IOWA HAWKEYES WOMEN'S GOLF

2009-10 Season Preview

The University of Iowa women's golf team will face its competition with good experience, plus freshmen who are expected to contribute immediately in 2009. The Hawkeyes field a team that consists of one senior, three juniors, one sophomore and two freshmen. Fresh off a fifth place Big Ten Championship finish, Head Coach Kelly Crawford and her squad have high expectations this fall.

"Losing our top two scorers hurts a bit, but with our improved returners and the addition of our freshmen I feel we will be a better team than last year right from the start," said Crawford. "The energy on the team is the best it's ever been and I know we are going to have a lot of fun and a great season!"

The Hawkeyes lost last year's leading scorers, Tyrette Metzendorf and Becky Quinby, but are ready to fill the void. They return senior Alison Cavanaugh, juniors Laura Cilek, Brianna Coopman and Lauren Forbes and sophomore Chelsea Harris.

"We have only had one practice thus far so it is difficult to tell who has made vast improvements," said Crawford. "However, with that said, we had our best 'first practice' since I have been here. The scores were low and I saw good things from Laura, Ali and Lauren. My expectation is that they all worked hard over the summer, continued to improve, and came in ready to play."

Freshmen Kristi Cardwell from Kokomo, IN and Gigi DiGrazia, a native of Addison, IL, also join the squad. Cardwell was the first golfer in Kokomo school history to go to state all four years of her high school career. She holds nine of the 10 individual records for the KHS golf team. DiGrazia is the reigning Class A girl's golf state champion in Illinois and she has competed in the Junior World, NIKE Golf Junior Championship, the Plantations Tournament of Champions, AJGA Rolex Girls Junior and AJGA McDonalds Invitational.

"I see both Gigi and Kristi having an immediate impact on the team this year," Crawford said. "They are both very competitive and great players. I would love to see the two of them duke it out for that number one spot, although some of the returners might have something to say about that."

Another new face on the squad is assistant coach John Owens. Owens has four years of coaching experience on the Division III and Division II levels at Midland Lutheran College and Troy University. He was named the NAIA Region III Coach of the Year in 2006 and 2007 and the Great Plains Athletic Conference Coach-of-the-Year in 2007. Owens was four-year letterwinner (2001-05) at Midland Lutheran College.

"Coach Owens has a great attitude and a lot of knowledge," Crawford said. "He has some great ideas and I welcome his input. He is ambitious and competitive and will be a great asset to the team. He and I get along really well and we laugh a lot every day. I know we will work well together."

With some new players in place and a team ready to get on the green, the 2009 schedule is challenging. The Hawkeyes open their fall season September 12-13 in East Lansing, MI, where they compete in the Mary Fossum Invitational. After traveling to Madison, WI, to participate in the Lady Northern Invite on September 27-28, and to Columbia, MO to compete in the Johnnie Imes Invitational on October 5-6 the Hawkeyes return home to host the 36th annual Hawkeye Intercollegiate on October 17-18. Iowa will close its fall slate by traveling Austin, TX to participate in the 2009 Challenge at Onion Creek November 2-3.

"Of course we want to win our home event in October and to finish better at Big Tens, those are the goals the team has set," Crawford said. "We will set goals for each tournament and prepare accordingly. We can't control what any other team does; we can only control our games. If we focus on individual potentials and stick to our game plan, the results will come."

Kelly Crawford

Head Coach

Third Season

Sacramento State, 1990

Kelly Crawford is in her fourth season as the University of Iowa head women's golf coach.

In her third season at the helm, the Hawkeyes finished fifth in the Big Ten Championships behind three nationally-ranked teams. Iowa's fifth-place finish marked the best Big Ten finish since 1995 when Iowa placed fourth.

In 2008-09, Iowa competed in 10 tournaments, placing in the top-ten in seven times. The Hawkeyes also defeated Stetson University in a spring dual meet. The team placed second at the Hawkeye Invitational, where everyone on the team recorded season bests.

In her second season as head coach, the Hawkeyes placed in the top-ten in eight competitions, including a first place finish at the Baja Invitational.

In her first season mentoring the Black and Gold, Iowa placed in the top-six four times, including winning the Hawkeye Intercollegiate.

Under Crawford's tutelage, the Hawkeyes shattered numerous team and individual records during the 2006-07 campaign. Iowa posted the top-three 18-hole and 36-hole scores and top-two 54-hole scores in school history. Additionally, Iowa's 76.6 fall scoring average and 78.3 spring scoring average rank first and seventh-best, respectively, in school annals.

Individually, Karla Murra tied the school 18-hole record by carding a 69 twice during the fall of 2006. Murra also established the school's top 54-hole score, while Jill Marcum posted the second-best 54-hole in the fall of 2006. Also, Marcum's 76.1 fall scoring average ranks fourth-best in the Hawkeye history books.

Crawford joined the Hawkeyes after serving as the first head women's golf in intercollegiate athletics history at the University of California-Irvine (UCI). She spent six seasons as head coach of the Anteaters, where she spent the first year recruiting before starting competition in the fall of 2001.

During her UCI tenure, Crawford guided teams to three conference championships (2002, 2005 and 2006) and three appearances in West Regional of the NCAA Division I Women's Golf Championship (2002, 2005 and 2006). Her 2005 UCI team finished 18th in the national championship. UCI teams under her direction won nine regular season tournament championships.

In her final season coaching UCI, the Anteaters won three tournaments, including the Big West Championships. Three student-athletes earned first team laurels, while two garnered second team accolades. Crawford was named Big West Coach of the Year and sophomore Selanee Henderson was honored as Player of the Year.

Crawford, a two-time Big West Conference Coach of the Year honoree (2002 and 2006), had numerous UCI student-athletes named to all-Big West and NCAA post-season teams, conference player of the year and NCAA freshman of the year athletic honors and conference and national academic honors. Crawford coached eight Anteaters to all-league accolades, including two to Big West Player of the Year laurels.

Crawford's coaching resume also includes one year as head coach of the women's golf program at Portland State University in Portland, OR (1999-2000) and two years as assistant women's golf coach at her alma mater, Sacramento State (1997-99). Crawford's playing experience includes two years at Sacramento State where she participated in the 1984 national championship and professional experience in the Ladies Professional Golf Association (USA), Women's Professional Golf European Tour (Europe), Ladies Professional Golf Association (Australia). She spent one year on the Futures Tour where she captured her first professional tournament championship winning the Salisbury Classic.

She is a member of the Sacramento State athletics hall of fame, the National Golf Coaches Association (NGCA), the United States Golf Association (USGA). Crawford earned her bachelor's degree in communication studies from Sacramento State in 1990.

Assistant Coach

First Season

Midland Lutheran College, 2005

John Owens is in his first season as the Hawkeyes' assistant coach.

Owens replaces former Iowa Assistant Adam Kaufman, who left the program to take over as the Golf Pro at Finkbine Golf Course.

"I am really excited to have John on our staff," said Crawford. "He is highly motivated and I know he will do a great job for our program. As we continue to rise in the Big Ten ranks, John's passion and enthusiasm will be a tremendous springboard for our future success."

Owens has four years of coaching experience on the Division-III and Division-II levels. This past spring, Owens served as the Midland Lutheran College interim head coach for both men's and women's golf. IOWA HAWKEYES WOMEN'S GOLF

2008-09 Season Review

Becky Quinby

Tyrette Metzendorf

Laura Cilek

Alison Cavanaugh

Chelsea Harris

The Iowa women's golf team finished its 2008-09 season at the Big Ten Championships, earning a fifth-place finish behind three nationally ranked teams. Iowa's finish is the best the Hawkeyes have seen at the conference tournament since 1995 when Iowa placed fourth.

"To finish conference the way we did, was huge for us," said head coach Kelly Crawford. "It was a good way for us to end, and it gives the returning athletes something to think about."

The Senior duo of Tyrette Metzendorf and Becky Quinby were the leaders for the team all year, usually placing first and second on the team roster. In their final seasons, the seniors recorded the team's lowest season averages of 76.6 and 79.0, respectively, over 32 rounds.

"Losing Becky and Tyrette is going to be tough because they were our top two players. But, I really feel like the athletes we have coming in are going to step in and do a great job right away," stated Crawford.

Returning letterwinners in 2009-10 include senior Alison Cavanaugh, juniors Laura Cilek, Brianna Coopman and Lauren Forbes, and sophomore Chelsea Harris. Iowa will welcome two new golfers in freshmen Kristi Cardwell and Gigi DiGrazia.

Crawford is expecting big things from the team this year. "The returnees know they can get the job done now. Chelsea and Laura have become pretty consistent. With more experience, and production from the incoming freshmen, I think we can be at the same level or even better this year," said the Iowa coach.

Iowa competed in 10 tournaments last year, placing in the top ten in seven of the outings. The Hawkeyes also defeated Stetson University in a dual meet last spring. The team placed second at the Hawkeye Invitational, where everyone on the team recorded season bests.

Metzendorf led the team with a 76.6 season scoring average, Quinby ranked second with a 79.0 followed by Cilek (81.7), Harris (81.3) and Cavanaugh (82.1).

At the Hawkeye Invite, Metzendorf completed her 100th career round as a Hawkeye. This achievement puts her in the record books with only eight other golfers in Iowa history. Along with this feat, Metzendorf finished third individually by carding a 54 hole score of 226 (+10). She placed in the top 20 in eight of the team's 10 contests. Metzendorf finished her career with a score of 303, which secured her the third place medal at the Big Ten Championships.

As far as individual accolades in 2009, Cilek was a recipient of the Big Ten's Sportsmanship award, as well as an academic all-Big Ten honoree. Metzendorf and Quinby also earned academic All-Big Ten recognition.

IOWA HAWKEYES WOMEN'S GOLF

Finkbine Golf Course

Located on the western edge of The University of Iowa campus, just walking distance from Kinnick Stadium and Carver-Hawkeye Arena, is Finkbine Golf Course. It is the full-time practice and competition site for the Iowa women's and men's golf teams.

The course was renovated in the fall of 2003, with the addition of bent grass fairways and parking lot improvements.

The par-72 layout is prized by the University and Iowa City golfing community. Finkbine was the site of the Amana VIP Pro-Am for more than 20 years, and in 1991 became the site of the Ben Hogan

Hawkeye Open. As well, Finkbine was also the site of the 1993 and 2003 Big Ten Women's Golf Championship, and served as the 2002 men's league championship. Additionally, the women are proud hosts of the annual Hawkeye Invitational.

The course usually opens to the public in early April and remains playable well into November.

The University maintains Finkbine's lush tees, fairways and greens with its totally automated irrigation system. The system features dual row piping, which not only streamlines the irrigation to the center of the fairways, but supplies water to the outlying areas, as well as to much of the rough.

Indoor practice equipment available to the UI women's golf team in the UI Fieldhouse includes hitting nets and an artificial putting area, a large-screen television for videotaped practices and lessons, and a digital camera/computer system.

Finkbine Golf Course

Finkbine challenges a golfer virtually every time she addresses the ball. Seventeen holes have bunkers that come into play, and the lone hole that does not, the par-three 13th hole, is surrounded by water. Tee-to-green distance can vary from 5,800 to 6,500 yards.

Why Iowa?

"The reason I chose Iowa was because I felt that Coach Crawford and staff could help me get to the next level with my game. On top of that, I love the campus, city and especially the Hawkeye spirit! I wanted to get further away from home and meet new people and I also felt that I fit into the golf team very well. The girls have great team leadership and I wanted to become a part of that! I'm looking forward to studying elementary education at Iowa."

Freshman, Kristi Cardwell

"I chose Iowa because of the great academic and athletic opportunities that it offers. The Big Ten Conference is one of the top conferences in the nation to compete in. Both my parents are from Iowa, so it feels like home to me. I was very impressed by the Hawkeye fans and the amazing school spirit that lives in Iowa City. When I arrived on campus, I knew this was the place for me!"

Junior, Lauren Forbes

"There are many reasons why I chose Iowa. The first reason is Iowa City. The town is all about the University, it is a true college town. Another reason is our coach, Kelly Crawford. She truly loves the university and our team. She has great experience with collegiate golf and has tremendous dedication to the girls. Then the team itself. When I came to make my visit, I could tell there was this connection with all the girls, and that is the main key in a great team."

Junior, Brianna Coopman

"What ultimately sets Iowa apart from other schools is the abundance of resources available to you as a student-athlete. All the tools you need to be successful are at your fingertips. You also can't beat the community here. The amount of pride and school spirit at Iowa is unmatched."

Senior, Alison Cavanaugh

"I chose The University of Iowa because I knew it would offer me a great education and it has a lot to offer athletically, as well."

Sophomore, Chelsea Harris

"I chose to come to Iowa because I grew up as a Hawkeye my whole life, and as a kid it was always my dream to play for the Hawks someday. When I started looking at schools, Iowa had just hired a new golf coach who was really excited about the program and where it was going, which impressed me. Also, Iowa is a very good school academically and getting a good education is just as important to me as competing."

Junior, Laura Cilek

"I choose Iowa because it seemed like the perfect fit for me. I felt right at home in Iowa City and Coach Crawford and the team made me feel very welcomed. I look forward to the chance to compete and get my education at a Big Ten University."

Freshman, Gigi DiGrazia

Big Ten Network

In June 2006, the Big Ten announced the creation of the Big Ten Network, a national network devoted to Big Ten athletic and academic programs. Available to all cable and satellite providers nationwide, with most programs offered in stunning high-definition television (HDTV), the network will allow fans to see their home teams, regardless of where they live.

The network is led by President Mark Silverman, a former Disney executive who came to the network after serving as the general manager and senior vice president of ABC Cable Networks Group since April of 2004, managing the company's equity in such channels as Lifetime Television, A&E Network and the History Channel, each of which recorded their best financial performance in 2005. Silverman was also responsible for developing and launching new cable channels, shows and other key initiatives.

The Big Ten Network launched its inaugural season in August 2007 with football, men's and women's basketball, a nightly studio show, classics and coaches shows, along with more Olympic sporting events and exposure for women's sports than has ever been aired on any other network. In June 2007, the Big Ten announced that the Big Ten Network would become the first national network to commit to "event equality" for men's and women's sports on all network-controlled media within the first three years of launch. This dedication to "event equality" highlights the Big Ten's ongoing dedication to gender equity, which is aligned with the commitment of conference institutions to provide fairness for all female student-athletes.

The programming on the Big Ten Network and alternative network-controlled platforms will include, but is not limited to: More than 35 football games each season, more than 105 regular season men's basketball games, a nightly studio show including segments from each campus, women's sports, including basketball, volleyball, soccer and softball, more than 170 Olympic sporting events including baseball, soccer, tennis, volleyball, swimming, diving and more, classic games and historical footage from ESPN and ABC libraries, original campus programming produced by Big Ten member universities showcasing their academic excellence, talented students and award-winning programs and weekly coaches shows.

Located in the historic Montgomery Ward building in Chicago, the Big Ten Network is the first national television network to call the largest city in the Midwest its home. The original section of the building was designated as a historic landmark in 2000 for its significant role in American retail history. The space includes two studios and three control rooms as well as a 20,000 square-foot office space.

In May of 2007, the Big Ten Network announced its first on-air hire, signing ESPN college sports expert Dave Revsine to be its lead studio host. Revsine joined ESPN in October of 1996 as an anchor for ESPNNews and filled a variety of roles for the network over the past 10 years. The Northwestern graduate has anchored SportsCenter, hosted ESPN Radio's College GameDay for the last six years and hosted ESPN Radio's coverage of several BCS Championship games. He also hosted studio halftimes for basketball and co-hosted ESPN's coverage of the last two men's Final Fours.

In addition to airing more coverage of Big Ten sports than ever before, the Big Ten Network will also provide numerous benefits to communities around the Big Ten. Those include increased exposure for women's sports, providing positive role models for girls; a greater economic impact to the communities from added sporting event production, with the potential to generate higher attendance; and greater national exposure for the excellence that surrounds the academic endeavors of Big Ten universities, some of the most highly regarded in the nation. Also, an internship program at each of the 11 universities will offer students training for careers in sports, television and entertainment.

The Network can be found on major satellite providers such as DIRECTV and Dish Network and major cable outlets such as AT&T, Comcast and Mediacom.

The Big Ten Championships, which will be held April 24-26 in West Lafayette, will air on the network on a tape delay basis.

The Big Ten Network is a joint venture between subsidiaries of the Big Ten Conference and Fox Cable Networks. For more information regarding the Big Ten Network, visit www.BigTenNetwork.com.

Gary Barta Director of Athletics

Gary Barta is in his fourth year as the director of intercollegiate athletics at the University of Iowa and his 23rd year in athletics administration, eager to build on the achievements and progress made in a challenging but rewarding 2008-09.

The Hawkeyes enjoyed a successful 2008-09 year competitively. Iowa finished the 2009 sports season ranked 45th nationally in the Learfield Sports Directors' Cup with a school-record 474.30 – an improvement fueled by Iowa's victory over South Carolina in the 2009 Outback Bowl, the Hawkeyes' second straight Big Ten Conference and NCAA titles in wrestling, a third straight Big Ten Tournament title and a berth in the national semi-finals by the field hockey team, and NCAA Tournament or national championship participation by Iowa's women's basketball, women's cross country and indoor track, men's golf, gymnastics and softball programs.

Under Barta's leadership, Iowa's long-standing commitment to the academic pursuits of the more than 700 student-athletes who annually represent the Hawkeye intercollegiate athletics competition continues. According to graduation statistics distributed each fall by the NCAA, the class of student-athletes who entered Iowa at the start of the 2001-02 academic year had a graduation rate of 68 percent, a mark that compared very favorably to the 66 percent rate compiled by the overall student population at the University.

The 2008 Iowa football team tied for first in NCAA Graduation Success Rate (75 percent) among the 10 programs that have played in five or more January bowl games since the 2002 season. Iowa's 75 percent graduation success rate ranked third among teams in the 2008 final top 25.

The Hawkeye men's cross country, women's golf, and softball teams were also singled out by the NCAA for ranking in the top 10 percent among their peers in the NCAA's 2008 Academic Progress Rate (APR), a real-time look at a team's academic success each semester or quarter, by tracking the academic progress of each student-athlete. All 24 of Iowa's teams exceed NCAA APR standards and compare favorably to their peers in the Big Ten Conference and nationally.

Construction of new and renovation of existing facilities also remain high priorities for Iowa. The UI is working hard to reach its goal of breaking ground on a $47 million revitalization of Carver-Hawkeye Arena, a much-needed renovation that will greatly improve the practice, strength training and conditioning facilities for a myriad of Hawkeye sports programs, including, most notably, the men and women's basketball, volleyball and wrestling teams. The project will also provide locker room updates, team meeting facilities, and much needed office and meeting room space for more than 200 full-time coaches and staff. The enhancement project will also expand and improve the experience for fans.

The University of Iowa will complete construction of the $7 million P. Sue Beckwith Boathouse in fall 2009. This addition to the physical plant will come fast on the heels of a $3 million renovation of the portion of the UI Recreation Building used by Iowa's baseball, track and field, and cross country squads; the replacement of the drainage system for the playing field inside Kinnick Stadium and the installation of FieldTurf; and the reconstruction of Bob Pearl Field, home of Iowa's nationally ranked softball team, and Francis X. Cretzmeyer Track, Iowa's track facility.

In fall 2010, Barta will join leaders across campus in celebrating the opening of the $69 million Campus Wellness and Recreation Center, the new home of Iowa's men's and women's swimming and diving program.

The construction of the Ron and Margaret Kenyon Outdoor Practice Facility – a facility envied by many collegiate programs and NFL franchises – and the renovation of Kinnick Stadium were phases 1 and 2 of the master plan, respectively.

Barta has hired four head coaches since becoming Iowa's 11th director of athletics on Aug. 2, 2006 and all four have quickly built solid foundations for their respective programs.

Todd Lickliter's 2008-09 UI men's basketball team battled through one of the nation's toughest schedules to claim 15 victories with a roster dominated by underclassmen. The 2009 season will be the second for volleyball coach Sharon Dingman, who guided the Hawkeyes to win totals of 14 overall and six against Big Ten opponents, marks that were the best for Iowa in eight seasons.

Kelly Crawford and Mark Hankins have raised the bar for both of Iowa's golf programs. Crawford's women's team finished fifth at the 2009 Big Ten Conference Championship – the program's best finish in 14 seasons. Hankins' men's squad finished sixth at the 2009 league championship – just five strokes out of third place. The finish was the Hawkeyes' best in eight years and earned Iowa a spot in NCAA regional competition. The Hawkeyes finished fifth at NCAA Regionals, which garnered the Black and Gold their first NCAA Championships appearance since 1994. At the championships, Iowa placed 17th in the country.

As the director of athletics at the University of Wyoming for three years, seven different coaches were named Mountain West Conference Coach of the Year. He also spearheaded a fund-raising effort that netted the Cowboy athletics program $11 million in private support and $11 million in matching state funds. Among other things, these funds allowed for significant stadium renovations and construction of a new indoor practice facility.

As the senior associate athletics director at the University of Washington, he directed the "Campaign for the Student-Athlete," was a participant in the design, construction and/or renovation of several athletic facilities, including Bank of America Arena and the Dempsey Indoor Practice Facility. During his time in Seattle, the Husky Athletics program generated nearly $100 million in private support. In addition to almost doubling the amount of annual private contributions received by Washington, Barta also managed the department's external relations. His responsibilities expanded over time to include hiring of coaching and administrative staff and coordinating the schedule for the Huskies' men's basketball program.

The roots of his development experience extend to his first two positions: director of athletics development and external relations at the University of Northern Iowa and director of development at his alma mater, North Dakota State University.

Barta earned a Bachelor of Science degree in mass communication and broadcast journalism from NDSU in 1987. He was an option quarterback for Bison football squads that won the NCAA Division II national championship in 1983, 1985 and 1986.

Barta, and his wife, Connie, have a son, Luke (11) and a daughter, Madison (9). He was born September 4, 1963, in Minneapolis, MN.

Hawkeye Athletics - A Total Program

The UI Department of Athletics is under the direction of Gary Barta and is regarded as one of the top intercollegiate programs in the nation. This past season, the Hawkeyes enjoyed unprecedented success. Iowa scored a school-record number of points in the annual Learfield Sports Directors' Cup, a national program that honors institutions offering broad-based intercollegiate athletics programs that achieve at the highest level competitively.

Ten different UI teams accumulated a record total of 474.30 points as a result of their participation in postseason competition during the 2008-09 athletics year. Iowa's point total resulted in the Hawkeyes finishing in 45th place in the Directors' Cup standings for the NCAA Division I category that includes 271 participating institutions.

The support of their efforts and attendance by Hawkeye fans ranks among the best in the country.

While the Hawkeyes compete with the best in the nation in a variety of sports, Iowa boasts some of the most impressive athletic facilities in the nation, operated by one of the most respected departments.

Several new projects are underway on the Iowa campus. Some of the latest additions to the UI campus are the Roy G. Karro Athletics Hall of Fame and Visitors Center, the Russell and Ann Gerdin Athletic Learning Center and the Hawkeye Tennis and Recreation Center. Construction on the new Campus Recreation and Wellness Center has also begun and is scheduled for a summer, 2010 completion. Ground has also been broken on Iowa's $7 million rowing boathouse. In addition, the UI expects to break ground on a $47 million Carver-Hawkeye Arena renovation project this fall.

Kinnick Stadium received a major up-grading and renovation that was completed just prior to the 2006 season. The $89 million project included the replacing of the south end zone stands and building of a four-level press box that houses 47 guest suites. New scoreboards, video walls, concession stands and new rest rooms were also part of the project.

The 2009 Iowa Hawkeye wrestling team won its 22nd NCAA championship along with its 33rd Big Ten title. Iowa crowned five all-Americans en route to its second-straight national and league championships.

The graduation rate of Iowa's student-athletes has improved in each of the past 10 years and has consistently ranked above the graduation rate of all UI students. Hawkeye athletes have garnered 76 academic All-America honors since 1992. The 2008-09 school year saw the University of Iowa produce 166 academic all-Big Ten athletes.

Iowa athletes have been recognized as all-Americans in their sport on 253 occasions during the past 17 years, including 15 this past season.

During the 2008-09 athletic year, the Hawkeyes continued their trend of success on the playing fields and in academic pursuits. Below are some examples of Hawkeyes success last year.

The 2008 Iowa field hockey team won its third-consecutive Big Ten Tournament championship and advanced to the National Semifinals.

The Hawkeye wrestling team continued its dominance on the mat claiming its 22nd and second-straight NCAA national championship and its 33rd and second-straight Big Ten title. The Hawkeyes earn all-American laurels en route to the team championship.

Iowa football returned to the national scene, winning five of its last six games, including a dominating 31-10 performance over South Carolina in the Outback Bowl. Iowa was the only Big Ten football team to win its bowl game. The return trip to Tampa for the Outback Bowl marked Iowa's fifth January bowl game in seven years. Hawkeye running back, Shonn Greene, earned the Doak Walker

Award given to the nation's top running back and was also tabbed as the Big Ten's MVP.

Iowa's field hockey team won its third-consecutive Big Ten Tournament championship and finished third nationally, advancing all the way to the National Semifinals. The Hawkeyes were ranked in the top 10 nationally the entire season and had three players named all-America. A total of 37 Hawkeyes have garnered all-Big Ten accolades under Head Coach Tracey Griesbaum.

The Hawkeye men's golf team surged last season climbing from a national ranking of 152nd in 2008 to 17th in 2009. Iowa placed fifth at the NCAA Southeast Regional and earned its first spot at the NCAA Championships since 1995.

The women's basketball team had another successful season, finishing second and hosting first and second round NCAA Tournaments games in Carver-Hawkeye Arena. All five Hawkeye starters garnered all-Big Ten recognition for the first time in school history. The women's team has advanced to post-season play eight of the nine years under Head Coach Lisa Bluder, who is a two-time Big Ten and WBCA Regional Coach of the Year.

Head Coach Gayle Blevins and the Iowa softball team finished in the upper-division of the Big Ten standings, again, and also competed in the NCAA Tournament. Two Hawkeyes earned first team all-region laurels, while senior pitcher Brittney Weil was also tabbed second team all-America. She became the 16th Iowa softball student-athlete to be named all-America.

Iowa's women's cross country team competed at the NCAA Championships. Racheal Marchand became the third-straight Hawkeye to win the Midwest Regional race and be named the Midwest Region Women's Athlete of the Year.

Gymnast Geoff Reins earned all-America status on vault, while his Hawkeye teammates competed, again, in the NCAA Championships. The women gymnasts were ranked nationally most of the season and hosted the North Central Regional in Carver-Hawkeye Arena.

Whether it's the top-notch athletic or academic performances, the outstanding community and fan support or the impressive facilities, it's easy to understand why Iowa fans everywhere truly believe, "It's great to be a Hawkeye."

The Iowa men's golf team placed fifth at NCAA Regionals and earned its first spot in the NCAA Championships since 1995. At the championships, the Hawkeyes finished 17th.

Athletic Student Services

Since its inception in 1979, Athletics Student Services has evolved from a two-person, academic support service to a broad-based, nationally prominent student support services operation. Its purpose is to offer academic and personal support services that will assist student-athletes in making timely and satisfactory progress toward their degrees and becoming tomorrow's leaders. Athletics Student Services focuses on four important areas - academic counseling and monitoring, educational and support programs, retention programs and compliance services - when working with student-athletes. Following are descriptions of some of the programs, services and opportunities available in those areas.

Gerdin Athletics Learning Center

The $4.6 million Russell A. and Ann Gerdin Athletics Learning Center opened in August of 2003 and gives all Iowa student-athletes a state of the art facility to support their educational goals. The Athletics Learning Center is a multi-level, 20,000 square foot facility which provides a computer center, study areas, classes and meeting places for all Hawkeye student-athletes. The Learning Center features an auditorium that converts into two classrooms, separate study rooms for under and upper-class student-athletes with 28 study carrels, a computer lab, five tutorial rooms, the book loan repository, office space for Iowa's Student Services staff and a display area to recognize the academic accomplishments of Iowa's student-athletes.

Academic Counseling & Monitoring

Athletics coordinators work closely with student-athletes and their university-assigned advisors from the time they arrive on campus until the time they leave the University. Along with focusing on academic planning matters such as goal-setting, plans of study, choosing majors and degree requirements, athletics coordinators also help student-athletes understand NCAA, Big Ten and University academic policies. They also solicit feedback from instructors on academic progress made by student-athletes.

Tutoring

Tutoring is available free of charge to all student-athletes. Tutors, who are post-graduates and teachers, help with course content as well as study strategies and are available in virtually all general education program subjects.

Retention

A full-time staff member directs the retention program, which identifies student-athletes who may need tailored academic assistance and structure, and implements individualized learning plans to help them succeed. Such plans may include daily and weekly planning sessions with athletics coordinators and retention staff, tutoring, study groups, mainstreaming into on-campus services like the writing center, math labs and services for students with learning disabilities.

Transition Seminar

All new student-athletes attend an eight-week transition seminar during the fall semester that is geared toward helping them make the transition from high school to college successfully. Seminar topics include time management skills, learning and study strategies, the culture and rules of the university and Division I Big Ten intercollegiate athletics, and personal leadership and life skills concerning alcohol safety, healthy relationships and intimacy, diversity and inclusion, tolerance, values and character.

CHAMPS/Life Skills

Life skills programs are conducted throughout the year with and for student athletes on quality of life issues critical to personal growth, such as personal accountability, healthy lifestyles, alcohol safety, diversity and gambling.

Minority Enrichment Program

This program offers a culturally supportive environment in which minority student-athletes develop friendships and a support network in the university. A core focus group of students and staff coordinate programs such as guest speakers, holiday celebrations, community service activities with the local neighborhood centers, events with Cultural Centers and networking with minority faculty, staff, professional and business leaders.

Career Guidance & Development

Planning a meaningful career and a fulfilling life is an ongoing process of expanding and narrowing choices, beginning when student-athletes arrive on campus and continuing throughout their college career and lifetime. The professional staff works with other career development professionals on campus to offer individual consultation, career development seminars, workshops, referrals to other campus offices and special events like the Senior Recognition Banquet for graduating student-athletes.

Located near Hillcrest residence hall, the Russell A. and Ann Gerdin Athletics Learning Center is easily accessible to Hawkeye student-athletes.

The Russell A. and Ann Gerdin Athletics Learning Center has plenty of places for Hawkeyes to study.

The Russell A. and Ann Gerdin Athletics Learning Center has large meeting rooms to accommodate student-athletes.

Hawkeye student-athletes can take advantage of a large computer lab in the Russell A. and Ann Gerdin Athletics Learning Center.

Compare the Numbers

Iowa's student-athletes have outperformed the University's entire student population each year since the NCAA started requiring a report of student-athlete graduation rates.

Athletic Training & Sports Medicine

Continuing to set the standard in athletic training and Sports Medicine Service, The University of Iowa provides the student-athlete with exemplary medical care. Athletic Training Services is the largest component of the University of Iowa Sports Medicine program. UI Sports Medicine is a multidisciplinary healthcare team housed within the UI Sports Medicine Center, as part of University Hospitals & Clinics (UIHC), striving to provide exemplary everyday care all student-athletes. The team consists of Athletic Training, Orthopaedics, Primary Care, Physician Assistants, Radiology, Physical Therapy, and Nursing. In addition, Athletic Training Services connect student-athletes to UIHC resources and specialty areas. Iowa's staff of 12 full-time licensed athletic trainers and six graduate assistant licensed athletic trainers provide health care services within four athletic training rooms and ancillary facilities, involving injury rehabilitation and prevention programs among other health care services. When injuries and illness occur Iowa's athletic trainers provide treatment and rehabilitation programs to facilitate appropriate return to participation.

Services from the UIHC, among the world's largest university-owned teaching hospitals, support the efforts of the athletic trainers and other specialty sports medicine staff. Located next to Kinnick Stadium, the hospital offers a cutting-edge environment where staff physicians, sports medicine fellows, sports physical therapists, and athletic trainers care for student-athletes and produce successful outcomes. Dedicated research and education result in outstanding care. During the fall of 2009 the Institute for Orthopaedics, Sports Medicine and Rehabilitation (IOSMR) will open to further enhance the care for student athletes and will house the UI Sports Medicine Center.

Athletic trainers form a team with orthopaedic and primary care physicians for every Hawkeye sport. Many of the physicians are fellowship trained in their specialty area and lecture locally, nationally, and around the world. In addition each athlete has access to orthodontists, nutritionists, psychologists, and specialty physicians at the UIHC. Priority access to see physicians and other health care professionals provides expertise for comprehensive health care that returns the student-athlete to practice and competition promptly and safely.

The Hawkeye Strength Training Program

The program is designed to develop strength, explosiveness, speed, coordination, balance and flexibility. All qualities are developed through progression of exercises in four phases of training: work capacity - ability to perform work for a prolonged time and recover quickly, strength - ability to exert force, power - ability to exert strength quickly, and speed - ability to move the body in shortest time possible.

The highest level of performance is achieved by training under close supervision, in a year-round program. Improvement is monitored closely through the newest and best technology. Electronic timing devices are used to measure sprints, while a microcomputer device is used to monitor peak velocity and power outputs in weight training movements. With this technological support, the athletes are constantly receiving immediate feedback on their development.

Strength & Conditioning Philosophy

The philosophy of this program consists mainly of two components. The first is to continually develop a scientifically sound program that will maximize strength, power and explosiveness in order to allow the athlete to get the utmost out of their genetic potential, and to reduce the chance of injury. This will primarily be accomplished through the use of ground based free weight exercises and the progressive incorporation of functional movements and plyometrics. The second is to establish a culture which will develop the discipline, character and mental toughness within each athlete and team as a whole so that they are able to make the sacrifices in their training, leave their comfort zone and develop a Championship ATTITUDE. This will encourage them to make the most out of every situation and opportunity given to them in athletics, so that they might know what it is to be fully committed to something in at least one area of their life. When these two converge, they are not only able to reach their full potential; they become champions on and off the playing field.

Housing

Each athletics team has its own rules regarding residence of incoming freshmen. Across the University, about 90 percent of freshmen choose to live on campus in one of the 10 residence halls. Most student-athletes live at least two years on campus.

The residence halls have full-service dining rooms, study lounges, laundry facilities, recreational facilities, vending, and bank machines. Each room has high-speed computer connections for e-mail and Internet access, plus there are wireless networking hot spots in a variety of locations across campus. Iowa also offers wireless networking in 52 buildings and several outdoor areas, providing more than 265 access points across campus.

Safety

- 11:55 p.m. - 2:10 a.m.: Free SafeRide buses take students home Fridays and Saturdays during the fall and spring semesters.
- Special telephones with blue lights are stationed across campus with a direct link to the UI Department of Public Safety.
- University of Iowa Police personnel educate students on safety during summer orientation.
- The Rape Victim Advocacy Program cooperates with the UI Department of Public Safety and participates in Sexual Crime Awareness Week.

Cambus

There are six primary bus routes throughout the Iowa campus. The University Cambus provides over three million free rides to class and to the dorms for students each year. Some routes run seven days a week, and some run until 2:30 a.m. Cambus also operates a specialized transportation service for persons with disabilities.

Health Services

The University of Iowa provides the student-athlete with the most up-to-date and highest-quality medical care available. Students at Iowa can go to Student Health Service, which is open Monday through Friday. The service is supported by a fee paid by all full-time students. It offers students unlimited free office visits (there is a charge for other procedures done in the office, such as blood tests).

Libraries

The University of Iowa Libraries supports the academic achievement of all student-athletes with specialized courses, one-on-one consultations with librarians, 24/7 access to electronic resources through the web site (www.lib.uiowa.edu), and extended hours, which can accommodate complicated practice and travel schedules. UI Librarians help students find answers, whether they're on a web site, in a book, journal, government document, or database. Librarians also plan and teach students how to find, evaluate, and use information from a variety of sources--skills they will use throughout their lives.

Career Planning

Finding and pursuing a career takes careful planning. The Pomerantz Career Center is extremely valuable for student-athletes and can help identify skills that transfer from athletics to the workplace. The program suggests a timeline each student-athlete may follow throughout his or her stay at Iowa. The components of the program include:

- Individualized career advising
- Career education programs
- Summer job/internship opportunities
- Resume and cover letter development
- Preparing for life after college athletics

Computers

There are 26 Instructional Technology Centers all over the campus which are filled with 1,200 computers. These facilities are open at least 50 hours a week. Some are open 24 hours. Also, the Information Arcade in the Main Library provides a variety of specialized computing tools. The Computer Demo Center provides information for students who want to purchase computers and software.

Skills Labs & Support

Many academic departments offer skills labs to help students improve skills necessary to succeed at Iowa, such as writing, speaking, math, science, and foreign language. Assistance with skills such as note-taking, time-management, and test-taking are available through resources such as the College Transition Seminar (a credit-bearing course offered through University College), University Counseling Services, and Athletic Student Services staff.

The Iowa City Community

Iowa City is a diverse, highly cosmopolitan community of 60,000 set in the natural scenic beauty of Iowa's rolling hills and woods along the tree-lined banks of the Iowa River. Iowa City has all the art galleries, ethnic foods, historic architecture and vibrant atmosphere of a much larger city, but with the compactness and friendly feeling of a small town.

As a place to live, Iowa City keeps winning awards and accolades - Named one of the 10 most enlightened towns in the country by Utne Reader, listed in the book The 100 Best Small Art Towns in America and selected the number-one place to live in the nation by Editor & Publisher magazine.

Economically, businesses such as Rockwell Collins, American College Testing and Procter & Gamble help keep the city booming. In Coralville, a branch office of Geico Auto Insurance has provided many residents with employment opportunities.

Culturally, Iowa City is alive with concerts, art exhibits, readings, plays and art events of all kinds. Located on the University of Iowa campus, Hancher Auditorium is a nationally-known performance center that brings in the best of Broadway, classical and jazz music, dance and other performances. The University of Iowa Theatre Arts department also produces a full schedule of plays each year, featuring the work of student performers and directors. So whether you enjoy the arts as a spectator or as an outlet for your own creativity, Iowa City has the opportunities.

Residents of Iowa City are not only economically and culturally enriched, they also take advantage of the numerous recreational facilities offered around town. The area's more than 30 parks provide opportunities for year-round activities including boating, hiking, swimming, fishing and skiing.

The city's greatest charm, however, remains the sincere friendliness of its citizens, the cosmopolitan atmosphere and the successful partnership built between the community and the University.

Old Capitol

One of the most recognizable sites in Iowa City is the gold dome of the Old Capitol which is situated in the heart of downtown. Built in 1840, it is Iowa City's most historic building. The Old Capitol was the site of the first governor inauguration as well as the first six Iowa General Assemblies. It is also where the state's Constitution was drafted. When the capital was moved to Des Moines in 1857, the Old Capitol was dedicated to The University of Iowa, becoming the first building owned by the University.

Coralville Lake

Just north of Iowa City is Coralville Lake, an outdoor recreational area that offers a variety of opportunities for the public. Coralville Lake offers picnic shelters, biking, hiking, fishing, boating, swimming, hunting, camping, snowmobiling, cross country skiing, golf and disc golf.

City Plaza

Located downtown and in walking distance of many of the University's dormitories is the City Plaza. It is a perfect place to sit outside and study or hang out with friends. During the fall, spring and summer months there are concerts and art festivals in the "Ped" Mall.

Coral Ridge Mall

The Coral Ridge Mall is a 1.2-million-square-foot shopping center located just minutes from campus. The center combines a mix of over 120 specialty shops and strong department stores including Dillards, JC Penney, Sears, Target and Youngers. Coral Ridge also offers entertainment features such as an NHL-regulation-sized indoor ice arena, state-of-the-art 10-screen movie theatre and a large carousel along with a 1,000-seat food court with sit-down restaurants. Specialty stores include Abercrombie & Fitch, Barnes & Noble, Gap, Old Navy, Scheels All Sports and Pier 1 Imports.

Iowa City is located in eastern Iowa and is an easy trip to such cities as Des Moines (the capital of Iowa), Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, and Minneapolis. Also, Cedar Rapids, a city of more than 150,000, is just a short drive north of Iowa City. The Eastern Iowa Airport, which links residents to every major airport in the Midwest, nation and world, is only 20 minutes away.

Hawkeye Traditions

The Hawkeye Nickname

The University of Iowa borrowed its athletic nickname from the state of Iowa many years ago. The name Hawkeye was originally the name of the hero in the fictional novel, The Last of the Mohicans, written by James Fenimore Cooper. Cooper had the Delaware Indians bestow the name on a white scout who lived with them.

In 1838, 12 years after the book was published, people in the territory of Iowa acquired the nickname, chiefly through the efforts of Judge David Rorer of Burlington and James Edwards of Fort Madison.

Edwards, editor of the Fort Madison Patriot, moved his paper to Burlington in 1843 and renamed it the Burlington Hawkeye. The two men continued their campaign to popularize the name, and territorial officials eventually gave it their formal approval.

Herky The Hawkeye

The Hawkeye nickname gained a tangible symbol in 1948 when a cartoon character, later to be named Herky the Hawkeye was hatched. The creator was Richard Spencer III, instructor of journalism at Iowa.

The impish Hawk was an immediate hit and acquired a name through a statewide contest staged by the athletic department. John Franklin, a Belle Plaine alumnus, was the man who suggested Herky.

Since his birth more than 45 years ago, Herky has symbolized Iowa athletics and epitomized University life. He even donned a military uniform during the Korean War and became the insignia of the 124th Fighter Squadron.

During the mid-1950s, Herky came to life at a football game as the Iowa mascot. Since that time, Herky has been a familiar figure at Iowa athletics events.

School Colors

For 40 years Iowa was without school colors, but in 1887 a group of 50 seniors met on the steps of the Old Capitol to decide what are now the school official colors. They chose Old Gold, the color of Iowa's vast corn fields and Black, the color of the rich soil.

School Fight Song

The Iowa Fight Song was written in 1950 by Mason City, Iowa, native Meredith Willson. Best known as the creator of Broadway's "The Music Man," Willson was awarded a 1963 University of Iowa Alumni Association Distinguished Service Award for "setting the spirit of Iowa to music." The lively cheer is sung hundreds of times during Iowa athletics events the year around.

*The word is Fight, Fight, Fight for IOWA
Let every loyal Iowan sing;
The word is Fight, Fight, Fight for IOWA
Until the walls and rafters ring (Go Hawks!)
Come on and cheer, cheer, cheer for IOWA
Come on and cheer until you hear the final gun.
The word is Fight, Fight, Fight for IOWA
Until the game is won.*
