Head Coach: Jack Dahm (#10)
Assistant Coaches: Ryan Brownlee (#11) & Chris Maliszewski (#29)
Volunteer Coach: Zach Dillon (#42)

Student-athletes throughout the country each year face the difficult task of selecting a University in which to pursue their college degree while reaching their full potential academically and athletically.

Selecting a university and baseball program that is the right fit for you is a very important decision. This decision is one that will have a great impact on both the near future as well as the many years that follow your collegiate experience and baseball career.

As you begin to compare all of your options, I strongly encourage you to consider The University of Iowa and our baseball program. Many of the same qualities that distinguish Iowa's academic reputation are the foundation we are building within the baseball program... a commitment to excellence, tradition of success, strong community support and first class facilities.

Iowa is an outstanding university with a worldwide reputation of academic excellence. The university features faculty and staff members who are committed to making your experience as a student-athlete a positive experience academically, not to mention Iowa City is a classic college town that prides itself on the success of the university in every regard.

We are also looking forward to regaining the past success that Iowa baseball has had in winning seven Big Ten Championships, qualifying for three NCAA Tournaments and one appearance in the College World Series. Our coaching staff is looking forward to taking the University of Iowa Baseball program to new heights. We believe that we have an opportunity to become one of the finest baseball programs in the nation, while helping to produce graduates who are prepared for successful careers.

We enjoyed a taste of success last season in winning 11 of our last 14 games, finishing third in the Big Ten regular season and advancing to the championship game of the conference tournament. We return a majority of our starters and pitching staff, and welcome several talented newcomers and strive to make 2011 an even better season.

The athletic department at the University of Iowa has built its reputation on the sound foundation of academic, athletic and personal integrity. These qualities are present at the very top in University President, Sally Mason; Director of Athletics, Gary Barta; and Associate Athletic Director Fred Mims (Baseball Administrator) and are embraced by each member of our coaching and administrative staff.

It is our hope that you will continue to consider The University of Iowa as a place for your future. Our program offers incredible academic opportunities combined with a Big Ten athletic experience that is unparalleled. The University of Iowa and the Iowa City community will provide all the necessary ingredients to make your academic and athletic experiences as rewarding as possible.

We hope you will share in the excitement about The University of Iowa and our program.

IT'S GREAT TO BE A HAWKEYE!

Iowa won four of its final five three-game series, including sweeping Purdue in the final three games of the regular season to finish third in the Big Ten, its highest finish since 2005.

Iowa rode that momentum into the Big Ten Tournament a week later in Columbus, Ohio. The Black and Gold bounced Purdue from the six-team tournament with two victories over the Boilermakers and rallied from a seven-run deficit to stun second-seeded Michigan in the semifinals. Iowa reached the championship game for the first time since 1983. The Hawkeyes ultimately fell to the well-rested and top-seeded Minnesota team in the title game, but Coach Dahm was extremely proud of the way his team finished the season and played with confidence in the tournament.

"I was very proud of how our team battled all year," said Head Coach Jack Dahm. "It is easy to give in but our guys go after it. I told our guys that people were going to say we had a great month, I don't agree with that. This started in 2009 and with their commitment we were able to achieve the things we did this season."

"Being in the first championship game since 1983 is great," Dahm added. "It's a nice stepping stone. But we need to continue to work hard and get after things because we have a very, very bright future."

Starting pitcher Jarred Hippen and centerfielder were recognized on the all-tournament team. Muller set the tournament record for most stolen bases (6). He also tied the individual tournament game record for most thefts (3) against Purdue. Hippen earned Iowa's first tournament win since 1990, going seven and one-third innings, striking out five and no walks.

The Iowa baseball team was one win away from reaching the NCAA Tournament last year. This year, Head Coach Jack Dahm believes the team has strengths in all areas that will allow the Black and Gold to reach its goal of reaching the NCAA Tournament.

STARTING PITCHING

Depth and experience; these two will be the main attributes of the 2011 Hawkeye pitching staff.

In terms of starting pitching, the Hawkeyes have a deep group with loads of experience. Jarred Hippen, Nick Brown, Matt Dermody, Zach Kenyon and Ricky Sandquist will all be battling for starts.

“Jarred Hippen is our Friday starter. Last year, he really had an outstanding year and started to gain a ton of confidence. Jarred proved that he can go out and compete against anybody in the country. He proved that with a great outing against Texas and some other big outings late in the year. We feel very good about Jarred.”

Hippen, a junior, started 15 games in 2010 en route to second team All-Big Ten honors. He finished 6-4 and led the team with a 3.71 ERA and 99.1 innings pitched. The left-hander also tossed a Big Ten-best four complete conference games and was recognized on the All-Big Ten Tournament Team.

“The other two guys, if we started today, would probably be Nick Brown and Matt Dermody,” said Dahm. “Brown, who has been a two-year starter, is a very talented right handed pitcher that has an outstanding breaking ball. Dermody, a left-hander, continues to improve. By the end of last year, we felt he was one of our top pitchers.”

Brown, a junior right-hander, finished 5-7 a year ago in 14 appearances, nine of which were starts. Dermody, a sophomore southpaw, made 10 appearances in 2010, starting seven games. He finished with a record of 3-2.

“Two more guys that are really battling are Ricky Sandquist and Zach Kenyon,” added Dahm. “Sandquist, who ranked out as our top pitcher in the fall, has made huge strides. He has worked extremely hard and has become a leader of the pitching staff. Zach also had a very good fall. He is one of the most unselfish, hardworking guys in our program right now.”

Sandquist, a sophomore righty, made 16 appearances last year, all in relief. Kenyon, a senior right-hander, made 19 appearances on the bump last season.

“Whoever is not starting on the weekend will go into middle relief,” said Dahm.

“Without a doubt it is the deepest pitching staff we have had since I have been here at Iowa,” added Dahm. “Hippen and Brown have been starters for two years and Kevin Lee is coming back at closer. Kenyon and Dermody also have good experience.”

RELIEF PITCHING

Coach Dahm and Pitching Coach Chris Maliszewski have confidence in a stable of arms in the bullpen in 2011. As Coach Dahm mentioned, Lee will returns as the Hawkeyes' stopper.

"Kevin Lee will be in the closers roll," said Dahm. "Kevin had 13 saves last year. There is only one other player in the country returning with more saves than him a year ago. It is very hard to find a guy that can finish a game off better than Lee. He is fearless. He embraces that roll as closer and we feel very good handing him the ball in the ninth inning."

Lee, a senior righty, notched a school record 13 saves last year. He appeared in 21 games, winning two of them, while recording a 5.75 ERA. Lee tallied 14 strikeouts in 20.1 innings last year. Most importantly, Lee came out of out of the ninth with a win in every save opportunity he was given.

A number of pitchers will be counted on to get the ball from the starters to Lee. A couple of junior college transfers will play key roles in the bullpen. The key setup man will be righty Patrick Lala.

"One of the most talented guys we have on our staff is Patrick Lala," said Dahm. "Patrick could be a starter, but we ultimately have decided to put him in the role that Zach Robertson had at the end of last year. He can come in during the sixth, seventh and eighth innings and get the ball to our closer. Patrick has a great fastball. He is a tremendous athlete and a great competitor."

Tim Fangman is another junior college transfer. The righty will be counted on in middle relief.

"A guy who had a great fall for us was Tim Fangman," said Dahm. "We are really excited about him. He has worked extremely hard and has himself in the best shape of his life. Tim has a real good feel for pitching and a lot of composure for a junior college transfer. We feel like he can play a major role in middle relief."

Phil Keppler, a junior, and Steve Hague, a sophomore, are two other righties to look for in middle relief.

"Jeff Pacha will be a key left-hander coming out of the bullpen," Dahm said. "Jeff is a senior who has worked real hard. We feel like he can be a situational lefty. We also feel very comfortable that he can also get right handers out."

Sophomore Ben Bergman is another lefty that Dahm feels will develop into a very solid pitcher for the Black and Gold. He will also be counted on in middle relief. Andrew Smit, a freshman, and Patrick Brennan, are two other left-handers that will be called upon.

"We feel like our bullpen is going to be a strength for us," said Dahm.

CATCHING/DESIGNATED HITTER

Coach Dahm really likes the leadership and experience the Hawkeyes return in 2011. It might not be more evident than at the catcher position. Iowa has two experienced catchers returning to start the 2011 campaign, Tyson Blaser and Dan Sheppard.

"Tyson Blaser played a huge part in our growth last year," Dahm said. "He provided some great leadership for us. He was splitting time, as he will this year, with Dan Sheppard."

"As far as our top two guys, our catching is as strong as anybody in the league and probably as strong as anybody in the country," said Dahm. "Tyson is a guy that came in with high expectations and has been hurt quite a bit. Last year, he stayed healthy and gave our team some tremendous leadership."

Blaser returned behind the plate last season after using a medical redshirt in 2009. He appeared in 50 games, including 48 starts. Blaser hit .275, driving in 21 runs. He had a fielding percentage of .976.

Sheppard, who was drafted by the Chicago Cubs in the 2009 MLB Draft, appeared in 28 games, starting 18. He hit .260 in his rookie campaign, driving in seven runs. Sheppard had a fielding percentage of .980.

Keith Brand, a sophomore, and Chett Zeise, a junior utility player, have also been working behind the dish.

"The catcher position is an area of strength for us," added Dahm. "We are fortunate enough to have maybe the best catchers in the Big Ten. Our depth has gotten better. Keith Brand is a walk-on who has made huge strides. He has made as much progress as anybody in our program. Chett has also been working behind the plate."

While either Blaser or Sheppard will be starting behind the plate, there is a good chance the other will be in the lineup somewhere, most likely at designated hitter. The coaching staff feels both need to be in the Hawkeyes' lineup.

Other Hawkeyes who could see time in the DH position are juniors Sean Flanagan and Phil Keppler.

"We have a lot of options in DH role," said Dahm. "It is probably just going to come down to game-to-game to see who is going to be the best fit for us and give us the best chance to win that particular game. We will also use it to get some at-bats for some guys. We have a lot of options."

INFIELD

The Hawkeyes return a strong core of infielders in 2011, but while Coach Dahm sees the infield as another strength for Iowa, he sees room for improvement.

“The area that we could probably make the most strides in this year is our defense,” said Dahm. “Our interior defense needs to continue to get better. We became a pretty good defensive team by the end of last year. We think we have just gotten better because of the addition of Kasey Carling. He is battling with Kurt Lee at shortstop. Kurt made huge strides last year and that is a healthy competition there at shortstop.”

Lee, a senior, started 53 games last year for the Hawkeyes. He hit .257 and drove in 28 runs for the Black and Gold. Lee is battling Kasey Carling, a junior college transfer from Salt Lake Community College.

Starting at second base will be Mike McQuillan. The junior started at second a year ago, starting the most games of any player of Iowa’s roster (56). He enjoyed a solid offensive season, batting .344, with three long balls and 39 RBI.

“Mike just continues to just get better and better defensively,” said Dahm. “Mike has always been known as an offensive player. He wants to become known as an all-around player. He has put a lot of time into his defense.”

Senior Zach McCool will start at third base. He appeared in 52 games a year ago, including 46 starts, en route to third team All-Big Ten honors. McCool also batted .344 last year, tallying two home runs and driving in 36 runs.

“Zach had never played third base before last year,” Dahm said. “He really developed into a very solid defensive third baseman. Then you look at Chett Zeise behind him who has really developed at third base, too. Chett probably has our best infield arm and plays very comfortable at third base. We have a good situation there at third base.”

Four Hawkeyes will see time at first base.

“At first base, Phil Keppler had never played first base before last year,” said Dahm. “Keppler is much improved defensively. He will be much more comfortable this year. Sean Flanagan will be battling for some time at first base. Then you look at Andrew Ewing and Bryan Niedbalski, both will get playing time there also. Andrew is a great defensive player. I’ll call him our super utility player. He can play any infield position. Niedbalski is our best defensive first baseman now as a rookie. We have a lot of options and we have a lot of depth. When you travel as much as we do and play so many games on the road early in the year, you are going to need to get a lot of guys in the lineup. That is something that can definitely benefit us. Then ultimately, whoever performs the best is who is going to be in there when it comes times for Big Ten play.”

Keppler, a junior left-handed batter, hit .310 last year and drove in 28 runs. Flanagan, also a junior, drove in 13 runs and hit four home runs. Ewing, a junior, hit .290 in 23 games.

All will be counted on for the defense as well.

“Defense can be a strength of this team,” Dahm said. “Our guys are starting to understand the importance of defense. You do not win a championship without real good pitching, and good defense. I feel we can be a top defensive team in the Big Ten. It takes a commitment from the players to become an outstanding defensive team. I feel like we are on our way. I like the way we worked and the progress we made in the fall, but we still have a long way to go from that stand point.”

OUTFIELD

Iowa will have to replace two All-Big Ten outfielders, Kurtis Muller and Ryan Durant, in 2011. A number of Hawkeyes are up to the challenge.

“It is going to start in center field with Trevor Willis,” said Dahm. “Trevor arrived on campus as a shortstop and we moved him to the outfield. He is a tremendous defensive outfielder. He covers a ton of ground and is one of our top two fastest guys in the program. He has a plus arm and he throws a lot of guys out. He has some big shoes to fill in Kurtis Muller, but he realizes he doesn’t have to fill his shoes, just needs to go out and continue to get better. Trevor was one of our best players at the end of the year, from not only a defensive standpoint, but from an offensive standpoint. He gave us a big spark to our team. He will be our leadoff guy and be able to steal some bases and put some pressure on the defense.”

Willis, a senior who bats lefty, will start in center. He started 41 games a year ago, batted .261 and led the team with five home runs.

“Another very good outfielder is Andrew Host,” Dahm said. “He is one of the best outfielders I have seen. Andrew has a plus arm. More importantly, he has tremendous instincts in the outfield. Those two guys will be out there on a regular basis.”

Host, a sophomore will start in right field. He batted .211 last year in his rookie campaign and drove in six runs.

Freshman Joe Drum, sophomore Patrick Harshman and senior Jeff Pacha will also see time in right field.

A number of Hawkeyes will see time in left field.

“We are going to play a lot of different guys out in left field,” added Dahm. “With our depth, that is one of the areas that we think we can put a lot of our guys depending on what type of day it is going to be. Chett Zeise and Sean Flanagan are two guys that saw a lot of time out there as freshmen. Kyle Haen, who is one of our best defensive outfielders as a freshman, will also see some time out there. He is an above average outfielder. He gives us some speed. Kyle has a really good feel for the game and a very good bat. He is going to get some opportunities out in left along with freshman Taylor Zeutenhorst. Taylor is maybe our best athlete in the program. He can play the infield and the outfield. We can also put Keppler out there or Sheppard. So we have a lot of options in the outfield. Early on, you will see us doing a lot of rotating in left until someone steps up and really grabs that position.”

JACK DAHM
HEAD COACH
EIGHTH YEAR

In seven years as Iowa's head baseball coach, Jack Dahm has established the Hawkeyes as Big Ten contenders and is ready to lead the Iowa baseball program to new heights with his commitment to excellence.

Since taking over the Iowa baseball team in July of 2003, Dahm has sparked resurgence in the Hawkeye program, having success Hawkeye fans hadn't seen in years. Dahm has guided the Black and Gold to 30 or more wins two of the last four seasons.

In Dahm's 17 years as a head coach, he has produced 24 first team all-conference performers, eight freshmen All-Americans and two All-Americans. In his seven years at Iowa, Dahm has coached 28 all-Big Ten selections, including eight first teamers. Iowa had only four first team selections in the previous 14 years before his arrival in Iowa City.

In the classroom, Dahm's teams have had success, as well. During his Iowa tenure, the head coach has seen 56 players named academic all-Big Ten, including a team-record ten players in 2006. That is the best seven-year total in the history of the program. Iowa had eight student-athletes recognized in 2010. Furthermore, the Iowa baseball team boasted an NCAA Graduation Success Rate of 95, which is 25 points above the national average for NCAA Division I baseball programs.

Last season, Iowa finished with a bang, winning 11 of its final 14 contests and eventually finishing 30-28. Dahm coached the Hawkeyes to road series victories at Michigan and Penn State and home sets against Ohio State, Illinois and Purdue. Furthermore, Iowa ultimately won all five meetings against the Boilermakers in 2010, sweeping a three-game regular-season set and winning two in the league tournament.

The Hawkeyes finished third in the conference and ultimately placed second at the Big Ten Tournament. The tournament berth was the third under Dahm and only the eighth in school history. The Hawkeyes won three games at the tournament, which was the first time an Iowa team had won since 1990. The runner-up finish in the conference tournament tied the school's highest finish, which was accomplished once before (1983).

Four Hawkeyes earned all-conference laurels this past season. Kurtis Muller and Jarred Hippen each received second team accolades, while Zach McCool was named to the third team. Freshman Mike Corbeil garnered all-freshman honors. Muller and Hippen also garnered Big Ten All-Tournament accolades.

On the heels of last season's success, the Hawkeyes' 2011 recruiting class was once again rated the best in the Big Ten by Perfect Game USA. The class was ranked fourth-best in the Midwest and 48th-best nationally.

Ten Hawkeyes were drafted the last two seasons under Dahm, including four incoming recruits. Relievers Zach Robertson, Patrick Schatz, Steve Turnbull, Kyle Heim and Mike Schurz were all picked up, as well as Kurtis Muller, Matthew Dermody, Dan Sheppard, Taylor Zeutenhorst and Patrick Lala. Additionally, Justin Toole signed a free agent contract with the Cleveland Indians. Thirty-seven of Dahm's players have been selected in the MLB Draft, while four have gone on to play in the major leagues.

In 2009, Coach Dahm surpassed Dick Schultz for the third-most victorious coach in Iowa history at Duane Banks Field on March 21st in a 9-4 victory over Western Illinois. Dahm picked up his 400th win as a Division I coach at Northern Iowa on April 23. He also picked up his 124th victory as an Iowa head coach against Ohio State on May 16, which surpassed Scott Broghamer (1998-03) for fourth in Iowa coaching victories. Dahm's seven-year record with the Hawkeyes stands at 170-216 (.440).

Coach Dahm's 2008 recruiting class was ranked that 49th-best class according to Perfect Game USA. Iowa's ranking 49 is the highest of any Big Ten team.

In 2008, the Hawkeyes broke two school records. Iowa stole 138 bases, which are the most in a single-season by a Hawkeye team; the previous record of 127 was set by the 1981 team. Five Hawkeyes had 14 or more stolen bags, 13 recorded at least one and the Black and Gold were led by senior Caleb Curry who accumulated 45 thefts.

The Hawkeyes also set a record with a team total of 86 hit-by-pitches, breaking the previous record of 83, which was set in 2007. Hoef, Muller and Curry led the Hawkeyes and 15 members of the Black and Gold wore at least one pitch.

Three Hawkeyes were named all-Big Ten, including Caleb Curry and Kevin Hoef earning second team accolades while Justin Toole earned third team laurels. Curry and Toole earned all-Mideast Regional honors. Additionally, Curry and Hoef were drafted.

In 2007, Iowa took a major step forward by recording its best record in 14 years with a 31-23 mark. The Hawkeyes placed fourth in the Big Ten Conference at 17-13, and earned their second trip to the conference tournament in three years -- this after going just once the previous 15 years.

Five Hawkeyes were named all-Big Ten, including Travis Sweet and Jason White earning first team accolades. Nick Erdman and Curry were recognized on the second team, while Justin Toole earned third team laurels. Sweet, White and Toole earned all-Mideast Regional honors. Additionally, Sweet, White and Dusty Napoleon, along with recruit Zach Kenyon were drafted.

In the classroom, Iowa was awarded the 2007 NCAA Public Recognition award, placing them in the top 30 baseball programs, academically. Catcher Ben Geelan was named to the ESPN the Magazine Academic All-District VII team. In the Big Ten, seven Hawkeyes earned academic all-league honors.

In 2006, the Hawkeyes continued to build the program, on-and-off the field. On the field highlights included capturing the Austin Peay Tournament and the Louisiana Cajun Classic. Off the field, the Hawkeyes continued to shine in the classroom with ten players named Academic all-Big Ten, giving them 26 recipients the first three years under Dahm. Iowa has averaged eight academic all-conference honorees during his seven-year coaching tenure.

Individually, closer Tim Gudex earned first-team all-Big Ten honors for the second consecutive year, while starting pitcher Austin Seward was named to the second team.

After the season, a pair of Hawkeyes signed professional baseball contracts. Gudex was signed by the Texas Rangers, while Nate Price was signed by the Chicago Cubs.

In his second season, Dahm led the Hawkeyes to their best season since 1990. Iowa posted a 28-29 mark and a 19-13 league record - the second most conference wins in the history of the program. Dahm's squad finished third in the league (just one game out of first place), and advanced to the Big Ten Tournament.

The Hawkeyes won five four-game series' during Big Ten play, including road series' at Big Ten champion Illinois and Michigan, along with homestands against Minnesota, Penn State and Indiana. The team's success was a reflection of the individual awards the Hawkeye earned, as Iowa had five players named all-Big Ten. Gudex was named to the first team, Price was on the second team, while catcher Kris Welker, Jason White and Andy Lytle were all third team honorees. Gudex was also a second team all-Mideast region pick by American Baseball Coaches Association.

Four of Dahm's players signed professional contracts after the 2005 season. Lytle (25th round - Cleveland Indians) and Welker (41st round - Chicago White Sox) were both selected in the MLB Draft, while Nate Yoho (Milwaukee Brewers) and Jesse Brownell (Colorado Rockies) signed free agent contracts.

In his first year, Dahm helped guide both Nathan Johnson and Yoho to All-Big Ten honors. Johnson was named to the first team, while Yoho earned his way onto the second team.

On the recruiting front, Dahm and his staff gained praise nationally for their first class. It was ranked in the top-50 by Jerry Ford, the National Director of Perfect Game U.S.A., and No. 44 by Collegiate Baseball, who also named it the top class in the Big Ten. Dahm and the Hawkeyes made their mark on the in-state recruiting trail when they inked six of the top eight high school prospects in Iowa, which included the top four pitching prospects.

In year two, another highly touted class was penned by Dahm and his assistant coaches. The class featured two of the top players in the Midwest - Kevin Hoef and Wes Freie.

Since his arrival in 2003, Coach Dahm has not only been building a foundation on the field, but off as well.

"In order to build a consistent program we must have a solid foundation and that starts with quality student-athletes who are willing to make personal sacrifices, on and off the field," said Dahm. "We must also develop a level of trust and belief in each other and in the program. If we can build that foundation the success on the field will take care of itself."

Players have been busy giving back to the community by helping raise money for breast cancer and helping the Iowa Children's Museum at the Crystal Ball dinner. The Hawkeyes are also involved with the UI's Dance Marathon, Iowa Children's Miracle Network, UI Children's Hospital and Iowa City Neighborhood Centers.

Dahm was also instrumental in starting the Corridor Classic. The Corridor Classic helped raise over $500,000 for the American Diabetes Association in its five years. It was one of the biggest ADA fundraisers in Iowa history. Iowa and Northern Iowa competed in the Classic the first five years, while the Hawkeyes met Coe College a year ago.

Other new and exciting events have been added to the schedule. Three years ago, the Hawkeyes battled the Triple-A Iowa Cubs at Principal Park in Des Moines for the third time in four years. The Black and Gold were slated to play the I-Cubs again last year, but the game was cancelled due to rain. The Hawkeyes and Cubs will attempt to play again in 2011. Iowa also plays an annual game against Western Illinois at Modern Woodmen Park in the Quad Cities.

Dahm also created the annual Lead-Off Dinner and Steak Fry in February, which serves to kick-off the season and get fans excited about Iowa baseball. The Lead-Off/Steak Fry Dinner has also featured Hall of Famer Ferguson Jenkins, baseball legend Tommy Lasorda, Cubs General Manager Jim Hendry, New York Yankees manager Joe Girardi, MLB umpire Tim McClelland along with Iowa Cubs owner and Pulitzer Prize-winning journalist Michael Gartner.

Before coming to Iowa City, Dahm spent 18 years as a member of the Creighton Bluejays baseball program. He left the Bluejays as the winningest coach in school history, having compiled 283 wins against 276 losses in 10 seasons as head coach.

Dahm arrived at Creighton in 1986 to play under Hendry and spent four years as a student-athlete (1986-89). In 1990, Dahm accepted a position as a graduate assistant under Hendry and spent four years helping build Creighton into a Missouri Valley Conference power.

In 1991, Dahm was promoted to a full-time assistant as he helped the Bluejays reach the College World Series. That Creighton squad ended the season as the second-highest hitting club in the nation, batting .355. The team's 60 triples, in 1991, led the nation and remain a school record.

In October of 1993, Dahm was hired as Creighton's head coach, becoming the youngest head coach in Division I at the age of 25. For the next ten years, five of Dahm's teams finished in the top three of the Missouri Valley Conference.

In 1999, Dahm earned the first of two Missouri Valley Conference Coach of the Year honors as the Bluejays advanced to the NCAA tournament for the first time in the Dahm era. Creighton posted 38 wins that season before being eliminated from the South Bend Regional.

In 2000, Dahm guided the Bluejays to their second consecutive NCAA Regional appearance at the Arizona State regional in Tempe, AZ, after finishing with a 38-23 record. During the season, Dahm led Creighton into the national spotlight as they peaked at No. 15 in the Collegiate Baseball poll and were ranked in the top 25 of the Baseball Weekly/ESPN Coaches' Poll and Baseball America.

Dahm earned his second coach of the year honor in 2002 when the Bluejays finished the season 30-24 against one of the nation's toughest schedules. Victories over nationally ranked Nebraska, Notre Dame and Wichita State were overshadowed by the team's best-ever season in the Missouri Valley Conference. Despite having a lineup top-heavy with underclassmen, Creighton finished second in MVC play with a 21-10 record.

Dahm entered Creighton as a highly recruited infielder in 1985. As a player, Dahm shared the dugout with former Major Leaguers Mike Heathcott, Dax Jones, Scott Servais, Dan Smith and Scott Stahoviak. He graduated from Creighton with a bachelor's degree in business management in 1989.

Dahm played a large role in the planning, designing and fund raising for the $3.5 million Creighton Sports Complex. The Kitty Gaughan Pavilion baseball facility is one of the finest indoor baseball complexes in the country.

Dahm's teams at Creighton not only had success on the field, but in the classroom as well. During his tenure, players were named to 32 spots on the Missouri Valley Conference Scholar-Athlete teams, ten Verizon Academic all-District honors and three Verizon Academic all-Americans.

Dahm has also been active in the advancement of college baseball by being a member of many national committees. He was a ten-year member on the College World Series Board of Directors and served on the American Baseball Coaches Association Change of Season Committee. He was also a part of the NCAA Division I Regional Advisory Committee and was an onsite director of the NCAA Yes Baseball Clinic for 11 years.

The 44-year old Dahm and his wife, Lynn, have been married for 17 years. The couple has three children - sons Casey and Tyler and daughter Lyndsey. He was born January 19, 1967 in Skokie, Illinois.

RYAN BROWNLEE
 ASSISTANT COACH
 EIGHTH YEAR

One of college baseball's bright young coaches, Ryan Brownlee, embarks on his eighth season as Iowa's hitting, infield instructor and recruiting coordinator.

"We are very fortunate to have Ryan on the coaching staff here at Iowa," Head Coach Jack Dahm said. "Ryan has proven over the past seven years that he is one of the top young coaches in the country with his relentless work ethic on and off the field. Ryan grew up around the game of baseball and understands the commitment it takes to build a championship program. As our recruiting coordinator he continues to bring in some of the best classes in the country. Additionally, I have been very impressed with our hitters and infielders' development under Ryan."

Over the past ten seasons, Brownlee has had 25 players he coached or recruited drafted; two more signed free agent contracts. In the past two years, Kurtis Muller, Patrick Schatz, Steve Turnbull, Kyle Heim, Mike Schurz and recruits Matt Dermody, Dan Sheppard, Patrick Lala and Taylor Zeutenhorst were drafted by major league teams. In six years of coaching summer collegiate leagues, he has seen 33 of his players sign pro contracts, including Khalil Green of the Padres and Kevin Cash of the Yankees, Joe Thatcher of the Padres, Dan Meyer of the Marlins and Luke Scott of the Astros.

Brownlee has also watched his student-athletes excel in the classroom. An average of eight Hawkeyes each season, have been named academic all-Big Ten during his Hawkeye coaching tenure. Furthermore, the Iowa baseball team boasted an NCAA Graduation Success Rate of 95, which is 25 points above the national average for NCAA Division I baseball programs.

Last season, the hitting coach preached a 'pitch-by-pitch' approach at the plate that helped propel the Hawkeyes to 11 wins in their final 14 contests; the team eventually finished 30-28. Iowa finished third in the conference and ultimately placing second at the Big Ten Tournament. The tournament berth was the eighth in school history. The Hawkeyes won three games at the tournament, which was the first time an Iowa team had won since 1990. The runner-up finish in the conference tournament tied the school's highest finish, which was accomplished once before (1983).

Brownlee guided Kurtis Muller to second team all-conference honors, as well as Zach McCool to third team and Mike Corbeil to the all-freshman squad. Muller also made the Big Ten all-Tournament squad. The hitting and infield instructor helped mentor Iowa to a stronger defensive showing in 2010. The Hawkeyes also boasted more hits, doubles, triples, home runs, RBI, sacrifice flies, sacrifice bunts and walks than the previous year. Additionally, Iowa ranked among the national leaders in stolen bases, triples and sacrifice hits.

On the heels of last season's success, the Hawkeyes' 2011 recruiting class was once again rated the best in the Big Ten by Perfect Game USA. The class was ranked fourth-best in the Midwest and 48th-best nationally.

In 2008, Brownlee's expertise on stealing bases and knowledge of hitting were essential in establishing team and individual records. Iowa stole 138 bases, which are the most in a single-season by a Hawkeye team; the previous record of 127 was set by the 1981 team. The team total ranked third in the country. On top of that, Iowa knocked out 436 singles for a new single-season record and wore 86 pitches to set a single-season team record in hit-by-pitches.

Under Brownlee's direction, four Hawkeyes moved up the record books in respective statistical categories in 2008. Justin Toole had 87 hits, which is the second-highest single-season total in school history and strung together 25-games in a row with a hit for a new Iowa record. Curry stole 45 bases for a new single-season record. In 2009, third baseman Kevin Hoef finished his career by shattering the career hit-by-pitch mark, getting plunked 68 times in his career.

Brownlee mentored Curry, Toole and Hoef to all-Big Ten and Curry and Toole to all-Mideast region laurels in 2008. In 2007, Toole was recognized on the third all-Big Ten and first all-regional teams, while White earned first all-conference and second team all-regional accolades. Shortstop Andy Lytle and White earned third all-Big Ten team honors in 2005.

Brownlee's success in recruiting didn't falter in 2008. The incoming class was ranked the 49th-best class according to Perfect Game Cross Checker. Iowa's ranking of 49 is the highest of any Big Ten team. In 2007, Brownlee helped mentor the Hawkeyes to its best record in 14 years with a 31-23 mark. Iowa placed fourth in the league at 17-13, and earned its second trip to the Big Ten Tournament in three years, after going just once in the previous 15 seasons. During the season, Iowa defeated five teams (Nebraska, Fresno State, Ohio State, Minnesota and Michigan) that reached the NCAA Tournament. The Hawkeyes also put together a 12-game winning streak, which is the second-longest in school history. Included in the streak was a school-record 10-game Big Ten winning streak.

As hitting coach, Brownlee saw the team's batting average vault 55 points from 2005 to 2007 (.269 to .324). Additionally, the team also scored more runs (273 to 401) had more RBIs (249 to 345) and walks (152 to 245) during that time span.

In 2007, Iowa ranked high nationally in three offensive statistical categories: ninth in batting average (.324), 20th in scoring (7.4) and 36th in triples (0.33). Individually, White ranked sixth in the country in runs scored (1.32), Napoleon 10th in walks (0.94) and Sweet 14th in batting average (.413).

Under his guidance, the Hawkeyes have broken the single-season record for hit-by-pitch in each of the last four seasons. Furthermore, they broke the team record for sacrifice hits in three of the last four years and also established a sacrifice flies record (33) in 2007.

In 2005, Brownlee helped the Hawkeyes to their most successful season in 12 years. Iowa took third place in the Big Ten and advanced to their second conference tournament since 1990.

Prior to joining the Iowa staff, Brownlee served as the infield/baserunning coach and assisted with hitting and recruiting at James Madison University four years. Brownlee did a variety of gameday assignments during his tenure at JMU, including coaching first base, bench coach, infield shifts, defensive plays and opponents' scouting reports. In back-to-back years (2001-02), Brownlee guided the Dukes to school record .967 and .968 fielding percentages. Also in 2002, the Dukes broke the school record for wins in a season with 43 and advanced to the NCAA Southeast Regional at Columbia, SC, after winning the Colonial Athletic Association crown.

Before joining the James Madison coaching staff, Brownlee served as an assistant coach under his father, James, at Evansville for two seasons. While at Evansville, Brownlee was responsible for outfield, catching and hitting instruction. Brownlee advanced to the Purple Aces' coaching ranks after excelling as a player four seasons. A four-year starter at second base, Brownlee earned all-MCC honors in 1994 and all-MVC accolades in 1996. He was also selected to the American Baseball Coaches Association all-Region squad. In 1997, Brownlee was tabbed a TPX pre-season third-team all-American and he received the University of Evansville's William V. Slyker award for the most outstanding male athlete at the university.

Brownlee, a native of Evansville, graduated with a bachelor's degree in psychology with a minor in biology in 1997. He received his Master's in athletic administration in 2002 from James Madison. He and his wife, Aimee, have two children - Jackson (7) and Norah (4).

CHRIS MALISZEWSKI
PITCHING COACH
THIRD YEAR

Chris Maliszewski is in his third season as the Hawkeyes' pitching coach. In addition to his role as pitching coach, Maliszewski is also responsible for the team's travel arrangements and assists in the youth summer camps.

In 2010, Maliszewski and his pitching staff helped propel Iowa to a third place finish in the conference, as well as earning the school's eighth Big Ten Tournament appearance. The Hawkeyes finished as the runner-up in the tournament after winning three games -- the first tournament wins for Iowa since 1990.

Maliszewski mentored his young pitching staff to improved numbers in his second campaign. Under his tutelage, the Hawkeyes posted improved numbers in wins, ERA, saves, walks, wild pitches and opposing batting average. Iowa's talented arms helped the Hawkeyes to a late surge, winning 11 of their last 14 games. Individually, pitcher Jarred Hippen was named to the all-tournament team, as well as garnering second team all-league accolades. In addition to Hippen's accomplishments, closer Kevin Lee broke the school single-season record with 13 saves -- nearly double the saves Iowa had as a team in 2009.

On the heels of last season's success, the Hawkeyes' 2011 recruiting class was once again rated the best in the Big Ten by Perfect Game USA. The class was ranked fourth-best in the Midwest and 48th-best nationally. Maliszewski has also watched his student-athletes excel in the classroom. Iowa had 10 student-athletes each academic all-Big Ten recognition a year ago. Furthermore, the Iowa baseball team boasted an NCAA Graduation Success Rate of 95, which is 25 points above the national average for NCAA Division I baseball programs.

In his first season, the team's ERA in Big Ten play improved 1.45 points from 2008 to 2009. Furthermore, Hawkeye pitchers recorded nearly 20 less walks than the season before and over 30 strikeouts more than in 2008.

Maliszewski has had six pitchers get drafted the last two years; Steve Turnbull, Kyle Heim and Mike Schurz in 2009 and Zach Robertson, Patrick Schatz and recruit Patrick Lala in 2010. All signed professional contracts, except Lala who will be wearing a Hawkeye uniform in 2011.

Maliszewski returned to his alma mater after serving two seasons as the outfield and catching instructor and recruiting coordinator at Valparaiso University. In addition to his coaching and recruiting responsibilities, he aided in the Crusaders' youth camps.

"It is an honor and a privilege to be a part of the Hawkeye baseball program," said Maliszewski. "I am extremely grateful for the opportunity provided by the University of Iowa throughout my college baseball experiences. Words can't describe how excited I am to work with our extremely talented pitching staff and continue working towards our goal of winning the Big Ten championship here at Iowa."

Prior to joining Valparaiso's staff, Maliszewski was a volunteer assistant coach for Dahm and the Hawkeyes in 2005 and 2006. Working with the pitching staff in 2005, he helped lead the Black and Gold to one of their most successful seasons in the program's history, posting a 19-13 Big Ten mark.

He was a four-year letterwinner with the Hawkeyes, posting a 7-10 career record with three saves. As a sophomore, he earned the victory over Illinois, sending Iowa to the conference tournament for the first time since 1991. He graduated from Iowa in 2004 with a bachelor's degree in health, leisure and sports studies.

"Chris has demonstrated all the qualities to be an outstanding coach," said Dahm. "He has an incredible energy level and passion for the game that rubs off on everybody around him. I was fortunate enough to have coached Chris and now have him join our coaching staff. Chris has always had goals of helping Iowa win Big Ten championships, making the NCAA Tournament and reaching Omaha ever since the first day he stepped on campus. I truly believe he can help us reach those goals!"

Throughout his seven-year coaching career, Maliszewski has guided 22 players who signed professional contracts.

Maliszewski has also coached in the Northwoods League, a top collegiate summer league, leading the Mankato Moondog pitching staff in 2004 and serving as the associate head coach of the Madison Mallards in 2005 and 2006. He was named Coach of the Year with Madison after leading the Mallard pitching staff to the best earned run average in league history.

Chris and his wife Tiffany reside in North Liberty.

ZACH DILLON
VOLUNTEER COACH
SECOND YEAR

Zach Dillon is in his second season as a volunteer coach at the University of Iowa.

Dillon works with the catchers, assists with hitters and also serves as the camp coordinator.

"We are extremely excited Coach Dillon is a part of our program," Dahm said. "The experience Coach brings to our team is great. He grew up a coach's son, was a part of a state winning Des Moines Dowling program, has been to the College World Series with Baylor and has experience in the minors. He has a wealth of experiences to share with our players. Coach Dillon has a bright future."

In his first season with the Hawkeyes, Dillon helped spearhead an Iowa resurgence in the Big Ten. In 2010, the Hawkeyes surged to a third place finish in the conference, as well as earning the school's eighth appearance and finishing runner-up at the Big Ten Tournament. The hitting instructor, along with Ryan Brownlee, helped the Hawkeye offense improve in several areas. The 2010 squad boasted higher numbers in; hits, doubles, triples, home runs, RBI, sacrifice flies, sacrifice bunts and walks. Iowa ranked among the national leaders in stolen bases, triples and sacrifice hits.

Dillon attended Baylor University and was subsequently selected by the Baltimore Orioles in the 20th Round (595th overall) of the 2006 amateur entry draft as a catcher. His honors include: 2006 Big 12 Player of the Year, two-time ABCA All Region choice, two-time all-NCAA regional selection, two-time first team all-conference honoree, four-time academic all-conference selection, Johnny Bench Award semifinalist, ESPN the Magazine first team academic all-America selection and a ten-time Big 12 Conference Commissioner's Honor Roll recipient.

The Urbandale, IA, native holds the Baylor school record for conference batting average .421 (40-for-95, set in 2006). He also holds school records in: walks in a Big 12 series with six (vs. Missouri (5/20-22/2005), season on base percentage with .496 (2006), conference on base percentage with .504 (2006) and career conference on base percentage with .454 (2003-06).

Dillon currently holds the school's second highest career batting average in Big 12 play (.360) and second most walks in a season (53). He ranks sixth in the Baylor record books in; career games played (232) and career walks (115). In 2006, Dillon ranked nationally in walks (53, T-4th) and walks per game (.840, 17th).

Dillon was part of a College World Series qualifying Baylor team in 2005. The team finished with a 46-24 record and ranked fourth nationally--the program's highest final ranking ever. Dillon scored the winning run in arguably the best game in Baylor history. In the College World Series, the Bears rallied from a 7-0 deficit through six innings for an 8-7 victory, eliminating the top-ranked and top-seeded Tulane. It was the second largest comeback in CWS history. The cleanup hitter was a DH/Catcher on the 2005 squad and finished the year hitting .304 with 43 RBI and 20 doubles, two of his 20 doubles were in the College World Series and register as a school record.

GARY BARTA ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

“Hope is not a strategy,” is a common refrain of the University of Iowa’s Gary Barta. So, as Barta enters his fifth year as the UI’s director of intercollegiate athletics – and his 24th year in athletics administration – he does so diligently working a plan that contributed to historic success for the Iowa Hawkeyes in 2009-10 and is setting the stage for more of the same in the years ahead.

Competitively, two events stand alone at the top of the list of achievements by UI teams in 2009-10: Iowa’s dominating victory over Georgia Tech in the 2010 FedEx

Orange Bowl and yet another national championship for the UI wrestling program.

The victory over the Yellow Jackets in Land Shark Stadium in Miami was Iowa’s 11th of the college football season and its first in a Bowl Championship Series event since the Hawkeyes’ victory over California in the 1959 Rose Bowl. It was the final chapter in a season that opened with a school-record nine straight victories by Kirk Ferentz’s squad, a streak that electrified fans of the Hawkeyes and triggered another pilgrimage of fans of the team to their second BCS appearance under Ferentz.

Tom Brands’ Iowa wrestling squad crowned three national champions and eight Hawkeyes earned all-America honors while leading the UI to its 23rd NCAA title in school history. The championship was the third straight under Brands and it came rather handily – Iowa finished 44.5 points ahead of its nearest competitor – and, as more often than not – after yet another Big Ten Conference championship.

As inspiring as the achievements of Iowa’s football and wrestling teams were, they weren’t alone. Iowa’s women’s basketball team overcame a series of injuries to secure 20 victories, reach the championship game of the post-season Big Ten Tournament, and advance to NCAA Tournament play for the third straight year.

The Iowa men’s golf team used a second place finish at the 2010 Big Ten Conference Championship to secure an at-large invitation to NCAA Regional play where it finished tied for sixth and just one stroke shy of its second straight appearance in the national championship.

First-year coach Katie Dougherty guided the UI’s women’s tennis team to its first NCAA post-season action since 2006. The squad was powered by the nationally-ranked doubles team of Merel Beelen and Sonja Molnar.

The Iowa baseball team won seven of its last eight regular season league games to advance to the Big Ten Tournament when the Hawkeyes marched to the championship game for the first time since the 1983 season.

The Iowa men’s track and field team advanced 32 athletes to NCAA post-season competition after a fourth-place finish by the men’s squad at the Big Ten Championships. That finish was the Hawkeyes’ best since 2006 and was sparked by three individual champions.

Barta and the UI Athletics Department also enjoyed historic success out of competition including, most notably, significant improvements to the facilities used by the more than 700 student-athletes who represent the UI in intercollegiate athletics competition.

In September 2009, the University of Iowa and the UI Athletics Department dedicated the $7 million P. Sue Beckwith, M.D. Boathouse, a 20,000-square-foot facility built right on the bank of the Iowa River off of Dubuque Street in Terrill Mill Park.

In November 2009, the UI broke ground on a multi-million dollar addition and renovation of Carver-Hawkeye Arena, the 28-year-old competitive home of the Hawkeye men’s and women’s basketball, wrestling and volleyball programs. The Carver-Hawkeye Arena Revitalization Project will greatly improve the practice, strength training, and conditioning facilities for a myriad of sports programs in addition to providing new office space for the vast majority of Iowa’s administrative and coaching staffs in addition to new locker room and support facilities for Iowa’s men’s and women’s basketball, wrestling and volleyball teams.

In the fall of 2010, Barta joined the campus community in celebrating the opening of the $69 million Campus Wellness and Recreation Center. The facility will provide unparalleled recreational opportunity for UI students, faculty and staff, and the greater Iowa City community in addition to being the new full-time home of the UI’s men’s and women’s swimming and diving programs.

The UI also expects to break ground on an addition to the facilities used by the Iowa football program during the 2010-11 year. Funded entirely through private support, the project is an important next phase of the master facilities plan for Hawkeye football. The project will include the construction of a new indoor practice facility, upgraded and improved locker rooms, team rooms, strength and conditioning facilities, and spaces used for the day-to-day operation of the UI's football program. The construction of the Ron and Margaret Kenyon Outdoor Practice Facility – a facility envied by many collegiate programs and NFL franchises – and the $89 million renovation of historic Kinnick Stadium were phases 1 and 2 of the master plan.

While Iowa continues to move the facilities it makes available to student-athletes forward, the UI's commitment to the academic piece of the student-athlete experience remains paramount – and successful.

According to information released annually by the NCAA, the graduation rate for student-athletes who enrolled at the University of Iowa in the fall of the 2002-03 academic year was 70 percent, six percentage points better than the national average and two points better than a year ago. The graduation rate for UI student-athletes was also four percentage points better than the rate for all UI students.

The football program at the UI - with a Graduation Success Rate of 74 - ranked second only to Cincinnati among the ten teams invited to participate in the five 2010 Bowl Championship Series events. Iowa also ranked third among the seven bowl-bound Big Ten Conference teams.

The UI's field hockey, softball and men's cross country teams were among the NCAA Division I intercollegiate athletics programs singled out by the NCAA for Academic Progress Reports (APR) in the top 10 percent of all teams in their specific sport. In fact, for the second straight year all 24 of Iowa's teams exceeded the NCAA's APR benchmark and compared favorably to their peers in the Big Ten and nationally.

Barta's involvement in the UI campus community extends well beyond intercollegiate athletics. He is a member of the cabinet comprised of vice presidents and other campus leaders that provides counsel to UI President Sally Mason.

Barta also represents the UI and the Hawkeyes at the conference and national level as well. During his first four years at the UI, he has participated in the creation and implementation of the Big Ten Network, the expansion of the Big Ten Conference and realignment of athletics conferences nationally, and the Big Ten's post-season bowl game agreements that go into effect this college football season.

Nationally, Barta remains active in the Division IA Athletics Directors Association, the National Association of College Directors of Athletics, and currently serves on the NCAA Football Committee Board of Directors.

Barta has another favorite saying: "Vision without resources is irrelevant." Over the course of his career he has been directly involved in raising hundreds of millions of dollars in support of intercollegiate athletics. This has remained a primary focus during his tenure at Iowa where private support for the Hawkeyes continues to flourish despite a challenging economy.

In recent years, the department has received a long list of commitments to assist in capital projects and scholarship support, including gifts of $5 million each from long-time friends of the UI Dale and Marilyn Howard, Bruce Rastetter and Richard O. Jacobson.

Under Barta's leadership – and thanks to a talented athletics development staff – the University of Iowa has seen year-over-year improvement in annual giving in spite of the current difficult economic environment and, at the same time, has generated almost $20 million of support for the Carver-Hawkeye Arena project.

As the director of athletics at the University of Wyoming for three years, seven different UW coaches were named Mountain West Conference Coach of the Year. He also spearheaded a fund-raising effort that netted the Cowboy athletics program $11 million in private support and $11 million in matching state fund.

As the senior associate athletics director at the University of Washington, he directed the "Campaign for the Student-Athlete," and was a participant in the design, construction and/or renovation of several UW athletics facilities including Bank of America Arena and the Dempsey Indoor Practice Facility. In addition to almost doubling the amount of annual private support received by UW, Barta also managed the department's external affairs division, a task that included corporate sponsorship and radio contracts.

His responsibilities at Washington expanded over time to include hiring of coaching and administrative staff and coordinating the schedule for the Huskies' men's basketball program.

The roots of his development experience extend to his first two positions: director of athletics development and external relations at the University of Northern Iowa and director of development at his alma mater, North Dakota State University.

Barta earned a Bachelor of Science degree in mass communication and broadcast journalism from NDSU in 1987. He was an option quarterback for Bison football squads that won the Division II NCAA national championship in 1983, 1985 and 1986.

Barta, and his wife, Connie, have a son, Luke (12) and a daughter, Madison (10). He was born September 4, 1963, in Minneapolis, MN.

IOWA RANKS AMONG BIG TEN LEADERS

Some universities have successful teams. At the University of Iowa, you'll be a member of one of the most successful, most progressive athletic departments in America today. Iowa's athletic facilities are constantly being improved and upgraded, including a $47 million renovation project in Carver-Hawkeye Arena, the home of Iowa basketball. The project is expected to be completed in August 2011.

The men's basketball team has had seven winning seasons in the past 10 years, making six postseason appearances in that time. Iowa's women's basketball team shared the Big Ten Conference regular season title in 2008, finished runner-up at the 2010 Big Ten Tournament and has advanced to postseason play in nine of the last 10 seasons, including advancing to the second round of the NCAA Tournament a year ago.

The Hawkeye football team has won 70 games over the past eight seasons, competing in seven bowl games during that span, six of which were premiere January bowl games in the state of Florida. Last year, the football team enjoyed one of its most exciting seasons ever, finishing second in the Big Ten and winning the prestigious FedEx Orange Bowl in Miami.

The Hawkeye wrestling squad dominated its sport the past three years, winning back-to-back-to-back Big Ten Conference regular season dual and the postseason tournament titles. The Hawkeyes, under fourth-year Coach Tom Brands, marched through the national tournament, claiming their 21st, 22nd and 23rd national team crowns the past 37 seasons.

In addition to women's basketball and wrestling, Iowa's national-recognized field hockey program won its third-straight Big Ten Tournament title two years ago and advanced to the NCAA Final Four. Iowa's baseball team surged last season, winning 11 of its last 14 games and finished runner-up at the Big Ten Baseball Tournament, its best finish in 20 years. Furthermore, the Iowa men's golf team finished second at the Big Ten Championships and was only one stroke from advancing to its second-straight NCAA Championships, placing sixth at Regionals, in 2010.

Along with the success on the playing fields, Iowa's student-athletes also excel in areas of academics and community service. In 2006, Iowa was the only Division I football program in the nation to have three players named to the academic all-America first team. In men's basketball, 2007 senior Adam Haluska, a second round selection in the NBA Draft, was named the Division I Academic all-American of the Year.

Kinnick Stadium, the home of Iowa football, is one of the toughest stadiums to play in the country for visitors. Iowa boasts the 11th-best home winning percentage (.830) in the country over the past eight seasons.

IOWA BASKETBALL

Iowa basketball has posted seven winning seasons in the last 10 years, capped by NCAA Tournament appearances in 2005 and 2006. The Hawkeyes have posted a 63-23 home record over the last five seasons.

IOWA WRESTLING

Led by 10 all-Americans, the Hawkeye wrestling squad repeated its accomplishments of 2008 and 2009, winning Big Ten Conference and NCAA team titles. Iowa has won 12 NCAA titles in the past 20 years and has claimed 30 Big Ten titles over the past 36 seasons. Head Coach Tom Brands was tabbed Big Ten Coach of the Year for the second-straight year, while Matt McDonough was honored as the league's top freshman.

IOWA FOOTBALL

The Hawkeye football team enjoyed another successful season under Coach Kirk Ferentz, who was recognized as Big Ten Coach of the Year for the third time in the last eight seasons in 2009. Ferentz and the Iowa Hawkeyes are one of only eight college football programs in the nation to compete in six January bowl games over the last eight seasons, winning four of those contests in exciting fashion. Iowa's 70 victories over the last eight seasons are second most in the Big Ten and 16th best in the country.

Carver-Hawkeye Arena has served as the home of Iowa basketball since 1983. The Hawkeyes are 63-23 in home games over the past five seasons.

Ever since I was little I wanted to be a Hawkeye. The coaching staff gave me the opportunity to live out my dream and I jumped at the chance. Every player and coach in the program is so dedicated to becoming better that the Iowa baseball program has climbed its way onto the national stage. When I was recruited I felt at home with the coaches and players, along with knowing how the Iowa community has great support for their baseball program. It's a real family type atmosphere. Everybody looks out for each other and strives to make themselves along with their teammates better. It's an opportunity of a lifetime.

ZACH KENYON - Senior - Davenport, IA

Growing up a Hawkeye fan I bled Black and Gold so there was no hesitation when Coach Dahm gave me the opportunity to put on an Iowa baseball jersey. Experiencing the community's passion for Iowa athletics, and the support they show, makes it evident to me that Iowa is a special place. I'm proud to tell people I am a student-athlete at the University of Iowa.

TYSON BLASER - Redshirt Senior - Taylor Ridge, IL

Choosing Iowa was the most exciting choice I've made in my entire life. The character and personality of the players and coaching staff separated Iowa from the rest of the pack. The facilities on campus are excellent and the close-knit Hawkeye community lured my family and I. Academically, Iowa, and the Big Ten, is second to none. Reaching my goal of playing the game at the next level seemed more accessible with the knowledge and leadership of Coach Dahm and Coach Brownlee.

CHETT ZEISE - Junior - Green Bay, WI

The players I spent time with during my official visit taught me something about this program and showed me how hard they are working to become a great team. I see Iowa as a place where our team can leave a mark of excellence for future generations. I crave to be part of something incredible that is about to occur in this program.

NICK BROWN - Junior - Wheaton, IL

The reason I chose the University of Iowa was because I have always wanted to play a Division I sport. Also, being from Northeast Iowa I have always wanted to be a Hawkeye. But, the ultimate reason why I'm at the University of Iowa is because of the coaching staff. Coach Dahm gave me the opportunity to fulfill my dream of playing on a Division I team. Another huge factor that came into play when picking a college was academics. Iowa is a prestige Big Ten college that allows me to get a highly recognizable degree.

ZACH MCCOOL - Senior - Manchester, IA

There is nothing like being a Hawkeye and not only representing the University of Iowa, but the whole state of Iowa! I chose to come to Iowa because of the great baseball opportunities I would have, as well as an excellent education that I would receive. I enjoy showing up to the field everyday with my teammates knowing that that is where I belong.

DAN SHEPPARD - Sophomore - Downers Grove, IL

With the NCAA limiting the number of scholarships a team can give, a successful walk-on program is essential for any team hoping to compete at a high level. Nowhere is this more evident than at the University of Iowa, where Head Coach Jack Dahm has a history of developing walk-on players.

In his career, Coach Dahm has had nine players begin as walk-ons and end up playing professional baseball.

Most recently, Iowa has had a couple former walk-ons earn Big Ten accolades and break school records. Right-fielder Ryan Durant was recognized on the all-Big Ten first team in 2009. Third-baseman Zach McCool was honored on the all-Big Ten third team a year ago, while closer Kevin Lee slammed the door on the opposition in 2010, accumulating a single-season school record 13 saves.

Former walk-on Tim Gudex (2005-06) enjoyed unprecedented success as the Hawkeye closer. He was a two-time first team all-Big Ten honoree after leading the league in conference wins (7), saves (6), ERA (1.11), appearances (19), games in relief (19), games finished (19) and opponent's batting average (.205). He also led the conference in overall ERA at 2.56.

Six years ago, former walk-on Austin Seward turned in a career season earning second team all-Big Ten accolades.

Former Hawkeyes Andrew Porter and Kyle Riffel were walk-ons. In 2007, Riffel posted a career season, batting .337 and collecting 28 hits in 34 games. In 2008, he led the team in sacrifice bunts (9) and was in the top five on the team in at bats (205), runs batted in (44), hit by pitch (8), stolen bases (20) and games played (55).

In Porter's junior campaign he made 13 appearances, striking out 11 batters. As a senior, he led the team in games finished (20), appearances (30) and saves (4).

"Joining the University of Iowa baseball team as a walk-on gives a young player the chance to grow and mature as an athlete, as well as an opportunity to get an outstanding education," Dahm said. "The entire coaching staff is committed to the development of our walk-on program, because there is no question that in order to build a championship caliber program, you need a program that allows kids to develop and contribute to the success of the team."

"Coming out of high school, I had no D-I scholarship offers, but Iowa asked me to come and walk on. For me, it was an easy choice. It was a chance to play baseball and attend a school with a great academic reputation. Before college, I told myself I would want to attend a school that had great academics if baseball did not work out, and Iowa was the school. Luckily baseball ended up working out, and it has helped me accomplish both of my goals. The coaching staff gave me a great chance to prove myself. I was treated like a scholarship athlete, both on and off the field. When Coach Dahm informed me I was going to be receiving scholarship money, I was thrilled. To me it was recognition for all the hard work I had put in throughout my baseball career. As a walk-on, it made me push myself more and shoot to be better than those who were on scholarship. It gave me strength and a vision to prove to all that I deserved and belonged to be there."

NEW STATE-OF-THE ART PLAYING SURFACE IN 2011

Duane Banks Field will have a completely new state-of-the art playing surface in 2011. For the first time since the field was laid down three decades ago, the entire playing surface is being refurbished. According to Head Coach Jack Dahm, about 10-12 years ago the infield was re-sodded and a magic mix dirt was installed. But, as far as revamping the entire field, this is the first time the field has undergone a major facelift. A new drainage system has also been installed and new batting cages are in place next to the Hawkeye bullpen.

Not only is a new state-of-the-art playing surface being installed, but Dahm noted other minor changes to the field.

“The field is going to look a little different than in the past,” said Dahm. “We are moving home plate five feet forward to help with the grading, the drainage and the slopes. They are also lowering the field about one foot. It’s going to look a little different, but I don’t know if the fans will be able to notice the difference. We are really looking forward to it.”

In the fall of 2001, the Iowa baseball field was re-named The Duane Banks Baseball Field in honor of the Hawkeyes’ former head coach. Banks, the winningest coach in Iowa history, served as Iowa’s head baseball coach from 1970-1997.

Banks Field was originally built in 1974. The 3,000-seat stadium has dimensions of 330 feet down the lines, 375 in the power alleys and 400 to centerfield. As a whole, the complex is one of the top facilities in the Big Ten and the Midwest.

Every year the UI Department of Athletics makes upgrades to Banks Field. The baseball program is very excited about the installation of 500 stadium chair back seats behind home plate that allow Hawkeye fans to purchase season tickets.

Three years ago, Iowa resealed and painted the inside of the stadium along with replacing all of the old wooden bleachers with aluminum bleachers.

Other upgrades include spacious pro-style dugouts with new bleachers and protective netting. There is also brand new padding behind home plate and all new added padding in the outfield from left center to right center.

In 2002, former Hawkeye and current Major Leaguer Cal Eldred donated $245,000 to fund the installation of lights at Banks Field. It is the largest donation by a current professional athlete to Iowa Athletics.

The infield was re-designed following the 1999 season with a new playing surface and ten-foot fences were added to the outfield. Both bullpens were restructured and the hitter's background was replaced.

The complex features locker rooms for both teams and umpires. In 1998, Iowa's clubhouse was expanded, giving the Hawkeyes one of the best college baseball environments in the nation.

Prior to the 1996 season a Daktronics state-of-the-art scoreboard system was installed. In addition to providing spectators with pertinent game information, the system also has a marquee that is capable of displaying player information.

A new press box was built in 1989 and renovated in 2002. It can accommodate several radio stations and up to 15 media members.

During inclement weather, the Hawkeyes can move to the Bubble, Iowa's indoor facility located right next to Banks Field. The Bubble is a 120-yard expanse of state-of-the-art "Prestige XT" artificial surface that includes four full-size batting cages and five raised pitching mounds. The bubble gives the Hawkeyes a top-notch facility to train in year-round.

Duane Banks, following 28 years as Iowa's head baseball coach retired from coaching following the 1997 season. His record at Iowa was 810-575-4. After retiring from the head coaching position he assumed the position of Assistant to the Director of Men's Athletics at the University.

Banks coached 30 seasons overall, compiling a career record of 901-585-4, and winning more games than any other Hawkeye coach. Banks was named to the American Baseball Coaches Hall of Fame in 1991.

In 1990, Banks led Iowa to its first Big Ten title in 18 years and to the NCAA playoffs for the first time since 1975. The 1990 squad won a record 22 Big Ten games and placed a record-tying five players (Tim Costo, John DeJarld, Chris Hatcher, Keith Noreen and Brian Wujick) on the all-Big Ten squad.

For his efforts, Banks was named both Big Ten Conference and District Coach of the Year.

Banks led Iowa to its only College World Series appearance (in 1972), a Big Ten co-championship in 1974, a district playoff berth in 1975 and the winningest (44) season in school history in 1981. Banks coached Iowa to 21-consecutive winning seasons prior to 1991.

Many of his former Hawkeyes have earned pro contracts and five—Mike Boddicker, Cal Eldred, Jim Sundberg, Tim Costo and Jeff Jones—made it to the major leagues. Tim Costo was the eighth pick overall in 1990 draft, marking the second straight season Banks produced a first round draft choice. Eldred was selected in the first round by Milwaukee in 1989. Fifty-seven of Banks' former players signed pro contracts.

Banks served as an assistant coach for half a season at Iowa. The Hawkeyes won 14 of their final 27 games under his direction. Duane's next club won 28 games, at that time an Iowa record, in his first full campaign (1971).

Banks' 1972 team won Big Ten and District Four Championships to earn a berth in the College World Series, claiming Iowa's first outright Big Ten title in 33 years. As a result, Banks was named District Coach of the year.

Banks became Iowa's all-time winningest coach in 1985, passing Hall of Famer Otto Vogel, who won 440 games in 35 years. He joined the Iowa staff as an assistant coach in 1969, after serving in the same capacity at Colorado State. He spent two seasons at Parsons (IA) College, compiling a 91-10 mark in 1967-68. He was an assistant coach at Parsons in 1966.

Banks is a past president of the American Baseball Coaches Association and has held a number of administrative posts in the ABCA. He has served as chairman of the NCAA Division I coaches and as a representative of District Four. A member of the Hall of Fame and the Legislative Issues committees, Banks is a past member of the ABCA Board of Directors

Banks was active in international baseball through the United States Baseball Federation. He took an all-star team to Canada, Japan and Korea in 1985 and coached another squad on a trip to Venezuela.

Banks and his Iowa team went to Holland in 1984 and he was on the staff of the USA college all-star team that played all over the world in 1982. He took an Iowa team to Mexico in the mid-1970s. A native of Grand Junction, CO, Banks played baseball and basketball at Northern Colorado. He was all-league and all-district three times in baseball at Northern Colorado and played on year of professional baseball with the Atlanta Braves organization in 1964.

Banks attended Mesa (CO) Junior College, received his B.A. degree from Northern Colorado in 1965 and his M.A. degree from Colorado State in 1969.

Duane and his wife, Jeanette, have two sons, Scott and Kirk and a grandson Nile.

“Similarly to how our football strength and conditioning program is regarded, I consider our staff among the best in the nation. Rusty Burney, as well as our other trainers (Coach McCarthy, Coach Keller, and Coach Meister), have not only made me stronger but they have all benefited the baseball program as a whole. Not only will we be physically prepared for the upcoming 2011 championship run, but we will also be mentally prepared due to the diligence and help of our strength and conditioning program.”

KEVIN LEE | SENIOR

Iowa Baseball will work very hard to improve our game on the field by getting stronger and more explosive off of it, in the weight room and by improving fitness levels and techniques of speed, agility, and quickness. We will give ourselves the best chance to put the best team on the field by analyzing weaknesses and movement patterns of current players and minimizing down time due to injury. Along the way, we will create championship level work habits and discipline. We truly believe that success is a culmination of the right daily habits on and off the field.

We have four Goals in our Strength and Conditioning Program

1) INCREASE ATHLETIC PERFORMANCE

- Improve your game with better speed and explosive power
- Throw and hit harder, run faster by developing a strong and explosive lower body and core.

2) DECREASE RATE OF INJURY

- Significantly reduce your risk of joint and tendon injuries.
- Build the right strength and flexibility in the upper body to create not only better arm strength but healthier arms and shoulders.

3) INCREASE SELF CONFIDENCE

- There is a certain confidence in knowing you have prepared yourself and given yourself a chance to be successful.

4) IMPROVE MENTAL TOUGHNESS

- We will not be distracted and will develop the ability to focus on the task at hand and not be deterred by every day highs and lows

“Strength and conditioning is a very important part of our program and we put a big emphasis on it. We use our strength and conditioning not only to get bigger and faster but also for injury prevention.”

JACK DAHM | HEAD COACH

“I feel our strength and conditioning program is one of the best in the nation. It has helped me in every aspect such as: speed, agility, and strength. Overall it has shaped me into an all-around baseball player concentrating on different baseball lifts. The intensity our team has in the weight room has shown our team as a whole improvement.”

Two seasons ago, the Iowa baseball team moved into upgraded facilities at the University of Iowa Rec Building. The new facilities, include larger space, upgraded training and weight rooms, expanded equipment lockers, spacious locker room, student-athlete lounge with flat screen televisions and hot and cold tubs.

"The Rec Building has a brand new, state-of-the-art, locker room, player lounge, weight room, equipment room and training room. It is located right next to Duane Banks Field and connected to the Bubble, so it is very convenient for the players."

"I am very proud of our players in the fact that they understand the importance of giving back to the community and especially to children. Community service is very important to our program to be able to give back to the community. I am impressed at all the activities our players do in the community on their own. I will be at events in the Iowa City community and people will say thank you to me because one of our players came to speak to their class or to a youth baseball team. The most impressive thing, to me, is that they are doing a lot of this on their own."

The University of Iowa baseball team takes tremendous pride and enjoyment in its charity and community service activities.

Since Jack Dahm took over the program in 2004, the Hawkeyes have been very active in the Iowa City Community. Iowa players have been actively involved in helping the Iowa Children's Museum, University of Iowa Dance Marathon, the Ronald McDonald House and the University of Iowa Children's Hospital.

The Hawkeyes helped raise over $575,000 for the American Diabetes Association during the six-year history of the Corridor Classic in Cedar Rapids.

The following is a list of just some of the community service activities the Hawkeye baseball team has participated in throughout the Iowa City community.

- Assisted in the delivery of furniture to the Hope Lodge
- Served as waiters for the Iowa Children's Museum's Crystal Ball Gala.
- Helped with the set-up and tear-down for the University of Iowa's Dance Marathon.
- Served as tutors at Roosevelt Elementary School through the Hawkeye Pride Initiative.
- Assisted with the Iowa Children's Museum's Move It, Dig It, Do It event.
- Worked at the Iowa City Neighborhood Center's Haunted House
- Took part in the University of Iowa Foundation's Thank-a-thon
- Raise money for Breast Cancer research
- Raised over $575,000 for the American Diabetes Association with the Corridor Classic.

Another addition Jack Dahm has made to the program is the annual Iowa Baseball Golf Outing. The golf outings take place at Finkbine Golf Course located in Iowa City. The outing is a fundraiser for the Hawkeye baseball program, which gives fans a chance to talk with coaches, alumni and players. It also allows alumni an opportunity to come back to Iowa City to see teammates and support the program.

"It's great to see the former players come back and support the program," said Head Coach Jack Dahm at the latest golf outing. "We have a lot of players back who played under Coach [Duane] Banks, Coach Broghammer and myself. A lot of the alumni are excited about the direction of the program. Every program needs the support of their alumni and we want to continue to do a better job of reaching out to them and getting them involved in Iowa baseball."

The University of Iowa baseball team holds annual summer, spring and winter camps. These camps are a great opportunity for young players to enhance their skills under the personal attention of the Hawkeye Baseball Staff. The camps are held at Duane Banks Field and the Indoor Practice Facility (Bubble) on the UI campus. Fifty percent of Iowa's 2010 roster is comprised of players who attended one of Iowa's camps as a child.

In August, September and December, Iowa holds its Future Hawks Evaluation Camp, which is its biggest camp. This is a chance for campers to be evaluated in the 40 and 60-yard dash, arm strength, and in hitting, defense and pitching. College coaches from all levels work these camps.

In March and April, Iowa hosts its Spring Training Camp, which is targeted for high school athletes. Once a week, campers experience a college level practice.

Iowa also holds camps for specific groups and positions in June and December. These five different camps target specific age groups and positions.

The Pitchers and Catchers Camp and Position Players Camp are designed for high school aged athletes who would like to be evaluated. The Hawkeye coaching staff teaches proper pitching and catching mechanics and fundamentals, while position players' campers are given instruction on all areas of the game.

The Hitting Camp and Pitching Mechanics and Drills Camp are designed for players ages 9-13. Emphasis is placed on proper mechanics, pitching delivery and the basic fundamentals of hitting.

The Junior Hawks Advanced Skills Camp is typically split into two sessions; the first is designed for ages 6-10 and the second is for ages 11-13. During the camp, instruction will include all areas of the game- hitting, throwing, fielding and base running.

For exact camp schedules, visit hawkeyesports.com.

During the Jack Dahm era, the Hawkeyes have always taken on the best. In the 2004, 2006 and 2008 seasons, the Hawkeyes ventured into the world of professional baseball when they took on the Chicago Cubs Class AAA affiliate Iowa Cubs in exhibition games at Principal Park in Des Moines. The Hawkeyes were slated to play the I-Cubs again last year, but inclement weather forced the cancellation of the game.

In 2008, Iowa battled with the AAA team, but ultimately dropped the exhibition game, 3-1. Iowa recorded four hits in the exhibition and had the tying run on base in its final at-bat.

In 2006, nearly 5,000 fans watched the Black and Gold compete against an I-Cubs team featuring future and former major leaguers Rich Hill, Angel Guzman, Felix Pie, Ryan Theriot, Mike Fontenot and Augie Ojeda.

Over 4,000 fans in 2004 watched the Hawkeyes give the I-Cubs all they could handle before falling by only two runs.

WOODMEN PARK

Throughout his seven years at Iowa, Head Coach Jack Dahm has tried to showcase Iowa baseball all throughout the state -- giving Iowa residents and players from all over the state a chance to watch the Hawkeyes. Iowa has played games in Western, Central and Eastern Iowa. The last two seasons, the Hawkeyes have played at Woodmen Park in Davenport. In 2009, Iowa cruised to a 20-7 triumph over Western Illinois. A year ago, the Hawkeyes blanked St. Ambrose, 8-0.

This season, Iowa will meet Western Illinois on April 20, 2011 at Woodmen Park.

"One of my goals was to take Iowa baseball throughout the state of Iowa. We have gone to a lot of places, as far as the pro facilities and we are going to continue to do more in the future. Going to Des Moines, Cedar Rapids and the last two years at Woodmen Park have been a great situation for us. There are a lot of real good players in the Quad Cities area that we recruit and are on team currently. It is something we enjoy, something we look forward to and want to continue."

JACK DAHM | HEAD COACH

"You've got to play with your heart and love the game. You represent a great institution here, and don't do anything to embarrass it, yourself, or your family. Put that uniform on and wear it with pride, dignity and character. That's your responsibility. And when you leave this great, great university, you leave a legacy that the ones coming in will have a hard time duplicating it."

TOMMY LASORDA

The Hawkeye baseball program likes to kick off each season in style, and that's what they have done each of the past seven years with the Lead-Off Dinner and/or Steak Fry. It's a chance for fans to meet this year's team and get a sneak preview of the upcoming season as well as get the opportunity to meet and hear from major league ball players past and present and raise money for the University of Iowa baseball program. Last year, over 500 Hawkeye fans attended the inaugural Steak Fry event.

The second Steak Fry will be held Feb. 7, 2011 in Tiffin at the Bella Sala.

The Lead-Off Dinner has featured guest speakers such as 2006 NL Manager of the Year and manager of the 2009 World Champion New York Yankees Joe Girardi, former Los Angeles Dodgers and Hall of Fame Manager Tommy Lasorda, Chicago Cubs General Manager Jim Hendry, former Chicago Cub Cy Young winner Fergie Jenkins, Major League Umpire Tim McClelland, former NBC President and Pulitzer Prize winner Michael Gartner, and former Hawkeye and Atlanta Braves pitcher Wes Obermueller.

There is also a chance for baseball fans to get their hands on great memorabilia in the live and silent auction at the annual Lead-Off Dinner. Past items have included autographed items from Hall of Famers Tom Seaver, Reggie Jackson and Ryne Sandberg; current stars Roger Clemons, Randy Johnson, Alex Rodriguez and Mark Prior; and the great baseball experiences such as luxury suite at a Cedar Rapids Kernels game, honorary bat child during a Chicago Cubs game in the friendly confines of Wrigley Field, Chicago Cubs and Colorado Rockies "Dream Package" including tickets, accommodations and the opportunity to throw the first pitch at the game.

"The Lead-Off Dinner and Steak Fry are events the baseball program started to help generate excitement in the community. We have had anywhere from 400 to 500 people at the event. It continues to grow every year and we are looking forward to another outstanding event this year. It is kind of a tradition for our players now; they know that once the event is here -- we are getting close to our season. It is a great lead off to the season. Not only does it bring excitement but we have had some outstanding keynote speakers who not only have a great message for our crowd, but also for our players. We intend to continue this for years to come."

Iowa City is a media saturated environment. And with no professional teams in the area, the Hawkeyes garner extensive coverage from newspapers, television and the Internet.

RADIO

If Hawkeye baseball fans can't make it out to Duane Banks Field for a game, they are in luck because all Iowa home games and most road games, including all Big Ten contests, are broadcast on AM-800 KXIC in the Iowa City area. Brent Balbinot calls the play-by-play for the Hawkeyes.

TELEVISION

With the launch of the Big Ten Network, the Big Ten is the only conference in the country that has its own national network devoted to Big Ten athletes programming. Hawkeye baseball fans can expect to see an average of five games a year on the network in stunning hi-definition. In addition to the Big Ten Network, the Hawkeyes have had games on CSTV and Mediacom the past couple seasons.

HAWKEYESPORTS.COM

Media and fans can also obtain a wealth of up-to-date information about the Hawkeyes on the official web site of the University of Iowa -- hawkeyesports.com. Live stats (gametracker), box scores, play-by-play, photo galleries, coach and bio information, video, podcasts and more can be found on the web site. The baseball team also has its own facebook site.

Furthermore, hawkeyesports.com has a fresh look after the site was re-designed and re-launched in October 2010. The new and improved site has enhanced graphics, is easier to navigate, and has more content and video/audio for the diehard Hawkeye fan.

NEWSPAPER COVERAGE

Fans can also read about Hawkeye action in several newspapers/web sites throughout the state of Iowa. A few of the papers that cover the Hawkeyes on a regular basis include: The Des Moines Register, the Iowa City Press-Citizen, the Cedar Rapids Gazette, the Quad City Times, The Daily Iowan, the Voice of The Hawkeyes, the Burlington Hawkeye, the Waterloo Courier, and the Moline Dispatch.

"The Big Ten Network is great for Hawkeye fans, alumni and families of our players! The network does a tremendous job producing games and also offering campus programming, and other programming that spotlights the conference and its student-athletes. The network gives the diehard Big Ten fan and place to follow the conference 24-7."

The Big Ten Network is devoted to covering a wide array of programming to one of the premier collegiate conferences in the country. The network is the ultimate destination for Big Ten fans and alumni across the country. The network provides unmatched access to an extensive schedule of league competitions, events and shows; classic games; nightly studio shows; original programs in academics, arts and sciences and campus activities. Sports programming includes live coverage in stunning high-definition of more events than ever before, along with news, highlights and detailed analysis, all complemented by hours of university-produced campus programming. The Big Ten Network reaches 75 million homes nationwide through distribution arrangements with more than 300 cable and satellite providers.

Iowa's game at Illinois (April 9, 6 p.m.) and home contests against Indiana (April 15, 6 p.m.) and Penn State (May 7, 2 p.m.) will be televised nationally on the Big Ten Network this season. Additionally games will be streamed on bigtennetwork.com. For a complete listing of Big Ten baseball games available online, visit video.bigtennetwork.com.

The Iowa baseball program has a long history of former athletes competing on the professional level. Over 100 Iowa players have been sent into the pro ranks. Recently, under Head Coach Jack Dahm, the Hawkeye baseball program has reached new heights by combining talented student-athletes with first class facilities and superior coaching. In his career, Coach Dahm has sent 37 players to the Major Leagues.

Last season, relievers Zach Robertson and Patrick Schatz were drafted, as well as outfielder Kurtis Muller.

In 2009, three pitchers were drafted. Steve Turnbull signed with the Toronto Blue Jays, closer Mike Schurz was drafted to the Houston Astros and lefty Kyle Heim signed with the St. Louis Cardinals. Justin Toole later signed with the Cleveland Indians. In 2008, Caleb Curry and Kevin Hoef were each drafted. However, only Curry signed with the San Francisco Giants.

In 2007, Travis Sweet, Dusty Napoleon and Jason White each signed professional contract – Sweet with the Houston Astros, Napoleon with the Oakland Athletics and White with the Baltimore Orioles. Three years ago, Tim Gudex inked with the Texas Rangers and Nate Price with the Chicago Cubs.

Two Hawkeyes were selected in the 2005 Major League Baseball Amateur Draft. Andy Lytle was taken by the Cleveland Indians, while Kris Welker was selected by the Chicago White Sox. Another pair of Hawkeyes signed free agent contracts, with Nate Yoho joining the Milwaukee Brewers organization and Jesse Brownell getting penned by the Colorado Rockies.

In 2004, first team all-Big Ten pitcher Nate Johnson was selected by the Philadelphia Phillies in the MLB Draft.

Two Hawkeyes prolonged their 2003 baseball seasons at the professional level. Junior Kyle Thousand surrendered his final year of eligibility to pursue a professional career with the Toronto Bluejays. The two-time all-Big Ten centerfielder was selected in the 26th round of Major League Baseball's amateur draft. Former Hawkeye MVP and right-handed pitcher Reed Pawelk signed a free-agent contract with the Florida Marlins following Iowa's 2003 season.

Four Hawkeyes were drafted by the major leagues after the 1999 season. Pitcher, Wes Obermueller was drafted in the second round by the Kansas City Royals, second baseman Brian Mitchell went in the 40th round to the Toronto Blue Jays and pitcher, Matt Sawvell signed a pro contract with the New York Mets.

Obermueller started the 2002 season as a member of the Wichita Wranglers, a Double-A affiliate of the Kansas City Royals, before being promoted to the parent club and making his Major League debut September 20th, against the Cleveland Indians. In 2003, Obermueller was traded to the Milwaukee Brewers, where he won two games and struck out 34 hitters in 65 2/3 innings. He went 6-8 with a 5.80 ERA in 118 innings pitched in 2004 and 1-4 with a 5.26 ERA in 2005 before being traded to the Atlanta Braves in December, 2006. He spent 2007-09 playing professional in Japan.

Signed by the Tampa Bay Rays, hurler Jim Magrane set Iowa's single-season records for innings pitched (107.2) and strikeouts (110) during the 1999 season and is currently a member of the Durham Bulls, a Triple-A affiliate of the Devil Rays.

In 1998, Iowa infielder, Nate Frese, was drafted in the 10th round by the Chicago Cubs. He advanced to play for the Iowa Cubs, a Triple-A affiliate of the Cubs, before injuries forced him to retire.

In 1993, outfielder Bo Porter was drafted by the Chicago Cubs. During the 1999 season, Porter was brought up from the minors by the Cubs. Porter saw action in 24 games, while starting five in the outfield. Porter was the opening day centerfielder for the Texas Rangers during the 2001 season. Last season, Porter served as the third base coach for the Florida Marlins.

Outfielder Chris Hatcher was drafted following the 1990 season. He has been a member of many minor league organizations, compiling a .275 batting average in 953 games. During the 1998 season, Hatcher was a member of the Kansas City Royals, where he saw action in eight games.

Tim Costo was a first-round draft pick of the Cleveland Indians in 1990 before being traded to Cincinnati. He spent the 1995 season at the Indians AAA class Buffalo team, playing in 105 games. He was also a member of the St. Louis and Toronto organizations.

Cal Eldred was a first-round draft pick by Milwaukee in 1989 and remained there until he was traded to the White Sox in 2000. In 1994, he had the honor of being the opening day pitcher, and led the American League in starts (25). Eldred made a name for himself in 1992 by going 11-2 for Milwaukee, winning 10 straight decisions. In 1993 he led the American League in innings pitched (258). After a two-year stint on the Chicago south side, Eldred signed a free-agent contract with the St. Louis Cardinals in 2003. In 2004, he was a key part of the Cardinal team that advanced to the World Series. Eldred is now the lead studio Big Ten baseball studio analyst for the Big Ten Network.

Mike Boddicker, a native of Norway, IA, earned all-Big Ten honors as a pitcher and infielder during his campaign as a Hawkeye (1976-78). In 1983, he was named the American League "Rookie of the Year." After pitching in the major leagues for 11 years, Boddicker retired in 1993. He played for the Baltimore Orioles and Kansas City Royals.

DONALD W. & MARILYN HEINEKING BASEBALL SCHOLARSHIP

Don Heineking established the Donald W. and Marilyn Heineking Baseball Scholarship in 2004, with the first recipient to be named for the 2005-06 season. Don is a long-time supporter of Iowa athletics, a member of the Johnson County I-Club Board of Directors and member of the Iowa Scholarship Fund Board of Directors. In 2002, Don and Marilyn established scholarships in football and women's basketball. Then, in 2003, they added a wrestling scholarship and men's basketball manager's scholarship. Most recently, they added baseball, softball and volleyball scholarships.

Don lives in Iowa City and is a member of the President's Club of the UI Foundation. Marilyn passed away in February of 2004.

MIKE BODDICKER SCHOLARSHIP

Former Iowa standout Mike Boddicker, and his family, have established the Mike Boddicker Scholarship. The scholarship goes each year to a member of the Iowa baseball team who is in good academic standing and displays outstanding character and personality.

Boddicker, a native of Norway, IA, earned all-Big Ten honors as a pitcher and infielder during his campaign as a Hawkeye (1976-78). In 1983, he was named the American League "Rookie of the Year." After pitching in the major leagues for 11 years, Boddicker retired in 1993. He played for the Baltimore Orioles and Kansas City Royals.

The Mike Boddicker Scholarship was established in 1993. Pitcher Colin Mattiace was the first recipient and held the scholarship all four years of his Hawkeye career. Infielder Nate Frese received the scholarship in 1997 and 1998, Iowa City native Brian Mitchell won the scholarship in 1999, and the 2000 and 2001 scholarships were awarded to outfielder Andy Jansen, a Bancroft, Iowa native. Four-year starter Ian Mattiace received the scholarship in 2002 and former Louisville Slugger Freshman All-American Reed Pawelk has benefited from the scholarship in 2003 and 2004. Kris Welker was the 2005 recipient; Travis Sweet got the scholarship in 2006 and 2007. Kevin Hoef received it in 2008, Michael Jacobs earned the scholarship in 2009, while Jarred Hippen was the 2010 recipient.

CAL ELDRED LIGHTS FUND

Cal Eldred has lit up Hawkeye baseball once again. But this time, instead of employing his expert pitching, the major-league star and his wife, Christi, made a gift to fund the installation of lights at Iowa's Duane Banks Field. The Cedar Rapids couple gave $245,000 for the installation of lights at the baseball field named after Cal Eldred's former coach.

The gift, the largest ever from a current professional athlete's family to Iowa athletics, allowed the project to be completed in September 2001. The Hawkeyes won the first night game played at Banks Field, April 10, 2002, against Northern Illinois, 11-9. The University of Iowa officially dedicated the lights Saturday, April 13, 2002.

Former Iowa Director of Athletics Bob Bowsby hailed the Eldreds' generosity, saying, "Cal and Christi's gift shows that once a Hawkeye, always a Hawkeye. Cal has been representing Iowa well for years, first with the Milwaukee Brewers, then with the Chicago White Sox and now with the St. Louis Cardinals, all the while making us all proud. But the fact that he and Christi have remained true to their Iowa roots in this very generous way makes us even prouder."

Former Iowa Baseball Coach Scott Broghamer noted that the Eldred's gift is another chapter in their long association with baseball in the state. "I coached Cal when he played for Urbana High School in the mid-1980's, and he and Christi have been Hawkeye supporters for years," Broghamer said. "This gift will make Iowa's field one of the finest anywhere. We're very excited and grateful."

The Eldred's cited their desire to give back to Iowa and to honor former Hawkeye coaches Banks and Broghamer—who they said are their good friends and longtime mentors—as reasons for making the gift. The gift was commemorated by a plaque at the field.

Cal Eldred, who grew up in Urbana and attended Iowa for three years before being drafted by the Milwaukee Brewers in 1989, said, "My experience at Iowa helped shape me as a player and as a person. And Coach Banks has stayed involved in my life and has always been there for me. I couldn't be happier about making this gift for Hawkeye baseball. I hope others will consider helping out however they can."

UI offers the lowest undergraduate resident tuition in the Big Ten Conference

38 percent of UI students are from out of state

Five Iowa graduate programs rank number one in the nation, according to America's Best Graduate Schools, produced by U.S. News & World Report. In addition, the Iowa Writer's Workshop is ranked number one in the nation by U.S. News & World Report, Writer's Digest and Poets & Writers.

With over 30,000 students in a city of roughly 75,000, UI offers a different atmosphere than many other universities in the Big Ten or the Midwest.

Building on a rich tradition of excellence and innovation, the University of Iowa is educating more than 30,000 students annually, preparing them for success immediately following graduation, as well as continued achievements throughout their lives.

The University of Iowa offers more than 100 areas of undergraduate and graduate study, including seven professional degree programs, through its 11 colleges: the colleges of Liberal Arts and Sciences, Business, Dentistry, Education, Engineering, Law, Medicine, Nursing, Pharmacy and Public Health, and the Graduate College. The University also provides on-campus and distance learning opportunities through its division of Continuing Education.

Long recognized as one of the nation's leading centers for the arts, creative writing, space physics, hydraulics, basic health and science research, and communication studies, the University of Iowa is also developing new strengths in informatics, nanoscience, simulation technology, and other fields.

The University of Iowa has maintained its tradition as an innovator with its pioneering work in speech pathology, science and medicine. It's also known internationally for being home of one of the nation's largest public university owned hospitals.

Cultural Diversity at the University of Iowa

The University of Iowa has worked hard to assure that students of all races, creeds, and backgrounds are represented in the student body. In the past five years, Iowa has moved aggressively towards its goal of creating communities of African American, Hispanic/Latino (a), Asian American, and Native American students, and making the University a stimulating, welcoming place.

The Center for Diversity and Enrichment is a coordinated university-wide resource for creating and maintaining this campus diversity and providing opportunities for all University students interested in other cultures. Scholarships, fellowships, and support programs help to make this possible. International Programs brings together scholars from around the world and UI students looking to expand their perspectives by studying abroad or exploring global issues on campus.

The University of Iowa is listed among "America's Best Value Colleges" in the 2008 guidebook published by The Princeton Review. Iowa is cited for its "excellent academics, generous financial aid packages and low costs".

"The University of Iowa not only boasts a beautiful campus, it offers its students a broad range of academic programs, an abundance of social activities and a sense of belonging. With its combination of quality academics, mammoth resources, renowned specialty programs, and extensive research opportunities, this Midwest school is anything but featureless."

The Fiske Guide to Colleges

U.S. News & World Report, in its yearly rankings, has ranked the University of Iowa 26th among American public national universities for undergraduate education. Iowa ranks in the top 15% of some 161 public universities across the country.

In its 2009 rankings of America's Best Graduate Schools, U.S. News & World Report ranks five Iowa programs as best in the nation among public universities. Overall, UI has 23 graduate programs ranked in the top 10 nationally.

CONSIDER THE COMMUNITY

Some universities offer the large city atmosphere. Others offer the college town experience. The University of Iowa is uniquely situated to offer student athletes the very best of both of these different worlds.

Once the state capital, Iowa City is considered one of the truly great college towns in America. The city swells with excitement on game day when nearly 16,000 Hawkeye fans from across the state and Midwest converge on Carver-Hawkeye Arena to cheer the Hawkeyes to another victory.

Iowa City's downtown area is alive and thriving. Restaurants, shops and sidewalk cafes face onto pedestrian malls full of people watchers, street entertainers and food vendors.

Attractive in size and friendliness, Iowa City is big in the sense that it offers all the advantages and conveniences of much larger metropolitan areas like summer and permanent employment opportunities, live entertainment and concerts, fine dining and shopping, industry and commerce.

Iowa City is located in the heart of eastern Iowa, within easy driving distance of several major Midwestern cities including the state capital, Des Moines, as well as Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Minneapolis and Milwaukee.

Iowa City ranks as the top town in the Midwest in Midwest magazine's annual list of the "30 Best Towns in America."

"Iowa City is unlike any other place in the state, both because of its regional beauty and because of its independent, serendipitous spirit."

"There's nothing like feeling the crisp air as one tours the Big Ten campus, just as there's no other feeling like walking the shores along Lake MacBride, north of town. This is an ideal location for a weekend trip filled with sights, sounds, shopping and plenty of activities on any given weekend."

"If there is a star in Iowa, Iowa City is it."

“Move to Iowa City. Some of the happiest people in the world live in Iowa City.”

CHRISTOPHER KEYES

EDITOR | MIDWEST MAGAZINE | AUGUST, 2007

“Iowa City is one of the 10 most literate and enlightened towns in the nation. This city, set on the winding Iowa River, is a pocket of sophistication with the feel of small-town America. Locally run bookstores, ethnic restaurants, cafe`s with gallery space, and organic grocers line the brick streets, and summers are a whirl of jazz musicians, artists and food vendors.

IOWA CITY: THE BEST PLACE TO LIVE

Each year, The University of Iowa boasts a student population that includes young men and women from all 50 states and more than 100 foreign countries among its 30,000 students.

Diversity is also true among the student-athletes who come to Iowa City to play basketball. At Iowa, high school all-Americans from some of the nation’s biggest metropolitan areas work side-by-side with all-state picks from states in “America’s Heartland” and elsewhere to help keep the Hawkeyes among the nation’s best.

The record shows that Hawkeyes don’t just grow up in Iowa -- they come from virtually all parts of the country.

The State of Iowa ranks as the fifth best state to raise a family, according to a recent study released by the Children’s Rights Council, a Washington, D.C. based organization.

According to a recent study by Forbes Magazine, Iowa City ranks third among small cities on a national list of best places to do business and advance careers.

SPORTING NEWS RANKS IOWA AMONG TOP DIVISION I PROGRAMS

The University of Iowa annually earns high ratings in a major survey by The Sporting News, in which all U.S. colleges who participate in NCAA Division I sports in both football and men’s basketball are graded according to various standards, ranging from on-field to academic performance.

The magazine ranks over 100 universities, based on number of sports each school sponsors, their success rates, graduation rates for students in all sports and Title IX compliance. The ratings cover the last four years of graduating classes, and include GPAs and SAT scores for incoming freshmen.

The Sporting News recently ranked Iowa City as the best college football city in America. Iowa City is ranked among the top 50 cities overall among “Best Sport Cities” and ranked as the top sports community in the state.

Schools are also rated on such factors as fan support, attendance, merchandise sold and size of athletic budget. Graduation rates are used and points awarded for winning regular season and post-season championships.

“ESPN GameDay” the popular pre-game show which airs each Saturday during the college football season, made a recent stop in Iowa City, airing from the Iowa campus prior to a prime time football game in Iowa’s Kinnick Stadium.

OUTSIDE MAGAZINE RANKS UNIVERSITY OF IOWA AND IOWA CITY AMONG THE BEST IN THE NATION

Outside Magazine ranks the top 40 “Best College Towns” in the nation. Among those rankings, the University of Iowa and the Iowa City area earned a No. 10 ranking.

A CAMPUS ON THE MOVE

The University of Iowa campus caters to pedestrians and bicyclists; it's compact enough to cross in a 20-minute walk. A free ride on a campus bus can cut that time in half. Entertainment on campus and in Iowa City is geared toward student budgets, with many events offered at no charge.

Iowa City has more bookstores, coffee shops, restaurants, record shops, and movie theaters in its downtown area -- right next to campus -- than you'll find in cities many times its size.

Hancher Auditorium brings the world's finest musicians, dancers, actors, and entertainers to the University. It is part of the Iowa Center for the Arts, which includes the Museum of Art and cultural/educational programs in music, theatre, art and art history, dance, and literary arts.

The University of Iowa offers more than 400 student organizations, extensive recreation facilities, 50 fraternities and sororities, and a broad schedule of arts performances, lectures, cultural celebrations and club sports and intramural athletic contests to go along with the intercollegiate competition within the Big Ten Conference.

The University's MacBride Nature Recreation Area, located 15 miles from campus, offers hiking, cross-country skiing, sailing, and canoeing.

STUDENT-ORIENTED NIGHT LIFE

Iowa's campus is set right in the city's downtown area, where you'll find dance clubs, movies, coffeehouses, and restaurants to suit every taste. Live music can be found any night of the week in clubs and restaurants, even outside on warm evenings on the downtown pedestrian mall. Iowa City businesses are convenient and geared toward student tastes and needs.

In a recent release by a New York-based Internet company, Iowa City ranked ninth among college towns its size, based on cultural and economic vitality. The survey compared communities with four-year colleges that have a ratio of students to the general public that was 3-to-4 or lower.

"If Iowa City were a student, it would be class valedictorian. This heartland university town consistently scores top scores on countless lists: Forbes' `Best Small Places for Business and Careers`; Men's Journal's list of sexy, healthy and safe places to live; USA Today's `Best Educated Cities`; Utne Reader's `Most Enlightened Towns`; AARP's best college towns in which to retire; and the Milken Institute's best small metro economy. And the town's pride, the University of Iowa, scored tops on Kaplan's best value for your tuition dollar, noting its outstanding medical programs."

CONSIDER THE OPPORTUNITY FOR A QUALITY EDUCATION

A quality education is one of the highest priorities at the University of Iowa. Just over 90 percent of Johnson County residents have graduated from high school, and in Iowa City nearly half of all residents have earned bachelor's degrees. In fact, census statistics indicate Johnson County is the 10th "smartest" county in the nation, based on percentage of residents holding bachelor's degrees.

The University of Iowa represents a strong presence in the community while enhancing the quality of life in Iowa City.

Your aspiration may be a career in medicine, law or education. Regardless of the specific career field, it's important to identify the college baseball program that places a high priority on academics and allows you to take full advantage of the tremendous educational opportunities available.

At the University of Iowa, student-athletes learn quickly that academic success is the highest priority.

ATHLETICS AND ACADEMICS

At The University of Iowa, a strong relationship has been developed between athletics and academics, where basketball coaches and athletes work hand-in-hand with academic deans and professors, assuring the student-athlete the best possible opportunities to excel in the classroom and in athletics.

From the first visit for any prospective student-athlete, to the completion of their academic and athletic career at Iowa, academic personnel play a large role in the career of Hawkeye student-athletes. Beginning with the on-campus visits, student-athletes are introduced to professors in their selected field of study, and are able to establish a relationship and develop an understanding of the academic setting in which they will be involved.

THE RUSSELL AND ANN GERDIN ATHLETIC LEARNING CENTER

The University of Iowa Russell and Ann Gerdin Athletic Learning Center, opened in the fall of 2003, is the latest project to be added to Iowa's facilities. The Learning Center is a multi-level, 20,000-square foot facility, which provides one all-purpose area for the academic pursuits for Iowa's male and female student-athletes.

The Learning Center features an auditorium, two classrooms, study lounges for freshmen and upper-class student-athletes, a computer lab, a teaching lab, the athletic library, office space for Iowa's Academic Student Services staff and a display area to recognize the academic accomplishments of Iowa's student-athletes.

"The Gerdin Athletic Learning Center offers our student-athletes at the University of Iowa the most modern, state of the art academic facilities at their disposal. It is located in the heart of campus, right across from the Hillcrest dorm. When you combine our facilities with the outstanding leadership of our Academic Student Services staff our student-athletes are provided the direction and assistance needed to be very successful in their academic pursuits."

JACK DAHM
Head Baseball Coach

"The Gerdin Learning Center gives me the opportunity to be in a great studious atmosphere where I am able to get my academics achieved, along with opportunities to receive help with tutors or study groups. It is also great because you are involved with staff that cares, and also around student-athletes that understand the same schedule, practice, and time you spend here at the University of Iowa."

ZACH MCCOOL
Senior

When a student-athlete considers his future, he should consider prospects beyond baseball. He should consider where he wants to be five, ten, fifteen years from today, and the best course of action for getting there. Also, he should decide early on to commit to excellence in every challenge undertaken.

Without a doubt, the men and women listed here took time to consider their future and the ways to get there. These former University of Iowa undergraduates have gone on to become leaders in their chosen fields. They also pursued their academic studies as strongly as the Iowa Hawkeyes go after a loose ball or rebound.

THE HAWKEYE NICKNAME

The University of Iowa borrowed its athletic nickname from the state of Iowa many years ago. The name Hawkeye was originally the name of the hero in the fictional novel, The Last of the Mohicans, written by James Fenimore Cooper. Cooper had the Delaware Indians bestow the name on a white scout who lived with them.

In 1838, 12 years after the book was published, people in the territory of Iowa acquired the nickname, chiefly through the efforts of Judge David Rorer of Burlington and James Edwards of Fort Madison.

Edwards, editor of the Fort Madison Patriot, moved his paper to Burlington in 1843 and renamed it the Burlington Hawkeye. The two men continued their campaign to popularize the name, and territorial officials eventually gave it their formal approval.
Herky The Hawkeye

The Hawkeye nickname gained a tangible symbol in 1948 when a cartoon character, later to be named Herky the Hawkeye was hatched. The creator was Richard Spencer III, instructor of journalism at Iowa.

The impish Hawk was an immediate hit and acquired a name through a statewide contest staged by the athletic department. John Franklin, a Belle Plaine alumnus, was the man who suggested Herky.

Since his birth more than 45 years ago, Herky has symbolized Iowa athletics and epitomized University life. He even donned a military uniform during the Korean War and became the insignia of the 124th Fighter Squadron.

During the mid-1950s, Herky came to life at a football game as the Iowa mascot. Since that time, Herky has been a familiar figure at Iowa athletics events.

With three Big Ten series' remaining in the season, the Hawkeyes looked up in the conference standings. Undaunted, the Hawkeyes rose to the occasion and won seven of their last nine league games. Furthermore, Iowa won four of its final five three-game series', including sweeping Purdue in the final three games of the regular season to finish third in the Big Ten, its highest finish since 2005.

Iowa rode that momentum into the Big Ten Tournament a week later in Columbus, Ohio. The Black and Gold bounced Purdue from the six-team tournament with two victories over the Boilermakers and rallied from a seven-run deficit to stun second-seeded Michigan in the semifinals. Iowa reached the championship game for the first time since 1983. The Hawkeyes ultimately fell to the well-rested and top-seeded Minnesota team in the title game, but Coach Dahm was extremely proud of the way his team finished the season and played with confidence in the tournament.

"I was very proud of how our team battled all year," said Head Coach Jack Dahm. "It is easy to give in but our guys go after it. I told our guys that people were going to say we had a great month, I don't agree with that. This started in 2009 and with their commitment we were able to achieve the things we did this season."

"Being in the first championship game since 1983 is great," Dahm added. "It's a nice stepping stone. But we need to continue to work hard and get after things because we have a very, very bright future."

The Hawkeyes challenged themselves early in the season with a demanding non-conference schedule, playing elite teams. Dahm believes the challenging schedule helped prepare the Hawkeyes for success the final month. Iowa opened the season with three games in the Big Ten/Big East Challenge in Florida, followed by eight road games against nationally-ranked competition in hostile environments at No. 3 Texas and No. 25 Kansas.

Iowa finished the 2010 campaign with 30 victories and had three players earn individual conference recognition. Starting pitcher Jarred Hippen and centerfielder Kurtis Muller were named second team All-Big Ten and both were also named to the All-Big Ten Baseball Tournament team. Muller set the tournament record for most stolen bases (6). He also tied the individual tournament game record for most thefts (3) against Purdue. Third baseman Zach McCool was recognized on the All-Big Ten third team.

Hippen was dominant on the bump his sophomore campaign. The native of Rock Falls, Ill., led the team, with a 3.71 ERA in 15 starts. The southpaw threw a conference-best four complete league games. Hippen paced the starting staff with six victories, four of which came during Big Ten action.

Hippen was the ace of a deep and talented pitching staff. Nick Brown amassed five victories, while Matt Dermody collected three. Not only was Iowa's starting rotation solid, but its relievers helped preserve many victories throughout the season. Senior Zach Robertson, who was drafted by the Florida Marlins in the 30th round of the MLB Draft, notched eight wins and had one save. Robertson silenced the opposition in Big Ten play, boasting a team-low 2.45 ERA and registering a perfect 4-0 record out of the bullpen. Closer Kevin Lee slammed the door on opponents, amassing a school single-season record 13 saves, to go along with a perfect 2-0 mark.

Offensively, Iowa was led by the three Ms: Muller, McCool and second baseman Mike McQuillan. Rightfielder Ryan Durant and catcher Tyson Blaser also played major roles in the team's fortunes. Muller, Iowa's leadoff hitter, led the team in seven statistical categories: hitting (.381), stolen bases (30), walks (24), hit-by-pitch (9), triples (6), and on-base (.460) and slugging (.546) percentage. He set the Big Ten Tournament record for most stolen bases (6) and also tied the individual tournament game record for most thefts (3) against Purdue. Muller's strong performance his first three years garnered him attention by major league teams. The Cincinnati Reds selected Muller in the 22nd round of the MLB Draft.

After two years of being a utility player, McCool landed at third base in 2010 was a team leader. Hitting in the No. 2 hole, McCool batted .346, recorded 12 stolen bases and knocked in 36 RBI. The native of Manchester, Iowa, led the team in hitting during Big Ten play (.378) and was perfect in stolen base attempts (10-10). McQuillan started all but two games at second base for the Black and Gold, ranking third in hitting (.344) and second in RBI (39). Durant finished his collegiate career amassing a team-best 46 RBI. Blaser anchored the team behind the plate. A leader on-and-off the field, Blaser had a stellar junior season after missing a majority of his sophomore year due to injury. Blaser was a backstop for the Hawkeye pitching staff, limiting wild pitches and gunning down 13 base runners attempting to steal. With a bat in his hand, Blaser batted .298 and collected 12 RBI starting all 24 Big Ten contests.

Iowa finished 2010 winning 11 of its last 14 games and the future is bright for Iowa Hawkeye baseball. The Hawkeyes return a majority of its starters and welcome a number of talented newcomers. Iowa's nucleus returns, only needing to replace two outfield starters and a couple middle relievers.
