IOWA FOOTBALL FACILITIES

SPORTING NEWS HAS NAMED KINNICK STADIUM THE BEST STADIUM IN THE BIG TEN CONFERENCE.

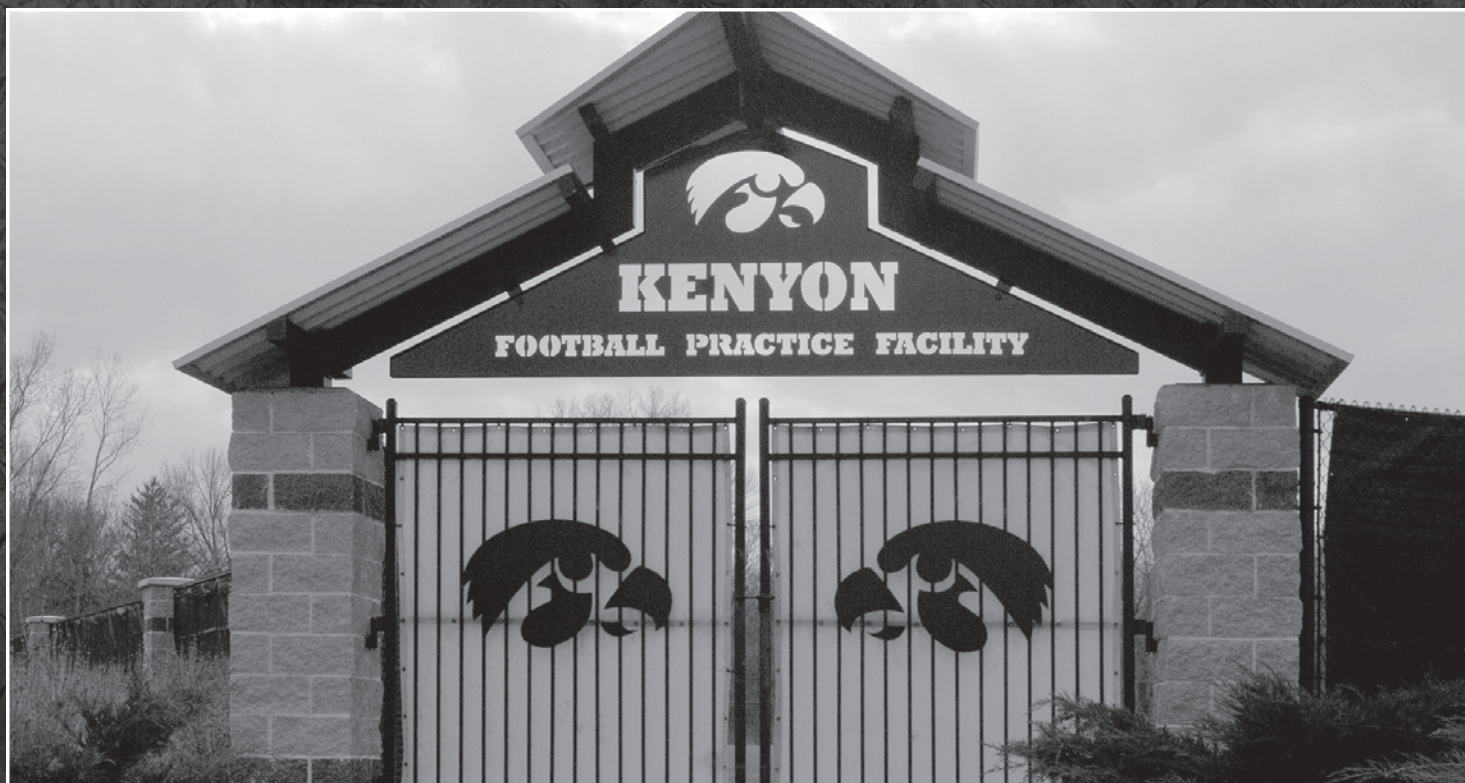

As a football student-athlete at the University of Iowa, you have the opportunity to enjoy some of the best and most modern facilities in the nation. Iowa is committed to being the best, and for the Hawkeye football program that means studying, eating, training, practicing and playing in the best facilities possible.

CONSIDER THESE FACTS ABOUT IOWA'S FACILITIES:

- Kinnick Stadium, the home of Iowa football for 81 years, has recently undergone a $90 million restoration and renovation project that was completed prior to the start of the 2006 season. The official capacity of Kinnick Stadium is 70,585. Iowa from 2002-08 had a string of 36 consecutive sold out home games.
- The project was the largest such undertaking ever for Iowa athletics and included an entire new south endzone, including all new lockerroom, training room and media facilities for the Hawkeye football team on game days.
- The completely new four-level press and hospitality facility extends the full length of the west side of the stadium and includes more than 40 private viewing suites and over 1,000 club seats.
- The renovation provides a new entry plaza to the south entrance, wider seats throughout the stadium, new and upgraded restroom facilities and concession areas, new scoreboards and a modernized sound system.
- The most recent addition to Kinnick Stadium took place prior to the 2009 season with the installation of Field Turf, the same surface that covers one of Iowa's three practice fields and Iowa's indoor practice facility.
- Iowa's Kenyon Practice Facility was completed in August, 2002. The $1.8 million facility provides two full length natural grass practice fields and one 140-yard artificial surface field, all with state-of-the-art lighting provided by Musco Lighting. An on-site medical training facility is also included.
- The Gerdin Academic Learning Center is a $5.1 million facility that opened in August 2003 for use by all UI student-athletes. The facility features large and small group study rooms, a computer center, an auditorium, and a book library and office space for Iowa's Academic Student Services and Compliance staff.
- The Hillcrest Market Place dining facility opened recently following a $500,000 renovation. Members of the Hawkeye football program are able to eat three meals a day at Hillcrest during the pre-season. During the regular season, dinner is served five times per week. The area provides seating for over 100 and overlooks the Iowa River and the main portion of the UI campus.

IOWA FOOTBALL FACILITIES

"Everyone associated with the football program is thrilled with the improvements that have been made with our facilities in recent years. It reflects a great commitment from our administration; our University and the people of our state, in making sure our players enjoy the best facilities possible."

"These enhancements to our program have taken a major commitment from administration and major contributions from friends of our program to make these upgrades become a reality. Everybody involved with our football team is extremely appreciative. We have great facilities."

"Since its opening in 2002, the Kenyon Practice Facility has given us a world-class practice facility to use at any time. With the artificial turf, and two beautiful grass practice fields, I don't think there is a better outdoor facility in the country."

"The new turf in the bubble indoor practice facility allows us to prepare better for bowl games and benefits our out of season programs in the winter. The conclusion of that project really puts us in tremendous shape from a facility standpoint. With that same surface now in Kinnick Stadium, we are assured of a consistent playing field, no matter the conditions."

IOWA FOOTBALL FACILITIES

"The Gerdin Athletic Learning Center gives all of our student-athletes not only a great opportunity to study in a first class facility, but it's an ideal situation being located in the heart of campus."

The training table dining area at Hillcrest Market Place is an outstanding place for our guys to enjoy a meal together. It's a first class area that offers a great variety, and, more importantly, we know that our guys are eating right and getting the nutrition they need on a daily basis."

KIRK FERENTZ

Head Football Coach

IOWA FOOTBALL FACILITIES

"Academics do come first, and that is something that is stressed from the very beginning. Our coaches, I think in every meeting, stay on us about keeping on track and making progress. They are like a parent, as far as keeping up with what you are doing and how you are doing in the classroom."

Having success in the classroom usually goes hand in hand with how you perform on the field as well. The Student Services staff is always ready to assist, but you have to be ready to ask for help. Everybody wants you to succeed, they are always positive and there to help. They are anxious to know what they can do to help improve your lifestyle on campus."

Everyone faces challenges when you first get on campus. But with the Student Services staff, and the Gerdin Academic Learning Center, it is easy to get on track. The support staff helps create the best possible schedule to help you be successful and meet your demands."

MARVIN MCNUTT

Junior Wide Receiver
St. Louis, Missouri

"We have an awesome program under Coach Doyle and his staff. They really know their stuff; they know a players individual needs and treat everyone individually. We have access to a lot of very nutritional food. They helped me get ready to play in the offensive line; I credit that to Coach Doyle and his staff. They set goals for you, weight wise, and help you achieve your maximum playing weight. Coach Doyle has a long term plan for everyone and takes it step by step through the process."

Having our training table meals at Hillcrest is really convenient, especially for freshmen when you are living in the dorms right next to Hillcrest. But having breakfast there, or each day after practice, it's a great opportunity for the guys to eat together as a team. You can visit with your teammates and communicate with each other. It's a great environment and an enjoyable way to have meals with your teammates."

IOWA FOOTBALL OVERVIEW

From 1979-98, the rise of the Iowa Hawkeyes from the ranks of also-rans to a position of national prominence, was orchestrated by Hall of Fame Coach Hayden Fry.

And now, in the 11 years since Fry's retirement, the successful re-modeling and re-crowning of Iowa's championship program continues under the watchful eye of Kirk Ferentz.

Ferentz, a former Fry assistant at Iowa for nine seasons, has led the Hawkeyes to 70 wins over the last eight seasons, including a school-record 11 wins in both 2009 and 2002. Iowa also won 10 games in both 2003 and 2004 and earned Big Ten championships in 2002 and 2004. Iowa competed in six January bowl games from 2002-09, including the 2003 and 2010 FedEx Orange Bowl games. The Hawkeyes have been bowl eligible for nine straight seasons and concluded the 2009 season with a 24-14 Orange Bowl win over Georgia Tech.

Following is a list of Iowa program highlights in the past 11 years under Coach Kirk Ferentz and his staff:

Iowa has been in the national top 20 five times in the past eight seasons, including seventh in 2009, eighth in 2002, 2003 and 2004 and 20th in 2008. Iowa is one of eight teams in the nation to compete in six January bowl games in the past eight seasons. With a second place finish last season, Iowa has placed in the Big Ten's first division in eight of the past nine seasons.

Iowa opened the 2009 season with a school-record nine straight wins and matched the overall record for wins in a season, posting an 11-2 record. Iowa ended the season ranked seventh in both major polls after the impressive Orange Bowl win over ACC-champion Georgia Tech, Iowa's fourth January bowl victory since 2003.

Iowa was ranked 20th in the final polls in 2008 after closing the season with six wins in its final seven games, including a 24-23 win over third-ranked Penn State in Kinnick Stadium and a 31-13 win over South Carolina in the 2009 Outback Bowl.

Iowa is one of three football programs (joining Oklahoma and Texas) in the nation to have five different individual players earn national Player of the Year honors at their position since 2002.

Iowa concluded the 2006 season with a narrow 26-24 loss to Texas, the defending national champion, in the Alamo Bowl as the Hawkeyes matched the longest streak in school history with their sixth straight bowl appearance.

The Hawkeyes gained a spot in the 2006 Outback Bowl in Tampa, FL after a third place tie in the Big Ten standings during the 2005 campaign. The Hawkeyes closed the regular season with impressive wins over Wisconsin (on the road) and Minnesota.

Iowa posted a 10-2 mark in 2004, earning the Big Ten title by winning its final seven league games. Iowa made it eight straight with a 30-25 win over defending national champion LSU in the 2005 Capital One bowl in Orlando, FL.

Iowa was 10-3 in 2003, ending the season with a 37-17 win over Florida in the 2004 Outback Bowl. Iowa was 11-2 in 2002, earning the Big Ten title (8-0) and an invitation to the 2003 Orange Bowl.

For three consecutive years (2002-04), Iowa was ranked eighth in the final national rankings. Iowa was one of only four schools to be ranked in the top 10 each of those three years. Iowa posted three consecutive seasons of 10 wins or more (2002, 2003, 2004) for the first time in school history, including a school-record 11 regular season wins in 2002. Iowa has posted wins in 44 of the last 53 home games in Kinnick Stadium, including a school-record 22 game win streak from 2002-05.

Along with the success on the field, Iowa's total program has earned national recognition. Recently, Street & Smith named the Iowa program as the 36th best college football program of all time. Sporting News has previously named Iowa City as the best college football city in the nation and, the Chicago Sun Times named Iowa's helmet as the second most recognizable helmet in the Big Ten Conference.

Ferentz led his fourth Iowa team to the 2002 Big Ten title and a perfect 8-0 record in league play. Iowa was ranked as high as third in the nation for three straight weeks late in the season while earning it's first-ever invitation to a BCS bowl game, the 2003 FedEx Orange Bowl.

In 2004, the Hawkeyes rode the right arm of sophomore QB Drew Tate and another stellar defense to their second Big Ten title in three seasons. Iowa completed its seven-game league winning streak with a 30-7 win over Wisconsin on the final day of the season. Facing the defending national champion in the Capital One Bowl, Iowa made it eight straight wins with the last-second victory over LSU.

An Alamo Bowl victory over Texas Tech in 2001 set the tone for Iowa's championship campaign of 2002. The Hawkeyes, in 2002, featured the Heisman Trophy runner-up in QB Brad Banks, the John Mackey Award winner in TE Dallas Clark and the Lou Groza Award winner in PK Nate Kaeding. Banks was also named Big Ten MVP and conference Offensive Player of the Year. OL Eric Steinbach was named Big Ten Offensive Lineman of the Year and, Ferentz gathered several national Coach of the Year honors.

Ferentz was named the 2002 Associated Press and Walter Camp Foundation national Coach of the Year. The 2002, 2004 and 2009 Dave McClain Big Ten Coach of the Year has led his last nine Iowa teams to a combined 77-36 record. Iowa has won 46 Big Ten games over the last nine years and has placed in the first division in the league standings eight times.

Under Ferentz, Iowa has seen several individual players earn national recognition. Five Iowa players have been named Player of the Year at their position, including OL Robert Gallery (2003 Outland Trophy), TE Dallas Clark (2002 John Mackey Award), QB Brad Banks (2002 Davey O'Brien Award), PK Nate Kaeding (2002 Lou Groza Award) and RB Shonn Greene (2008 Doak Walker Award). In addition, Banks was the 2002 Associated Press Player of the Year and runner-up in the Heisman Trophy voting.

Over the past nine seasons, Iowa players have earned first team all-Big Ten honors on 40 occasions, third best in the Big Ten Conference. Iowa had a school-record 11 players earn first team all-Big Ten honors in 2002.

Those honored include the Big Ten Most Valuable Player in 2002 (QB Brad Banks) and 2008 (RB Shonn Greene), Offensive Player of the Year in 2002 (Banks) and 2008 (Greene), Offensive Lineman of the Year in 2002 (Eric Steinbach), 2003 (Robert Gallery) and 2009 (Bryan Bulaga) and Defensive Lineman of the Year in 2008 (Mitch King).

Iowa was the only program in the nation to have three players earn first team academic all-America honors in 2006 and Iowa was one of three programs to have two players earn that distinction in 2007.

SALLY MASON

PRESIDENT | THE UNIVERSITY OF IOWA

Sally Mason became the 20th President of The University of Iowa on August 1, 2007. She holds a full professorship with tenure in the Department of Biology in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

In her first two years at the UI, President Mason has begun a sustainable university initiative, which makes sustainability a central priority of all aspects of the University enterprise—its operations, its academic mission, and its greater responsibilities to society. An unexpected priority for President Mason was the historic flooding of the UI campus and the greater community in 2008, and her leadership helped bring the campus community together to preserve as much of the University's resources as possible and rebuild essential facilities in time to open the campus for a full complement of fall semester courses. Currently, she is overseeing campus rebuilding, especially the renewal of an arts campus for the 21st century.

The daughter of an immigrant family and the first child to attend college, President Mason received her B.A. in zoology from The University of Kentucky in 1972, her M.S. from Purdue University in 1974, and her Ph.D. in cellular, molecular, and developmental biology from The University of Arizona in 1978. She subsequently spent two years at Indiana University in Bloomington doing postdoctoral research before joining The University of Kansas in 1981. A strong advocate of undergraduate education, she received awards for outstanding undergraduate advising and teaching, and she was awarded a prestigious Kemper Teaching Fellowship. During her 21 years at Kansas, President Mason served as a full professor in the Department of Molecular Biosciences, Acting Chair of the Department of Physiology and Cell Biology, and Associate Dean in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. In 1995, she was appointed Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, the largest academic unit on the University of Kansas campus. President Mason served as Provost of Purdue University from 2001-2007, where she was responsible for planning, managing, and reviewing all academic programs at Purdue's West Lafayette campus and four affiliated branch campuses throughout Indiana.

President Mason is the author of many scientific papers and has obtained a number of research grants from the National Science Foundation, the National Institutes of Health, the Wesley Research Foundation, and the Lilly Endowment. Her research interests have focused on the developmental biology, genetics, and biochemistry of pigment cells and pigments in the skin of vertebrates. She has served as President of both the PanAmerican Society for Pigment Cell Research and the Council of Colleges of Arts and Sciences, and she has served as Chair of the Advisory Committee to the National Science Foundation Directorate for Education and Human Resources (EHR) and the Executive Committee of the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges (NASULGC), now the Association of Public and Land-grant Universities (APLU), Chief Academic Officers Group. She also served on the Executive Committee of the Committee on Institutional Cooperation (CIC) from 2003-2007 and was appointed by the President of the United States to the National Medal of Science Selection Committee for two terms from 2006-2011. In 2008-2009, President Mason co-chaired the Task Force on National Energy Policy and Midwestern Competitiveness of the Chicago Council on Global Affairs. Its report, Embracing the Future: The Midwest and a New National Energy Policy, was published in June 2009 and had an immediate impact on the national debate over how climate change legislation will impact Midwestern economic competitiveness.

President Mason is married to Ken Mason, an educator and textbook author who teaches biological sciences at The University of Iowa.

THE UNIVERSITY OF IOWA

"Welcome to a new season of Iowa football! After a historic season last year and a remarkable Orange Bowl victory, I can't wait to cheer the Iowa black and gold on to success again this year."

Hawkeye dedication and hard work in the classroom and in the stadium exemplify the University of Iowa spirit. In 2009, we had 13 players earn Academic all-Big Ten recognition. Also, the Hawkeyes' graduation rate is notable: 67% of our football team graduates, surpassing the 64% national student-athlete average and far outshining the 55% national football average.

I thank Coach Kirk Ferentz and the entire coaching and athletic staff for their excellent work with our players. The coaches' leadership and teaching, combined with the dedication and talent of our team members, have led the Hawkeyes to some impressive signs of success. Last year, our football team tied a school record with 11 wins, including a record-setting nine straight victories to open the season. That closed out a history-making period, the best decade in Iowa football history with an 80-45 record - and a remarkable 49-10 record in the latter half of that period. By the time of our Orange Bowl win over Georgia Tech, the Hawkeyes were ranked seventh in the nation in final polls, the fourth top 10 finish since 2002. Our team has appeared in eight bowl games in the last nine seasons, including five wins in six January bowls. In fact, the Iowa Hawkeyes are one of only eight college programs to appear in six January bowl games during the last eight seasons. We are very proud of the talented student-athletes who have performed so well, and we couldn't be prouder of Coach Kirk Ferentz earning his third Big Ten Coach of the Year award!

I know that Hawkeye fans help create a wonderful weekend atmosphere here in Iowa City on football Saturdays, and loyal season ticket holders from all 99 Iowa counties help create an excitement that all fans and visitors enjoy. I am proud to be a Hawkeye, and I am pleased to welcome you to another year of great Iowa football action!

SALLY MASON | President | The University of Iowa

GARY BARTA

ATHLETICS DIRECTOR | THE UNIVERSITY OF IOWA

"Hope is not a strategy," is a common refrain of the University of Iowa's Gary Barta. So, as Barta enters his fifth year as the UI's director of intercollegiate athletics – and his 24th year in athletics administration – he does so diligently working a plan that contributed to historic success for the Iowa Hawkeyes in 2009-10 and is setting the stage for more of the same in the years ahead.

Competitively, two events stand alone at the top of the list of achievements by UI teams in 2009-10: Iowa's dominating victory over Georgia Tech in the 2010 FedEx Orange Bowl and yet another national championship for the UI wrestling program.

The victory over the Yellow Jackets in Land Shark Stadium in Miami was Iowa's 11th of the college football season and its first in a Bowl Championship Series event since the Hawkeyes' victory over California in the 1959 Rose Bowl. It was the final chapter in a season that opened with a school-record nine straight victories by Kirk Ferentz's squad, a streak that electrified fans of the Hawkeyes and triggered another pilgrimage of fans of the team to their second BCS appearance under Ferentz.

Tom Brands' Iowa wrestling squad crowned three national champions and eight Hawkeyes earned all-America honors while leading the UI to its 23rd NCAA title in school history. The championship was the third straight under Brands and it came rather handily – Iowa finished 44.5 points ahead of its nearest competitor – and, as more often than not – after yet another Big Ten Conference championship.

As inspiring as the achievements of Iowa's football and wrestling teams were, they weren't the alone. Iowa's women's basketball team overcame a series of injuries to secure 20 victories, reach the championship game of the post-season Big Ten Tournament, and advance to NCAA Tournament play for the third straight year.

The Iowa men's golf team used a second place finish at the 2010 Big Ten Conference Championship to secure an at-large invitation to NCAA Regional play where it finished tied for sixth and just one stroke shy of its second straight appearance in the national championship.

First-year coach Katie Dougherty guided the UI's women's tennis team to its first NCAA post-season action since 2006. The squad was powered by the nationally-ranked doubles team of Merel Beelen and Sonja Molnar.

The Iowa baseball team won seven of its last eight regular season league games to advance to the Big Ten Tournament when the Hawkeyes marched to the championship game for the first time since the 1983 season.

The Iowa men's track and field team advanced 32 athletes to NCAA post-season competition after a fourth-place finish by the men's squad at the Big Ten Championships. That finish was the Hawkeyes' best since 2006 and was sparked by three individual champions.

Barta and the UI Athletics Department also enjoyed historic success out of competition including, most notably, significant improvements to the facilities used by the more than 700 student-athletes who represent the UI in intercollegiate athletics competition.

In September 2009, the University of Iowa and the UI Athletics Department dedicated the $7 million P. Sue Beckwith, M.D. Boathouse, a 20,000-square-foot facility built right on the bank of the Iowa River off of Dubuque Street in Terrill Mill Park.

In November 2009, the UI broke ground on a multi-million dollar addition and renovation of Carver-Hawkeye Arena, the 28-year-old competitive home of the Hawkeye men's and women's basketball, wrestling and volleyball programs. The Carver-Hawkeye Arena Revitalization Project will greatly improve the practice, strength training, and conditioning facilities for a myriad of sports programs in addition to providing new office space for the vast majority of Iowa's administrative and coaching staffs in addition to new locker room and support facilities for Iowa's men's and women's basketball, wrestling and volleyball teams.

In fall 2010, Barta will join the campus community in celebrating the opening of the $69 million Campus Wellness and Recreation Center. The facility will provide unparalleled recreational opportunity for UI students, faculty and staff, and the greater Iowa City community in addition to being the new full-time home of the UI's men's and women's swimming and diving programs.

The UI also expects to break ground on an addition to the facilities used by the Iowa football program during the 2010-11 year. Funded entirely through private support, the project is an important next phase of the master facilities plan for Hawkeye football. The project will include the construction of a new indoor practice facility, upgraded and improved locker rooms, team rooms, strength and conditioning facilities, and spaces used for the day-to-day operation of the UI's football program. The construction of the Ron and Margaret Kenyon Outdoor Practice Facility – a facility envied by many collegiate programs and NFL franchises – and the $89 million renovation of historic Kinnick Stadium were phases 1 and 2 of the master plan.

While Iowa continues to move the facilities it makes available to student-athletes forward, the UI's commitment to the academic piece of the student-athlete experience remains paramount – and successful.

According to information released annually by the NCAA, the graduation rate for student-athletes who enrolled at the University of Iowa in the fall of the 2002-03 academic year was 70 percent, six percentage points better than the national average and two points better than a year ago. The graduation rate for UI student-athletes was also four percentage points better than the rate for all UI students.

The football program at the UI – with a Graduation Success Rate of 74 – ranked second only to Cincinnati among the ten teams invited to participate in the five 2010 Bowl Championship Series events. Iowa also ranked third among the seven bowl-bound Big Ten Conference teams.

The UI's field hockey, softball and men's cross country teams were among the NCAA Division I intercollegiate athletics programs singled out by the NCAA for Academic Progress Reports (APR) in the top 10 percent of all teams in their specific sport. In fact, for the second straight year all 24 of Iowa's teams exceeded the NCAA's APR benchmark and compared favorably to their peers in the Big Ten and nationally.

Barta's involvement in the UI campus community extends well beyond intercollegiate athletics. He is a member of the cabinet comprised of vice presidents and other campus leaders that provides counsel to UI President Sally Mason.

Barta also represents the UI and the Hawkeyes at the conference and national level as well. During his first four years at the UI, he has participated in the creation and implementation of the Big Ten Network, the expansion of the Big Ten Conference and realignment of athletics conferences nationally, and the Big Ten's post-season bowl game agreements that go into effect this college football season.

Nationally, Barta remains active in the Division IA Athletics Directors Association, the National Association of College Directors of Athletics, and currently serves on the NCAA Football Committee Board of Directors.

Barta has another favorite saying: "Vision without resources is irrelevant." Over the course of his career he has been directly involved in raising hundreds of millions of dollars in support of intercollegiate athletics. This has remained a primary focus during his tenure at Iowa where private support for the Hawkeyes continues to flourish despite a challenging economy.

In recent years, the department has received a long list of commitments to assist in capital projects and scholarship support, including gifts of $5 million each from long-time friends of the UI Dale and Marilyn Howard, Bruce Rastetter and Richard O. Jacobson.

Under Barta's leadership – and thanks to a talented athletics development staff – the University of Iowa has seen year-over-year improvement in annual giving in spite of the current difficult economic environment and, at the same time, has generated almost $20 million of support for the Carver-Hawkeye Arena project.

As the director of athletics at the University of Wyoming for three years, seven different UW coaches were named Mountain West Conference Coach of the Year. He also spearheaded a fund-raising effort that netted the Cowboy athletics program $11 million in private support and $11 million in matching state fund.

As the senior associate athletics director at the University of Washington, he directed the "Campaign for the Student-Athlete," was a participant in the design, construction and/or renovation of several UW athletics facilities including Bank of America Arena and the Dempsey Indoor Practice Facility. In addition to almost doubling the amount of annual private support received by UW, Barta also managed the department's external affairs division, a task that included corporate sponsorship and radio contracts.

His responsibilities at Washington expanded over time to include hiring of coaching and administrative staff and coordinating the schedule for the Huskies' men's basketball program.

The roots of his development experience extend to his first two positions: director of athletics development and external relations at the University of Northern Iowa and director of development at his alma mater, North Dakota State University.

Barta earned a Bachelor of Science degree in mass communication and broadcast journalism from NDSU in 1987. He was an option quarterback for Bison football squads that won the Division II NCAA national championship in 1983, 1985 and 1986.

Barta, and his wife, Connie, have a son, Luke (12) and a daughter, Madison (10). He was born September 4, 1963, in Minneapolis, Minn.

The Barta family: Connie, Madison, Gary and Luke.

UNIVERSITY OF IOWA

Building on a rich tradition of excellence and innovation, the University of Iowa is educating more than 30,000 students annually, preparing them for success immediately following graduation, as well as continued achievements throughout their lives.

The University of Iowa offers more than 100 areas of undergraduate and graduate study, including seven professional degree programs, through its 11 colleges: the colleges of Liberal Arts and Sciences, Business, Dentistry, Education, Engineering, Law, Medicine, Nursing, Pharmacy and Public Health, and the Graduate College. The University also provides on-campus and distance learning opportunities through its division of Continuing Education.

Long recognized as one of the nation's leading centers for the arts, creative writing, space physics, hydraulics, basic health and science research, and communication studies, the University of Iowa is also developing new strengths in informatics, nanoscience, simulation technology, and other fields.

The University of Iowa has maintained its tradition as an innovator with its pioneering work in speech pathology, science and medicine. It's also known internationally for being home of one of the nation's largest public university owned hospitals.

"The University of Iowa not only boasts a beautiful campus, it offers its students a broad range of academic programs, an abundance of social activities and a sense of belonging. With its combination of quality academics, mammoth resources, renowned specialty programs, and extensive research opportunities, this Midwest school is anything but featureless."

THE FISKE GUIDE TO COLLEGES

CULTURAL DIVERSITY AT THE UNIVERSITY OF IOWA

The University of Iowa has worked hard to assure that students of all races, creeds, and backgrounds are represented in the student body. In the past five years, Iowa has moved aggressively towards its goal of creating communities of African American, Hispanic/Latino (a), Asian American, and Native American students, and making the University a stimulating, welcoming place.

The Center for Diversity and Enrichment is a coordinated university-wide resource for creating and maintaining this campus diversity and providing opportunities for all University students interested in other cultures. Scholarships, fellowships, and support programs help to make this possible. International Programs brings together scholars from around the world and UI students looking to expand their perspectives by studying abroad or exploring global issues on campus.

- The University of Iowa has been recognized by Kaplan/Newsweek College Catalogue as one of the top schools in the country for supporting diversity.
- U.S. News & World Report, in its yearly rankings, has ranked the University of Iowa 24th among American public national universities for undergraduate education. Iowa ranks in the top 15% of some 161 public universities across the country.
- The University of Iowa is listed among "America's Best Value Colleges" by The Princeton Review. Iowa is cited for its "excellent academics, generous financial aid packages and low costs".
- In its 2010 rankings of America's Best Graduate Schools, released in April, U.S. News & World Report ranks five Iowa programs as best in the nation among public universities. Overall, UI has 21 graduate programs ranked in the top 10 nationally.

A CAMPUS ON THE MOVE

The University of Iowa campus caters to pedestrians and bicyclists; it's compact enough to cross in a 20-minute walk. A free ride on a campus bus can cut that time in half. Entertainment on campus and in Iowa City is geared toward student budgets, with many events offered at no charge.

Iowa City has more bookstores, coffee shops, restaurants, record shops, and movie theaters in its downtown area -- right next to campus -- than you'll find in cities many times its size.

Hancher Auditorium brings the world's finest musicians, dancers, actors, and entertainers to the University. It is part of the Iowa Center for the Arts, which includes the Museum of Art and cultural/educational programs in music, theatre, art and art history, dance, and literary arts. The Center for the Arts was hit hard by the record flooding of 2008 on the UI campus, forcing several buildings and/or programs to be shut down or relocated. The Center for the Arts will feature a number of new facilities in the near future as the recovery project continues.

Iowa City is alive with festivals and ethnic celebrations. Music, drama, and dance can be found on stage or on street corners. Sculptures adorn campus green spaces and plazas, and work by local artists and craftspeople entice visitors to outdoor markets.

The University of Iowa offers more than 400 student organizations, extensive recreation facilities, 50 fraternities and sororities, and a broad schedule of arts performances, lectures, cultural celebrations and club sports and intramural athletic contests to go along with the intercollegiate competition within the Big Ten Conference.

With over 30,000 students in a city of roughly 75,000, UI offers a different atmosphere than many other universities in the Big Ten or the Midwest.

"Move to Iowa City. Some of the happiest people in the world live in Iowa City."

CHRISTOPHER KEYES

Some universities offer the large city atmosphere. Others offer the college town experience. The University of Iowa is uniquely situated to offer student-athletes the very best of both of these different worlds.

Once the state capital, Iowa City is considered one of the truly great college towns in America. The city swells with excitement on football Saturdays when more than 70,000 Hawkeye fans from across the Midwest converge on Kinnick Stadium to tailgate and cheer the Hawkeyes to another victory.

Carver-Hawkeye Arena, the home of Iowa basketball with a seating capacity of 15,500, is the site of performances and concerts by some of the more popular entertainers and musicians. Stars to pass through Iowa City in recent years include the following:

Red Hot Chili Peppers	Elton John
The Backstreet Boys	Kansas
Goo Goo Dolls	Billy Joel
Tina Turner	Foo Fighters
Bill Cosby	Metallica
Paul Simon	Whitney Houston
James Taylor	Garth Brooks
Bob Dylan	U2
Brooks & Dunn

Iowa City's downtown area is alive and thriving. Restaurants, shops and sidewalk cafes face onto pedestrian malls full of people watchers, street entertainers and food vendors.

Attractive in size and friendliness, Iowa City is big in the sense that it offers all the advantages and conveniences of much larger metropolitan areas like summer and permanent employment opportunities, live entertainment and concerts, fine dining and shopping, industry and commerce.

Iowa City is known regionally for the excellence of small bands that originate here and its resident comedy troupes. The annual jazz festival and other events throughout the spring and summer bring nationally known entertainers to the area.

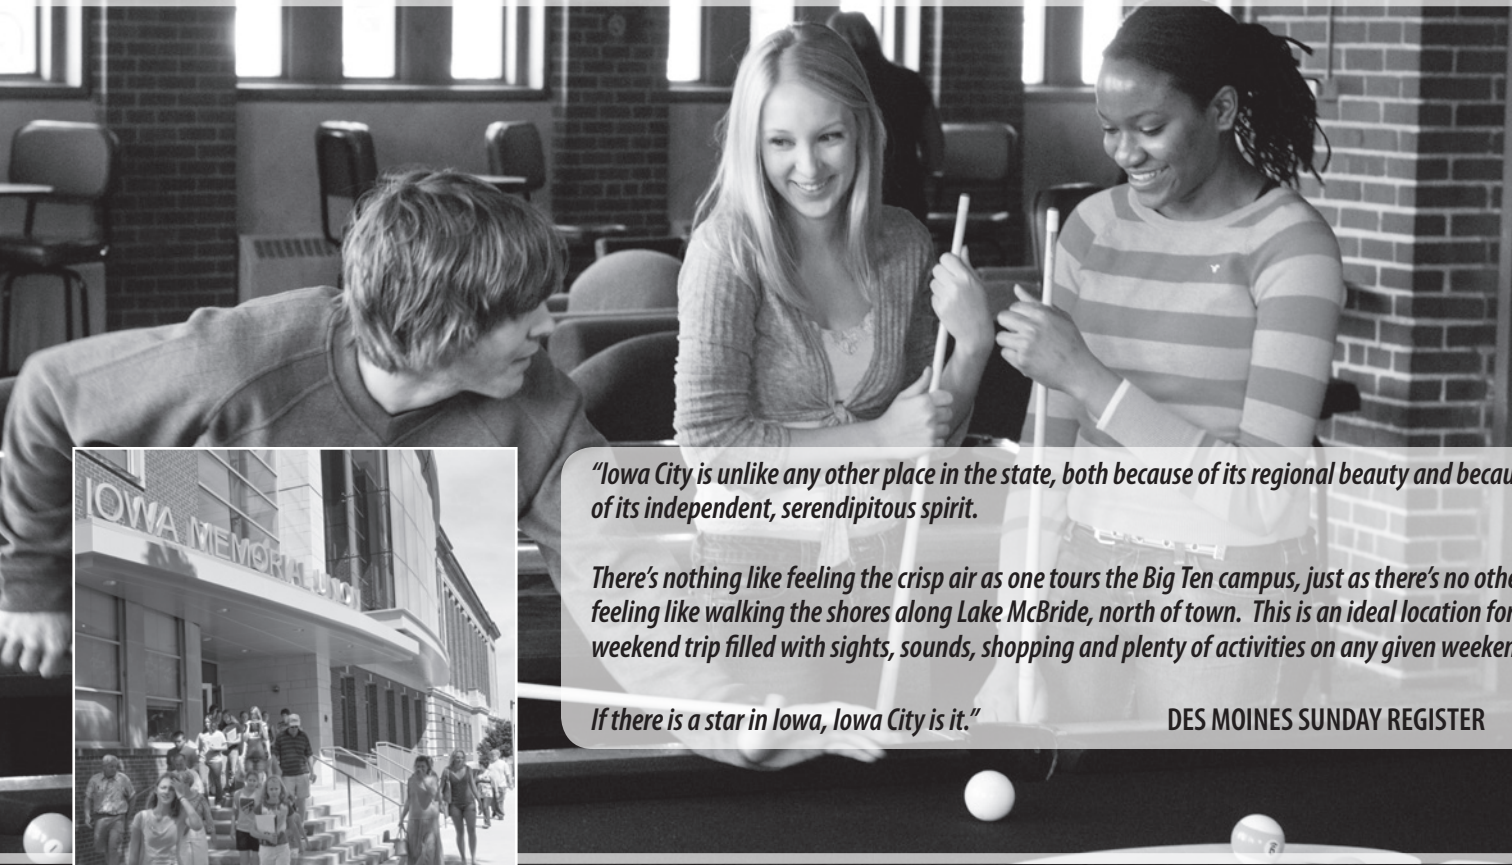

Iowa City is located in the heart of eastern Iowa, within easy driving distance of several major Midwestern cities including the state capital, Des Moines, as well as Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and Minneapolis.

Iowa City ranks as the top town in the Midwest in Midwest magazine's annual list of the "30 Best Towns in America."

Iowa's Carver-Hawkeye Arena, with a seating capacity of over 15,000, hosts some of the top concerts in the Midwest. The arena is in the midst of a $40 million renovation that will be completed in 2011.

CONSIDER THE COMMUNITY

"Iowa City is unlike any other place in the state, both because of its regional beauty and because of its independent, serendipitous spirit."

There's nothing like feeling the crisp air as one tours the Big Ten campus, just as there's no other feeling like walking the shores along Lake McBride, north of town. This is an ideal location for a weekend trip filled with sights, sounds, shopping and plenty of activities on any given weekend.

If there is a star in Iowa, Iowa City is it."

IOWA CITY: THE BEST IN COLLEGE FOOTBALL!

Iowa City, home of the Iowa Hawkeyes, annually ranks as one of the best sports cities in America, according to the annual ratings released each summer by The Sporting News.

In August, 2005, Sporting News ranked Iowa City as the best college football city in America. Iowa's football success, tradition, history, fans and the city's atmosphere on game days were all considered in naming Iowa City No. 1.

In its pre-season magazine for the 2007 college football season, Sporting News ranks Iowa's Kinnick Stadium as the best stadium in the Big Ten Conference.

Iowa City ranks as the sixth healthiest, safest and sexiest place to live in America, according to Men's Journal, based on cities with a population between 50,000 and 500,000.

In addition, Outside Magazine rates the Iowa City community as the 10th "coolest college town."

In a study release in May, 2009, the unemployment rate for the Iowa City area (3.2%) ranked as the lowest in the nation.

A PLACE FOR PEOPLE FROM ALL PLACES

Each year, the University of Iowa boasts a student population that includes young men and women from all 50 states and more than 105 foreign countries.

Diversity is also true among the student-athletes who come to Iowa City to play football for the Hawkeyes. At Iowa, high school all-Americans from some of the nation's largest metropolitan areas work side-by-side with all-state picks from states in "America's Heartland" and elsewhere to help keep the Hawkeyes among the nation's best.

The record shows that Hawkeyes don't grow up only in Iowa - they come from virtually all parts of the world.

HAWKEYE SPIRIT

"You and I have never been here before for a football game until this weekend . . . what an unbelievable environment; we have heard so much about it, but to be here . . . the tailgating, the enthusiasm, the spirit, what a wonderful venue for college football here at the University of Iowa."

"I'm not sure I've been to any stadium, college or pro, where the fans are right on top of the sideline."

GREAT FANS HELP PRODUCE GREAT PROGRAMS AND THAT'S TRUE AT IOWA. HAWKEYE FANS ARE LEGENDARY.

Sometimes you can look at attendance figures and determine whether a football program has the support of the community. And sometimes you have to experience the atmosphere, color and pageantry in person. Rest assured, there's no lack of support or interest in the football program at The University of Iowa.

Iowa football program annually ranks among the top 25 programs in the nation in home attendance. The Hawkeyes were 21st nationally in home attendance in 2009, with an average of 70,214 fans per game. Iowa sold every ticket at a school-record 36 straight games over the past six seasons and 42 of 44 home games overall since 2002.

In its annual college football preview, Sporting News recently ranked Iowa City as the No. 1 college football city in America, based on a Hawkeye home football game on a fall weekend. Just a year ago, Iowa City was No. 70 among the annual Best Sports Cities, which listed 399 cities and towns in the United States and Canada.

In addition to the great fan support at all home games, Iowa fans are known for traveling to support the Hawkeye football team.

Iowa concluded the 2009 season with its second trip since 2002 to the FedEx Orange Bowl in Miami and over 30,000 Hawkeye fans were on hand to cheer on Iowa's 24-14 win. Over 180,000 Hawkeyes fans have traveled to Iowa's last seven bowl appearances.

When Iowa opened the 2007 season with a win over Northern Illinois at Chicago's Soldier Field, more than 40,000 Iowa supporters were among the 61,500 fans that turned the game into a sellout well in advance.

Iowa closed the 2006 season by facing defending national champion Texas in the Alamo Bowl in San Antonio, TX. The attendance of 65,875 set an Alamo Bowl record. In addition, the game continues to rank as the most watched college bowl game in ESPN history.

When the Hawkeyes participated in the 2003 Orange Bowl in Miami, FL, over 50,000 Iowa fans filled the stadium. Along with having the quickest sellout in the history of the event, Orange Bowl officials agreed that no other team from outside the state of Florida had ever featured the support shown by Iowa's fans.

The Hawkeyes returned to Florida for the 2004 Outback Bowl in Tampa, and the Iowa fans returned as well. An estimated 25,000 Hawkeyes fans were on hand as Iowa scored a 37-17 win over Florida.

An estimated 30,000 Hawkeye fans visited the Orlando, FL area to see the Hawkeyes score a 30-25 win over LSU in the 2005 Capital One Bowl. The economic impact study found that an estimated $42.3 million of new economic activity was created by the event.

In 2001, Iowa sold its entire allotment of tickets for the Alamo Bowl in San Antonio, TX. The sold out crowd of 65,232 that watched Iowa defeat Texas Tech 19-16 marked the second largest crowd in the history of the bowl game at that time.

HAWKEYES FEEL AT HOME IN IOWA CITY

When student-athletes come to Iowa City to play football for the University of Iowa, it becomes their home. Not just for the four or five years of their college career, but in many cases the student-athlete remains in the Iowa City area following graduation to pursue his professional career.

And when the athlete is competing for the Hawkeyes, he is treated by the Iowa City community and Hawkeye fans as more than just an athlete.

The University is an active member of the Iowa City community. Many students, including a large number of student-athletes in all sports, stay in Iowa City all year, taking part in the numerous arts, recreation, and cultural opportunities that are offered.

Students also play an important role in the life of the community. The University maintains a volunteer agency referral system to help students learn where they are needed and to help the community find that valuable resource, the volunteer.

"Right off the bat, I loved the coaching staff; the way they mentally and physically prepare the athletes is tremendous. I was impressed immediately with Coach Ferentz and the way he interacted with the coaching staff and the players. It was an easy decision for me after my visit.

The facilities here are great. We have everything necessary to get our work done all year long. I liked Iowa City from the very beginning. Iowa City has a good college feel; I knew I would enjoy it here even if I wasn't playing football.

The staff at the Gerdin Academic Learning Center put me on the right track from the start. I learned to manage my time, which is one of the toughest parts about being a student-athlete. Peter Gray, my advisor, has been tremendous, the best I could have asked for in assisting with my academic demands.

My four years have gone very fast, it has been a great time. I've enjoyed it very much, getting to know the coaching staff and my teammates. Meeting all our players from different places, it has been nice to get away from home and meet new people. I've been able to create a new group of friends and have had great experiences, both as a student and as a football player."

RICKY STANZI

"One of the things that was discussed and promised during the recruiting process was the emphasis that is placed on an education and earning your degree. The value of your education was put first, then your football development.

With that emphasis, one of the factors that impressed me immediately was the Gerdin Academic Learning Center. It doesn't matter if it's for study table, or doing homework on your own, or just to read and have some quiet time, it is a great facility that we can take advantage of having for our use.

I spend a lot of time at the Gerdin Center. I can find a quiet space to study or visit with my advisor, Troy Wulf. As a staff the advisors provide great resources for us as student athletes. Having a great facility such as the Gerdin Center is definitely an advantage.

Our coaches have always stressed the importance of an education. If you have a class conflict, or you need to study for a test, that comes before practice. Getting a degree will take you further than a professional playing career. With injuries and things, you have to have an education to fall back on.

Our football facilities are impressive as well. Kinnick Stadium, with 70,000 fans every Saturday, it's a shock when you come down the tunnel and onto the field before every game. Our workout facilities are also among the best. Our weight room is one of the biggest in the Big Ten and we take pride in that and using it to our fullest advantage. The practice facility includes three fields, plus the indoor bubble. As far as facilities, we have what we need to grow and improve every day."

HAWKEYES FEEL AT HOME IN IOWA CITY

According to a survey by the Forbes/Milken Institute, Iowa City ranks third among Best Small Places in the nation in a national (for metro area of under 177,000 residents) list of best places to do business and advance a career. The rating was measured in part by wage and salary growth and earned income, job growth and high tech output that foster future growth, among other things.

FORBES MAGAZINE

"I was very comfortable with the entire football program in general; the people were friendly when I visited Iowa City and met everyone. From the start, I liked the way they practiced and prepared. I felt like Iowa was a program that I could fit into and be comfortable right away.

The program here feels like one big family, and I wanted to be a part of that. The players I met seemed like great guys, guys that would back each other up, like the players were all my big brothers. Being a part of the program is like a family and you immediately feel comfortable with the surroundings.

Kinnick Stadium was being renovated when I first visited Iowa City. Seeing that was awesome, I knew the commitment was there for Iowa football through the facilities. The fans are great, very supportive; you knew Kinnick Stadium would be full for every game with loyal Hawkeye fans. The facilities here are awesome in providing us every opportunity to be at our best every day.

It was tough to balance football and academics at first, but you catch on and adjust. It is made easier by the people you work with everyday. Coming from a large city to university community took some time for me to adjust. I feel like I have a good feel for the campus and I feel very comfortable as a student-athlete and part of the community."

ADRIAN CLAYBORN

"Growing up in Iowa, it's all I know. Everything is black and gold for me; I wouldn't have it any other way. Knowing the people involved in the program, with everything that the program has, the tradition, the fans at Kinnick; I always wanted to come to Iowa. I remember watching guys such as Tim Dwight and Tavian Banks; all those great former players. I feel blessed to be a member of the Iowa football program.

When Coach Ferentz offered me a scholarship, I was so excited, I was returning home from the state track meet as a junior. It was a great feeling when he extended the offer; I knew that was what I wanted to do. It was the same feeling I have when running on the field at Kinnick for home games, words just can't describe it.

During my career, I have had some injuries, and the medical staff here at Iowa has been great as well. Working with Russ Haynes during the season in being able to rehab injuries, has been very positive. When the time came for surgery, I had a great deal of confidence in Dr. Wolf. He did a great job. All of my experiences with the medical staff have been very positive and assuring.

Everything that was covered throughout the recruiting process has been above and beyond my expectations. Members of the Student Services staff have been very helpful and supportive. Staff members keep you on top of your schedule and help you take advantage of the academic resources that are available."

FORMER HAWKEYES KEEP TIES WITH COMMUNITY

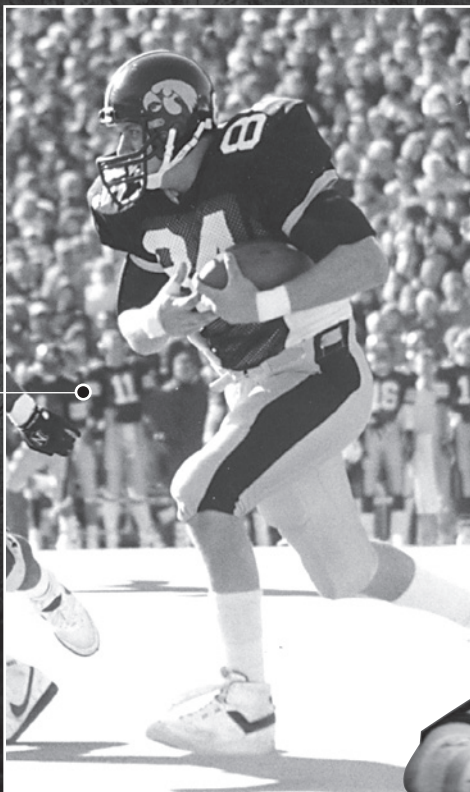

When Hawkeye football players complete their careers at Iowa, the ties to the University of Iowa and the football program remain. Hawkeye players come from across the nation to join one of the most successful football programs in the country, and often remain in Iowa City to live and raise a family in one of the most dynamic university communities in the midwest.

"Still to this day, when they come out of the tunnel, when I see the swarm, it still gets to me, brings tears of emotion. I almost try to get to games late, to miss the team coming on the field. Being a part of Iowa football, it's an emotional bond that stays with you."

The great support of the people of Iowa is another part of being an Iowa player that doesn't go away. This is a great program, with very good players that are fun to be around. It's a connection that, as a former player, I feel I will always have with the football program at Iowa."

"When I left home for college, I never thought it would be for a lifetime. But coming to the University of Iowa for my college career, and now raising a family here, is something I've never regretted. The people of Iowa City are the type of people you never want to leave."

I follow the football program, meeting the players each year; they're exactly like the guys I played with. You get to know the players; they almost seem like younger brothers. It's great to stay in touch and follow every game like a player."

"There was no doubt in my mind, when I finished my NFL career, I would return to Iowa City and the University of Iowa. Iowa City, Iowa football and the Iowa coaching staff brought me to where I am today. To me, this is the place to be in Iowa. There are so many things to do, and I can continue watching and keeping up with the Hawkeyes."

Being a part of Iowa football is something I was born with. Iowa football will never get out of my blood."

FORMER HAWKEYES KEEP TIES WITH COMMUNITY

"When I left Iowa City to pursue my professional football career, I can't say it was my intention to eventually move back to Iowa City. But, the longer my wife and I were away, the more we saw the value of Iowa City and the community. We realized Iowa City is just a good midwest city to raise a family. We see a lot of other former Iowa athletes who live here and feel the same way, guys seem to work their way back here when they conclude their athletic careers."

Coach Ferentz does a great job in his efforts to emphasize the tradition of Iowa football and provides the opportunity for former players to maintain our connection with the Iowa football program. Several former players have formed an Alumni Football Group of former Iowa players, and it has been a great way to open a line of communication among all former football players.

Being able to come back as an honorary captain was a great honor. To get back out there, to be with the current players and staff, provides a great connection between current and former players.

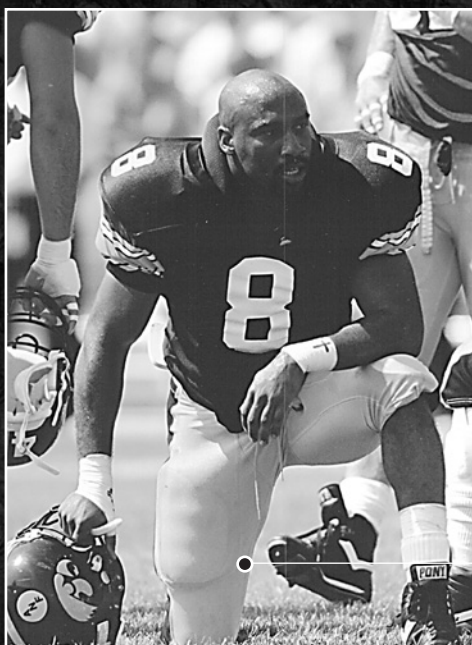

It was a great opportunity to talk to the current players, and I think it gives them a sense of responsibility to not only maintain the tradition, but to build their own tradition each year and realize there is a job to be done. That has been the case with the bowl games in the last six seasons, and I feel Kirk's teams will continue to do that in the years ahead."

Former NFL Player

Former Seven-year veteran, Canadian Football League

"I had a great experience during my career at The University of Iowa, academically, athletically and socially. At Iowa, I was provided all the necessary tools to have a great career, to play college football and to earn my degree, preparing myself for my career after college life."

Moving to Iowa City from New Jersey was a great experience, a very positive change in adapting to a culture that featured friendly, helpful and sincere people. The people of Iowa were willing to reach out and offer their assistance to student-athletes from all walks of life. The class offerings also provided much in the way of diversity, of gaining a complete education."

My years at Iowa taught me a great deal in preparing for my career. The experiences in dealing with people, including teammates, classmates, instructors and the media, all of this played a big role in preparing me for life after football."

LEROY SMITH

1991 Consensus All-American

Former NFL Player

"The University of Iowa and the football coaching staff, during my career, concentrated on football players as a whole person, not just as an athlete. They made sure we understood that college was meant for getting an education and earning your degree, not just going to bowl games. You have to be well-rounded in all aspects of your life."

Winners are not just on the football field, you have to develop those qualities as a person, and the staff at Iowa stressed that throughout my career. The best performers on the field are the players that are well-prepared and are excellent teammates that know to depend on each other."

That was the focus of Coach Fry and the entire football staff during my career, and I know that Coach Ferentz, a member of that staff for nine years, is now carrying on those same beliefs with his Iowa football team."

As a professional, I was much better prepared for my career because of my experiences with the Iowa football program. I felt that I had carried a 40 to 50 hour job during college with my football obligations, and that allowed me to be prepared for the business world."

CHUCK HARTLIEB

1987 Academic All-American

1987 and 1988 All-Big Ten Quarterback

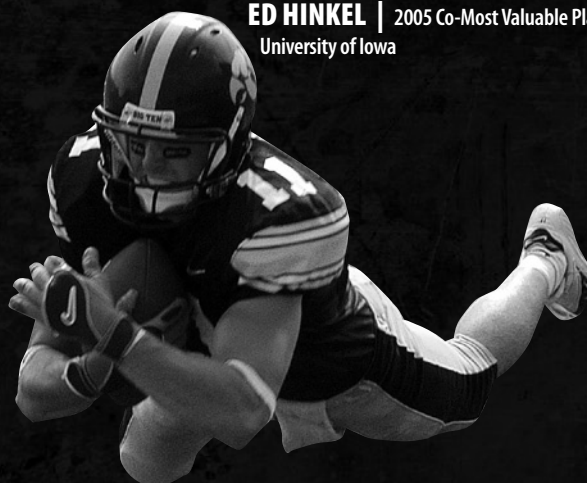

Former NFL Player

"When Coach Ferentz first called and offered me a scholarship, I never thought I would want to go to college so far away from home. But after getting on campus and meeting the staff that Coach Ferentz has surrounded himself with, it made it an easy decision. Coach Ferentz talks about doing things the right way at Iowa and not cutting any corners to get the job done. He is a great ambassador for Iowa football and the state of Iowa."

When I left my home in Erie, Pennsylvania to come to the University of Iowa I didn't think I'd be here too long after my playing days had ended. However, after I graduated and my football career had ended, moving back never crossed my mind. I accepted a job as a sales rep for a top medical device company and I am also coaching high school football at Iowa City Regina HS. I've started a family here with my wife Keely and our new son Holton. We couldn't ask for a better place to raise our son than the Iowa City area. Now, Iowa is where I call home!"

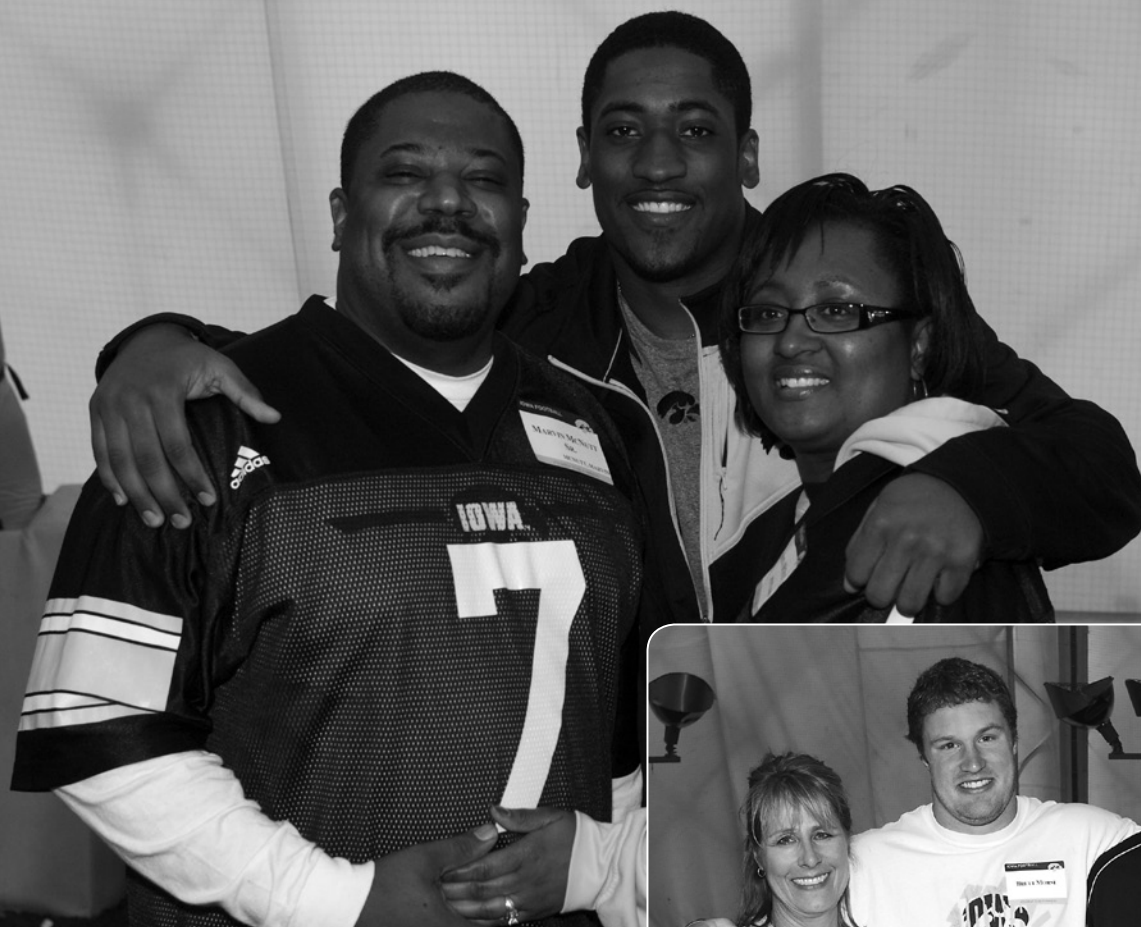

Through my coaching experiences at Regina with former Hawkeyes Marv Cook, Jason Dumont, Mike Haight, and Alex Kanellis, I have gotten the chance to meet many of the families from the school and the community. They are all wonderful people and great examples of the kind of people in the Iowa City community."

HAWKEYE FOOTBALL IS A FAMILY AFFAIR

When student-athletes join the Iowa football program, they don't leave family members behind. The student-athlete, and his entire family, join a bigger family that is the Hawkeye football family. Members of the Iowa football team become members of the large family that includes coaches and staff members and their families, the student-athletes, their parents and entire families.

"We are very pleased with Coach Ferentz and the coaching staff at the University of Iowa. They have been open with us on what to expect from the University of Iowa and the football program. They have a family atmosphere and have taken our son in."

Coach Johnson was Marvin's recruiting coach, and continues to be a role model for Marvin, Jr. He values Coach Johnson and Coach Campbell's opinions. Marvin talks highly of the Hawkeye fans and their support for the players and the football program. We are very pleased Marvin, Jr. chose to attend the University of Iowa."

"Brett's college football experience can be summed up in one of his favorite phrases, 'Livin' the Dream'. As parents, we could not be happier with the University of Iowa and the Hawkeye Football Program. Everyone from the coaching staff to the university faculty and the people of Iowa City have made these last four years a dream come true! Some of our fondest memories are of watching the boys come out of the tunnel holding hands with Back in Black playing throughout Kinnick Stadium."

The times we have spent with the other parents, whether waiting outside the locker room after the games, traveling to away games or sharing post game celebrations, have been unforgettable. We feel so fortunate that Brett and our daughter Mallory have been given the opportunity to receive their education from the University of Iowa. The friendships we have made with the players and their families will be life-long. We only wish Brett could play another four years!"

HAWKEYE FOOTBALL IS A FAMILY AFFAIR

"We have a lot of respect for Coach Ferentz and his staff; that was a very big draw. When we sat down with Coach Ferentz, one of the first things he mentioned was that your son will graduate; and, asking the question, do you want to play at the next league. Coach Ferentz and his staff want players to want that. The rest is up to the kids."

"We felt Iowa was a great environment, a place where Ricky felt extremely comfortable from the get go. All we have heard is how much he loves Iowa -- the academics, the people, the atmosphere, the entire football program. He couldn't ask for anything more. That's a reflection of not just the coaching staff, but the institution as well."

"As parents, it has been very reassuring having Ricky as part of the Iowa program. One of the things we discuss, is when we go to sleep at night, we have the feeling that the coaches there will not let things occur that will allow him to be in a poor environment."

"There has been nothing that was stated in the recruiting process that hasn't happened. It's been more rewarding than you would ever imagine."

"We could not be more pleased with how Christian has grown, both as an individual and as a football player, while attending the University of Iowa. Having our son go off to college was a challenging event for us, as we're sure it is for any parent. All we wanted was for Christian to be in an environment that would prepare him for life after college. We both agree that attending Iowa was a decision Christian will benefit from for the rest of his life."

"Coaches Kirk Ferentz, Rick Kaczinski and Eric Johnson, as well as all of the other coaches and all of the support personnel at Iowa, have all played a part in helping Christian reach his potential. We've seen Christian mature into a young man before our eyes and a large part of that has to do with his extended family at Iowa."

"We've felt from day one that Iowa was a good fit for Christian, as well as ourselves. We've felt at home since our first visit there. As Christian enters his final year at Iowa, it will be bittersweet knowing that the joys we've experienced the last three years, being part of the Iowa family, will probably soon be coming to an end. If we had it all to do over again, I know we would not change a thing."

HONORARY CAPTAINS

The “family atmosphere” of the Iowa football program is a connection that student-athletes and staff members relate to, not only when they are a direct part of the Hawkeye program, but for years after their playing days or direct involvement as well.

That bond is solidified with the “Honorary Captain” program that was initiated in the 2000 season by Iowa Coach Kirk Ferentz. The program brings back a former Hawkeye each weekend to serve as an honorary captain when the Hawkeyes take the field for each home game during the season.

“We want our current players to better understand and appreciate the strong tradition of Iowa football that has been established. We want our players to feel the connection with former players who have played a role in the success of this program over the years. And, we want past Hawkeye players to always feel they are still an important part of our program and to feel welcome to be here to share their memories and experiences with our current student-athletes.”

KIRK FERENTZ
Head Football Coach
University of Iowa

The Honorary Captain program has been in place for nine seasons, and has included the return of former Coach Hayden Fry (twice), former Coach Forest Evashevski, former Coach Jerry Burns, former assistant coach Bill Brashier, former assistant coach Carl Jackson, former player and assistant coach Bernie Wyatt and former athletic trainer Ed Crowley.

Also, former players, John Alt, Tavian Banks, Richard Bass, A.J. Blazek, Matt Bowen, Kerry Burt, Dallas Clark, Craig Clemons, Marv Cook, Anthony Dean, Randy Duncan, Quinn Early, Larry Ely, Pat Foster, Frank Gilliam, Norm Granger, Mike Haight, Merton Hanks, Bill Happel, Ronnie Harmon, Chuck Hartlieb, Jerry, Jim, Jay and Joel Hilgenberg, Ed Hinkel, Wilburn Hollis, Warren Holloway, Rob Houghtlin, Danan Hughes, Ray Jauch, Jim Jensen, Kevin Kasper, Aaron Kampman, Bruce Kittle, Jon Lazar, Joe Levelis, Andy Lightfoot, Chuck Long, Silas McKinnie, Lew Montgomery, John Niland, Lon Olejniczak, Kenny Ploen, Ed Podolak (twice), Doug Reichardt, Mike Reilly, Reggie Roby, Tom Rusk, Fred Russell, Mark Sindlinger, Larry Station, Don Suchy, Mark Vlasic, Brad Webb, Leven Weiss, Casey Wiegmann and LeVar Woods.

The former players who have visited have included Hawkeyes who have gone on to productive careers in professional football and players who have become successful businessmen, community leaders and family role models.

The former coaches and athletes who return are invited to join the team on Friday, to attend practice and meetings and be a part of the entire weekend that is the Iowa football experience.

Former Iowa RB Tavian Banks waves to Hawkeye fans while being introduced as Iowa's “Honorary Captain” prior to the win over Minnesota to close the 2009 regular season.

“We’ve had very positive feedback, from both the current athletes and the former players. Being a part of the Iowa football program is something that stays with people long after they have finished their playing careers, and each of the honorary captains has offered some great insight to our guys. For our current players, the connection to the history of Iowa football is something we want them to carry with them in everything they do as a member of this program.”

Former Iowa running back Ed Podolak shares a post-game moment with Hawkeye players following Iowa's 27-17 win over Arizona last season in Kinnick Stadium. Podolak, a member of Iowa's radio broadcast team for over 25 seasons, has twice served as Iowa's “Honorary Captain” and the Hawkeyes have responded with two victories.

RESPECT AMONG HIGH SCHOOL COACHES

IOWA FOOTBALL EARNS LOCAL AND NATIONAL RESPECT

As the Iowa football program has earned its reputation as one of the top football programs in the nation, it has earned respect from high school football coaches across the state and around the country. From athletes and parents, to high school coaches and administrators, members of the Hawkeye coaching staff are met with open arms while recruiting high school athletes from all over the United States. Following is a sampling of comments and thoughts provided by a selection of some of the most successful and highly-respected high school coaches.

Senior DL Adrian Clayborn joined the Iowa program from Webster Groves HS.

"I've been coaching in the St. Louis area for 21 years, and the coaching staff at Iowa has always done a good job of building relationships with high school coaches. You feel comfortable with the coaching staff; they do a good job of establishing a great level of trust and dealing with high school coaches."

When recruiting our players, the Iowa coaches have always been honest and upfront. When Adrian Clayborn was being recruited, they talked with him about his future at Iowa, and the next level, as far as the expectations. And, if he came in and did that, he would have a chance to go to the next level.

Adrian has had great things to say about his time at Iowa. He likes what they are doing as a program, the level of excellence and the way he is treated. He likes the leadership role he is in and talks about being comfortable in the community and enjoying his experiences there."

"Coach Eric Johnson is the assistant I know the best on the Iowa staff, but Coach Ferentz, and I know Coach Reese Morgan, have been in our school as well. Each of the staff members at Iowa represents the school and the football program very well. From the top down, Iowa's program has been a very classy organization to deal with, at all times. A lot of visitors come through the building as part of the recruiting process. The Iowa staff members are always as realistic as anyone in the coaching profession can be. They don't overstate or over-promise things when visiting with the student-athletes. Iowa and its football program have a lot to offer. Coach Ferentz and his staff don't have to embellish, they just don't do that at all.

There are programs that have a tendency to promise the world, when they don't have the world to offer. We don't see that from the staff at Iowa. They present a realistic approach to playing and what they can do for the student-athletes; they are very realistic in what they project for the future.

I know that Rafael Eubanks and Broderick Binns have both had real good experiences during their careers at Iowa, having no regrets in terms of their decision to attend Iowa. We have a counselor here whose mother lives in Iowa City. When she took a fall and had to spend time in the hospital, I know Broderick and some of the players went to visit her in the hospital, gave her a poster and signed autographs. Stuff like that really sticks out, coming from kids that have a lot of demands on their time."

RESPECT AMONG HIGH SCHOOL COACHES

Junior LB Bruce Davis is one of three current Hawkeye players from Glenville HS in Cleveland.

"Dealing with Coach Ferentz, Coach O'Keefe and members of the Iowa coaching staff always puts a smile on my face, because we have a relationship and a friendship. It's more than just recruiting. Coach Ferentz is a regular guy; everyone there works hard and everyone is treated as family."

I have a history with those coaches; they are straight forward and honest. Our players know that if they attend Iowa, they will be given a fair chance, it is on them to be successful. Because of Coach Ferentz and his staff, Iowa is an opportunity we looked at for my own son. They make you feel at home and treat players like their own son. They have done a great job over the years of developing players, teaching them the core values of life.

Our players who are at Iowa have stuck with the program. They appreciate the 'tough love' they receive and appreciate the opportunity. They are thankful they worked hard, stayed in the program and were kept in line. That hard work has paid off for them."

TED GINN, SR.
Head Football Coach
Glenville HS
Cleveland, Ohio

A number of players from Washington HS in Cedar Rapids, including RB Paki O'Meara, have joined the Iowa football program.

"I have been fortunate enough to coach kids from both Washington HS and Hinsdale Central HS who have gone on to be members of the Iowa football program."

The thing that really sticks out in my mind is the character of the people on the Iowa football staff. Some joined the program as walk-ons, others as highly recruited individuals. Regardless of their status, they all have been treated with the same caliber of integrity and care that you would want for your own child.

Sincerely, I don't know if there is a finer staff in the land in developing talent; in taking the kids that they have and maximizing their ability and talent level. Somebody is doing something right, which is a reflection on each and every member of the coaching staff. They are quality, quality people. Coach Ferentz is the kind of guy, that at a weekend wrestling tournament at a local high school, he will sit down next to you and watch your son wrestle. He is just a great guy, the kind of guy, where it's an honor to have my kids play for him. I know they will be treated well and treated fairly. If they are good enough, they will get the chance. And, if their talents are lacking, I know Coach Ferentz and his staff will maximize the educational opportunities those players are presented with.

As a coach, you want your players to have the opportunity to maximize their potential. If they are good enough and have the right character traits, they are going to be successful under Coach Ferentz. All of our guys who have attended Iowa have had varying degrees of success; but all of them have had nothing but positive things to say about the program and the way they have been treated as individuals."

A QUALITY EDUCATION

Your aspiration may be a career in medicine or law or education. Regardless of the specific career field, it's important to identify the college football program that places a high priority on academics and allows the student athlete to take full advantage of the tremendous educational opportunities available to him.

At the University of Iowa student athletes learn quickly that academic success is the highest priority.

"The number one reason a student-athlete should go to college is to earn an education," says Hawkeye Coach Kirk Ferentz. "Iowa has a tremendous academic reputation with diverse areas of study available."

Student athletes at Iowa are scoring big in the graduation race. In fact, when compared to other Big Ten Conference and NCAA Division I-A institutions, the Hawkeyes stack up quite nicely.

According to annual graduation rates released by the NCAA, Iowa annually ranks among the leaders in the Big Ten Conference in graduation rates among football players. Iowa's football student-athletes recorded a grading of 74% in the most recent Graduation Success Rate. That rating ranked second among the 10 programs competing in BCS bowl games at the conclusion of the 2009 season and third among the seven Big Ten Conference teams competing in bowl games.

In 2008, Iowa's GSR of 75% for football ranked third among teams ranked in the top 25 polls at the conclusion of the season (Iowa ranked 20th) and 16th among the 68 teams that competed in one of 34 bowl games to conclude the season.

The Hawkeye football team, from 2002 to 2004, was ranked in the top 25 in the nation at the conclusion of each season. Among those top 25 teams, Iowa's graduation rate, in all three years, ranked among the top five.

According to the 2010 U.S. News & World Report rankings, The University of Iowa ranks as the 29th-best public university. In addition, six UI graduate programs rank as the best in the nation. Overall, UI has 21 graduate programs ranked among the top 10 in the ranking of America's Best Graduate Schools, 2010.

GRADUATION RATES RANK HIGH

Iowa's football team has ranked in the top 10 in the nation in both major polls in four of the last eight years, based on its results on the field. Based on results in the classroom, the Hawkeyes have ranked even higher.

Seventy-five percent of football student-athletes with scholarships, who entered the University of Iowa in 2003-04, earned their degree within six years. Among the 64 teams competing in bowl games at the conclusion of the 2006 season, Iowa's football program had the ninth best graduation rate (72%) for the group of student-athletes who enrolled in the fall semester of 2001. This includes a graduation rate of 86% for "Black" student-athletes, 67% for "White" student-athletes and 50% for "Hispanic" student-athletes.

In addition, Iowa's football program was one of the select programs in the nation cited by the American Football Coaches Association (AFCA) for having a graduation rate of over 70%.

Among the top 25 ranked teams at the end of the 2004 season, the graduation rate for Iowa football (58%) ranked third best. Among the top 25 in 2003 Iowa ranked fourth (57%) in graduation rate and, in 2002, Iowa's graduation rate (63%) ranked fifth best among ranked teams. Only one other institution ranked among the top five in graduation rates over the same three seasons.

Iowa ranked second among the eight universities represented in the 2003 Bowl Championship Series (BCS) in graduation rates for its student-athletes in the sport of football. The Hawkeyes were again second among the 10 BCS participants a year ago.

"Student-athletes at the University of Iowa, through the office of Athletic Student Services, have the best support system available anywhere. This support is well documented by the academic success our athletes have enjoyed. The graduation rates and the academic honors are a complement to our Student Services staff and the effort they put forth in assisting our student-athletes in their academic pursuits."

KIRK FERENTZ
Head Football Coach
University of Iowa

"This points to success in three areas of our football program and our athletics program.

First, it speaks to the determination of our football staff to recruit students who are as committed to academic excellence as they are athletic excellence.

Second, it speaks to the work of the staff in our Athletic Student Services unit and the commitment that they have consistently demonstrated to providing the appropriate guidance and support to our student-athletes.

Third, and most importantly, it speaks to the commitment of the student-athletes themselves. As always, numbers don't lie and these indicate that you can be successful both on the playing field and in the classroom."

When the student-athlete considers his future, he should consider prospects beyond football. He should consider where he wants to be in five, ten, fifteen years from today and the best course of action for getting there. Also, he should decide early on to commit to excellence in every challenge undertaken.

Without a doubt, the men and women listed here took time to consider their future and the ways to get there. These former University of Iowa undergraduates have gone on to become leaders in their chosen fields. RUSSELL A. AND ANN GERDIN ATHLETIC LEARNING CENTER

The University of Iowa's Russell A. and Ann Gerdin Athletic Learning Center, opened for the fall, 2003 semester, is one of the latest additions to the University of Iowa campus which directly benefits Iowa's student-athletes.

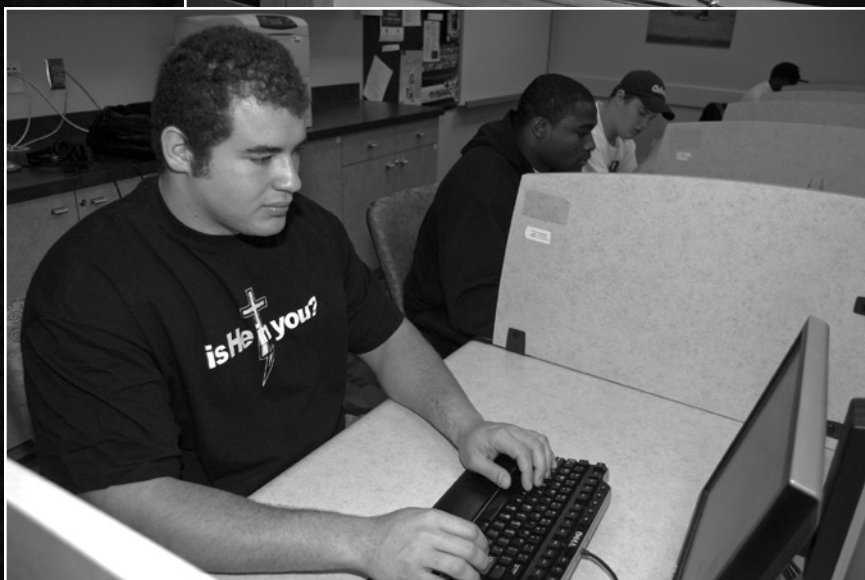

The Learning Center is a multi-level, 20,000-square foot facility which provides one all-purpose area for the academic pursuits for Iowa's male and female student-athletes. The facility is centrally located on the Iowa campus for easy access by all athletes and staff.

The Learning Center features an auditorium, two classrooms, study lounges for freshmen and upper-class student-athletes, a computer lab, a teaching lab, the athletic library, office space for Iowa's academic Student Services staff and a display area to recognize the academic accomplishments of Iowa's student-athletes.

"We are extremely excited about the addition of the Gerdin Athletic Learning Center and what it has added to the educational experiences of our student-athletes. Our student-athletes enjoy the finest facilities available. The Learning Center makes the total package we have to offer our student-athletes second to none."

The Learning Center provides one area, in a convenient, central location, that provides a great environment for our student-athletes to achieve their academic goals."

RUSSELL A. AND ANN GERDIN ATHLETIC LEARNING CENTER

"The Gerdin Learning Center is a nice play to study, you can always find a comfortable, quiet place to relax and study. The members of the Academic Student Staff are great as well; they are awesome in that they are always available and willing to provide their support."

There are times, preparing for finals, when the learning center is a great place to study. When the library is crowded, it's a very convenient place for student-athletes to find a quite spot and take advantage of the great resources; both with the staff and tutors that are available, and being able to sit at a computer and get everything that you need.

I know my parents were excited when we made our first visit after signing to attend the University of Iowa. They felt very positive after having the chance to meet members of the academic support staff. They felt confident I would be held responsible for my academics and kept on schedule, and that has been the case throughout my career.

The academic advisors have been very helpful in helping me take the classes I need to achieve my major and be on track for graduation."

The importance that the coaching staff placed on academics really helped attract me to the University of Iowa. I think you have to take pride in your school work, and from the beginning the coaching staff here made it a known fact that they put school first and football second.

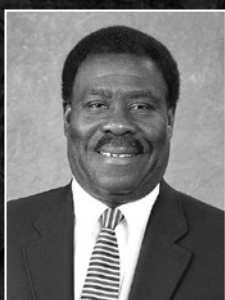

The Gerdin Academic Learning Center is a great facility for all the student athletes and made an impression on me as well. Initially, you are required to be there, you have to get your work done. But it also makes you take responsibility for your academics and helps you adjust to college life and being away from home. It keeps you focused on both your academics and football. The discipline you form for getting things done becomes a natural habit.

I would say you have to be organized and take advantage of the help that is available, and you have to use discipline to stay focused and on track. With the Student Service Staff and the tutors that are provided, there is always someone available for assistance.

Because the academic learning center is such a good place to work and get things done, I find myself going there even when it isn't required. It's easy to meet a lot of student athletes from other sports; it helps with the comradery among all the athletes on campus. We all go there to get our work done and meet others."

To many, the student-athletes who play football for the University of Iowa are simply campus celebrities who play a game each Saturday afternoon before fans packed into stadiums across the country.

However, to the staff in Iowa's Office of Student Services, these young men are individuals with the same routine problems of the ordinary college student. Instead of talking touchdowns and interceptions, the Students Services staff works alongside the student-athlete in tackling "off-the-field" problems.

The staff works with faculty advisors on the scheduling of classes for each student-athlete, making certain each course is geared toward the educational and professional goals of that specific student-athlete. The office also provides tutors for student-athletes as well as assistance in finding summer and permanent employment opportunities in the area of their career ambitions.

Once on campus every first year student-athlete attends a series of lectures that investigate the academic sphere at the University of Iowa. These discussion sessions help prepare the student-athlete on subjects as diverse as relaxing prior to an exam to the most effective way to study for an essay test.

First year student-athletes are also involved in special study sessions. The Student Services staff oversees the program, but the entire coaching staff is actively involved in its day-to-day operation.

The Office of Student Services has proven most beneficial to Iowa's student-athletes. For the student-athlete, the staff is a group of men and women who help them look beyond the immediate interests of college and athletics, concentrating instead on the long-term interests of the student-athlete.

The most recent graduation rates show Iowa football players, who began their college career in 2002-03, graduating at a rate of 75%. That figure ranks ahead of Iowa's percentage for all student-athletes and for all UI students. Among the teams in the final 2008 national rankings, Iowa's 75% graduation rate ranked third best. The most recent Academic Progress Report (APR) ranking for Iowa football (946) also is above the national average.

Sixteen Hawkeye players earned academic all-Big Ten honors in 2008 and 13 were on the Dean's List during the most recent spring semester. In 2008, three Iowa players earned district academic all-America recognition.

In 2006, Iowa's football program was one of just 34 Division I programs to be recognized by the American Football Coaches Association (AFCA) for having a graduation rate above 70%.

In 2007, LB Mike Klinkenborg and DB Adam Shada were named as first team academic all-Americans for the second straight year. DL Anton Narinskiy was named to the academic all-District team in 2007 and 2008. Klinkenborg was selected as a 2007 National Football Foundation Scholar-Athlete, earning an $18,000 post-graduate scholarship. He was one of 15 finalists for the prestigious Draddy Trophy.

DL Matt Kroul, a senior in 2008, was a semi-finalist for the Draddy Trophy last year. OL Rob Bruggeman and OL Julian Vandervelde joined Narinskiy in earning district academic all-America recognition.

Narinskiy earned President's List honors for three straight years. To earn that recognition, a student must have compiled a grade point average of 4.0 or above for their most recent two semesters, with a minimum of 12 graded hours per semester. Narinskiy earned his undergraduate degree early and worked towards his master's degree during his final season of eligibility in 2008.

"Athletic Student Services assist student-athletes in handling academic and social problems they may face. We want the student athlete to feel comfortable with our staff to the extent that they can come to us and talk about anything. We also push the student-athlete to excel. On many occasions after a student-athlete leaves the University of Iowa, he'll call back and say how he appreciated the help and support we gave him when he was here."

IOWA'S STUDENT RETENTION PROGRAM

The graduation rate of student-athletes at the University of Iowa each year has been higher than the national average, exceeding that of the student body as a whole and ranking among the best in the Big Ten Conference and the nation.

However, the Iowa Hawkeyes aren't known for resting on their laurels. That's why the Iowa Athletic Department continues to seek ways to enhance existing academic support programs to increase the chance that all student athletes at the University will reach their academic goals.

Essential to Iowa's approach to this complex problem is a pro-active retention program. The program is founded on a strong principle: the longer a student-athlete attacks his academic challenges as hard as he attacks his daily practices and competition, the more likely that student-athlete will achieve academic success.

The goal of the retention program is to move a student-athlete from a passive to a pro-active position in the retention process; from observer to participant. The Retention Program has been designed to assist student-athletes who need extra support services in order to achieve academic success.

There are several reasons why the UI's retention program has been successful. First, the program is under the direction of one full-time staff member.

Mrs. Susan Walker, who joined the Iowa staff in 1982, earned both her bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Iowa. Prior to heading the retention program Walker served 14 years as a counselor for Iowa's football athletes.

Walker spearheads a support team which works directly with students, faculty and other academic staff members. Iowa's student-athletes benefit from the ongoing efforts that one full-time specialist can put toward the program and their needs.

The UI program includes an "early warning system" which helps identify potential difficulties for the student-athletes. This process begins upon receipt of the college entrance exams and high school transcripts, and continues throughout the student-athletes' entire academic experience at the University of Iowa.

The Office of Student Services looks to other offices for assistance in providing a fully-integrated approach to student retention. Staff members encourage student-athletes to also take full advantage of the expertise available from faculty members and the numerous excellent campus-wide academic support systems.

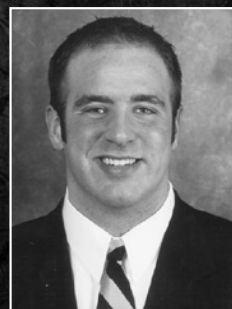

"The Iowa Retention Program has been broadened each year as we have developed new initiatives in addressing the academic needs of the student-athletes. We spend a large amount of time in one-on-one meetings and developing individual educational plans."

SUE WALKER
Assistant Director of Student Services and Retention Coordinator

FROM FOOTBALL TO MEDICAL SCHOOL

Two senior members of Iowa's 2002 offensive line are proving that brains and brawn can mix. Andrew Lightfoot, a native of Des Plaines, IL, attended medical school at Iowa, while Will Lack, a native of Nora Springs, IA, attended Harvard University medical school. Both cite their experiences with the Iowa football program as being very helpful in their preparation and medical school selection.

Lightfoot earned his undergraduate degree in psychology, with minors in biology and chemistry. He is a 2007 Iowa medical school graduate and currently in his second year of residency at Iowa, working in urology. He was an academic all-Big Ten and Verizon district academic all-American selection throughout his playing career.

"One of the main reasons I was able to be successful in medical school and work my way through, is directly related to athletics, especially my time as a member of the football program at the University of Iowa. It is important to have good communication skills and to be a good team member, and I learned that at Iowa. Work ethic is extremely important as well. That is something that is ingrained in you at an early age when competing in athletics, and especially as a member of the football program at the University of Iowa. Right now I have a strong interest in remaining in the University setting and going into the academic realm of medicine."

ANDY LIGHTFOOT
2002 Senior, Iowa Football
Iowa Medical School Graduate, 2007

Lack joined the Iowa program as a walk-on and feels his football experiences paid dividends. He graduated with a major in biomedical engineering. While over 5,000 students apply for acceptance to the medical program at Harvard in any given year, less than 200 are accepted.

Lack graduated from Harvard Medical School with honors in orthopedics in June, 2007 and is currently in orthopedics residency at the University of Iowa.

"I feel a great sense of gratitude to the University of Iowa. I believe the experiences I had on the football team have proven invaluable and I continue to stay in touch with a number of my former teammates. Along with Andy Lightfoot in residency here at Iowa, other teammates have gone on to be Navy SEALs, NFL players, lawyers, college coaches and businessmen. I feel very fortunate to have been an Iowa football player and remain incredibly thankful for the support of the coaching staff, both on and off the field."

IOWA GRADUATION RATES

U.S. News & World Report, in its 2010 rankings, has ranked the University of Iowa 29th among American public national universities for undergraduate education. Iowa ranks in the top 18% of some 161 public universities across the nation.

In its rankings of America's Best Graduate Schools, U.S. News & World Report ranks five Iowa programs as best in the nation among public universities. Overall, Iowa has 23 graduate programs ranked in the top 10 nationally.

Serious about taking advantage of your educational opportunity and earning a degree? In the most recent academic rankings, released last November, the Graduation Success Rate (GSR) for Iowa's 2009 nationally ranked football program was 74 percent, second among the 10 teams that competed in 2010 BCS bowl games.

At the University of Iowa, the numbers are stacked in your favor. Overall, 75 percent of the student athletes with scholarships who enrolled in the UI in 2002-03 earned their degrees in six years.

Thirteen Hawkeye players earned academic all-Big Ten recognition in 2009, with OL Julian Vandervelde being named to the district academic all-America team for the second straight year.

During the 2007 Fall semester, Iowa was one of three Division I football programs in the nation to have two players named as first team academic all-Americans, as LB Mike Klindenborg and DB Adam Shada earned that distinction for the second straight year.

In addition, Iowa was the only team in the nation to have three players earn first team academic all-America honors in 2006. Iowa was one of 34 Division I programs to be recognized by the American Football Coaches Association (AFCA) for having a graduation rate of over 70 percent.

Iowa's graduation rate has annually ranked among the best in the Big Ten Conference and the nation. Iowa's most recent Graduation Success Rate (GSR) of 74% ranked second among teams competing in 2010 BCS bowl games. Iowa's 75% graduation rate ranked third among all teams ranked in the top 25 at the conclusion of the 2008 season. Iowa was also in the rankings at the conclusion of the 2002, 2003 and 2004 seasons. In each of the three years, Iowa's graduation rate ranked in the top five among the top 25 teams in the final rankings.

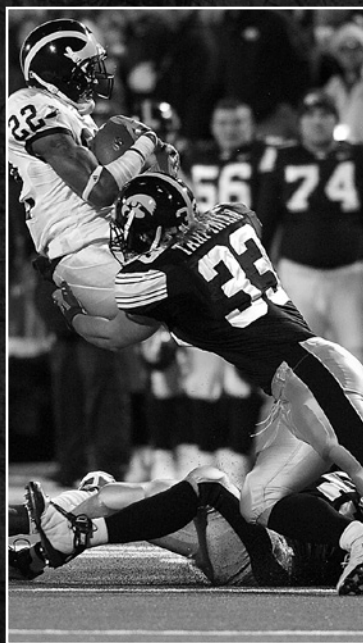

"Whenever a prospective student-athlete visits the Tippie College of Business, I highlight the importance of being engaged in their own education, no matter what major they select. It's essential to keep priorities in order as a student-athlete. To make a successful transition from high school to college-level academics, keep a few pieces of advice in mind. Go to class and sit near the front of the room. Keep up with homework. Get to know your professors. And remember that there are faculty, advisors, and resources available to support those who are willing to put forth the effort to succeed."

At Iowa, student-athletes have exceptional opportunities to develop qualities and skills that will allow them to be successful on the field, in the classroom, and after graduation. Skills in areas like initiative, teamwork, and effective communication, combined with a strong work ethic, are part of the Hawkeye tradition inside and outside the classroom."

SHARI PIEKARSKI

Director, Undergraduate Program
Henry B. Tippie College of Business
The University of Iowa

"When you first come to campus, that first year, you do have the mandatory study hours, which is very helpful. The first year, the student athlete seminar was very helpful as well, I thought that was good. Once you get your feet on the ground, then you have some freedom. But the good habits are formed from the beginning of your career. But, you also have to continue to value your time and make good decisions throughout your career.

I always found it very helpful to rely on the older guys on the team. They had been through things. It helped to know what classes were like and what to expect. The older players, the coaches, the Gerdin Learning Center, we have all the necessary resources we need to be successful.

Time management becomes a habit; you have to make it a part of your life. When you are in season, you have very little free time, so you have to use it the best you can. The Academic Services staff help with that, and you just kind of grow into it after that first year.

The Gerdin Center is a great resource, a great facility. If you need to study or need to use a computer, or just need some quiet time; we're fortunate to have such an outstanding learning center that can provide any assistance you might need, all in one location."

HAWKEYES EARN ACADEMIC HONORS

Over the past 11 seasons, Iowa football has made its mark on the playing field. The Hawkeyes won Big Ten titles in 2002 (8-0) and 2004 (7-1) and tied for second in 2009 (6-2). Iowa participated in bowl games at the conclusion of eight of the last nine seasons (2001-09), including six January bowl games. Iowa concluded the 2009 season with a 24-14 win over Georgia Tech in the FedEx Orange Bowl, its second BCS bowl appearance.

Under Coach Kirk Ferentz and his staff, Hawkeye football players have also been successful in the classroom. Fifteen players have combined to earn academic all-America honors on 28 occasions. Four players, DL Aaron Kampman, OL Andy Lightfoot, LB Mike Klinkenborg and DB Adam Shada, were three-time honorees. Current senior Julian Vandervelde has been recognized each of the past two years.

Klinkenborg and Shada were honored for the third time as seniors in 2007, as both earned first team academic All-America honors for the second straight year. In 2006, senior OL Mike Elgin joined Klinkenborg and Shada on the first team, making Iowa the only Division I program in the nation with three players earning that distinction.

In addition, Iowa players have been honored 143 times over the past 11 seasons with academic all-Big Ten recognition.

Senior OL Julian Vandervelde earned district academic all-America honors in both 2008 and 2009. Vandervelde has earned academic all-Big Ten recognition in each of the past three years.

STUDENT-ATHLETE SUPPORT

At The University of Iowa, a strong relationship has been developed between athletics and academics, where football coaches and athletes work hand-in-hand with academic deans and professors, assuring the student-athlete the best possible opportunities to excel in the classroom and in athletics.

From the first visit for any prospective student-athlete, to the completion of their academic and athletic career at Iowa, academic personnel play a large roll in the career of Hawkeye student-athletes. Beginning with the on-campus visits, student-athletes are introduced to professors in their selected field of study and are able to establish a relationship and develop an understanding of the academic setting in which they will be involved.

DIRECTOR OF PLAYER DEVELOPMENT

Former Hawkeye Chigozie Ejiasi was named Iowa's first ever Director of Player Development in September, 2008. In his current position, Ejiasi assists Iowa players in their transition from high school to being a student-athlete at the college level, as well as helping secure employment opportunities after college graduation. Ejiasi also does extensive work in organizing community service efforts, as well as acting as a liaison between the Academic Student Services staff and Iowa's football student-athletes. Additional duties include assisting players secure summer employment and organizing housing efforts for the players.

"My position provides our players another resource when it comes to academics, student life, and football. Part of my role on this staff is to provide our players with an understanding of what is expected of them within the Iowa City community and our football program."

"My role is to assist our football players, primarily our first and second year student-athletes, in making a smooth transition into college life, socially, academically and athletically."

CHIGOZIE EJIASI
University of Iowa Football Program

"I've been really impressed with the caliber of athlete that Coach Ferentz and his staff are recruiting to be members of the University of Iowa football program. They recognize the demanding life a "student-athlete" at the University of Iowa leads, and place a high priority on seeking capable students as well as good citizens."

ELLIE HERMAN, Ph.D.
Coordinator of Field Experiences
University of Iowa

"It is a great pleasure working with Coach Ferentz and his staff. Having wrestled for Dan Gable, I have insight into working with a coach who cares as much about an athlete outside the sports arena as in it. I've marveled at the total concern both coaches have shown for the "process" of success. There are no shortcuts in their philosophies or actions. All athletes should be able to take what they learn here and apply it to every aspect of their lives for the next 70 years."

I came to the University of Iowa with marginal athletic and academic ability and left with four NCAA Championship rings and a doctoral degree. Sports careers end, but what is learned from the important teachers and mentors in life endures. Coach Ferentz is the quintessential teacher and mentor."

VANDERVELDE SHINES AS STUDENT-ATHLETE

Senior Julian Vandervelde has earned numerous academic honors during his career. He has been named academic all-Big Ten for three straight years and has been named to the CoSIDA Academic all-District team in each of the last two years. He is a Religious Studies and English major.

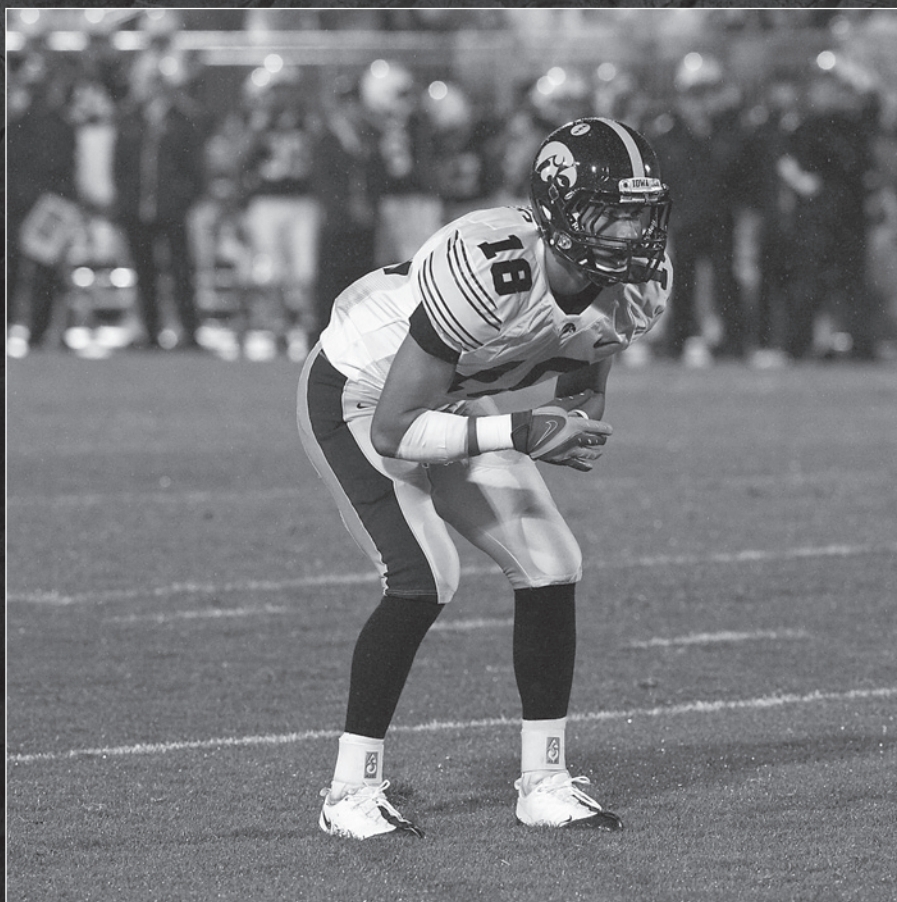

A native of Davenport, IA, Vandervelde's athletic career includes an appearance in the 2000 Little League World Series. Outside of athletics, he enjoys singing, a hobby he began in elementary school.

His singing talents earned a standing ovation at the players talent show prior to Iowa's participation in the 2006 Alamo Bowl vs. Texas. More recently, he sang the national anthem last March as an introduction to President Barack Obama's visit to the University of Iowa campus. Following his performance he was able to meet President Obama.

"Once you get out there, it's kind of like a football game," said Vandervelde, of his singing performance in front of President Barack Obama. "The nerves build up, but once you're on the field it all just goes away and you're just playing ball. In this case, it is just singing."

Senior OL Julian Vandervelde sings the national anthem prior to President Barack Obama's speech on the Iowa campus in March.

"Whenever any player has a problem, you can go to Chic and he'll help you solve that problem. When I first came to the University of Iowa I had questions about my University Bill and financial aid. Chic was the go-to guy with all the phone numbers and it really helped to have someone like him around for assistance."

MICAH HYDE

"During the recruiting process, Chic was the person I talked to and he showed me around campus. When I came to the University of Iowa as a freshman, he was one of the most important persons to learn from. He showed me exactly how to act and carry myself as a Hawkeye football player. If for some reason you can't get a hold of the coaches, Chic is the way to go. He is an invaluable resource for everyone in the program."

HAWKEYES INVOLVED IN THE COMMUNITY

Members of the Hawkeye football team sort through a portion of the canned food items donated to the local Crisis Center by Hawkeye fans attending Iowa's final spring practice.

As a member of the University of Iowa football program, student-athletes are involved in a number of activities outside of football that are geared towards individual growth, community involvement and public service.

Working with Chigozie Ejiasi, Iowa's Director of Player Development, members of the Iowa football program are involved in a number of community service projects and events within the Iowa City community, around eastern Iowa and beyond.

Within the last year, members of the Hawkeye program have been involved in a blood drive with the DeGowin Blood Center; the Iowa Children's Hospital Dance Marathon; Hurricane Rita Relief in Louisiana; Aplington-Parkersburg (IA) Tornado Relief; Sand Bagging in Iowa City; and flood relief in Cedar Rapids.

Hawkeye players also host children and families from Camp Courageous on the Iowa campus each spring, work with patients and families in conjunction with the local Ronald McDonald House and the Salvation Army.

Members of the football program have been involved in a number of activities in which they reach out to offer assistance to those in need. Over the past two years members of the football program have teamed with former Hawkeye player Lon Olejniczak to be involved in recovery projects following severe weather. That has included traveling to Louisiana to assist those affected by hurricanes and assisting citizens of Aplington and Parkersburg, Iowa as they began rebuilding after tornado damage throughout the area.

In addition, all University of Iowa student-athletes take part in the Hawkeye Day of Caring each spring. The student-athletes, joined by Iowa coaches, administrators and staff, perform service projects for many agencies around the Iowa City area. Hawkeye Day of Caring is the brainchild of the Iowa Student Athlete Advisory Committee, whose goal is to increase the level of community service among its teams and individuals. Canned goods, donated by fans attending Iowa's final spring practice, are delivered to the Crisis Center by the football team and staff as well.

"It has been a great experience to work with Coach Kirk Ferentz, Chris Doyle and current members of the football program as part of their team building projects in the summer and their community outreach. Coach Ferentz and his staff have felt the need to give these guys a baseline to build their future, whether football is involved or not. They need to know the world around them outside of football. At some point football won't be as big a part of their lives as it is currently. These summer activities are a great way of giving back to the communities and seeing the broad picture."

"Being involved with this has been a way for me to give back a little something to the program. It's been a great experience for me; these are quality young men who do a lot of good things in the community, not just these special projects. The kids are paying attention to the lessons."

LON OLEJNICZAK
Chief Sales Officer
Transamerica Capital Management

"It's the satisfaction you feel when you are helping people who are in need. I was brought up that way, and I'm going to continue to be that way. If someone is in need, I'm going to help. Our entire football team has that same attitude. The people of Iowa have been good to us and very supportive. We're going to turn around and help them out whenever we have that chance."

Pro Football Hall of Fame, 2008
Five-time All-Pro and former Captain, New England Patriots and former Iowa Hawkeye all-American

Following an NFL career in which he earned all-Pro honors while playing for the New England Patriots, Marv Cook returned to Iowa City, where he is a successful businessman, high school football coach and staunch supporter of the University of Iowa and the Hawkeye football program. His name appears on the ballot for the 2010 College Football Hall of Fame.

"I don't like to leave anything undone. In athletics and life, I've always finished what I started."

That's what Andre Tippett, a five-time all-Pro defensive end for the New England Patriots and captain of the Iowa football team that played in the 1982 Rose Bowl, said about finishing his education. Tippett is also a member of the 2008 class of the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio.

Tippett left school before earning his degree. However, in January 1990 he returned to campus at the urging of Associate Athletic Director Fred Mims for one final semester of class work.

Tippett retired following the 1993 season and now works in Players Relations as a member of the New England administrative staff.

Mims oversees a program that encourages former University of Iowa student-athletes who have not completed an undergraduate degree program to return to Iowa City and finish their education. A number of Hawkeye football players have returned to campus to finish degree programs following their playing careers.

"If they can't come back right away, maybe they can take correspondence classes or enroll in some courses at another school closer to their home and transfer credits back to the University of Iowa. The important thing is for each student-athlete to complete his education," said Mims.

The program is even more evidence of the University of Iowa's commitment to each of its student athletes' academic success. It's a commitment that is for life and, in return, can provide the student-athletes who participate, a lifetime of career opportunities.

"The University of Iowa Athletic Student Services office is committed to developing long-lasting relationships with all student-athletes. These relationships begin during the student's recruitment process and last a lifetime."

"First and foremost, the people in the program at the University of Iowa, everyone involved, are just great people. I formed many great relationships while at Iowa and I'm always anxious to get back to Iowa City to see how everyone is doing. I always try to follow the program when I can, and I stay in touch with the coaches. As a former player, I know myself and others always want Coach Ferentz and the staff to know they have our support."

Iowa City is a great city and community, it has everything you are looking for in a University and it is a community I will always feel a part of. It was very important for me to return to Iowa City and earn my degree from the University of Iowa."

LIFE SKILLS PROGRAM

UNIVERSITY OF IOWA LIFE SKILLS PROGRAM

The University of Iowa Athletic Department is committed to provide educational experiences and services to develop well-balanced lifestyles for student-athletes. The Athletic Student Services staff is committed to help the student-athlete derive maximum benefits from their athletics and college experience. Learning about who you are, acquiring self-understanding, a positive self-image, learning decision-making and coping skills to deal with the pressures and stresses of growing up all lead to a high quality of life as a student and an athlete at Iowa.

TRANSITION SEMINAR

The Transition Seminar runs for 12 weeks (90 minutes per week) at the beginning of the fall semester. This seminar, which is attended by all new students, explores personal and academic issues stemming from the transition from high school to college and adjustment issues that are unique to student-athletes. Its purpose is to help student-athletes improve their performance and persistence at Iowa.

These are highly interactive sessions with emphasis on group discussion in order for the student-athletes to learn from each other. Some of the topics are: introduction to the University library, personal and academic goal-setting, time management, personal responsibility and accountability, substance abuse, relating to professors, study skills, diversity and ethics.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS

Throughout the year, Athletic Student Services sponsors and conducts educational programs. These are seminars, speakers, workshops and short courses on issues of personal growth and life skills, with a primary focus on alcohol and other drugs. These programs, which are often topics suggested by student-athletes, appeal to a variety of audiences, including specific teams, age groups (i.e., freshmen, fourth-year seniors) or department-wide.

Subjects that have been addressed in the past include alcohol and self-esteem, healthy intimacy, sexual assault, personal responsibility and accountability, communicating with coaches, stress management, racial diversity, time management, learning strategies and transitions from college to professional life.

CAREER GUIDANCE AND DEVELOPMENT

Planning a meaningful career and a fulfilling life is an ongoing process of expanding and narrowing choices, beginning when the student-athlete arrives on campus and continuing throughout their college career and lifetime. This process includes learning about who you are (e.g., your values, abilities and interests) and using that information to choose courses leading eventually to an academic major by the end of the second year.

The process continues with "building a resume" and exploring other college and community activities (e.g., campus organizations, student government, community service, church involvement). An important step is to learn about the world of work, growing industries, employment forecasts and how the student-athlete interests and abilities fit. Summer internships, fieldwork and volunteering are all valuable experiences that lead to reasonable decisions about a career.

As the student-athlete approaches their senior year, they need to explore their options for life after graduation (i.e., full time work, graduate or professional school or professional sports). Those decisions will require further planning, whether it is to develop a job strategy and resume, or to apply to graduate schools and take entrance exams.

Athletic Student Services offers individual consultation, career development seminars and workshops, referrals to other campus offices and special events, such as the Senior Student-Athlete Recognition Banquet in Des Moines for graduating student-athletes. This event is an opportunity for graduating seniors to be recognized by the governor for their contributions to the people of Iowa and to meet and network with professional and business executives across the state of Iowa.

Athletic counselors and staff members from Athletic Student Services help student-athletes identify their choices, clarify their plans and refer them for further assistance to other student service offices on campus.

UNIVERSITY OF IOWA MAJORS

University of Iowa students have more than 100 programs to choose from when deciding on a field of study. And, they can take their time in selecting a course of study or career. One out of four students begin their college career as an open major prior to selecting a major once their college career is underway.

In addition to your major, UI students can enhance their education with a second major, a minor, or a certificate. Many majors also have emphasis areas. And a number of pre-professional options can help prepare for further study.

IOWA RANKS HIGH ACADEMICALLY

The University of Iowa football program takes great pride in the graduation success of its student-athletes. Throughout the years, Iowa football student-athletes have compared favorably when compared to their peers throughout the nation.

According to date distributed by the NCAA last November, Iowa's football program had a Graduation Success Rate (GSR) of 74%. That figure ranked second among the 10 programs competing in 2010 BCS bowl games and third among the seven Big Ten Conference teams earning bowl invitations.

The previous year, Iowa's graduation rate of 75% of football student-athletes ranked third among teams that appeared in the 2008 final national rankings. Among the 68 teams competing in bowl games at the conclusion of the 2008 season, Iowa's 75% graduation rate ranked 16th best. Iowa ranked third best of the seven Big Ten Conference teams competing in bowl games.

Among the 64 Division I football programs that participated in bowl games following the 2006 season, Iowa ranked ninth overall with a graduation rate of 72% for the group of student-athletes who enrolled in the University of Iowa in the fall semester of 2001. Iowa's graduation rate ranked second among Big Ten teams competing in bowl games.

In graduation rate data for teams that participated in bowl games and finished in the top 25 of the national rankings in 2002, 2003 and 2004, the Iowa football program ranked highly, according to information released by the NCAA.

Senior PK Daniel Murray has been a Dean's List student while at Iowa and has earned academic all-Big Ten recognition in each of the past three years.

The Iowa football team ranked eighth in the nation in the final rankings in 2002, 2003 and 2004. Among the teams ranked in the top 25 each year, Iowa's graduation rate ranked fifth in 2002 (63%), fourth in 2003 (57%) and third in 2004 (58%). Only one other school ranked in the top five in each of the three years.

According to the data compiled by the NCAA for the 2001 season, Iowa's graduation rate of 78 percent for scholarship student-athletes in the sport of football, ranked behind only Stanford (93%), Syracuse (91%), Boston College (85%) and Southern California (82%) among the bowl game participants.

The same five schools topped the list when a comparison was done using a four-year graduation rate average, with Iowa again ranking as the top public institution. The national graduation rate average for Division I-A football student-athletes was 52 percent. Iowa was one of 16 of the 50 bowl teams whose graduation rate for its football student-athletes matched or exceeded the graduation rate for its respective institution's entire student body.

"We take great pride in the academic achievements of our student-athletes, just as we admire their athletic achievements. The athletics program at the University of Iowa has long embraced the idea that academic pursuits do not have to suffer in order to be successful in athletic competition. We are proud of what our football team has accomplished on the field and off, and we look forward to a bright future."

NFL HAWKEYES

When a student-athlete excels on the football field at the University of Iowa he gets noticed. He's noticed by the thousands of fans in Kinnick Stadium and the stadiums where the Hawkeyes play; by the vast numbers of media who follow the Iowa football program and Big Ten football; by the millions of college football fans watching the Hawkeyes on nationally televised games; and by scouts for the franchises of the National Football League.

When the Oakland Raiders selected offensive tackle Robert Gallery with the second selection in the 2004 NFL Draft, it marked the high point of Iowa's selections in the Kirk Ferentz era. Thirty-three Iowa players have been selected in the NFL Draft in the past eight years.

Six Hawkeye players were selected in the 2010 NFL draft, including first round selection Bryan Bulaga. The offensive lineman was taken by Green Bay as the 23rd player selected. Only three programs in the nation had more than six players selected.

LB Pat Angerer was taken in the second round by Indianapolis, while DB Amari Spivey (Detroit) and TE Tony Moeaki (Kansas City) were third round selections. Miami chose OLB A.J. Edds in the fourth round and OL Kyle Calloway was selected by Buffalo in the sixth round.

Running back Shonn Greene, who earned the 2008 Doak Walker Award as the top running back in the nation, was the first player selected in the third round of the 2009 NFL draft, being selected by the New York Jets. The following selection in the draft was Iowa DB Bradley Fletcher, selected by the St. Louis Rams. OL Seth Olsen (Denver) and TE Brandon Myers (Oakland) were also drafted, while four additional Hawkeye players signed free agent contracts immediately following the draft.

Five Hawkeye players were selected in the 2003, 2004 and 2005 NFL draft, while linebackers Chad Greenway (first round) and Abdul Hodge (third round) were drafted in 2006. Three Hawkeye players were selected in both the 2007 and 2008 drafts.

Hawkeye players selected in the past eight NFL drafts have included 10 selections in the first two rounds. Along with the 33 selections, an additional 32 Hawkeyes in the past eight years have signed free agent contracts with NFL teams. An Iowa football player has been selected in the NFL draft in each of the past 33 years.

In the past 11 seasons, with Kirk Ferentz as the Hawkeye head coach, 71 of the 83 seniors who were starters have been selected in the NFL Draft or signed an NFL contract. Three additional players have been drafted after electing to by-pass their senior season of eligibility.

The relationships Kirk Ferentz established during his six years as an NFL coach, along with the reputation established by the Iowa football program for preparing players for the professional level, are beneficial to members of the Iowa football program who aspire to a professional career.

These relationships, paired with an Iowa football program that stresses fundamentals, discipline and pro-like offensive and defensive systems, have meant that highly-skilled Hawkeyes are often the choice of NFL teams in the league's annual college football draft. And the Hawkeyes have been successful in the NFL as well. Twenty-nine former Hawkeyes have competed in the Super Bowl, including TE Dallas Clark and DB Bob Sanders, members of the 2007 Super Bowl champion Indianapolis Colts. More recently, DE Ken Iwebema completed his 2008 rookie season by playing in the Super Bowl for the Arizona Cardinals. The Colts returned to the Super Bowl a year ago, with Clark leading all receivers with 83 yards on seven receptions. Sanders did not play in the game due to injury.

In addition to the large number of former Hawkeye players who have gone on to play in the NFL, the Iowa football program is currently well represented among NFL coaches.

JIM CALDWELL, INDIANAPOLIS COLTS

Jim Caldwell, an Iowa letterman from 1973-76, is in his second season as the head coach of the Indianapolis Colts, leading the Colts to the Super Bowl in his first season. Caldwell was on the Indianapolis staff for seven seasons, four as assistant head coach, before taking over for Tony Dungy. Caldwell is the only NFL rookie head coach ever to win his first 14 games.

Caldwell coached in the college ranks for over 20 years, serving as the head coach at Wake Forest from 1993-2000, before joining the staff of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers for one season before joining the Colts.

"I look back on my time at the University of Iowa as some of the most formative and valuable years in my life. Going through the university, living in its community and playing in the football program, helped shape me in numerous positive ways as an adult. I cherish those years greatly, and I always identify myself as a Hawkeye. I have followed the university for years, and I feel very good about how it prepares its students to succeed in life. I commend its leadership at all levels, and I mention Coach Kirk Ferentz in particular, for how it molds those who attend the University of Iowa."

JIM CALDWELL
Head Coach
Indianapolis Colts
Iowa Football Letterman, 1973-76

TOM MOORE, INDIANAPOLIS COLTS

Former Hawkeye Tom Moore has enjoyed a lengthy NFL coaching career, the last 13 with the Colts. Moore is the senior offensive assistant for the Colts after serving as 12 seasons as the offensive coordinator. His 47-year coaching career includes 33 seasons in the NFL. Moore was a quarterback for the Hawkeyes during his playing career (1957-60) and later served on the Iowa coaching staff (1961-62). After serving in the Army, Moore coached in the college ranks before beginning his professional coaching career with Pittsburgh in 1977. Moore helped the Steelers earn two Super Bowl titles and has also coached in the NFL with Minnesota, Detroit and New Orleans.

PAT FLAHERTY, NEW YORK GIANTS

Pat Flaherty, who has served as the offensive line coach with the New York Giants for the past seven seasons, was a member of Coach Kirk Ferentz' initial staff at Iowa. Flaherty served as Iowa's recruiting coordinator and coached the Hawkeye tight ends and special teams in 1999.

Flaherty joined the NFL coaching ranks in 2000 as the tight end coach with Washington. He coached tight ends for the Chicago Bears for three seasons before taking his current position with the Giants.

MIKE DEVLIN, NEW YORK JETS

Former Hawkeye offensive lineman Mike Devlin has coached the offensive line of the New York Jets for the past four seasons, helping establishing the Jets as one of the most physical football teams in the NFL. Devlin also coached one season with the Arizona Cardinals following his professional career.

Devlin earned all-America honors as a senior at Iowa in 1992, being named Big Ten Offensive Lineman of the Year in his final season. He was also a semi-finalist for the Outland Trophy. Devlin was selected by Buffalo in the 1993 NFL draft and played in 101 games during his career with Buffalo (1993-95) and Arizona (1996-99), competing in Super Bowl XXVII with the Bills.

JOE PHILBIN, GREEN BAY PACKERS

Joe Philbin joined the staff of the Green Bay Packers prior to the 2003 season. Originally working with the offensive line and tight ends, Philbin was named offensive coordinator prior to the 2007 season.

Philbin joined the Iowa coaching staff when Kirk Ferentz was named head coach prior to the 1999 season. Philbin was Iowa's offensive line coach for four seasons, including the championship season of 2002. Iowa posted a perfect 8-0 Big Ten record in 2002, due in large part to the play of the offensive line. Iowa's offensive line in 2002 featured three players who earned first team all-Big Ten honors. Guard Eric Steinbach earned all-America honors and was Offensive Lineman of the Year in the Big Ten. Robert Gallery, in 2003, earned the Outland Trophy as the top offensive lineman in the nation.

RON AIKEN, ARIZONA CARDINALS

Ron Aiken served as an assistant coach on the Iowa staff for eight seasons (1999-06) before taking his current position as defensive line coach for the Arizona Cardinals. Aiken has been part of Arizona's success over the last three seasons, which included a Super Bowl appearance following the 2008 season and a return to the playoffs a year ago.

At Iowa, Aiken coached five players who went on to play in the NFL. He was named the AFCA Assistant Coach of the Year in 2002 when the Hawkeyes posted a perfect 8-0 Big Ten record. With Aiken as the defensive line coach, the Hawkeyes ranked among the top 10 in the nation in rushing defense in three seasons.

NFL HAWKEYES

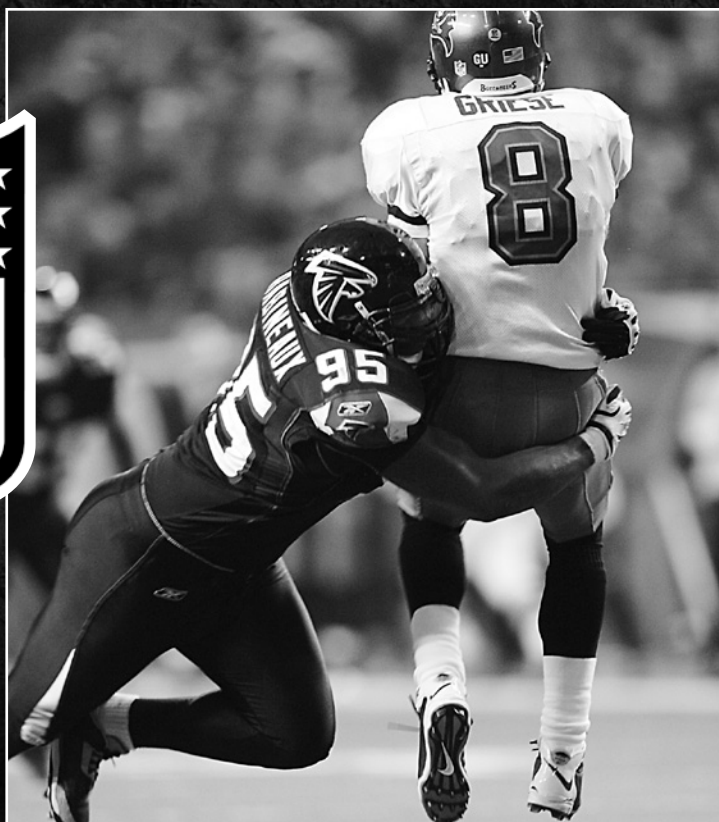

The following former Hawkeye players have made the step from college to professional football and remain active in the NFL heading into the 2010 season.

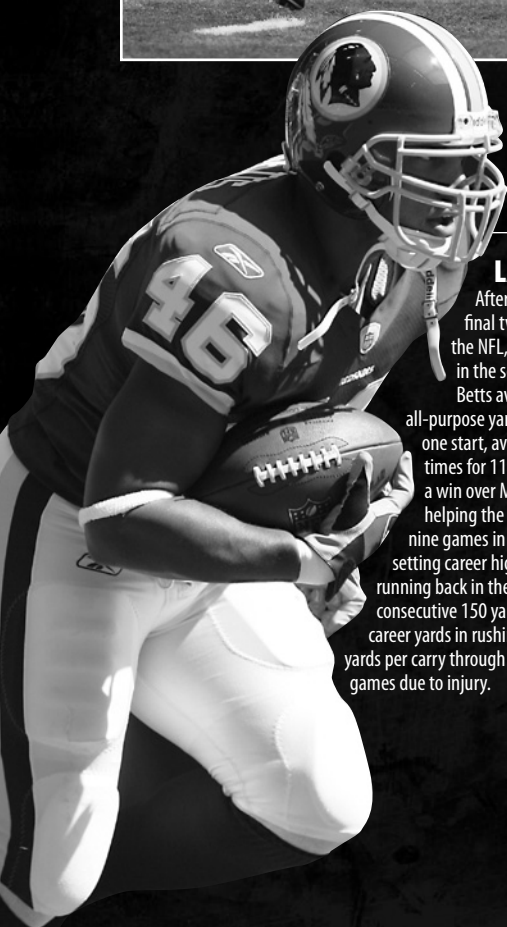

JASON BAKER

Punter Jason Baker has found a home in the NFL since 2001. He averaged 40.8 yards as a rookie that season with San Francisco. In 2003 Baker averaged 39.5 yards per punt for Kansas City as the Chiefs advanced to the second round of the playoffs. Baker spent the majority of the 2004 season with Kansas City before joining the Carolina Panthers for the 2005 season. He averaged 43.3 yards in 2005 for the Panthers, who advanced to the NFC championship game. Baker ranked sixth in the NFL with an average of 45.7 yards on 98 punts in 2006. He averaged 44.2 yards in 2007 and 44.1 yards per punt in both 2008 and 2009. He has a career average of 42.7 yards on 637 punts.

JONATHAN BABINEAUX

Jonathan Babineaux earned all-America recognition as a senior in 2004, helping the Hawkeyes to the Big Ten title and a win over LSU in the 2005 Capital One Bowl. Babineaux was a second round selection of the Atlanta Falcons, and he made an immediate impact. Babineaux saw action in all 16 games as a rookie in 2005 and again in 2006. He played in 13 games in 2007, recording a career-best 45 tackles, including three QB sacks. He started all 16 games in each of the past two seasons, collecting 31 tackles in 2008 and 47 tackles, six QB sacks and two forced fumbles in 2009.

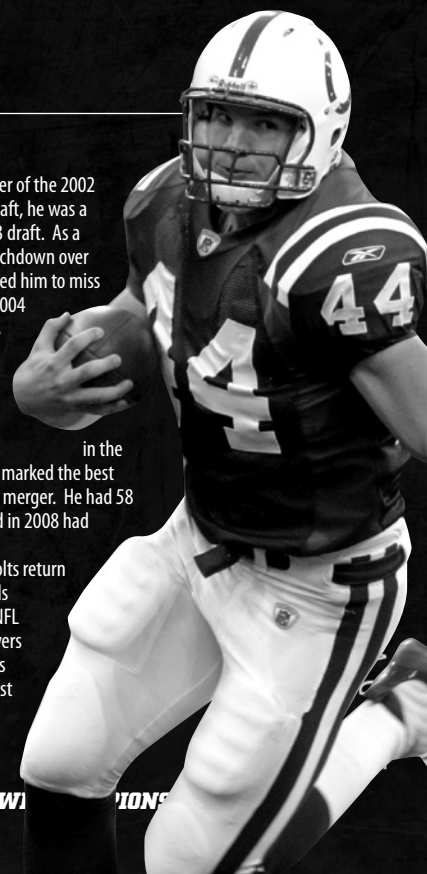

LADELL BETTS

After rushing for over 1,000 yards in each of his final two seasons at Iowa, Ladell Betts moved onto the NFL, being selected by the Washington Redskins in the second round of the 2002 draft. As a rookie Betts averaged 4.7 yards per carry and totaled 1,151 all-purpose yards. In 2004 Betts played in all 16 games, with one start, averaging 4.1 yards per carry. Betts rushed 26 times for 118 yards in his only start, helping the Redskins to a win over Minnesota. In 2005 he played in 12 games while helping the Redskins advance to the playoffs. He started nine games in 2006 and rushed for 1,154 yards on 245 carries, setting career highs in both rushing and receiving. He is the only running back in the history of the Washington Redskins to record consecutive 150 yard rushing games and he has totaled over 1,000 career yards in rushing, receiving and KO returns. He averaged 3.8 yards per carry through 10 games in 2009 before missing the final six games due to injury.

DALLAS CLARK

Dallas Clark was a consensus all-American and the winner of the 2002 John Mackey Award as a junior. Declaring for the NFL Draft, he was a first round selection of the Indianapolis Colts in the 2003 draft. As a rookie he recorded 29 receptions for 340 yards and a touchdown over the first 10 games of the season before a broken leg forced him to miss the final six regular season games and the playoffs. In 2004 Clark started 13 games, with 25 receptions for 423 yards and five touchdowns.

In 2005 he had 37 receptions for 488 yards and four TDs. He averaged 12.2 yards per catch in 2006 despite missing several games due to injury. He started four post-season games and had 21 receptions for 317 yards in the post-season as the Colts won the Super Bowl. His totals marked the best playoff receiving total for a tight end since the 1970 NFL merger. He had 58 receptions for 616 yards and 11 touchdowns in 2007 and in 2008 had 848 yards and six touchdowns on 77 receptions. Clark earned all-Pro honors in 2009 while helping the Colts return to the Super Bowl. He had 100 receptions for 1,106 yards and 10 touchdowns, becoming the second tight end in NFL history with 100 receptions in a season. He led all receivers in the Super Bowl with 83 yards on seven receptions. His career statistics in post-season play (64-847) are the most receptions and yards ever by an NFL tight end.

NFL HAWKEYES

JARED DEVRIES

After earning all-America honors for three straight seasons, DT Jared DeVries was a third round selection of the Detroit Lions in the 1999 NFL draft. He was the Big Ten Defensive Lineman of the Year as a junior. After overcoming injuries earlier in his professional career, DeVries has become a steady and dependable defensive lineman for the Lions. He started nine games in 2006, recording 10 solo tackles and 23 tackles overall. In 2007 he recorded 30 tackles, including 6.5 QB sacks and three forced fumbles. He started all 10 games in which he played in 2008, recording 29 tackles. He missed the entire 2009 season due to a pre-season injury. In 2004 he was awarded Detroit's Ed Block Memorial Courage Award.

SEAN CONSIDINE

After joining the Iowa program as a walk-on, Sean Considine became one of the top defensive backs in recent Iowa history. Even after working his way on the field as a starting safety, Considine remained a key player on Iowa's special teams throughout his career. He blocked two punts in a win at Iowa State and closed his career with a touchdown against LSU in the 2005 Capital One Bowl, picking up a blocked punt for a score in Iowa's dramatic win. Considine was the first player selected in the fourth round of the 2005 NFL draft. He was a quality performer on special teams for the Eagles as a rookie before suffering a season ending injury. In his second season Considine recorded 85 tackles, including 59 solo stops. He recorded 36 tackles and an interception while starting the first eight games in 2007 before missing the second half of the season due to injury. He had 30 tackles while playing in 16 games in 2008. He joined the Jacksonville Jaguars for the 2009 season, recording 35 tackles and one pass interception.

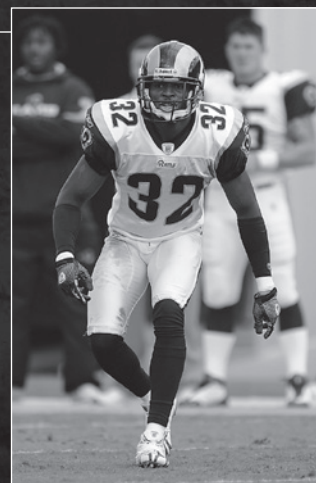

COLIN COLE

In the case of DL Colin Cole, patience and hard work have paid off nicely. After helping the Hawkeyes post a perfect 8-0 record in Big Ten play in 2002, Cole signed as a free agent with the Minnesota Vikings. Cole did not see game action in his initial professional season, in which he spent time in both Minnesota and Detroit. Cole's stock rose over the next five seasons with the Green Bay Packers. Cole played in all 16 games in 2005, recording 40 tackles and two QB sacks. He recorded 37 tackles (20 solo stops) while seeing action in 15 games in 2006 and he had 12 tackles in 2007 as the Packers fell just short of a return to the Super Bowl. In 2008 Cole recorded 30 tackles. After signing a multi-year contract with the Seattle Seahawks prior to the 2009 season Cole recorded a career-high 48 tackles while starting 15 of 16 games in Seattle.

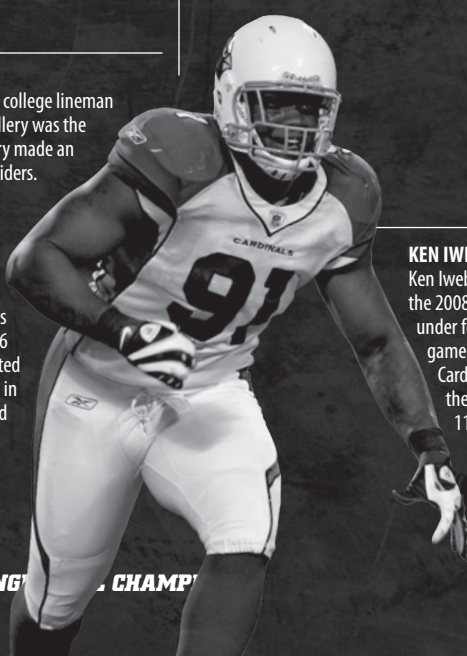

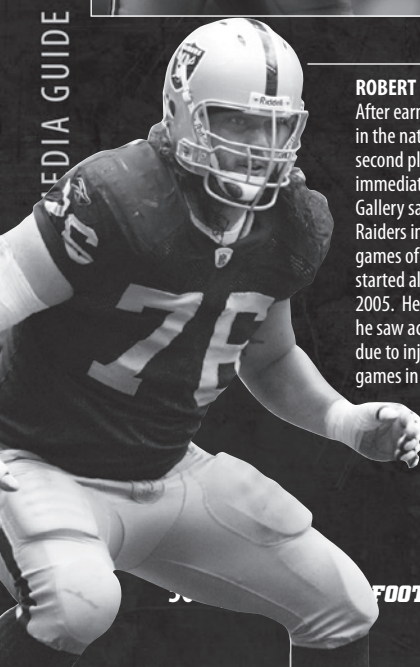

BRADLEY FLETCHER

Db Bradley Fletcher was selected in the third round of the 2009 NFL draft, just one spot behind Iowa RB Shonn Greene. Fletcher played in seven games and earned three starts for St. Louis before suffering a knee injury and missing the remainder of his rookie season. Fletcher collected 30 tackles in his injury-shortened rookie season.

ROBERT GALLERY

After earning the Outland Trophy as the top college lineman in the nation as a senior in 2003, Robert Gallery was the second player taken in the NFL Draft. Gallery made an immediate impression with the Oakland Raiders. Gallery saw action in all 16 games for the Raiders in 2004 and started the final 15 games of the season at right tackle. He started all 16 games at right tackle in 2005. He started all 10 games in which he saw action in 2006, but missed six games due to injury. Gallery returned to start all 16 games in both 2007 and 2008. Gallery started 79 of the 80 games he has played in throughout his career, but played in just six games in 2009 due to leg and back injuries.

KEN IWEBEMA

Ken Iwebema was a fourth round selection of the Arizona Cardinals in the 2008 NFL draft and he made the most of his opportunity. Playing under former Iowa assistant Ron Aiken, Iwebema played in 13 games during his rookie season, including the Super Bowl as the Cardinals came within minutes of claiming the championship of the National Football League. Iwebema recorded nine tackles in 11 games in 2009.

NFL HAWKEYES

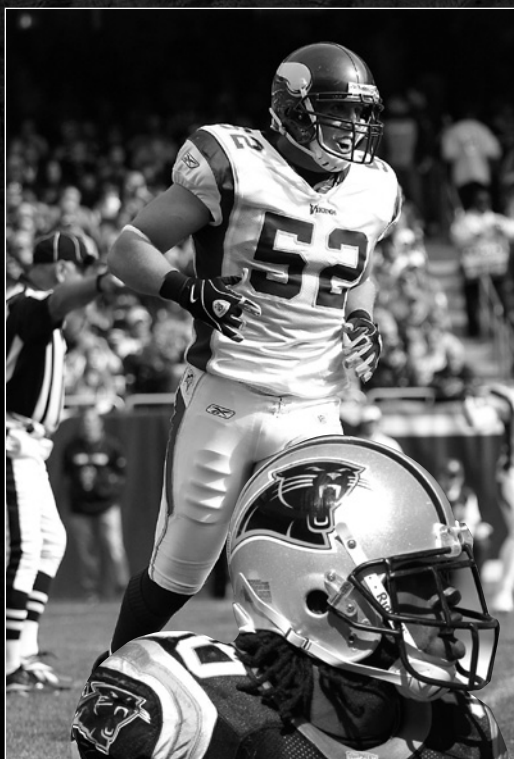

MIKE GOFF

One of the reasons Tavian Banks was able to set a single-season rushing record for the Hawkeyes in 1997 was the play of the offensive line, and in particular the play of Mike Goff. For his efforts Goff was selected in the third round of the NFL Draft by the Cincinnati Bengals. Goff started every game for the Bengals in both 2000 and 2001. Goff, in both 2002 and 2003, was a mainstay in the offensive line for the Bengals. In March, 2004, he signed a five-year contract with the San Diego Chargers. Goff started all 106 games in his five seasons with the chargers. Goff signed a multi-year contract with the Kansas City Chiefs prior to the 2009 season, where he played in eight games before a shoulder injury ended his season.

ABDUL HODGE

Linebacker Abdul Hodge was a third round selection of the Green Bay Packers in the 2006 NFL draft. Hodge saw action in eight games and earned one start during his rookie season. Hodge collected a season-high 12 tackles against Seattle in his only start of the season before missing the 2007 season due to injury. Hodge joined the Cincinnati Bengals for the 2008 season and saw action in six games. A year ago he collected 16 tackles and a forced fumble while playing in all 16 games for the Bengals.

CHAD GREENWAY

Linebacker Chad Greenway was the 17th player selected in the 2006 NFL draft, being selected in the first round by the Minnesota Vikings. Greenway made an immediate impact in training camp with the Vikings due to his aggressive style of play. He suffered a knee injury during a pre-season contest and was forced to miss the entire 2006 season. Seeing his first career action in 2007, Greenway recorded 130 total tackles (second on the team), led the team with forced four fumbles and had two interceptions and one touchdown. He tied for the NFL lead with four fumble recoveries. He played in all 16 games in 2008, with 15 starts, and led the team with 115 tackles. He led the team in tackles again in 2009, recording 99 tackles and three interceptions during the regular season. His 14 tackles in two playoff games also led the Vikings, who lost to the Saints in overtime in the NFC title game.

CHARLES GODFREY

Charles Godfrey, selected in the third round of the 2008 NFL draft, made an immediate impression with the Carolina Panthers. Godfrey started all 16 games in his rookie season, recording 61 total tackles, including 51 solo stops. Godfrey also had five pass break-ups and one interception during his first professional season. Godfrey missed four games in 2009 due to injury, but started 11 games, recording 45 tackles, five pass break-ups and an interception.

SHONN GREENE

After earning the Doak Walker Award as the top running back in the nation in 2008, Shonn Greene was the first player selected in the third round of the 2009 NFL draft. Selected by the New York Jets, Greene earned playing time in his rookie season, rushing 108 times for 540 yards and two scores during the regular season. Gaining confidence and improving each week, Greene was the star of the Jet offense as New York advanced to the AFC title game. In three playoff games Greene rushed 54 times for 304 yards and two touchdowns.

NFL HAWKEYES

NATE KAEDING

Rookie PK Nate Kaeding played a key role in the resurgence of the San Diego Chargers during the 2004 season. Kaeding set a team scoring record with 114 kicking points (20-25 FG). Kaeding connected on 21-24 field goal attempts in 2005 and made all 49 PAT attempts. He made 26-29 field goal attempts (89.7%) and all 58 PAT attempts while earning all-Pro honors in 2006. He scored 118 points in 2007, hitting 24-27 field goals and all 46 PATs as the Chargers advanced to the AFC championship game. He made all 46 PAT attempts and 24-27 field goals in 2007. He scored 127 points in 2008, connecting on 27-32 field goal attempts and all 46 PATs. Kaeding made 32-38 field goal attempts and 50-51 PAT attempts in 2009, earning all-Pro recognition for the second time. His career percentages include 85.7% on field goals (150-175) and 99.3% on PAT attempts (303-305), with the only two missed PATs both being blocked.

BRYAN MATTISON

Bryan Mattison has been a member of the Baltimore Ravens for the past two seasons. A defensive end throughout his Iowa career, Mattison played defense for the Ravens as a rookie before being sidelined due to injury during the second half of the season. A year ago he made the move from defense to offense, where he can play either guard or tackle.

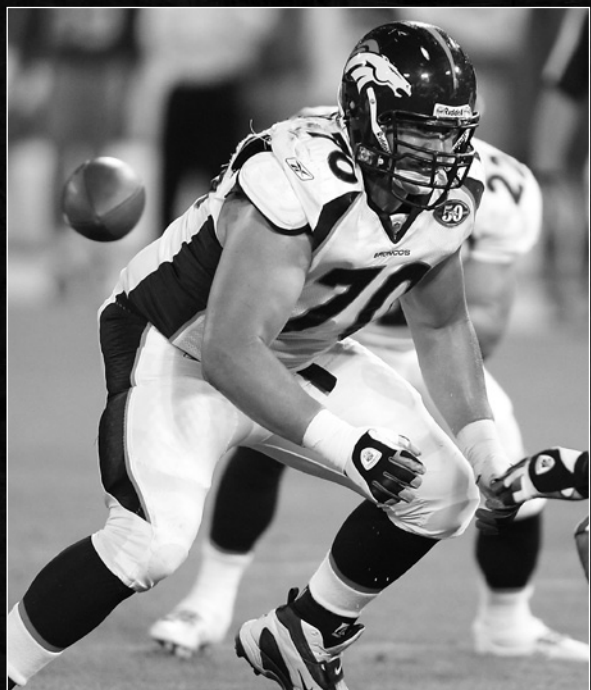

BRANDON MYERS

Brandon Myers showed steady improvement throughout his Hawkeye career, including his senior season in 2008 when he earned first team all-Big Ten honors. Selected in the sixth round of the NFL draft, Myers continued his improvement in earning a spot on the Oakland roster. Myers played in 11 games during his rookie season and started twice. He had four receptions for 19 yards and was a key player on special teams for the Raiders.

MARCUS PASCHAL

Defensive back Marcus Paschal signed a free agent contract with the Philadelphia Eagles immediately following the 2007 NFL draft. Paschal made a name for himself once reporting to the Eagles and was named to the practice squad at the start of the season. Paschal was signed to the active roster in November and saw action in three games during the second half of the season. Paschal played in two games for the Baltimore Ravens in 2009.

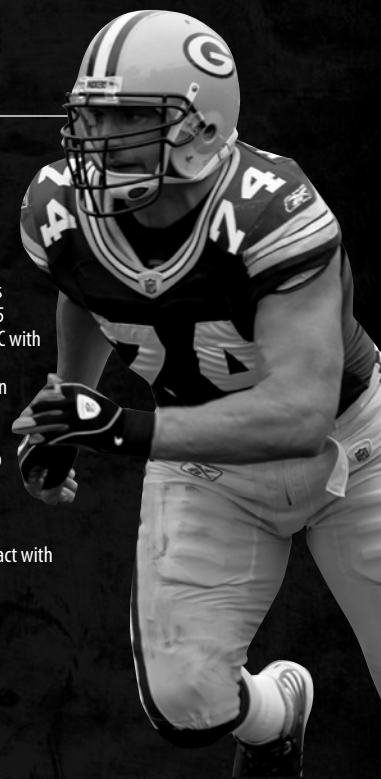

SETH OLSEN

Seth Olsen was selected in the fourth round of the 2009 NFL draft by the Denver Broncos. Olsen earned all-America recognition following his senior season at Iowa, as he helped lead the way for 2008 Doak Walker Award winner Shonn Greene. In addition to being named first team all-Big Ten Olsen earned academic all-Big Ten honors during his college career as well. Olsen saw action in three games for Denver during his rookie season.

AARON KAMPMAN

After being selected by Green Bay in the fifth round of the 2002 NFL Draft, Aaron Kampman immediately went to work on beginning his NFL career. Kampman's efforts paid off as he enjoyed a productive rookie season with the Packers, starting six games. In 2003 Kampman recorded 53 tackles (35 solo). Playing his best at the end of the year, Kampman recorded 14 solo tackles and one assist in two playoff games. Kampman played in 16 games in 2004, recording 120 tackles and seven QB sacks. He started all 16 games in 2005, recording a career-high 105 tackles (62 solo), the second most ever for a Packer defensive end. He led the NFC with 15.5 sacks in 2006, the third best total in Packer history. He recorded 113 tackles (84 solo) to rank third on the team with the most tackles ever recorded by a Green Bay lineman. He twice was named NFC Player of the Week and earned all-Pro recognition. He was selected to the Pro Bowl for a second straight year in 2007 when he recorded 64 total tackles, including 12 sacks, as the Packers advanced to the NFC championship game. Kampman started every game in 2008, recording 62 tackles, including 9.5 QB sacks. He recorded 55 tackles in nine games at outside linebacker in 2009 before missing the final seven regular season games and the playoffs due to injury. He signed a multi-year, multi-million dollar contract with Jacksonville prior to the 2010 season.

NFL HAWKEYES

BOB SANDERS

Bob Sanders continued his impressive professional football career in 2007, being named the NFL's Defensive Player of the Year. Sanders recorded 97 tackles, 3.5 QB sacks and two interceptions while earning the top defensive award. Sanders stepped right in at the professional level as a rookie in 2004. Missing portions of the season due to injuries, Sanders made the most of his opportunity when healthy. Sanders started four of the six games he played, recording 39 tackles and two fumble recoveries. Enjoying a healthy second season in 2005, Sanders was named all-Pro and was selected to the Pro Bowl, the first Colt defensive back to earn that distinction since 1971. He was second on the team with 118 tackles, including 71 solo stops. He recorded 10 or more tackles in five games, with a career-best 20 tackles vs. San Diego. Sanders was hampered by a knee injury in 2006 and played in just five regular season games before returning for the playoffs. He recorded 22 tackles and two interceptions in four playoff games, helping the Colts win the Super Bowl. He was limited to six games in 2008 due to injuries, recording 39 tackles and an interception, and he saw action in just two games in 2009, again due to two separate injuries.

ALBERT YOUNG

After rushing for over 3,000 yards during an injury-plagued career at Iowa, RB Albert Young signed a free agent contract with the Minnesota Vikings following the 2008 NFL draft. Young was signed to the Minnesota practice squad for his first season before earning a spot in the roster in 2009. Young saw limited action behind all-Pro Adrian Peterson, but still averaged 4.4 yards on 12 rushing attempts during his first active season.

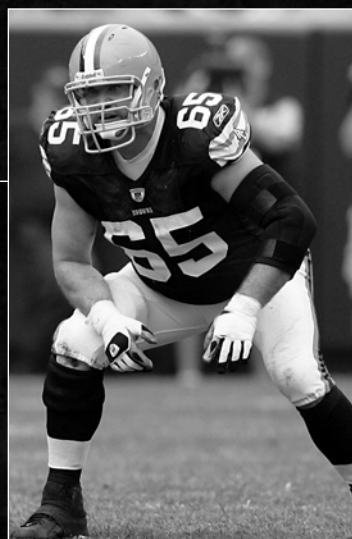

MARSHAL YANDA

Marshal Yanda started all 25 games during his two-year career with the Hawkeyes, making the most of his opportunity. Yanda stepped right in and showed his versatility, starting at three different positions over the course of his two seasons. Yanda earned second team all-Big Ten honors as a senior. He was rewarded for his hard work on NFL draft day, being selected by Baltimore in the third round. Yanda played in all 16 games for the Ravens in 2007, earning 12 starts. He started the first five games of the 2008 season as well before a season-ending injury forced him to miss the majority of the season. Yanda returned from injury with a solid season in 2009, seeing action in every game and starting nine times. He started the final six regular season games and both playoff contests.

ERIC STEINBACH

OL Eric Steinbach was the first player selected in the second round (by Cincinnati) of the 2003 NFL Draft. He was named Big Ten Lineman of the Year as a senior after helping the 2002 Hawkeyes earn a share of the Big Ten title. Steinbach as a rookie started 15 games for the Bengals, missing one game due to injury. He was named to Pro Football Weekly's all-Rookie team. Steinbach started 14 games for the Bengals in 2004 and saw action in every contest. He started all 16 games during the 2005 regular season and the playoff game vs. Pittsburgh. He played 1,059 of 1,066 offensive snaps in the 17 games. He was named as an all-Pro alternate in 2005 and 2006 while starting every game. Steinbach signed a seven-year multi-million dollar contract with the Cleveland Browns prior to the 2007 season, starting every game for the Browns in his first year in Cleveland. He started all 16 regular season games for three straight seasons before starting all 14 games in which he played in 2008. Last season he again started all 16 games, playing every offensive down.

CASEY WIEGMANN

Center Casey Wiegmann has brought his hard hat to work every day during his NFL career. Wiegmann began the 2008 season with a new team, signing with the Denver Broncos during the off-season. Other than the uniform, nothing changed. Wiegmann started all 16 games for the Broncos in both 2008 and 2009, increasing his streak to 143 consecutive starts over the past nine seasons. He has played in over 8,000 consecutive offensive plays over a nine-year span, a streak that ranks as the longest in the NFL by an offensive lineman.

A three-year starter at center for the Hawkeyes who concluded his college career in Iowa's 38-18 Sun Bowl win over Washington, Wiegmann played four seasons with the Chicago Bears. He joined the NFL as a free agent and worked his way into Chicago's starting line-up in 1998 before signing with the Kansas City Chiefs prior to the 2001 season. Wiegmann started all 15 games in which he saw action for the Chiefs in 2001 after an injury forced him to miss the opening game. Since that second game of the 2001 season, Wiegmann has been in the starting line-up for every game over the last nine seasons. He has signed to rejoin Kansas City for the 2010 season.

MATT ROTH

After earning all-America honors as a senior while helping the Hawkeyes win the 2004 Big Ten title, DE Matt Roth was a second round selection of the Miami Dolphins. Roth, in his rookie season in Miami, played in all 16 games, recording 22 tackles and a QB sack. He played in 16 games in 2006, contributing 36 tackles (23 solo), QB sacks (five) and pass break-ups (four). Roth joined the Cleveland Browns midway through the 2009 season and recorded a career-high seven tackles in his first game there. He started all six games after joining the Browns.

2010 NFL DRAFT

The University of Iowa has been well represented in the NFL Draft in the past 11 seasons, as 39 Hawkeye players have been selected, including 28 picks in the first five rounds. Six Hawkeye players were selected in the 2010 NFL draft, a total that tied as the fourth most in the nation. OL Bryan Bulaga was a first round selection while LB Pat Angerer was a second round selection and DB Amari Spivey and TE Tony Moeaki were each selected in the third.

Five Hawkeye players were drafted each year from 2003-05, including OL Robert Gallery as the second player selected in the 2004 draft. Two Iowa players were selected in the first three rounds of the 2006 draft, with four additional Hawkeyes signing free agent contracts. Three Hawkeye players were selected in both the 2007 and 2008 NFL drafts. In the 2009 NFL draft RB Shonn Greene (New York Jets) and DB Bradley Fletcher (St. Louis Rams) were the first and second players taken, respectively, in the third round.

Along with the number of Hawkeye players selected in the draft, 32 players in the past eight seasons have signed NFL free agent contracts.

In addition to Greene and Fletcher, OL Seth Olsen (Denver) was a fourth round selection and TE Brandon Myers (Oakland) was taken in the sixth round of the latest NFL draft. DL Mitch King, DL Matt Kroul, OL Rob Bruggeman and WR Andy Brodell signed free agent contracts immediately following the draft.

In 2006, LB Chad Greenway was a first round selection (17th pick overall) of the Minnesota Vikings and LB Abdul Hodge was selected by Green Bay in the third round. In 2005, DE Matt Roth and DL Jonathan Babineaux were both second round selections. Along with Gallery being selected second in the 2004 Draft, DB Bob Sanders was taken in the second round and PK Nate Kaeding was a third round selection. In 2003, TE Dallas Clark was taken in the first round and OL Eric Steinbach and OL Bruce Nelson in the second round.

Three of the five Hawkeye players selected in the 2003 NFL Draft joined the Iowa program as walk-ons from prep programs within the state of Iowa. This is believed to be the first time in the history of the draft that any one team had three former walk-ons selected in the same year. It was more of the same in the 2005 draft. DB Sean Considine, a fourth round selection, and OL Pete McMahon, taken in the sixth round, also joined the Iowa program as walk-ons before becoming starters on a team that played in three straight January bowl games during their careers.

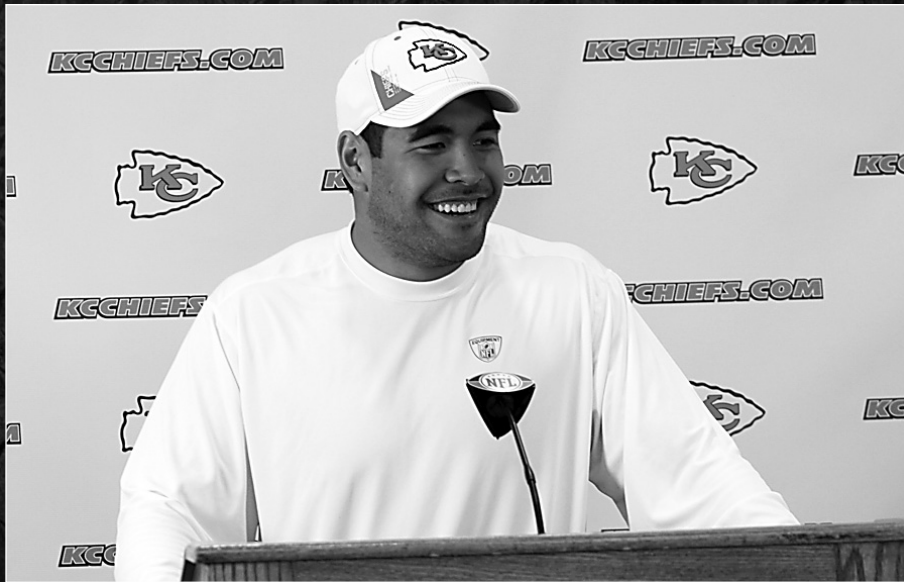

OL Bryan Bulaga was the 23rd player selected in the 2010 NFL draft, becoming a first round selection of the Green Bay Packers.

LB Pat Angerer was selected by Indianapolis in the second round of the 2010 NFL draft.

2010 NFL DRAFT

TE Tony Moeaki was taken by the Kansas City Chiefs in the third round of the 2010 NFL draft.

DB Amari Spivey was a third round selection of the Detroit Lions in the 2010 NFL draft.

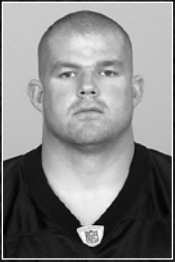

The Buffalo Bills selected OL Kyle Calloway in the sixth round of the 2010 NFL draft.

LB A.J. Edds was selected in the fourth round of the 2010 NFL draft by the Miami Dolphins.

NFL SCOUTS KNOW THE IOWA PROGRAM

"The majority of players that you get out of this program are going to come into your program and not miss a beat. That's a tribute to Kirk (Ferentz) and his staff and Chris (Doyle) and his staff, and to the players. I've been coming here for a number of years and there's always a good turnout because we're very well received here, which is conducive for us getting our work done."

SCOTT STUDWELL

Director, College Scouting
Minnesota Vikings

DB Amari Spivey, selected by Detroit in the third round of the 2010 NFL draft, is watched by NFL scouts at Iowa's annual Pro Day.

The University of Iowa football program has established close ties with National Football League teams, a connection that proves very beneficial to Hawkeye football players as they pursue their dreams of playing professional football in the NFL.

Iowa Coach Kirk Ferentz, who coached in the NFL for six seasons prior to taking his current position as the Iowa head coach, has established close ties with coaches and scouts from around the NFL. Each year, scouts from all NFL teams make it a point to spend time at the Iowa football complex, checking in on the current class of Hawkeye seniors.

Each spring, pro scouts are invited to Iowa City to work out and evaluate Iowa players, giving the players a chance to showcase their talents and improve their opportunity to catch the interest of one or more NFL teams. Twenty-seven NFL teams were represented at Iowa's Pro Day in March.

Along with the spring visits, NFL personnel are welcomed to the Iowa campus throughout the football season to observe practice and view video of the Hawkeye players in action. The relationships that Coach Ferentz and the Iowa staff have formed with NFL coaches and scouts assure Hawkeye players the chance to be evaluated by NFL personnel.

With 32 Hawkeye players being drafted in the first six rounds of the last 10 NFL drafts, including 26 in the last seven years; Iowa players are well known to NFL scouts. Even more impressive is the fact that Iowa has had 46 non-drafted players sign NFL contracts in the last 10 years.

The Iowa football program, under the direction of Kirk Ferentz for the past 10 years, has seen 68 of 78 seniors who were starters, earn their way into an NFL training camp, either by being drafted or signing a free agent contract.

Following the 2003 NFL draft, an unofficial survey of major college football conferences revealed that the Iowa football program is almost certainly the first to have three former walk-on players drafted in the first five rounds of an NFL draft.

Iowa Coach Kirk Ferentz, an NFL assistant coach for six seasons, has established many contacts with NFL coaches and college scouts, which assists Iowa players as they prepare for a future in professional football. Six Hawkeye players were selected in the 2010 NFL draft.

NFL SCOUTS KNOW THE IOWA PROGRAM

"It's very personable here. You can talk to the coaches one-on-one. You get a chance to interact with them and talk to them about the players. I think that's a big positive for scouts. It's a reflection of the whole program, the coaching staff and the way they treat you. They open up their facility to you, plus you guys have a lot of good football players."

IOWA EARNS RESPECT OF NFL TEAMS

As scouts from around the National Football League search for the top college football players in the nation each year, their visits to Iowa City and the University of Iowa football program are experiences that have resulted in positive results for both sides, the Iowa players looking to continue their playing careers, and the NFL teams who are searching for quality individuals who have grown and matured in one of the most respected programs in the nation.

"We drafted Pat Angerer in the most recent draft for his mobility, intelligence and toughness. And the fact that he's a Hawkeye doesn't hurt either."

We really enjoy having Iowa kids with our football team. We find they are exceptionally self-disciplined, they have a tremendous work ethic and they really love the game of football.

In addition, they are tremendously well coached, as well prepared as anyone we get, for life in the NFL; and that is a direct reflection on Coach Ferentz, his staff and the entire Iowa program."

BILL POLIAN

President
Indianapolis Colts

"Everybody knows the Big Ten Conference is arguably the best football conference in the country. With the University of Iowa having some of the top facilities in the nation, you combine that with Kirk and his staff, with their ability and energy level, they have what it takes to build a championship team."

Bryan Bulaga's passion, values and sense of pride certainly were rooted in his upbringing, at home with his parents. But Bryan also made the right choice when he selected the University of Iowa to play football, because those attributes were given the best environment to grow and develop.

Year after year, past Iowa football players have shown the needed qualities of success to play in the NFL – accountability, consistency, determination, and respect, just to name a few. Bryan is no different than the past players from Iowa.

I would personally like to thank Kirk, Ken, Norm and the entire coaching staff and support staff. When boys enter Iowa as freshmen they are just that, boys. When they leave Iowa football they have learned the traits that it takes to be a prideful professional and contributing member of the community.

The game of football has not changed over the years. The qualities that are learned from playing football haven't changed over the years. It's the men who teach this wonderful game that have changed.

I want to commend Kirk and everyone associated with Iowa football for still teaching the core principles that it takes to be successful in football and in life. The Green Bay Packers are excited to have another player from Iowa whose values, passion and sense of pride are aligned with ours. Pride still matters here and in Iowa City."

JOHN DORSEY

Director of College Scouting
Green Bay Packers

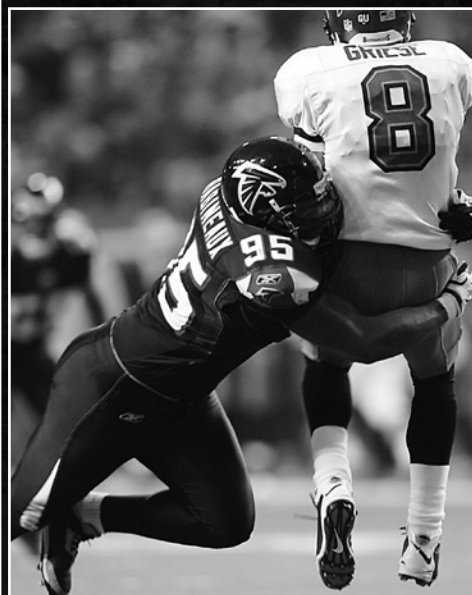

Green Bay selected Iowa OL Bryan Bulaga in the first round of the 2010 NFL draft.

"The University of Iowa has for years been one of the most respected and well-run college football programs in the country. Coach Ferentz is an outstanding leader of men, a great strategist, and an outstanding gentleman. His teams play hard, they play fast, and the program is run with the utmost class, honor and integrity."

THOMAS DIMITROFF

General Manager
Atlanta Falcons
NFL Executive of the Year in 2008, by Sporting News

DL Jonathan Babineaux has been a steady performer for the Atlanta Falcons since being drafted in the second round of the 2005 NFL draft.

TE Dallas Clark (44) and DB Bob Sanders (21) are two former Hawkeyes now playing for the Indianapolis Colts. Sanders was an all-Pro selection in 2005 and was the NFL's Defensive Player of the Year in 2007. In addition, LB Pat Angerer was drafted by the Colts in the second round of the 2010 NFL draft.

HAWKEYES MAKE "ALL-STAR" IMPRESSION

Iowa football players have a long tradition of being well prepared for professional football following their college playing careers. This tradition is enhanced by their performances in post-season all-star games, where senior players each year have the chance to shine.

After being selected for any of the all-star contests, college players have the advantage of practicing and playing in front of the watchful eyes of NFL coaches and scouts. Over the past 10 years, Hawkeye players coached by Kirk Ferentz, have played well in the post-season games, enhancing their chances at a professional playing career.

Since the end of the 1999 season, 54 Hawkeye players have made 63 appearances in post-season games. RB Fred Russell was named his teams' Most Valuable Player in the 2004 Hula Bowl. Seven Hawkeye players were selected to participate in all-star game action following the 2005 season. Three Hawkeyes were selected for post-season all-star games in each of the past three years, although only two of the three selected participated a year ago.

"It is a great honor for senior players to be selected for post season all-star contests, a reward for their hard work and a by-product of a good career. These games give players the chance to continue to display their skills and attitude for professional scouts and coaches. It's a great experience to meet and work with other fine players and to work with new coaches."

Our players who have had the opportunity to participate in these events have been able to take advantage of the invitation. They've gone in with good attitudes and a serious approach, treating the experience as a job interview. It's a great stage to enhance their opportunity for a career in professional football."

HAWKEYES IN THE NFL

FORMER HAWKEYES MAKE SUPER BOWL IMPRESSION

Not only are Iowa football players annually selected in the NFL draft, those players selected by NFL teams have often helped their team advance to the Super Bowl.

In fact, 17 former Iowa Hawkeyes have competed in 12 Super Bowl games since 1990 and a former Hawkeye has been a member of one of the Super Bowl teams in each of the last seven years. And, several times those former Hawkeyes were key players in the game.

Since the inception of the championship game, 28 former Iowa players have competed in the Super Bowl, with five of those players appearing in the game on more than one occasion.

In the most recent Super Bowl, Indianapolis tight end Dallas Clark made the second Super Bowl appearance of his career. DB Bob Sanders, also a member of the Colts, was unable to play due to injury. Despite the loss to New Orleans, Clark led all receivers in the game with seven catches for 83 yards. Clark's career playoff statistics (64 catches for 847 yards) are the most ever for a tight end in the NFL playoffs.

Following the 2008 season, rookie defensive end Ken Iwebema was a member of the Arizona Cardinals. The Cardinals played well in the playoffs and earned a trip to the Super Bowl, where they were defeated by Pittsburgh in one of the most entertaining Super Bowl games ever.

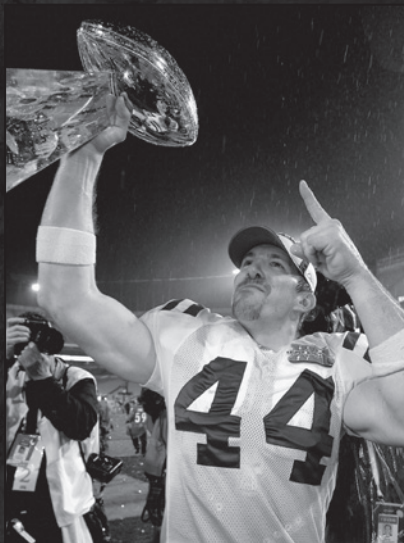

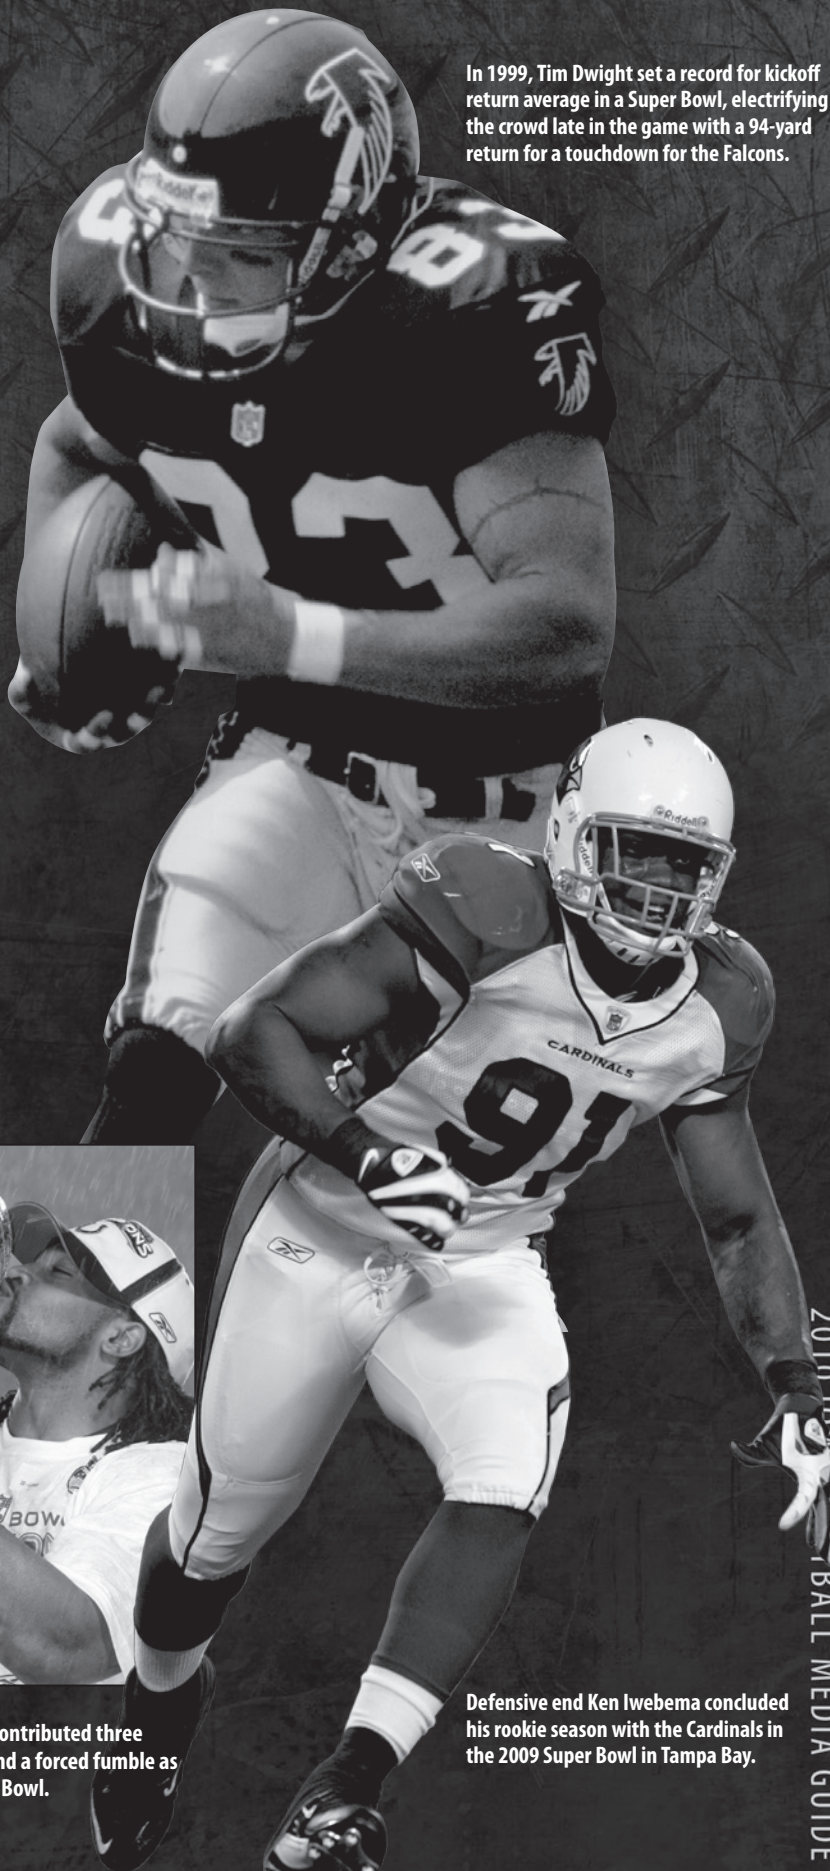

Clark and Sanders played key roles as the Indianapolis Colts defeated Chicago to win the 2007 Super Bowl. Clark contributed four receptions for 36 yards for the Colt offense, while Sanders was a busy man on defense. Sanders recorded three tackles, one forced fumble, one pass break-up and a 38-yard pass interception return as the Colts defeated the Bears.

OL Bruce Nelson, in his rookie season as an offensive lineman with Carolina, appeared in the 2004 Super Bowl. WR Kevin Kasper was a member of the New England Patriot team that won the 2005 Super Bowl and TE Erik Jensen was a member of the winning Pittsburgh Steelers team in 2006. Former wide receiver C.J. Jones was a member of the New England Patriot team that earned a spot in the 2008 Super Bowl.

When San Francisco won the 1995 Super Bowl, a key player was defensive back Merton Hanks, a former Hawkeye all-American. Former Iowa assistant Coach Carl Jackson was also the 49'er offensive backfield coach that season.

In 1997, former Hawkeye all-American offensive lineman Ross Verba became the first rookie to start at left tackle in the history of the Super Bowl.

In 1999, Tim Dwight set a record for kickoff return average in a Super Bowl, electrifying the crowd late in the game with a 94-yard return for a touchdown for the Falcons.

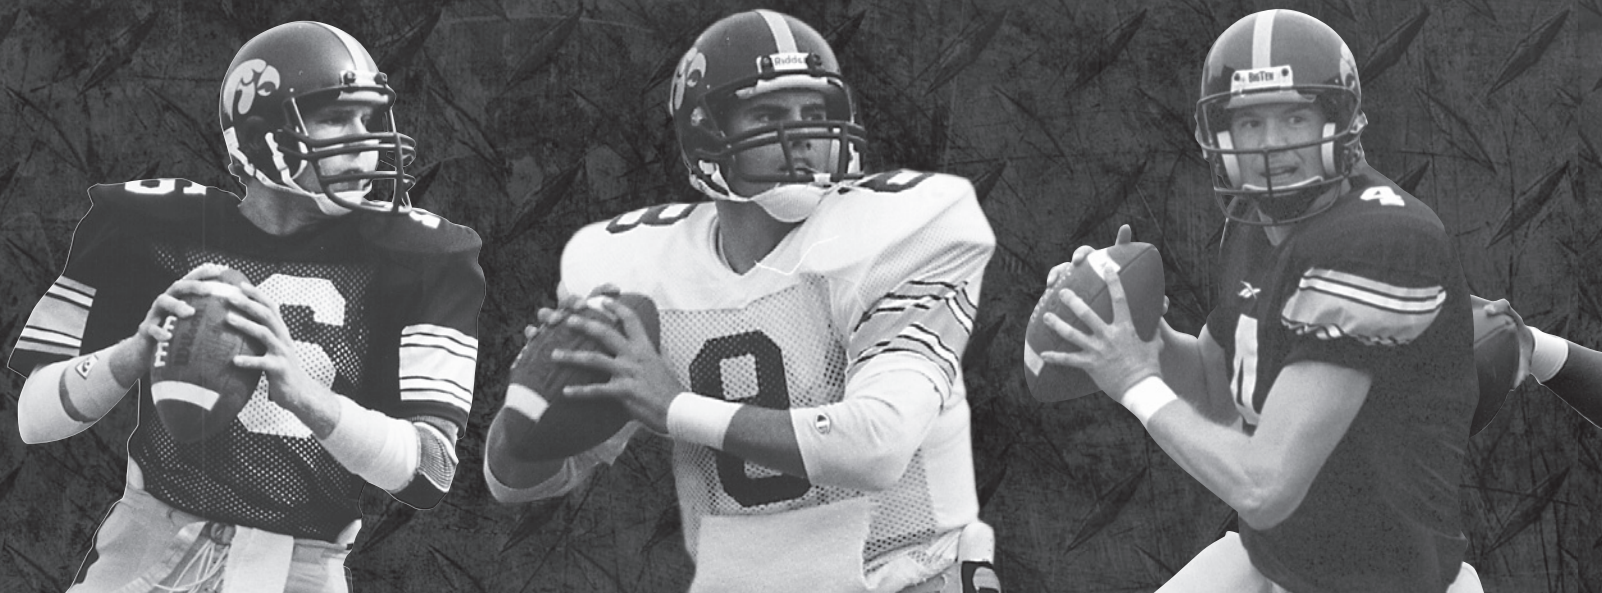

Tight End Dallas Clark has played a key role for Indianapolis in two Super Bowls. Clark had seven receptions for 83 yards to lead all receivers in the 2010 Super Bowl.

Defensive back Bob Sanders contributed three tackles, a pass interception and a forced fumble as the Colts won the 2007 Super Bowl.

Defensive end Ken Iwebema concluded his rookie season with the Cardinals in the 2009 Super Bowl in Tampa Bay.

IOWA QUARTERBACKS

CHUCK LONG

Chuck Long earned all-America honors while directing Iowa's prolific offense in the 1980's. Long completed his career by leading Iowa to the 1985 Big Ten title. He earned consensus all America honors and was runner up to Bo Jackson in the balloting for the 1985 Heisman Trophy. Long was the Detroit Lion's No. 1 selection in the 1985 NFL Draft. A three time all Big Ten selection and Big Ten Athlete of the Year, Long passed for 10,461 yards and 74 touchdowns in leading the Hawkeyes to four straight bowl appearances, including the 1986 Rose Bowl.

As a senior Long was the winner of the Maxwell Trophy, which goes to the College Football Player of the Year as chosen by the Maxwell Club of Philadelphia, the Seattle Golden Helmet Club's and Football News' College Player of the Year awards, and the Davey O'Brien Award from the Fort Worth Club as the nation's top quarterback. Long is a member of the College Football Hall of Fame.

CHUCK HARTLIEB

Chuck Hartlieb followed with two outstanding years in 1987 and 1988 and, like Long, earned all-America recognition. Hartlieb completed 65 percent of his attempts for 3,092 yards and 19 touchdowns while leading the 1987 Hawkeyes to a then school record tying 10 victories. He threw for more than 300 yards in five games.

In 1988, Iowa's Big Ten Medal of Honor recipient continued his excellence by breaking Long's school records for completions (288) and yards (3,738) in a season. Hartlieb completed his career as only the second player in NCAA history to throw for more than 3,000 yards in two consecutive seasons.

KYLE MCCANN

After sharing time at the quarterback slot earlier in his career, Kyle McCann led Iowa to the 2001 Alamo Bowl, where the Hawkeyes used a late field goal to earn a 19-16 win over Texas Tech, beginning a streak of six consecutive bowl games.

McCann took control in 2001 as Iowa's offense averaged 32.6 points per game to lead the Big Ten Conference in scoring. He completed 66.3% of his passes, a total that ranks third best among Iowa quarterbacks with over 1,500 yards in a season. McCann completed his first 12 passes of the game in leading Iowa to the Alamo Bowl win. He passed for 41 yards and ran for 16 on Iowa's final scoring drive in the closing minutes. McCann signed a free agent contract with the New York Jets following his senior season.

AN ALL-BIG TEN TRADITION

The University of Iowa established itself as the premier offensive team of the Big Ten Conference during the 1980s under the direction of three of the league's most talented quarterbacks. That tradition continued through the 1990's and in the last 10 seasons under Coach Kirk Ferentz. Nine times since 1983 the all-Big Ten quarterback has been an Iowa Hawkeye, including 2002, when Brad Banks was named the Big Ten's Most Valuable Player.

BRAD BANKS

Heading into the 2002 season, one of the biggest questions marks was the quarterback position, where senior Brad Banks, a junior college transfer who shared playing time with Kyle McCann in 2001, was the only Hawkeye quarterback with game experience.

Those questions marks turned to exclamation points from the very beginning of the season, as Banks stepped right in and led Iowa to the Big Ten title with a perfect 8-0 record. Banks and his teammates earned Iowa's first-ever invitation to a BCS bowl, as the Hawkeyes earned an invitation to the 2003 Orange Bowl.

After leading Iowa to a 3-1 non-conference record, Banks stepped into the national spotlight in his first conference game, leading Iowa to a 42-35 overtime win at Penn State. Iowa led throughout after taking a 17-0 lead in the first quarter before Penn State scored late to force overtime. Banks connected with C.J. Jones in overtime to give Iowa the win.

His magic continued the following week as he led his teammates on a game-winning drive in the final minutes of a 31-28 home win over Purdue. Banks engineered the 87-yard, eight-play drive that ended with a seven-yard touchdown pass to TE Dallas Clark on fourth down with just 67 seconds left in the game.

Later in the season Iowa earned a key 34-9 win at Michigan, and it was Banks who led the way. He completed 18-29 passes for 222 yards and three scores and ran for 53 yards. For the year, Banks threw for 26 touchdowns, with just five interceptions.

Banks reaped the benefits of his final college season. He was first team all-Big Ten and was also named Offensive Player of the Year and Big Ten Most Valuable Player. On the national scene, he placed second in the voting for the Heisman Trophy, while earning the Davey O'Brien Award as the top quarterback in the nation. He was the Associated Press Player of the Year and a Walter Camp first team all-American.

NATHAN CHANDLER

Nathan Chandler paid his dues, and paid attention. After watching Brad Banks lead Iowa to the Big Ten title in 2002, Chandler took over as a senior the following season and led the Hawkeyes to a 10-3 overall record, including a 37-17 win over Florida in the 2004 Outback Bowl.

In his one season as a starter, Chandler passed for 2,040 yards and 18 touchdowns. While the Hawkeyes relied on a solid ground game throughout the season, Chandler passed for over 200 yards in three consecutive games near the end of the season. He was at his best in the bowl win over Florida, completing 13-25 passes for 170 yards.

DREW TATE

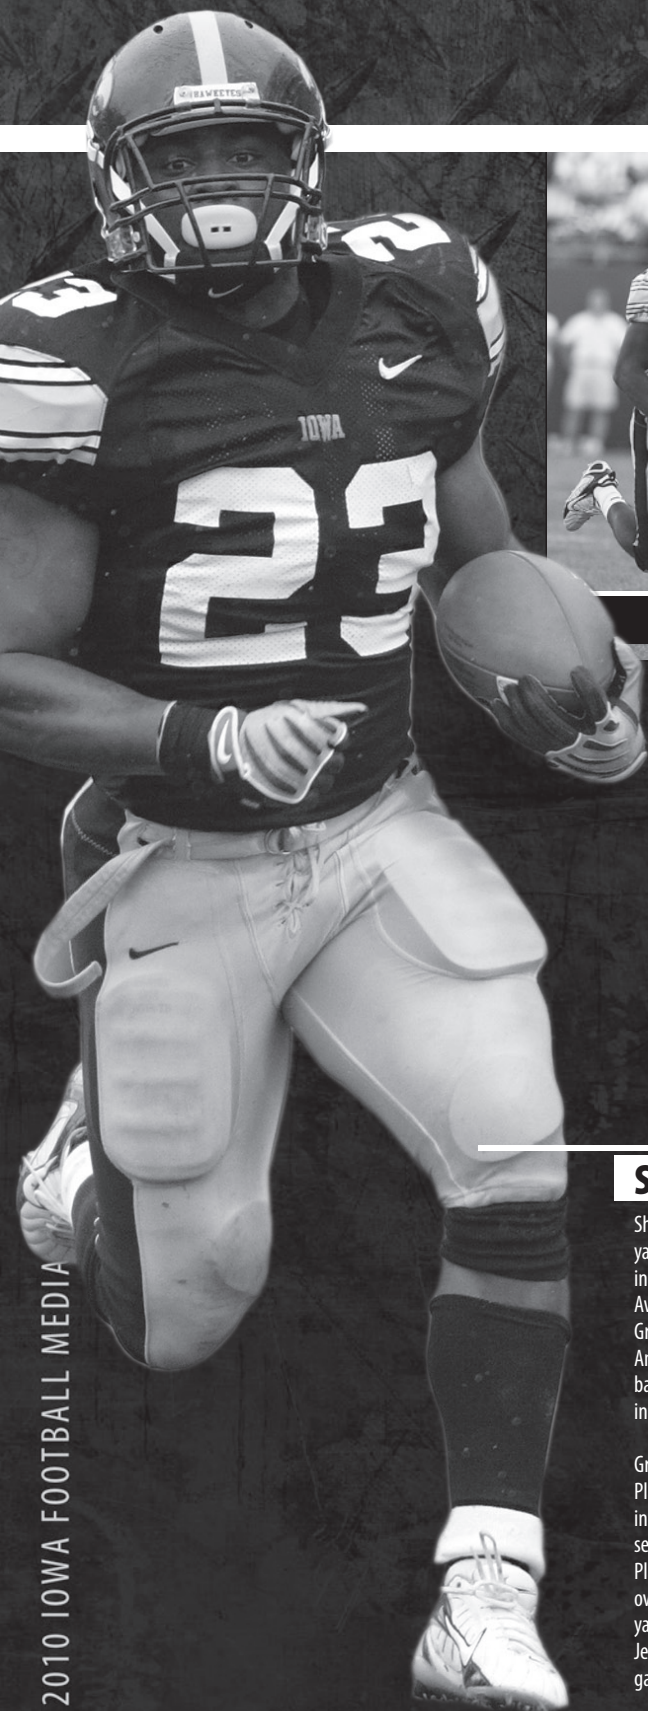

Drew Tate, Iowa's starting quarterback for three straight seasons (2003-05), earned first team all-Big Ten honors in 2004 after leading the Hawkeyes to their second Big Ten title in three seasons. Tate led Iowa to wins in its final eight games, including a dramatic 30-25 win over LSU in the 2005 Capital One Bowl when he connected with Warren Holloway on a 56-yard touchdown pass on the final play of the game. That win over the defending national champions is one of the all-time great games in Iowa football history.

As a junior Tate led the Hawkeyes to their fourth straight January bowl game. Tate completed 219-352 passes (62.2%) for 2,828 yards and 22 touchdowns in 2005, while reducing his interception total to seven.

Tate battled through an injury-plagued senior season in 2006. Despite missing two games with injuries, Tate completed 58.8% of his passes while throwing for 2,623 yards and 18 touchdowns. Tate ended his career ranking second in passing yards (8,292), touchdown passes (61), completions (665), attempts (1,090) and total offense (8,427) and third in completion percentage (.610).

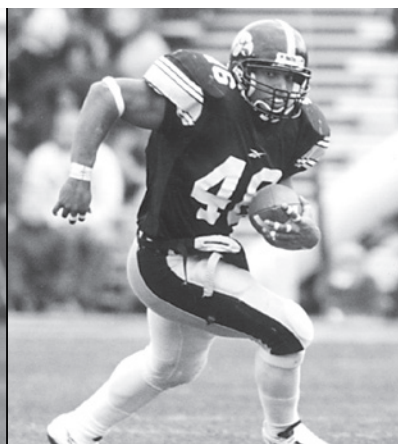

IOWA RUNNING BACKS

LEADERS OF THE IOWA RUSHING ATTACK

DAMIAN SIMS

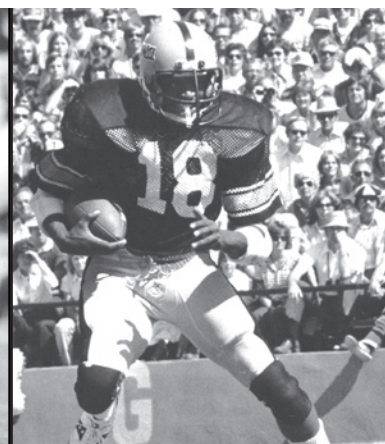

Boynton Beach, FL native Damian Sims was a key part of the Hawkeye rushing attack during his career, often filling in for the injured Albert Young. Sims averaged five yards per carry while rushing for 664 yards in 2006. He added another productive season in 2007, rushing for 499 yards while averaging 4.9 yards per rush. Sims ranks 19th in career rushing with 1,504 yards after teaming with Young to give Iowa a solid one-two punch at running back.

LADELL BETTS

Paving the way for Iowa's Alamo Bowl appearance in 2001, Ladell Betts became the only Iowa player to lead the team in rushing for four straight seasons. Betts surpassed 1,000 yards in both 2000 and 2001. He totaled 3,686 career yards to rank second in career rushing and remains as one of the most durable runners in Iowa history.

Betts has played for the Washington Redskins for eight seasons, averaging over 900 all-purpose yards per season.

DENNIS MOSLEY

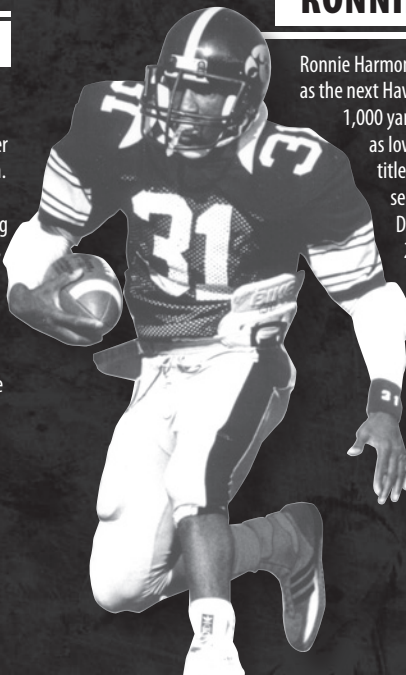

Dennis Mosley, as a senior in 1979, became the first Hawkeye to surpass 1,000 rushing yards in a season. A native of Youngstown, OH, Mosley ended his career with 2,133 rushing yards before being drafted by the Minnesota Vikings. He had a career-best 229 rushing yards in a 1979 win over Iowa State, which remains as the fifth-best single game performance in school history.

SHONN GREENE

Shonn Greene set Iowa records for rushing yards (1,850) and rushing touchdowns (20) in a season in 2008, earning the Doak Walker Award as the top running back in the nation. Greene earned consensus first team all-America honors and he was the only running back in the nation to rush for over 100 yards in every game during the 2008 season.

Greene was named the Most Valuable Player and the Offensive Player of the Year in the Big Ten Conference. He concluded the season by being named Most Outstanding Player in Iowa's 31-10 Outback Bowl win over South Carolina. Greene rushed for 844 yards as an NFL rookie with the New York Jets, including 304 yards in three playoff games.

RONNIE HARMON

Ronnie Harmon followed Dennis Mosley as the next Hawkeye to rush for over 1,000 yards, gaining 1,166 yards as Iowa won the 1985 Big Ten title. Harmon was a first round selection in the 1986 NFL Draft. Along with rushing for 2,271 career yards, Harmon also had 2,045 career receiving yards. He ranks as one of just two players to lead Iowa in rushing and receiving in the same season. He was selected by Buffalo in the first round of the NFL Draft following his senior season.

Iowa's offensive success over the years has included a big, strong and physical offensive line that has led the way for a solid and efficient running game, featuring some of the top running backs in Iowa history.

Kirk Ferentz has been a member of the Iowa coaching staff for 20 seasons, including the last 11 as head coach. During that time, Iowa has featured a player that rushed for over 1,000 yards in seven seasons, including 2008 when Shonn Greene established a school record by rushing for 1,850 yards.

Under Ferentz as Iowa's head coach, the Hawkeyes have featured a 1,000-yard running back in six of 11 years. Last season the freshman duo of Adam Robinson and Brandon Wegher combined to rush for 1,475 yards. During his tenure as the Hawkeye offensive line coach (1981-89), Iowa featured a 1,000-yard rusher in three different seasons.

RICK BAYLESS

Rick Bayless in 1986 gave Iowa back-to-back years with a 1,000-yard rusher when he gained 1,150 yards. Bayless joined the Iowa program as a walk-on and made the most of his opportunity.

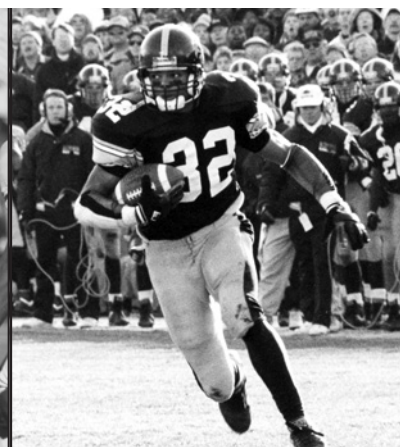

TONY STEWART

Tony Stewart, a native of Vauxhall, NJ, made an immediate impact on the Iowa program, leading the team in rushing as a sophomore in 1988 with 1,036 yards. Stewart was the first Iowa sophomore to gain over 1,000 yards. Despite a major knee injury during his career, Stewart gained 2,562 yards as a Hawkeye and was a senior leader when the Hawkeyes won the 1990 Big Ten title. He was selected by Seattle in the 1991 NFL draft.

NICK BELL

Nick Bell stepped in as Iowa's featured running back in 1990, rushing for 1,090 yards and 12 touchdowns as Iowa was the surprise of the Big Ten. The Hawkeyes earned the league title and a spot in the 1991 Rose Bowl. Bell gave a sign of good things to come during the 1989 season when he rushed for 217 yards and three touchdowns in a win at Wisconsin, the sixth best rushing performance in Iowa history. Bell was a second round selection of the Oakland Raiders.

MIKE SAUNDERS

Mike Saunders took over as Iowa's top running back in 1991, rushing for 1,022 yards as the Hawkeyes reached double figures in wins (10) and advanced to the Holiday Bowl. The Hawkeyes posted a 7-1 record in Big Ten action, losing only to undefeated league champion Michigan.

ALBERT YOUNG

Albert Young surpassed 1,000 yards as a sophomore in 2005 (1,334) when he led the Big Ten in rushing yards per game in conference games. The native of Moorsetown, NJ battled major injuries in his first two seasons before his breakout season. He just missed the 1,000 yard mark in 2007 (968 yards) and ranks third in career rushing yards (3,173) and sixth in career all-purpose yards with 4,121 yards. Young has spent the last two seasons with the NFL's Minnesota Vikings.

FRED RUSSELL

Fred Russell had the luxury in 2002 of running behind one of the most dominating offensive lines in Iowa history. Russell served as Iowa's offensive catalyst as the Hawkeyes won 11 games (and shared the Big Ten title) in 2002 and 10 games in 2003, the best back-to-back seasons in Iowa football history. The native of Inkster, MI, burst on the scene during his sophomore season in 2002, leading Iowa to the 2003 Orange Bowl. Russell rushed 220 times for 1,264 yards that season, despite missing all of two games and parts of others due to injury.

Russell played in every game in 2003, rushing 282 times for 1,355 yards, the third best single season ever at Iowa, at the time. Russell was at his best at the end of the year, rushing for 150 yards in a 37-17 Outback Bowl win over Florida. He was the MVP of the Outback Bowl and later earned team MVP accolades at the Hula Bowl. Russell signed with the Miami Dolphins following his Hawkeye career.

IOWA WIDE RECEIVERS

HAVE PROVEN VERSATILITY

ANDY BRODELL

Ankeny, IA native Andy Brodell battled back from a major injury to rank as one of the top special teams players in the nation as a senior in 2008. The speedy wide receiver ranked second on the team in receptions and yards (36-533-4 TDs) and ended his career with 94 receptions for 1,369 yards and nine touchdowns.

As a punt returner, Brodell averaged 10.6 yards on 36 returns as a senior, ranking third in the Big Ten. His 81-yard return for a touchdown sealed a win over Iowa State and ranks as the 10th longest in school history. Brodell averaged 11.5 yards per return throughout his career and signed an NFL free agent contract with Green Bay.

ED HINKEL

Ed Hinkel completed his career in 2005. The native of Erie, PA was a steady and dependable receiver throughout his four-year career and, like Brodell, was a key player on Iowa's highly-regarded special teams.

As a senior, Hinkel was unable to compete when the Hawkeyes dropped narrow decisions to Michigan (in overtime) and Northwestern. With Hinkel back in action, Iowa won at Wisconsin and closed the season with a home win over Minnesota to earn a fourth straight January bowl invitation. In his final home game, Hinkel had career bests of seven catches for 151 yards while matching a school record with four touchdown receptions.

Hinkel's career numbers include 135 receptions for 1,588 yards and 15 touchdowns. He also recorded a rushing and punt return touchdown. He ranks 15th in career receiving yards and his 15 scoring receptions tie as the third-highest total in Iowa history. Hinkel signed a free agent contract with Indianapolis following his final season at Iowa.

WARREN HOLLOWAY

Warren Holloway, a 2004 senior, stole the show at the end of the 2005 Capital One Bowl in Orlando, FL. A steady player who was never in the spotlight during his career, Holloway was a team player all the way. He had not scored a single touchdown in his Iowa career before the final seconds of the win over LSU. Then, with time running out, he grabbed a 56-yard strike from Drew Tate for a touchdown on the final play of the game -- and his career -- to give Iowa the 30-25 win.

The Iowa football program is known for its outstanding quarterbacks. While nine Hawkeye quarterbacks have earned all-Big Ten honors since 1983, those honors have been earned with a great cast of wide receivers playing a very supporting role. Most recently, quarterbacks Brad Banks (2002) and Drew Tate (2004) earned first team all-Big Ten honors due in part to a solid and dependable group of wide receivers.

The list of outstanding receivers has included highly recruited speedsters to walk-ons who have had their efforts result in the reward of a scholarship. The list includes players who have excelled as kickoff and punt return specialists as well.

MAURICE BROWN

As Iowa worked its way through an undefeated Big Ten season in 2002, wide receivers Maurice Brown and C.J. Jones, a pair of Florida natives, became favorite targets of quarterback Brad Banks. Brown led Iowa receivers in 2002 with 48 receptions for 966 yards and 11 touchdowns, averaging over 20 yards per reception. After fighting the injury bug the following year as a senior (he missed five games), Brown concluded his career with over 1,500 receiving yards before moving on to the NFL.

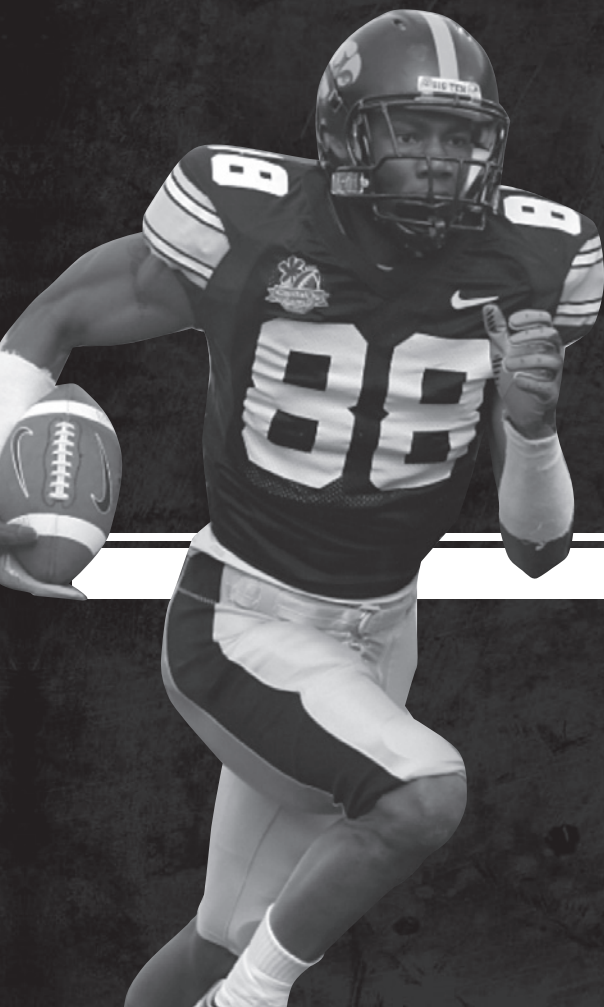

C.J. JONES

C.J. Jones, a senior in 2002 and the cousin of QB Brad Banks, was second among Iowa's wide receivers with 38 catches for 468 yards and nine touchdowns. Jones also averaged 26.6 yards on kickoff returns and 8.7 yards on punt returns. He began the 2003 Orange Bowl in grand fashion, returning the opening kick 100 yards for a touchdown. His play on special teams earned Jones a spot in the NFL following his Hawkeye career as he was a member of the New England Patriots for the 2008 Super Bowl.

KAHLIL HILL

Along with Hinkel, Jones and Kasper, Kahlil Hill made a name for himself as a return man as well as a wide receiver. As a Hawkeye, Hill totaled 152 catches for 1,892 yards and 15 touchdowns. As a senior in 2001 he led Iowa receivers with 59 receptions. He also led the team by averaging 24.3 yards on kickoff returns and 11.9 yards on punt returns. He was named the Mosi Tatupu Special Teams Player of the Year and was drafted by Atlanta in the sixth round of the NFL draft.

KEVIN KASPER

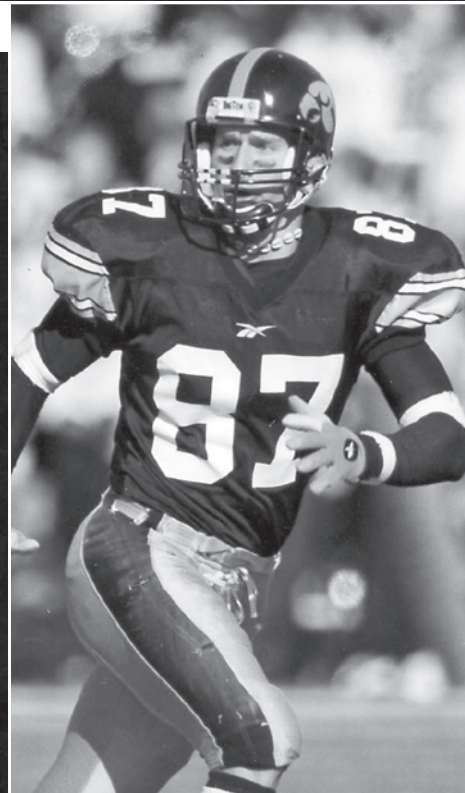

Playing his final two seasons under Coach Kirk Ferentz, Kevin Kasper is another example of a walk-on wide receiver that had his hard work pay off with an NFL contract. The native of Burr Ridge, IL led Iowa in receiving as both a junior and senior.

Kasper enjoyed a record-setting season as a senior with 82 receptions for 1,010 yards. The 82 receptions established a single-season mark for receptions and the 1,010 yards ranks as the second highest single-season total at Iowa. His career numbers include a school-record 157 receptions for 1,974 yards.

Following his senior year Kasper was rewarded by being drafted by the Denver Broncos. He averaged 26.6 yards on kickoff returns for the Broncos in 2001, he led both Denver and Arizona in KO returns in 2002 and played for Arizona in 2003. Kasper concluded the 2004 season with the Super Bowl champion New England Patriots.

CLINTON SOLOMON

Clinton Solomon, another 2005 senior, matched Hinkel with seven touchdown receptions that season. Solomon led the team with 800 receiving yards on 46 catches and proved to be a dangerous deep threat throughout his career. As a junior Solomon played a key role in Iowa's 2004 championship season, collecting 58 receptions for 905 yards and six scores. It was Solomon's 56-yard catch and run on the third play of the game that started Iowa on the way to its dramatic 30-25 win over LSU in the 2005 Capital One Bowl.

IOWA TIGHT ENDS

EARN BIG TEN RECOGNITION

TONY MOEAKI

Tony Moeaki earned first team all-Big Ten honors as a senior in 2009, helping the Hawkeyes to an 11-2 overall record and 24-14 win in the FedEx Orange Bowl. He was a semi-finalist for the John Mackey Award as the top tight end in the nation. Moeaki had 30 receptions for 387 yards despite missing three games in his senior year. He completed his career with 76 receptions for 953 yards and 11 touchdowns.

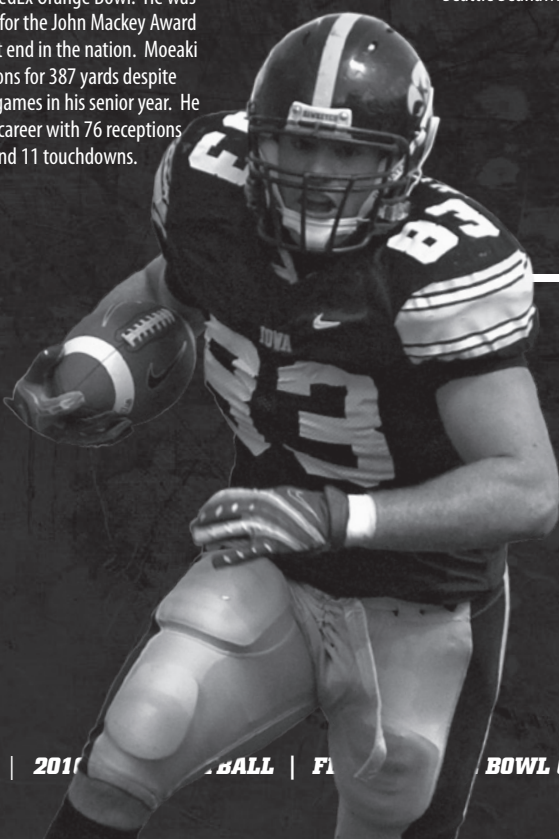

TONY JACKSON

Tony Jackson started all 12 games during Iowa's 2004 championship season. He was a solid blocker with soft hands and was drafted by the Seattle Seahawks in the 2005 NFL draft.

ZERON FLEMISTER

Zeron Flemister played in the NFL for six seasons, first with Washington and later with New England and Oakland. A native of Sioux City, Iowa, he was a high school sprint champion. Despite battling injuries throughout his Hawkeye career, Flemister (6-5, 240) had the size and speed that NFL scouts look for in tight end prospects. Flemister signed an NFL contract with Washington following his senior season. He saw considerable action for the Redskins for three seasons before joining the Oakland Raiders.

BRANDON MYERS

Brandon Myers improved with age throughout his Hawkeye career, improving his statistics with each season. Myers joined the Iowa program after leading his Prairie City-Monroe high school basketball team to a state championship. After catching 21 passes for 208 yards and five touchdowns as a junior, Myers enjoyed his best season as a senior. He earned first team all-Big Ten honors in 2008 after catching 34 passes for 441 yards and four touchdowns. Myers led the team in scoring receptions as a junior and tied for the team lead as a senior, helping the Hawkeyes to a 9-4 overall record and Outback Bowl victory. Myers was selected by Oakland in the sixth round of the 2009 NFL draft.

Over the past 11 years, the tight end position has played a key role in the success of the Iowa offense. Under Coach Kirk Ferentz and his staff, the role of the Hawkeye tight end has followed the rich tradition of outstanding tight end play that was established by the likes of Jonathan Hayes and Marv Cook, who both earned all-America honors.

Over the past 11 seasons, seven Iowa tight ends have been selected in the NFL draft, including 2003 first round draft choice Dallas Clark. Austin Wheatley was a fifth round selection (2000), Erik Jensen was taken in the seventh round (2004), Tony Jackson was a sixth round selection (2005), Scott Chandler was taken in the fourth round of the 2007 draft, Brandon Myers was selected by Oakland in the sixth in 2009 and Tony Moeaki was a third round selection of the Kansas City Chiefs in the most recent draft. An eighth tight end, Zeron Flemister, joined the NFL after signing a free agent contract and enjoyed a successful career in professional football.

AUSTIN WHEATLEY

Austin Wheatley concluded his Iowa career under Kirk Ferentz. Although he was hampered by injuries throughout his final season, Wheatley (6-5, 250) had the size and speed to draw attention of NFL scouts. Wheatley was selected by New Orleans in the fifth round of the NFL draft.

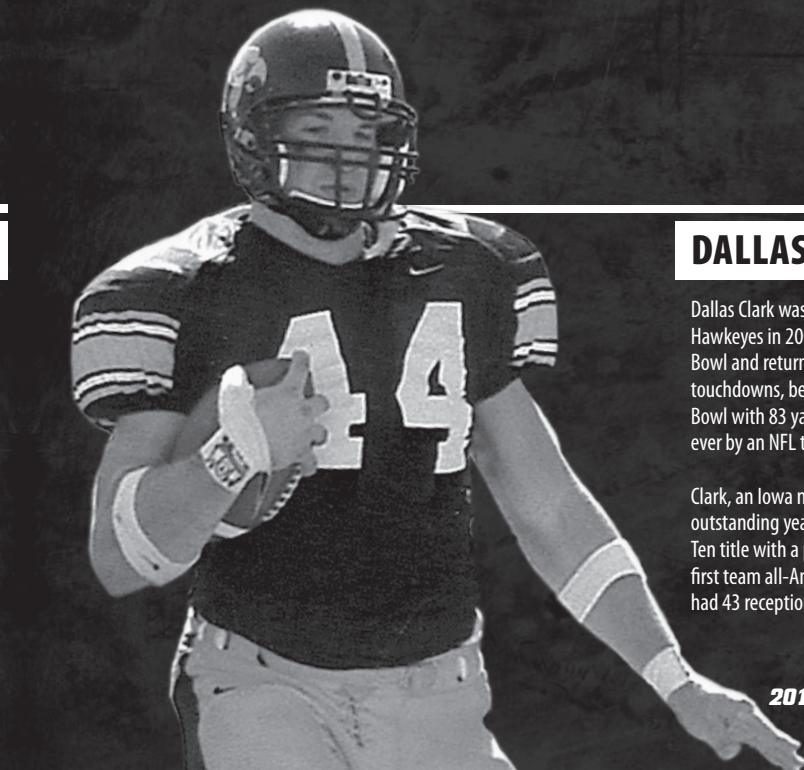

ERIK JENSEN

Erik Jensen, a steady performer throughout his career, was known more for his blocking than his receiving. That reputation and the respect NFL teams have for the Iowa system, made Jensen a fifth round draft choice of the St. Louis Rams in the 2004 NFL draft. Jensen later earned a Super Bowl ring as a member of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

SCOTT CHANDLER

Scott Chandler, who played wide receiver as a true freshman, moved to tight end for his final three seasons and made the most of his opportunity as he gained experience with his new position. Chandler had his best season as a senior, grabbing 46 passes for 591 yards and six touchdowns. He was selected by San Diego in the fourth round of the NFL draft.

DALLAS CLARK

Dallas Clark was a first round selection of the Indianapolis Colts after earning consensus all-America honors with the Hawkeyes in 2002. His role has expanded in each of his seven seasons in the NFL, as he helped the Colts win the 2007 Super Bowl and return to the 2010 Super Bowl. Clark earned all-Pro honors in 2009. He had 100 receptions for 1,106 yards and 10 touchdowns, becoming the second tight end in NFL history with 100 receptions in a season. He led all receivers in the Super Bowl with 83 yards on seven receptions. His career statistics in post-season play (64-847) are the most receptions and yards ever by an NFL tight end.

Clark, an Iowa native, joined the Hawkeye program as a walk-on. Moving to tight end from linebacker, Clark had two outstanding years at Iowa before heading to the NFL following his junior season. As a junior Clark helped Iowa earn the Big Ten title with a perfect 8-0 record. Clark earned consensus all-America honors while being named to no fewer than seven first team all-America squads. He earned the John Mackey Award as the top tight end in the nation. In his final year Clark had 43 receptions for 742 yards, raising his two-year career totals to 81 receptions for 1,281 yards and eight touchdowns.

IOWA OFFENSIVE LINEMEN

SETH OLSEN

Seth Olsen started 34 games during his Hawkeye career, showing the versatility to play both the guard and tackle positions. As a senior Olsen was named first team all-Big Ten by both the league coaches and media after leading the way for RB Shonn Greene to rush for a school-record 1,850 yards. Olsen earned all-America recognition and was also named academic all-Big Ten. The native of Omaha, NE was selected by Denver in the fourth round of the 2009 NFL draft and saw action for the Broncos as a rookie.

ERIC STEINBACH

Eric Steinbach was named the Big Ten Offensive Lineman of the Year in 2002 as Iowa posted an 11-2 overall record and a perfect 8-0 mark in the Big Ten. Steinbach was the first player selected in the second round of the 2003 NFL draft. After several productive seasons in Cincinnati, Steinbach is in the midst of a multi-year contract with the Cleveland Browns.

MARSHAL YANDA

Marshal Yanda was selected in the third round of the 2007 NFL draft. After playing two seasons in junior college, the durable Anamosa, IA native started every game during his two-year Hawkeye career. Yanda made an immediate impression in Baltimore, seeing action in all 16 games as a rookie while starting 12 games.

ROBERT GALLERY

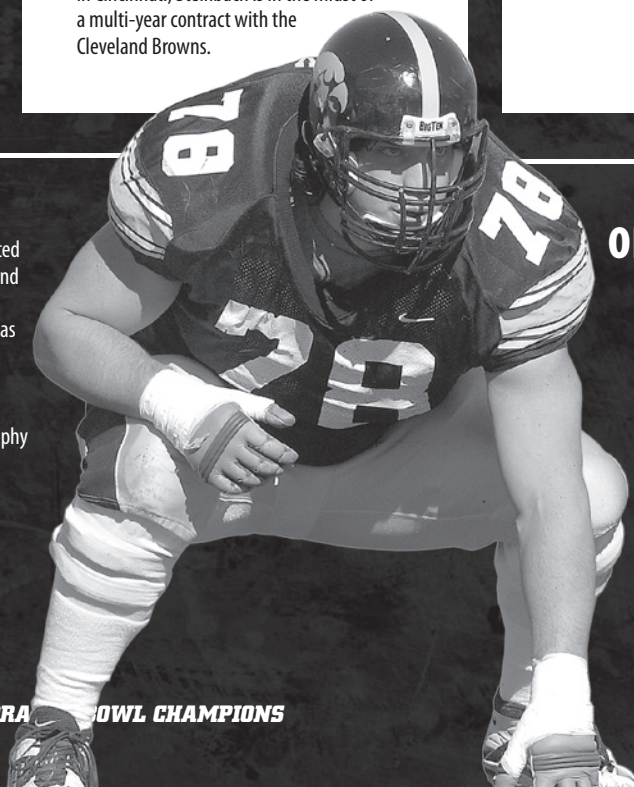

The list of Iowa offensive linemen selected recently is highlighted by Robert Gallery, Iowa's left tackle from 2001-03 and the second player selected in the 2004 NFL Draft. Gallery's selection by Oakland capped an outstanding senior year in which Gallery was awarded the Outland Trophy as the best lineman in the nation while earning consensus all-America honors.

Gallery became the third Iowa lineman to earn the Outland Trophy and he is the fifth Hawkeye to earn the Big Ten Lineman of the Year award.

"O-LINE UNIVERSITY"

It isn't listed as an official major in the catalogue, but playing a position in the offensive line for the Hawkeye football team while earning a degree from the University of Iowa has certainly helped a large number of Iowa football graduates earn a job after college -- a high-profile, well-paying job in the National Football League.

The success of Iowa's offensive linemen, both on the college and professional level, is well documented. Under the direction of Hayden Fry and current Coach Kirk Ferentz, 28 Hawkeye offensive linemen have been drafted by NFL teams. That list includes 10 players being selected in the last eight years.

While Ferentz has guided the Iowa program for the past 11 seasons, he also served as Iowa's offensive line coach under Fry for nine seasons (1981-89), molding many of the players who went on to enjoy successful careers in the NFL. Under Ferentz, Iowa featured the Big Ten Offensive Lineman of the Year in both 1985 and 1986.

As the Hawkeye head coach, Ferentz has seen Iowa players claim the same honor in 2002, 2003 and 2009. Only one Big Ten opponent has had more offensive linemen earn the league honor. When Iowa earned the Big Ten title in 2002, four of five starting offensive linemen were seniors. Three of those seniors were selected in the first three rounds of the 2003 NFL draft, while the fourth signed an NFL free agent contract.

Iowa's list of offensive linemen who have enjoyed success in the NFL has included John Alt, who enjoyed a 13-year career with the Kansas City Chiefs, Mike Haight, who enjoyed a seven-year NFL career, Ross Verba, a 1997 first round selection, Mark Bortz (Chicago), Joe Devlin (Buffalo), Jay Hilgenberg (Chicago) and Joel Hilgenberg (New Orleans). Joel Hilgenberg was recently inducted into the New Orleans Saints Hall of Fame.

Center Casey Wiegmann, who earned all-Big Ten recognition in 1995, signed an NFL contract in the first few days following the 1996 draft. Wiegmann started the majority of games for the Chicago Bears in 1998 and has started 143 straight games for Kansas City (six years) and Denver (two years) over the past eight seasons, the longest current streak in the NFL. Wiegmann was named to the Pro Bowl following the 2008 season.

BRYAN BULAGA

Bryan Bulaga was named the Big Ten's Offensive Lineman of the Year in 2009 as Iowa posted an 11-2 overall record. Bulaga was named first team all-America by Sporting News and second team by the Associated Press, despite missing three games in the first month of the season. The left tackle declared for the NFL draft following his junior season and was selected by Green Bay with the 23rd pick in the first round of the most recent NFL draft.

BRUCE NELSON

Center Bruce Nelson started every game during his four-year playing career at Iowa (1999-02). Nelson redshirted for one season after joining the Hawkeye as a walk-on before moving into the starting line-up in his very first game. As a senior in 2002 Nelson helped the Hawkeyes win the Big Ten before being selected in the second round of the 2003 NFL draft.

KYLE CALLOWAY

Kyle Calloway proved to be a very dependable member of Iowa's offensive line before being drafted in the sixth round of the 2010 NFL draft by the Buffalo Bills. Calloway started 37 games throughout his Iowa career, earning second team all-Big Ten honors as a senior after the Hawkeyes posted an 11-2 overall record and defeated Georgia Tech in the FedEx Orange Bowl. Proving his versatility, Calloway moved to right guard in Iowa's Orange Bowl win after starting the entire regular season at right tackle.

PETE MCMAHON

Tackle Pete McMahon, a former walk-on, followed Robert Gallery's footsteps following the 2004 season. McMahon started every game in the offensive line as a senior, helping the Hawkeyes earn their second Big Ten title in three seasons. McMahon was rewarded for his play by being drafted in the sixth round -- also by the Oakland Raiders. Prior to joining the NFL, McMahon had a standout season while playing for Hamburg in the NFL Europe League. McMahon earned all-Europe recognition after starting all 11 games in helping his team to an 8-3 overall record. Hamburg then defeated Frankfurt to win the 2007 World Bowl, the Super Bowl of NFL Europe.

"I owe all of my success at the University of Iowa and in the NFL to Coach Ferentz and Coach Fry. Kirk was an excellent technician, teacher and motivator. His knowledge of the game, and especially of offensive line play, was a great benefit to me and my career, and his expertise will assure future success for Iowa's offensive linemen."

IOWA DEFENSIVE LINEMEN

MITCH KING

Moving from linebacker to tackle as a redshirt freshman, Mitch King made the most of his opportunity. King earned his way into the starting line-up and had an outstanding career, including being named Big Ten Defensive Lineman of the Year as a senior in 2008. King was named to several first and second team all-America teams following his final season. He signed an NFL free agent contract with Tennessee immediately following the 2009 NFL draft.

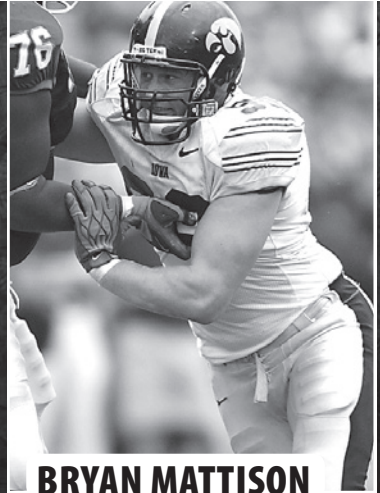

MATT KROUL

Mt. Vernon native Matt Kroul set an Iowa record by starting all 50 games during his Hawkeye career. In fact, he never missed a practice. Kroul was one of the most consistent and dependable performers for the Hawkeyes. He earned all-Big Ten honors on the field and academic all-Big Ten recognition for his academic success. Kroul signed a free agent contract with the New York Jets immediately following the 2009 NFL draft.

KEN IWEBEMA

Ken Iwebema was a three-year starter at defensive end for the Hawkeyes, completing his career in 2007. Iwebema was selected by Arizona in the fourth round of the 2008 NFL draft and made the most of his opportunity in his rookie season. Playing under former Iowa assistant Ron Aiken in Arizona, Iwebema earned a spot with the Cardinals and played in the 2009 Super Bowl to end his rookie season.

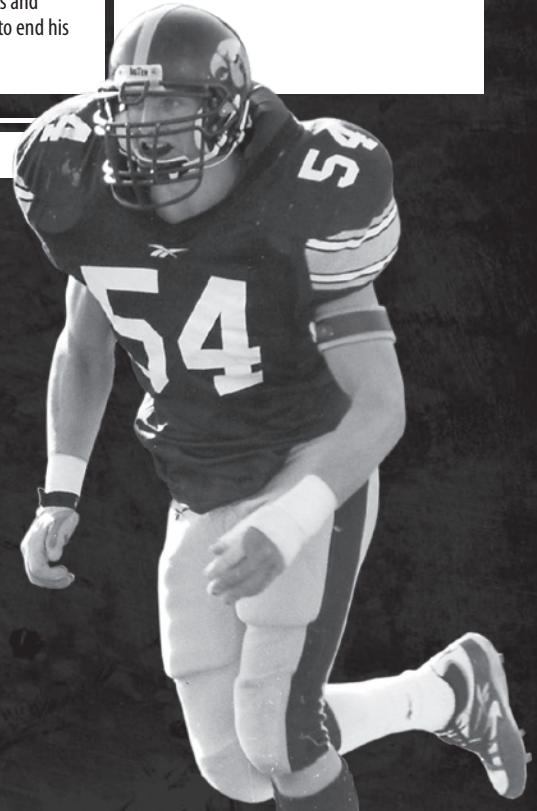

BRYAN MATTISON

Defensive end Bryan Mattison started all 37 games over his final three seasons after helping the Hawkeyes win the Big Ten title as a redshirt freshman. He signed a free agent contract with the New York Jets following his Iowa career and now plays in the offensive line for the Baltimore Ravens.

AARON KAMPMAN

Defensive lineman Aaron Kampman was selected in the fifth round of the 2002 NFL Draft by the Green Bay Packers. Playing well at the end of the 2003 season, Kampman totaled 14 solo tackles in Green Bay's two playoff games that season. In 2005, Kampman started all 16 games, recording a career-high 105 tackles. He was even more impressive in 2006 when he earned all-Pro recognition. He led the NFC with 15.5 sacks, third best in Packer history, and recorded 113 tackles. He repeated as an all-Pro in 2007 and will play in Jacksonville in 2010.

FOLLOWING A GREAT TRADITION

When talk centers on the success of the Iowa football program over the past 30 years, the conversation has to include the play of the guys in the trenches – the defensive linemen. It doesn't matter if it's Hawkeye fans who have seen their team win five Big Ten titles, or professional coaches and scouts talking about playing in the NFL, the conversation usually includes Iowa Hawkeyes.

The value of strong play by members of the defensive line has been evident in Iowa's success over the last 11 seasons under Kirk Ferentz. Iowa has won 20 games over the past two seasons, thanks in large part to the play of the Hawkeye defense. The Hawkeyes ranked among the national leaders in fewest yards and fewest touchdowns allowed in both 2008 (9-4) and 2009 (11-2), ending each season with a January bowl win.

In 2009, all four of Iowa's defensive linemen were underclassmen as Iowa ranked among the top 10 in the nation in scoring defense, pass defense and total defense.

Two standout senior tackles, Mitch King and Matt Kroul, led the way in 2008. The two combined to start 95 games over four seasons, with Kroul setting a school record with 50 consecutive starts, every game in his career. Each totaled over 200 career tackles and King was named the 2008 Big Ten Defensive Lineman of the Year.

Iowa's success along the defensive front is well documented. For example, when the Big Ten Conference initiated its Big Ten Lineman of the Year Award in 1984, it did so by honoring the Hawkeyes' Paul Hufford. Dave Haight, Leroy Smith, and Jared DeVries have followed in the footsteps of Hufford, all being named the best in the Big Ten Conference. King, in 2008, became the fifth Hawkeye to earn the honor. Just one Big Ten opponent has had more defensive lineman recognized with the league honor.

HOWARD HODGES

Defensive end Howard Hodges teamed with Jared Clauss in a defensive front that did the dirty work as Iowa posted a 10-3 record in 2003, concluding the season with an Outback Bowl win over Florida. Hodges signed an NFL free agent contract with San Diego following his senior season in 2003.

JARED CLAUSS

Jared Clauss was a senior starter at defensive tackle in 2003 as the Hawkeyes posted a 10-3 overall record. Iowa led the Big Ten in scoring defense and ranked seventh nationally. Iowa ranked eighth in the nation in scoring defense and concluded the year with a win over Florida in the 2004 Outback Bowl. Clauss was drafted by Tennessee in the 2004 NFL draft and played in the NFL for two seasons.

COLIN COLE

Tackle Colin Cole was a first team all-Big Ten selection who earned second team all-America honors as Iowa posted a perfect 8-0 Big Ten record in 2002. Three of Iowa's four interior defensive linemen, who helped the Hawkeyes rank fifth nationally in rushing defense, earned all-conference honors as Iowa earned a spot in the 2003 Orange Bowl and posted an 11-2 overall record. Cole played four seasons in Green Bay before signing a multi-year contract with Seattle prior to the 2009 season.

DERRICK ROBINSON

End Derreck Robinson teamed with Matt Roth and Jonathan Babineaux as part of Iowa's dominant defensive line in 2004 as the Hawkeyes won their second Big Ten title in three seasons. Robinson signed an NFL free agent contract with San Diego and had two productive seasons with the Chargers. He also played for Miami and Dallas before joining the Cleveland Browns.

MATT ROTH AND JONATHAN BABINEAUX

End Matt Roth (31) and tackle Jonathan Babineaux (45) led Iowa's defensive front as the Hawkeyes earned the 2004 Big Ten title and defeated LSU in the 2005 Capital One Bowl. Roth joined the Iowa program as a linebacker before moving to defensive end early in his career. So dominant was Roth as a senior, he was the only defensive player in the Big Ten in 2004 to be a unanimous first team selection on the all-conference team voted on by league coaches. He played for the Miami Dolphins after being a second round selection in the 2005 NFL draft and now plays for the Cleveland Browns.

Babineaux, like Roth, was a second round selection in the 2005 NFL draft after an outstanding senior season in 2004. Moving from fullback to defensive tackle, Babineaux proved to be one of the quickest down linemen to play for the Hawkeyes, earning all-America honors as a senior. Since being drafted he has had five productive seasons with the Atlanta Falcons. Babineaux played in every game for the Falcons in his first two seasons and has been a key defensive player in each of his five seasons.

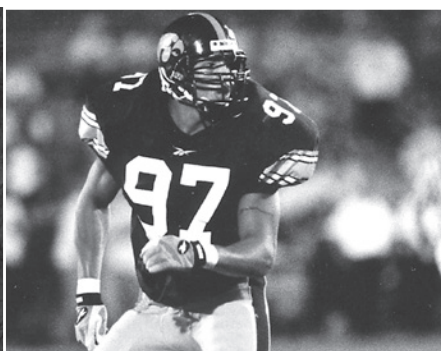

HAWKEYE LINEBACKERS

ARE DEFENSIVE LEADERS

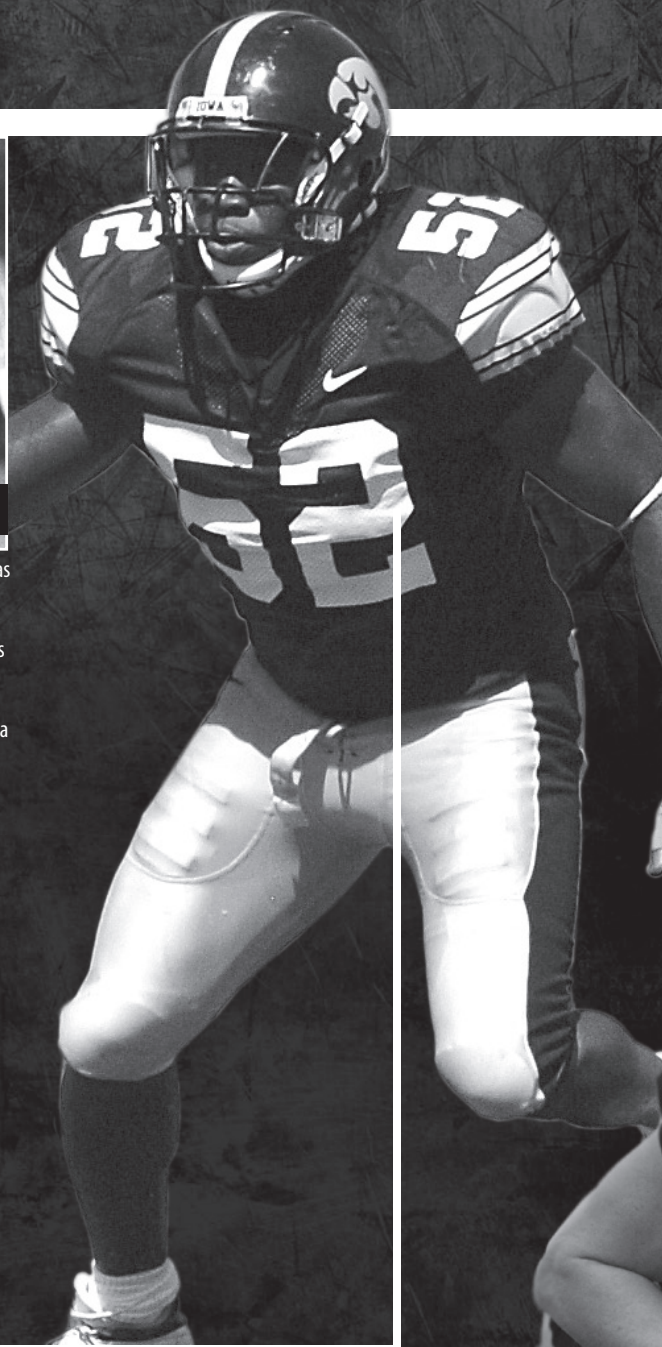

A.J. EDDS

Outside linebacker A.J. Edds was a standout performer on the field and in the classroom during his four-year career. Edds played as a true freshman and became a fixture in the Iowa defense while collecting 226 career tackles. He earned second team all-Big Ten honors as a senior and earned academic all-Big Ten recognition for three consecutive years. He was selected for the Senior Bowl after helping Iowa to an 11-2 record in 2009 and was selected by Miami in the fourth round of the most recent NFL draft.

LEVAR WOODS

As the Kirk Ferentz era began at Iowa, one of the leaders was OLB LeVar Woods. Woods led the team in tackles in 2000, helping set the foundation for an Iowa defense that has ranked among the best in the nation in recent years. Woods signed an NFL contract with the Arizona Cardinals, where he played four seasons. Woods also played for the Detroit Lions and Tennessee Titans before returning to Iowa City as a member of the Hawkeye football staff.

ABDUL HODGE

Abdul Hodge, from Fort Lauderdale, FL, led the Big Ten in tackles in 2003 with 141 stops. He was first team all-Big Ten as a sophomore and junior, second team as a senior while starting all 37 games over the three seasons. Hodge ranks third on Iowa's career tackle chart with 453 tackles and he holds the record for tackles in a game for both the Capital One Bowl and the Outback Bowl. He was selected by Green Bay in the third round of the NFL draft. Hodge played in eight games and earned one start as a rookie, recording 12 tackles in that contest against Seattle. He missed the 2007 season due to injury before joining the Cincinnati Bengals the last two seasons.

CHAD GREENWAY

Chad Greenway, from Mt. Vernon, SD, earned first team all-conference honors as a junior and senior and was an all-America selection in his final year. His 416 tackles rank fifth on Iowa's career chart. He was a first round selection of the Minnesota Vikings in the 2006 NFL draft, but missed the entire season after suffering a knee injury in a pre-season exhibition game. Greenway made an impact with the Vikings in the last three seasons. After recording 130 tackles in 2007, Greenway led the team with 150 tackles in 2008 and 99 tackles in 2009. He also led the team in tackles in the playoffs a year ago.

Defensive players looking for a challenge should consider playing linebacker for the Iowa Hawkeyes. Iowa ranks among the Big Ten's best in total defense over the past three decades, and a major reason for that ranking is the outstanding play of the Hawkeye linebackers throughout the years.

Larry Station (1982-85) set the standard for linebacker play for the Hawkeyes, as he twice earned first team all-America honors. Station also excelled in the classroom, earning academic all-America honors as well in each of his final two seasons. Station was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 2009.

More recently, in the past 11 seasons under Coach Kirk Ferentz, Iowa linebackers have continued to excel. As the Hawkeyes participated in eight bowl games in the past nine seasons, Iowa's linebackers have played a key role in that success, both as defensive leaders and as key special team performers. Iowa's standout defensive unit in 2009 was led by senior linebackers Pat Angerer and A.J. Edds.

MIKE KLINKENBORG

Mike Klinkenborg was a Hawkeye senior in 2007. Klinkenborg earned first team academic all-America honors in each of his last two seasons. In 2007 he was named a National Football Foundation Scholar-Athlete and was one of 15 finalists for the prestigious Draddy Award. On the field, he ranked third on the team in tackles, despite missing three games due to injury and playing the final three games with a broken bone in his right hand. He totaled 224 tackles during his Hawkeye career.

PAT ANGERER

Pat Angerer led Iowa in tackles in both 2008 and 2009, ranking among national leaders each season. He concluded his career with 258 tackles. He was a key reason Iowa ranked among the top 10 in the nation in scoring defense, pass defense and total defense. Angerer was named first team all-America by the Football Writers Association of America and was one of five finalists for the Bronko Nagurski Award. He was drafted by Indianapolis in the second round of the 2010 NFL draft.

FRED BARR

Fred Barr, a senior who led Iowa in tackles in 2002, earned first team all-Big Ten honors as Iowa posted an 8-0 record in league play while earning the Big Ten title. Barr ended his career with 376 career tackles and ranks sixth on Iowa's career list. Barr signed an NFL contract with the Tennessee Titans following the 2003 NFL draft.

ED MILES

Ed Miles moved into the starting spot at the outside linebacker position in 2005 and played the weak side position in 2006. A native of Tallahassee, FL, Miles ranked eighth in the Big Ten in tackles as a senior and started every game over his final two seasons. Miles signed a free agent contract with the Miami Dolphins and saw action in 11 of 16 games in 2007, recording 17 tackles and a forced fumble.

MIKE HUMPAL

Mike Humpal moved into the starting line-up his final two seasons, playing outside linebacker as a junior before moving to the weak side position as a senior in 2007. He earned co-MVP honors as a senior after leading the team with 123 tackles, which ranked 25th nationally.

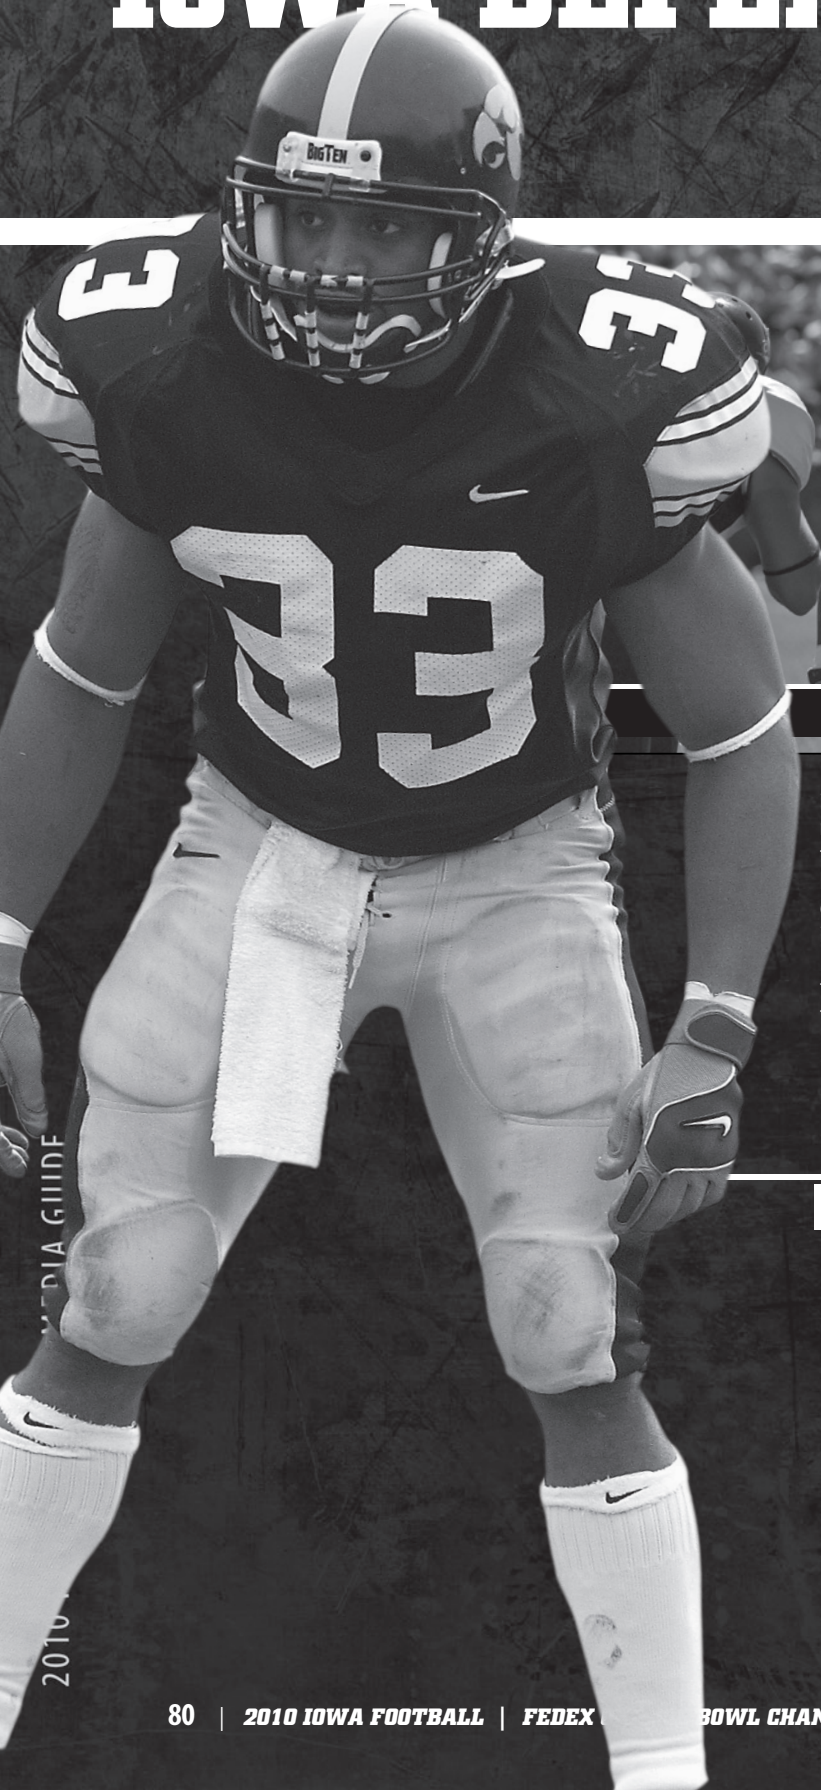

Humpal earned second team all-Big Ten recognition and was named the Big Ten Conference and Bronko Nagurski national Player of the Week for his play (18 tackles) in an upset win over Illinois. He was later selected by Pittsburgh in the sixth round of the 2008 NFL draft.

IOWA DEFENSIVE BACKS

REFLECT HARD-HITTING ACTION

BRADLEY FLETCHER

Bradley Fletcher completed his Iowa career in 2008 as the Hawkeyes posted a 9-4 record that included an impressive win in the 2009 Outback Bowl. Fletcher played his best football as a senior, starting all 13 games while collecting 60 tackles and three interceptions. Fletcher continued to impress NFL scouts following the season and was a third round selection of the St. Louis Rams in the 2009 NFL draft.

JOVON JOHNSON

Like Sanders, Jovon Johnson is a native of Erie, PA who was lightly recruited. And again, the Hawkeye coaching staff was rewarded for having faith in a tough, hard-nosed player. Johnson earned his way into the starting lineup in his first season and started 38 games in his four seasons. His 17 career interceptions ranks third on Iowa's career list, just one shy of career leaders Nile Kinnick and Devon Mitchell. He earned first team all-Big Ten honors as a senior. Johnson played for both Pittsburgh and the New York Jets in the NFL.

BOB SANDERS

Bob Sanders joined the Indianapolis Colts in the NFL, earning all-Pro honors and a spot in the Pro Bowl in 2005 in just his second season. In 2006 he played a major role during the playoffs in helping the Colts win the Super Bowl. He continued to gain recognition for his solid play and leadership in 2007, earning NFL Defensive Player of the Year honors. Sanders missed more than half of the 2008 season due to injury, but returned to record a season high 13 tackles vs. New England and 10 tackles vs. San Diego in the playoffs. He was forced to miss the majority of the 2009 season due to injuries as well.

MATT BOWEN

After joining the Iowa program as a quarterback, Matt Bowen successfully made the switch to the defensive secondary. Bowen came to Iowa from Glen Ellyn, IL, and led the team in tackles in each of his final two seasons. His 70-yard interception for a touchdown against Indiana in 1997 ranks as one of the longest in Iowa history. Bowen ended his Hawkeye career with 222 tackles. He was selected in the sixth round of the 2000 NFL Draft by the St. Louis Rams. After one season in St. Louis, he moved on to the Green Bay Packers in 2001 and 2002. After starting six games during the 2002 season, Bowen signed a multi-year contract with the Washington Redskins and started all 16 games in 2003. Bowen started the first five games of the 2004 season in Washington before a knee injury ended his season.

The University of Iowa's success on the football field has been built on a hard-hitting, aggressive style of play, especially on defense. When the Hawkeyes won three Big Ten championships between 1980 and 1990, the play of the defense was a major reason for the success.

That was the case as well in 2002 and 2004, as the Hawkeyes posted a combined Big Ten record of 15-1 in those two seasons. Iowa posted a perfect 8-0 Big Ten record (11-2 overall) in 2002 and a 7-1 league mark record in 2004, winning its final seven Big Ten games. Iowa ranked second in the Big Ten in rushing defense in both 2002 and 2003 and led the league in 2004.

More recently, Iowa's defense in 2009 ranked third nationally in pass efficiency defense and fourth in pass defense. The Hawkeyes tied for fifth in interceptions and ranked eighth in scoring defense and 10th in total defense. Iowa tied a school record with 23 interceptions in 2008 while ranking fifth in the nation in scoring defense and 12th in total defense.

While Iowa has featured strong play in all phases of its defense, the hard-hitting style of play displayed by the Hawkeye secondary has often set the tone for Iowa's success. Tough, physical play, displayed by the likes of Merton Hanks, Tom Knight, Damien Robinson, Kerry Cooks, Matt Bowen, Derek Pagel, Sean Considine, Jovon Johnson, Charles Godfrey and Bradley Fletcher has helped build Iowa's defensive reputation.

But, when talking about Iowa's defense under Kirk Ferentz, you have to begin with Bob Sanders. Lightly recruited out of Erie, PA, Sanders made an immediate impact on the Iowa defense. Moving into the starting line-up for the final four games of his freshman season, Sanders made an impact as the Hawkeyes defeated Penn State and Northwestern in two of its final three games.

That success carried over to his next three seasons, as Iowa won the Alamo Bowl in 2001, earned a bid to the 2003 Orange Bowl after winning the 2002 Big Ten title and posted a 10-3 record in 2003, including a win in the 2004 Outback Bowl. From the time Sanders was first in Iowa's starting line-up, through the 2003 season, the Hawkeyes posted a 30-12 record.

DEREK PAGEL

Derek Pagel teamed with Bob Sanders to give Iowa two outstanding safeties. Pagel is an Iowa native who joined the program as a walk-on. Pagel started the final five games of his junior year and all 13 games during Iowa's 2002 championship season. After earning second team all-Big Ten honors in his final season, Pagel was selected by the New York Jets in the fifth round of the 2003 NFL draft. He played for both the Jets and Dallas Cowboys before a shoulder injury forced his retirement from professional football.

SEAN CONSIDINE

Sean Considine, as an understudy to Bob Sanders and Derek Pagel, learned his lessons well. A great special teams player throughout his career, Considine had his best season as a senior in 2004 as a part of Iowa's veteran defense. Along with being a solid defender, Considine continued his solid play on special teams, concluding his career with a touchdown return of a blocked punt in the 2005 Capital One Bowl. As the first player selected by Philadelphia in the fourth round of the 2005 NFL draft, Considine became the fourth Iowa safety under Kirk Ferentz to be selected in the NFL draft.

AMARI SPIVEY

Amari Spivey started every game over the past two seasons for the Hawkeyes, helping Iowa post a 20-6 overall record while concluding each season with a January bowl victory. Spivey declared for the NFL draft following his junior season and was selected by Detroit in the third round of the 2010 NFL draft. He earned first team all-Big Ten honors from league coaches as a junior and earned honorable mention all-America recognition from Pro Football Weekly.

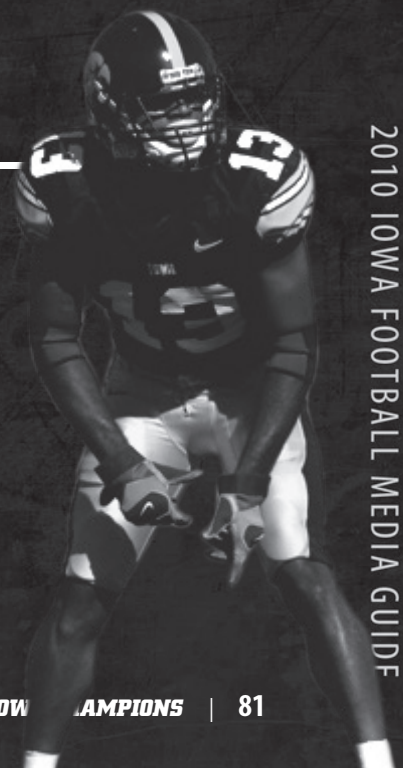

MARCUS PASCHAL

Marcus Paschal performed well as a safety in 2005 and 2006, coming back from a major knee injury suffered in the 2005 Capital One Bowl. Paschal was also a key contributor on special teams throughout his career. Paschal signed an NFL free agent contract with Philadelphia following the 2007 NFL draft and is now with the Baltimore Ravens.

CHARLES GODFREY

Charles Godfrey moved to cornerback for his final two seasons at Iowa and developed into an outstanding defender. Godfrey led the Hawkeyes with five interceptions in 2007 and ranked fifth on the team in tackles (65) while starting all 12 games. Godfrey was the first Hawkeye selected in the 2008 NFL draft, being selected by Carolina in the third round. He started all 16 games in which he played as a rookie, collecting 61 tackles and a pass interception, before starting 11 games a year ago.

IOWA'S KICKING GAME

REGGIE ROBY

Reggie Roby, a Waterloo native, was one of the first key in-state recruits signed by Coach Hayden Fry, as he was a member of Coach Fry's first recruiting class. Roby paid off immediately, earning the punting job and becoming a favorite for Hawkeye fans when he trotted on the field.

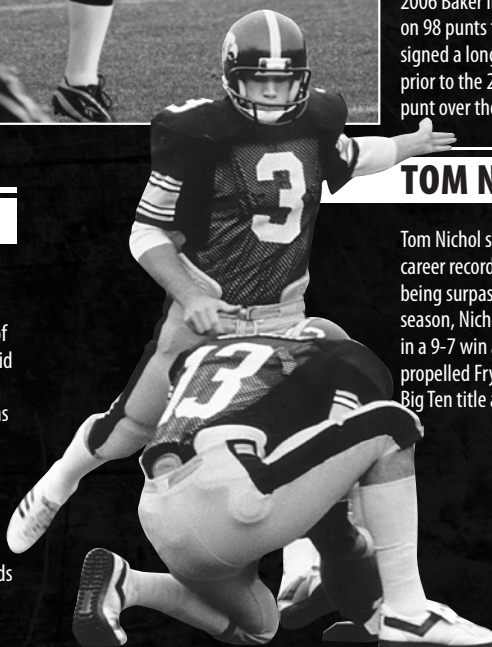

His punting numbers, some 25 years following the completion of his career, still rank among the all-time best ever. He averaged 49.8 yards per kick in 1981, including a single-game best of 55.8 yards in a 10-7 win over Nebraska. His career average stands at 45.4 yards per punt. Roby, at one time, held NCAA records for punting average in a game, season and career.

Roby earned nearly every honor possible during his Hawkeye career. He twice earned first team all-America honors and he was a consensus selection in 1981. He was all-Big Ten as a junior and senior and was selected in the sixth round of the NFL draft following his final season. Roby punted in the NFL from 1983-1998. In 2000, he was named to the Walter Camp Foundation all-Decade College Football Team.

JASON BAKER

Jason Baker stepped in to handle Iowa's punting duties from 1997 through 2000. Baker averaged 42.3 yards per punt as a junior and 42.5 yards per kick as a senior. He holds Iowa records for punts in a career (272) and career punting yardage (11,304) and set a Sun Bowl record with a 76-yard punt vs. Arizona State in the 1997 Sun Bowl. The Ft. Wayne, IN, native signed an NFL contract with San Francisco for the 2001 season and handled all of the 49er punting duties during his rookie season. He later joined Kansas City and handled all punting duties for the Chiefs in 2003. Baker joined Carolina for the 2005 season, averaging 43.3 yards per kick as the Panthers advanced to the NFC championship game. In 2006 Baker improved his average to 45.7 yards on 98 punts to rank sixth in the NFL. Baker signed a long-term contract with the Panthers prior to the 2007 season, averaging 44 yards per punt over the last three seasons.

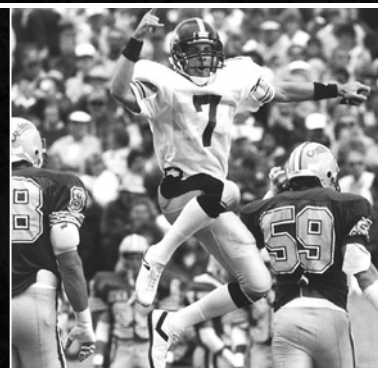

TOM NICHOL

Tom Nichol scored 277 career points and held Iowa's career records for PATs and PAT attempts until being surpassed by Nate Kaeding. In his freshman season, Nichol stepped up to make three field goals in a 9-7 win at Michigan in 1981, a victory that propelled Fry and the Hawkeyes to a share of the Big Ten title and a berth in the 1982 Rose Bowl.

ROB HOUGHTLIN

Rob Houghtlin ranks second in career scoring behind Nate Kaeding, despite kicking for the Hawkeyes for just three seasons. In his first year at Iowa, Houghtlin kicked a 29-yard field goal on the final play of the game to lift top-ranked Iowa to a 12-10 win over second-ranked Michigan in Kinnick Stadium. Iowa would earn a share of the Big Ten title and a second invitation to the Rose Bowl under Hayden Fry.

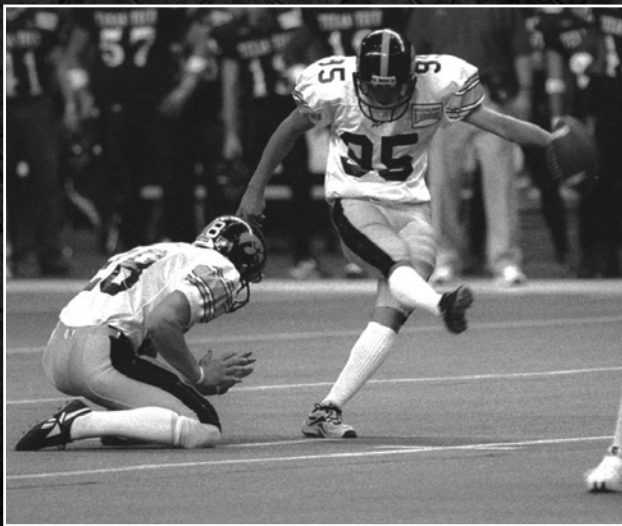

Kirk Ferentz and Hayden Fry, Iowa's only two head football coaches over the past 31 years, have a lot in common as successful football coaches while heading the Hawkeye program.

The success of Iowa football under Ferentz for the past 11 seasons, and Fry, for 20 years, has been based on balance. A balanced offense, featuring a solid running game and an efficient passing attack. A balanced defense, equally efficient in stopping the run and defending the pass. And, great special teams play.

Under the two head coaches who have led the Hawkeyes to five Big Ten titles, Iowa's kicking game has featured some of the top punters and kickers in the history of the program. That includes career punting leader David Baker and career scoring leader in PK Nate Kaeding.

Iowa's punt and kickoff return teams throughout the years have featured all-American speedsters who have excelled in helping the Iowa offense take the field with better than average field position, and those return teams have featured a number of role players who have taken great pride in their play on special teams.

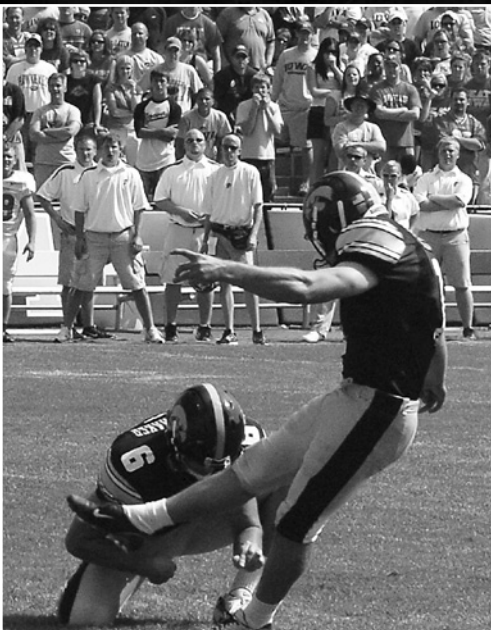

NATE KAEDING

Nate Kaeding, who grew up in the shadows of Kinnick Stadium and attended West HS in Iowa City, was a two-time all-American as Iowa's placekicker. He earned the Lou Groza Award as the top placekicker in the nation in 2002. Kaeding earned consensus all-America honors as a senior in 2003 and also earned honors as a District VII first team academic all-American.

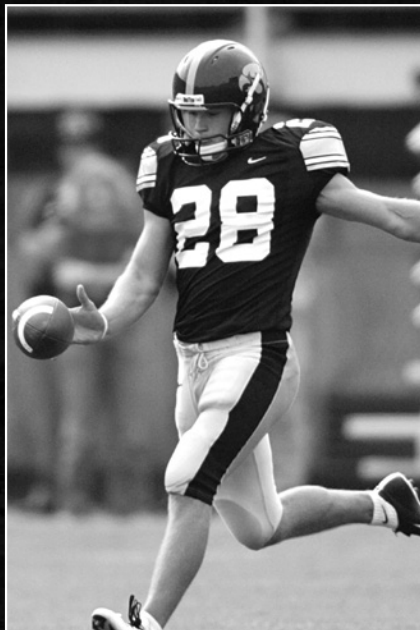

Kaeding ended his Hawkeye career as Iowa's record holder in 14 statistical categories. In addition, he shares the Big Ten Conference record for career kick scoring with 367 points. He converted 167-169 career PATs and 67-83 career field goals while scoring 373 career points (he rushed for one touchdown as well).

Kaeding was selected by the San Diego Chargers in the third round of the 2004 NFL Draft and handled all of the San Diego placement duties the past six seasons. In 2006, he connected on all 58 of his PAT attempts and made 26-29 field goals. He earned a spot in the Pro Bowl and provided the winning points in the game with a late field goal. He scored 118 points in 2007 as the Chargers returned to the AFC title game. He made 27-32 field goals in 2008, including a career-best 57-yarder, and was successful on all 46 PAT attempts. He earned all-Pro honors again in 2009, making 32-38 field goal attempts and 50-51 PATs.

KYLE SCHLICHER

Taking over for Nate Kaeding in 2004, Ankeny native Kyle Schlicher concluded his Iowa career in 2006 with 260 points, ranking fourth in career scoring. His made 54 career field goals to rank third on Iowa's all-time list.

DAVID BRADLEY

David Bradley (2001-04) averaged over 40 yards per kick as a senior and earned honorable mention all-Big Ten recognition. Bradley handled Iowa's punting duties in all four seasons, assisting a solid Iowa defense with a punting game that relied on hang time and poor field position for the opponents. Thanks to solid defensive play and strong special teams, Iowa shared Big Ten titles in both 2002 and 2004.

ANDY FENSTERMAKER

Andy Fenstermaker, who joined the Iowa program as a walk-on, earned the punting job in his final two seasons. The Mt. Pleasant, IA native averaged 37.6 yards per kick as a senior, a total that doesn't tell the entire story. In 2006, Iowa allowed its opponents just 33 punt return yards on 14 returns. Opponents called for a fair catch on 25 of his 56 punts and 19 of his kicks were downed inside the opponent 20-yardline.

At the University of Iowa, the walk-on football player is welcomed by every member of the coaching staff, starting at the very top with Head Coach Kirk Ferentz. It is a policy that has rewarded the Hawkeyes handsomely over the years.

"There's no question about the importance of walk-ons to this program. It's been that way since I first arrived on campus in 1981. The walk-ons at Iowa are very talented and always get a serious look and evaluation from our entire staff. Iowa's success in football, over the years, wouldn't have been nearly so impressive without the contributions of walk-ons."

Along with the three players selected in the 2003 NFL Draft, we had great examples of that on our 2004 squad with such players as defensive back Sean Considine, offensive lineman Pete McMahon and defensive lineman Tyler Luebke. Conversely, some of our most important walk-ons are the ones you never hear or read about. They're the players that show up everyday for practice, for four or five years, and do everything in their power to make us a better team. Those are the athletes you've got to be really proud of. They're very special to me as a coach."

I fully expect our success with student-athletes who join our program as walk-ons to continue. With the reduction in scholarships over the past few years, walk-on players have more opportunity to impact our program than ever."

Joining the University of Iowa football team as a walk-on gives a young player the chance to grow and mature as an athlete, as well as an opportunity to earn an education from an outstanding institution of higher education."

KIRK FERENTZ

Head Coach
The University of Iowa

During Iowa's return to one of the top football programs in the nation over the past 11 years under Kirk Ferentz, a large number of walk-ons have made major contributions to Iowa's success. They have been named team captains at the end of the year and shared the honor of Most Valuable Player. And they have worked their way to the NFL and other professional leagues.

WALK-ONS

A KEY TO IOWA'S SUCCESS

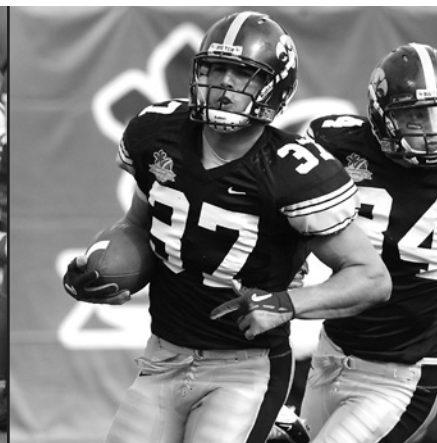

ROB BRUGGEMAN

Center Rob Bruggeman is the latest walk-on to join the NFL after a stellar career with the Hawkeyes. Bruggeman suffered a major knee injury and missed nearly his entire junior season as the Iowa offense struggled for consistency. As a senior in 2008, Bruggeman started every game as the Hawkeyes posted a 9-4 record while featuring Doak Walker Award winner Shonn Greene and one of the top running games in college football. Bruggeman signed a free agent contract with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers immediately following the 2009 NFL draft and spent the 2009 season with the Atlanta Falcons.

DAN OLSZTA

Dan Olszta is a recent example of the value of every position on the team. The native of New Lenox, IL, excelled as a long-snapper, handling the center duties on all Iowa punt attempts for the final three years of his career. While handling his duties on special teams, Olszta was named a permanent team captain as a senior. The pharmacy major earned academic all-Big Ten recognition in each of his last three years.

SEAN CONSIDINE

Sean Considine played a key role in the Iowa secondary and on special teams throughout his career. He started all 13 games in 2003, ranking fourth on the team with 64 tackles. As a senior Considine had three interceptions and, despite being a key defensive starter, continued his outstanding play on special teams. Considine was rewarded with a touchdown in his final game, returning a blocked punt for a score in the 30-25 win over LSU in the 2005 Capital One Bowl. Considine has played in the NFL (Philadelphia and Jacksonville) since signing as a free agent.

"Coming out of high school, if you are overlooked, the Iowa football program is the place. Everyone involved in the program has the same philosophy, its equal opportunity for everyone; they're going to put the best 11 players on the field."

It takes a lot of hard work and sacrifice; you have to be ready to work hard every day. It's not always fun, but the values you learn with the experiences and rewards, it's priceless."

DALLAS CLARK

2007 Super Bowl Champions
2009 all-Pro

BASED ON AN UNOFFICIAL SURVEY OF MAJOR COLLEGE CONFERENCES, IOWA IS THE ONLY FOOTBALL PROGRAM TO HAVE THREE FORMER WALK-ON STUDENT-ATHLETES DRAFTED IN THE SAME NFL DRAFT.

When the Iowa football program had five players drafted in the first five rounds of the 2003 NFL Draft, the Iowa walk-on program became unique in the success enjoyed by former walk-on student-athletes. Three of the five players selected, including TE Dallas Clark, C Bruce Nelson and DB Derek Pagel, joined the Iowa program as walk-ons before eventually earning scholarships. That trio helped the Hawkeyes post an 8-0 record in the Big Ten during the 2002 season before hearing their names called on draft day.

Under Coach Kirk Ferentz the last 11 years, 72 of 84 seniors who have been starters have advanced to NFL training camps, either by being drafted or signing NFL contracts following the draft. Ten of those players, including TE Dallas Clark, center Bruce Nelson and DB Derek Pagel in 2002 and DB Sean Considine and OL Pete McMahon in 2004, joined the Iowa football program as walk-ons. In addition, three Hawkeyes have declared for the NFL draft after their junior seasons and all were selected in the first three rounds of the draft.

Clark (first round), Nelson (second) and Pagel (fifth) were all selected in the first five rounds of the 2003 NFL Draft. Considine (fourth) and McMahon (sixth) were taken in the 2005 draft. LB Grant Steen signed a free agent contract with New England following the 2004 NFL draft and DL Tyler Luebke signed an NFL contract with Washington following the 2005 draft. Following the 2009 NFL draft, center Rob Bruggeman signed a free agent contract with Tampa Bay.

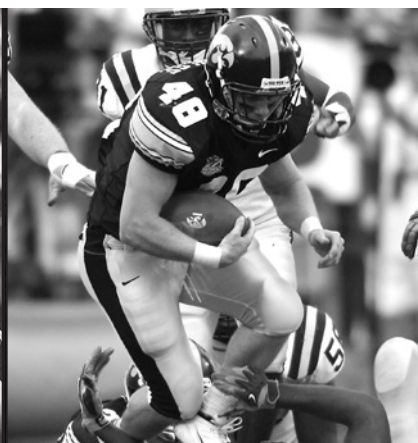

PETE MCMAHON

Offensive lineman Pete McMahon started all 25 games in his final two seasons and was drafted in the sixth round by the Oakland Raiders. McMahon later played in Jacksonville after earning all-league honors in NFL Europe while helping his team win the 2007 World Bowl.

TYLER LUEBKE

Defensive lineman Tyler Luebke joined the Iowa program from West HS in Iowa City. As a senior he was a starter in the defensive line as the Hawkeyes earned a share of the 2004 Big Ten title. Luebke signed a free agent contract with Washington following his career and is now a successful businessman in the Iowa City area.

SAM BROWNLEE

When Iowa's running back position was hit with the injury bug in 2004, former walk-on RB Sam Brownlee was the last man standing. Brownlee started the final six games of the year and led Iowa in rushing as the Hawkeyes won the Big Ten title and defeated LSU in the 2005 Capital One Bowl.

GRANT STEEN

Grant Steen was a three-year starter at outside linebacker after joining the program as a walk-on. He set an NCAA record for linebackers with three interceptions in a 2002 win at Indiana. Steen completed his career with Iowa's win over Florida in the 2004 Outback Bowl and signed a free agent contract with New England.

"I joined the Iowa football program under Coach Fry, but nothing changed when Coach Ferentz and his staff came in. It was always the same philosophy. It was equal opportunity, and the best players will play. No one on the coaching staff looks at scholarship players and walk-ons as being any different. You can join the program as a walk-on, work hard to improve, and get your scholarship later."

"Iowa had every necessary ingredient I needed. A great head coach and a coaching staff that was very helpful throughout the entire process. When you add the outstanding strength and conditioning staff and the facilities, there is nothing missing. My experiences at Iowa, on and off the playing field, the education, you're not going to find a better situation. I would not trade my experiences at the University of Iowa for anything."

IOWA STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

The University of Iowa Football Program is committed to providing the ultimate training experience for each student-athlete. Our focus is building the total athlete while reducing the risk of injury through individual evaluation and program design.

MISSION STATEMENT | Strength and Conditioning Program | University of Iowa

Iowa's strength and conditioning program is under the direction of Chris Doyle and his staff. Iowa's success on the field over the last eight years, including seven bowl invitations, five January bowl games since 2002 and two Big Ten championships, is due in part to the effort and work ethic of Hawkeye players in the areas of strength and conditioning.

Every member of the Iowa football program has the opportunity to improve, due to their efforts in the strength and conditioning program. As an example, three players who joined the Iowa program as walk-ons from prep programs in the state of Iowa were selected in the first five rounds of the 2003 NFL draft, a feat that had never been accomplished by any other football program in the nation.

STAFF

At the University of Iowa we are fortunate to have the unique advantage of four full-time strength and conditioning coaches for the football program. We are able to focus our complete attention to serving the football program on a daily basis. It is the individual attention to details that ensures our athletes are maximizing their potential.

BUILDING THE TOTAL ATHLETE

Improving athletic performance while reducing the risk of injury is the primary objective of our strength and conditioning program. We are driven by improved performance on the field. It is our goal to promote and foster an atmosphere that is conducive to the mental and physical development of each individual athlete.

ACCELERATION

Acceleration is the ability to reach maximum speed in the shortest amount of time. In football, acceleration is more critical to success on the field than top running speed. Top speed is rarely reached in a game; however a football player will cut and accelerate many times during a play.

Acceleration is improved by:

- Strengthening the legs.
- Developing explosive power with the application of exercises such as cleans, snatches, jerks and plyometrics.
- Training at the proper work to rest ratios (Specificity of Conditioning).
- Teaching proper speed mechanics.

IOWA STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

"Iowa's Athletic Department is committed to providing the very best training environment for our football program."

CHRIS DOYLE

Strength and Conditioning Coach
University of Iowa

"Our strength and conditioning program is a real key to the progress and development of our athletes. Two areas of importance, where strength and conditioning plays an important role in the success of our football program, are in injury prevention and the development of players."

Proper strength and conditioning training will help make our athletes better players and keep them as healthy as possible."

Chris Doyle has a coaching background and works with our coaching staff on a daily basis in regards to our strength and conditioning programs. Chris and his staff have a solid grasp of where strength training fits in the total success of our football program."

KIRK FERENTZ

Head Football Coach | University of Iowa

AGILITY

Agility is the ability to change direction without losing speed. Research shows that the vast majority of injuries occur during deceleration. The development of eccentric strength (ability to control your own body weight and come under control) is critical to change of direction and preventing injuries.

We employ two types of agility training in our program:

- Programmed agility. Consists of cone, line and bag drills.
- Reactive agility. Consists of drills requiring the athlete to change direction reacting to a visual stimulus.

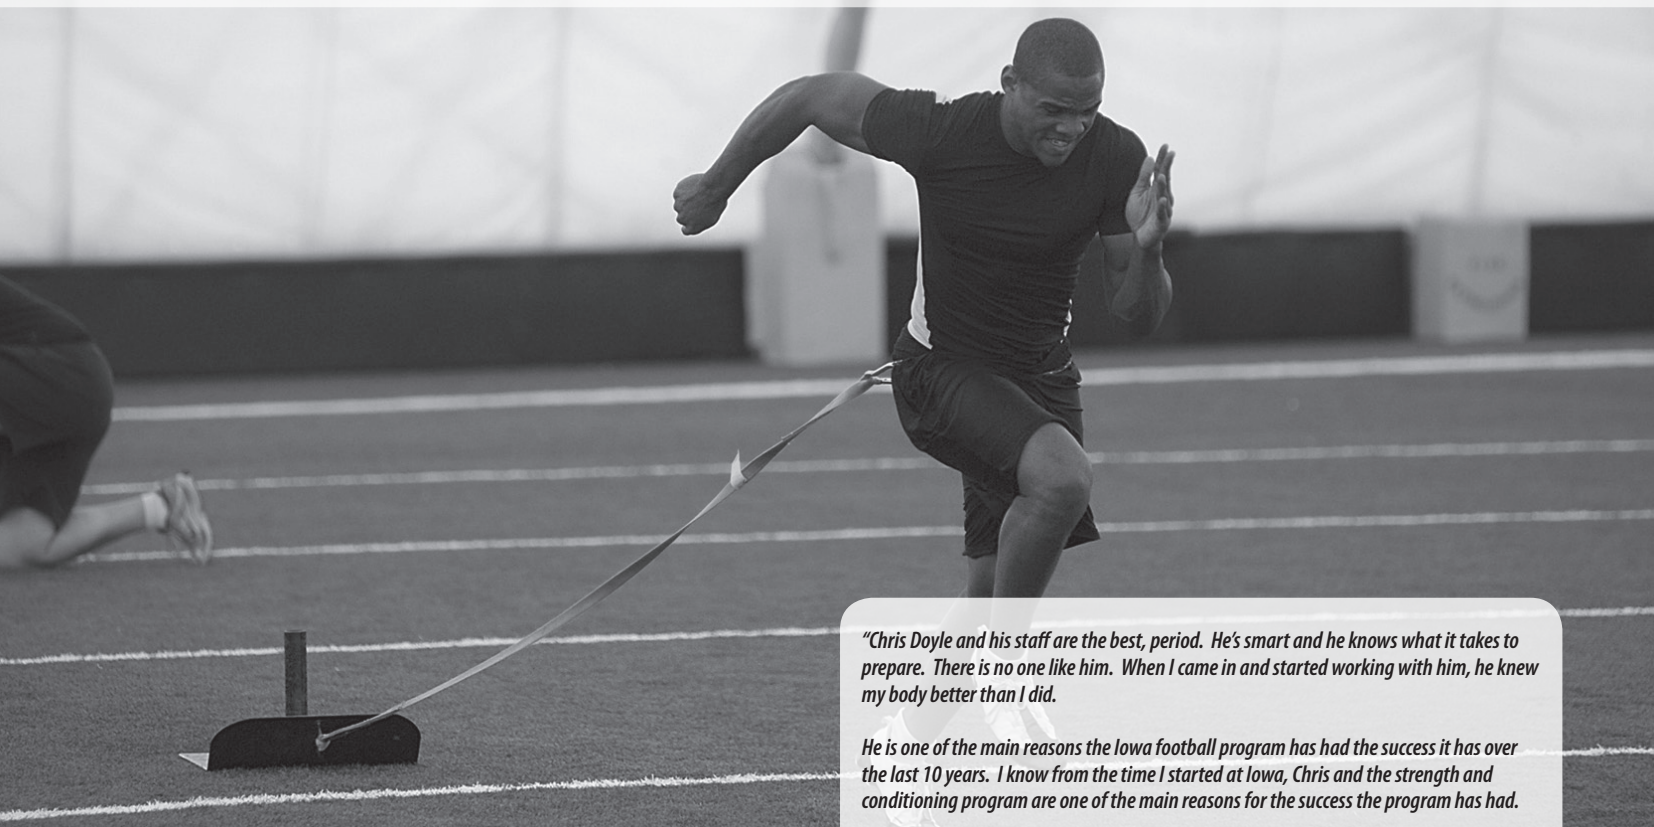

Agility is improved by:

- Strengthening the legs.
- Improving acceleration.
- Development of eccentric strength.
- Running football specific change of direction drills at the proper work to rest ratio.
- Teaching proper change of direction mechanics.

EXPLOSIVE TRAINING

Football requires quick and explosive movement. Training explosively with free weights, plyometrics and medicine balls stimulates the recruitment of fast twitch muscle fibers, thus developing power. If you train slowly you will become slow. The biggest difference between strength and power is speed of movement. Strength alone is useless, power wins football games. Developing the ability to apply force rapidly improves on field performance.

IOWA STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

"Chris Doyle and his staff are the best, period. He's smart and he knows what it takes to prepare. There is no one like him. When I came in and started working with him, he knew my body better than I did."

He is one of the main reasons the Iowa football program has had the success it has over the last 10 years. I know from the time I started at Iowa, Chris and the strength and conditioning program are one of the main reasons for the success the program has had."

Chris prepared me for a career in the NFL. He knew my potential and took me to the next level. I would not be in the position I am in today if not for Chris Doyle and the strength and conditioning program at the University of Iowa."

BOB SANDERS | 2007 NFL Defensive Player of the Year
All-Big Ten Defensive Back, 2001, 2002, 2003 | NFL all-Pro, 2005
Super Bowl Champion, 2006

FLEXIBILITY

Flexibility is critical to enhanced physical performance and preventing injuries. There are three methods of improving flexibility. We incorporate Dynamic movement (athletic movement through a full range of motion) during our warm up. We incorporate Static stretching and Partner Assisted stretching after the Dynamic movement or post workout while the muscles are warm.

GROUND BASED MOVEMENTS

Movements that are performed with the athlete's feet on the ground are more productive than movements performed while sitting or lying down. Virtually all football skills are executed with the athlete's feet on the ground. The greater the force an athlete generates against the ground, the faster he will run and the higher he will jump. Ground based power is critical to football success. Training with your feet on the ground requires the athlete to stabilize his own body structure which in turn increases proprioception and strengthens stabilization muscles reducing the risk of injury.

INDIVIDUAL PROGRAM DESIGN

Evaluation is the first step in developing individualized strength and conditioning programs. Each athlete comes to Iowa with a unique training maturity and medical history. Proper identification of strengths and weaknesses allows us to design specific training protocol for each athlete. This requires individual testing in a variety of areas. Individual program design promotes both injury prevention, as well as maximum performance.

Functional	Performance	Strength
Torso Stability	10-yard dash	Hang Clean
Flexibility	40-yard dash	Squat
Static	20-yard shuttle	Bench Press
Dynamic	Vertical Jump
Posterior Chain (Glute/Hamstring/Erector)
Posterior Shoulder Girdle
Body Composition
Unilateral Strength

MULTIPLE JOINT MOVEMENTS

Exercises that work more than one joint at a time are the most productive exercises for athletes. Athletic skills require multiple joint actions timed in the proper neuromuscular recruitment patterns. Our strength program is built around multiple joint movements. Multiple joint movements promote the most lean body mass gains. In order to take a 275-pound redshirt freshman and build him into a 315-pound junior we must stimulate the metabolism through utilizing multiple joint movements such as the squat.

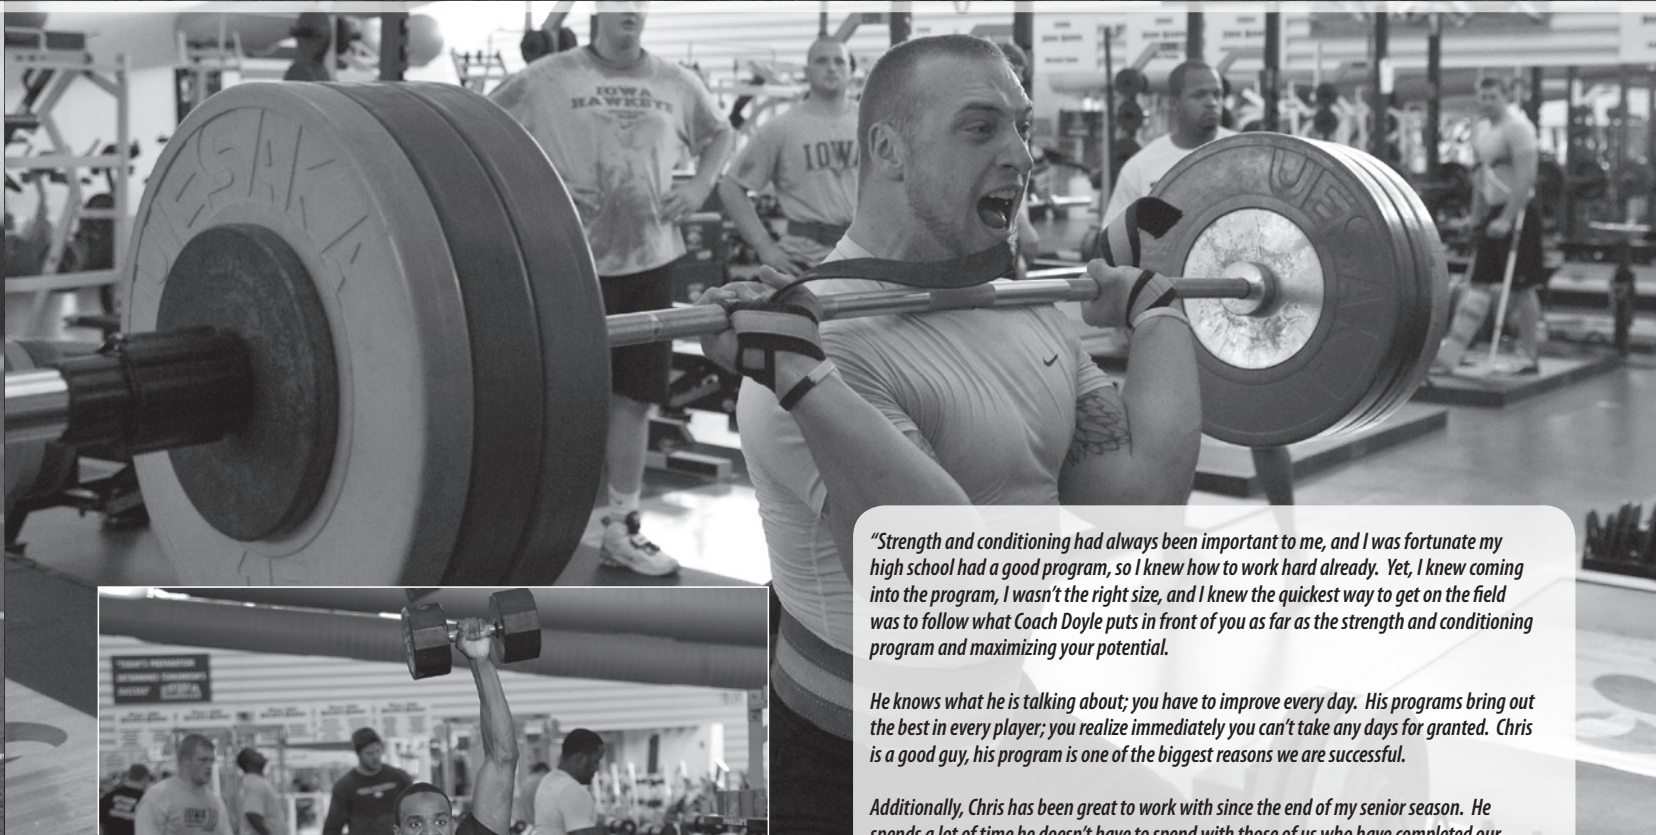

NUTRITION AND SUPPLEMENTATION

Without proper nutrition our athletes will struggle to make progress. We educate our players to make good choices and eat properly. In some cases we will use a dietary analysis of individual athletes. The schedule of a student-athlete is very demanding. Supplementation of an athlete's diet can help bridge the gap to proper nutrition. Through our supplementation program we can improve recovery ability to add lean body mass, thus improving performance. The intelligent use of supplement provides a distinct advantage for our program.

POSITION SPECIFIC CONDITIONING

The objective of conditioning is to improve energy capacity of an athlete during competition. The initial step in designing a conditioning program is to determine the energy system used in the specific sport. The system used in football is the ATP system. ATP provides the energy for explosive bouts of exercise lasting up to eight seconds.

IOWA STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

"Strength and conditioning had always been important to me, and I was fortunate my high school had a good program, so I knew how to work hard already. Yet, I knew coming into the program, I wasn't the right size, and I knew the quickest way to get on the field was to follow what Coach Doyle puts in front of you as far as the strength and conditioning program and maximizing your potential."

He knows what he is talking about; you have to improve every day. His programs bring out the best in every player; you realize immediately you can't take any days for granted. Chris is a good guy, his program is one of the biggest reasons we are successful."

Additionally, Chris has been great to work with since the end of my senior season. He spends a lot of time he doesn't have to spend with those of us who have completed our Iowa careers. He's gone through it so much; he knows how to coach you up for the many different things in preparing for the next level. It has been very, very beneficial to work out under his direction."

PAT ANGERER | Senior Linebacker, 2009
Second round selection in 2010 NFL draft | Indianapolis Colts

A football player must develop tremendous efficiency within the ATP system. Research has shown that building an aerobic base can be counter productive to development of strength, speed and power. We will invest our time in the development of the ATP system.

The demands of specific positions in football differ greatly. We must condition our athletes according to the position they play. For example, an offensive lineman must be conditioned to perform explosively and efficiently in a five-yard area. Our defensive backs must incorporate a great amount of backpedaling in their training. We will apply position specific training during off-season and pre-season programs. These sessions will include the Contrast method of combining resistive, assistive and free movements designed specifically for each position as well as basic position drills executed at the proper work to rest interval.

SPEED

Speed is Stride Length + Stride Frequency. Stride Length is the distance covered between each step. Stride Frequency is the number of steps per second.

Speed is improved by:

- Increasing Stride Length through power development resulting in increased force application.
- Increasing Stride Frequency by improving running mechanics and neuromuscular coordination.
- Contrasting method: combining resistive, assistive and free sprinting.
- Strengthening the legs with ground based power movements resulting in increased force application.
- Specificity of Conditioning.
- Teaching proper linear speed mechanics.

THREE DIMENSIONAL MOVEMENTS

Athletic skills involve movement in three planes simultaneously: side to side, up and down, forward and backward. We must develop functional strength in all three planes. The only way to accomplish this is with free weights. Using free weights develops the primary muscles as well as the stabilization muscles. For example squatting with free weights strengthens the stabilization muscles of the torso, hip, knee and ankle. Machines do not develop the stabilization structures supporting the major joints. By developing stabilization strength we prevent injuries and improve functional strength.

TRAINING THE INJURED ATHLETE

Injuries are a part of the game of football. Our players understand that when they are injured they have an injured body part and not an injured body. We have constant communication with our Sports Medicine Staff. We design programs employing alternative exercises, in conjunction with the Sports Medicine Staff, to train through or around the injury in order to expedite return to the field. There are three phases in the rehabilitation process where we work with the Sports Medicine Staff to help the athlete return:

- Pre-Rehabilitation period prior to corrective surgery or treatment.
- Rehabilitation treatment, re-establishing movement, flexibility and strengthening.
- Reconditioning – transition from rehabilitation to full participation.

IOWA FACILITIES: AMONG THE NATION'S BEST

IOWA FOOTBALL FACILITIES

Facilities play an important role in helping today's student-athlete enjoy his collegiate experience and develop both his academic and athletic potential to its fullest. The facilities available to members of the football program at the University of Iowa compare favorably with the nation's finest, and in many cases are the standard of excellence by which others are measured.

"You are looking live at Kinnick Stadium in Iowa City, the site of a key conference match-up under the lights on Saturday night football on ABC."

"When the Hawkeyes play in Iowa City, it is an event. Another sellout crowd; and they are ready to rock. It's another fabulous crowd in Iowa City."

The Sporting News, in 2007 and 2009 named Kinnick Stadium the best in the Big Ten Conference.

Kinnick Stadium: Home of the Hawkeyes

Iowa home games are played in Kinnick Stadium, named after 1939 Heisman Trophy winner Nile Kinnick. With a capacity of 70,585, Kinnick Stadium ranks as one of the 25 largest college-owned stadiums in the nation. Iowa's home stadium, opened in 1929, has undergone many changes in its 80-year history. Some of the biggest changes were completed prior to the 2006 season, while the most recent addition of Field Turf being installed took place prior to the 2009 season.

The Field Turf installation included an entirely new drainage system under the playing surface. The playing surface in Kinnick Stadium now matches the artificial surface on one of the three practice fields within the Kenyon Practice Facility and the surface on Iowa's indoor practice facility.

A $90 million renovation of Kinnick Stadium was completed prior to the 2006 season. The south endzone was completely re-done and entirely new for the 2005 season. An entirely new press box and hospitality addition, stretching from goal line to goal line, was used for the first time in 2006. An additional phase of the project included a complete upgrade of the concession and restroom facilities throughout the stadium, also completed for the start of the 2006 campaign.

Part of the renovation to Kinnick Stadium included all new, and additional, video boards and scoreboards, along with a complete new sound system. The large scale video display units offer live game action, instant replays, statistics and other features such as highlights from other college football games being played across the nation.

KINNICK STADIUM

IOWA FOOTBALL FACILITIES

Iowa began the 2005 season with the fourth longest active home win streak in Division I football, a streak that reached 22 games before an overtime loss. Iowa's recent highlights in Kinnick Stadium include:

- A school record 22-game home winning streak from 2002-05.
- Wins in 44 of 53 games dating back to 2002.
- Iowa's 44-9 (.830) home record since 2002 is the 11th-best winning percentage in the nation and ranks second in the Big Ten over that period of time.
- Iowa has sold out 42 of its last 44 games, dating back to 2002, including a 36-game consecutive sellout streak. Iowa's average attendance of 70,214 in 2009 ranked 21st nationally in home attendance.

Capacity at Kinnick Stadium was expanded in the summer of 1990 to 70,397 to meet the demand for season tickets by fans of the Hawkeyes. With the completion of the latest renovation, current capacity stands at 70,585.

Iowa has consistently ranked among the top 25 in the nation in home attendance. Dating back to 2003, Iowa held a string of 36 straight sellouts in Kinnick Stadium. Iowa ranked 21st in the nation in home attendance last season. The Iowa football program is one of just a handful in the country which routinely sells out virtually all of its home games. Simply put, tickets to Iowa football games are hard to come by.

IOWA'S "NEW HOME" IN KINNICK STADIUM

Iowa's "Game Day" facilities in Kinnick Stadium were used for the first time during the 2005 season. Located under the south endzone, the locker room, athletic training facilities and equipment room are all completely new. The area also includes post-game interview areas for Coach Kirk Ferentz, the Iowa players and the visiting coach and team. Coach Ferentz' post-game media session can be seen and heard throughout the stadium on the video boards and throughout the press facility as well.

Also new in 2005 was the Iowa entrance to the playing field. The Hawkeye entrance is now located in the southwest corner of the playing field, surrounded by the sections in the stadium where thousands of Iowa students and the Hawkeye Marching Band are located, offering full support for their Hawkeyes.

"We go all over the country doing these games, we saw Ohio State and Texas, and that was a great atmosphere. This setting, here in Kinnick Stadium, right now, is as good as it gets all across America. These are great fans."

BOB DAVIE

"Iowa City ranks as the No. 1 college football city in America, based on football success, tradition, history, fans and the city's atmosphere on game days."

KENYON PRACTICE COMPLEX

One of the most recent additions to the Iowa football complex is the Ronald D. and Margaret L. Kenyon Football Practice Facility, located immediately west of the Jacobson Athletic Building and the Hayden Fry Football Complex. The $1.8 million practice facility includes three practice fields, including two natural turf fields and one artificial surface field. A gift of $1.5 million from the Kenyon family provided the majority of funding for the project.

The artificial surface field features the "Prestige" state-of-the-art artificial surface that covers a playing area of 140 yards in length. The two natural turf fields are 100 yards in length. The entire area features the latest in outdoor lighting, provided by Musco Lighting, the worldwide leader in providing permanent and temporary lighting.

Along with the three practice areas, the facility includes an on-site

HAYDEN FRY FOOTBALL COMPLEX AND RICHARD O. JACOBSON ATHLETIC BUILDING

Following his retirement at the conclusion of the 1998 football season, Iowa's football facilities were named the Hayden Fry Football Complex in honor of Fry, who guided Iowa's football team from 1979-1998. This includes the football coaches and administrative offices, indoor practice facility and outdoor practice areas.

The Richard O. Jacobson Athletic Building opened in 1995. As part of the $7 million "Hawkeye Horizons" project, the Jacobson Building is a 35,000-square-foot facility for use by the football team, trainers, physicians and coaches.

THE JACOBSON FACILITY FEATURES:

- an advanced sports medicine facility
- weight training room
- football locker rooms
- player meeting rooms
- coach's locker room
- academic center
- player's reception area and lounge

IOWA FOOTBALL EQUIPMENT

Hawkeye football players take the field every day knowing they are equipped with the latest in design and technology in their NIKE apparel, and the safest equipment available in college football.

The Iowa football practice locker room in the Jacobson Building features plush carpeting and large, individual lockers for every member of the football program.

The Iowa football locker room features this cold hydro-therapy whirlpool, set at 55 degrees, used for icing muscles after practice to assist in the recovery process, before heading for the spacious shower facility within the locker room.

INDOOR PRACTICE FACILITY

Iowa's indoor practice facility was completed in 1985. Underneath "The Bubble" is a full-size, 120-yard football field on which practices are conducted, uninterrupted by inclement weather. As part of the Hayden Fry Complex the indoor facility is connected to the Jacobson Building.

As part of the on-going improvement and upgrading of Iowa's facilities, the playing surface in "The Bubble" was recently replaced. The new surface, "Prestige XT," is the latest version of the "Prestige" state-of-the-art artificial surface that covers one of the three outdoor fields in the Kenyon Practice Facility, in addition to the playing surface in Kinnick Stadium.

Few of the nation's top football programs offer the unique combination of a customized indoor practice area, complete locker rooms, training rooms and weight training rooms, and an office and meeting room complex integrated into one comprehensive facility.

The position meeting rooms in the Jacobson Building include private rooms for all positions, each featuring their own dry erase boards, video board and video tape machines for private viewing sessions. The room can also be used by the entire squad for team meetings.

IOWA PLAYERS LOUNGE

The Jacobson Athletic Building includes a player's lounge, located adjacent to the locker room. The lounge features multiple large-screen televisions (equipped with Play Station) and pool tables so that Hawkeye players have the chance to relax and unwind before and after practice. VCRs are also set up so that players can watch game video of upcoming opponents.

"Our outstanding facilities are evidence of our commitment to have a first class program. We aspire to create the best possible environment so that our student-athletes may have success."

We enjoyed a major growth and improvement in football facilities in the 1980's. That commitment to improvement is continued by our recently completed Jacobson Athletic Building, the Kenyon Practice Facility, the Gerdin Athletic Learning Center and the renovation of Kinnick Stadium. We are proud to feature one of the best football facilities in the Big Ten Conference and the nation, and our student-athletes benefit from that commitment."

IOWA FOOTBALL VIDEO

IOWA FOOTBALL FACILITIES

Members of the football video staff shoot aerial video of Iowa practices on a daily basis, both during the regular season and on the road during bowl game preparation.

The University of Iowa football program boasts a video department which rivals that of top NFL programs and helps Iowa's coaching staff and the Hawkeyes maintain a competitive advantage.

The Iowa football program uses XOS Sports Pro Editing System and Smart Acquisition Technology (SAT) hard drives. The Iowa program is one of the first to shoot up to five cameras at practice and four at games. This system gives the coaching staff a new way to teach, educate and evaluate. It is a tapeless environment that includes 21 coaches stations connected to the video office for coaches and players to instantaneously view on demand. Coaches and players can create their own video clips and re-arrange video to share with others associated with the football program.

The XOS system's portability allows for use at bowl sites every year. Coaches and players are able to view practice and game video with the same easy access as they would on campus in Iowa City.

This scouting software produces cuts of opponent and self-scout video for game preparation and instruction. Hawkeye coaches and players have, available on-line, three years of practice, opponent and self-scout video.

In addition, the video staff is able to produce recruiting and highlight videos, promotional videos of players for award nominations and NFL scouts, and instructional pieces for coach's use at clinics.

The video department also assists in the promotion of Iowa football and its talented student-athletes by creating highlight videos for distribution to television stations via satellite on a weekly basis during the season and to scouts for National Football League teams.

The staff also produces and directs the Kirk Ferentz and Fran McCaffery television shows, the weekly half-hour highlights and interview television shows on the Iowa football and basketball programs. The University of Iowa athletic department distributes the weekly shows to all major markets in Iowa and more than 15 cable television systems around the state. In addition, the Big Ten Network delivers the coaches shows to cable systems throughout the entire nation.

Players and coaches can view practice and game video from any of 21 stations located within the Iowa football complex.

IOWA ATHLETIC TRAINING FACILITY

The three-lane lap pool is located in the Jacobson Athletic Building, adjacent to the Iowa Athletic Training room.

ATHLETIC TRAINING FACILITIES

The Iowa Sports Medicine staff caring for football is comprised of four full-time Athletic Trainers, three Team Physicians, 10 Athletic Training Students, and part-time Physical Therapists, working together to prevent injury and oversee successful rehabilitation and return to participation activities. Student-athlete medical care is managed through a combined effort of Athletic Training Services, The Institute for Orthopaedics, Sports Medicine and Rehabilitation and The University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics. The Head Team Physician coordinates specialists throughout The University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics capable of managing any medical need of the student athletes.

The Athletic Training Room, located in the Jacobson Athletic Building, includes 10,000 square feet of space and is equipped with the most advanced medical and rehabilitation equipment available.

The Athletic Training Room is staffed by three full-time Athletic Trainers and 10 to 11 Athletic Training Students enrolled in The University of Iowa's Athletic Training Education Program.

The Athletic Training room in the Iowa football complex encompasses nearly 10,000 square feet.

THE FACILITY FEATURES:

A three-lane lap pool

Biodex Isokentric equipment for muscle testing and rehabilitation

A hydro-therapy room with six whirlpools

A private physician's examination room for consultation and treatment

Cardiovascular equipment including Stairmaster, Pre-Cor, Cybex, Nautilus and Biodex products

In addition, the facility includes a Sports Medicine Conference Room for presentations and consultations with Athletic Training staff, physicians, student-athletes and families, coaches and administrators.

Cardiovascular equipment including Stairmaster, Pre-Cor, Cybex, and Woodway products.

UNIVERSITY OF IOWA HOSPITALS & CLINICS

Many Iowa fans remember what happened on November 7, 2009. With an undefeated record on the year and riding a 13-game winning streak that dated back to 2008, their beloved Hawkeyes had jumped out to a 10-0 lead over the visitors from Northwestern University when the Wildcats' Corey Wootton sacked UI quarterback Ricky Stanzi in the north end zone, causing a fumble that the defenders recovered for a touchdown. Compounding the harm, the full weight of the 270-pound defensive end landed on the standout junior's right leg, knocking him out of the game and putting the remainder of Iowa's season in jeopardy.

Team physician Ned Amendola, MD, diagnosed Stanzi's injury as a high ankle sprain. One treatment option was to simply wait for the injury to heal.

"The problem with that approach is that it is a little bit unpredictable," explains Amendola. "The amount of time that it can take to get back to playing can vary from one or two weeks to several months."

The other option involved surgery. Stanzi chose to receive an advanced procedure called a tigtrope fixation.

"The surgery consists of doing an arthroscopic evaluation of the ankle and the injured ligament above the joint. We then stabilize the two bones that are involved in the sprain," said Amendola.

A high ankle sprain can be more troublesome than a routine sprained ankle because athletes find it more difficult to generate force and push off on the foot. The tigtrope fixation procedure offers the benefit of providing more stability to the joint and a more predictable recovery.

"Rick Stanzi was a great patient. He was very compliant with his rehabilitation," recalled Amendola. "His rehab was overseen by our athletic trainers, and it was that team effort that gets people back to competing effectively."

Stanzi added, "Right after we came back from our Thanksgiving break I was able to just jump into our bowl preparation, to go 100 percent and not worry about how my ankle was going to hold up."

With their leader back on the field, the Hawkeyes dominated the Orange Bowl game, winning 24-14 over Georgia Tech University in Land Shark Stadium in Miami, Florida, on January 5, 2010. Stanzi guided the offense to 21 first downs and over 400 yards of offense, throwing for 230 yards and two touchdowns.

Iowa Head Football Coach Kirk Ferentz says his starting quarterback's swift comeback is just one of the most recent examples of the high quality care available to UI student-athletes.

"It's always been an advantage for us in recruiting that we do have tremendous health care here for our student-athletes. Combine that with a world-class facility and it's just a great winning combination for us," remarked Ferentz.

"Going through something traumatizing to your body gives you much more appreciation for what we have here at this university," added Stanzi. "They care about the athletes. That just makes all of our athletes healthier, not only now while you are playing at Iowa, but also once you get out of football. The medical staff puts a lot of care into making sure that players are handled the right way."

The secret behind Stanzi's Orange Bowl success is just one of the many examples of the myriad benefits that Iowans and others receive from the world-class health sciences expertise available from the University of Iowa's integrated academic medical center, University of Iowa Health Care, a partnership that includes:

University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics, located directly across Hawkins Drive from Kinnick Stadium and one of the nation's top-ranked teaching hospitals

University of Iowa Roy J. and Lucille A. Carver College of Medicine, an internationally recognized medical school

University of Iowa Physicians and its network of outreach services to Iowans across the state

For more than 160 years, University of Iowa Health Care partners have pioneered an impressive array of medical achievements. Researchers in the UI Carver College of Medicine led breakthroughs in areas such as blood banking and buffered aspirin. That legacy of bold innovation continues today through efforts such as the use of cochlear implants that help the deaf to hear and cancer treatments that supercharge the patient's own immune system to more aggressively attack tumor cells.

UI Hospitals and Clinics provides a host of services that are not available at other hospitals in the state, including Iowa's only verified Burn Treatment Center, the state's most advanced NICU and only National Cancer Institute (NCI)-designated comprehensive cancer center, Holden Comprehensive Cancer Center. The Department of Emergency Medicine is home to Iowa's only emergency medicine residency program. The UI Trauma Center is the only facility in Iowa verified by the American College of Surgeons for treating both adults and children affected by the most severe, traumatic injuries.

University of Iowa Health Care specialists rank high when it comes to serving patients. In U.S. News & World Report's survey of "America's Best Hospitals", UI Hospitals and Clinics scored high marks across a range of clinical services, including the specialties of otolaryngology, ophthalmology and orthopaedics. More than 260 UI physicians appear on the "America's Best Doctors" database. UI Hospitals and Clinics was also the first hospital in Iowa to earn the prestigious Magnet Award that recognizes excellence in nursing care, and this year became the first hospital in Iowa to earn that recognition a second time.

This combination of a dedication to innovative research and devotion to excellent service helps achieve patient-centered outcomes that are unsurpassed. Teams of University of Iowa Health Care professionals are using techniques based on medical evidence to reduce mortality, decrease errors and maximize the quality of care received by patients.

THE BOWL CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES

Prior to the 1998 football regular season, the Atlantic Coast, Big East, Big Ten, Big 12, Pacific-10 and South-eastern Conferences and the University of Notre Dame joined with the Rose, Fiesta, Orange and Sugar Bowls to form the Bowl Championship Series (BCS).

The BCS was established to create a matchup between the No. 1 and No. 2 teams in a bowl game and to produce other exciting matchups while maintaining and enhancing the bowl system which has provided significant support to college football for nearly a century. The BCS has quickly become a showcase for the sport, matching the premier teams of any particular year in the culminating games of the season.

In the first eight years of the system, the Rose, Fiesta, Orange and Sugar Bowls rotated as the host of the championship game. The BCS debuted a new format at the conclusion of the 2006 regular season which included the above four bowls and a stand-alone BCS National Championship Game, which is held approximately one week after the other BCS games. The first BCS National Championship Game was hosted by the Fiesta Bowl, followed by the Sugar Bowl (2007), Orange Bowl (2008) and Rose Bowl last season. The 2010 BCS National Championship Game will be held in Glendale, AZ on Jan. 10, 2011, nine days after the Fiesta Bowl is held in the same location on Jan. 1.

The BCS format provides for the determination of a national champion using a traditional bowl lineup featuring more flexibility and regional consideration regarding team selection. Conferences with automatic berths include the Atlantic Coast, Big East, Big Ten, Big 12, Pacific-10 and Southeastern Conferences. Also, the champion of any other Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS) conference will earn automatic qualification if (a) it is ranked in the top 12 of the BCS standings or (b) it is ranked in the top 16 of the BCS Standings and its ranking in the final BCS Standings is higher than that of a champion of a conference that has an annual automatic berth in one of the BCS bowls.

Regional tie-ins include the Big Ten and Pac 10 champions in the Rose Bowl, the Big 12 champion in the Fiesta Bowl, the ACC champion in the Orange Bowl and the SEC champion in the Sugar Bowl. Should one of the above conference's representatives be ranked number one or two in the final BCS standings, that team shall move to the BCS National Championship Game and the bowl shall select a replacement team from the BCS pool of eligible teams. The pool will consist of any FBS team that is ranked among the Top 14 in the final BCS standings and has achieved nine wins during the regular season excluding NCAA-exempted contests.

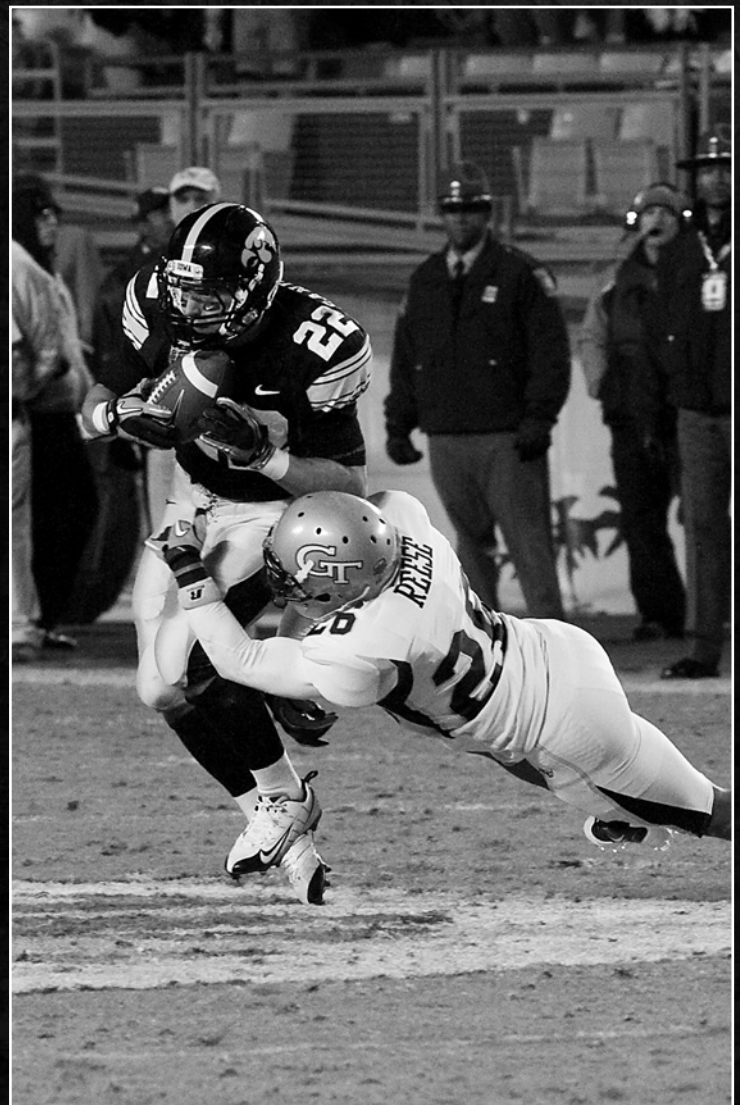

Through a conference revenue sharing plan, the BCS has distributed over $1 billion to Division I institutions during its 11-year history.

FOOTBALL HAWKEYE STYLE

Iowa's football success in the 1980's, 1990's and most recently under Coach Kirk Ferentz, has been based on a wide-open, high-powered, explosive brand of football that has featured a very balanced approach. From offense, to defense, to special teams play, Hawkeye players have earned numerous all-Big Ten and all-America honors.

Those traditions, of bowl games, championships and an exciting and balanced brand of Big Ten football, which were established under the leadership of Hall of Fame Coach Hayden Fry, have continued under the guidance of Coach Ferentz, who has been named Big Ten Coach of the Year in three of the past eight seasons.

Since 2001, 40 Hawkeye players have earned first team all-Big Ten Conference honors, a figure that ranks third best among all Big Ten programs. In addition, five Hawkeyes have earned national awards as the most outstanding player at their respective positions in the last eight seasons.

On offense, 16 Hawkeyes have been first team all-Big Ten, including nine linemen, two quarterbacks, two running backs and three tight ends. A year ago, Bryan Bulaga was named Offensive Lineman of the Year. Robert Gallery was the Big Ten Offensive Lineman of the Year in 2003; the second straight season a Hawkeye earned that honor (Eric Steinbach, 2002). Gallery earned the Outland Trophy as the best lineman in the nation and was a consensus all-American. He was the second player selected in the 2004 NFL draft.

In 2008, RB Shonn Greene earned the Doak Walker Award as the top running back in the nation and was a consensus first team all-American. He was named Big Ten Conference Offensive Player of the Year. TE Dallas Clark and OL Eric Steinbach were consensus all-Americans in 2002. Clark was awarded the John Mackey Award as the best tight end in the nation and Steinbach was the Lineman of the Year in the Big Ten.

Also in 2002, QB Brad Banks placed second in the voting for the Heisman Trophy and earned the Davey O'Brien Award as the top quarterback. He was the Associated Press College Player of the Year and the Offensive Player of the Year and Most Valuable Player in the Big Ten Conference.

Sophomore Drew Tate took over at quarterback in 2004, leading the Hawkeyes to 10 wins and the Big Ten title while earning first team all-conference honors. Tate completed his career in 2006 and ranks second on Iowa's career charts for passing yards (8,292), touchdowns (61), completions (665) and attempts (1,090).

On defense 22 Hawkeyes have been first team all-Big Ten since 2001, including 10 linemen, six defensive backs and six linebackers. A year ago, Iowa's dominating defense was led by senior LB Pat Angerer and junior DE Adrian Clayborn. Each earned first team all-American recognition from at least one media outlet. Angerer was one of five finalists for the Bronko Nagurski Award and was selected in the second round of the 2010 NFL draft. Clayborn was named National Defensive Performer of the Year and was the Most Valuable Player in Iowa's win in the FedEx Orange Bowl.

DL Mitch King was named Big Ten Conference Defensive Lineman of the Year in 2008. Linebackers Chad Greenway and Abdul Hodge both earned all-America recognition as seniors in 2005 and were selected in the first and third rounds, respectively, in the 2006 NFL draft. In 2007, LB Mike Klinkenborg was named a National Football Foundation Scholar-Athlete after earning first team academic all-America honors for the second straight year.

On special teams, PK Nate Kaeding was named first team all-Big Ten in both 2002 and 2003. WR Tim Dwight was a consensus all-American return specialist in 1997 and WR Kahlil Hill was named special teams national Player of the Year in 2001. Kaeding earned the Lou Groza Award as the top placekicker in the nation in 2002. He was a Groza finalist in 2003 and a consensus all-American.

Iowa football is a balanced program that has proven to be a consistent winner. Not only did the Hawkeyes participate in eight bowl games in the 1980's and six in the 1990's, but Iowa in the 1990's ranked among the top 20 nationally in both winning percentage and total victories.

Over the past nine seasons Iowa has won 77 games, including 10 or more wins in three consecutive seasons, while winning Big Ten titles in 2002 and 2004. Iowa won a school-record 11 games in both 2002 and 2009.

Iowa is one of eight college football programs in the nation to compete in six January bowl games over the last eight seasons. Iowa's 24-14 win in the 2010 FedEx Orange Bowl marked its second BCS bowl appearance since 2002 and fifth win in a January bowl game since 2003.

Iowa has ranked in the top 10 in the final Associated Press and CNN/USA Today coaches polls in four of the past eight seasons, including a ranking of seventh in both polls at the conclusion of the 2009 season. Iowa ranked eighth in 2002, 2003 and 2004 and the Hawkeyes were also 20th in 2008.

CONSIDER THESE FACTS ABOUT IOWA FOOTBALL:

Nine times in the last 27 seasons the Iowa quarterback has been named all-Big Ten, including 2002 when Brad Banks was the Offensive Player of the Year and the Big Ten's Most Valuable Player. Drew Tate was first team all-Big Ten in 2004.

Eleven Iowa Hawkeyes have been honored as Big Ten Lineman of the Year since the award was created in 1984, including OL Bryan Bulaga in 2009, DL Mitch King in 2008, OL Eric Steinbach in 2002 and OL Robert Gallery in 2003.

Iowa is one of five Big Ten teams to win more than 100 games over the last 15 seasons.

Iowa is one of only three Big Ten teams to have finished in the upper division of the Big Ten in as many as 20 of the last 24 seasons.

Iowa is one of only three Big Ten teams to participate in as many as 22 post-season bowl games over the last 29 seasons.

Proving its continued balance, Iowa led the Big Ten in scoring offense in both 2001 and 2002, scoring 32.6 points in 2001 and 37.2 in 2002. The Hawkeyes were second in the league in 2008 by scoring 30.3 points per game.

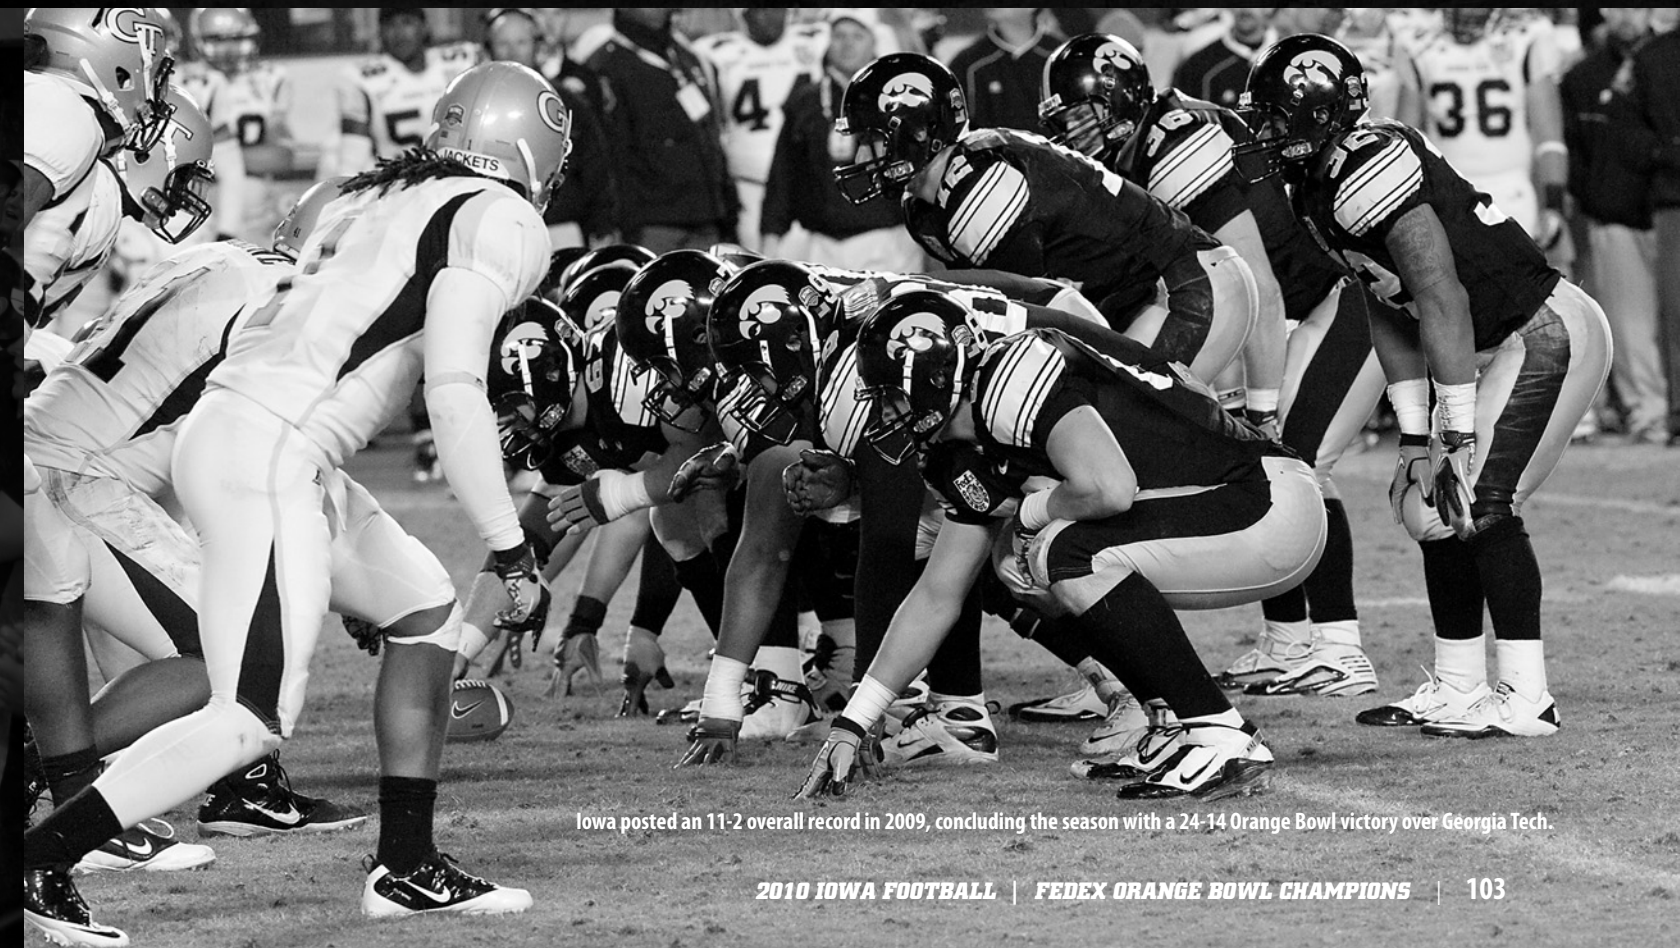

A year ago, Iowa led the Big Ten in passing defense, pass efficiency defense and fewest penalties. In 2008, Iowa led the Big Ten in scoring defense and pass efficiency defense, while ranking second in rushing defense and total defense.

Nationally, Iowa last season ranked in the top 10 in the nation in pass efficiency defense (3rd), pass defense and fewest yards penalized (4th), interceptions and fewest penalties (5th), scoring defense and first downs allowed (8th) and KO coverage (9th).

Iowa led the league in kickoff returns (25.1) in 2002, ranked second in punt returns in 2004 and blocked six kicks. Iowa's special teams led the Big Ten in kickoff coverage in 2005 and ranked 15th in the nation in punt returns. Iowa's special teams in 2009 featured Colin Sandeman and Derrell Johnson-Koulianos, who ranked second in the Big Ten in punt returns and KO returns, respectively.

Over the past eight seasons, 2002-2009, Iowa ranks second in the Big Ten Conference in rushing defense (109.1) and third in scoring defense (18.0) and total defense (325.2).

Re-enforcing the importance placed on special teams, over the past eight seasons, 2002-2009, Iowa ranks first in the Big Ten Conference in punt returns (11.7), kickoff coverage (17.5) and field goal percentage (78.6%).

Iowa posted an 11-2 overall record in 2009, concluding the season with a 24-14 Orange Bowl victory over Georgia Tech.

ON THE ROAD WITH THE HAWKEYES

While taking part in eight bowl games since 2002, including six January bowl events and two BCS bowl games, the Iowa Hawkeyes have been able to mix pleasure with success, taking the time to enjoy the sights in San Antonio, TX and Miami, Orlando and Tampa, Florida. Iowa has competed in the following bowl games under Coach Kirk Ferentz:

2001 Alamo Bowl, San Antonio	2006 Outback Bowl, Tampa
2003 FedEx Orange Bowl, Miami	2006 Alamo Bowl, San Antonio
2004 Outback Bowl, Tampa	2009 Outback Bowl, Tampa
2005 Capital One Bowl, Orlando	2010 FedEx Orange Bowl

In addition to a demanding Big Ten schedule, the Hawkeyes play in all sections of the country during the regular season and post-season bowl games. Since 1982, Iowa has competed in bowl games in California (Rose, Holiday and Freedom), Florida (Outback, Orange, Gator and Capital One), Georgia (Peach) and Texas (Alamo and Sun). Iowa has competed twice in the Kickoff Classic at Giants Stadium in New Jersey and has played regular season games at the Orange Bowl (Miami), the Copper Bowl (Tucson, AZ), Aloha Bowl (Hawaii), Fiesta Bowl (Tempe, AZ), the Carrier Dome (Syracuse, NY) and Arrowhead Stadium (Kansas City).

The Hawkeyes opened the 2007 season with a win over Northern Illinois at Soldier Field in Chicago and played Pitt at Heinz Field in Pittsburgh in 2008. Iowa returns to Tucson to meet Arizona this season and returns to Soldier Field in Chicago in 2012.

The Hawkeyes travel to away games by charter plane. This is an important benefit for University of Iowa football players, allowing for the tightest security possible and flexibility in scheduling. Therefore, Iowa's student athletes seldom miss classes or are forced to waste time in airports waiting for commercial flights. The Hawkeyes depart for road games on Friday afternoon and return home immediately following Saturday games.

IOWA AND BOWL GAMES A PERFECT MATCH

Iowa has participated in bowl games in eight of the last nine seasons, including six January bowl games and two BCS bowl appearances since 2002. Overall, Iowa has participated in 22 bowl games since 1982. Iowa made its initial appearance in the Bowl Championship Series (BCS) by playing in the 2003 FedEx Orange Bowl in Miami. The Hawkeyes also played in January bowl games at the conclusion of the 2003, 2004, 2005 and 2008 seasons before returning to Miami for the FedEx Orange Bowl a year ago. Under Kirk Ferentz, Iowa has won the 2001 Alamo Bowl in San Antonio, TX, the 2004 Outback Bowl in Tampa, FL, the 2005 Capital One Bowl in Orlando, FL, the 2009 Outback Bowl in Tampa and the 2010 Orange Bowl in Miami. The Hawkeyes also competed in the 2006 Outback Bowl and 2006 Alamo Bowl.

The Hawkeyes have been in three Rose Bowl games (1982, 1986, and 1991) and three times represented the Big Ten in the Holiday Bowl (1986, 1987, and 1991). Iowa has made four Alamo Bowl appearances (1993, 1996, 2001, 2006), with the most recent game drawing an Alamo Bowl record crowd of 65,875. It also ranks as the most watched bowl game ever televised by ESPN. Iowa has twice played in the Peach Bowl (1982, 1988) and Sun Bowl (1995 and 1997). Iowa played in the Gator Bowl in 1983 and the inaugural Freedom Bowl in 1984.

When the Hawkeyes travel, they do so with a large following of Iowa fans. Hawkeye fans have become well known around the country for their enthusiastic support of Hawkeye football. It was estimated that over 45,000 Iowa fans were on hand for the 2003 Orange Bowl, as that game experienced its quickest sellout ever. While returning to Florida in January in each of the next three years, over 25,000 Iowa fans traveled each year to cheer for their Hawkeyes. An estimated 25,000 Iowa fans also attended the 2009 Outback Bowl and 2010 FedEx Orange Bowl.

In 2010 and beyond, the Big Ten Conference has agreements with the following eight post-season bowl games: Rose (Pasadena, CA), Capital One (Orlando, FL), Outback (Tampa, FL), Insight (Tempe, AZ), Gator (Jacksonville, FL), Texas (Houston, TX), Dallas Football Classic (Dallas, TX) and Little Caesars Pizza (Detroit, MI).

While preparing for the 2010 FedEx Orange Bowl, the Hawkeyes traveled by police escort at all times.

When the Hawkeyes play away from Iowa City, they travel by charter airplane, departing Friday afternoon and returning to the Iowa campus immediately following the game.

QUALITY COMPETITION: ANOTHER BIG BONUS

If one of your goals is to develop your athletic talent to its fullest potential, you'll never be successful unless you seek the highest level of competition. That competition is available at the University of Iowa and in the Big Ten Conference.

Some teams play one or two difficult opponents each season. At Iowa, you'll compete against the toughest competition available, week in and week out, because nothing is tougher than Big Ten football.

A year ago, the Big Ten led all conferences with four teams ranked among the top 16 and three among the top 10 in the final Associated Press poll. The Big Ten had at least one team among the AP final top 10 for the eighth consecutive year and produced three top-10 programs for the fourth time in the last eight seasons.

Iowa's 11-2 record in 2009 came against nine opponents who competed in bowl games. Five of the nine opponents played in January bowl games.

Iowa was 10-2 in 2004, winning the Big Ten while facing a demanding schedule once again. Seven of Iowa's 12 opponents were ranked in the top 20 at some point during the season. The Hawkeyes concluded the season with a 30-25 Capital One Bowl win over LSU, the defending national champion. A Big Ten record eight teams appeared in bowl games following the 2007 season.

In 2003, Iowa's schedule included eight games vs. teams that posted a 5-3 record while concluding the 2002 season in a bowl game. The Hawkeyes won 10 games in 2003 following the 11-win season in 2002.

Iowa's recent non-conference schedule has included such nationally recognized teams as Nebraska, Kansas State, Arizona State, Syracuse and Pittsburgh. Iowa played a home and home set of games against Arizona State of the Pac 10 in 2003 and 2004 and Big East opponent Syracuse in 2006 and 2007. Iowa traveled to Pittsburgh in 2008 (Pitt visits Iowa City in 2011). Iowa defeated Pac 10 opponent Arizona in 2009 in Iowa City and travels to play the Wildcats this September. Iowa and Arizona were each just an overtime loss from meeting in the 2010 Rose Bowl.

Over the last 14 seasons, Iowa defeated Washington (38-18) in the Sun Bowl and Texas Tech twice (27-0 and 19-16) in the Alamo Bowl. Iowa lost to Arizona State (17-7) in the 1997 Sun Bowl and to Southern Cal (38-17) in the 2003 Orange Bowl. Iowa ended the 2003, 2004, 2008 and 2009 seasons with January bowl wins, defeating Florida 37-17 in the 2004 Outback Bowl in Tampa, FL; topping LSU 30-25 in the 2005 Capital One Bowl in Orlando, FL; defeating South Carolina 31-10 in the 2009 Outback Bowl and stopping ACC champion Georgia Tech 24-14 in the 2010 FedEx Orange Bowl.

Iowa's recent bowl opponents have included some of the very best competition available. The Hawkeyes met LSU in the 2005 Capital One Bowl, scoring a 30-25 win over the defending national champions. Iowa lost to Florida (24-31) in the 2006 Outback Bowl before the Gators went on to win the 2006 national title. Iowa closed the 2006 season with a 24-26 loss to Texas in the Alamo Bowl, just 12 months after the Longhorns won the national title.

HAWKEYE MEDIA ATTENTION

Iowa gained national interest when the Hawkeyes opened the 2009 season with a school-record nine game winning streak.

Since the start of the 2001 season, 103 consecutive Iowa football games have been televised.

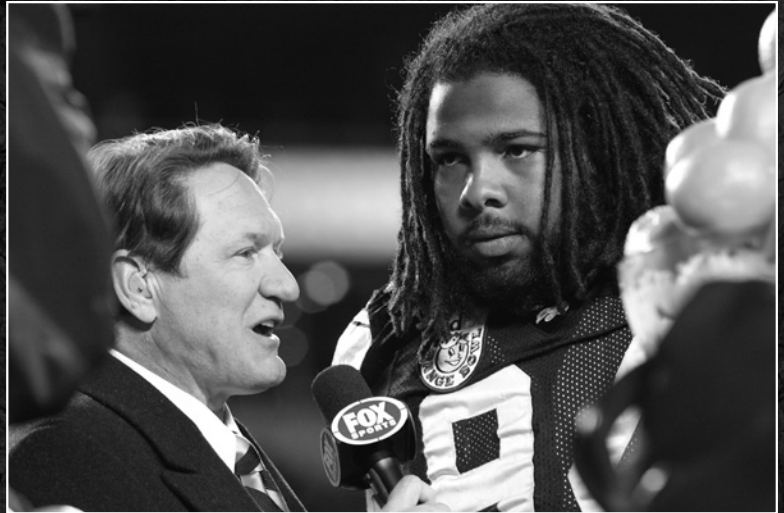

A year ago, Iowa appeared on prime-time national telecasts against Penn State, Michigan and Michigan State. In addition, the 2010 FedEx Orange Bowl victory over Georgia Tech was televised nationally by FOX Sports.

The majority of Hawkeye games that are televised are available throughout the nation on ABC, ESPN, ESPN2, ESPN-U and the Big Ten Network. With the introduction of the Big Ten Network in 2007, every Big Ten Conference football game has been televised in each of the last three seasons.

The Hawkeyes will play two prime time games during the 2010 season. Those include a home contest with Penn State to open the Big Ten season and the non-conference contest at Arizona.

As members of the University of Iowa football program, competing in the Big Ten Conference, student-athletes receive a large amount of media attention throughout the year.

In a state that is full of avid Hawkeye fans, and with no major professional sports teams to share the spotlight, student-athletes at the University of Iowa are constantly in demand by the newspaper, radio and television media around the state.

The annual Iowa media day that kicks off each season is attended by well over 75 media outlets from throughout the state of Iowa and the Midwest. Coach Ferentz' weekly media conferences, which are followed by one-on-one interviews with Hawkeye players, are well attended each week throughout the season.

All Iowa games are covered by newspaper, television and radio outlets throughout the state as Hawkeye coaches and players are in demand for post-game interviews on a weekly basis. Annually ranking among the top teams in the nation, Iowa football draws weekly attention from media around the Midwest and throughout the nation.

With the Big Ten Network and the Big Ten Conference television contracts with ABC and the ESPN family network of stations (ESPN, ESPN2, ESPNU, ESPN Classic) all football games played by members of the Big Ten Conference are televised.

In its third season in 2009, the Big Ten Network now reaches over 73 million homes throughout the United States and Canada. The Big Ten Network telecasts more than 350 live events involving Big Ten Conference teams, all in high definition!

THE BIG TEN CONFERENCE

BIG TEN TELEVISION AGREEMENTS

Over the last few years, the Big Ten has reached a series of milestone media agreements to provide the conference with its greatest television exposure ever, including extensions with CBS (for basketball) and ABC/ESPN (for football, basketball and volleyball) and the creation of the Big Ten Network, a national network devoted to Big Ten athletic and academic programs. The conference's media agreements result in the broadcast of more than 500 events nationally and regionally each academic year.

ABC/ESPN

In June of 2006, the Big Ten signed a new 10-year national rights contract with ABC/ESPN. Big Ten action has been featured on ABC since 1966 and on ESPN since 1979, the network's first year. The new agreement includes up to 41 televised Big Ten football games – 17 on ABC and 25 on ESPN or ESPN2. In addition, all regional afternoon football games aired on ABC will be aired by ESPN/ESPN2 in outer-markets, making these games nationally available. Additionally, through ESPN's collection of new media outlets such as ESPN.com, Mobile ESPN, ESPN360 and ESPN VOD, fans will receive live events (including simulcasts), extended video highlights including in-progress games, features and more. Big Ten coverage is also available on ESPN Classic and throughout the world through ESPN International.

In 2009, all Iowa games were televised, including four prime-time evening games available nationally, two late afternoon regional telecasts on ABC and four appearances on ESPN. Wins over Penn State, Michigan, Michigan State and Georgia Tech were played in prime time. Iowa has appeared on television in each of its last 103 games.

Iowa will have one prime-time appearance during the upcoming season, as the home date with Penn State will be a prime-time event for the third straight season.

ESPN's universe, which includes ESPN and ESPN2, is 92 million households. The Big Ten Conference viewing area includes over 25% of all households. The Big Ten Network is now available in more than 73 million households in the United States and Canada. The network is available in 19 of the top 20 media markets in the United States.

BIG TEN CONFERENCE

Iowa's 26-24 loss to Texas, the defending national champion, in the 2006 Alamo Bowl, ranks as the most watched college bowl game ever on ESPN. Based on the game's 6.0 rating, it is estimated that 5.5 million television households and 8.83 million viewers tuned in to the game.

BIG TEN CONFERENCE LEADS IN BCS APPEARANCES

The Big Ten Conference has placed two teams in BCS bowl games in nine of 12 seasons, including the national title game in both 2006 and 2007. The Big Ten leads all conferences in BCS bowl invitations (21). Over the past 12 seasons, Big Ten teams have won over 40 bowl games. Additionally, seven different teams have represented the Big Ten Conference (including Iowa in the 2003 and 2010 FedEx Orange Bowls), a total that ties as the most among all BCS conferences.

With Iowa's win over Georgia Tech in the FedEx Orange Bowl and an Ohio State win over Oregon in the 2010 Rose Bowl, the Big Ten Conference won two BCS bowl games for the fourth time.

BIG TEN CONFERENCE®

The Big Ten was represented by eight teams in bowl games following the 2007 season, continuing a trend that has seen the Big Ten lead the nation in bowl game participation. Eight Big Ten teams also participated in bowl games following the 2003 season, while seven Big Ten teams participated in bowl games following the 2009, 2008, 2006, 2002 and 1999 seasons.

The Big Ten champion represents the league in one of the five Bowl Championship Series (BCS) games, while the Big Ten continues its relationship with the Rose Bowl. The Rose Bowl leads all post season bowl games in television audience with an estimated worldwide audience of more than 50 million viewers.

BIG TEN CONNECTED WITH EIGHT BOWL GAMES

The Big Ten Conference currently has agreements with bowl officials that provide league teams with automatic invitations to eight bowl games. The Big Ten has agreements for a BCS and/or Rose Bowl (Pasadena, California) invitation, the Capital One Bowl in Orlando, Florida, the Outback Bowl in Tampa, Florida, the Kona Minolta Bowl in Jacksonville, Florida, the Texas Bowl in Houston, Texas, the Insight Bowl in Tempe, Arizona, the Dallas Football Classic in Dallas, Texas and the Little Caesars Pizza Bowl in Detroit, Michigan. The current contracts run through the 2013 college football season.

The Big Ten and Pac-10 Conferences have had a long-standing relationship with the Rose Bowl. While the Big Ten Conference champion may be invited to the national championship game, the league champion still has the opportunity to appear in the Rose Bowl following any season. While maintaining its presence in the Rose Bowl, the Big Ten Conference has also had a second team selected to participate in an alliance bowl game in eight of the past 11 seasons, including the Iowa Hawkeyes in the 2003 and 2010 FedEx Orange Bowl games.

THE BIG TEN CONFERENCE: ALWAYS AMONG THE NATION'S LEADERS IN ATTENDANCE

The Big Ten Conference always ranks among the nation's leaders in attendance. In fact, the league ranked first in per-game attendance every season from 1957 to 1987 and 1993-98. Big Ten Conference football games in 2009 drew more than 5.5 million fans, an average of over 71,000 per game. Big Ten teams have surpassed five million fans in six of the past seven seasons. Big Ten teams had 40 sellouts during the 2009 season.

In 2009, the Big Ten ranked second in the nation in average attendance. Six Big Ten teams ranked among the top 21 in the nation. Michigan led the nation in home attendance, Penn State ranked second and Ohio State third, for the second straight season. Iowa's average of 70,214 for seven home games ranked 21st nationally. A Big Ten institution has led the nation in attendance every year since the NCAA began keeping attendance records in 1949. Big Ten institutions have more than 4.2 million living alumni and over 300,000 undergraduate students attending their universities.

THE BIG TEN CONFERENCE RANKS AS NATION'S BEST

Regarded as the most prestigious conference in college athletics, the Big Ten Conference can point with pride to its accomplishments as a conference, and to the athletic and academic successes of all 11 member institutions.

Following the 2009 football season, for the ninth time in 12 years, the Big Ten Conference had two teams selected to participate in BCS bowl games. The Big Ten, following the 2002 season, had its first team participate in the national championship game, as Ohio State won the national title with a win in the Fiesta Bowl. The Buckeyes played in the BCS national championship game at the conclusion of the 2006 and 2007 seasons as well.

At the conclusion of last season, Big Ten Conference teams won four bowl games, including both the FedEx Orange Bowl (Iowa defeated Georgia Tech) and the Rose Bowl (Ohio State defeated Oregon). Each of the four bowl wins came against a team that was ranked among the top 15 in the nation.

Iowa made its first BCS bowl appearance in the 2003 FedEx Orange Bowl. Following the 2003 season, Big Ten teams competed in both the Rose Bowl and the Fiesta Bowl. Big Ten teams won both the Fiesta Bowl and the Orange Bowl following the 2005 season. The Big Ten placed teams in both the Rose Bowl and the BCS national championship game in both 2006 and 2007.

In seven of the past 12 seasons, the Big Ten Conference has advanced at least one men's basketball team to the NCAA Final Four. In 1999, 2000 and 2005, the Big Ten was represented by two teams at the Final Four. Michigan State claimed the 2000 national title, while Indiana advanced to the championship game in 2002 and Illinois reached the championship contest in 2005. Michigan State has advanced to the Final Four in each of the last two seasons.

The Iowa Hawkeyes have won nine of the last 16 NCAA wrestling titles, including the last three consecutively under Coach Tom Brands.

BUILDING THE FUTURE

In 1989, the Big Ten created a community outreach program—SCORE (Success Comes Out of Reading Everyday), which partners the conference with two Chicago elementary schools to improve reading performances. What began with one school, two grade levels and five classrooms has grown in its 20th year to include grades kindergarten through eighth, encompassing all classes and students at Melody School and Louis Armstrong School. Following the national tragedy on Sept. 11, 2001, the Big Ten, through its intercollegiate athletic department revenues, pledged a $1 million scholarship contribution to assist the families of those affected by the terrorist attacks. The conference's donation is called the "Big Ten 9-11 Scholarship Fund", and the $1 million contribution will be drawn from conference reserves which are generated as a result of football and men's basketball participation in NCAA, bowl and regular-season television opportunities.

The Big Ten has established numerous community programs surrounding the Big Ten Men's and Women's Basketball Tournaments, including the Wayne Duke Postgraduate Award Scholarship, the Big Ten Career Fair, the Hoops Day 5K and a partnership with the Pink Ribbon Connection, a local breast cancer organization.

THE BIG TEN NETWORK

FORMER HAWKEYE ON BIG TEN NETWORK

Herron has been with the BTN since 2008, serving in the dual role as both a game and studio analyst. Herron also covers bowl games for the Big Ten Network and hosts the show, "Draft Prep All Access".

Big Ten Network Programming

The Big Ten Network is on the air 24 hours per day, 365 days a year. The network annually televises more than 350 live events and streams an additional 300+ events. Each year's schedule is comprised of approximately 35-40 football games, 105 regular season men's basketball games, Big Ten Men's Basketball Tournament games, 55 women's basketball games, Big Ten Women's Basketball Tournament games, hundreds of additional Olympic sports events and dozens of Big Ten championship events.

Every Big Ten Network football game telecast is surrounded by Big Ten Football Saturday, the network's pre-game, halftime and post-game show hosted by Dave Revsine and analysts Gerry DiNardo and Howard Griffith.

New for the 2010 season, the Big Ten Network will offer two hours of new programming every weeknight. In addition, the highly-anticipated series, Big Ten Icons, will debut on Saturday, Sept. 18, and will be hosted by broadcasting legend Keith Jackson. The 20-episode series will count down the top student-athletes in Big Ten history across all sports based on their collegiate careers. In all, the network will supplement its game coverage with a dozen football-themed shows each week.

The fall programming lineup will feature several new shows, highlighted by Big Ten Icons, Big Ten Film Vault and The Next Level. Returning programs will include Behind the Schemes, Big Ten's Best, Big Ten Breakdown, Big Ten Football & Beyond, Big Ten Tailgate and The Big Ten's Greatest Games.

In addition to live events, the network also airs coaches' shows and classic games and each campus has the opportunity to produce original, campus programming highlighting various aspects of campus life and the qualities that make each university unique.

Some of the Big Ten Network's streamed events are also televised on delay as part of the network's Student U initiative. Big Ten students on each campus produce and announce these events, offering a unique opportunity to gain real-world television experience.

Why the Network Was Created

The Big Ten Network was created to provide the conference with more national exposure for Big Ten sports while enhancing its existing television agreements with its other television partners.

The conference wanted to control more fully the advertising environment in which its events were aired (the network accepts no alcohol or gambling advertising), dramatically increase exposure for women's sports and other NCAA sports that had not previously been widely televised and improve distribution for football and men's basketball games that were previously available only on a local or regional basis.

Considered to be one of the most successful launches in cable television history, the Big Ten Network became the first network in cable or satellite television history to reach 30 million subscribers within its first 30 days on the air. The Big Ten Network is a joint venture between subsidiaries of the Big Ten Conference and Fox Cable Networks.

The Big Ten Network's Impact

The network has provided an additional revenue source at a time of continued decreases in state support. The network has also provided significant and additional exposure for all Big Ten men's and women's sports, some of which previously received little or no television exposure. It also helps with recruiting in all sports as the ability for parents to watch their children compete from anywhere across the country is a major selling point.

THE HEISMAN TROPHY

The Heisman Trophy, honoring the most outstanding college football player in the United States, is presented by the Downtown Athletic Club of New York each year. Iowa's Nile Kinnick earned the Heisman Trophy in 1939.

Iowa's Nile Kinnick (1939) and Navy's Roger Staubach (1963) are the only veterans to win the Heisman Trophy. As part of its 2008 Memorial Day tribute to veterans, ESPN named Kinnick as one of its top ten college athletes to serve in the armed forces.

Along with Kinnick earning the award in 1939, Iowa has had a player finish in the Top 10 in the voting on nine other occasions, including the 2002 season when QB Brad Banks placed second in the balloting. Banks became the fourth Iowa player to place second in the voting, joining Alex Karras in 1957, Randy Duncan in 1958 and Chuck Long in 1985.

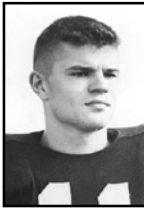

Following the 2008 season, RB Shonn Greene placed sixth in the voting and was the top vote getter among all running backs. Greene's sixth place finish is the highest for an Iowa running back. He was a consensus all-American and received the Doak Walker Award as the top running back in the nation.

THE HEISMAN TROPHY

NILE KINNICK HEISMAN AWARD ACCEPTANCE SPEECH

"Thank you very, very, kindly, Mr. Holcombe. It seems to me that everyone is letting their superlatives run away with them this evening, but none the less, I want you to know that I'm mighty, mighty, happy to accept this trophy this evening.

Every football player in these United States dreams about winning that trophy, and of this fine trip to New York. Every player considers that trophy the acme in recognition of this kind. And the fact that I am actually receiving this trophy tonight almost overwhelms me, and I know that all of those boys who have gone before me must have felt somewhat the same way.

From my own personal viewpoint, I consider my winning this award as indirectly, a great tribute to the new coaching staff at the University of Iowa, headed by Dr. Eddie Anderson, and to my teammates sitting back in Iowa City. A finer man and a better coach never hit these United States, and a more courageous bunch of boys, never graced the gridirons of the Midwest, than that Iowa team in 1939. I wish that they might all be with me tonight to receive this trophy. They certainly deserve it.

I want to take this grand opportunity to thank collectively, all the sportswriters and all the sportscasters, and all those who have seen fit, have seen their way clear to cast a ballot in my favor for this trophy. And I also want to take this opportunity to thank Mr. Prince and his committee, the Heisman award committee, and all those connected with the Downtown Athletic Club for this trophy, and for the fine time that they're showing me. And not only for that, but for making this fine and worthy trophy available to the football players of this country.

Finally, if you will permit me, I'd like to make a comment which in my mind, is indicative, perhaps, of the greater significance of football, and sports emphasis in general in this country, and that is, I thank God I was warring on the gridirons of the Midwest, and not on the battlefields of Europe. I can speak confidently and positively that the players of this country, would much more, much rather struggle and fight to win the Heisman award, than the Croix de Guerre.

Thank you."

NATIONAL AWARD WINNERS

Throughout the years, a number of Iowa football players have been honored by winning national awards for their outstanding play on the football field. The individual awards earned by the 2002 and 2003 Hawkeye football program are unprecedented in the history of Iowa football as four individual earned national awards.

Since the 2002 season, Iowa is one of three Division I football programs in the nation to have five different players earn the "Player of the Year" award at their respective positions.

While posting an 11-2 overall record in 2009 and a victory in the FedEx Orange Bowl, the Hawkeyes gathered several post-season awards and honors. Bryan Bulaga was named the Offensive Lineman of the Year in the Big Ten and DE Adrian Clayborn was named national Defensive Performer of the Year by the College Football Performance Awards. Bulaga and Clayborn joined five teammates in earning first team all-Big Ten honors.

In 2008, running back Shonn Greene earned consensus all-America honors and was named the recipient of the Doak Walker Award, which goes each year to the top running back in the nation. Greene established an Iowa single season rushing record and was the only running back in the nation to gain over 100 yards in every game. Greene was also named the Offensive Player of the Year in the Big Ten Conference. He placed sixth in the voting for the Heisman Trophy.

While Greene led the Iowa offense in 2008, tackle Mitch King was the leader of another standout Hawkeye defensive unit. King was named as the 2008 Big Ten Conference Defensive Lineman of the Year.

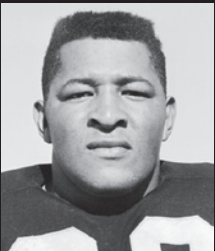

Offensive tackle Robert Gallery in 2003 was the recipient of the Outland Trophy, which goes to the best interior lineman in college football. Gallery was named the Big Ten Lineman of the Year and he was a consensus all-American. He is the third Hawkeye player to earn the Outland Trophy.

PK Nate Kaeding earned the Lou Groza Award as the top kicker in the nation in 2002 as a junior. He also earned consensus all-America honors in 2003 and was one of three finalists for the Groza Award as a senior. Kaeding earned all-Pro recognition for the second time in his professional career in 2009.

Also in 2002, Dallas Clark earned the John Mackey Award as the top tight end in the nation and QB Brad Banks was recognized with the Davey O'Brien Award as the top signal caller in the nation. Clark was named to the NFL's all-Pro team in 2009 as well.

Following the 2007 season, linebacker Mike Klinkenborg was named a National Football Foundation Scholar-Athlete, earning an $18,000 post-graduate scholarship. A two-time first team academic all-American, Klinkenborg was also a finalist for the Draddy Award.

Along with having three players earn Player of the Year awards for their positions (QB Brad Banks, TE Dallas Clark and PK Nate Kaeding) in 2002, Iowa had a total of 11 players earn first team all-Big Ten honors. In addition to earning the Davey O'Brien Award as the top quarterback, Banks was named Associated Press National Player of the Year, placed second in the Heisman Trophy voting and was named the Most Valuable Player and Offensive Player of the Year in the Big Ten Conference. Banks was also a finalist for the Maxwell Award and the Walter Camp Foundation Player of the Year.

The 2002 and 2003 seasons marked just the third and fourth seasons in which Iowa has had more than one consensus selection. Steinbach, in 2002, preceded Gallery as the Big Ten Lineman of the Year.

In addition to the player honors, Coach Kirk Ferentz in 2002 was named national Coach of The Year by the Walter Camp Foundation and the Associated Press. The American Football Coaches Association (AFCA) selected Ron Aiken as the 2002 national Assistant Coach of the Year.

Ferentz repeated as the Big Ten Coach of the Year in 2004 as Iowa earned its second title in three seasons. Norm Parker, Iowa's defensive coordinator, was a finalist for the Broyles Award, which recognizes the nations top Division I assistant coach, in both 2004 and 2005.

Ferentz was named the Big Ten's Coach of the Year for the third time in 2009. He was also the AFCA Region Three Coach of the Year. He was a finalist for the Liberty Mutual national Coach of the Year and a semi-finalist for the George Munger Coach of the Year honor.

Fourteen individuals who have played and/or coached Iowa football have been inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame. That list includes four former Hawkeye coaches in Dr. Eddie Anderson, Forest Evashevski, Hayden Fry and Howard Jones.

The most recent Iowa addition to the Hall of Fame is linebacker Larry Station, a member of the 2009 Hall of Fame class. Station twice earned all-America honors at Iowa (1982-85) and led the 1985 Hawkeyes to a Big Ten title and Rose Bowl berth in his final season. He is one of two Iowa players to earn consensus all-America honors in more than one season. Station is the only player to lead Iowa in tackles in each of his four years. In addition, he earned first team academic all-America recognition as both a junior and senior.

RETIRED NUMBERS

24 NILE KINNICK

Halfback
Adel, Iowa

No single player or team captured the imagination of Hawkeye fans more than Nile Kinnick and his legendary Ironmen team of 1939. Kinnick, a stalwart on the playing field and in the classroom, was THE model Iowa football player.

As a student, Kinnick was senior class president. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the national scholastic honor society.

Maintaining a 3.4 GPA while participating in two sports, Kinnick earned a degree from the College of Commerce in 1940. He enrolled in the Iowa Law College.

As a player, his achievements are unmatched in Hawkeye history. He culminated a brilliant career in 1939 by winning the Heisman, Walter Camp and Maxwell Trophies as the nation's top player.

He made virtually every all-America team and was the Big Ten MVP. Nile is a member of Iowa's all-time football team and was named its Most Outstanding Player.

Kinnick was the spirit of Coach Eddie Anderson's Ironmen unit of '39. The Hawkeyes' 6-1-1 mark included a 7-6 upset of Notre Dame when Kinnick scored every point. He also punted 16 times for 731 yards, both Iowa records, versus the Fighting Irish.

Kinnick died in the Caribbean sea in a crash of his fighter plane while on a training flight June 2, 1943 as an ensign in the United States Navy.

62 CAL JONES

Lineman
Steubenville, Ohio

Jersey No. 62 was never worn more proudly than the three seasons Cal Jones donned it at Iowa.

One of the most intimidating linemen to wear the old gold and black, Jones was a three-time first team all-Big Ten guard. He made 22 all-American teams during his career, including a record 15 in 1954.

As team captain in 1955, Jones earned the prestigious Outland Trophy, given to the nation's top interior lineman. He was a consensus all-American twice, one of only two at Iowa. Cal is an elected member of the National Football Foundation and Helms Athletic Foundation Halls of Fame.

Jones most recently was inducted into the inaugural class of Iowa Lettermen's Club Hall of Fame. He was also chosen to the Iowa all-time football team in 1989.

A physical education major at Iowa, Jones earned a 3.0 grade-point average. He earned praise from Coach Forest Evashevski, who called him "the greatest lineman I ever coached."

The two-way guard was part of the "Steubenville Trio" (along with Frank Gilliam and Eddie Vincent) to come to Iowa from Steubenville, Ohio in the mid-1950s.

Jones died as a result of a plane crash in Canada on Dec. 9, 1956.

IOWA TRADITIONS

HERKY, FLOYD, CY, HEARTLAND

FLOYD OF ROSEDALE

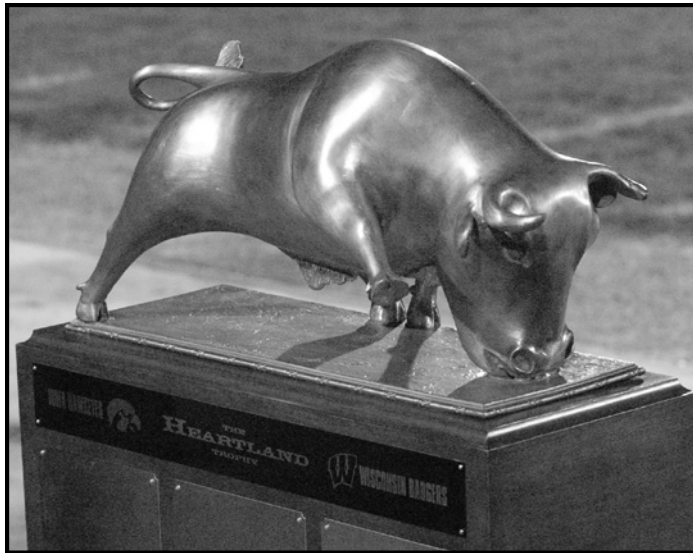

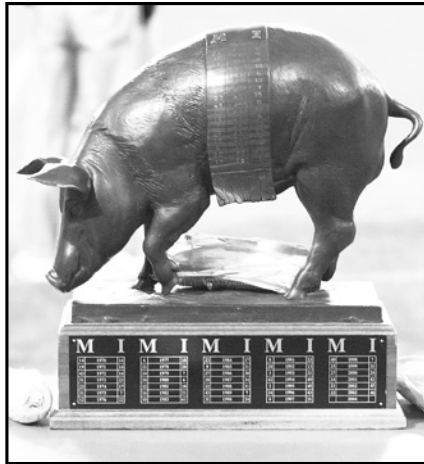

To the winner of the Iowa-Minnesota football game goes possession of a statue of a pig named "Floyd of Rosedale."

A bet in 1935 between Minnesota Governor Floyd B. Olson and Iowa Governor Clyde Herring gave birth to Floyd of Rosedale. Tensions between the two state universities had been running high and a wager was made in an effort to relieve the situation.

After Iowa lost the 1935 game, Herring presented Olson with Floyd of Rosedale, a full-blooded champion pig and a brother of BlueBoy from Will Rogers' movie State Fair. Olson gave the pig to the University of Minnesota and commissioned St. Paul sculptor Charles Brioscho to capture Floyd's image.

The result is a bronze pig 21 inches long and 15 inches high and weighs in at 98.3 pounds. Floyd currently resides in Iowa City as a result of Iowa's 12-0 victory last season in Kinnick Stadium. Minnesota holds a 39-34-2 advantage in the series with Floyd of Rosedale on the line.

The winning university is entitled to keep the trophy until it loses the annual battle.

THE HEARTLAND TROPHY

The Heartland Trophy was inaugurated in 2004 and goes each year to the winner of the football battle between Iowa and Wisconsin.

The trophy was designed and crafted by artist and former Iowa football player Frank Strub. The trophy, which is a bull mounted on a walnut base (native to both Wisconsin and Iowa), has been inscribed with the scores of all games in the long-time series. The teams have met 85 times, with Iowa holding a 42-41-2 advantage.

Iowa holds a 4-2 advantage since the inception of the Heartland Trophy in 2004. The Hawkeyes maintained possession of the Heartland Trophy with a 20-10 win in Madison in 2009.

The winning university is entitled to keep the trophy until it loses the annual battle.

HERKY AND THE HAWKEYES

The University of Iowa borrowed its athletic nickname from the state of Iowa many years ago.

The name Hawkeye was originally applied to a hero in a fictional novel, The Last of the Mohicans, written by James Fenimore Cooper. Author Cooper had the Delaware Indians bestow the name on a white scout who lived with them.

In 1838, 12 years after the book was published, people in the territory of Iowa acquired the nickname, chiefly through the efforts of Judge David Rorer of Burlington and James Edwards of Fort Madison.

Edwards, editor of the Fort Madison Patriot, moved his paper to Burlington in 1843 and renamed it the Burlington Hawk-Eye. The two men continued their campaign to popularize the name and territorial officials eventually gave it their formal approval.

The Hawkeye nickname gained a tangible symbol in 1948 when a cartoon character, later to be named Herky the Hawk, was hatched. The creator was Richard Spencer III, instructor of journalism.

The impish hawk was an immediate hit and he acquired a name through a statewide contest staged by the athletic department. John Franklin, a Belle Plaine alumnus, was the man who suggested Herky.

Since his birth over 60 years ago, Herky has symbolized Iowa athletics and epitomized University life. He even donned a military uniform during the Korean War and became the insignia of the 124th Fighter Squadron.

During the mid-1950s Herky came to life at a football game as the Iowa mascot. Since then Herky has been a familiar figure at Iowa athletic events.

THE CY-HAWK TROPHY

When The University of Iowa resumed its football series with Iowa State in 1977, the Des Moines Athletic Club donated a trophy to be awarded to the winner of the annual in-state battle.

The Cy-Hawk Trophy features a football player in the classic running back pose, and also includes a likeness of both Herky the Hawkeye and Cy the Cardinal on the front of the trophy.

The Hawkeyes hold a 38-20 advantage in the series that began in 1894, including a 22-11 margin since 1977 when the Cy-Hawk Trophy was first awarded. Iowa maintained possession of the Cy-Hawk Trophy with a 35-3 victory last season in Ames.

The winning university is entitled to keep the trophy until it loses the annual battle.

KIRK FERENTZ

HEAD FOOTBALL COACH

Kirk Ferentz is in his 12th year as head football coach at the University of Iowa. His tenure as Iowa's head football coach trails only Hayden Fry, who led the Hawkeyes for 20 seasons (1979-98). Ferentz ranks second in longevity among Big Ten Conference football coaches.

Following the 2009 campaign he was named Dave McClain

Big Ten Coach of the Year for the third time in the last eight years. He joins the select company of Bo Schembechler, Hayden Fry and Joe Paterno in winning the prestigious award at least three times. He previously was named Coach of the Year in 2002 and 2004. He was also named national Coach of the Year by the Associated Press and Walter Camp Foundation in 2002. Ferentz was named a 2009 Regional Coach of the Year by the American Football Coaches Association as well. His five bowl victories rank fifth all-time among Big Ten coaches.

Ferentz and his staff have led the Hawkeyes to bowl eligible status in each of the last nine seasons. The Hawkeyes appeared in six straight bowl games between 2001 and 2006, the second longest bowl streak in school history (Iowa appeared in eight straight bowl games from 1981-88). Iowa's streak under Ferentz included a string of four straight January games from 2002-05. January bowl appearances the last two seasons make the Iowa program one of just eight in the nation to appear in six January bowl games the last eight seasons.

The 2009 Hawkeyes (11-2) surprised a lot of football experts by winning their first nine games (a school record) and moving to fourth in the BCS rankings. The loss of starting quarterback Ricky Stanzi in the 10th game was a key factor in Iowa losing two straight games before winning its regular season finale and the FedEx Orange Bowl. Iowa finished in a tie for second (6-2) in the Big Ten, falling to Ohio State on the road in overtime in the next to last regular season game.

Along with the second place finish a year ago, The Hawkeyes earned a share of the Big Ten title in both 2002 and 2004. The Hawkeyes have finished in the league's first division in eight of the past nine seasons.

Iowa's success in 2009 came after the Hawkeyes blocked consecutive field goal attempts on the final two plays of the game in an opening win over Northern Iowa. Overall, the Hawkeyes won four games by three points or less, while the losses were by seven and three points, the second coming in overtime in the championship game at Ohio State.

The season featured impressive road victories over Penn State, Wisconsin, Michigan State and Iowa State. And, for the second straight year, maintained possession of all three traveling trophies (Cy-Hawk, Heartland and Floyd of Rosedale). With the 24-14 win over ACC champion Georgia Tech in the Orange Bowl, Iowa has won its last nine games with a trophy on the line.

Seven Hawkeyes earned first team all-Big Ten honors, including OL Bryan Bulaga, who was named Offensive Lineman of the Year. DE Adrian Clayborn was named national Defensive Performer of the Year by College Football Performance Awards. Six were selected in the 2010 NFL draft.

Iowa has won 12 of its last 14 games in Kinnick Stadium. The Hawkeyes are 44-9 (.830) at home since the start of the 2002 season, 11th best in the nation and second in the Big Ten. That mark includes a school-record 22-game winning streak (2002-05), which ended with an overtime loss. Iowa sold out 36 straight home games during that time and has sold out 42 of its last 44 home games.

The 2008 Hawkeyes caught fire in the second half of the season by winning six of their final seven games. Iowa finished the season with a 9-4 record (5-3 in the Big Ten), with the losses coming by a total of 12 points.

Iowa won its first three games in 2008 before three close losses. A win over previously undefeated and third-ranked Penn State (24-23) was the biggest highlight of the successful stretch run. The icing on the cake was a convincing 31-10 win over South Carolina in the 2009 Outback Bowl in Tampa, FL. The win enabled the Hawkeyes to finish 20th in the final AP and USA Today Coaches polls.

Four Hawkeyes made the 2008 first all-Big Ten team, with two gaining considerable individual honors. Running back Shonn Greene was named winner of the Chicago Tribune's Silver Football, emblematic of the league's most valuable player. He was also named the league's Offensive Player of the Year by both league coaches and media. Greene was also the MVP of the Outback Bowl. Defensive tackle Mitch King was named the league's defensive Lineman of the Year in earning all-league first team honors for the second straight year.

Under Ferentz, the Hawkeyes have put together the greatest run in school history. The Hawkeyes also won 11 games in 2002 and 10 games in both 2003 and 2004. With a 7-5 record in 2005, Iowa posted a four-year mark of 38-12, the best in school history. And, Iowa's 25 Big Ten wins were the most ever by a Hawkeye team in a four-year span. No other Big Ten team won more league games over that four-year period.

Iowa's 6-6 record in 2007 included a 4-4 mark in Big Ten play. The Hawkeyes won their final three league games of the year and four of the last five.

Iowa climbed as high as 12th in the 2006 polls while winning five of its first six games. Injuries and inopportune mistakes played a role as the Hawkeyes struggled for consistency during the second half of the season. Still, a 24-21 loss to 15th-ranked Wisconsin and the two-point loss to 16th-ranked Texas in the Alamo Bowl showed Iowa's toughness.

Ferentz led the Hawkeyes to a third place Big Ten finish in 2005. An overtime loss to Michigan and a last-minute, one point loss at Northwestern is all that kept the Hawkeyes out of contention for a third Big Ten title in four years.

Ferentz led the 2004 Hawkeyes to their second Big Ten title in three years and earned the league's Coach of the Year honors for the second time. Iowa's 10-2 (7-1 in the Big Ten) record was expected by very few. A victory in the 2005 Capital One Bowl (30-25 over defending national champion LSU) capped off a third straight appearance in a January bowl game.

Iowa put the topping on the 2003 and 2004 seasons by beating favored SEC teams in New Year's Day bowl games. The Hawkeyes ended the 2002, 2003 and 2004 seasons with an eighth place ranking in the final polls. On a national scale, Iowa's record over that three year span ranked eighth best in the nation.

The 2003 Hawkeyes were the only Big Ten team to beat league champion Michigan (30-27). Five Iowa players were named to the 2003 first all-Big Ten team and two were named first team all-America. Hawkeye offensive lineman Robert Gallery was named winner of the 2003 Outland Trophy, which goes to the nation's top collegiate interior lineman. Iowa put the topping on the 2003 season by beating a favored Florida team (37-17) in the Outback Bowl, in Tampa, FL, on New Year's Day.

The 2002 team was probably the most decorated in Iowa football history.

Ferentz was named 2002 Associated Press and The Walter Camp Football Foundation's Coach of the Year in college football. He was also named Big Ten Coach of the Year in a season that saw his team climb as high as third in the national rankings.

Ferentz led the 2002 Hawkeyes to their first Big Ten title since 1990 and the most wins (11) in school history. Iowa posted impressive road wins at Penn State and Michigan on its way to the school's first undefeated Big Ten campaign since 1922. The win over Michigan was the most convincing by a Wolverine opponent, in Ann Arbor, since 1967. The Hawkeyes also played in the BCS's FedEx Orange Bowl for the first time, having their nine-game winning streak snapped by Southern California.

Winning three of its final four games in 2001, Ferentz led Iowa to the Sylvania Alamo Bowl in San Antonio, TX, where the Hawkeyes defeated Texas Tech 19-16.

The foundation of Kirk's program at Iowa was established in his first two seasons and began to pay dividends late in the 2000 season when the Hawkeyes won in double overtime at Penn State. Iowa returned home the following week to post a 27-17 win over Big Ten co-champion Northwestern, ranked 12th in the nation at the time. That late-season success carried over into the winning campaign of 2001.

Ferentz was named Iowa's 25th head football coach on December 2, 1998. He replaced Fry, who retired after 20 seasons with the Hawkeyes. At Iowa, Ferentz has an overall record of 81-55, including a 77-36 mark over the last nine seasons. He has posted a 49-39 record in Big Ten play. His career record is 93-76 in 14 years as a collegiate head coach. Ferentz is one of just seven Big Ten coaches ever to guide a team to 10 wins or more in three straight seasons.

And while Ferentz has guided the Iowa program to great success on the field, the Hawkeyes have also made their mark in the classroom. Iowa's most recent graduation success rate (GSR) of 74% ranked second among the 10 teams that competed in 2010 BCS bowl games. Among the top 25 teams in the national polls at the conclusion of the 2008 season, Iowa's graduation success of 75% ranked third.

In 2005, Iowa tied Southern Cal and Virginia Tech with the best football student-athlete graduation rate (58%) among all Division I teams earning a bowl invitation. Among the teams which participated in bowl games following the 2002, 2003 and 2004 seasons, only Iowa and Southern Cal ranked in the top five in graduation rates in each of the three seasons. Among the 64 schools who participated in bowl games following the 2006 season, Iowa's graduation rate (72%) ranked ninth best.

Along with Ferentz earning conference and national Coach of the Year recognition, members of his staff have also been well recognized. Norm Parker, Iowa's defensive coordinator, was a finalist for the 2004 and 2005 Frank Broyles Award, which recognizes the top Division I assistant coach in the nation. Lester Erb, who has coached running backs, wide receivers and special teams at Iowa, was named by Rivals.com as one of the top 25 recruiters in 2005. Ron Aiken, Iowa's defensive line coach through the 2006 season, was the American Football Coaches Association Division I Assistant Coach of the Year in 2002. Aiken is now on the coaching staff of the NFL's Arizona Cardinals.

Under Ferentz and his staff, Hawkeye players have gathered all-Big Ten and national recognition at a record pace. Five Hawkeye players have earned national Player of the Year honors at their position. Those include offensive lineman Robert Gallery (Outland Trophy), place kicker Nate Kaeding (Lou Groza Award), quarterback Brad Banks (Davey O'Brien Award and AP Player of the Year), tight end Dallas Clark (John Mackey Award) and Shonn Greene (Doak Walker Award). Banks was also the runner-up in the 2002 Heisman Trophy voting.

Banks (2002) and Greene (2008) were both named Big Ten Conference Player of the Year and conference MVP. Guard Eric Steinbach (2002), Gallery (2003), King (2008) and Bulaga (2009) were all winners of the Big Ten Lineman of the Year award. Gallery, in 2003, became the ninth Hawkeye to earn the Lineman of the Year award.

Another part of Iowa's success under Ferentz is reflected in the annual NFL draft. Six Hawkeyes were drafted in the 2010 NFL draft, including OL Bryan Bulaga (Green Bay) in the first round (23rd pick overall). LB Pat Angerer (Indianapolis) was taken in the second round, while DB Amani Spivey (Detroit) and TE Tony Moeaki (Kansas City) were third round selections. LB A.J. Edds (Miami) was taken in the fourth round and OL Kyle Calloway (Buffalo) was a sixth round selection.

RB Shonn Greene (New York Jets) and DB Bradley Fletcher (St. Louis Rams) were the first two players selected, respectively, in the third round of the 2009 NFL draft. OL Seth Olsen (Denver) was a fourth round selection and TE Brandon Myers (Oakland) was selected in the sixth round.

In the 2008 NFL draft, DB Charles Godfrey was a third round selection of the Carolina Panthers, while DE Ken Iwebema was a fourth round selection (Arizona) and LB Mike Humpal was selected in the sixth round (Pittsburgh).

LB Chad Greenway was a first round pick in the 2006 draft, with fellow linebacker Abdul Hodge being selected in the third round. In the 2007 draft, OL Marshal Yanda (third round, Baltimore), TE Scott Chandler (fourth, San Diego) and OL Mike Elgin (seventh, New England) were selected.

In the 2005 NFL draft, DE Matt Roth and DT Jonathan Babineaux were second round selections and DB Sean Considine was taken in the fourth round.

Robert Gallery was the second selection in the 2004 NFL draft, while Bob Sanders was selected in the second round as the first pick of the Indianapolis Colts. Nate Kaeding, a third round selection of the San Diego Chargers, became the first kicker since 2000 (and just the sixth ever) to be selected on the first day of the draft.

Overall, 33 players have been drafted in the past eight years, with eight being selected among the top 50 picks. In addition, five Hawkeye players signed NFL free agent contracts the day after the 2003 and 2007 drafts, nine signed free agent contracts immediately following the 2004 draft, three in 2005 and 2008 and four following the 2006 and 2009 drafts.

Over the past eight seasons, 75 of 82 senior starters under Coach Ferentz have been selected in the NFL draft or signed to an NFL free agent contract. Iowa ranks among Big Ten leaders in number of players drafted (36) over the past nine years.

Among the former Hawkeyes who have gone on to play in the NFL, Kaeding, Sanders, TE Dallas Clark (Indianapolis) and DL Aaron Kampman (Green Bay) have earned all-Pro recognition. Sanders was named by the Associated Press as the 2007 NFL defensive Player of the Year.

Ferentz joined the Iowa staff after serving as assistant head coach and offensive line coach of the Baltimore Ravens of the National Football League. He had been a part of the Baltimore (Cleveland Browns prior to the move) organization for six years.

Ferentz was a member of Hayden Fry's Iowa staff for nine years as offensive line coach (1981-89). Iowa appeared in eight bowl games during the time Ferentz was an Iowa assistant. A pair of Rose Bowls (1982 & 1986), two Holiday Bowl appearances (1986-87) and a pair of Peach Bowl visits (1982 & 1988), along with appearances in the Gator (1983) and Freedom (1984) bowls, highlighted his previous Iowa stay. Iowa's record in those nine years was 73-33-4 and included two 10-win and two nine-win seasons.

Offensive lines under the direction of Ferentz anchored four of Iowa's highest scoring offenses. Five of Iowa's top offensive teams, in terms of yards gained per game, were operating behind Ferentz coached offensive lines. And, seven of Iowa's top 10 passing teams of all time occurred during the Ferentz years of the 1980's.

Kirk's coaching career began as a student assistant (1977) at his alma mater, Connecticut. The next two years (1978-79) were spent at Worcester Academy, where Kirk also taught English literature. He served as a graduate assistant offensive line coach at Pittsburgh during the 1980 season. That Pittsburgh team (coached by Jackie Sherrill) finished with an 11-1 record and a number two national ranking.

He joined Fry's staff in 1981 and the Hawkeyes won their first conference title and Rose Bowl berth in over 20 years. A string of 19 straight non-winning seasons came to an end in 1981. Ferentz continued as Iowa's line coach thru the 1989 season.

Eleven Hawkeyes, coached by Ferentz (the assistant), went on to play in the National Football League. They were John Alt, Rob Baxley, Dave Croston, Scott Davis, Mike Devlin, Chris Gambol, Mike Haight, Ron Hallstrom, Joel Hilgenberg, Bob Kratch and Brett Miller. Alt, Haight and Hallstrom were first round picks in the NFL draft and five of his players were first team all-Big Ten.

He was named head coach of the Maine Bears in 1990 and held that position for three years before being hired by Bill Belichick and the Cleveland Browns.

Kirk served as the honorary chair of the University of Iowa's 1999-00 United Way campaign and he serves on the National Advisory Board of the Bethesda Family Services Foundation. Kirk and his wife, Mary, have given two major financial gifts to the University of Iowa. The most recent was a $400,000 gift to the University's College of Liberal Arts and University Children's Hospital. The Ferentz' also made a $100,000 gift to the University's College of Liberal Arts in 2003.

Ferentz was born August 1, 1955, in Royal Oak, MI. He attended Upper St. Clair High School in Pittsburgh. He graduated from the University of Connecticut in 1978 with a bachelor's degree in English Education. He was a football captain and an academic all-Yankee Conference linebacker at UConn.

Kirk received the Distinguished Alumnus Award from the Neag School of Education at the University of Connecticut in May, 2009. He was inducted into the Upper St. Clair High School Hall of Fame in September, 2002 and the Western Chapter of the Pennsylvania Sports Hall of Fame in May, 2003.

Kirk and his wife, Mary, have five children. They are Brian (27), Kelly (25), Joanne (23), James (21) and Steven (17). Brian was a senior on the 2005 Iowa football team and James is in his third year with the program. Kelly is in graduate school at Iowa and Joanne earned her degree from Iowa in 2010.

WHAT OTHERS ARE SAYING

HEAD COACH KIRK FERENTZ

"Kirk is a consummate professional. He represents everything for which Iowa stands. He's focused on winning, developing young people, and doing things the right way. I enjoy working with him as a football coach and as a person."

GARY BARTA

Director of Athletics
University of Iowa

"I couldn't be happier having Kirk Ferentz as Iowa's head coach. He did a fantastic job when he was here with me. He's very bright. He's very energetic. Fundamentally, he's very sound. Kirk is intelligent, an outstanding teacher and an individual who is an outstanding representative of Iowa football and the University of Iowa. Kirk has been here before, has seen how special Iowa, Iowans, and the University of Iowa are. Kirk, his staff and his players truly deserve the success they have enjoyed. And, they have built a great foundation for future success."

I love the sensitivity that he has for his players. He's the kind of guy the players love and respect -- and he will get close to them. He's a very genuine person, easy to know."

HAYDEN FRY

Iowa Football Coach, 1979-98
College Football Hall of Fame

"His teams always play with great intelligence, great savvy and feel for the game. When Kirk Ferentz has a dangerous team, they are talented in the trenches. They sent a message to the rest of the Big Ten, that when you take on Iowa, you better be ready to get physical on both sides of the line of scrimmage. I'm really impressed with their effort tonight and what they did up front."

I would challenge a lot of teams to come into this environment and be able to do what this Iowa football team did. That was impressive."

KIRK HERBSTREIT

ABC-TV Prime-Time Telecast
Iowa at Penn State, Sept. 26, 2009

"I'm going to say right now, this is one of the most intelligent football teams I have watched this season. They are very well coached. They know exactly what they have to do. This man can flat coach football. He's simply one of the most solid football men in the country."

He is . . . one of the great guys in the profession. He is a class act, not just a great football coach; you can see why players want to have a chance to play for him; he's as quality a guy as you'll ever see."

HEAD COACH KIRK FERENTZ

"When I was first recruited by Iowa, I heard nothing but the best about Coach Ferentz and the Iowa staff. After I met Coach and the staff and had spent some time with them, that all held true. Coach Ferentz is a terrific coach, and a great person. That holds true for the rest of the staff as well. They are great teachers, but also great people to be around."

Another thing that really stood out about Coach Ferentz, what I really love about him, is the way he coached and taught us. His approach didn't change from 2007 to 2009, he was teaching the same fundamentals and the same basics; he is a great teacher and a great coach. It was very beneficial for me to learn from Coach Ferentz and Coach Reese Morgan. They both really helped me become the football player I am today."

BRYAN BULAGA

First Round Selection, 2010 NFL Draft
Green Bay Packers

"The first thing you learn about Coach Ferentz is that he cares more about you as an individual. He cares about you off the field, about your family, how you are doing with your academics. He cares about all his players as a person first, not just as an athlete."

You learn from Coach Ferentz to do everything you do at a championship level. How you practice, how you prepare for games, how you deal with your school work and how you deal with people. He teaches you as a player to do everything at a championship level, and if you do that you will be successful in life."

Playing in the NFL is definitely a big business. Coach Ferentz operates his program at Iowa at the same level. Through his experience in the NFL, Coach Ferentz prepares his players for the way they will do things in the NFL. Being a part of the Iowa football program prepared me to make a smooth transition to the NFL and professional football."

ABDUL HODGE

All-American Linebacker
Third Round Selection, 2006 NFL Draft
Green Bay Packers
Current NFL player, Cincinnati Bengals

"Kirk Ferentz is one of the all-time good guys, and so well respected within his profession. He is a wonderful person."

I think, he may have the best run program out there; I just think he runs a fantastic program."

SEAN MCDONOUGH/MATT MILLEN

ABC-TV
Iowa at Ohio State, Nov. 14, 2009

"Being a part of the University of Iowa and the Hawkeye football program helped me become a man in many more aspects than just being a football player. Even after being out of school for several years, Coach Ferentz and I continue to keep a strong and personal friendship, along with a player-coach relationship."

Coach Ferentz, Coach Doyle, Coach Morgan, those are guys that truly care for you as a person. As players, they prepare us for life outside the game of football. It's been a great experience to be a part of this program and earn my degree from the University of Iowa. Coach Ferentz and his staff are great, great people who will always be great friends to me."

Being a part of a franchise that has seen a lot of coaching turnover, along with changes in coaching styles, I continue to return to Iowa City to re-establish the skills and technique that made me successful."

ROBERT GALLERY

2003 Outland Trophy
2003 Consensus All-American
Second player selected, 2004 NFL Draft

"This is the type of program we look to acquire players from, because we know what kind of environment they've grown up in, and that's important. What we look for is the same thing Coach Ferentz and his staff look for: reliable, dependable, accountable, smart, tough, disciplined players who are willing to work hard to help their team win."

I've been a long time admirer of Coach Ferentz' program. Some of the great names in Iowa history, I've had the pleasure to coach in the NFL."

HEAD COACH KIRK FERENTZ

"Coach Ferentz and his entire staff are great to work with. They did a great job in the recruiting process of showing me the positives and negatives that come with being a high level Division I athlete; they didn't lie and tell me what I wanted to hear. Coach Ferentz, from the very beginning, explained how he wanted a family type of environment around Iowa football and that is exactly what took place. My family and I will always be Hawkeyes and it is a credit to Coach Ferentz and his staff."

"My experience at Iowa outperformed all of my preconceived perceptions of what Big Ten football is and what it could be. Winning two Big Ten titles at Iowa will always be amongst my favorite football memories. Every game we played was on national TV and the exposure directly affected my ability to move on and play at the next level. Playing football in the Big Ten under Coach Ferentz is one of the greatest experiences of my life."

"Coach Ferentz and his staff prepared me for life after football. Their push for academic excellence was always put in front of football, and was always the most important thing. Knowing if football had not worked out, I could have done anything I wanted with my Communications degree from the University of Iowa. I liked the fact that Coach Ferentz took pride in athletes who excelled in academics."

CHAD GREENWAY

First Team All-Big Ten Linebacker, 2004, 2005
First Round NFL Draft, 2006
Team Tackle Leader, 2008 & 2009, Minnesota Vikings

"Coach Ferentz prepared me for the next step in my career. Playing at Iowa under his guidance was great preparation for the NFL. Just being at Iowa, I'm a step ahead of a lot of guys getting ready for the NFL. The way he runs his program is like an NFL program. I was blessed to be here."

"He is a very detailed and organized person who handles all the pressures very well. He takes care of his football program and his family. He teaches his players the way to live their lives, on and off the field. He's first class, he's a true man. He's a great father and a great coach. I learned a lot from him."

BOB SANDERS

NFL Defensive Player of the Year, 2007
NFL all-Pro, 2006 & 2007
Second round 2004 NFL Draft, Indianapolis Colts
Super Bowl champion, 2007
All-Big Ten Defensive Back, 2001, 2002, 2003

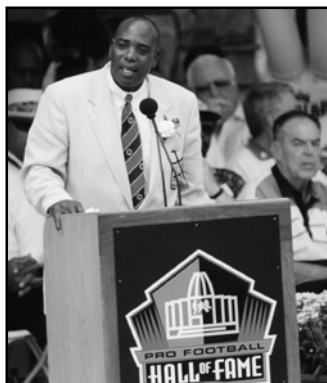

"Coach Ferentz is a perfect fit for the state of Iowa and the Iowa football program. Being in another part of the country, you see the impression that others have about Iowa and Iowans; hard working, honest and trustworthy people. Coach Ferentz possesses all of those Midwestern qualities and places an emphasis on developing his players as successful student-athletes and people."

"The best advice I received from Coach Ferentz, in preparing me for a career in professional football, was making the point that people weed themselves out. There aren't others there to help, you have to have the discipline to do the things that will make you successful on the field and handle yourself in a professional manner."

"I know that I am a better man because of the time I spent under Coach Ferentz, and I know there are hundreds of other players, before and after me, who believe the same way."

NATE KAEDING

All-American Kicker, 2002 and 2003
Third Round NFL Draft Selection, 2004
Two-time All-Pro, San Diego Chargers

"Kirk is a very organized person and coach, very thorough in his preparation and very good in the area of talent evaluation. Kirk is very personable with his players, and because of that relationship, his players really strive to perform at their maximum level."

"But really, the best thing you can say about Coach Ferentz is, he is a great person."

OZZIE NEWSOME

NFL Hall of Fame
General Manager
Baltimore Ravens

"Kirk is an outstanding football coach and a tremendous individual. He is dedicated to the game of football and continues to succeed in developing outstanding football players and, moreover, outstanding young men both in the college ranks and in the NFL."

"I have seen, first hand, his strength, confidence, intelligence and humility. However, his greatest strength lies in how he understands and engages in his relationships."

"I have also been fortunate enough to know Kirk away from football and see the love and loyalty he has for his family. The University of Iowa is very fortunate to have a man like Kirk Ferentz as its head football coach."

"He's the type of guy that doesn't want to direct any attention on himself, even in a time when he's having a tough time and maybe we can console him. He wanted it to be about the team and made that a point... I'm definitely proud of what we did today for Coach."

"Kirk did a great job with our offensive line in Cleveland. In 1994, we went 11-5, and certainly our success was in large part due to the offensive line play. He is a great teacher, very well organized."

Kirk, in the NFL, did a great job of developing players. Tony Jones, an all-pro for Denver, Orlando Brown, Wally Williams, Steve Everett, those are some young players he helped develop. Everett was drafted, but Williams and Brown were college free agents who have gone on to outstanding careers, two of the top unrestricted free agents in the NFL."

Kirk is a great teacher. He is well organized and has good discipline. His players are well disciplined and fundamentally sound. I can't say enough about him in terms of his intelligence, discipline and technique. He had a good sound understanding of football."

Kirk really relates well with the players, especially young players. All the coaches and players really had a lot of respect for him. We all think very highly of him as both a person and as a coach. It was really a great honor to have him on my staff. I wish Kirk the best of luck. I'll be watching closely and pulling for the Hawkeyes all the way."

Head Football Coach | New England Patriots
2002, 2004 & 2005 Super Bowl Champions

"The biggest thing, from what I have learned over time, is that it's all about caring. What really separates Coach Ferentz as one of the best coaches in college football is his level of caring for his players, his coaches, and the program. The coaches are there to win games, but to also develop young men, and Coach and his staff do both very, very well. His consistency, his demeanor, all those things combined makes him a tremendous asset to the University of Iowa and the football program."

Obviously, I think a lot of Coach Ferentz. He just does a tremendous job, and that includes his entire staff. The way they have stayed together, through all their success, says something about how much they care."

AARON KAMPMAN

2006 & 2007 All-Pro Selection | Jacksonville Jaguars

"Coming in as a walk-on you're trying to help in any way possible. For me, I never felt like I was treated any different. I got every chance, just like everyone else did, that was comforting. I had a chance to prove myself on the field, on special teams, and was able to continue on from there."

What makes Coach Ferentz a special coach, and different, is that he focuses on the little things. He never talked about winning; he really felt that was a by-product of doing the little things. He never wavered from those philosophies. Those are the same values that have given Iowa success over the years. He just really did a good job of staying with his beliefs and the Iowa tradition, and it has proven to be a great formula for success."

The tools that you are given at the University of Iowa are great and give you an edge, whether it's in professional football or just in the business world. You learn so much through the coaching staff and through Coach Doyle and his strength and conditioning staff. They really give you the tools to go out and be successful. I think that was a huge factor in my success, and fellow Hawkeyes who have gone on to the next level, to be able to make an impact."

KEN O'KEEFE

OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR & QUARTERBACKS

KEN O'KEEFE

Offensive Coordinator and Quarterbacks

12th Year at Iowa

Recruits Connecticut, Pennsylvania and Ohio

Ken O'Keefe is in his 12th season as offensive coordinator at the University of Iowa. O'Keefe is in his 10th season as Iowa's quarterbacks coach after coaching Hawkeye wide receivers in 1999.

Iowa concluded the 2009 season with a 24-14 win in the 2010 FedEx Orange Bowl and a national ranking of seventh in the nation. The Hawkeyes have been bowl eligible in each of the last nine seasons and have ranked in the final top 10 of both major polls four times in the past eight seasons.

The Hawkeyes have played in eight bowl games since 2001, including six appearances in January bowl games. Iowa has won five bowl games since 2001, including four January bowl victories. The January Bowl wins have come over Florida (2004 Outback), LSU (2005 Capital One), South Carolina (2009 Outback) and Georgia Tech (2010 Orange).

The Hawkeyes have won 70 games over the past eight seasons, including 42 Big Ten games. The Hawkeyes earned a share of the Big Ten title in both 2002 and 2004 and tied for second a year ago. Iowa has finished in the Big Ten's first division in eight of the past nine years.

Under O'Keefe's direction, Iowa's offense in 2009 was led by junior quarterback Ricky Stanzi and freshmen running backs Adam Robinson and Brandon Wegher. Iowa averaged over 222 passing yards per game and the rookie running backs combined to rush for 1,475 yards. Stanzi heads into his final season ranked among Iowa's career leaders in passing yards, touchdown passes and total offense.

Offensive linemen Bryan Bulaga and Dace Richardson, along with tight end Tony Moeaki, earned first team all-Big Ten honors last season, with Bulaga being named Big Ten Offensive Lineman of the Year. Bulaga was a first round selection in the 2010 NFL draft, while Moeaki was a third round selection and lineman Kyle Calloway was selected in the sixth round.

Iowa's offense in 2008 featured the Doak Walker Award winner in running back Shonn Greene and sophomore quarterback Ricky Stanzi. Iowa ranked fourth in the Big Ten in both rushing offense and pass efficiency while averaging over 370 yards total offense per game. The Hawkeyes ranked second in scoring offense (30.3) and first downs and third in time of possession.

Along with being honored as the top running back in the nation, Greene was named the Big Ten Conference offensive Player of the Year. Greene, (third round), OL Seth Olsen (fourth) and TE Brandon Myers (sixth) were all selected in the 2009 NFL draft.

From 2004-06, quarterback Drew Tate ranked as one of the nation's top signal callers. He ranks high in the Iowa record book for just about every passing stat. He is second in career passing (8,292), TD passes (61), completions (665), attempts (1,090) and total offense (8,427). Tate signed a free agent contract with the St. Louis Rams following his Hawkeye career before playing in the Canadian Football League.

Tate, in 2004, quarterbacked Iowa to a share of the Big Ten title and a win over defending national champion LSU in the 2005 Capital One Bowl. Forced to the air due to multiple injuries to Iowa running backs, Tate earned first team all-Big Ten honors while passing for 2,786 yards and 20 touchdowns. His 56-yard scoring strike on the final play of the Capital One Bowl will go down as one of, if not the, top plays in Hawkeye history.

The 2006 Hawkeyes finished second in Big Ten pass offense and third in total offense. Under O'Keefe's direction, the 2005 Hawkeyes ranked first in the Big Ten in redzone offense and third in passing offense (257.8). In 2004, Iowa ranked second in the Big Ten in passing offense, passing efficiency and redzone offense, posting a 10-2 record while winning a Big Ten title.

In his first year as a starter, Nathan Chandler in 2003 directed Iowa's balanced offense as the Hawkeyes posted a 10-3 overall record. Chandler passed for over 2,000 yards as Iowa averaged 161.2 passing yards and 172.4 rushing yards per game. Senior RB Fred Russell rushed for over 1,000 yards for the second straight season. Chandler signed a free agent contract with Buffalo.

Ken coached QB Brad Banks to all-America honors in 2002. Banks finished second in the Heisman Trophy balloting and was named Associated Press College Football Player of the Year. Banks was also named winner of the Davey O'Brien Quarterback of the Year Award and won the Chicago Tribune's Silver Football, emblematic of the Big Ten's Most Valuable Player. Banks led the nation in passing efficiency (157.1) and is now playing in the Canadian Football League.

Seven Iowa players were named to the all-Big Ten first offensive unit in 2002. That included players named Offensive Player of the Year (Brad Banks) and Offensive Lineman of the Year (Eric Steinbach). Four offensive players, Banks, Steinbach, TE Dallas Clark and center Bruce Nelson, earned first team all-America recognition.

Several Iowa quarterbacks coached by O'Keefe have had the opportunity to play in the NFL and, over the past eight years, 17 offensive players coached by O'Keefe have been selected in the NFL Draft.

In 2001, QB Kyle McCann led the Hawkeyes to seven wins, including a victory over Texas Tech in the Alamo Bowl. McCann ranked second in the Big Ten in pass efficiency while completing 66.3% of his passes and throwing for 2,028 yards. McCann competed for Barcelona in the NFL Europe professional league following his career at Iowa.

Under O'Keefe's direction, Iowa ranked third in the Big Ten in scoring in 2003 after leading the league in scoring in both 2001 (32.6 ppg) and 2002 (37.2 ppg). Iowa finished third in the league in total offense in 2002 at 424.5 yards a game, a figure which ranked 13th nationally. The Hawkeyes finished first in the Big Ten and second nationally in passing efficiency (156.3) in 2002.

O'Keefe was the head coach at Fordham University in 1998 and was the head coach at Allegheny College for eight seasons (1990-97). His career record of 83-17-1 includes a 79-10-1 mark at Allegheny, where his team won five North Coast Athletic Conference titles and the 1990 NCAA Division III national title. O'Keefe led Allegheny to four undefeated regular seasons (1990, 1991, 1994 and 1996) and six NCAA playoffs.

For his outstanding first year at Allegheny, O'Keefe was named NCAA Division III Coach of the Year in 1990. He was also named conference Coach of the Year four times (1990, 1991, 1993 and 1996) while at Allegheny. All eight of his teams ranked among the nation's top 12 at the end of the season and he coached 38 All-Americans.

Prior to becoming head coach at Allegheny, O'Keefe served as offensive line coach (1986-87) and offensive coordinator (1988-89) there. Ken was an assistant coach at the University of New Haven in 1976 and 1977.

In 1985, he coached Fort Worth (TX) Country Day School, and from 1978-84 he led Worcester (MA) Academy to a 37-11 record and three New England Class A prep championships.

In 1992, O'Keefe led a North Coast Athletic Conference all-star team to Moscow, Russia for a game with the semi-pro Moscow Bears. That experience led to a partnership called Friendship Through Football that resulted in the first youth football games ever between the United States and Russia.

O'Keefe earned his B.A. degree in history from John Carroll University in 1975, where he played football and baseball. He was a three-year starter at wide receiver while at John Carroll.

O'Keefe was born Aug. 18, 1953 in Milford, CT. He and his wife, Joanne, have two children, Meghan and Brendan.

"Before joining the football staff at the University of Iowa, we knew of Iowa's highly regarded academic reputation and fine tradition in Division I football. But the one thing that has impressed us the most has been the people. It doesn't take you long to figure out that the true strength of the University of Iowa lies in the character of the people, especially the faculty, staff and student body.

Combine that with the magical atmosphere of Iowa City and the energy of Coach Kirk Ferentz, and you have a very special place. The University of Iowa can make a difference in your life.

It is certainly easier to understand that famous line from the movie Field of Dreams. 'Is this heaven; no, it's Iowa.'"

NORM PARKER

DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR

NORM PARKER Defensive Coordinator 12th Year at Iowa

Norm Parker is in his 12th year as defensive coordinator at the University of Iowa. He previously coached the Hawkeye inside linebackers and he coached the outside linebackers during his first three years on the Iowa staff. Parker was named a finalist for the Frank Broyles Assistant Coach of the Year in both 2004 and 2005.

Under Parker's direction, the Iowa defense is regarded as one of the most physical, hard-hitting units in the Big Ten and the nation. Iowa has been bowl eligible in each of the last nine seasons. The Hawkeyes concluded the 2009 season with a 24-14 win in the 2010 FedEx Orange Bowl and a national ranking of seventh in the nation. Iowa has ranked in the final top 10 of both major polls four times in the past eight seasons.

The Hawkeye defense, last season, led the Big Ten Conference in pass defense and pass efficiency defense, while ranking second in interceptions and third in scoring defense, total defense and first down allowed. Nationally, Iowa was third in pass defense efficiency, fourth in pass defense, eighth in scoring defense and first downs allowed and 10th in total defense.

Due in large part to the play of the defense each year, the Hawkeyes have played in eight bowl games since 2001, including six appearances in January bowl games. Iowa has won five bowl games since 2001, including four January bowl victories. The Hawkeyes earned a share of the Big Ten title in both 2002 and 2004 and tied for second a year ago.

The Hawkeyes have won 70 games over the past eight seasons, including 42 Big Ten games. Iowa has finished in the Big Ten's first division in eight of the past nine years. The January Bowl wins have come over Florida (2004 Outback), LSU (2005 Capital One), South Carolina (2009 Outback) and Georgia Tech (2010 Orange).

Under Parker's direction, Iowa has ranked among the top 10 in the nation in rushing defense four times. Iowa has been in the top 10 in scoring defense in each of the past two seasons after ranking 12th in 2007. In 2009, four Hawkeye defensive players were named first team all-Big Ten by league coaches. Three players from that unit were selected in the 2010 NFL draft, including LB Pat Angerer (second round, Indianapolis), DB Amari Spivey (third round, Detroit) and OLB A.J. Edds (fourth round, Miami).

Parker's defensive unit played a key role in Iowa's success in 2008 as the Hawkeyes won six of their last seven games to post a 9-4 final record. Iowa led the Big Ten and ranked fifth nationally in scoring defense and pass efficiency defense. Iowa was second in the league in rushing defense and total defense, ranking ninth and 12th in the nation in those categories, respectively. DT Mitch King was named Defensive Lineman of the Year and LB Pat Angerer earned second team all-conference honors.

Defensive back Bradley Fletcher was selected in the third round of the 2009 NFL draft, while King and DT Matt Kroul both signed NFL free agent contracts immediately following the draft.

Iowa closed the 2007 season with three wins in its last four games. Iowa led the Big Ten in turnover margin (+8) and redzone defense (68.4%) while ranking third in scoring defense (18.8) and rushing defense (122.0) and fourth in pass efficiency defense (115.7).

LB Mike Klinkenborg earned first team academic all-America honors and was a National Football Foundation Scholar-Athlete in 2007. LB Mike Humpal earned second team all-league honors and was the Bronko Nagurski and Master Coaches national Player of the Week following Iowa's 10-6 win over nationally-ranked Illinois.

Humpal was selected by the Pittsburgh Steelers in the sixth round of the 2008 NFL draft. In addition, defensive back Charles Godfrey was selected in the third round by Carolina and defensive end Ken Iwebema was selected by Arizona in the fourth round.

The Hawkeye defenders did much to turn around Iowa's 2005 season. The defense was able to shut down a pair of nationally ranked teams (Wisconsin and Minnesota) in the final two games to clinch a fourth straight January bowl bid. Iowa led the Big Ten in redzone defense and ranked third in rushing defense and scoring defense.

The defense set the tone for Iowa's championship run in 2004, as Iowa won its final eight games of the season, including the win over LSU, the defending national champion, in the Capital One Bowl. Five of eight league foes scored two touchdowns or less and three were held to seven points or less.

Iowa, in 2004, ranked fifth nationally in rushing defense (92.5), sixth in turnover margin (+1.08), 11th in total defense (293.8) and 16th in scoring defense (17.6). The Hawkeyes led the Big Ten in rushing defense and turnover margin, while leading the league in redzone defense for the second straight year. Iowa finished second in the Big Ten in total defense in 2001, third in 2004, fourth in 2003 and 2005 and fifth in 2002. Iowa led the league in scoring defense (16.2) in 2003.

Iowa, in 2003, ranked seventh nationally in scoring defense (16.2), eighth in rushing defense (92.7), 16th in total defense (314.5) and 24th in pass efficiency defense (110.3). The Hawkeye defense held eight of 13 opponents to less than 75 rushing yards.

Despite an entirely new defensive line that consisted of two freshman and two sophomores, Iowa's defense gained confidence and maturity as the 2005 season progressed. All-American linebackers Abdul Hodge and Chad Greenway led the way, ranking first and second, respectively, in the Big Ten in tackles. Hodge (third) and Greenway (fifth) are both among Iowa's career tackle leaders. Greenway was a first round selection by Minnesota in the 2006 NFL Draft, while Hodge was selected in the third round by Green Bay.

Four Iowa defensive players were named first team all-Big Ten in 2004, with DE Matt Roth being the only unanimous selection by league coaches. Three Iowa players were named to the 2003 first all-Big Ten team and two others earned second team honors. Roth, DT Jonathan Babineaux and safety Sean Considine were all selected in the first four rounds of the 2005 NFL Draft and all three have played in the NFL the last five seasons.

In his first two years at Iowa Norm coached LeVar Woods, who played in the NFL for seven seasons. Parker, in his coaching career, has coached 34 players who have gone on to play in the NFL.

The 1997 Southeastern Conference Defensive Coordinator of the Year, Parker served in that capacity at Vanderbilt University for two seasons and as linebackers coach there for four seasons. In 1997, Vanderbilt's defense led the SEC and ranked ninth in the nation as all six seniors on that defensive unit went on to sign NFL contracts. As linebacker coach in his first two seasons in Nashville, Parker was instrumental in the development of first team All-American Jamie Duncan.

Prior to joining the Iowa staff, Parker coached 12 seasons (1983-94) at Michigan State, five at Minnesota (1972-76) and three at Illinois (1977-79).

At Michigan State, Parker served as defensive coordinator for five years and also coached the outside linebackers. During his tenure at Michigan State, the Spartans won the 1987 Big Ten title and shared the 1990 championship with the Hawkeyes. Parker helped Michigan State to seven bowl games, including the 1988 Rose Bowl, where the Spartans defeated USC, 20-17.

From 1980-82 Parker served as defensive coordinator and outside linebackers coach at East Carolina. He coached outside linebackers and was director of recruiting at Illinois from 1977-79. At Minnesota from 1972-76, Parker helped the Gophers compile winning records in three of five seasons. Parker also coached receivers at Wake Forest from 1969-71.

Parker earned his B.S. degree in special education in 1965 and his M.A. in physical education in 1967 from Eastern Michigan, where he lettered four times in football and was a member of the wrestling squad for two seasons. Parker was the head coach at St. John's High School in Ypsilanti, MI (1965-67) before joining the staff at Eastern Michigan as offensive line coach (1968).

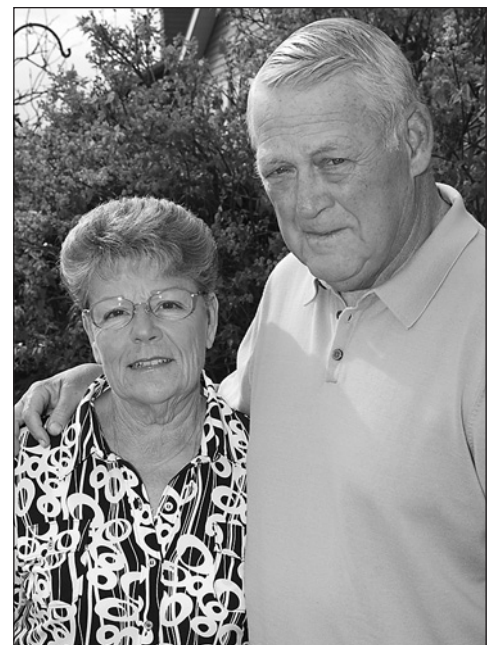

Parker was born Oct. 9 and he is a native of Hazel Park, MI. He and his wife, Linda, have five grown children, Chelly, Joyce, Jim, and Suzy, along with a special Hawk, Jeff, who is deceased. They also have six grandchildren, Tyler, Alyssa, Colton, Roxanne, Bridgette and Jasmine.

"It's great to be a member of the University of Iowa football staff under the direction of Coach Kirk Ferentz.

This is truly a combination of a special place, being led by a special coach. The work ethic of the people in the state of Iowa, the University of Iowa, and Coach Ferentz, is something that is unique. To be a part of this situation, to be involved with the Iowa football program, the University of Iowa and fans of the Hawkeyes, is a great thrill for myself and my family."

ERIK CAMPBELL

WIDE RECEIVERS

ERIK CAMPBELL

Wide Receivers
Third year at Iowa
Recruits Dallas, Texas and Detroit, Michigan

Erik Campbell is in his third season as wide receiver coach at the University of Iowa. Campbell also coached the tight ends in his first two years on the Iowa staff. He joined the Iowa staff after serving as an assistant coach at Michigan for 13 seasons. Campbell also served as assistant head coach at Michigan for five seasons.

Campbell has made an impact with Iowa's offense the past two seasons as the Hawkeyes have posted a 20-6 record. That includes a 24-14 win over Georgia Tech in the 2010 FedEx Orange Bowl and a 31-10 win over South Carolina in the 2009 Outback Bowl.

Campbell has participated in 20 bowl games throughout his career. After competing in bowl games four consecutive years as a player, Campbell has coached in 16 bowl games. He has coached in 13 January bowl games, the most recent being Iowa's victories in the 2009 Outback Bowl and 2010 Orange Bowl.

Iowa's offense averaged over 220 passing yards per game in 2009, featuring four players with at least 30 receptions. Junior WR Derrell Johnson-Koulianos (45-750 yards) became just the third receiver ever at Iowa to lead the team in receiving for three straight seasons and he earned second team All-Big Ten honors.

Senior Tight End Tony Moeaki (30-387 yards) earned first team all-Big Ten honors after having the best season of his career. Moeaki was one of eight semi-finalists for the John Mackey Award. He was selected by Kansas City in the third round of the 2010 NFL draft.

In addition, sophomore Marvin McNutt made the transition from quarterback and led the team with eight scoring receptions, which ties for fourth best in a single season at Iowa. McNutt averaged 19.8 yards on his 34 receptions and senior Trey Stross also had 31 catches for 414 yards.

Iowa's offense in 2008 ranked second in the Big Ten in scoring (30.3) and first downs, third in time of possession and fourth in passing efficiency. Senior tight end Brandon Myers ranked third on the team in receptions and yards (34-441) and tied for the team lead with four scoring catches. Myers was drafted by Oakland in the sixth round of the 2009 NFL draft and had a stellar rookie season with the Raiders.

Campbell, at Michigan, was responsible for the wide receiving corps and worked with the team's punt returners for 13 seasons. Campbell added the title of assistant head coach prior to the start of the 2003 season. In addition to his coaching responsibilities, Campbell coordinated the successful Women's Football Academy, put on annually by the coaching staff, which helped raise over one million dollars for the University of Michigan Cancer Center.

Campbell coached a 1,000-yard receiver an NCAA record eight straight seasons (1998-2005), with Braylon Edwards becoming the ninth player in Division I-A history and the first player in Big Ten history to achieve three straight 1,000-yard seasons. His streak of 1,000-yard receivers came to an end in 2006, but a record three Wolverines receivers gained over 500 yards for the first time in school history.

Campbell was a key factor in the punt return success of Steve Breaston, the Big Ten's career punt return leader. Breaston returned 127 punts for a conference record 1,599 yards (12.6 avg.) and four scores during his career.

Campbell coached three All-Americans during his tenure -- David Terrell, Marquise Walker and Edwards -- and had four players receive the Bo Schembechler Most Valuable Player team award. Campbell's players have earned All-Big Ten honors 17 times, including nine first-team citations and eight second-team honors.

Campbell joined the Michigan staff in 1995 and coached some of Michigan's top wide receivers. His list of NFL products includes: Amani Toomer, a second-round draft pick of the New York Giants (1996); Mercury Hayes, a fifth-round pick of the New Orleans Saints (1996); 1997 Heisman Trophy winner Charles Woodson, a first-round pick of the Oakland Raiders (1998); Streets, a fifth-round pick of the San Francisco 49ers (1999); Marcus Knight, a free agent pickup of the Oakland Raiders (2000); Terrell, the eighth pick of the 2001 NFL Draft by the Chicago Bears; Walker, a third-round selection by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers (2002); free agent signee Ronald Bellamy by the Miami Dolphins (2003); Edwards, the third pick of the 2005 NFL Draft by the Cleveland Browns; Jason Avant, a fourth-round pick of the Philadelphia Eagles (2006); Steve Breaston, a fifth-round selection of the Arizona Cardinals (2007); Mario Manningham, a third-round pick of the New York Giants (2008); Adrian Arrington, a seventh-round selection of the New Orleans Saints (2008); and Myers, taken in the sixth round by Oakland in 2009. Edwards capped a record-setting career by winning the 2004 Biletnikoff Award as the top wide receiver in college football.

Campbell was a four-year letterman (1984-87) at Michigan and boasts starts on both sides of the ball. The Wolverines compiled a 35-13-1 record and won the 1986 Big Ten title while Campbell was a squad member. He is the only player in Michigan football history to start at all four secondary positions in one year.

Campbell saw the majority of his action at defensive back, starting 30 career games during his freshman, junior and senior seasons. He started the final 25 games of his career and added five starts as a true freshman. He completed his career with 113 tackles and five interceptions.

After collecting 29 tackles in five games as a freshman, Campbell switched to wide receiver for his sophomore campaign. He returned to the defensive secondary for the final two years of his career and saw plenty of action on special teams. He returned 13 punts for an average of 9.2 yards in 1985, and returned four kicks for an 18.5-yard average in 1986.

Campbell served as a student assistant coach at Michigan in 1988 before beginning his full-time coaching career as an assistant coach with the U.S. Naval Academy. Campbell spent two seasons coaching running backs for Navy (1989-90), before accepting a position at Ball State University as the running backs coach (1991-93). Campbell coached one season at Syracuse (1994) before returning to Ann Arbor as the Wolverines' wide receivers coach.

Campbell is a native of Gary, IN, where he was a prep star at Roosevelt High School. He was an all-state selection in football and gained all-American honors in track after leading his team to back-to-back state championships. Campbell is a member of both the Indiana High School Track and Field Hall of Fame and the Indiana High School Football Hall of Fame.

He was recognized this past spring in his hometown of Gary, IN with the Benjamin Hooks Award, presented by the Gary chapter of the NAACP.

Campbell earned his bachelor of general studies degree from Michigan in 1988.

He was born January 21, 1966. He is single.

"The University of Iowa has an outstanding national reputation as a first class University, both academically and within the football program and overall athletic department. I am proud to be a part of the Hawkeye family and to have this opportunity as a member of the Iowa coaching staff.

The University of Iowa has earned its reputation because of the outstanding people, and one of the main reasons for that reputation is Kirk Ferentz. Coach Ferentz is well respected as a person, as a leader and as a great coach with a dedicated and highly-respected staff.

Playing and coaching against Iowa during my career, I gained the utmost respect for the Iowa style of football; a well-prepared, physical, hard-hitting style that demands opponents to bring their best game when competing against the Hawkeyes.

The setting at Iowa provides a great atmosphere to assist you in reaching your full potential, athletically and academically, while preparing for your professional endeavors following your college career.

Iowa has established a history and tradition that ranks among the best in the nation for fan support, facilities and tradition for success. The fans are loyal and supportive; there is no better atmosphere than to be in Kinnick Stadium on a Saturday afternoon.

It is truly a privilege for me to be a member of the Iowa football program and the Iowa City community."

for eight years. He has worked with special teams throughout his career at Iowa. He became a member of the Hawkeye coaching staff in 2000 after spending one year on the Army staff as tight ends coach.

Iowa concluded the 2009 season with a 24-14 win in the 2010 FedEx Orange Bowl and a national ranking of seventh in the nation. The Hawkeyes have been bowl eligible in each of the last nine seasons and have ranked in the final top 10 of both major polls four times in the past eight seasons.

The Hawkeyes have played in eight bowl games since 2001, including six appearances in January bowl games. Iowa has won five bowl games since 2001, including four January bowl victories. The January Bowl wins have come over Florida (2004 Outback), LSU (2005 Capital One), South Carolina (2009 Outback) and Georgia Tech (2010 Orange).

The Hawkeyes have won 70 games over the past eight seasons, including 42 Big Ten games. The Hawkeyes earned a share of the Big Ten title in both 2002 and 2004 and tied for second a year ago. Iowa has finished in the Big Ten's first division in eight of the past nine years.

In his first season working with the Iowa running backs in 2008, Erb had the opportunity to coach Shonn Greene, who earned the Doak Walker Award as the top running back in the nation. Greene earned consensus all-American honors and was the offensive Player of the Year in the Big Ten Conference. He rushed for 1,850 yards to set an Iowa single-season rushing mark and was the only running back in the nation to surpass 100 yards in every game during the season. Greene was the first player selected in the third round (New York Jets) of the 2009 NFL draft. Greene led the Jet rushing attack at the end of his rookie season as New York advanced to the AFC championship game.

With Greene playing in the NFL and Jewel Hampton lost for the season before the first game, Erb and the Iowa staff got the most production possible out of freshmen running backs Adam Robinson and Brandon Wegher.

Robinson, a redshirt freshman, led the team in rushing (181-834-5 TDs) despite missing all of two games with injuries. Wegher, a true freshman, rushed for 641 yards and set an Iowa freshman record with eight rushing touchdowns. Wegher totaled 967 all-purpose yards and Robinson had 952.

Over the past eight years, the play of Iowa's special teams has been a key ingredient in Iowa's success. The Hawkeyes ranked fourth in the Big Ten in net punting a year ago after ranking third in 2008 and second in 2007. Senior punter Ryan Donahue has been a semi-finalist for the Ray Guy Punter of the Year award each of the last two seasons.

In 2009, Colin Sandeman and Derrell Johnson-Koulianos ranked second in the Big Ten in punt returns and kickoff returns, respectively, and both return as seniors in 2010.

In 2004, Iowa ranked 15th in the nation in punt returns. The Hawkeyes recorded four blocked punts and two blocked field goals. Two of the blocked punts came in the Capital One Bowl win over LSU.

Iowa in 2003 ranked second in the Big Ten in KO returns (22.2) and third in punt returns (13.1), while setting a school record with five blocked punts. In addition, Ramon Ochoa set Iowa single-season marks for punt returns (40) and return yards (495), while ranking among Big Ten leaders in both punt and kickoff returns.

Erb coached PK Nate Kaeding to first team all-America honors in both 2002 and 2003. Kaeding was named winner of the 2002 Lou Groza Placekicker of the Year award and was one of three finalists for the award in 2003. Kaeding is Iowa's career scoring leader and holds 14 school records. He was drafted in the third round of the NFL draft by the San Diego Chargers, the first kicker since 2000 to be selected on the first day of the draft. He earned all-Pro recognition in both 2006 and 2009.

Under Erb's direction, Iowa's 2002 kickoff return team led the nation with a 25.1 yard average. Iowa has also ranked first (2004), second (2009) and third (2003 & 2005) in the Big Ten in kickoff coverage.

In 2007, Iowa's offense lost its top two receivers (WR Andy Brodell and TE Tony Moeaki) for the season in the fourth game of the year. From there, two freshmen ended the season as Iowa's top receivers, including Derrell Johnson-Koulianos, who led the squad with 38 receptions for 482 yards.

Erb was instrumental in the development of wide receivers Ed Hinkel and Clinton Solomon, two seniors in 2005. Both ended their careers with over 100 receptions and over 1,500 receiving yards. Solomon ranks eighth in career receiving yards and his average of 15.8 yards per catch ranks second. Hinkel ranks 15th in career yardage and served as a very dependable punt returner throughout his career. Both signed NFL free agent contracts immediately following the 2006 NFL draft.

Wide receivers C.J. Jones and Maurice Brown were both named honorable mention all-Big Ten in 2002. Jones played in the NFL following his Hawkeye career. Brown, as a senior in 2003, had 33 receptions for 507 yards, despite missing all of five games due to injury. Brown signed a free agent contract with the New Orleans Saints following his senior year.

In 2001, Iowa led the Big Ten Conference in punt returns (14.6 yards per return) and ranked fifth in kickoff returns (20.1 yards per return). WR Kahlil Hill was named as the national Special Teams Player of the Year after ranking nationally in both punt and KO returns. Defensively, Iowa's opponents averaged just 7.5 yards on punt returns and 19 yards on kickoff returns.

Iowa's wide receivers also had an excellent season in 2000, with Kevin Kasper setting a single-season record with 82 catches (for 1,010 yards) and Hill catching 58 passes for 619 yards. Hill also ranked among national leaders in both kickoff and punt returns as a junior. Six Iowa receivers, coached by Erb, signed NFL contracts in the last six years.

Erb has two years experience (1997 & 1998) in the National Football League, having worked directly with Iowa Coach Kirk Ferentz on the Baltimore Ravens staff. He was Baltimore's offensive quality control coach while working with the offensive line. He was largely responsible for scouting opponent defenses and assisted with special teams.

Erb gained experience on the Syracuse and Hobart College football staffs. Erb served three years at Syracuse, where his primary responsibilities included helping with the offensive line and scout team preparation. Erb also coached receivers at Hobart College for three years.

Erb was a standout receiver at Bucknell University, where he set records for touchdown receptions in a season and career. He set a school record for average yards per catch in a single game when he averaged 33.7 yards on six catches vs. Fordham. His 902 receiving yards in 1989 ranks second best all-time at Bucknell. He ranks fifth in career all-purpose yards (3,286) and was Bucknell's Most Valuable Player as a senior in 1990.

He earned his B.A. in business administration from Bucknell and his M.A. in high educational administration from Syracuse.

Erb was born April 22, 1969. He and his wife, Eileen, have a son, Jacob, and two daughters, Emily and Sarah.

"I have the utmost respect for Kirk Ferentz. Having worked closely with Kirk for two years in Baltimore, I know that the University of Iowa could not have made a better choice in selecting a head football coach.

Not only is Kirk the best teacher with whom I have ever been associated, but more importantly, he is in coaching for all the right reasons. He is in the game to make a difference in young men's lives.

Kirk is as interested in the academic and social development of the student-athlete as he is their athletic development. Kirk cares about people, he is not about ego. He is as sincere and genuine a person as I have worked with in my career.

I am confident that under Kirk, the Iowa football program will produce successful and well-rounded leaders of this community.

From the first moment Eileen and I came to Iowa City, we knew this was a special place. We have been greeted with warm smiles and welcomed with open arms. The people in the community have gone out of their way to make us feel at home.

I am thrilled and excited to be a part of Kirk's program at the University of Iowa and to be a part of the University of Iowa and the Iowa City community."

Not only is Coach Ferentz an excellent teacher, but he is a tremendous role model for our players off the field. He gives our players the leadership to have success on the field and in life after football. Second, we work with outstanding student-athletes; people who are of high character and want to have success in all aspects of their life. "It does not take long to realize that The University of Iowa is a very unique and special place.

The University of Iowa, Iowa City, and the Hawkeye Nation are a group of folks who take enormous pride in their university, their community, their football program, and their own.

When you combine the support and leadership of Gary Barta, Coach Ferentz, and the administration, the Iowa program looks to build upon its colorful and historic past.

I can honestly say that it is a privilege and honor to be part of such a storied program and renowned university. It is truly great to be a Hawkeye."

REESE MORGAN

OFFENSIVE LINE

REESE MORGAN

Offensive Line
11th Year at Iowa
Recruits Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota

Reese Morgan, one of the most successful high school coaches in Iowa prep history, is in his 11th year with the Hawkeyes. Morgan is in his eighth season as Iowa's offensive line coach after spending the first three years on the staff as tight ends coach and recruiting coordinator.

Iowa concluded the 2009 season with a 24-14 win in the 2010 FedEx Orange Bowl and a national ranking of seventh in the nation. The Hawkeyes have been bowl eligible in each of the last nine seasons and have ranked in the final top 10 of both major polls four times in the past eight seasons.

The Hawkeyes have played in eight bowl games since 2001, including six appearances in January bowl games. Iowa has won five bowl games since 2001, including four January bowl victories. The January Bowl wins have come over Florida (2004 Outback), LSU (2005 Capital One), South Carolina (2009 Outback) and Georgia Tech (2010 Orange).

The Hawkeyes have won 70 games over the past eight seasons, including 42 Big Ten games. The Hawkeyes earned a share of the Big Ten title in both 2002 and 2004 and tied for second a year ago. Iowa has finished in the Big Ten's first division in eight of the past nine years.

Among the reasons for Iowa's recent success has been the play of Iowa's offensive line, working under the direction of Morgan. The offensive line was forced to shuffle its pieces in 2009, but the end result was a solid group that led the way for Iowa to average 23.2 points and 336.3 yards total offense per game.

Tackle Bryan Bulaga was named Offensive Lineman of the Year in the Big Ten, earning first team all-conference honors. Dace Richardson returned to earn first team honors after missing over a year and a half due to injury. Tackle Kyle Calloway and center Rafael Eubanks both earned second team recognition.

Bulaga declared for the NFL draft following his junior season in 2009 and was the 23rd player selected in the 2010 NFL draft when he was taken by the Green Bay Packers. Calloway was selected in the sixth round by the Buffalo Bills.

Iowa, in 2008, ranked third in the Big Ten and 26th nationally in rushing yards per game (188.7) as the offensive front stayed relatively healthy and molded into one of the best fronts in the nation. Iowa featured running back Shonn Greene, who earned the Doak Walker Award as the top running back in the nation. Greene was the only running back in the nation to rush for over 100 yards in every game during the 2008 season.

Senior Seth Olsen led the way for the Hawkeyes in 2008, earning first team all-Big Ten honors, as well as first, second and third team all-American recognition. Center Rob Bruggeman and tackles Kyle Calloway and Bryan Bulaga all earned second team all-conference recognition.

Olsen was selected in the fourth round of the 2009 NFL draft by Denver, while TE Brandon Myers was selected by Oakland in the sixth round. Bruggeman signed a free agent contract with Tampa Bay immediately following the draft.

The 2006 Hawkeyes ranked third in the Big Ten in total offense (just a yard behind second place Ohio State) and second in pass offense. In 2005, Iowa boasted the Big Ten's leading rusher and the league's best redzone offense.

In the 2007 NFL draft, Marshal Yanda (Baltimore) was selected in the third round and Mike Elgin (New England) was a seventh round selection. In addition, Mike Jones signed a free agent contract with the San Diego Chargers. Jones was a first team all-Big Ten selection, while Yanda earned second team honors. Elgin was a first team academic all-American in each of his final two seasons. Yanda has started at both guard and tackle for the Ravens over the past three seasons, despite missing a majority of the 2008 season due to a knee injury.

In 2005 the Hawkeyes averaged 30 points a game behind quarterback Drew Tate and Big Ten rushing leader Albert Young. Senior center Brian Ferentz started the final 20 games of his career in 2004 and 2005 and signed a free agent contract with Atlanta immediately following the 2006 NFL draft.

Due to a number of injuries to Iowa running backs in 2004, Iowa developed one of the most dangerous passing attacks in the nation. The Hawkeyes scored 23 points or more in the final five games of the season, including 30 points in wins over Wisconsin and LSU. For the year, Iowa ranked second in the Big Ten in passing offense, pass efficiency and redzone offense.

Right tackle Pete McMahon was the lone senior in 2004 in the offensive line. Facing two of the more-highly regarded defensive ends in the nation in Iowa's final two games, McMahon led by example by controlling his opponents, who were both first round selections in the NFL draft. McMahon was taken in the NFL Draft by the Oakland Raiders.

Anchored by consensus all-American and Outland Trophy winner Robert Gallery at left tackle, Iowa's offensive line had four new starters to start the 2003 season. By the end of the year, in which the Hawkeyes won 10 games and featured RB Fred Russell with over 1,300 rushing yards, the offensive line had meshed together as one of Iowa's strong points. The Hawkeyes ended the season by rushing for over 200 yards in a win at Wisconsin and in the Outback Bowl win over Florida.

Gallery was a consensus first team all-American at the end of the year. He was the second player selected in the NFL Draft, being taken by the Oakland Raiders. In becoming Iowa's third Outland Trophy winner, he became the second Outland Trophy winner coached by Morgan. As the head coach at Benton Community HS, Morgan coached Chad Hennings, the 1987 winner, who was a defensive tackle at the Air Force Academy. Hennings is a member of the College Football Hall of Fame.

As tight ends coach in 2002, Morgan coached tight end Dallas Clark to consensus all-America honors. Clark was also named winner of the John Mackey Award, which goes annually to college football's top tight end. Clark was named to at least seven first team all-America teams. Clark has earned a Super Bowl championship with the Indianapolis Colts and earned all-Pro honors in 2009.

Morgan became part of the Iowa staff after eight years at West HS in Iowa City. West won state Class 4A (largest class in the state) titles in 1995, 1998 and 1999. Morgan left the program with a 26-game winning streak.

Between 1994 and 1999 his West High School teams were 62-7. His overall record at West was 67-20. He has totaled 146 career prep victories. Morgan is a member of the Iowa High School Coach's Hall of Fame. He also served as Assistant Principal and Dean of Students at Iowa City West High School.

Reese also served as a teacher (1973-92), assistant football coach (1973-77) and head football coach (1978-91) at Benton Community High School. He led Benton Community into the state playoffs on three occasions.

Morgan attended St. Mary's High School in Lorain, OH. He lettered three times in football and one year in track and field. Reese was a four-year letterman (linebacker) at Wartburg College and was team captain as a senior in 1971.

Morgan earned his BA degree in education from Wartburg and earned a master's degree in educational administration from the University of Northern Iowa.

Morgan was born June 22, 1950. Reese and his wife, Jo, have two daughters, Jessica and Caitlin, along with granddaughters Morgan and Hayden, and grandsons Cade and Jace.

Darrell Wilson is in his ninth year on the Iowa staff. He coaches all the linebacker positions and special teams after working with special teams and outside linebackers in his first six seasons.

Iowa concluded the 2009 season with a 24-14 win in the 2010 FedEx Orange Bowl and a national ranking of seventh in the nation. The Hawkeyes have been bowl eligible in each of the last nine seasons and have ranked in the final top 10 of both major polls four times in the past eight seasons.

The Hawkeyes have played in eight bowl games since 2001, including six appearances in January bowl games. Iowa has won five bowl games since 2001, including four January bowl victories. The January Bowl wins have come over Florida (2004 Outback), LSU (2005 Capital One), South Carolina (2009 Outback) and Georgia Tech (2010 Orange).

The Hawkeyes have won 70 games over the past eight seasons, including 42 Big Ten games. The Hawkeyes earned a share of the Big Ten title in both 2002 and 2004 and tied for second a year ago. Iowa has finished in the Big Ten's first division in eight of the past nine years.

Iowa's solid defense has been led the past two seasons by middle linebacker Pat Angerer. In 2009 Angerer earned all-America honors while ranking fourth in the nation in tackles per game (11.2). Angerer led Iowa in tackles in 2008 and 2009 and ranks 25th on Iowa's career tackle chart (258). He was selected in the second round of the 2010 NFL draft by the Indianapolis Colts.

In addition, outside linebacker A.J. Edds concluded his career in 2009 with 226 tackles to rank 43rd on Iowa's career list. Edds was second on the team with five interceptions a year ago and earned second team all-Big Ten recognition. Miami selected Edds in the fourth round of the most recent NFL draft.

Angerer and Edds led an Iowa defense that ranked third in the nation in pass efficiency, fourth in pass defense, tied for fifth in interceptions, ranked eighth in scoring defense and 10th in total defense.

Iowa, in 2008, led the Big Ten and ranked fifth nationally in scoring defense and pass efficiency defense. Iowa was second in the league in rushing defense and total defense, ranking ninth and 12th in the nation in those categories, respectively. Iowa ranked fourth in the nation while equaling a school record with 23 interceptions.

The play of Iowa's special teams has been a key ingredient in Iowa's success. Iowa was fourth in the Big Ten in net punting in 2009, third in 2008 and second in 2007. Punter Ryan Donahue has been a semi-finalist for the Ray Guy Punter of the Year award in each of the past two seasons and returns for his final season in 2010. WR Colin Sandeman ranked second in the Big Ten in punt returns in 2009 and WR Derrell Johnson-Koulianos was second in kickoff returns. Both return in 2010.

The Hawkeye defense led the Big Ten in turnover margin and redzone defense in 2007, while ranking third in scoring defense and fourth in rushing defense.

The Hawkeye defenders did much to turn around Iowa's season in 2005. The defense was able to shut down a pair of nationally ranked teams (Wisconsin and Minnesota) in the final two games to clinch a fourth straight January bowl bid. Iowa led the Big Ten in redzone defense and ranked third in rushing defense and scoring defense.

The defense set the tone for Iowa's championship run in 2004, as Iowa won its final eight games of the season, including a win over LSU, the defending national champion, in the Capital One Bowl. Five of eight league foes scored two touchdowns or less and three were held to seven points or less.

Iowa, that season, ranked fifth nationally in rushing defense (92.5), 11th in total defense (293.8), sixth in turnover margin (+1.08), 16th in scoring defense (17.6) and 17th in pass efficiency defense (106.7). Outside linebacker Ed Miles was a two-year starter in 2005 and 2006. Miles signed a free agent contract with the NFL's Miami Dolphins. He played in all 16 games as a rookie with the Dolphins and led the team in special teams tackles.

Darrell coached Grant Steen at outside linebacker in 2002 and 2003 as Steen earned second team all-Big Ten honors in 2002 and honorable mention recognition as a senior. Steen intercepted three passes in a win at Indiana in 2002, a feat that tied an NCAA record for interceptions in a game by a linebacker.

He also coached running backs at Rutgers (1999) and the defensive secondary and wide receivers at Rhode Island (1996-98).

Before his collegiate coaching career began, he compiled a 65-18 record as head coach at Woodrow Wilson High School in Camden, NJ (1988-95). His Wilson HS teams won five conference championships and four times advanced to the South Jersey Group III state finals. "I have had the distinct pleasure to have known Coach Ferentz as a player, a leader and as a coach. Knowing what he stands for (integrity, hard work, sincerity), and how he genuinely is concerned about the total development of his players, I had no reservation when the opportunity was presented to become a member of his staff - a staff of very talented and special men who are a true extension of Coach Ferentz."

"As a former opponent, I appreciate the fantastic atmosphere that surrounds Iowa football. The people who support the program are very special people. "It is a great honor to be a part of the football staff at the University of Iowa under the direction of Coach Ferentz. As a native Iowan and graduate of the University of Iowa, I have a great passion and enthusiasm for this University and Hawkeye football. The Iowa football program is built on hard work, integrity and a "people first" approach. This is a direct reflection of the leadership provided by Coach Ferentz and the entire coaching staff.

Coach Ferentz exemplifies all that is great about college football. He is one of the best teachers and motivators there is. He has a sincere interest and genuine concern for all of the people associated with the program, especially the players. Although there has been much documented success of the Iowa players' development on the field, Coach Ferentz' impact goes well beyond football. Coach Ferentz truly cares about the players' personal lives, helping them to grow as students and young men.

The Hawkeye football players are outstanding young men. They too demonstrate a great work ethic, high character and deep passion for football. Combine this with the stability, loyalty and leadership from the coaching staff and this makes for a very special team.

Our players and coaches are very appreciative of the support of the Iowa fans. The administration, the faculty, the students, the alumni, the state of Iowa and the Iowa City community have great pride and support in Hawkeye football. Whether it is the 70,000 strong at Kinnick or the 40,000 Hawkeye fans that travel to bowl games, Iowa fans will follow the team no matter where the game is played. Hawkeye fans truly are the #1 fans in America!

MATTHEW ENGELBERT

Video Coordinator
22nd Year at Iowa

As one of the longest-tenured video coordinators in the Big Ten Conference, Matthew Engelbert has been recognized by his peers as one of the best and has led development of the University of Iowa football video analysis program.

Engelbert and his staff of five are responsible for shooting all games and practices. Immediately following each game, video is digitized and sorted according to offense, defense and special teams. Tapes then are produced showing each play from every angle the video staff shoots -- three angles for most games. Video is merged with key data, such as down and distance, to provide coaches with a complete analysis of every play.

The video staff also manages a system of coaching stations, which allows each coach to develop his own videos for each game. Coaches can also review how Iowa's players react to a particular situation or play, regardless of opponent.

The video staff produces highlight videos shown at recruiting events and I-Club gatherings throughout the year. The videos also are shown in Kinnick Stadium during the season.

Engelbert oversaw the department's conversion to a tapeless environment in 1996. The Hawkeyes were also the first team in the country to switch to Beta SX in 1999, the best video format available, as well as Smart Acquisition Technology (SAT) hard drive capture in 2004.

Among his personal achievements, Engelbert was the keynote commencement speaker at North Mahaska High School in 2001, from which he graduated in 1988. He was named Big Ten Video Coordinator of the Year in 1997-98 and earned first place in the AVID Best Video contest. Engelbert's contributions to Hawkeye football success were acknowledged when he received the Bump Elliott Staff Appreciation Award in 1997. He is also the creator of the successful Iowa Football Fan Fest.

Engelbert is a native of New Sharon, IA. He earned a bachelor's degree in sports management from the University of Iowa. His wife Dana is also a UI graduate, with a degree in journalism and mass communication. The Engelberts have a six-year old son, Colin.

NED AMENDOLA, M.D. Director, UI Sports Medicine Center

Ned Amendola, M.D., is the Director of UI Sports Medicine Center and has served as the head team physician for the Hawkeye football team and other Hawkeye athletic teams since fall 2001. He is a professor with The University of Iowa Department of Orthopaedic Surgery faculty. Dr Amendola was named recipient of the Kim and John Callaghan Endowed Chair in Sports Medicine by the University in June of 2009.

Amendola represents a distinguished list of previous team physicians from the Department of Orthopaedic Surgery and Rehabilitation, including Joseph Buckwalter, M.D., the department's chair. As team physician, Amendola attends all games, is responsible for the care of all the athletes, and as the team's orthopedic surgeon, manages the players' musculoskeletal complaints.

A long-time partnership between UI Sports Medicine and the UI Department of Athletics supports his efforts. This includes collaboration with athletic trainers Russ Haynes, Tad Leusch, Abby Wieck and John Streif. In addition, Brian Wolf MD collaborates with Dr Amendola in providing orthopedic coverage and consultation. General medical issues are addressed by Kyle Smoot, MD, and Paul Baumert, M.D., physicians from the UI Sports Medicine Center. Mike Shaffer, UI Sports Medicine physical therapist and certified athletic trainer, provides extended rehabilitation oversight.

The sports medicine team also collaborates with football strength and conditioning Coach Chris Doyle to coordinate the rehabilitation of athletes from the moment of injury on the field to management in the athletic training room, and back to the field again.

According to Amendola, the sports medicine team's overall success depends on several principles: the health of the student-athlete is most important, and clear communication between the physician, athlete, training staff, parents, and coaches is essential to avoid any misunderstanding or delay in the athlete's recovery. Returning the athlete to competition healthy, without risk of further injury, is the goal of the team. These principles will be further enhanced when they begin to see players at the new UI Sports Medicine Center as part of the Institute of Orthopaedics, Sports Medicine and Rehabilitation at the Hawkeye West Athletic Campus. The new state-of-the-art facility will allow injured players to be seen quickly by teams of specialists and receive rehab in an easily accessible location and environment that caters to an athlete's needs.

A board-certified orthopedic surgeon known for his skills in arthroscopic surgery, in particular with knee and ankle reconstruction, Amendola has a strong background in sports medicine. This included roles as team physician for the Canadian National Rugby Team from 1995 until the World Cup in 2000, orthopaedic consultant for the Toronto Raptors from their inception in the NBA until present, consultant to the NHL Players Association, and taking care of the University of Western Ontario's Mustangs from 1991 until coming to The University of Iowa. In addition, he is listed in the Best Doctors of America.

Amendola has had a productive academic career. He has been, and continues to be, involved in sports medicine research. He has received many peer review grants and research awards, including the Cabaud Award for Best Basic Science Research in Sports Medicine and the Excellence in Research Award from the American Orthopaedic Society for Sports Medicine and the Achilles Award for best Sports Medicine Research from the International Society of Arthroscopy, Knee Surgery and Sports Medicine and the Roger Mann Award from the American Orthopaedic Foot and Ankle Society.

In addition, he has received several teaching awards and has a long list of peer reviewed publications, videos, and textbook chapters. Recently, he has been elected to the Board of the American Orthopaedic Society for Sports Medicine, American Board of Orthopaedic Surgery, and on the Executive Board of the International Society of the Knee Arthroscopy and Orthopaedic Sports Medicine. He is an associate editor of the following journals: the Journal of Knee Surgery, Sport Traumatology and Arthroscopy, Clinical Journal of Sports Medicine, Journal of Knee Surgery, Arthroscopy and Sports Medicine Review, and Foot and Ankle International. Amendola is on the review panel for several other publications, including the American Journal of Sports Medicine and Journal of Bone and Joint Surgery.

Amendola earned his medical degree and completed his orthopaedic residency at the University of Western Ontario in London, Ontario. He has been in practice since 1991, and left the University of Western Ontario as an associate professor and chief of orthopaedics at the University Hospital. His professional affiliations include the American Orthopaedic Society of Sports Medicine; the American Foot and Ankle Society, Canadian Orthopaedic Association, the Herodiscus Society, the International Society of Arthroscopy, Knee Surgery and Orthopaedic Sports Medicine.

As director of UI Sports Medicine – part of an orthopedic surgery department that U.S. News & World Report ranks among the nation's top 10 — Amendola is dedicated to improving the understanding, prevention, treatment, and rehabilitation of patients with sports- and activity-related injuries. Using specialists in orthopaedics, athletic training, rehabilitation, family medicine, and pediatrics, the UI program links experts from across the University to provide the full spectrum of care, from the casual strain of the weekend warrior to treatment and rehabilitation of serious game-ending injuries. In addition, this multidisciplinary approach is applied toward enhancing sports medicine education and research at The University of Iowa.

Amendola, a native of Cosenza, Italy, grew up in Canada and now lives in Coralville, IA, with his wife Alison and four children, Richard, Julie, Andrew, and Christine. IOWA FOOTBALL OUTLOOK

The 2009 Iowa football season will be remembered as one of the most exciting, nail biting and successful campaigns in University history. With many of the ingredients in place, many are looking for the 2010 Hawkeyes to provide an encore that's even better. The challenge of topping last year's achievements will be difficult, but it's something players, coaches and fans eagerly look forward to as they enter a new decade of Hawkeye football.

Three-time Big Ten Coach of the Year Kirk Ferentz will be hard pressed to duplicate the results of the past decade. But his Iowa program has made a habit of doing things the experts say can't be done at Iowa. The Hawkeyes were 80-45 (.640) in the decade just completed. That's the most Iowa wins, ever, in a decade. Since a 2-18 start to the Ferentz era, the Hawkeyes have gone 79-37 (.681). Iowa competed in eight bowl games over the last nine years (5-3 record) and six of those contests were January bowl games, with two being BCS contests. Only eight other teams in the country have played in that many January bowl games in the past eight seasons.

Last year was an excellent example of all that has happened during the Ferentz era. Most figured Iowa was destined for a so-so record, with road games at Iowa State, Penn State, Wisconsin, Michigan State and Ohio State. Confounding most in college football, Iowa won its first nine games, for the first time in school history and climbed as high as sixth in the national polls. Two November losses, by a total of 10 points, are all that separated Iowa from a Big Ten title and who knows what else. But, Iowa did well enough to earn a spot in the 2010 FedEx Orange Bowl and a 24-14 victory over ACC champion Georgia Tech.

The final results of the memorable 2009 season were an 11-2 overall record and a second place Big Ten (6-2) finish. The Hawkeyes finished in the Big Ten's upper division for the eighth time in nine years. The 11 wins equal the most (2002) wins ever by an Iowa team. Iowa finished seventh in the final rankings of both major polls. It was Iowa's highest season-ending rank since 1960 (third) and the fourth top ten finish in the last eight seasons. And, Iowa has now won successive January bowl games.

Individual honors followed Iowa's wins on the gridiron. Offensive lineman Bryan Bulaga was named the Big Ten's Offensive Lineman of the Year. Defensive end Adrian Clayborn was named national Defensive Player of the Year by College Football Performance Awards. He'll be back to lead a veteran defense.

Seven Hawkeyes were named first team all-Big Ten last year. They included Bulaga, Clayborn, Pat Angerer (LB), Tyler Sash (DB), Dace Richardson (OL), Tony Moeaki (TE) and Amari Spivey (DB). Only Clayborn and Sash return from that group. Second team all-Big Ten performers included Derrell Johnson-Koulianos (WR), Rafael Eubanks (OL), A.J. Edds (OLB), Kyle Calloway (OL) and Brett Greenwood (DB).

Seniors Adrian Clayborn (DE) and Ryan Donahue (P), along with junior Tyler Sash (DB), are 2010 all-America candidates. Both Clayborn and Sash received all-America recognition last year. Other Hawkeyes expected to gain pre- or post-season honors include Ricky Stanzi (QB), Derrell Johnson-Koulianos (WR), Marvin McNutt (WR), Brett Morse (FB), Riley Reiff (OL), Julian Vandervelde (OL), Allen Reisner (TE), Broderick Binns (DE), Christian Ballard (DT), Karl Klug (DT), Jeremiha Hunter (LB), Brett Greenwood (DB) and Shaun Prater (DB). Others could certainly make the list as time moves on.

Stability is a key ingredient in Iowa's success. Over the past 31 years, Iowa has had only two head football coaches. The only team in the Big Ten that can match that figure is Penn State and Joe Paterno. Seven league schools have had at least five head coaching changes in the last three decades. Only six assistant coaches have left the Ferentz staff in the last 10 years. Of those six, one retired, three went to the NFL and two left to become coordinators at the Division I level.

The last eight years have been unprecedented in Iowa football history. It has resulted in two Big Ten championships (2002 & 2004); four wins in six January bowl games and four finishes in the nations top ten. A 22-game home winning streak (broken in 2005) and 36 straight home sellouts (broken in 2008) are additional positives of a program rich in tradition and consistency. Four January bowl wins over highly regarded teams from the Southeastern and Atlantic Coast Conferences (Florida, LSU, South Carolina and Georgia Tech) are all notches on the Hawkeye victory belt.

Ferentz has been named Big Ten Coach of the Year three times. He joins the select company of Hayden Fry, Joe Paterno and Bo Schembechler as the only three-time winners of the award. Ferentz was also named the 2002 Associated Press National Coach of the Year. Ferentz, entering his 12th year with the Hawkeyes, ranks second in longevity among league football coaches.

Another residual effect of Iowa's successful program is the fact that Hawkeye players have won the Outland, Mackey, O'Brien, Groza and Doak Walker Awards (and a runner-up to the Heisman) during the Ferentz era. Iowa had a semi-finalist for virtually every individual award given during the 2009 season.

The Hawkeyes have sold out Kinnick Stadium in 42 of the last 44 games. The 2005, 2006 and 2007 home attendance average of 70,585 is an Iowa record. The Hawkeyes' 36 straight home sellouts (2003-08) are a school record. Since 2002, the Hawkeyes have a 44-9 (.830) home record, a mark that ranks with the nation's best (11th).

Iowa fans have an unmatched reputation for following their team. More than 40,000 fans followed Iowa to Soldier Field to witness a 2007 season-opening win against Northern Illinois. Hawkeye fans traveling to bowl games have earned a legendary reputation, second to none. More than 181,000 Hawkeye fans traveled to Iowa's last seven bowl games (2003 Orange, 50,000; 2004 Outback, 20,000; 2005 Capital One, 30,000; 2006 Outback, 20,000; 2006 Alamo, 15,000; 2009 Outback, 21,000; 2010 Orange, 25,000). It is no coincidence that Iowa ranks high on the wish list of, virtually, every bowl game in America.

All Iowa games were televised in 2009. In fact, 113 straight Hawkeye football games have been televised. The Hawkeyes appear weekly on national TV networks (ABC, ESPN, Big Ten Network).

The Hawkeyes had an outstanding senior class of 17 student-athletes last year. The graduates included offensive standouts Kyle Calloway (OL), Rafael Eubanks (OL), Dace Richardson (OL), Tony Moeaki (TE) and Trey Stross (WR). Defensively, Iowa will be without A.J. Edds (OLB) and Pat Angerer (LB). Two other obvious losses are Bryan Bulaga (OL) and Amari Spivey (DB), as both decided to enter the NFL draft following their junior campaigns. The Hawkeyes lost a total of 20 lettermen (11 offense, 9 defense). Of the above mentioned players, six were selected in the 2010 NFL draft.

The 2010 Hawkeyes play a 12-game regular season schedule, which includes an attractive seven game home slate. There will be a bye week (Oct. 9th). The opener is Sept. 4th, against Eastern Illinois, at Kinnick Stadium as four of the first five games are in Iowa City.

KIRK COMMENTS:

"Our attitude and approach has been good, and that began back in January. In my mind, at least, the challenges for this team are similar to last year. There were a lot of positive feelings coming out of the Outback Bowl, and I thought one of the challenges for the team was to focus on what we had in front of us, leave that euphoria behind. That's the same challenge we have now."

We won a bowl game again, on a little bigger stage, but the message is the same as in 2009; when you flip the calendar in January, you have to be looking forward. That was the key last year and that will be a key for this football team. So far, the attitude has been good. I think our leadership is growing and improving. Like last year, it's a process; we have guys that are willing and very capable."

HERE IS A LOOK AT THE HAWKEYES, POSITION BY POSITION:

QUARTERBACK

Senior all-Big Ten candidate Ricky Stanzi (6-4-230) is back for his final campaign. He will be Iowa's starting quarterback. The Mentor, OH, native was named a permanent team captain and Iowa's offensive MVP last season. He has started 11 games in each of the last two seasons and the Hawkeyes are 18-4 in those games. Iowa jumped out to a 9-0 start last season before Stanzi was seriously injured in the first half of the Northwestern loss. He returned from the ankle injury to lead Iowa to a 24-14 win in the FedEx Orange Bowl. Stanzi was one of 15 semi-finalists for the 2009 Davey O'Brien Quarterback of the Year Award.

Stanzi has passed for 4,373 career yards to rank sixth on Iowa's all-time list. Last season he was 171-304 for 2,417 yards, 17 touchdowns and 17 interceptions.

Sophomore James Vandenberg (6-3, 212), an academic all-Big Ten selection, replaced Stanzi following the ankle injury. His performance in the overtime loss at Ohio State and the season ending win over Minnesota were impressive as he completed 42 of his 87 passes and had two touchdowns. Pushing him for playing time will be sophomore John Wienke (6-5, 220). Wienke has not seen game action but impressed the staff with his work in practice, particularly last spring. Incoming freshman A.J. Derby participated in spring practice as well.

KIRK COMMENTS:

"We're excited about having Ricky back; he has done a great job of leading our football team. I think he is a better player, a more confident player, than he was a year ago. The same can be said about James Vandenberg; he certainly is more experienced and confident than a year ago. At the end of the season we got a chance to see some of the things he is capable of doing and he continued to improve this spring. That gives us two quarterbacks who have played; two guys our entire team has confidence in."

John Wienke clearly had his best period of practice this spring, he made impressive strides during the course of spring practice. He improved more than anybody in the group. A.J Derby made a strong impression as well. Considering the newness of everything for a true freshman, he handled things very well."

RUNNING BACK

Just about every football coach will say, "You can never have too much depth at running back". Iowa proved the adage true in 2004 when five different Hawkeye running backs were injured at one time, or another, during the season. The 2009 season proved to be similar.

The Hawkeyes began 2009 spring practice with sophomores Jewel Hampton (5-9, 210) and Jeff Brinson the top two contenders for the starting slot. Hampton was injured during the summer and Brinson played sparingly, because of injuries, in three games. Hampton rushed for 463 yards and scored seven touchdowns (An Iowa freshman record at the time) as a true freshman in 2008.

IOWA FOOTBALL OUTLOOK

The Iowa running back situation was perilously thin the rest of the season with redshirt freshman Adam Robinson (5-9, 205), true freshman Brandon Wegher (5-11, 206) and senior Paki O'Meara (5-11, 211) left to shoulder the load. Robinson and Wegher suffered injuries during the 2009 season that forced each to miss at least one game. But, the results turned in by the two freshmen were impressive. Robinson rushed for 834 yards; scored five TD's and had a 4.6 yards per carry average. Wegher rushed for 641 yards and a freshman record eight touchdowns. The pair also combined for 23 pass receptions for 192 yards. Wegher displayed his versatility by also returning nine kickoffs for 214 yards.

Wegher and Robinson return as sophomores, as does Hampton. O'Meara, a key contributor on special teams, is back for his final campaign.

KIRK COMMENTS:

"I think it is realistic to think we will have everyone healthy when we begin in August. Adam and Brandon both improved during the course of last season. Both were playing their best football at the end of the season."

I would echo the same about Jewel in 2008. He played a significant amount in spelling Shonn. Jewel was really playing good football in November, and performed well in the Outback Bowl. Paki was injured during the spring, but should be full speed. Paki is a valued, dependable player for us and an excellent special teams performer as well."

We look forward to having everyone healthy and on the field. They all bring different assets to the team."

FULLBACK

Senior all-Big Ten candidate Brett Morse (6-3, 238) returns following a strong 2009 season. The Iowa system requires its fullback to be an excellent blocker and pass catcher and Morse has done both well. He is also a key special teams player who provides leadership as well.

Morse will once again be the top fullback. He started all 13 games last season and has 22 career starts under his belt. He's caught 13 passes for 74 yards and a touchdown during his career. He's a strong, intelligent player (named academic all-Big Ten). Junior Wade Leppert (6-0, 240) has been part of the Iowa two-deep, at fullback, for the past two years and will again be listed just behind Morse. He played in 12 of Iowa's 13 games last year and started in Iowa's 2009 Outback Bowl win over South Carolina. He has five career receptions. Also, joining this group competing for playing time will be redshirt freshman Brad Rogers (5-10, 215). Rogers saw a lot of action during spring practice as several running backs were limited due to injuries.

KIRK COMMENTS:

"Fullback is not a glamorous position, but it is a very important part of what we do. Brett has done a great job at the position; he is a positive team leader and is highly respected by everyone on the team."

Wade Leppert has playing experience and Brad Rogers will work primarily at fullback in the fall. We think Brad has a lot of upside. He has really impressed us his first year on campus."

TIGHT END

Gone is the multi-talented Tony Moeaki. He started eight games last year and 14 during his career. He was an honorable mention all-American and a first-team all-Big Ten selection in 2009. He was selected by Kansas City in the third round of the NFL draft. He caught 30 passes for 387 yards and four touchdowns, last season, and was a semi-finalist for the John Mackey Award. His pass catching and blocking talents will surely be missed.

Senior all-Big Ten candidate Allen Reisner (6-3, 248) will move to the top of the Hawkeye tight end list. The past three years he played behind NFL players Brandon Myers and Moeaki. Reisner started three games as a junior and has caught 26 career passes for 365 yards and two touchdowns. Reisner has the ability to be Iowa's third straight first-team all-Big Ten tight end in the last three years.

The only other tight end with a reception is junior Brad Herman (6-5, 247). And his total is a mere one catch for three yards. But, he's seen considerably more playing time than his career reception total would indicate. Sophomores Jonathan Gimm (6-3, 240), and Zach Derby (6-3, 235) are among a number of young tight end candidates searching for playing time.

Recruiting coordinator Eric Johnson moves back to coaching the tight ends (he coached them 2003-07) this spring after working with the linebackers the last two years.

KIRK COMMENTS:

"Allen played as a true freshman in 2007 and he took that experience and made it work for him. He was a better player in 2008. Last year, he did a nice job, especially as our tight end in some critical situations when Tony was injured. Allen was in there against Penn State and Arizona; and did a good job. He is a good all around player who has a knack for making plays when you need them."

Brad Herman had a productive spring. That's a plus. Jonathan Gimm and Zach Derby played well in the spring. Tight end is a position where we like to play three or four guys in a game, so there is an opportunity there for any of the young guys to step in. We will have an open mind as we go into August."

WIDE RECEIVER

The Iowa coaches feel good about the wide receiver position. The two starters, heading into fall practice, are both all-Big Ten candidates. The only casualty to graduation is Trey Stross, the team's third leading receiver last year with 31 catches for 414 yards and a touchdown.

Versatile senior Derrell Johnson-Koulianos (6-1, 200) was a second team all-Big Ten selection last year. He, along with junior Marvin McNutt (6-4, 215) are expected to be Iowa's top receivers. They were Iowa's leading receivers a year ago, with Johnson-Koulianos leading the way with 45 catches for 750 yards and two touchdowns. His career totals include 127 catches for 1,871 yards and seven touchdowns. He was also Iowa's leading kickoff returner with 12 returns for 378 yards. That included a 99-yard kickoff return for a touchdown at Ohio State. Johnson-Koulianos has 26 career starts at wide receiver. He's only the third Iowa receiver to lead the team in receiving for three consecutive years. No one has led the squad in all four seasons.

McNutt came to Iowa as a quarterback and gained his first significant wide receiver action last season. He started five games, caught 34 passes for 674 yards and eight touchdowns. He caught a seven-yard pass from Stanzi, on the final play of the game, to defeat Michigan State last year. He averaged a team leading 19.8 yards per catch.

Sophomore Keenan Davis (6-3, 215) and senior Paul Chaney, Jr. (5-9, 170) are listed right behind McNutt. Davis caught four passes for 55 yards and a touchdown as a true freshman. Chaney was injured and missed the final seven games of the 2009 season. He had made major strides since the 2008 season and his full recovery would be a big plus for the Hawkeyes. He caught seven passes for 50 yards before the injury. Chaney is extremely versatile, as he was one of Iowa's primary punt and kickoff returners, prior to his injury.

Senior Colin Sandeman (6-1, 200) started two games last season (Arizona and Penn State) and made key plays in Iowa's FedEx Orange Bowl victory. He is listed behind Johnson-Koulianos and has battled injuries throughout his career. Sandeman caught 14 passes for 136 yards and scored a touchdown in 2009. He's also been one of Iowa's primary punt returners over the last three seasons. He led the team in punt returns last year with 12 for 108 yards. He's grabbed 20 career passes for 214 yards.

Following the top two on the depth chart are senior Don Nordmann (6-6, 211) and redshirt freshman Jordan Cotton (6-1, 185). Nordmann has two career pass receptions in limited action. Cotton had a solid spring session.

KIRK COMMENTS:

"This is the most experienced group of receivers we have had. They showed improvement in the spring and we expect that to continue. Derrell had a solid spring and Marvin continued to improve and gain ground. Colin has shown, if he can stay healthy, that he can really help our football team. Keenan Davis is another young guy who is learning and making strides. Jordan Cotton was probably the most pleasant surprise of this group in the spring, though he is still young with a lot to learn. Jordan's upside is encouraging. We look forward to having Paul Chaney, Jr. back from injury, plus Don Nordmann has made positive contributions. Paul was really playing his best football when he was injured last year."

It wasn't fair to evaluate Marvin prior to last fall, he had just made the transition. Last year was the first year he really played wide receiver and he came up with some big, big plays for us. He has a chance to be a high quality player; he works hard, has good size and good attributes. Marvin has the ability to really develop into a top tier player."

Derrell has quietly accumulated some impressive statistics, he has a knack for making big plays. His contributions at receiver and as a returner are something we are excited about."

We have a number of guys with valuable experience who have been around. Potentially, this has the chance to be a strength for our team."

OFFENSIVE LINE

Iowa's offensive line will be getting quite a makeover, as it lost a great deal of experience. Gone are two first and two second team all-Big Ten selections. All-American and Big Ten Offensive Lineman of the Year, tackle Bryan Bulaga, left the team to enter the NFL draft (he was the 23rd player selected in the first round by Green Bay). He was a dominating force in Iowa's line the last two years. Also gone are first team all-league tackle Kyle Calloway and second teamers Rafael Eubanks at center and Dace Richardson at guard. Calloway was a sixth round selection (Buffalo).

Sophomore all-Big Ten candidate Riley Reiff (6-6, 300) sits atop the depth chart at left tackle. He has experience at guard and tackle, starting 11 times and playing very consistently for the Hawkeyes during the 2009 season. Junior Marcus Zusevics (6-5, 295) is listed as the starting right tackle. He has seen action as a reserve and had an impressive spring session.

Behind Reiff and Zusevics are student-athletes with little or no game experience. Sophomore Matt Tobin (6-6, 285) is listed behind Reiff. On the other side, redshirt freshman Brett Van Sloten (6-7, 290) is listed behind Zusevics. Senior Kyle Haganman (6-5, 285) and sophomore Nolan MacMillan (6-6, 288) could figure in the mix at tackle as well.

IOWA FOOTBALL OUTLOOK

Veteran Julian Vandervelde (6-3, 300), a senior all-Big Ten candidate, will lead the guard corps. He has 24 career starts and is listed as the starter on the left side. He is Iowa's most experienced offensive lineman and is a two-time academic district all-American.

Junior Adam Gettis (6-4, 280) is listed as the starter at right guard. He started one game a year ago.

Junior Cody Hundertmark (6-4, 285), who moved to the offensive line in December, is listed behind Gettis on the right side. Junior Woody Orne (6-5, 295), who sat out last season as a transfer, is listed behind Vandervelde. Sophomore Casey McMillan (6-4, 305) and redshirt freshman Drew Clark (6-4, 288) are guard candidates as well.

Senior Josh Koeppel (6-2, 273) and sophomore James Ferentz (6-2, 275) are listed on the top line at center. Both are considered capable and worthy successors to the center play of Eubanks and Rob Bruggeman (now in the NFL) from the last two years. Redshirt freshman Conor Boffeli (6-5, 285) had a solid spring as well.

KIRK COMMENTS:

"The attitude and work ethic was good this spring and the overall progress was good. In broad terms, it is the opposite of the defensive line, in that we are lacking experience. That is pretty natural, having lost four guys over the last two years who will be in NFL camps, plus all-Big Ten performer Dace Richardson. So we've lost some high caliber players. We have a little work to do.

Julian has played a lot of good football for us; we're counting on him to lead the group. Riley played at a very high level last year as a first year starter. His best football is clearly ahead of him, so we feel good about what he offers. The next four guys, Markus Zusevics, Adam Gettis, Josh Koeppel and James Ferentz, all did a good job in the spring. As long as they stay healthy and continue to improve, they can play good Big Ten football. Cody Hundertmark will be pressing for playing time. Conor Boffeli was a pleasant surprise; he missed a lot of time in the fall, but practiced consistently this spring and showed solid potential. Another guy likely to figure in the mix is Nolan MacMillan, but he missed the spring due to injury. It will be good to get him back on the field in August. Brett Van Sloten and Matt Tobin both had good springs as well.

It will help that our skill people have experience. This is probably the most experienced we have been at the skill positions at any time since I've been here, with the exception of a second tight end."

DEFENSIVE LINE

Defensive Line Coach Rick Kaczinski will be working with what could be the most experienced defensive line in the country. The 2009 starters return intact (all four started all 13 games last year). All four are all-Big Ten candidates and Adrian Clayborn is a legitimate all-American. Iowa's defense allowed only 123 rushing yards per game last year and ranked third in the Big Ten and tenth nationally in total defense, allowing only 276 yards a game. The defensive line played a major role in that success.

Senior all-America candidate Adrian Clayborn (6-4, 285) will once again lead the line from his end position. He's started 17 straight games and has 140 career stops. He was named 2009 Defensive Performer of the Year by the College Football Performance committee. He had 70 tackles last year, including 20 tackles for loss (-107 yards) and 11.5 quarterback sacks. He forced four fumbles and blocked a kick, and ran it back for a touchdown, against Penn State. The play against Penn State was one of the top defensive plays of the year in college football. He was a first-team all-Big Ten selection and was also named the MVP in the FedEx Orange Bowl victory over Georgia Tech.

Anchoring the starting end spot on the other side of the line is junior all-Big Ten candidate Broderick Binns (6-2, 261). He had 63 tackles in 2009 and now has 83 career stops.

Behind Binns and Clayborn will be two-year letterman Lebron Daniel (6-2, 250) and Joe Forgy (6-4, 255), a pair of juniors, and redshirt freshman Dominic Alvis (6-4, 240). Daniel has played sparingly over the last two years, but has been gaining valuable experience.

Seniors Karl Klug (6-4, 270) and Christian Ballard (6-5, 297) are the returning starters at defensive tackle. Ballard has started 26 straight games and has 109 career tackles. Klug had 65 tackles last year, along with 13 tackles for loss (-40 yards) and two forced fumbles. Ballard also had nine tackles for loss (-35 yards).

Junior Mike Daniels (6-1, 275) made strides during the spring and will figure in the mix at tackle. Daniels played in every game last year, collecting 10 tackles. Junior Thomas Nardo (6-3, 277) and sophomore Steve Bigach (6-3, 272) are solid backups with hopes of seeing more playing time this year.

KIRK COMMENTS:

"Defense is where we have the most experience returning, including the four linemen. Those guys did a real nice job in practice; they helped set the tone on the field, they all worked hard and all four made improvement. We're very happy that Mike Daniels continued to improve at a rapid rate. He worked a lot with the first unit, which gives us the flexibility to move some guys around and look at difference combinations; he's really made great strides. Lebron Daniels is right behind Mike in terms of showing improvement; those guys are clearly our six best defensive linemen at this point. Dominic Alvis, who missed significant time last fall, flashed a little in the spring. If he can stay healthy he has a chance to be in the two deep. Tom Nardo had a good solid spring; he continues to improve in a steady fashion as well.

Right now we feel good about our returning starters. We have a solid group of freshmen coming in as well. We'll keep a close eye on that group as we get going in August.

First and foremost, Adrian has played exceptionally well on the field. The bonus there is the strong leadership he has provided. Also, he has distinguished himself, along with some other outstanding linemen in the country, last year. He played some exceptional games last year on a national stage; being an MVP of the Orange Bowl is a pretty uncommon occurrence for a defensive lineman. He ignited us at Penn State as well. That play really sparked us. He had a lot of Kodak moments last year and we expect more this year. He has an opportunity to garner national attention; he has to go out and earn that, but I'll be surprised if that doesn't happen.

Our front four has played well as a unit. I would say Karl is just a half step behind Adrian, he really had a tremendous year. He was one of the good stories on our football team last year. Having lost our two most experienced players from 2008, great players in Mitch King and Matt Kroul; we really needed someone to step up and Karl did that.

Christian Ballard moved inside to tackle and had a very good season as well. Broderick Binns teamed up with Christian and played well also. Both Christian and Broderick had good springs."

LINEBACKERS (Includes outside linebackers)

There is definitely some retooling to be done at the linebacker position. It'll be tough filling the void created by a pair of players who accounted for 484 career tackles -- gone is first team all-American Pat Angerer (258 career tackles) and all-Big Ten outside linebacker

A.J. Edds (226). Edds started 39 games for the Hawkeyes while Angerer started his final 24 games. Both will be deeply missed from a talent and leadership standpoint. Angerer (second round) and Edds (fourth round) were both selected in the NFL draft.

Angerer led the Hawkeyes in tackles for two straight years. He had 145 stops his senior campaign and was a finalist for the Bronko Nagurski Defensive Player of the Year Award. He was also named Iowa's MVP on defense. Edds was a regular on the academic all-Big Ten unit.

Senior three-time letterman Jeremiha Hunter (6-2, 235) is Iowa's lone returning starter at linebacker. The all-Big Ten candidate has 25 career starts and started all but the Minnesota game last year. He was Iowa's second leading tackler in 2009, for the second straight year, with 89 tackles. He has 179 career tackles and two career interceptions.

Senior Jeff Tarpinian (6-3, 238) concluded spring practice as the starter at the middle linebacker position. Tarpinian has 50 career tackles and is a three-time letterman and three-time academic all-Big Ten performer. Junior Bruce Davis (6-0, 232) is listed behind Tarpinian in the middle. Davis has also seen extensive game action in a reserve role and on special teams, collecting 16 career tackles.

Senior Troy Johnson (6-2, 235), also a three-year letterman, is listed behind Hunter at the weak linebacker spot. Johnson started one game (Minnesota) last year, when Hunter was out, and was named Big Ten Defensive Player of the Week. He totaled 20 tackles while playing in every game in 2009.

Junior Tyler Nielsen (6-4, 235) is listed as the starter at the outside position heading into fall practice. Nielsen has seen limited action at linebacker, but has played extensively on special teams. He's a two-time academic all-Big Ten performer. Senior Ross Petersen (6-3, 236) and redshirt freshman Shane DiBona (6-2, 230) are also in the picture.

KIRK COMMENTS:

"We had confidence, going into the spring, that we had a good group competing at the linebacker positions. The first thing that jumps out at you is the leadership we lost, not just the on the field production. Both A.J. Edds and Pat Angerer did an exceptional job that way. The good news is, Jeremiha Hunter had his best spring, he played the best football he has played yet. That was good to see, and that is what you hope to see with older players.

If we were playing today, Jeff Tarpinian would be our middle linebacker, he settled in there the last half of spring practice and did a good job. He had some injuries earlier in his career. If not for that he might be a two-year starter by now. We have great confidence in him.

Tyler Nielson has emerged at outside linebacker. The bottom line is we've had good competition, and that will continue in August. Bruce Davis has grown a great deal at middle linebacker. Troy Johnson has improved with each and every step along the way; he has position versatility and is certainly in the mix. Lance Tillison returned this spring, but missed some time due to injury. He has a chance to contribute this year as well. Ross Peterson had a good solid spring. We have good healthy competition right now.

We have a chance to be pretty solid at linebacker. One of the nice things about Troy and Jeff is both of those players have a lot of versatility, they are comfortable at any of the positions, which gives us some flexibility. I think the way we finished the spring is the way that is best for those players and gives us our best line-up. We will keep evaluating in August.

IOWA FOOTBALL OUTLOOK

Shane DiBona had a good spring, it was a good period for him and he can help us on special teams as well. We are senior heavy, so one or two of our incoming players really have an opportunity to contribute. It would certainly make sense for one or two of them to help make us better on special teams."

DEFENSIVE BACKS

Iowa's defensive backfield will be experienced and talented this season. It could prove to be, once again, a key to Iowa's success. The only departure is Amari Spivey, who entered the NFL draft and was a third round selection (Detroit). Spivey was a first team all-Big Ten selection who had 56 tackles and two interceptions last year.

Three of the four defensive backfield starters return, and only one is a senior. The 2009 pass defense was rated first in the Big Ten after allowing only 153 yards a game. That figure ranked fourth in NCAA statistics. Iowa also ranked first in the Big Ten (89.9) and third nationally in pass efficiency defense. The team's 21 interceptions ranked second in the Big Ten and fifth nationally.

Senior all-Big Ten candidate Brett Greenwood (6-0, 200) has a solid hold on the free safety position. He's been a starter since his freshman year and is Iowa's most experienced defender. Greenwood has 33 career starts and is considered extremely talented and dependable. A second team all-Big Ten selection, he had 55 tackles and three interceptions last year. Career totals show 168 tackles and seven interceptions.

Junior Kyle Steinbrecher (6-2, 201) and Jack Swanson (5-11, 200) are the top candidates behind Greenwood. Swanson had five stops while seeing action primarily on special teams last season.

All-America candidate Tyler Sash (6-1, 210) returns at strong safety for his junior campaign. He's been a starter 24 times in his still young career. He was named third team 2009 all-American by the Associated Press and first team all-Big Ten. He was also a semi-finalist for the Jim Thorpe Defensive Back of the Year Award. Sash was Iowa's third leading tackler with 85 tackles. He intercepted a team leading six passes and had 203 interception return yards (an Iowa record). His 350 career interception return yardage is an Iowa record. He has career totals of 11 interceptions and 137 tackles.

Behind Sash are junior Tom Donatell (6-2, 205) and sophomores Nick Nielsen (6-3, 210) and Jason White (5-10, 205). White lettered and saw limited action on special teams in 12 games last year. He had five tackles.

Micah Hyde (6-1, 185), after playing last season as a true freshman, enters August listed as the starter at right corner. He had only eight tackles in a reserve role last season. Competing with him are two juniors. Jordan Bernstine (5-11, 205) and William Lowe (5-10, 172) have both played extensively. Lowe started two games last year and had 13 tackles. Bernstine sat out the 2009 season with a leg injury, but appears ready for action in 2010. He has 21 career tackles and an interception. Hyde, Lowe and Bernstine could be locked in the team's closest battle for a starting spot.

The other cornerback spot should be anchored by veteran Shaun Prater (5-11, 180). He started 10 games last year and totaled 41 tackles and two interceptions. Backing up Prater will be sophomores Greg Castillo (5-11, 180) and Collin Sleeper (6-2, 200). Castillo started the season opener last year and could also enter the competition for a starting job. He had four tackles a year ago.

KIRK COMMENTS:

"The spring wasn't fully representative of what we are going to be in August, with Brett Greenwood and Tyler Sash sitting out due to off season surgery. We were pleased with the way the corners competed. Shaun Prater would be number one on the left side, with Micah Hyde having the edge at the other corner.

Three guys competing with Micah are Jordan Bernstein, William Lowe and Greg Castillo. We've got solid competition at the corner positions.

At safety we are still searching a little, depth wise. The way we finished spring, there are several guys in the mix, including Tom Donatell, Nick Nielsen and Jack Swanson. Kyle Steinbrecher impressed us with his performance this spring at free safety; he can help us there and on special teams. Jason White will return to safety after helping out at running back in the spring. We have five or six guys that all made some progress, but maybe are not pressing our two starters at this point. We have to see how they improve and grow prior to September.

Experience is the number one key with Brett and Tyler. Both are, as opposed to two years ago, confident players. We have seen them play well in tough situations. That experience alone will really help. We are counting on both to provide strong leadership."

SPECIAL TEAMS

Senior punter Ryan Donahue (6-3, 190) is an all-America candidate. He has twice been a semi-finalist for the (2008-09) Ray Guy Punter of the Year Award. He has also been a second team all-Big Ten choice the last two years. He was named Big Ten Special Teams Player of the Week following Iowa's win over Arizona last year. Donahue averaged 40.9 yards per punt in 2009 and has a punt of at least 50 yards in 17 of the last 24 games. And, 27 of his 61 punts last year were downed inside the 20-yard line, with only five touchbacks. Donahue has three of the longest punts in Iowa history (82, 76, and 73). He has the ability, and leg, to be one of the top punters in college football. He's been one of the most consistent punters in the nation over the past three years. Junior Eric Guthrie (6-6, 245) is the backup punter, but hasn't seen game action.

Senior Daniel Murray (5-10, 185) handled all the place-kicking chores last year. Murray made 19 of 26 field goals and was 32 of 33 on extra points, last season. He was Iowa's leading scorer with 89 points. His 158 career points rank 13th on the Iowa charts. Sophomore Trent Mossbrucker (6-0, 204) returns after redshirting last season. His 70 points in 2008 are the most ever by an Iowa freshman. Mossbrucker made seven straight field goals during a portion of the 2008 season and led the Big Ten in field goal percentage (86.7). He and Murray will battle it out for the starting placekicking spot.

The Hawkeyes did a good job defensively in kickoff returns during the 2009 campaign. Iowa allowed only 18.6 yards per kickoff return to rank second in the Big Ten and ninth nationally. The team's net punting of 37.1 yards ranked fourth in league play. Kickoff returner Derrell Johnson-Koulianos was second best in the Big Ten with 31.5 yards per return average. And, a healthy Colin Sandeman and Paul Chaney, Jr. will be a boost to Iowa's punt return team. Sandeman finished second in Big Ten punt returns last year, taking over in mid-season after Chaney suffered a season-ending injury.

KIRK COMMENTS:

"Placekicking is the biggest area of interest. We were not as consistent as we would like to be in the spring. That's an area we need to make strides and I am confident we will. We have two kickers that have good game experience; it should be a good competitive situation this fall. We will play it out and do what's best, based on how we come out of camp.

Andrew Schulze has done an outstanding job with deep snaps, we're excited about having him back. Ryan Donahue has really performed well for several years, we're expecting him to play his best in his senior year. He and Andy have done a nice job of becoming the leaders of that group and both are excellent players.

If we can keep both Paul Chaney and Colin Sandeman available for punt returns, we should be in capable hands. That position has been impacted by injuries more than anything. We likely will have more return candidates this year than we have had, which is a reflection on a good receiver group.

We have more potential on the kickoff return team than we have had in recent years. Derrell certainly showed he is a capable return man, and we've been impressed with some of the other guys who have been back there as well. We have more depth at running back and receiver, so we have more candidates. Hopefully our depth at those positions can give us a little bit of an edge in the return game."

THE SCHEDULE

Iowa has an incredibly attractive home schedule in 2010. The Hawkeyes will play a 12-game regular season schedule that includes seven home and five road games. The Hawkeyes have a bye week October 9th. Iowa has traditionally played one of the nation's top schedules and this year is no different.

The Hawkeyes open with four of their first five games at home. Eight of the 2010 opponents appeared in bowl games last year. Three of the four non-conference games will be played in Iowa City. Non-league home games include the Sept. 4th season opener against Eastern Illinois. Iowa State is the following week and Ball State visits Sept. 25th. A road trip to always tough Arizona is set for Sept. 18th.

The Big Ten opener is against Penn State, at home, on Oct. 2nd. It's only the third time in Ferentz' 12 years at Iowa that the Hawkeyes have opened league play at home. Other league games in Kinnick Stadium include Wisconsin, Michigan State and Ohio State. All of those contests were extremely close last year. Road games in the Big Ten include dates at Michigan, Indiana, Northwestern and Iowa's first visit to Minnesota's new TCF Bank Stadium. The Hawkeyes will also be playing for the first time in newly renovated Michigan Stadium, in Ann Arbor.

Still missing from Iowa's league schedule are Illinois and Purdue. Those two opponents replace Northwestern and Michigan State in 2011 and 2012.

Eastern Illinois (Sept. 4th) is Varsity Club Day while Penn State (Oct. 2nd) is homecoming. Family Weekend is Oct. 23 vs. Wisconsin.

KIRK COMMENTS:

"We reminded our guys, back in January, even though our record is fairly good over the last 20 games, (and that's nice,) if you really look at that, more than a handful of those games could have gone either way real fast. That serves as a reminder to everyone that this is a tough and competitive conference. To come out on top, it's a really fine line. Before any of us start thinking we have this figured out, we need to stay mindful that things are very close and our record could have easily been 10-10 compared to what it was.

There are no automatics. Right now I would anticipate all 12 games we have scheduled to be very challenging. That has to be our attitude. It really doesn't matter if we are home or away. Playing on the road in our conference, no matter where you go, is not easy. The bottom line is, we have had a lot of close games over the last decade; that is the nature of the Big Ten Conference. It still comes down to this, you better be ready to play, no matter the opponent or the location."

2010 IOWA FOOTBALL NOTES

COACH KIRK FERENTZ

Kirk Ferentz (pronounced FAIR-rintz, rhymes with parents) is in his 12th season as head football coach at the University of Iowa. His latest contract extension, signed in 2009, runs through the 2015 season. Ferentz was named the 2009 Dave McClain Big Ten Conference Coach of the Year. He was one of 15 semi-finalists for the 2009 George Munger Award, presented by the Maxwell Football Club to the College Coach of the Year. He was the 2009 AFCA Region Three Coach of the Year and was one of 10 finalists for the Liberty Mutual national Coach of the Year. Ferentz was honored as the 2002 Associated Press and Walter Camp National Coach of the Year and was the AFCA Regional Coach of the Year that season, as well. He has been named Big Ten Conference Coach of the Year in 2002, 2004 and 2009. Ferentz has guided Iowa to Big Ten titles twice in the last eight years. Iowa has made two BCS bowl appearances, including a 24-14 win in the 2010 FedEx Orange Bowl. Iowa has played in six January bowl games, including four January bowl victories (2004 Outback Bowl, 2005 Capital One Bowl, 2009 Outback Bowl and 2010 FedEx Orange Bowl). Iowa has posted a 70-31 (.693) overall mark and a 42-22 (.656) Big Ten record the last eight seasons. Ferentz has guided the Hawkeyes to eight first division finishes, including a second place finish in 2009. His Hawkeye teams are 5-3 in bowl games. Ferentz, at Iowa, holds an overall record of 81-55 (.596) and a 49-39 (.557) mark in Big Ten games. In 14 seasons as a college head coach his career mark is 93-76 (.550). Ferentz boasts the second-most victories by a Hawkeye head coach.

HAWKEYE HISTORY

Iowa has played 1,129 games since beginning football in 1889. Iowa's overall record is 579-511-39 (.530). That includes a 365-199-16 (.643) record in home games, a 214-312-23 (.411) record in games away from Iowa City, a 285-344-25 (.455) mark in Big Ten games and a 248-163-15 (.600) record in Kinnick Stadium.

IOWA MATCHES BEST OVERALL RECORD

Iowa completed the 2009 season with a 24-14 win over ninth-ranked Georgia Tech in the 2010 FedEx Orange Bowl. Iowa posted an 11-2 overall record and a 6-2 mark in Big Ten Conference action (tie for second). The second place finish is the best for the Hawkeyes since they shared the Big Ten title in 2004. Iowa was third in 2005 and has finished in the Big Ten's first division eight of the past nine seasons. The Hawkeyes won 11 games in a season for just the second time in school history (11-2 in 2002). Coach Kirk Ferentz has led the Hawkeyes to 10 or more victories in four of 11 seasons (2002, 2003, 2004, 2009). Iowa, in 2009, won as many as 10 games in the regular season for just the fourth time. Iowa won 11 regular season games in 2002 and 2009 and 10 in 1985 and 1991.

GLANCE AT THE SCHEDULE

Iowa will play four of its first five games in Kinnick Stadium. The Hawkeyes open with home games against Eastern Illinois (Sept. 4, 11 a.m., BTN) and Iowa State (Sept. 11, 2:30 p.m., ABC). Iowa travels to Arizona (Sept. 18, 9:30 p.m. CT, ESPN) for its only non-conference road game before hosting Ball State. The Hawkeyes open the Big Ten schedule against Penn State (Oct. 2, 7 p.m., ABC/ESPN) in a prime-time contest at Kinnick Stadium. This season marks just the third time in Ferentz' 12 years at Iowa that the Hawkeyes will open the conference season at home. After an open week, Iowa travels to Michigan before home games against Wisconsin and Michigan State. The Hawkeyes play at Indiana and Northwestern before hosting Ohio State in the home finale. The final game of the regular season is at Minnesota the Saturday after Thanksgiving. For the second straight season, Iowa does not play Illinois or Purdue. Those two teams return to the 2011 schedule, replacing Michigan State and Northwestern. Eight of Iowa's 2010 opponents competed in bowl games at the conclusion of last season, posting a 4-4 record. Of the eight bowl participants, Ohio State, Penn State and Northwestern played in January bowl events. Iowa's regular season strength of schedule a year ago ranked 27th strongest in the nation. Iowa's 12 opponents compiled a 77-61 (.558) record. Including its Orange Bowl win, Iowa was 8-2 against bowl eligible opponents.

IOWA UNDER THE LIGHTS

Iowa will open Big Ten Conference action with a prime-time contest against Penn State (Oct. 2), marking the second straight season the Hawkeyes and Nittany Lions will meet in a night game on ABC/ESPN national television. Iowa's Sept. 18 contest at Arizona will also be a night contest (9:30 p.m. CT) and will be televised by ESPN.

Iowa played four night games a year ago, winning at Penn State and Michigan State, defeating Michigan in Kinnick Stadium and Georgia Tech in the FedEx Orange Bowl.

Iowa's contest at Michigan (Oct. 16) is confirmed as a 2:30 p.m. CT kickoff (ABC), while start times for all other games are yet to be determined.

IOWA LEADERSHIP GROUP

Iowa's Leadership Group for the 2010 season includes seven seniors, four juniors, two sophomores and two freshmen (redshirt). A member of the incoming freshman class will be added in the fall. Permanent team captains are named at the conclusion of each season. The Leadership Group for this season includes seniors Adrian Clayborn, Brett Greenwood, Karl Klug, Brett Morse, Ricky Stanzi, Jeff Tarpinian and Julian Vandervelde; juniors Broderick Binns, Marvin McNutt, Tyler Nielsen and Tyler Sash; sophomores Greg Castillo and James Vandenberg; and redshirt freshmen Shane DiBona and Brett Van Sloten.

HAWKEYES ON THE TUBE

All Iowa football games this season will be televised on either ABC, ESPN, ESPN2, ESPNU or the Big Ten Network. The last Iowa contest not televised was vs. Minnesota on Nov. 17, 2001. Iowa has appeared on television in its last 103 games. Iowa will play night games against Arizona (9:30 p.m. CT, ESPN) and Penn State (7 p.m., ABC/ESPN) and later afternoon games against Iowa State and Michigan (ABC).

HAWKEYES BY THE NUMBERS

Iowa returns 48 lettermen from 2010, including 22 on offense, 22 on defense and four specialists. The 48 lettermen are the same number Iowa returned for the 2009 season. The Hawkeyes return six starters on offense, eight on defense and their place kicker and punter. The lettermen breakdown includes 15 three-year lettermen, 14 two-year lettermen and 19 one-year lettermen. The total roster has 113 players, and includes 26 seniors, 23 juniors, 26 sophomores, 16 redshirt freshmen and 22 true freshmen. The pre-season depth chart includes 17 seniors, 20 juniors, 13 sophomores and two redshirt freshmen.

STARTERS RETURNING

Iowa returns six starters on offense, eight on defense and three specialists. The returning starters on offense include: guard Julian Vandervelde, tackle Riley Reiff, receiver Derrell Johnson-Koulianos, quarterback Ricky Stanzi, running back Adam Robinson and fullback Brett Morse (plus part-time starter WR Marvin McNutt). The defensive starters returning include: ends Adrian Clayborn and Broderick Binns, tackles Christian Ballard and Karl Klug, linebacker Jeremiha Hunter and backs Brett Greenwood, Tyler Sash and Shaun Prater. Punter Ryan Donahue and place kicker Daniel Murray also return, along with PK Trent Mossbrucker, who used 2009 as a redshirt season after lettering as a freshman in 2008.

RETURNING WITH HONORS

Iowa returns 11 players who earned all-Big Ten honors a year ago. Among those returning, DE Adrian Clayborn and DB Tyler Sash were first team selections by both league coaches and media. WR Derrell Johnson-Koulianos and DB Brett Greenwood were second team selections. Those earning honorable recognition include DT Christian Ballard, DT Karl Klug, P Ryan Donahue, RB Adam Robinson, DE Broderick Binns, QB Ricky Stanzi and PK Daniel Murray. In addition, Clayborn was the MVP of Iowa's FedEx Orange Bowl win over Georgia Tech and was named national Defensive Performer of the Year by College Football Performance Awards. Clayborn recorded nine solo tackles as the Hawkeye defense held the Yellow Jackets to just 155 yards total offense. Clayborn had a career-best nine solo tackles and matched his career best with two sacks.

Iowa is mentioned frequently in pre-season prognostications, as a majority of spring and summer projections have the Hawkeyes ranked among the top 10 teams in the nation. Iowa ended the 2009 season ranked seventh in the nation, its fourth top 10 finish in the national polls in the last eight seasons. Individually, senior DE Adrian Clayborn is on the pre-season Watch List for the Rotary Lombardi Award and junior DB Tyler Sash is on the pre-season Lott Trophy Watch List. Clayborn, Sash and DB Brett Greenwood have all earned mention on pre-season all-America teams.

RETURNING STAT LEADERS

Iowa returns several players who enter the 2009 season having already entered their name in the Iowa record books:

- Senior QB Ricky Stanzi ranks ninth in single season touchdown passes (17 in 2009) and sixth in career scoring passes (31). A year ago he completed 171-304 attempts for 2,417 yards. His season yardage total ranks 11th best and his career total of 4,373 passing yards ranks sixth. He is seventh in career completions (321), eighth in attempts (562) and sixth in total offense (4,362). Stanzi has led Iowa to an 18-4 record as a starter, including a 10-2 record in Kinnick Stadium and a 10-4 record in Big Ten games. His 18 wins as Iowa's starting quarterback ranks eighth among active Division I quarterbacks heading into the season.

- Senior WR Derrell Johnson-Koulianos has led Iowa in receiving in each of the past three seasons, becoming just the third receiver to accomplish that feat. DJK had 45 receptions for 750 yards a year ago, improving his career totals to 127 receptions for 1,871 yards and seven touchdowns. He ranks seventh in both career receptions and yards. He also averaged 31.5 yards on 12 KO returns a year ago, including a 99-yard return for a touchdown at Ohio State. He has totaled over 1,000 all-purpose yards in each of his three seasons, including a career-best 1,128 yards in 2009. DJK has matched Jim Gibbons (1955-57) and Tim Dwight (1995-97) as a receiving leader in three seasons. No Hawkeye has led the team in receiving four years.
- Junior DB Tyler Sash led Iowa with six interceptions in 2009, a total that ties as sixth best in a single season. He tied Iowa's single game record with three interceptions in a win at Iowa State. His 203 return yards in 2009 are a single-season record and his career total of 350 returns yards is a school record. He has 11 career interceptions, which ties for sixth best. His total return yards rank fifth best all-time, in the Big Ten Conference, for all games.
- Junior WR Marvin McNutt had eight touchdown receptions in 2009, which ties for the fourth best total in school history. In his first season as a wide receiver, McNutt had 34 receptions for 674 yards, including the game-winner on the final play of Iowa's win at Michigan State. McNutt (674) and DJK (750) combined to give Iowa two receivers over 600 yards for just the ninth time in school history.
- Senior PK Daniel Murray led Iowa in scoring with 89 points in 2009, making 19-26 field goal attempts and 32-33 PATs. His career totals include 32-45 field goals and 62-65 PATs. His 89 points last season tie as 11th best for a single season and he is 13th in career scoring (158 points).
- Sophomore RB Adam Robinson led Iowa's rushing attack with 834 yards in 2009, despite missing all of two games and portions of others. The yardage is the most ever for an Iowa freshman. He rushed for over 100 yards in wins over Arizona and Michigan State. Robinson gained 952 all-purpose yards, a total that ranks fifth best among Iowa freshmen.
- Sophomore RB Brandon Wegher set an Iowa freshman record with eight rushing touchdowns in 2009, the final score coming in the FedEx Orange Bowl win over Georgia Tech. He rushed 162 times for 641 yards as a true freshman, surpassing 100 yards in three games. His rushing total ranks third best for an Iowa freshman and his all-purpose yardage (967 yards) ranks fourth best.
- Sophomore RB Jewel Hampton rushed 91 times for 463 yards and seven touchdowns as a freshman in 2008 before missing last season due to injury. His rushing total ranks fifth best for an Iowa freshman and his seven touchdowns tied a freshman record that was eclipsed last season by Brandon Wegher. Hampton totaled 1,000 all-purpose yards in 2008, third best among Iowa rookies.

DOMINANT AT HOME

Iowa has won 44 of its last 53 games (.830) in Kinnick Stadium, dating back to the 2002 season. The nine Hawkeye losses came to Western Michigan (28-19 in 2007), Indiana (38-20 in 2007), Michigan (23-20 in overtime in 2005), Ohio State (38-17 in 2006), Northwestern (21-7 in 2006, 22-17 in 2008 and 17-10 in 2009), Wisconsin (24-21 in 2006) and Iowa State (36-31 in 2002). Iowa recorded a school-record 22-game home winning streak between 2002-05, which ended in the overtime loss to Michigan. Iowa's 44-9 (.830) home record from 2002 thru 2009 is the 11th-best winning percentage in the nation and ranks second in the Big Ten to Ohio State.

HAWKEYE NOTES

- Dating back to 2008, Iowa has won seven of its last eight games away from Iowa City. A six-game streak was snapped in the overtime loss at eighth-ranked Ohio State. The streak included wins at Minnesota, Iowa State, Penn State, Wisconsin and Michigan State, along with a victory over South Carolina in the 2009 Outback Bowl. The road winning streak was the longest for Iowa since the Hawkeyes won all five of their road games during the 2002 regular season. That streak was six straight games away from home, including the 2001 Alamo Bowl.
- Iowa's 2009 win at No. 4/5 ranked Penn State marked Iowa's first road win over a team ranked in the top five since 1990. That season the Hawkeyes scored a 54-28 win at fifth-ranked Illinois. Iowa concluded the 2009 season with a neutral site win over ninth-ranked Georgia Tech in the Orange Bowl.
- Iowa has won nine straight games over the last three seasons with a trophy on the line. The current streak began with a win over Minnesota in 2007 for possession of Floyd of Rosedale. Iowa also won the battle for Floyd in both 2008 and 2009, along with earning the Cy-Hawk (Iowa State) and Heartland (Wisconsin) trophies the last two seasons. The streak includes wins in the 2009 Outback and 2010 FedEx Orange bowls.
- For the second straight year, Iowa will face two teams that have former Hawkeye players as their head coach. Bret Bielema (1989-92) is the head coach at Wisconsin and Mike Stoops (1981, 1983-84) is the head coach at Arizona. Iowa defeated Arizona 27-17 last Sept. 19 in Iowa City and defeated Wisconsin 20-10 Oct. 17 in Madison. Both Stoops and Bielema led their teams to bowl games in 2009.
- Iowa, in 2009, won four games by three points or less for the first time ever in a single season. Iowa was 4-1 in 2009 when trailing after three periods and 1-1 when tied after three quarters. Iowa blocked two field goal attempts in the final seconds of a win over Northern Iowa and scored on the final play in a win at Michigan State. The Hawkeyes lost at Ohio State in overtime.

SPECIALISTS RETURN

The Hawkeyes return all specialists in 2010, including punter Ryan Donahue, place kickers Daniel Murray and Trent Mossbrucker, long snapper Andrew Schulze, and returners Derrell Johnson-Koulianos, Colin Sandeman and Paul Chaney, Jr. Murray and Mossbrucker shared kicking duties in 2008 before Mossbrucker used 2009 as a redshirt season. Murray, last season, handled all kickoffs and was 32-33 on PATs and 19-26 on field goal attempts while leading the team in scoring with 89 points. Mossbrucker was 31-33 on PATs and 13-15 on field goals as a freshman. His 70 points are a single-season Iowa freshman record and rank 21st overall in Iowa scoring annals. Donahue earned honorable mention all-Big Ten recognition a year ago as a junior. He averaged 40.9 yards per kick and opponents averaged just 5.7 yards on 23 returns. Additionally, 27 of his 61 punts were downed inside the 20. Donahue broke two school punting records in 2007. The native of Evergreen Park, IL, established school records for punts in a single-season (86) and punt yardage (3,533). Furthermore, the 86 punts is a Big Ten single-season record. Donahue also earned freshman honorable mention all-American accolades by The Sporting News. His career totals include a 41.2 average on 197 punts. DJK averaged 31.5 yards on KO returns and ranked second in the Big Ten. Sandeman had a nine-yard average on punt returns over the second half of the season, ranking second in the league after taking over for Chaney, Jr. Chaney, Jr. averaged 5.1 yards on punt returns in the first six games before a season-ending injury.

PROGRAM NOTES

- Kirk Ferentz has been named Big Ten Coach of the Year three times (2002, 2004 & 2009) and he was named National Coach of the Year in 2002. Ferentz joins Michigan's Bo Schembechler (four) and Penn State's Joe Paterno (three) as the only coaches to be honored in more than two seasons.
- With five bowl victories, Kirk Ferentz ranks fifth all-time among Big Ten Conference coaches in bowl wins.
- Four of Iowa's five bowl wins under Coach Kirk Ferentz have been in January bowl events. Under Ferentz, the Hawkeyes have bowl wins over teams from the Southeastern (three), Big 12 and Atlantic Coast conferences.

- Iowa has had national award winners in: Robert Gallery (2003 Outland, Top Lineman); Brad Banks (2002 Davey O'Brien, Top Quarterback; 2002 Associated Press National Player of the Year); Dallas Clark (2002 Mackey, Top Tight End); Nate Kaeding (2002 Groza, Top Kicker); Shonn Greene (2008 Doak Walker, Top Running Back). GAME RECAP

Iowa blocked Northern Iowa field goal attempts on the final two plays of the game to take a 17-16 win over the fourth-ranked FCS Panthers in Kinnick Stadium.

Northern Iowa had driven to the Iowa 23-yard line in the closing minutes and attempted a 40-yard field goal on first down with seven seconds to play. Hawkeye DE Broderick Binns blocked the attempt, but the Panthers recovered the loose ball behind the line of scrimmage with one second remaining. The final attempt of 41-yards was then blocked by LB Jeremiha Hunter. LB Pat Angerer recovered the loose ball to secure the Hawkeye victory.

Iowa took an early lead on a 39-yard field goal by Daniel Murray in the first period as the Hawkeyes scored on their opening drive. The Panthers recovered an Iowa fumble at the Iowa 28 and tied the game with a 39-yard field goal later in the first period. Northern Iowa took a 10-3 advantage in the second period after driving 91 yards in 15 plays. That advantage held up through the remainder of the first half.

The Panthers took advantage of a second Iowa fumble to increase the advantage to 13-3 as Billy Hallgren connected on his second field goal, this time from 34 yards with 12:27 remaining in the third period.

Iowa scored its initial touchdown of the season on its next possession, driving 70 yards in just six plays. The Hawkeyes regained the lead with 13:18 to play when QB Ricky Stanzi completed a six-yard scoring strike to TE Tony Moeaki. Murray added his second PAT of the day and Iowa led 17-13.

Northern Iowa added a 36-yard Hallgren field goal with 4:26 remaining for the final points of the game. Iowa collected just one first down on its final possession before Northern Iowa took over for the final 2:14. The blocked field goals by Binns and Hunter helped Iowa improve to 9-2 in season opening games under Coach Kirk Ferentz.

GAME RECAP

Iowa collected six turnovers and featured a balanced offense in taking a 35-3 win at Iowa State. The Hawkeyes scored 35 straight points after trailing 3-0 in the first period. Iowa did not allow Iowa State a touchdown for the third straight season (14 quarters overall). Iowa had five pass interceptions in the game and turned four of the six ISU turnovers into 28 points.

After taking the early lead, ISU attempted an onside kick, but Iowa recovered the ball and had good field position for its initial scoring drive. QB Ricky Stanzi drove Iowa 41 yards in four plays, completing the drive with a one-yard pass to FB Brett Morse for the first of his four TD passes, a career-high.

DB Tyler Sash tied a school record with three pass interceptions. His second of the day, in the second period, led to Iowa's second touchdown, an 18-yard reception by Derrell Johnson-Koulianos. Iowa held a 14-3 advantage at halftime.

LB Jeremiha Hunter recovered an ISU fumble early in the third period to set up another Iowa score. Iowa capped a 48-yard drive with a seven-yard pass from Stanzi to TE Allen Reisner. RB Brandon Wegher added a one-yard scoring run late in the third period and WR Keenan Davis had a 10-yard scoring reception with six minutes remaining to end the scoring.

DB Brett Greenwood had Iowa's other two pass interceptions. The five thefts are the most for Iowa since also grabbing five in a 1985 win over Illinois and the six turnovers matches Iowa's total vs. Illinois in a 2006 win in Champaign.

Iowa gained 426 yards total offense, 191 rushing and 235 passing. Stanzi completed 18-34 passes for 197 yards and four scores, with two interceptions. Wegher had his first statistics of the season, leading Iowa with 15 rushes for 101 yards. Wegher also had two receptions for 17 yards. A total of 12 receivers had at least one reception. Senior Trey Stross led the way with 69 yards on four catches.

Sash added 10 tackles (eight solo), two tackles for loss and a forced fumble to go with his interceptions, which he returned 63 yards. Sash was named co-Defensive Player of the Week in the Big Ten. DE Broderick Binns added a career-best nine tackles and Greenwood added two pass break-ups.

GAME RECAP

Iowa scored on a seven-yard touchdown pass from Ricky Stanzi to Marvin McNutt on the final play of the game to take a 15-13 win at Michigan State. The win is the first for Iowa in East Lansing since 1995 and marks Iowa's fourth straight road victory of the season.

Iowa controlled the action in the fourth quarter, collecting a 20-yard field goal by Daniel Murray to tie the game at 6-6 with 11:43 remaining. Michigan State gained just one first down on its next possession and Iowa began an 11-play drive that covered 72 yards and took over six minutes off the clock. Murray added another 20-yard field goal, his third three-pointer of the night, to give Iowa a 9-6 advantage with 2:56 to play.

MSU took over at its own 40 after a long kick return, but faced a third and 18 after consecutive QB sacks. A pass and lateral play gained 38 yards and the Spartans would later score their only touchdown on a 30-yard pass from Kirk Cousins to Blair White with 1:37 to play.

Iowa's game-winning drive began with a 16 yard Stanzi to McNutt completion to the Iowa 46. After a short run by Stanzi and an incomplete pass, Stanzi connected with Trey Stross for a 21-yard gain. A 16-yard pass to Derrell Johnson-Koulianos moved the ball to the MSU 15 and a holding penalty gave Iowa a first and goal at the seven. After three straight incomplete passes, Stanzi found McNutt on a slant pattern for the winning score. The completion marked Iowa's first fourth down conversion of the season.

Iowa's offense was led by RB Adam Robinson, who rushed 27 times for 109 yards, both career bests. Stanzi completed 11-27 passes for 138 yards and a touchdown. Johnson-Koulianos led Iowa receivers with 59 yards on three receptions and he added 48 yards on two KO returns.

Iowa's defense allowed MSU just 85 net rushing yards while collecting four QB sacks. LB Pat Angerer led Iowa's defense with nine tackles. DE Adrian Clayborn registered three tackles for loss, including two QB sacks, and was named co-Defensive Player of the Week in the Big Ten.

Murray made all three of his field goal attempts, including a 37-yard kick in the second period to force a 3-3 halftime tie. Punter Ryan Donahue averaged 44.7 yards on six punts, with three kicks inside the MSU 20.

GAME RECAP

Iowa dominated the fourth period in taking a 42-24 win over Indiana in Kinnick Stadium. The Hawkeyes were guilty of six turnovers in the first three periods as Indiana built a 24-14 advantage heading into the final 15 minutes.

Indiana held a 21-7 advantage at halftime and was threatening to expand the lead midway through the third period. Iowa stayed in the game on the strength of an 86-yard interception return for a touchdown by Tyler Sash. Iowa closed the gap to 24-21 on a 92-yard scoring strike from Ricky Stanzi to Marvin McNutt with 13 minutes remaining. After another stop by the Hawkeye defense, Iowa took the lead for the first time when Stanzi connected with wide receiver Derrell Johnson-Koulianos for a 66-yard touchdown.

Freshman running back Brandon Wegher, who started for the first time in place of the injured Adam Robinson, added touchdown runs of six and 27 yards in the final period. Wegher ended the game with 25 carries for 118 yards and three touchdowns, all career bests.

The Hawkeye defense played well, again. Indiana scored just 10 points following the six Iowa turnovers. After taking the lead in the final period Iowa added interceptions by Shaun Prater and A.J. Edds, increasing the team total to 18 thefts in nine games.

In dominating the final period, Iowa had 88 rushing and 177 passing yards for 265 yards total offense. GAME RECAP

Northwestern took advantage of four turnovers in the second period and held Iowa scoreless after the first quarter in taking a 17-10 win in Iowa City. The loss was Iowa's first of the season and marked Northwestern's third straight win in Kinnick Stadium.

Iowa started fast, using a 74-yard pass from Ricky Stanzi to Marvin McNutt to take a 7-0 advantage just one minute into the game. After the Iowa defense forced a three and out, the Hawkeyes increased their advantage to 10-0 on a 39-yard field goal by Daniel Murray on the following possession.

The game changed in the second period when Iowa forced a Wildcat punt and took possession at the Iowa six-yardline. QB Ricky Stanzi fumbled when sacked in the endzone, and Northwestern recovered for a touchdown. Stanzi suffered an ankle injury on the play and did not return to action.

Northwestern collected its second pass interception on Iowa's next possession and drove 46 yards for the go-ahead touchdown with 5:20 left in the half. It appeared for a moment that Iowa regained the lead just two plays later when Brandon Wegher appeared to score on a 64-yard run. That play was nullified by a holding call and the half ended with Northwestern leading 14-10.

Iowa drove to the Northwestern 29 midway through the third period, but a 46-yard Murray field goal attempt was just left. The Wildcats added a field goal with 13:29 to play to end the scoring.

The Iowa defense played a solid game, allowing Northwestern just 239 yards total offense. Northwestern reached the Iowa redzone just once, but the Wildcats held almost a nine minute advantage in time of possession. LB Pat Angerer led the Hawkeye defense with a career-high 17 tackles. Jeremiha Hunter added 10 tackles and Joe Conklin collected his first career interception.

Stanzi completed 4-9 passes for 134 yards and a touchdown before his injury. James Vandenberg completed 9-27 attempts for 82 yards and Derrell Johnson-Koulianos had six receptions for 63 yards. Wegher led Iowa's ground game with 63 yards on 19 carries and Ryan Donahue averaged 47 yards on five punts.

GAME RECAP

Iowa rallied from a 14-point deficit in the final 11 minutes, but Ohio State scored on a 39-yard field goal in overtime to take a 27-24 win at Columbus in a Big Ten championship game that determined the Big Ten's BCS representative.

Iowa scored the first points of the game, driving 42 yards in eight plays for a Daniel Murray 32-yard field goal late in the first period. Ohio State responded with a 30-yard field goal and a 22-yard touchdown run late in the second period to take a 10-3 advantage at halftime.

The Hawkeyes tied the score on a nine-yard strike from QB James Vandenberg to Marvin McNutt on their second possession of the third period.

Ohio State responded with an 11-yard touchdown run on its next drive to take a 17-10 advantage with 13 minutes remaining and increased the advantage to 14 points less than two minutes later. The Buckeyes scored their final points in regulation on a 49-yard run on the first play following an interception.

Iowa responded immediately, as Derrell Johnson-Koulianos returned the kickoff 99-yards for a touchdown. The KO return is the first for an Iowa touchdown since the 2003 Orange Bowl and ties as the fourth longest in school history.

Iowa allowed just one first down on OSU's next drive and stayed alive when the Buckeyes missed a 47-yard field goal attempt. The Hawkeyes drove 70 yards in eight plays, getting a 10-yard touchdown pass from Vandenberg to McNutt with 2:42 left to play to tie the score at 24. Ohio State was forced to punt with one minute remaining and the teams headed to overtime.

Iowa started the extra session on offense and failed to score, as Vandenberg's pass on fourth and 26 was intercepted in the endzone. Ohio State gained three yards on three running plays before the field goal ended the contest.

Vandenberg, in his first career start, completed 20-33 passes for 233 yards and two scores, with three interceptions. RB Adam Robinson returned after missing two games and led Iowa's ground game with 74 yards on 20 carries. McNutt led Iowa receivers with six catches for 78 yards and two touchdowns. DJK had 154 yards on three KO returns and added three receptions for 71 yards.

GAME RECAP

Iowa used a superior defensive effort to close the regular season with a 12-0 win over Minnesota. Iowa retained Floyd of Rosedale for the third straight season, winning for the eighth time in the last nine meetings against the Golden Gophers. Iowa has posted shutouts in back-to-back games against Minnesota for the first time since 1955 and 1956.

The Hawkeyes started the game on offense and drove 68 yards on their first possession, which ended with a 30-yard Daniel Murray field goal. Minnesota moved the ball on its third drive of the game, reaching the Iowa 12. After a one-yard loss on first down the Gophers fumbled the snap on second down and Iowa's Bruce Davis recovered the loose ball. Minnesota reached the Iowa 42 on its next drive, but LB Troy Johnson forced and recovered a fumble to stop the threat.

Senior OLB A.J. Edds intercepted his fourth pass of the season later in the period to set up Iowa's only touchdown drive. Taking over at the Minnesota 39, Iowa drove to the one, where Brandon Wegher scored his seventh rushing touchdown of the season. The PAT was blocked and Iowa led 9-0 at halftime.

The only points of the second half came in the third period. Iowa began a drive at its own 40 and reached the Minnesota 28 before Murray added a 45-yard field goal. The key play on the drive was a 28-yard pass from James Vandenberg to Marvin McNutt.

Minnesota had its best chance to score in the fourth period when a pass interference penalty gave the Gophers a first down at the Iowa two. Two rushing plays gained nothing before an incomplete pass on third down. On fourth down QB Adam Weber was sacked for a five-yard loss as the Hawkeyes preserved their first shutout of the season.

LB Pat Angerer led the Iowa defense once again, recording 16 tackles. Johnson, starting in place of the injured Jeremiha Hunter, added 11 tackles. He had a QB sack to go with his fumble recovery and added a pass break-up. Johnson was named co-Defensive Player of the Week in the Big Ten. DT Christian Ballard added nine tackles, including 2.5 tackles for loss and 1.5 QB sacks. Edds and Tyler Sash each added eight stops.

RB Adam Robinson led Iowa's ground game with 12 carries for 72 yards, but he was injured in the second period and did not return. Vandenberg completed 11-24 passes for 117 yards, with one interception. WR Derrell Johnson-Koulianos led all receivers with seven catches for 63 yards.

Murray made his only two field goal attempts and Ryan Donahue averaged 37.7 yards on nine punts.

GAME RECAP

Iowa turned in another dominating defensive performance in defeating ninth-ranked Georgia Tech, 24-14, in the 2010 FedEx Orange Bowl. The Hawkeyes won their second straight January bowl game and evened their record at 1-1 in BCS games.

Iowa added a second touchdown on its next possession, as Stanzi connected with WR Colin Sandeman on a 21-yard scoring play. Stanzi completed 17-29 passes for 231 yards and the two scores.

Georgia Tech used a pass interception return for its only points of the first half, leaving Iowa with a 14-7 advantage at the break. The Hawkeyes increased the advantage to 17-7 late in the third period on a 33-yard field goal by Daniel Murray.

After Tech narrowed the margin to 17-14 early in the final period, Iowa again turned to its defense. Senior LB A.J. Edds had a pass interception and the Iowa defense forced another Tech punt with 4:54 remaining. Freshman RB Brandon Wegher sealed the win with a 32-yard scoring run with 1:56 left to play.

Wegher ended the game with 113 rushing yards on 16 carries. Moeaki had 85 yards on four receptions, Sandeman had four receptions for a career-best 53 yards and Derrell Johnson-Koulianos had four receptions for 63 yards before leaving the game in the second quarter due to injury.

2010 MEDIA INFORMATION

The Iowa Hawkeyes play their home football games in Kinnick Stadium (capacity 70,585), located on the west campus in the heart of the University's athletic complex. It is a few minutes drive from Interstate 80 and 380 and is less than 30 minutes from the Eastern Iowa Airport in Cedar Rapids.

The Paul J. Brechler Press Box at Kinnick is on the west side and accessible by elevator or stairs. The facility is named in honor of the former UI athletic director (1947-60). It was completed prior to the 2006 season as part of the two-year, $90 million renovation of Kinnick Stadium.

The four-level facility extends from goal line to goal line. The media section, including the press section, radio and television booths and game management operations, are located on the fourth level. Level one includes private suites and indoor club seating, level two includes outdoor club seating and level three is private suites.

Refreshments and snacks are available throughout each game and a pre-game meal is served for the media.

Ferentz Conferences/Interview Requests

Coach Kirk Ferentz holds a media conference each Tuesday at 12:30 p.m. in the player's auditorium during the football season. Players are also available, upon request, at 1 p.m. following the media conference.

Player requests must be made on Saturdays, following each game, for the following week. Out of town media should contact the Sports Information office on Mondays to arrange telephone interviews.

Coach Ferentz is also available each Tuesday during the Big Ten Conference coaches teleconference (11:40 a.m., CT), and, he is also available via tele-conference for visiting media outlets. Those tele-conferences are held each Tuesday at noon. Contact Iowa Sports Information for the tele-conference phone number and details.

Credentials

Season and single-game credential requests for Iowa football must now be requested online. Please contact Theresa Walenta (theresa-walenta@uiowa.edu) for instructions. Season requests must be received by August 15 to assure a season seat in the press box.

Once a credential request is submitted, you will receive an automatic reply stating that your request has been received. You will receive another notification when your request has been approved or denied. Credentials will be mailed if the request is received 10 days prior to a game. Credentials may also be picked up in the Sports Information Office on the Friday prior to game day or left at the media will call gate (Gate I) at Kinnick Stadium on game day.

Reporters may not use a credential to cover the game for another newspaper, TV station, radio station or internet site. Failure to comply will result in both agencies credentials being revoked for the entire season.

Credential language, which appears on all credentials issued for Iowa football, is printed on the following page of this guide. All rules and regulations listed are enforced by the University of Iowa Athletics Department and the Big Ten Conference.

Parking

Requests for parking should be made when requesting credentials online. Media parking is located in the parking ramp at the northeast corner of Kinnick Stadium, at the corner of Hawkins Drive and Stadium Drive.

Media Entrance

Members of the media are encouraged to enter Kinnick Stadium at the northeast corner of the stadium (near the old Iowa locker-room entrance) and proceed through the north and west concourses to elevator F, located at the midway point of the west stands. The media may also enter through Gate I on the west side of Kinnick and proceed to elevator F.

Photo credentials must be requested following the same guidelines as mentioned above. A photographer's room is located at the northwest corner of Kinnick Stadium. Photo credentials must be presented in order to receive an armband for sideline photography. Entrance to the photo room is through the tunnel in the middle of the west concourse. From the playing field, the photo room may be accessed through the tunnel at the Northwest corner of the field.

Television stations are not allowed to video tape from the press box. A splitter board is available in the photo room for all TV stations to receive the overhead video provided by Iowa's football video department (or the network midfield camera). TV camera personnel on the sidelines must adhere to all sideline policies.

Post-Game Interviews

Members of the media should contact Iowa SID Phil Haddy with player requests prior to leaving the press box. Iowa Sports Information staff will be departing the press box with approximately three minutes remaining in the game.

Both team locker room facilities are located under the south end zone. All player and coaches interviews will take place in the designated media rooms. You may follow a member of the Iowa Sports Information staff from the press box or ask for directions on getting to the post-game media rooms.

Both head coaches are available (in different interview rooms) following the cooling off period, with player interviews to follow. Coach Ferentz' post-game comments are televised on the monitors throughout the Kinnick Stadium press box. Quotes from both head coaches are distributed following the interview sessions.

The Iowa locker room is closed to the media. Requested Iowa players are available in the interview area, and quotes from selected Iowa players are also distributed following the interview sessions.

THE HAWKEYE RADIO NETWORK

Fans of the University of Iowa following the Hawkeyes on radio can tune in on their favorite station throughout the state of Iowa and the Midwest.

The radio voice of the Hawkeyes is Gary Dolphin, a Cascade, IA native who handles all play-by-play action of both Iowa football and men's basketball throughout the season. In addition, Dolphin also serves as the host of the weekly coach's shows during the season with football Coach Kirk Ferentz and men's basketball Coach Fran McCaffery. Dolphin, in 2001, was named the Iowa Sportscaster of the Year. He is in his 15th year of broadcasting Iowa football and basketball on the Hawkeye Radio Network. Dolphin, overall, is in his 38th year of play-by-play broadcasting. That includes six years of broadcasting basketball games for Northwestern University.

Dolphin is joined on all University of Iowa football broadcasts by former Hawkeye and NFL great Ed Podolak. A native of Atlantic, IA, Podolak was a three-year letterman for the Hawkeyes (1966-68) as a quarterback and running back before his lengthy professional career with the Kansas City Chiefs. He has been a part of Iowa football broadcasts for over 27 years. Iowa's sideline reporter is Rob Brooks, son of Hall of Fame broadcaster, Bob Brooks.

The Hawkeye Radio Network, a production of Learfield Communications, Inc. of Jefferson City, MO, blankets the state of Iowa and bordering states with more than 50 stations providing live coverage. The Hawkeyes can also be heard on the World Wide Web (hawkeyesports.com) and on XM Satellite radio.
