAT SUCCESS AND GREAT TRADITION

During the 2001-02 season, the University of Iowa celebrated 100 Years of Basketball. Iowa's basketball history includes 73 winning seasons, including 23 years in which the Hawkeyes have won 20 or more games.

ESPN released its 2009 college basketball encyclopedia and inside it included its ESPN/Sagarin all-time rankings. The University of Iowa's success on the court garnered the program a ranking on No. 10 in the country!

Iowa basketball teams have advanced to the NCAA Tournament 22 times, advancing to the NCAA Final Four in 1955, 1956 and 1980. In fact, Iowa is one of just 31 Division I programs to advance to the NCAA Tournament on more than 20 occasions. In addition, Iowa has made five appearances in the NIT post-season tournament.

The start of the Iowa basketball program can be traced back to January 18, 1896. On that date, Iowa City was the site of the first college basketball game played with five players on a side. The historic event took place in Close Hall on the University of Iowa campus. In that first game, the University of Chicago defeated Iowa 15-12, with neither team using any substitutes.

From that first game in 1896, the Iowa basketball program has been recognized as one of the best in the nation. Street & Smith's magazine recently selected its "100 Greatest College Basketball Programs of All Time". In its special publication, the magazine recognized the Iowa program as No. 40 among over 300 Division I programs.

2009 IOWA BASKETBALL SUMMER TOUR

ROME, ITALY | ATHENS, GREECE

ROME, ITALY | ATHENS, GREECE

The University of Iowa men's basketball team toured Rome, Italy and Athens, Greece last May as part of its 2009 foreign tour. The 10-day visit to Italy and Greece saw the Hawkeyes win two of three games, with only a one point loss in the second game spoiling a perfect record.

The Hawkeyes began the trip with five days in Rome, where they played (and won) the first exhibition game. Members of the Iowa travel party had plenty of free time to see all the sites in Italy's most famous city, including the Coliseum, Vatican City, St. Peter's Basilica, the Sistine Chapel and many additional famous landmarks within the city. Still recovering from the eight hour flight to Rome, the Hawkeyes opened the tour with a 78-58 win.

The Iowa travel party spent the second five days of the tour in and around the city of Athens. The second game was a one-point loss to the Greek Senior Select team, but the competition on the tour ended with a 13-point win in the third game. The final contest was played with a large crowd of elementary school children in attendance. Following the game, the children surrounded players from both teams seeking autographs and photos.

While in Athens the Hawkeyes were able to visit the original Olympic Stadium, site of the 1896 Olympics and the Acropolis, among additional historic landmarks. The trip also featured a one-day cruise of three smaller Greek islands. After the final game of the tour members of the travel party were able to spend a relaxing final day at the beach before the long trek back to the United States.

Complete photo galleries, player blogs, game recaps and stats from the trip to Italy and Greece can be found at hawkeyesports.com.

SALLY MASON • PRESIDENT, THE UNIVERSITY OF IOWA

IOWA BASKETBALL STAFF

Sally Mason has served as the 20th president of The University of Iowa since 2007. She holds a full professorship with tenure in the Department of Biology in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

In her first year at Iowa, President Mason initiated a sustainable university initiative, which makes sustainability a central priority of the University's operations, its academic mission, and its greater responsibilities to society. An unexpected priority of President Mason's first year was the historic flooding of the UI campus and the greater community, and her leadership helped bring the campus community together to preserve as much of the University's resources as possible and rebuild essential facilities in time to open the campus for a full complement of fall semester courses.

The daughter of an immigrant family and the first child to attend college, President Mason received her BA in zoology from the University of Kentucky in 1972, her MS from Purdue University in 1974, and her PhD in cellular, molecular, and developmental biology from the University of Arizona in 1978. She subsequently spent two years at Indiana University in Bloomington doing postdoctoral research before joining the University of Kansas in 1981. She received awards for outstanding undergraduate advising and teaching, earning a prestigious Kemper Teaching Fellowship. During her 21 years at Kansas, President Mason served as a full professor in the Department of Molecular Biosciences, acting chair of the Department of Physiology and Cell Biology, and associate dean in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. In 1995, she was appointed dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

President Mason served as provost of Purdue University from 2001 to 2007, where she was responsible for planning, managing, and reviewing all academic programs at Purdue's West Lafayette campus and four affiliated branch campuses throughout Indiana. Her accomplishments as provost included increasing diversity, recruiting top faculty, doubling the research program, advancing public engagement, and improving the learning environment for students. President Mason was instrumental in the development of Purdue's Discovery Park, an interdisciplinary research incubator focused on such topics as nanotechnology, entrepreneurship, and biosciences.

President Mason is the author of many scientific papers and has obtained a number of research grants from the National Science Foundation, the National Institutes of Health, the Wesley Research Foundation, and the Lilly Endowment. Her research interests have focused on the developmental biology, genetics, and biochemistry of pigment cells and pigments in the skin of vertebrates. She has held leadership positions for many professional organizations and was appointed to the National Medal of Science Selection Committee from 2006 to 2008. President Mason currently co-chairs the Task Force on National Energy Policy and Midwestern Competitiveness of the Chicago Council on Global Affairs, a national task force exploring how likely upcoming energy and climate change legislation will impact Midwest economic competitiveness.

President Mason is married to Ken Mason, an educator and textbook author who teaches biological sciences at The University of Iowa.

"Welcome to a new season of Iowa Hawkeye basketball! My husband Ken and I are enthusiastic fans and can't wait to cheer the Iowa Black and Gold on to victory in 2009-10. Iowa returns many young and talented team members, which will make for an exciting season."

Our terrific Coach Todd Lickliter and his excellent staff have done a superb job with our talented student-athletes. In academics, in athletics, and in community service, our men's basketball team represents the best in intercollegiate athletics. We are proud of how our student-athletes' dedication and hard work in the classroom and on the court exemplify the UI spirit. Coach Lickliter has an excellent reputation for leading his team to excel in all ways, and he continues that commitment with the Hawkeye men."

The basketball coaching team's leadership and teaching, combined with the commitment and talent of our team members, have led the Hawkeyes to some impressive signs of success. Over the past four years, the Hawkeyes have boasted a 54-14 record in Carver-Hawkeyes Arena. We are in the top 35 programs nationwide for attendance, so Hawkeye fans remain dedicated as well."

I am sure that our men's basketball team will reach new levels of success, and I will be there to support them as they do. I am proud to be a Hawkeye, and, once again, I hope you will join me for another exciting season of Hawkeye Men's Basketball. See you at Carver-Hawkeye Arena!"

SALLY MASON

President

The University of Iowa

GARY BARTA • DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

IOWA BASKETBALL STAFF

Gary Barta is in his fourth year as the director of intercollegiate athletics at the University of Iowa and his 23rd year in athletics administration, eager to build on the achievements and progress made in a challenging but rewarding 2008-09.

The Hawkeyes enjoyed a successful 2008-09 year competitively. Iowa finished the 2009 sports season ranked 45th nationally in the Learfield Sports Directors' Cup with a school-record 474.30 — an improvement fueled by Iowa's victory over South Carolina in the 2009 Outback Bowl, the Hawkeyes' second straight Big Ten Conference and NCAA titles in wrestling, a third straight Big Ten Tournament title and a berth in the national semi-finals by the field hockey team, and NCAA Tournament or national championship participation by Iowa's women's basketball, women's cross country and indoor track, men's golf, gymnastics and softball programs. Iowa's 45th place finish was a seven-position improvement from last year's placing of 50th (398 points) and the third consecutive year of improvement and the Hawkeyes placed 68th in 2006-07 with 284 points. The UI's previous best point total was 467.75 in 2004-05.

Under Barta's leadership, Iowa's long-standing commitment to the academic pursuits of the more than 700 student-athletes who annually represent the Hawkeye intercollegiate athletics competition continues. According to graduation statistics distributed each fall by the NCAA, the class of student-athletes who entered Iowa at the start of the 2001-02 academic year had a graduation rate of 68 percent, a mark that compared very favorably to the 66 percent rate compiled by the overall student population at the University.

The 2008 Iowa football team tied for first in NCAA Graduation Success Rate (75 percent) among the 10 programs that have played in five or more January bowl games since the 2002 season. Iowa's 75 percent graduation success rate ranked third among teams in the 2008 final top 25.

The Hawkeye men's cross country, women's golf, and softball teams were also singled out by the NCAA for ranking in the top 10 percent among their peers in the NCAA's 2008 Academic Progress Rate (APR), a real-time look at a team's academic success each semester or quarter, by tracking the academic progress of each student-athlete. All 24 of Iowa's teams exceed NCAA APR standards and compare favorably to their peers in the Big Ten Conference and nationally.

Construction of new and renovation of existing facilities also remain high priorities for Iowa. The UI is working hard to reach its goal of breaking ground on a $47 million revitalization of its 27-year-old Carver-Hawkeye Arena, a much-needed renovation that will greatly improve the practice, strength training and conditioning facilities for a myriad of Hawkeye sports programs, including, most notably, the men and women's basketball, volleyball and wrestling teams.

The project will also provide locker room updates, team meeting facilities, and much needed office and meeting room space for more than 200 full-time coaches and staff. The enhancement project will also expand and improve the experience for fans.

The University of Iowa will complete construction of the $7 million P. Sue Beckwith Boathouse in fall 2009. This addition to the physical plant will come fast on the heels of a $3 million renovation of the portion of the UI Recreation Building used by Iowa's baseball, track and field, and cross country squads; the replacement of the drainage system for the playing field inside Kinnick Stadium and the installation of FieldTurf; and the reconstruction of Bob Pearl Field, home of Iowa's nationally ranked softball team, and Francis X. Cretzmeyer Track, Iowa's track and field venue, two facilities severely damaged by the 2008 floods that ravaged the Midwest.

In fall 2010, Barta will join leaders across campus in celebrating the opening of the $69 million Campus Wellness and Recreation Center, the new home of Iowa's men's and women's swimming and diving program.

Last winter, the State of Iowa Board of Regents gave approval to hire architects to begin planning the renovation and expansion of administrative space and training facilities used by Iowa's nationally ranked football program. The project is to be funded entirely by private support. This important project is part of the next phase of the master plan for Hawkeye football facilities.

The construction of the Ron and Margaret Kenyon Outdoor Practice Facility — a facility envied by many collegiate programs and NFL franchises — and the renovation of Kinnick Stadium were phases 1 and 2 of the master plan, respectively.

Barta has hired four head coaches since becoming Iowa's 11th director of athletics on Aug. 2, 2006 and all four have quickly built solid foundations for their respective programs.

Todd Lickliter's 2008-09 UI men's basketball team battled through one of the nation's toughest schedules to claim 15 victories with a roster dominated by underclassmen. The 2009 season will be the second for volleyball coach Sharon Dingman, who guided the Hawkeyes to win totals of 14 overall and six against Big Ten opponents, marks that were the best for Iowa in eight seasons.

Kelly Crawford and Mark Hankins have raised the bar for both of Iowa's golf programs. Crawford's women's team finished fifth at the 2009 Big Ten Conference Championship — the program's best finish in 14 seasons. Hankins' men's squad finished sixth at the 2009 league championship — just five strokes out of third place. The finish was the Hawkeyes' best in eight years and earned Iowa a spot in NCAA regional competition. The Hawkeyes finished fifth at NCAA Regionals, which garnered the Black and Gold their first NCAA Championships appearance since 1994. At the championships, Iowa placed 17th in the country.

Barta's involvement in the UI campus community extends well beyond intercollegiate athletics. He is a member of the cabinet comprised of vice presidents and other campus leaders that provides counsel to President Sally Mason. That group was instrumental during the inspiring response to the record-setting flooding that besieged the campus and the Iowa City and Coralville communities in June, 2008.

An ability to create and cultivate mutually beneficial relationships has been a consistent theme in Barta's 22 years in athletic administration. As director of athletics at the University of Iowa, he assisted staff of the Big Ten Conference and the Big Ten Network in their negotiations with Mediacom Communications, Inc., the state's largest cable television provider. It resulted in distribution of the BTN to more than one million households across the state. Barta continues to develop relationships with alumni and contributors to the program in an effort to remain competitive. In recent years, the Athletics Department has received several significant financial commitments to assist in capital projects and scholarship support, including gifts of $5 million each from Dale and Marilyn Howard, Bruce Rastetter and Richard O. Jacobson.

As the director of athletics at the University of Wyoming for three years, seven different coaches were named Mountain West Conference Coach of the Year. He also spearheaded a fund-raising effort that netted the Cowboy athletics program $11 million in private support and $11 million in matching state funds. Among other things, these funds allowed for significant stadium renovations and construction of a new indoor practice facility.

As the senior associate athletics director at the University of Washington, he directed the "Campaign for the Student-Athlete," was a participant in the design, construction and/or renovation of several athletic facilities, including Bank of America Arena and the Dempsey Indoor Practice Facility. During his time in Seattle, the Husky Athletics program generated nearly $100 million in private support. In addition to almost doubling the amount of annual private contributions received by Washington, Barta also managed the department's external relations.

His responsibilities at Washington expanded over time to include hiring of coaching and administrative staff and coordinating the schedule for the Huskies' men's basketball program.

The roots of his development experience extend to his first two positions: director of athletics development and external relations at the University of Northern Iowa and director of development at his alma mater, North Dakota State University.

Barta earned a Bachelor of Science degree in mass communication and broadcast journalism from NDSU in 1987. He was an option quarterback for Bison football squads that won the NCAA Division II national championship in 1983, 1985 and 1986.

Barta, and his wife, Connie, have a son, Luke (11) and a daughter, Madison (9). He was born September 4, 1963, in Minneapolis, Minn.

The Barta family includes Gary, Luke, Madison and Connie.

TODD LICKLITER • HEAD BASKETBALL COACH

IOWA BASKETBALL STAFF

Todd Lickliter is in his second season as The University of Iowa's head men's basketball coach after being named to the position on April 3, 2007. Lickliter joined the Iowa program after serving as the head coach at Butler University for six seasons (2001-07). He is Iowa's 21st men's basketball coach.

Lickliter holds a career record of 144-80 (.643) after the Hawkeyes posted a 13-19 record in his first season. He posted a 131-61 (.682) record as Butler's head coach. He led Butler to four post-season tournament berths, including trips to the NCAA Sweet 16 in 2003 and 2007.

His first Iowa team posted 13 regular season wins while suffering two major injuries, as junior Tony Freeman missed 10 games and freshman Jarryd Cole missed the entire Big Ten season. Both were in the starting line-up when healthy.

The Hawkeyes allowed just 58 points per game, ranking second in the Big Ten Conference and fifth in the nation in scoring defense.

Lickliter was named the 2006-07 Division I Coach of the Year by the National Association of Basketball Coaches (NABC) and was recognized as the High-Major Coach of the Year by collegehoops.net. He was also named 2007 Horizon League Coach of the Year for the second consecutive year after guiding the Bulldogs to a school and league-record 29 victories.

He led Butler to the regular season championship in the Horizon League in 2007. The Bulldogs advanced to the Sweet 16 in the NCAA Tournament before falling to eventual national champion Florida (65-57). Butler, in 2008, repeated as Horizon League champions.

In posting a 29-7 record in 2006-07 Butler led the nation in fewest turnovers per game (9.5), ranked fifth in scoring defense (57.1), seventh in free throw percentage (76%), 13th in won-loss percentage (.806), 17th in scoring margin (10.5) and 20th in three-point field goals per game (8.9).

Butler was ranked in the national top 25 for 16 consecutive weeks during the 2006-07 season and became the first team in the history of the Horizon League to be ranked in the top 10. The Bulldogs won three games over top 25 opponents (Tennessee, Gonzaga, Maryland) and recorded eight victories over teams that participated in the NCAA Tournament.

Butler averaged 22 wins in six seasons under Lickliter, winning league titles in 2002, 2003 and 2007. The Bulldogs won four in-season tournaments, including the 2006 NIT Season Tip-Off and the 2006 Wooden Classic.

Along with winning at least 20 games in four of six seasons at Butler, Lickliter's student-athletes also excelled in the classroom. Butler's graduation rate of 82% for men's basketball in Lickliter's final season ranked best among all Sweet Sixteen teams in the 2007 NCAA Tournament and guard A.J. Graves joined Iowa's Adam Haluska on the 2007 academic all-America first team. Butler also held the top graduation rate among NCAA Sweet Sixteen teams when the Bulldogs advanced past Mississippi State and Louisville in the 2003 NCAA Tournament.

Lickliter's 2006-07 squad captured the Midwest Region title of the NIT Season Tip-Off with back-to-back victories over Notre Dame and Indiana. The Bulldogs continued their roll in New York, defeating 22nd-ranked Tennessee and 23rd-ranked Gonzaga to capture the pre-season NIT.

The Bulldogs began the 2006-07 season with 10 straight victories, including a triumph over Purdue in the Wooden Tradition. The 10 wins matched the second-fastest start in school history and the fifth-longest winning streak in school annals. Butler cracked the "Top 25" on Nov. 27 and was nationally-ranked for a school and league record 16 consecutive weeks. Lickliter's club became the first team in Horizon League history to break into the nation's "Top 10" on Feb. 5.

At mid-season Lickliter was named the Jim Phelan National Coach of the Year, presented by Collegeinsider.com. He also earned the mid-season Hugh Durham Award, which at mid-season recognizes the top coach at the mid-major level.

The 2006-07 Bulldogs became the first team in league history to record 20 wins before February and the first Horizon League team to win 26 regular season games. Butler had three wins over teams that were ranked in the "Top 25" and eight victories over squads that advanced to the NCAA Tournament.

Lickliter became the first coach in Horizon League history to be honored by the NABC as Coach of the Year. He owns three of the top single season win totals in Butler history, including 29 wins in 2007, 26 in 2002 and 27 in 2003. The Bulldogs also won 20 games in 2004.

Lickliter ranks fourth on Butler's all-time list for basketball coaching victories. He ranks second among Butler head coaches with at least three seasons in winning percentage (.682) and second in number of 20-win seasons (four). He became the first Butler coach to reach 50 career wins in just two seasons and the first to achieve 100 victories in five seasons. And, he's one of just four coaches in the history of the Horizon League to guide a team to the NCAA "Sweet Sixteen".

Lickliter led the Bulldogs to an unbeaten home record (12-0) in 2002-03, and mentored Butler to a 70-12 (.854) home mark in his six seasons. Lickliter also directed Butler to 61 victories away from Hinkle Fieldhouse. His Bulldog teams were 6-5 against teams ranked in the "Top 25" in the nation.

In 2005-06, Butler's men's basketball program earned the Horizon League Outreach Award, compiling the highest number of community service hours among all teams at Butler University. In his six seasons as the head coach at Butler, 19 of 20 seniors earned their degree.

In his first season as Butler's head coach, Lickliter guided the Bulldogs to a then school-record 26 victories and a third consecutive Horizon League regular season title. He led Butler to regular season tournament championships at the Top of the World Classic in Alaska and Indiana's Hoosier Classic. The win at the Top of the World Classic marked Butler's first regular season tournament title in 41 years. The victory at the Hoosier Classic ended Indiana's streak of 19 consecutive titles in the 20-year history of the event.

Lickliter was the first basketball coach in Butler history to win his first 13 games, and he became the first coach to lead Butler to more than 20 regular season wins. He set school and conference records for most wins by a first-year coach, and he led the Bulldogs to the third-highest single season win total in league history. He had Butler ranked in the "Top 25" for the first time in 53 years, and guided the Bulldogs to their first-ever unbeaten non-conference record.

Lickliter guided the 2003 Bulldogs to an even more impressive season in his second year. He led Butler to a 27-6 record, breaking the single-season mark for victories for a second consecutive year. His squad earned a second straight Horizon League regular season title and returned to post-season play for the second consecutive year. Butler earned its first "at-large" bid to the NCAA Tournament since 1962, and the Bulldogs went on to reach the Sweet Sixteen with upset victories over fifth-seeded Mississippi State and fourth-seeded Louisville.

Lickliter was named Butler's basketball coach in May, 2001, following a strong lobbying effort by Butler players (Horizon League "Player of the Year" Rylan Hainje called Lickliter "... a great coach." Mike Monserez said, "Coach Lickliter treats us with respect; he treats us like men." Guard Brandon Miller added that Lickliter "... is one of the smartest coaches I've ever been around.").

He replaced his former boss, Thad Matta, who left the Bulldogs after one season to become head coach at Xavier. Lickliter, who became Butler's third head coach in three seasons, had served as an assistant coach under the Bulldogs' previous two head coaches, Barry Collier and Matta. He was also an assistant coach (1988-89) for one season at Butler under Coach Joe Sexson. He became the third consecutive former Butler player to guide the Bulldogs.

A 1979 Butler graduate, Lickliter played a prominent role in refining Butler's basketball system ("The Butler Way") while serving as an assistant coach. During his three seasons on the staff of the two former head coaches, Lickliter helped the Bulldogs post three 20-win seasons, three conference regular season titles, three league tournament crowns and three trips to the NCAA Tournament. In his final two seasons as a Butler assistant coach, the Bulldogs compiled a 47-18 record, including "Top 25" wins over 10th-ranked Wisconsin and 23rd-ranked Wake Forest. The win over the Demon Deacons in the 2001 NCAA Tournament was Butler's first NCAA Tournament victory in 39 years.

Lickliter began his collegiate coaching career at Butler in 1988-89 under Sexson, his former college coach. He left Butler after one year to accept a head coaching job at Danville, IN High School, where he remained for three seasons. He returned to the collegiate ranks in 1996 as an administrative assistant on Collier's staff at Butler. Lickliter accepted an assistant coaching position at Eastern Michigan in 1997 and remained on the Eagles' staff for two seasons before returning to Butler in 1999. In six Division I seasons, he contributed to teams that won three conference regular season championships, four conference tournament titles, made four NCAA Tournament appearances, and compiled a 106-73 record.

In addition to his collegiate coaching experience, Lickliter had high school head coaching stints at Park Tudor High School in Indianapolis (1979-87) and Danville High School (1987-88, 1989-92). He also coached a partial season in Saudi Arabia with the Ah Ahli Sports Club-Jeddah.

Lickliter has had a presence in Indiana basketball dating back to his days as a three-year starting guard at North Central High School in Indianapolis, where he played for his father, Arlan. He began his college career at North Carolina-Wilmington before transferring to Central Florida Community College. He played one season at Central Florida, earning his associate degree in 1977, and then transferred to Butler, where he played his final two collegiate seasons, 1977-79. He earned a B.S degree in secondary education from Butler in 1979.

Lickliter was born April 17, 1955. He and his wife, Joez, have three sons, Ry, Garrett and John, and a daughter-in-law, Molly.

IOWA BASKETBALL STAFF

"Todd is a proven winner. Just as importantly, he's committed to the values and approach shared by Iowans. I'm confident we will compete for championships, develop leaders, and always do things the right way under his leadership. We are so fortunate he and his wife Joez chose to become part of the Hawkeye family."

GARY BARTA

Director of Athletics
The University of Iowa

"Iowa is getting a great coach and, more importantly, a great man and a great person. He's a man of great character. When I was making my official visit, I immediately got a sense of family with his program. He's a competitor. He's going to go hard and do what he can to win. He wants a winning program wherever he is."

BRIAN LIGON

Senior Captain
Butler University, 2006-07

"The hire is a home run, it makes perfect sense. Todd brings a winning attitude and he brings ability. Best of all, he's coming from a place at Butler, that has a winning culture. He will establish a winning culture at Iowa, in their recruiting, in relating to alumni, and his ability to coach. It's a slam dunk for the Hawkeyes."

SETH DAVIS

CBS Sports
Sports Illustrated College Basketball Expert

"Todd is a high quality, class individual, and a terrific coach. I just have great, great respect for him. He does a lot of good things in managing his kids, developing his players and how he coaches the game."

"I'm a big, big fan of Todd's. For what he represents between the lines, but even more importantly how he goes about trying to develop those young men as student athletes under his leadership."

CLARK KELLOGG

CBS Sports

"He's done such a great job for so long, and it's not a fluke either. He had kids who believe in the system. They are unselfish and play together. They do all the things that terrific coaches get their people to do."

"Everybody has been impressed with what he has been able to do. I think Iowa is very fortunate. Iowa fans will enjoy him, and his style. I think he will be able to attract kids who fit the way he wants to play. I think the future is bright."

BILL RAFTERY

Television and Radio Basketball Analyst

"Todd's one of those guys, he's a coaches coach. He takes a team and he gets the players to play above their level. When you look at what he did his last season at Butler; in the Horizon League, they were picked to be down, and yet they come out and knock off teams from the Big Ten, the Big East, the ACC; they ran through the pre-season NIT, it was due to his coaching, and he's been that way for years there."

"When you talk to people and they ask about the best coaches, Todd Lickliter is going to be on the list. Maybe the general public doesn't know him, but everyone inside basketball definitely does."

JIM O'CONNELL

College Basketball Writer
Associated Press

"I did the second round game when Butler had the win over Maryland. I thought his team was well coached, very well organized. The substitution pattern was terrific, he knew exactly when to take a guy out and when to bring a guy in. Throughout his career, that has been his trademark, very well coached and well prepared teams. No program can ask for more than that."

KEVIN HARLAN

CBS Sports

"It's a great hire for The University of Iowa. Coach Lickliter has been very successful at the mid-major level, especially in the Midwest. He's obviously proven himself in the NCAA Tournament. I don't see why Iowa can't continue its great tradition of being a Big Ten contender under Todd Lickliter. The Butler track record certainly speaks for itself."

ANDY KATZ

ESPN College Basketball Analyst

"First and foremost, I think, everyone who has followed what Butler has done in the past; in his six years at Butler, he has taken two separate groups of players at Butler to the 'Sweet Sixteen'. As good a coach as he is, I think he's a better person. He's a great family man."

"He's great to his players; players love to play for him. He treats people in general the right way. He's a very humble person, yet at the same time, ultra-competitive, which, I think, translates to his teams. He gets his players to buy into team basketball, to play together. With all that said, that combination has been a great success for the teams that he has coached."

BRANDON MILLER

Assistant Coach, Ohio State University
Former Butler Player under Todd Lickliter

"Number one, I'm excited for Todd. I think Iowa is getting a great person and a great basketball coach. I played for Todd; I coached with Todd; and Todd coached for me. The job Todd did at Butler University, for the time he was there, was incredible. I think that adding him into the league, we are adding a quality person and a quality coach."

THAD MATTA

Head Basketball Coach
Ohio State University

"It's a great hire. Todd Lickliter is one of the best coaches in the country and he's a great guy."

ASSISTANT COACH • CHAD WALTHALL

IOWA BASKETBALL STAFF

CHAD WALTHALL

Assistant Basketball Coach

Chad Walthall is in his third year at the University of Iowa and 22nd overall as a coach.

Walthall served seven seasons at Loras College as head basketball coach (2000-07), becoming the third winningest coach in school history. He also served as Director of Athletics from 2004-07.

Walthall was named 2006-07 Iowa Intercollegiate Conference (IIC) Coach of the Year while leading the Duhawks to a 15-1 conference record and the IIC title. It was the first IIC title for Loras since the 1950-51 season and its most conference wins in school history. Along with achieving regular season success, Walthall led Loras to its first IIC tournament title and first NCAA tournament berth in school history. His seven-year mark at Loras was 116-69.

In the three years prior to Walthall's arrival, Loras had only won 35% of its conference games, including a 10th place finish in league play in 1999-2000, a year prior to his arrival. In Walthall's first season of rebuilding the program, Loras dramatically improved to finish fourth in the league and hosted its first conference tournament game in school history. From that first season, Walthall progressively built Loras into a perennial league contender and one of the top Division III programs in the West Region.

Walthall led Loras to winning seasons in the very competitive Iowa conference in each of his seven seasons. In his last three years, Loras won an impressive 77% (37-11) of its league games, more than any other basketball program in the conference. In his final two seasons, Loras posted a 22-3 home record, including 11-game winning streaks in both 2005-06 and 2006-07.

With the rebuilding job complete, Walthall joined the Iowa program and left the Loras basketball program in excellent shape, as the Duhawks returned their entire starting line-up, including the returning IIC MVP. Loras began the 2007-08 season ranked eighth in the country and as a unanimous selection to repeat as Iowa Conference champions. Loras went on to repeat as IIC tournament champions and advanced to the NCAA Tournament for the second straight year.

Walthall has proven he is a highly successful recruiter, as those graduating seniors had the best conference (50-14) and overall record of any IIC team during their four-year career. Also, they ended with the second best winning percentage of any four-year period in school history. Walthall recruited 19 all-conference selections, including a two-time IIC Player of the Year, two-time all-region honoree and a two-time all-American, and five 1,000-point scorers. In 2005, Loras was recognized as the best small college recruiting class in Chicago by Hoop Scoop magazine.

In addition to building and leading the Duhawks to success on the court, Walthall focused on helping student athletes make a difference off the court, as he implemented several community outreach programs in the Dubuque area during his tenure.

Walthall took over the Loras program after serving as assistant coach at Eastern Michigan for two years (1998-2000), where he worked with Iowa Coach Todd Lickliter. Walthall was previously an assistant coach at St. Olaf College for four years (1994-98) and served as head coach at Redwood Valley High School in Minnesota for one season (1993-94). He was a graduate assistant coach at St. Cloud State University for two years (1991-93). While at St. Cloud State he also served as the head coach for a Collegiate All-Star team that toured Europe.

Walthall attended Concordia College in Moorhead, MN, earning a bachelor's degree in Physical Education and Health in 1991. While at Saint Cloud State he earned his master's degree in Athletics Administration (1993).

As a collegiate athlete at Concordia, Walthall played quarterback and was part of two Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (MIAC) football championships. He earned all-conference honors in that sport as a junior and senior. He also served as student assistant basketball coach during his time there.

As a high school athlete in Staples, MN, Walthall was team captain and three-year starter in football, basketball and baseball, earning numerous all-conference honors. His 1986 basketball team placed as a state runner-up and he was selected to play point guard in the Minnesota All-Star basketball game as a senior.

Walthall was born Sept. 13, 1968 and is a native of Staples, MN. He and his wife, Jenni, have four children, a daughter Brooke (nine), twin sons Brady and Blake (seven), and son Beau (three).
