Selecting the university that is right for you is an awesome challenge. Finding the right setting to reach your academic and athletic goals is indeed a complex task. However, making this collegiate decision is also an exciting opportunity. Congratulations on all of your success that has enabled you to have this wonderful opportunity of choosing the school that is right for you!

As you begin to compare all of your options, I strongly encourage you to consider The University of Iowa and our basketball program. The University of Iowa offers one of the best academic and athletic combinations in the nation. Within the Big Ten Conference, across the nation and around the world, our success in the academic realm and athletic arena is highly regarded.

Academically, the university features professors who are on the cutting edge of new discoveries, inventions and ideas. The University of Iowa is a place where learning is enjoyable. Iowa City is a classic college town that prides itself on the success of the university in every regard.

Athletically, we are tremendously proud of our tradition. Hawkeye highlights include eight Big Ten Championships, two Big Ten Tournament titles, one Final Four experience, 15 NCAA Tournament appearances and two WNIT appearances.

Highlights from the past five years include a Big Ten Tournament championship, advancement to the second round of the NCAA Tournament twice and also reaching the WNIT Final Four. Furthermore, Iowa has finished in the first division three times in the last five years in the always difficult Big Ten Conference.

Our student-athletes also excel in the classroom. In 2004, a team-record eight Iowa women's basketball players were selected to the Academic All-Big Ten Team -- the most of any other league school.

The basketball program at Iowa has a strong foundation that is built upon great leadership. From our President, David Skorton, to our Athletic Director, Bob Bowlsby, there is a tremendous level of commitment. Our staff fully intends to build upon our rich tradition and strive to take The University of Iowa to even greater heights in the future.

It is my hope that you will continue to consider The University of Iowa as a place for your future. Our program offers incredible academic opportunities combined with a Big Ten athletic experience that is unparalleled. "Welcome to another season of Hawkeye Women's Basketball! I could not be more excited about this team and its coaches. These Hawkeyes have a truly winning spirit on the court, in the classroom, and in the community.

It's impressive that Coach Lisa Bluder, her staff and the team are coming off a 23-win season that included an appearance in the WNIT Final Four. During Coach Bluder's tenure, Iowa has posted three first-division finishes in the Big Ten Conference and advanced to post-season tournaments all five years.

Of course, I'm also pleased that 11 members of the team have earned a place on the Academic All-Big Ten the last two years, including a team record eight in 2004. The eight honorees were the most of any women's basketball team in the conference.

As you may know, I have declared that the 2005-06 academic year is The Year of Public Engagement at The University of Iowa. That's why I am delighted that Coach Bluder, her excellent staff, and their talented student-athletes are leaders in community service. They helped Habitat for Humanity build a home in Cedar Rapids; held a pizza party and shot hoops with children at the Iowa City Homeless Shelter; visited children at UI Hospitals and Clinics; and read to young girls and boys at local elementary schools. They truly exemplify what's best in inter-collegiate athletics.

When you have a Hawkeye team that supports the community, you have to support them in return! I'll be at Carver Hawkeye this year to cheer this team on to even higher levels of success. I hope you'll join me for another exciting season of Hawkeye Women's Basketball!"

President David Skorton can often be seen cheering on the Hawkeyes in Carver-Hawkeye Arena.

Director of Athletics Bob Bowsby is in his 15th year as the head of the University of Iowa intercollegiate athletics program.

As the chief administrator for Iowa's athletic department, Bowsby has earned a reputation as one of the most respected, energetic and ambitious athletic administrators in the nation. Over the past five years, Bowsby has guided and supervised the merger of the women and men's athletics departments. The combined entity encompasses 24 varsity sports and an annual budget in excess of $50 million.

As the head of Iowa athletics, Bowsby has been involved in the hiring of new head coaches in football, men's and women's basketball, volleyball, baseball, swimming and wrestling, enabling Iowa to maintain its standing as one of the most visible, successful and progressive departments in college athletics.

Those coaches hired by Bowsby and his administrative staff have had time to settle in and establish their programs, proving that Iowa's chief athletic administrator has made some wise decisions. Coach Kirk Ferentz has guided the Hawkeye football team to four straight bowl appearances, including an invitation to the 2003 Orange Bowl, 2004 Outback Bowl and 2005 Capital One Bowl. Iowa has shared the Big Ten title two of the last three years (2002 & 2004) and has won 31 games over the past three seasons. Iowa has ended the last three seasons eighth nationally in both major polls, a feat accomplished only by three other schools (Southern Cal, Georgia and Oklahoma). The 31 wins is eighth best in the nation over the last three years in Division I football.

Iowa's men's and women's basketball teams have each posted winning seasons and advanced to post-season play in each of the past five seasons. The Iowa wrestling program, long recognized as one of the very best in the nation, earned the 2004 Big Ten title and placed second at the NCAA championships. Iowa's programs continue to rank among the national leaders in home attendance on a yearly basis.

The success of Iowa's athletic teams on the field is due, in part, to the behind the scenes work of Bowsby and his staff. A number of major building and fund raising projects over the past few years enable Iowa's student-athletes to train and compete in some of the finest facilities in Division I athletics.

In conjunction with the UI Foundation, the Iowa athletic department recently embarked on an aggressive fund raising campaign to build the Roy G. Karro Hall of Fame and Visitors Center, a 25,000-square foot structure located on the UI's west campus. The west campus project also includes a new soccer stadium, which opened in 2002. Construction is now underway on a new field hockey pitch, a soccer practice field and an indoor and outdoor tennis center.

Kinnick Stadium, will be the home of Iowa football for the 76th time in 2005. The historic stadium is now in the middle of a major two-year renovation project. The south endzone was completed in time for the 2005 season. New locker rooms, underneath the south stands, are now in use for the first time. Following the 2005 home season, the current press box will be replaced by a four-level facility that will house 47 guest suites. The facility will extend goal line to goal line and provide indoor club seating for 121 and outdoor club seating for 1,150 fans.

A Waterloo native, Bowsby became Iowa's 10th Athletic Director in June, 1991, after serving in the same role at the University of Northern Iowa since 1984. He previously served as Assistant Athletic Director for Facilities at Northern Iowa.

Bowsby earned his bachelor's degree from Moorhead State University (Minnesota) in 1975 and his master's degree from the University of Iowa in 1978.

The National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) named Bowsby in 2001-02 as Central Region Athletic Director of the Year and Sports Business Journal selected him from the four regional award winners as the National Athletics Director of the Year. The award highlights the efforts of the athletic directors for their commitment and positive contributions to campuses and their surrounding communities. Bowsby was part of a 15-member commission on Opportunities in Athletics headed by US Secretary of Education, Rod Paige.

Bowsby served as chair of the NCAA Wrestling Committee and has served on NCAA committees on Financial Aid and Amateurism, the Special Committee to Review Amateurism Issues and the Special Committee to Review Financial Conditions in Athletics. Bowsby just ended a five-year term on the NCAA Division I Basketball Tournament Committee, serving as committee chairman two years (2004 & 2005). The committee selects, seeds, brackets and manages all rounds of the NCAA Basketball Tournament, including the Final Four.

Bob has served as an Executive Committee member with both the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics and the Division I-A Athletic Directors Association and served in 2002-03 as President of the I-A Directors group.

Bowsby was also elected chair of the NCAA Olympic Sports Liaison Committee and represented the NCAA as one of two voting members on the United States Olympic Committee. Bowsby also was appointed by former United States Olympic Committee President LeRoy Walker to the NCAA/USOC Liaison Committee, chaired by George Steinbrenner and former NCAA President Cedric Dempsey. Bob has also served as a member of the Board of Governors for the National Wrestling Hall of Fame.

Bowsby is a charter member of the Iowa Olympics Committee and a current member of the Board of Directors of the Iowa Games. Bob is a board member of the Iowa Scholarship Fund, Inc. and a Board member on the Honda Awards program, which recognizes our nation's top female collegiate athletes each year.

He and his wife, Candice, have four children, Lisa, Matt, Rachel and Kyle. Bowsby was born Jan. 10, 1952.

"Lisa Bluder has brought vision, enthusiasm, wisdom, energy, and experience to the Iowa women's basketball program. As excited as I am about the achievements over the past five years I am even more enthused about the longterm prospects for the program. Lisa and her staff have all the professional elements and experiences to make Iowa a national contender in the years ahead and I look forward to working with them to take Iowa to the very pinnacle of success."

One of the most respected and admired coaches in collegiate basketball, Lisa Bluder is in her sixth season as the head basketball coach at the University of Iowa. Under Bluder's direction, the Hawkeyes have advanced to five consecutive post-season appearances (3 NCAA and 2 WNIT). She has posted a 96-62 (.608) record at Iowa and her 21-year record stands at 452-201 (.692). Her 96 wins at Iowa, entering the 2005-06 season, are the second-most of any Hawkeye women's basketball coach.

During her first five years at Iowa, Bluder guided the Black and Gold to three first division finishes in the always difficult Big Ten Conference. The Hawkeyes ranked in the top five in league scoring, assists and rebounding all five years. Last season, Iowa ranked sixth nationally in least fouls per game and 10th in field goal percentage. The Hawkeyes' .469 field goal percentage was the highest it's been in 13 years.

Last season, Bluder guided a young and talented group of Hawkeyes to a 23-10 overall record and advanced to the WNIT Final Four. The 23 victories are the most by a Bluder coached Iowa team and the most victories since the 1995-96 season. Additionally, the 23 triumphs are the second-most by Bluder in her 15 years coaching at the Division I level. She had two 25-win seasons while coaching Drake.

Iowa started the 2004-05 campaign 13-0 and were the last Division I undefeated team standing. Bluder navigated the Hawkeyes through a difficult schedule and ultimately finished the season ranked 38th in the RPI. Iowa opponents averaged only 64.4 ppg and 33.1 rpg, which is the lowest average by Hawkeye opponents in eight years. Jamie Cavey earned second team all-Big Ten laurels, while Crystal Smith earned third team recognition. Krista VandeVenter burst onto the scene and became Iowa's all-time freshman single season rebounding leader and earned a spot on the all-Big Ten Freshman Team.

In 2003-04, Bluder and the Hawkeyes finished with a 16-13 record while playing the 14th most difficult schedule in the nation and tied for fourth in the league with a 10-6 mark. In addition, eight of its 16 victories came on the road, marking the most road wins by a Hawkeye team since the 1993-94 season. Led by seniors Jennie Lillis and Kristi Faulkner and junior Jamie Cavey, Iowa was one of only two Big Ten squads to have three players selected to all-Big Ten teams. The trio became the first to score 450 points each in a single season at Iowa. The trio helped lead the Hawkeyes to their 15th NCAA Tournament appearance.

Bluder mentored her third Iowa team to another exciting run in the Big Ten Tournament and WNIT in 2003. The seventh-seeded Hawkeyes opened the league tournament with a win over Northwestern. In the quarterfinals, Iowa treated its fans to a thrilling upset victory over 13th-ranked and second-seeded Minnesota. The Hawkeyes opened post-season play with wins over Saint Louis (93-64) and Marquette (76-73) before falling to the Missouri Valley Conference co-champion Creighton Bulldogs in the WNIT.

Bluder has compiled an impressive 429-191 (.692) career record, including a 187-106 (.638) record at Drake in 10 seasons and a 169-36 (.824) record in six seasons at NAIA St. Ambrose University. She currently sits 39th in career winning percentage (.692) for Division I active coaches.

During her tenure at Iowa, three former players have gone on to become coaches. Randi Peterson became the head coach at Minnesota-Morris College and Jennie Lillis an assistant coach at Kansas State University on 2005. Cara Consuegra was named an assistant coach at Marquette in 2004.

ing her third season, Coach Bluder captured career win No. 400 in Iowa's 64-39 triumph over in-state rival Iowa State and victory No. 450 on March 18 vs. Creighton in the first round of the WNIT. She has posted 283 wins at the Division I level and is only 17 victories from reaching victory No. 300.

"Our success has always been based on playing up-tempo basketball," said Bluder. "We want to put lots of points on the board. The fast break is our number one offense. That type of basketball is exciting for fans and its fun for our players. When we do get into a half court game, everyone has a role. Our goal is to have four or five players averaging in double figures. We want everyone involved. Defensively, we work hard at never letting anything be easy for our opponent. We play tough player-to-player defense hoping to capitalize on steals to set up our break."

Bluder, alongside her husband David and daughter Hannah, was introduced as the Hawkeyes' fifth head coach in front of a packed press room in Carver-Hawkeye Arena on April 7, 2000. The native of Marion, IA, came to Iowa after spending 10 successful seasons at Drake University.

Coach Bluder have a 100 percent job placement following their career, and all of her recruited athletes have earned their degree.

Bluder's successful coaching record speaks for itself, however her commitment to her players extends far beyond the records book.

"My players are truly an extension of my family," said Bluder. "I care about them in all aspects of their lives. I want to help them succeed as athletes, but especially as people. I have an open-door relationship with my players. Hopefully, they benefit from my perspective as their coach, as a former athlete and as a mother. They can come to me with anything and get help. Along with that aspect, I consider myself a disciplinarian. I don't have a lot of rules, but I do have a lot of expectations. Those revolve around moral and ethical values that are the foundation of our program."

During the summer of 2003, Bluder was elected Division I Midwest Representative of the WBCA Board of Directors. She has also served on the WBCA Kodak All-American selection committee for three terms and the Midwest Regional Advisory Committee for the NCAA Division I Women's Basketball Tournament.

A graduate of Linn-Mar High School in Marion, IA, Bluder was a three-year starter at Northern Iowa. She graduated from UNI in 1983 with a bachelor's degree in marketing.

Bluder and her husband David have two daughters, Hannah (8) and Emma (5) and one son, David (3).

What Others Are Saying About Lisa Bluder

"Lisa Bluder is one of the top young coaches in the Big Ten today. She has coached all-America type players and has made Iowa one of the top teams in the country again. She is a patient teacher of the game and a very good recruiter. Her program is one of the most enjoyable to be around. Her players play hard and are good students in the classroom. It would be a wonderful opportunity for a young player to come to Iowa and enjoy learning the game from Lisa Bluder. You would not only learn to play hard and have a great chance to play in the NCAA Tournament, but you will have made a lifetime friend and mentor."

Ann Myers
ESPN Broadcaster

"For the nine years that I have known Coach Bluder professionally and personally, I have watched her teams play with passion, determination, skill and a tremendous understanding of the game and the personnel of the other team. She has taken all of those traits and successes that she cultivated at Drake and instituted them at the University of Iowa.
