THE UNIVERSITY OF IOWA

ONE OF THE NATIONS VERY BEST

Iowa City, Iowa. It is the home for one of the nation's leading public universities, the University of Iowa.

It's also the home of one of the nation's most successful college basketball programs, the Iowa Hawkeyes.

Friends and fans of the University of Iowa basketball program support Hawkeye basketball because Iowa can boast of some of the most exciting, most successful, and most recognized teams in college basketball.

HERE IS A SAMPLING OF IOWA'S MOST RECENT SUCCESS:

Iowa basketball posted seven straight winning seasons between 2000-07, including 25 victories in 2006, second most in school history. Along with winning the 2006 Big Ten Conference Tournament, Iowa placed second during the regular season, just one game from first place.

The Hawkeyes won all 17 home games in 2006, posting the first-ever perfect record in Carver-Hawkeye Arena. Iowa has posted a 71-31 record in Carver-Hawkeye Arena over the past six seasons.

Iowa advanced to the NCAA Tournament in both 2005 and 2006.

Iowa has appeared in the NCAA Tournament 19 times over the past 33 years. The Hawkeyes have made three appearances in the NCAA Final Four and have advanced to the Sweet 16 three times since 1987.

The six winningest seasons in Iowa basketball history, 30 wins in 1987, 25 wins in 2006, 24 wins in 1988 and 23 wins in 1989, 1993, 1996 and 2001, are an indication of the past successes of Iowa basketball. With 20 or more wins in eight of the past 16 seasons, Hawkeye fans are confident of bigger and better things to come.

Leading the Hawkeye program is Coach Fran McCaffery, who guided his three former teams to championships and five NCAA Tournaments. He was tabbed the 2009 MAAC Coach of the year and 2010 NABC District I Coach of the Year. In 15 seasons as a college head coach, Fran McCaffery's teams have averaged 17 wins per year. While at Siena, the Saints averaged over 22 victories during his five-year tenure.

IOWA BASKETBALL: GREAT SUCCESS AND GREAT TRADITION

During the 2001-02 season, the University of Iowa celebrated 100 Years of Basketball. Iowa's basketball history includes 73 winning seasons, including 23 years in which the Hawkeyes have won 20 or more games.

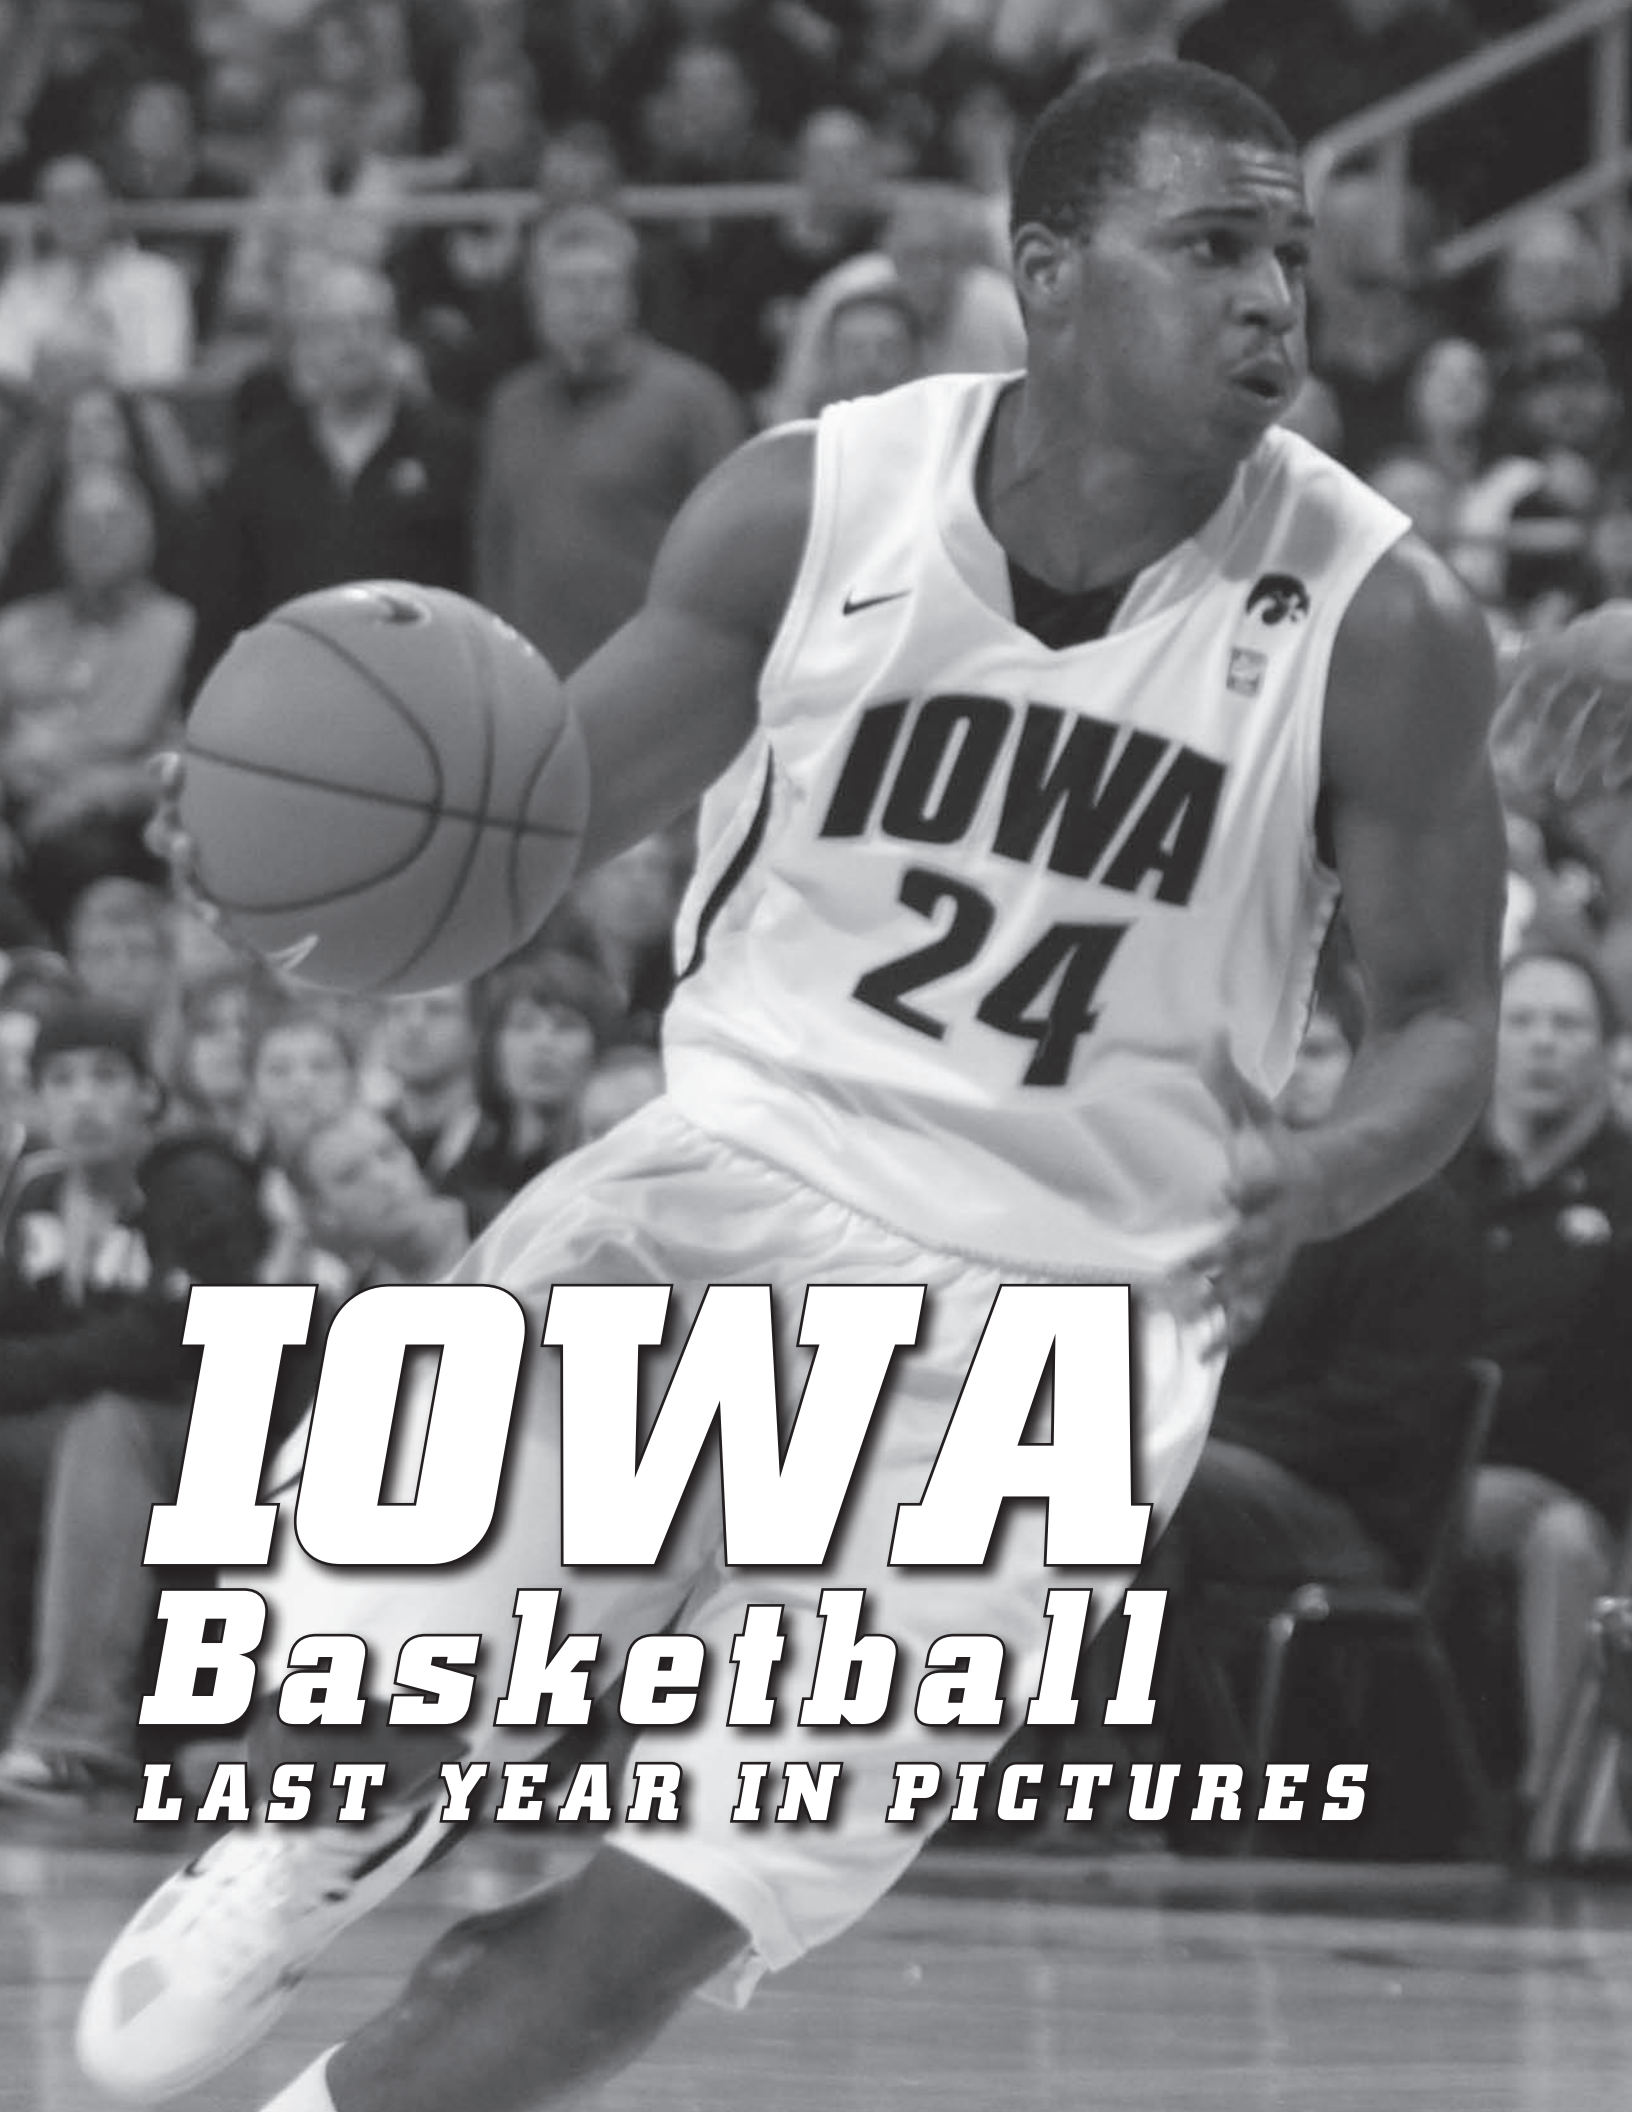

ESPN released its 2009 college basketball encyclopedia and inside it included its ESPN/Sagarin all-time rankings. The University of Iowa's success on the court garnered the program a ranking on No. 10 in the country!

Iowa basketball teams have advanced to the NCAA Tournament 22 times, advancing to the NCAA Final Four in 1955, 1956 and 1980. In fact, Iowa is one of just 40 Division I programs to advance to the NCAA Tournament on more than 20 occasions. In addition, Iowa has made five appearances in the NIT postseason tournament.

The start of the Iowa basketball program can be traced back to January 18, 1896. On that date, Iowa City was the site of the first college basketball game played with five players on a side. The historic event took place in Close Hall on the University of Iowa campus. In that first game, the University of Chicago defeated Iowa 15-12, with neither team using any substitutes.

From that first game in 1896, the Iowa basketball program has been recognized as one of the best in the nation. Street & Smith's magazine recently selected its "100 Greatest College Basketball Programs of All Time". In its special publication, the magazine recognized the Iowa program as No. 40 among over 300 Division I programs.

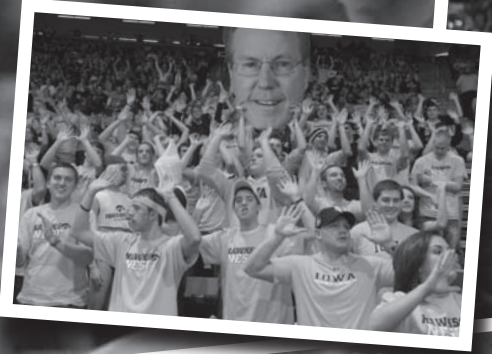

Carver-Hawkeye Arena, with a seating capacity of 15,500, is the home of Iowa basketball. The Hawkeyes annually rank among the national leaders in home attendance.

SALLY MASON

PRESIDENT, THE UNIVERSITY OF IOWA

Sally Mason became the 20th President of The University of Iowa on August 1, 2007. She holds a full professorship with tenure in the Department of Biology in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

In her first two years at the UI, President Mason has begun a sustainable university initiative, which makes sustainability a central priority of all aspects of the University enterprise—its operations, its academic mission, and its greater responsibilities to society. An unexpected priority for President Mason was the historic flooding of the UI campus and the greater community in 2008, and her leadership helped bring the campus community together to preserve as much of the University's resources as possible and rebuild essential facilities in time to open the campus for a full complement of fall semester courses. Currently, she is overseeing campus rebuilding, especially the renewal of an arts campus for the 21st century.

College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. In 1995, she was appointed Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, the largest academic unit on the University of Kansas campus. President Mason served as Provost of Purdue University from 2001-2007, where she was responsible for planning, managing, and reviewing all academic programs at Purdue's West Lafayette campus and four affiliated branch campuses throughout Indiana.

President Mason is the author of many scientific papers and has obtained a number of research grants from the National Science Foundation, the National Institutes of Health, the Wesley Research Foundation, and the Lilly Endowment. Her research interests have focused on the developmental biology, genetics, and biochemistry of pigment cells and pigments in the skin of vertebrates. She has served as President of both the PanAmerican Society for Pigment Cell Research and the Council of Colleges of Arts and Sciences, and she has served as Chair of the Advisory Committee to the National Science Foundation Directorate for Education and Human Resources (EHR) and the Executive Committee of the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges (NASULGC), now the Association of Public and Land-grant Universities (APLU), Chief Academic Officers Group. She also served on the Executive Committee of the Committee on Institutional Cooperation (CIC) from 2003-2007 and was appointed by the President of the United States to the National Medal of Science Selection Committee for two terms from 2006-2011. In 2008-2009, President Mason co-chaired the Task Force on National Energy Policy and Midwestern Competitiveness of the Chicago Council on Global Affairs. Its report, Embracing the Future: The Midwest and a New National Energy Policy, was published in June 2009 and had an immediate impact on the national debate over how climate change legislation will impact Midwestern economic competitiveness.

President Mason is married to Ken Mason, an educator and textbook author who teaches biological sciences at The University of Iowa.

The daughter of an immigrant family and the first child to attend college, President Mason received her B.A. in zoology from The University of Kentucky in 1972, her M.S. from Purdue University in 1974, and her Ph.D. in cellular, molecular, and developmental biology from The University of Arizona in 1978. She subsequently spent two years at Indiana University in Bloomington doing postdoctoral research before joining The University of Kansas in 1981. A strong advocate of undergraduate education, she received awards for outstanding undergraduate advising and teaching, and she was awarded a prestigious Kemper Teaching Fellowship. During her 21 years at Kansas, President Mason served as a full professor in the Department of Molecular Biosciences, Acting Chair of the Department of Physiology and Cell Biology, and Associate Dean in the

"Welcome to a new season of Iowa Hawkeye basketball! My husband Ken and I are enthusiastic fans, and we can't wait to cheer the Iowa Black and Gold on to victory in 2011-12.

We are thrilled that our basketball program is under the leadership and guidance of Fran McCaffery and his experienced staff. Coach McCaffery has more than three decades of successful collegiate coaching experience that includes a championship pedigree, and we are excited to watch him lead our superb young student-athletes. He already has built a solid foundation at Iowa and we are eager for him, and his staff, to guide the Hawkeyes back to championship contention and postseason prominence.

In academics, in athletics, and in community service, our men's basketball team represents the very best in intercollegiate athletics. We are proud of how our student-athletes' dedication and hard work in the classroom and on the court exemplify the UI spirit. Coach McCaffery likewise has an impeccable reputation for leading his team to excel in all ways, and I am confident that he will continue that commitment with the Hawkeyes.

The enthusiasm for great ambitions and new possibilities is all around us on campus. We remain one of the top men's basketball programs nationwide in attendance, and I expect that our loyal and passionate fans will be rewarded this year with a great season of basketball excitement.

As Iowa men's basketball strives for new levels of success, I will be there to support our fine student-athletes and coaches. I am proud to be a Hawkeye, and I hope you will join me for what promises to be another exciting season at Carver-Hawkeye Arena."

SALLY MASON
PRESIDENT
THE UNIVERSITY OF IOWA

GARY BARTA

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

Gary Barta is in his sixth year as director of athletics at the University of Iowa – and his 25th year in athletics administration – riding a wave of momentum. Cause for that energy is the fact the Hawkeyes enjoyed record-setting performances in the classroom and on the playing field, the completion of the second-largest construction project in the history of intercollegiate athletics at the UI, and the breaking of ground on a new indoor practice facility for the Hawkeye football program.

With respect to the UI academic momentum, Barta expects the graduation rates for student-athletes made public this fall to be among the highest ever achieved at the UI. Those numbers are also expected to compare favorably with the UI's Big Ten Conference and national peers in the high profile sports of football, and men's and women's basketball.

In May, the NCAA confirmed that all 24 of Iowa's teams exceeded the Academic Progress Rate (APR) benchmark for the third straight year and honored a school-record four UI teams – men's cross country, softball, men's tennis and women's tennis – that ranked in the top 10 percent of their sport, based on their most-recent multi-year APR.

Competitively, the UI set a school record with 510 points scored in the 2011 Learfield Directors' Cup. This success was driven in great measure by another successful season for the UI football team – which won a record third straight bowl game, 27-24, over Missouri in the Insight Bowl; a third-place finish at the NCAA championships by Iowa's wrestling program; a fourth straight appearance in the NCAA postseason by the women's basketball program; strong performances by the UI's men's and women's track and field teams; and a school-record 10th place finish at the national championship by the UI men's golf team.

The highlight of the UI's year in Big Ten Conference competition was the first league title in men's track and field in 44 years. Larry Wiczorek's squad climbed to the top of the podium by dominating the final day of competition on the UI's Cretzmeier Track.

In addition to the competitive success the Hawkeyes recorded in 2010-11, the UI also experienced tremendous success at the turnstiles. Iowa entered the 2010 home football season with all seven home games sold out.

Attendance at home games of first-year men's basketball coach Fran McCaffery soared 23 percent – the fifth-highest increase by percentage in the country and the largest by a team that did not advance to postseason play. Attendance at women's basketball games increased by almost 60 percent. Iowa ended the year ranked 13th – the program's highest finish in more than a decade.

As always, success at the gate provides Barta the financial resources to meet the mandate of Iowa's institutional leadership: Operate the intercollegiate athletics program with integrity, with a commitment to academic excellence, and without any support from tax dollars, i.e. be "self-sustaining."

Inherent in Barta's charge is to provide the more than 650 student-athletes who compete in the 24 intercollegiate athletics programs at the UI the best opportunity for success, including training and competition facilities that compare favorably or exceed those offered by peer institutions. The 2010-11 season marked the first for the men's and women's swimming and diving teams in the UI's $69 million Campus Recreation and Wellness Center.

In late summer 2011, the UI completed a $47 million revitalization of Carver-Hawkeye Arena. That project includes the construction of a practice facility for men's and women's basketball and volleyball, a 10,000-square-foot strength training and cardiovascular center, and an expansion to the Dan Gable Wrestling Complex, in addition to new locker room and support facilities for men's and women's basketball, wrestling and volleyball programs, and office space for the majority of Iowa administrative and coaching staffs.

The Carver project includes the installation of a statue of Gable at the facility's main entrance. That project will be completed in time for thousands of fans of the sport of wrestling to enjoy when the UI stages the 2012 USA Wrestling Olympic Team Trials in April 2012 – an event that represents not only the UI's commitment to its nationally-respected wrestling program, but Barta's desire to strike partnerships when success would be mutually beneficial.

The UI Department of Athletics will break ground on Phase I of a two-phase project for the UI football program in the fall of 2011. Phase I includes the construction of a new indoor practice facility; Phase II includes construction of all football operations areas including locker rooms, team meeting rooms, athletic medical training space, video operations, and coaches offices and meeting rooms. Funded entirely through private support, the project is an important next phase of the master facilities plan for Hawkeye football. It will be constructed adjacent to the Ron and Margaret Kenyon Outdoor Practice Facility and immediately west of Kinnick Stadium.

Barta's involvement in the UI campus community extends beyond intercollegiate athletics. He is a member of the President's Cabinet comprised of vice presidents and other campus leaders that provide counsel to UI President Sally Mason. That group was instrumental in the UI's response to record-setting flooding that besieged the campus and the Iowa City and Coralville community in June 2008.

Barta also represents the UI and the Hawkeyes at the conference and national level. During his first five years at the UI, he has participated in the creation and implementation of the Big Ten Network, the expansion of the Big Ten Conference and realignment of athletics conferences nationally, and the Big Ten's postseason bowl game agreements that were successfully implemented in 2010.

Nationally, Barta remains active in the Division IA Athletics Directors Association, the National Association of College Directors of Athletics, and currently serves on the NCAA Football Committee Board of Directors.

Barta often suggests to his staff that "Hope is not a strategy," which is why he is currently overseeing a comprehensive review of the strategic plan for the UI Athletics Department and has worked with the UI's leadership on a long-term financial plan.

Another favorite saying of his is, "Vision without resources is irrelevant." Over the course of his career he has been directly involved in raising hundreds of millions of dollars in support of intercollegiate athletics. This has remained a primary focus during his tenure at Iowa, where private support for the Hawkeyes continues to flourish despite a challenging economy.

In recent years, the department has received a long list of commitments to assist in capital projects and scholarship support, including gifts of $5 million each from long-time friends of the UI – Dale and Marilyn Howard, Bruce Rastetter and Richard O. Jacobson.

Under Barta's leadership – and thanks to a talented athletics development staff – the UI has seen year-over-year improvement in annual giving in spite of the difficult economic environment and has generated more than $20 million of philanthropic and corporate sponsorship support for the Carver-Hawkeye Arena project.

As the director of athletics at the University of Wyoming for three years, seven different UW coaches were named Mountain West Conference Coach of the Year. He also spearheaded a fund-raising effort that netted the Cowboy athletics program $11 million in private support and $11 million in matching state fund.

As the senior associate athletics director at the University of Washington, he directed the "Campaign for the Student-Athlete," was a participant in the design, construction and/or renovation of several UW athletics facilities, including Bank of America Arena and the Dempsey Indoor Practice Facility. In addition to almost doubling the amount of annual private support received by UW, Barta also managed the department's external relations division, a task that included corporate sponsorship and radio contracts.

His responsibilities at Washington expanded over time to include hiring of coaching and administrative staff and coordinating the schedule for the Huskies men's basketball program.

The roots of his development experience extend to his first two positions: director of athletics development and external relations at the University of Northern Iowa and director of development at his alma mater, North Dakota State University.

Barta earned a bachelor of science degree in mass communication and broadcast journalism from NDSU in 1987. He was an option quarterback for Bison football squads that won the Division II NCAA National Championship in 1983, 1985 and 1986.

Barta, and his wife, Connie, have a son, Luke (13) and a daughter, Madison (11). He was born Sept. 4, 1963, in Minneapolis.

FRAN MCCAFFERY

HEAD MEN'S BASKETBALL COACH

In his first year as the University of Iowa head men's basketball coach, Fran McCaffery brought enthusiasm and excitement back to the Hawkeye basketball program. After 15 seasons as a head coach, he has posted a record of 262-197 (.571).

Fans flocked to Mediacom Court at Carver-Hawkeye Arena in 2011 to watch the Hawkeyes; Iowa's attendance increased by 20 percent from the previous year. McCaffery guided Iowa to two victories over top-50 RPI teams, including sixth-ranked Purdue. Iowa had a number of near-misses, falling five times by three points, including two in overtime, and twice by five points. McCaffery coached newcomers Melsahn Basabe and Bryce Cartwright to All-Big Ten status.

McCaffery, who has nearly three decades of collegiate basketball coaching experience, was named the University of Iowa's 22nd head men's basketball coach on Monday, March 29, 2010. McCaffery, 51, came to Iowa after spending five successful seasons at Siena.

McCaffery's five years at Siena have been the best in its 70-year history. He led the Saints on an incredible run that ended with three straight Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference championships and NCAA Tournament appearances. In so doing, Siena became the only program in the country to win its regular season and postseason title 2008-2010.

McCaffery's Saints owned a 112-51 record in his five years with the program. After orchestrating the fifth greatest turnaround in Division I play his first year, McCaffery led Siena to a 20-win season and a MAAC Championship game appearance in his second. In 2007-08, Siena took its biggest step forward under his direction, earning the MAAC regular-season and tournament championship, as well as an NCAA Tournament first round win over Vanderbilt. In 2008-09, Siena repeated the feat, winning the regular-season title outright before capturing the tournament crown. The Saints went on to defeat Ohio State 74-72 in double overtime in one of the tournament's most exciting games.

In 2010, McCaffery led Siena to its fourth straight 20-win season, something never before achieved in program history. Siena ran away with the league title, clinching the No. 1 seed in the tournament on Feb. 8 with four conference games remaining. The Saints came from behind in each of their three MAAC Tournament games, culminating with a 72-65 overtime win against Fairfield in the MAAC Championship. Siena's bid for a third consecutive NCAA Tournament first round victory was ended by No. 4 seed Purdue in Spokane, Wash. Down 15 points with five minutes left, the Saints rallied to within three points with one minute remaining, but eventually fell 72-64. For his efforts, he was named the NABC District I Coach of the Year.

The 2009 MAAC Coach of the Year is the third winningest coach, by percentage, in league history (68-22, .756). He is the only coach to guide a MAAC program to two NCAA Tournament wins.

In 2008, McCaffery became just the 31st coach (15th active) to take three different programs to the "Big Dance", and he is the first to do so with three programs from one-bid leagues (conference's that sent just one team the year his program advanced). He also boasts a 100% graduation rate among student-athletes he has recruited who have exhausted their eligibility during his tenure.

In 2008-09, the Siena program enjoyed unprecedented success. McCaffery challenged the Saints with the most difficult schedule in program history and Siena responded by equaling a program-record with 27 wins. For the second straight year, the Saints captured the hearts of college basketball fans across the country by advancing to the second round of the NCAA Tournament with a breathtaking 74-72 double-overtime win over Ohio State in Dayton, Ohio. In the second round, Siena nearly scored an upset of epic proportions, leading top overall seed Louisville late in the second half. Siena became a household name as the team performed against the country's elite under the spotlight of 10 nationally televised games. Siena claimed its second straight MAAC Tournament title and finished the season ranked 28th in the ESPN/USA Today Coaches Poll and 19th in the final RPI. The Saints received votes in the Associated Press top-25 poll eight times and in the ESPN/USA Today Coaches' poll six times during the season.

The 2007-08 season will also go down as one of the most memorable in Siena basketball history. The regular-season featured a home win over No. 20 Stanford, a third straight victory over cross-town rival Albany before over 13,000 fans in the annual Albany Cup and a BracketBusters Saturday win at WAC Champion Boise State. The Saints also rallied to earn a share of the MAAC regular-season title and the No. 1 seed in the MAAC Tournament with late season wins at contenders Rider and Marist, as well as a Senior Day home victory over Niagara. But it was Siena's postseason run that would turn the season into a breakthrough year.

After rallying from 17 points down in a semifinal win over Loyola, Siena pounded Rider in the MAAC title game on its home floor to earn the MAAC's automatic bid. Less than two weeks later, McCaffery put together the perfect game plan and Siena led from start to finish in an 83-62 victory over Vanderbilt. Many considered the victory the greatest in school history, challenged at the time only by the program's 1989 upset of Stanford in the NCAA first round. Despite a second round loss to Villanova, McCaffery and the Saints had made a statement the college basketball world could not ignore: Siena Basketball had arrived.

McCaffery inherited a depleted Siena team that was picked last in the 10-team MAAC in 2005-2006. Instead, the Saints finished conference play in fourth place, earning a bye to the quarterfinals of the MAAC Tournament.

Siena showed steady improvement under McCaffery's tutelage in 2006-2007, posting a 20-12 overall record and tying for third place in the MAAC with a 12-6 finish. McCaffery's Saints were the highest scoring team in the league, and they peaked at the right time, winning seven of their last eight regular-season games and advancing to play for the league championship with a semifinal upset of top-seed Marist.

McCaffery orchestrated the turnaround with stellar recruiting and bold vision. His first recruit - senior Kenny Hasbrouck - graduated as the most important player in program history. He was named MAAC Rookie of the Year as a freshman, MAAC second team and all-Tournament team as a sophomore, collegeinsider.com Mid Major Player of the Year, MAAC first team and MAAC Tournament MVP as a junior and MAAC Player of the Year, MAAC Tournament MVP, NABC All-District and MAAC first team as a senior. He signed an NBA contract with the Miami Heat after a successful stint with the Rio Grande Valley Vipers of the NBA Development League.

His second class (first full class) is widely regarded as the best in program history. Edwin Ubiles, Alex Franklin and Ronald Moore finished their four-year careers with a 97-38 (.719) overall record, three MAAC Championships in four title game appearances, three straight NCAA Tournament appearances and two NCAA Tournament First Round victories. Ubiles is a two-time MAAC first team, NABC All District first team and MAAC Tournament team selection and the 2007 MAAC co-Rookie of the Year. Alex Franklin, a two-time NABC All District selection, earned 2008 and 2009 MAAC second team and MAAC Tournament team honors. He won the 2010 MAAC Player of the Year award (Siena's second straight) and the 2010 MAAC Tournament MVP. Ronald Moore, the pulse of the team, earned 2009 MAAC second team and 2010 MAAC first team honors as well as a spot on the 2010 MAAC Tournament team. He became the MAAC's all-time assists leader in the 2010 MAAC Championship game, surpassing Marist's Jared Jordan (813).

In total, four Saints were named to either the first or second All-MAAC team in 2009, newcomer Kyle Downey was an All-Rookie selection and Clarence Jackson was named MAAC Sixth Man of the Year.

McCaffery was introduced as Siena's 14th head men's basketball coach on April 1, 2005. For over 20 years, he has enjoyed great success coaching Division I basketball and developing student-athletes on and off the court. McCaffery has recruited and coached several players who have gone on to play basketball professionally, some at the highest level.

McCaffery took over at Siena from UNC-Greensboro, where he posted a 90-87 record in six seasons. In his first year at the helm, Greensboro compiled a 15-13 record overall and a 9-7 Southern Conference mark, good for third place in the North Division. It was the 18th-most improved record nationally among NCAA Division I teams.

In McCaffery's second season, he guided the Spartans to unprecedented heights with a 19-12 record and the 2001 SoCon Tournament Championship. The Spartans defeated Chattanooga, 67-66, in the finals and received the SoCon's automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament. The following year (2001-2002) McCaffery led the Spartans to their first 20-win season since joining the conference. It marked the first time the program claimed a share of the SoCon North Division title as well. After falling to eventual tournament champion Davidson in the conference tournament semifinals, the Spartans were awarded a berth into the 2002 NIT, where they lost to eventual champion Memphis.

In his final year in Greensboro, McCaffery brought the Spartans to the brink of the NCAA Tournament before a SoCon Championship game loss to Chattanooga. He led UNCG to a victory over Davidson in the semifinals, defeating a team that had been 16-0 in conference play. A big part of that success was SoCon Freshman of the Year Kyle Hines. Hines set UNCG and SoCon records for blocked shots, and also broke several other UNCG single-game and freshman single-season marks.

McCaffery spent the 11 years prior to his arrival at Greensboro at the University of Notre Dame as an assistant coach and recruiting coordinator, working on the staffs of Richard "Digger" Phelps and John MacLeod.

Among the players he recruited to play for Notre Dame were Pat Garrity, CoSIDA Academic All-American of the Year in 1998, and Troy Murphy, the Big East Player of the Year in 2000 and an eventual first-round NBA draft pick. Garrity was also a first-round NBA draft pick and the Big East Player of the Year in 1997. In addition to Murphy and Garrity, McCaffery was involved in recruiting NBA First Round picks LaPhonso Ellis (1992 Draft, #5 Denver), Monty Williams (1994 Draft, #24 New York) and Ryan Humphrey (2002 Draft, #19-Utah Jazz).

He helped the Irish to NCAA Tournament appearances in 1989 and 1990. Notre Dame reached the NIT finals in 1992, losing to Virginia in overtime, and advanced to the quarterfinals of the event in 1997.

At 26, McCaffery was the nation's youngest Division I head coach when he was hired Sept. 11, 1985, at Lehigh. McCaffery capped his three-year tenure with the Engineers with a 21-win season and an NCAA berth in 1988.

In three seasons as head coach at Lehigh, he compiled a 49-39 overall record and guided the team to the NCAA Tournament in 1988. At the time he was the youngest head coach to reach the NCAA Tournament. His Lehigh teams had two winning seasons in three years and the 1987-88 squad's 21-10 record remains the best in program history. Lehigh had just four winning seasons in the 55 years prior to his arrival.

McCaffery was assistant coach and recruiting coordinator at Lehigh from 1983-85 and helped the team to its first NCAA Tournament appearance in 1985. As recruiting coordinator, he helped sign Darren Queenan '88, who remains Lehigh's all-time leading scorer. Queenan was second in the nation in scoring in 1988, and went on to play in the USBL.

McCaffery was assistant varsity coach and head sub-varsity coach at his alma mater, Pennsylvania, during the 1982-83 season. At Penn, he worked for Craig Littlepage, who is now the director of athletics at the University of Virginia.

McCaffery lettered three years as point guard on the men's basketball team at Pennsylvania as one of the first transfers to play for the Quakers. He earned a bachelor of science degree from The Wharton School of Finance and Commerce in 1982. In 1985 he received his master's degree in education from Lehigh.

In three seasons as a player he helped lead Penn to a pair of NCAA Tournament appearances and Ivy League titles and one berth in the NIT. As a senior in 1981-82 he led the Ivy League in steals and assists and was voted the team's most inspirational player.

Recruited as the successor at point guard to Skip Brown at Wake Forest, McCaffery played one season at Wake Forest, 1977-78, helping the Demon Deacons to a 19-10 record. Nicknamed "White Magic," he started 11 of 28 games as coach Carl Tacy's team finished runner-up in the ACC Tournament to eventual NCAA runner-up Duke. Wake defeated North Carolina twice in three meetings and won five of the eight games it played at the Greensboro Coliseum.

McCaffery, a Philadelphia native who attended LaSalle High School, and his wife Margaret have four children: sons, Connor, Patrick and Jonathan and a daughter, Marit. The McCaffery's have been actively involved in Coaches vs. Cancer and American Cancer Society's Relay For Life.

WHAT OTHERS ARE SAYING ABOUT IOWA COACH FRAN McCAFFERY:

*"We are thrilled to have Fran McCaffery lead our men's basketball program. From the first day I met Coach McCaffery he said, 'I want to be the coach at Iowa.' "Coach McCaffery adds a different flavor and is good for the Big Ten Conference. This is going to be a very attractive program for highly skilled players. He comes in with a system that advocates putting the biscuit in the basket, putting points on the board. That's going to be fun. There's no doubt in my mind that when Fran gets this thing going, Iowa City is going to be on fire. He's going to get players, not just because of his system but because he can coach. They're going to score in the 90s, or the high 80s."

GUS JOHNSON
College Basketball Analyst, CBS and BTN

"Coach McCaffery did one of the best coaching jobs in the Big Ten this season (2011)."

If Iowa fans give Fran a little time, he'll get the Hawkeyes back to the NCAA Tournament on a yearly basis."*

*"Fran is a tireless worker, who is going to go out and grind, and that's someone Iowa needed. He won't be afraid to say, 'Hey, this guy is a top-10 recruit and we're going after him because we're Iowa.' I think that's the way it should be. I want the program to be at the level where I chose Iowa over Notre Dame, Kentucky, Michigan and Michigan State. I believe Fran is going to go out and do the work that he's always done. ASSISTANT
COACH

MCCAFFERY ON FRANCIS

*"I think the greatest example of what someone thinks of another coach is when he has a chance at hiring him a second time. Andrew was the first hire I made when I came to Iowa. That speaks what I think of him as a person before even getting into his coaching background. He is the total package. Andrew is going to be a tremendous head coach when he gets his opportunity because he really knows the game, is a relentless recruiter, and relates very well prospects and their parents. His relationship is genuine with the student-athletes and recruits he ultimately coaches. Andrew also understands all the peripheral parts of coaching. # CARVER-HAWKEYE

"Carver-Hawkeye Arena is one of the best collegiate basketball arenas and after its $47 million facelift next season, it will be one of the finest overall facilities in the country. The way the arena is structured, it gives us a definite home-court advantage. Fans are actively involved in the game from the first to last row, making it intimidating for the visiting team. Carver-Hawkeye Arena provides a remarkable game atmosphere, which is a credit to our exceptional fan support."

FRAN McCAFFERY
Head Basketball Coach
The University of Iowa

When Sports Illustrated magazine surveyed sports fans in the state of Iowa as part of its 50th anniversary, Carver-Hawkeye Arena was named as the "Hot Spot" for sporting events in the state.

Carver-Hawkeye Arena, one of the 25 largest university-owned facilities in the nation, serves as Iowa's home basketball arena. Opened in January of 1983, the building seats 15,500 for basketball. A $47 million addition and renovation project, has just been completed this past September, which will enhance what is arguably one of the top college basketball facilities in the nation. The renovation includes:

A new practice complex

A state-of-the-art, 10,000-square foot strength and conditioning center

Renovation and expansion of the Dan Gable Wrestling Complex

New locker rooms for men's and women's basketball, wrestling and volleyball

Capacity crowds have been the rule rather than the exception at Mediacom Court at Carver-Hawkeye Arena. Over six million basketball fans have viewed games in Carver-Hawkeye Arena the past 28-and-a-half seasons. On Feb. 14, 2009, Iowa hosted Purdue and the 14,665 fans in attendance helped the Black and Gold top the six million mark in Carver-Hawkeye Arena history. Iowa played 60 consecutive home games in front of sellout crowds and more recently had a streak of 41 consecutive sell outs for regular season games. The single-game record of 15,570 was set against Indiana in 1987.

Iowa has posted a 71-31 record on Mediacom Court at Carver-Hawkeye Arena over the past six seasons. The Hawkeyes posted a perfect 17-0 mark in 2005-06, the first undefeated home season ever in Carver-Hawkeye Arena and the first perfect home season since 1966.

The Hawkeyes have won 75 percent (348-111) of their home games since the building opened. Iowa had a 15-game home court winning streak in 1986-87 and won 43 straight non-conference home games prior to a 79-76 loss to NCAA runner-up Duke during the 1994 season. Iowa is a staggering 184-25 (.880) in non-conference games on Mediacom Court at Carver-Hawkeye Arena, including a perfect 8-0 three seasons ago.

The Hawkeyes are 52-13 (.800) in non-conference home games over the past eight seasons.

The multi-purpose facility also serves as home to Hawkeye wrestling, gymnastics and volleyball and has been the site of numerous concerts, commencements, sports camps and other events.

Fans enjoy an unobstructed view from each of the theatre seats. The building won a design award from the American Institute of Architects in 1984.

In a poll of 70 members of the media, conducted by the Lafayette, IN, Courier Journal, Carver-Hawkeye Arena was voted as the top arena in the Big Ten. The Iowa pep band and the media section in Carver-Hawkeye were also voted best in the league.

Named for the late Roy Carver, a long-time supporter of the University, the building has 20,000 square feet of floor space when the lower level seats are retracted. The 42 rows of seating are divided in 28 lettered sections. A 100-seat press section for print and radio media is located in sections BB-CC.

Connected to the Arena is an athletic office building, which is four levels high and occupies over 60,000 square feet. Athletic department coaches and administrators have offices in the building. The administrative portion of Carver-Hawkeye Arena will be remodeled and expanded in the current renovation project.

The arena features six locker rooms, including the permanent men's basketball locker room, along with fully-equipped weight training and athletic training facilities. Within the last four years, the Hospitality Room has been remodeled, allowing for the men's basketball team to have training table meals in the arena, just down the hall from the locker room.

HAWKEYE ARENA

Carver-Hawkeye Arena is constantly being improved. The renovation project includes improved concourse space and additional rest rooms, premium seating opportunities with expanded hospitality and entertainment areas and a new, high-speed patron elevator.

New scoreboards and video walls were installed prior to the 2006-07 season. The new state-of-the-art equipment features two video walls with live action and instant replay capabilities. The video walls on each side of the arena measure 80 feet in length and feature 288 x 512 LED Matrix display areas. The scoreboards at each end of the court are 48 feet in length and feature a 256 x 72 Led Matrix display area, along with the usual scoreboard display areas for scores, time remaining and team and individual statistics.

The Arena cost $18,402,962 to build and was completed in three years. It was financed from private contributions from Iowa athletic department supporters. The first event (Jan. 3) in the Arena was a 1983 wrestling dual vs. Oklahoma (a 35-7 Iowa victory). The initial basketball game was a 61-59 loss to Michigan State on Jan. 5, 1983.

Carver-Hawkeye Arena has hosted the Big Ten and NCAA wrestling championships and Big Ten and NCAA regional and national gymnastics championships. The 1984 U.S. Olympic wrestling trials were held in Carver-Hawkeye and the 1984 U.S. Olympic basketball team also played an exhibition contest in the facility. The National Duals wrestling tournament was held in Carver-Hawkeye in 1998 and 1999. Iowa hosted the 1995 NCAA wrestling championships, in which the Hawkeyes won the national crown while setting tournament attendance records, and the 2001 NCAA finals. Coming in April 2012, Carver-Hawkeye Arena will host the U.S. Olympic Wrestling Trials.

Two years ago, all eyes were on Iowa City and Carver-Hawkeye Arena as the Iowa-Iowa State wrestling match attracted a national-record 15,955 fans. Iowa won the meet 20-15.

After selecting his top five home basketball facilities in the nation for his book on the Top 100 Division I Basketball Arenas, Bill Kintner, a.k.a. CigarBoy, selected Iowa's Carver-Hawkeye Arena as one of four facilities to earn Honorable Mention recognition.

"This place is deafening. I think this is the loudest building in college basketball. I have never heard the sound level like it is in here."

MIKE PATRICK
ESPN

"Carver-Hawkeye Arena is one of the most attractive sites in college basketball. Constantly filled to capacity, the atmosphere can be as taxing for visiting squads as any place in America."

MIKE SHERIDAN
Basketball Times

"I was swept away by Carver-Hawkeye Arena in Iowa City. Bright lights, lots of people. When the lights go down and the announcer starts in, it's big time college basketball in that huge hole in the ground."

All those people, some 15,500 in all, seem to be right on top of the action."

DICK JOHNSON

"To me the key to this basketball game today was the Iowa fans. They stayed with their team; they really picked their team up when it needed it. It's a tremendous thing to watch, fans staying with their team."

RENOVATION

In September 2011, the University of Iowa completed a $47 million revitalization of Carver-Hawkeye Arena. That project includes the construction of a practice facility for men's and women's basketball and volleyball, a 10,000-square-foot strength training and cardiovascular center, and an expansion to the Dan Gable Wrestling Complex, in addition to new locker room and support facilities for men's and women's basketball, wrestling and volleyball programs, and office space for the majority of Iowa administrative and coaching staffs.

Carver-Hawkeye Arena's four-story, 75,000-square foot addition has been named the Dale and Marilyn Howard Family Pavilion, named after the Howard's gave a multi-million dollar contribution to the athletic department.

"The Howard's have done so much for our program and the UI Athletics Department," said Iowa head coach Fran McCaffery. "Their generosity has helped pave the way for this beautiful state-of-the-art facility that our program desperately needed. Everything from the offices, locker room, practice gym to the weight room, is first class. We are extremely thankful for the Howard's contribution and are so proud to name the new addition after Dale and Marilyn Howard."

Matt Gatens is entering his final season with the Hawkeyes and is ecstatic for the new additions and amenities to Carver-Hawkeye Arena.

"The new facilities are first class," said Gatens. "After two years of construction, it's good to finally be able to use the facility in our training efforts. It's nice to be able to have a practice gym where we can come over and get extra shots up at our leisure. It's great to be a Hawkeye!"

The addition of the practice facility eliminates the need to have student-athletes in the sports of men's basketball, women's basketball and volleyball practice and train at unusual or irregular times of day or at times which are typically reserved for classes. The flexibility created by the practice space also positively impacts the potential for use of the arena for other University and community-related events such as concerts.

The revitalization of the arena also extends into spaces used by the general public on game days and nights, including renovation of select concessions and restroom facilities, and the creation of hospitality and meeting spaces combined with club facilities for fans of the Hawkeyes who choose to participate in a variety of premium seating options similar to that which are available in the Paul W. Brechler Press Box at Kinnick Stadium.

THEYE ARENA

"Today, more than 25 years after its construction, Carver-Hawkeye Arena remains a great facility for spectators. However, in order to remain competitive, some of the public spaces and many of the training and competition spaces needed significant updating and enhancement."

CARVER-HAWKEYE ARENA – A SHOWCASE FOR IOWA BASKETBALL

IOWA'S FACILITIES

Facilities play an important role in helping today's student-athlete enjoy his collegiate experience and develop his potential to its fullest. The facilities available to the members of the Iowa basketball program at The University of Iowa compare very favorably with the nation's finest and, in many cases, set the standard of excellence by which others are measured. Iowa's current $47 million renovation of Carver-Hawkeye Arena has enhanced Iowa's basketball facilities in every way.

Carver-Hawkeye Arena - A Showcase For Iowa Basketball

In January 1983, the Hawkeyes played their first game in $18 million Carver-Hawkeye Arena, located on the western edge of The University of Iowa campus. The 15,500-seat, oval-shaped arena is one of the finest facilities for basketball in the world and is one of the 25 largest university-owned arenas in America.

Iowa's Carver-Hawkeye Arena has a seating capacity of 15,500 and Iowa basketball annually ranks among the national leaders in home attendance. The "Hawks Nest" student section plays an active role in supporting Hawkeye basketball in Carver-Hawkeye Arena.

As beautiful as Carver-Hawkeye Arena is, the Iowa basketball program is constantly looking to improve the facility. Take, for example, Iowa's basketball locker room and lounge. Furnished with large, wooden lockers for each player's personal and game use, the Iowa locker room was expanded and remodeled with the new renovation project, allowing more room for all players.

The players lounge features plush carpeting, a high-quality sound system and two large flat screen televisions, helping make the Iowa locker room the envy of most collegiate basketball programs. And, Iowa's parquet playing floor gives the Iowa basketball program a Boston Celtics look.

In a survey of Division I men's basketball coaches, conducted by Sporting News, the locker room facilities in Iowa's Carver-Hawkeye Arena earned the highest percentage of votes in the "Best Locker rooms" category.

The locker area features large individual lockers for all Hawkeye players. The locker area in the Iowa locker room was expanded in the fall of 2011, with each player being provided an expanded area. The area now features all brand new lockers for each student-athlete.

(Below) Iowa's basketball locker room was completely remodeled as part of the new renovation project that was completed in the fall of 2011. New spacious lockers, a new players lounge that provides the student-athletes an opportunity to relax before and after workouts and games and a new spacious theater room.

"All you have to do is bring kids into this arena and if they can't get turned on by the beauty of the arena and the excitement of Big Ten basketball, then there is something wrong."

DICK VITALE
ESPN and ABC Sports

Not only is Carver-Hawkeye Arena superb for the players, but it's also an outstanding facility for the thousands of fans who cheer the Hawkeyes to victory each game night. Spectators have an unobstructed view of the playing floor and the lighting and sound systems are among the finest in the country.

In addition, new scoreboards and video boards were installed prior to the 2006-07 season, adding more color and excitement to each home game in Carver-Hawkeye Arena. A new playing surface was installed prior to the 2000-01 season. The current renovation project will include improved concourse areas and additional rest rooms, along with premium seating and expanded hospitality and entertainment areas.

The Iowa basketball program has won numerous regular season Big Ten titles and has participated in the Final Four three times. The Hawkeyes won the Big Ten Conference Tournament in both 2001 and 2006 and have had several former players compete in the NBA.

"The Iowa locker room is fabulous, it's better than the New York Knicks' at Madison Square Garden."

SECRET SERVICE AGENT
Following President Bill Clinton's visit to Iowa City

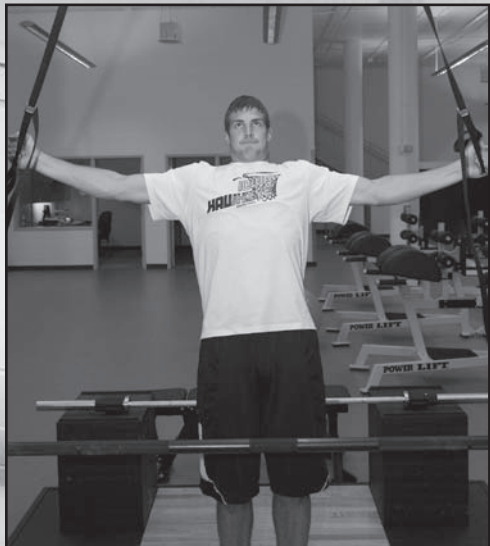

Iowa's new practice gym is state-of-the-art with all the amenities a collegiate basketball student-athlete needs. The new facility was completed in the fall of 2011.

"The new practice facility is great! It's a tremendous asset to be able to practice and get shots up in our free time in a gym that is as nice as this. We are extremely thankful to those who helped make this facility a reality."

WE HAVE FOUR GOALS IN OUR STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING PROGRAM

INCREASE ATHLETIC PERFORMANCE

Improve your game

- Your acceleration and speed up and down the court
- Your range of shots and passes

Explosiveness

- In particular your vertical jump and speed and your ability to reproduce them over and over.

DECREASE RATE OF INJURY

- You can significantly reduce your risk of joint and tendon injuries with a properly designed strength and conditioning program.
- You can increase efficiency and recovery.

INCREASE SELF CONFIDENCE

- Our players should feel as though you have prepared thoroughly and can play at a high level through the season.

IMPROVE MENTAL TOUGHNESS

- You have to go through tough things to be tough. Challenge the body and mind to get out of its comfort zone.
- Being mentally tough is not getting too high or too low.
- Perform at high level consistently.

STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

We work very hard on our strength and conditioning as University of Iowa basketball players. We believe that the more explosive the player, the more aggressively he will play for you. Explosively conditioned basketball players tend to attack the basket more, rebound more, play tougher on defense and have more stamina in the last minutes of the game. Another key component that complements our explosiveness is paying strict attention to our movement patterns, flexibility, and recovery methods. These three things allow us to take care of our bodies to the fullest and allow us to come back day after day and consistently be an explosive, attacking player.

CARVER-HAWKEYE ARENA STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING FACILITY

The new Carver Hawkeye Arena strength and conditioning facility is located on the ground floor beneath the new basketball practice gym and has 10,000 square feet of functional space. The room includes 14 combination rack/platform stations made by PowerLift. Other features include: customized bumper plates and dumbbells with tiger hawk logo, Eleiko Olympic lifting barbells and seven power rack stations for specialized strength work. Another feature is a 45-yard turf area for warm-up and speed/agility/plyometric sessions. Specialized equipment such as safety squat machines and unloaded treadmills have been added to help the injured athlete return to competition sooner. Another benefit for Hawkeye student-athletes will be a cardiovascular area consisting of Keiser bikes, Woodway treadmills, and Versa Climbers.

Strength Coach Rusty Burney works with the Iowa men's basketball team. Carver-Hawkeye Arena opened a new state-of-the-art 10,000-square foot strength and conditioning center in September 2011.

Rusty Burney, a Pella, Iowa native, was named an assistant strength and conditioning coach in February 2009. He designs individualized and sport specific strength and conditioning programs for men's basketball, track and field, and baseball. Burney came to the University of Iowa from Colgate University, where he served as the Head Strength and Conditioning Coach since June 2005. Burney was responsible for the strength and conditioning of 23 Division I athletic teams. While at Colgate, Burney trained six football All-Americans and numerous NHL Draft picks and professional hockey players. Colgate football won the 2005 and 2008 Patriot League titles and the 2005-06 ECAC Hockey League title. Burney also designed student-athlete competitions for the Lift for Life event to raise money for the Uplifting Athletes organization to benefit rare diseases. Prior to Colgate, Burney was on staff at the University of Tulsa where he served as assistant coordinator of strength and conditioning since 2001. At Tulsa, he was part of the 2001-02 and 02-03 WAC Men's Basketball Champion teams as well as the 2002 Tulsa football team that saw Division IA's biggest turnaround in wins from the previous season. Burney has also served as a graduate assistant strength coach at the University of Arkansas and an intern at Brigham Young University.

Burney is a 1997 graduate of Central College in Iowa, where he completed a bachelor's degree in physical education.

He holds CPR, CSCS, SCCC and USAW Level I Club Coach certifications.

UNIVERSITY OF IOWA HEALTH CARE

FOR MORE THAN 160 YEARS, UNIVERSITY OF IOWA HEALTH CARE PARTNERS HAVE PIONEERED AN IMPRESSIVE ARRAY OF MEDICAL ACHIEVEMENTS.

There are big changes underway directly east of Kinnick Stadium just on the other side of Hawkins Drive. Construction of a new University of Iowa Children's Hospital began in the summer of 2011, and will be designed and built as a healing environment that improves the health and well-being of children and their families across Iowa and beyond.

University of Iowa Children's Hospital ranks among the top children's hospitals in the country, according to U.S. News & World Report's 2011-2012 edition of "Best Children's Hospitals." UI Children's Hospital also achieved the distinction of being ranked in all ten specialties, including the areas of orthopedics (24); nephrology (28); pulmonology (29); neonatology (31); cardiology and heart surgery (32); urology (35); gastroenterology (37); cancer (43); neurology and neurosurgery (46) and diabetes and endocrinology (48).

University of Iowa Athletics and UI Children's Hospital have a longstanding relationship. One example is the tradition of Hawkeye student-athletes, both past and present, who frequently visit patients at the children's hospital, often forming lasting relationships with children and their families.

Pediatric services are just one of the many examples of the myriad benefits that Iowans and others receive from the world-class health sciences expertise available from the University of Iowa's integrated academic medical center, University of Iowa Health Care, a partnership that includes:

- University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics, one of the nation's top-ranked teaching hospitals
- University of Iowa Roy J. and Lucille A. Carver College of Medicine, an internationally recognized medical school
- University of Iowa Physicians and its network of outreach services to Iowans across the state

For more than 160 years, University of Iowa Health Care partners have pioneered an impressive array of medical achievements. Researchers in the UI Carver College of Medicine led breakthroughs in areas such as blood banking and buffered aspirin. That legacy of bold innovation continues today through efforts such as the use of cochlear implants that help the deaf to hear and cancer treatments that supercharge the patient's own immune system to more aggressively attack tumor cells.

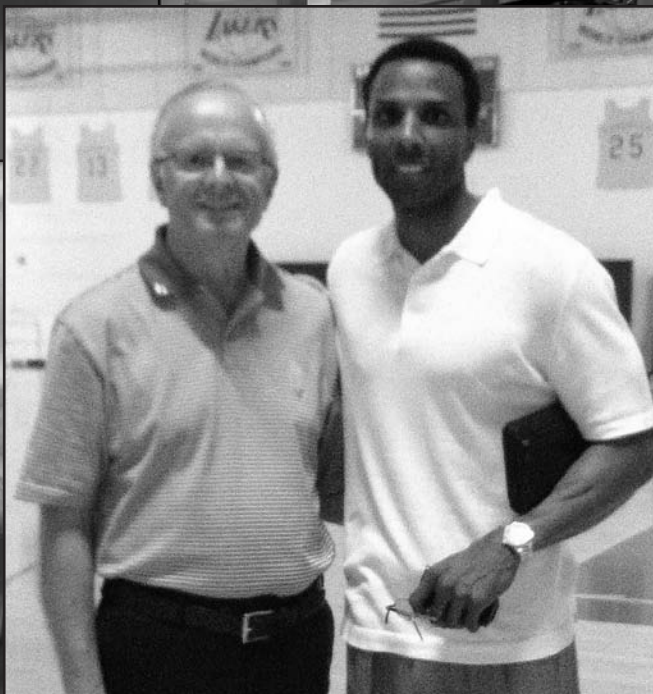

UI Hospitals and Clinics provides a host of services that are not available at other hospitals in the state, including Iowa's only total artificial heart program, the state's most advanced Neonatal Intensive Care Unit for critically ill infants, and only National Cancer Institute (NCI)-designated comprehensive cancer center, Holden Comprehensive Cancer Center. The Department of Emergency Medicine is home to Iowa's only emergency medicine residency program. The UI Trauma Center is the only facility in Iowa verified by the American College of Surgeons as a Level 1 Trauma Center for both adults and children affected by the most severe, traumatic injuries.

University of Iowa Health Care specialists rank high when it comes to serving patients. UI Hospitals and Clinics has been nationally ranked by U.S. News & World Report since 1990. More than 300 UI physicians appear on the "America's Best Doctors" database. UI Hospitals and Clinics was also the first hospital in Iowa to earn the prestigious Magnet Award that recognizes excellence in nursing care.

This combination of a dedication to innovative research and devotion to excellent service helps achieve patient-centered outcomes that are unsurpassed. Teams of University of Iowa Health Care professionals are using techniques based on medical evidence to reduce mortality, decrease errors and maximize the quality of care received by patients.

ATHLETICS TRAINING FACILITY

THE CARVER-HAWKEYE ARENA ATHLETIC TRAINING FACILITY HAS BEEN COMPLETELY REMODELED

Ronnie Lester and John Streif have been close friends since Lester's playing days as an Iowa Hawkeye, beginning in the mid-1970s.

TRAINING ROOM

Carver-Hawkeye Arena's athletic training facility will be remodeled by January 2012, allowing for the best care possible for Hawkeye student-athletes. The athletic training facility will be expanded and upgraded as part of the $47 million renovation of Carver-Hawkeye Arena.

Ronnie Lester, former All-American basketball player at the University of Iowa, made a $100,000 gift to the UI Foundation to support the Carver-Hawkeye Arena Enhancements Campaign. At the request of Lester, the UI Department of Intercollegiate Athletics will name the training room at the remodeled Carver-Hawkeye Arena in honor of longtime UI athletic trainer John Streif.

"John Streif has been a terrific friend to me for more than 30 years. He has worked tirelessly to support me and numerous other athletes for over four decades now," said Lester, a 1981 UI graduate who was a member of the Hawkeye men's basketball team from 1977 to 1980. "His dedication to the Hawkeyes is legendary, and I'm honored to name the training room for him."

CONSIDER WHAT THESE HAWKEYES ARE SAYING

When student-athletes are choosing the university and basketball program they want to be a part of a number of considerations must go into that decision. A good measuring stick is listening to the people who know -- the players who are already members of the program.

When you hear what the current Hawkeyes have to say about the University of Iowa and the Hawkeye basketball program, you know, at Iowa you'll find the very best.

"When I came to Iowa City on my unofficial visit, the summer before my senior year, I loved it; everything from the fans, the campus and the overall environment! I knew this is where I wanted to call my home for the next four to five years."

Other than being able to play in arguably the best conference in the country (Big Ten), Iowa also has an excellent academic program to offer. I have really become comfortable with Coach Fran McCaffery and his staff. I want to help get Iowa basketball back to the level it was when my father (Roy) and B.J. (Armstrong) were here."

ROY DEVYN MARBLE
Sophomore Guard
Southfield, Michigan

"Right away I could see how passionate the new coaching staff was and how much they want to succeed. As a freshman, my teammates helped me with the transition from high school basketball to college. My teammates are great; they want to win and are guys I can relate to."

I chose Iowa because of the coaching staff and the fans. Growing up in Iowa, and being a Hawkeye fan my whole life, I am aware of the energy that the fans can bring to the game. Along with having energy, the fans are loyal. I have been at games at Carver-Hawkeye when the stands are packed, and it's a spectacular experience. Those fans help make Iowa a tough team to play at home. I am excited to be a part of something that I have loved for so long."

I thought that getting used to college was going to be more difficult than it really was. With the help of those at the Learning Center I was able to take summer classes before my first semester. Whenever I had a question or problem with homework, those at the learning center were always there to help me. This helped me in getting used to college teaching."

ERIC MAY
Junior Guard/Forward
Dubuque, Iowa

"Coach McCaffery is the first coach that believed in me. He's had confidence in me from day one and is the first coach that believed that I could play at this level. Last season he let me play; he's confident in my game. It's great to play for a coach who preaches to you that you have the talent, you can make it, have enough to get it done and have a winning mentality. It's the confidence that he has in me and the rest of the team that makes him such a great coach. If your coach has confidence in you, that player is going to blossom."

MELSAHN BASABE
Sophomore Forward
Glen Cove, New York

"Growing up in Iowa City and being around the University of Iowa my entire life made it an easy decision for me to choose to play basketball for the Hawkeyes. This is a great community with great people and very passionate and loyal fans.

It has been a lot of fun getting to know Coach McCaffery and the new staff. They are a great group of guys and very knowledgeable about the game as well. They are a staff that has been around the game for many years and have been successful at different places. It's great knowing Coach has turned around three other programs in a short period of time as that is what I wish to do here at Iowa. Also, having someone like Ryan Bowen who played here and knows what being a Hawkeye is all about, as well as having NBA experience, is awesome. I am very excited about the opportunity to play for Coach McCaffery and this staff and also building lasting relationships.

"I love Carver-Hawkeye Arena and now that we have added a new practice facility and other amenities, the future is bright for the basketball program. Carver-Hawkeye Arena provides a great home court advantage on game night. It's loud and the fans are right on top of the action. It's a very tough place for visiting teams. Playing in front of 15,000 Hawkeye fans is a great experience."

MATT GATENS
Senior Guard
Iowa City, Iowa

"When I first visited the University of Iowa I knew right away it was the place for me. I could tell right away the coaches wanted to get this program back to where it belonged. I also noticed that the players wanted to succeed and it really made me want to be a Hawkeye.

One of the many reasons I chose Iowa was because of the tremendous fan support. I grew up a huge Hawkeye fan and I love that the fans are so loyal and passionate about their team. I am so excited to be able to play in Carver-Hawkeye Arena and have that type of home court advantage. We have the best fans in the country and I know that place will be rocking again.

Not only did I choose Iowa because of basketball, but also because of its outstanding academics. I took summer school before my first semester and was amazed at how much help I was able to get. It made my transition from high school to college so much easier."

CONSIDER WHY PARENTS LIKE IOWA

When student-athletes leave home to continue their basketball career and pursue a college degree, parents of those student-athletes want to know their son is enjoying all aspects of the collegiate environment. Parents of current and former Hawkeyes speak highly of the University of Iowa and the Hawkeye basketball program.

B.J. Armstrong continued his basketball career after an outstanding college career with the Hawkeyes. A first round selection in the NBA Draft, Armstrong helped the Chicago Bulls win three world championships in the 1990's during his 11-year NBA career. Armstrong was voted as a starter in the 1994 NBA all-star game.

Following his playing career Armstrong served as special assistant to the Executive Vice-President of Basketball Operations with the Bulls. He later served as an NBA analyst on ESPN and was a regular contributor to ESPN.com.

Armstrong currently serves as Vice-President of Basketball for the Wasserman Media Group, which is based in Los Angeles. Armstrong prepares clients for pre-draft workouts with NBA teams and identifies current NBA coaches to workout with WMG clients in preparation for pre-draft workouts with NBA organizations.

Devan Bawinkel, a 2010 University of Iowa graduate, earned his communication studies degree. Bawinkel's parents, Mary and Dave, were on hand to see Devan collect his diploma this past May.

"We always told B.J. that there's more to life than dribbling a basketball, so choose a school you'd be happy with if you weren't involved with athletics."

"We traveled to Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, and all over the Midwest, and there were always Iowa fans in the stands to cheer on the Hawkeyes. They support the basketball team at home and on the road. Iowa fans love basketball."

"We were pleased that B.J. decided to get away from the big city atmosphere and felt the experience of moving away from home would be good for him. The friendly people living in Iowa City sure made the transition an easy one. They are very special people who care about their community, their university and the Iowa basketball program."

MR. AND MRS. BENJAMIN ARMSTRONG

Parents of B.J. Armstrong, a member of the three-time World Champion Chicago Bulls who retired from the NBA following the 2000 season.

"My best memories of Iowa are the people, they were just fabulous, so warm, they made me feel comfortable. I couldn't have gone into a better situation.

I try to keep in touch with all the guys. It's good to see how much the university has grown and how things have changed. Iowa basketball will always have a place in my heart. I love the University of Iowa and know what it has meant to me personally."

Olivet Looby, mother of 2008 senior Kurt Looby, wasn't able to visit Iowa City from her home in Antigua very often during Kurt's playing career, but she was on hand in May, 2008 to see Kurt receive his degree from the University of Iowa.

Jarryd Cole celebrates "Senior Day" last year with his parents Cornelius and Linda. Cole posted a double-double to lift the Iowa Hawkeyes to a 67-65 victory over sixth-ranked Purdue in front of his parents.

Chicago native Cyrus Tate, a 2009 Hawkeye senior, shares a moment at Senior Day with his mother, Katherine, and father, Winfred.

"I think the Iowa family is extremely unique; there's an incredible closeness. It's my desire to continually get to know the former Hawkeye players and make them feel welcome when they come back."

IOWA HEAD COACH | FRAN McCAFFERY

HAWKEYE FAMILY ATMOSPHERE

When student-athletes join the basketball program at the University of Iowa, they do more than join a group of coaches and players. They join a program that exists as a family. The University of Iowa basketball program is a family of coaches and staff who combine with current and former student-athletes in creating one large family that is Iowa basketball.

It is that family atmosphere that helps the student-athletes endure the demands of the classroom, the daily workouts, the injuries, the frustrations, the setbacks, and enjoy the fruits of their labor, the beaches of Hawaii and the Virgin Islands, the sites of a summer tour in Australia, the personal victories over the daily challenges, the victories on the court, the Big Ten Tournament championship memories, and, at the end of the line, the college degree.

The Iowa basketball team has a lot of fun together, both on and off the court. Through the travels of the regular season and the trips that are made outside the course of the regular season, Hawkeye student-athletes spend a large amount of time during their careers with the Iowa coaching staff and their families, while also getting to know the former Hawkeye players who have remained in Iowa City and Eastern Iowa to establish their career after earning a degree from the University of Iowa.

Members of the Iowa basketball program take part in a summer tour once every four years, where players and coaches have the chance to travel around the world to work on their basketball skills in exhibition basketball games while discovering the cultures of other countries. In 2009, members of the Hawkeye program traveled to Greece and Italy.

CHRIS STREET GOLF OUTING KEEPS ALL HAWKEYES TOGETHER

The Iowa Basketball Golf Classic in memory of Chris Street is held each fall to honor one of Iowa's all-time great basketball players. A full field of over 240 golfers each year includes a number of basketball celebrities who return to Iowa City each fall for a day of golf and friendship that provides funding for one of Iowa's 16 endowed scholarships.

Assistant Coach Andrew Francis and former Hawkeye players pose for a photo with the Iowa Spirit Squad on the 10th tee at the 2011 Chris Street Memorial Golf Tournament.

"We want to play an up-tempo style, push the ball, attack the basket and catch the defense off balance."

Playing with passion and a love of the game: pushing the ball and aggressively attacking the basket; finding the open teammate; changing defense and disrupting the rhythm of the opponents; sinking the open 3-pointer; and helping out teammates

BASKETBALL HAWKEYE STYLE

When you add those components together, they add up to Iowa basketball, a style of basketball that is all-out fun for 40 minutes, a style of play that is exciting to watch, but more importantly, a style of basketball that players love to play.

As the Iowa Hawkeyes head into the 2011-12 season, the second year under Coach Fran McCaffery and his coaching staff, Iowa basketball is in the midst of a new era that features exciting and fun basketball that players enjoy playing and fans enjoying watching.

"Hawkeye fans will enjoy our style of basketball. We are going to compete and play the game the right way. We want to play an up-tempo style, push the ball, attack the basket and catch the defense off balance. We want to score in the 80s and 90s. Defensively, we will want to change defenses and disrupt rhythm. We want to give Hawkeye fans an exciting style of basketball to watch. Our players are going to have fun and enjoy what they do on the floor."

"We have a solid foundation and a tremendous environment to work with as we look to build on our 22 NCAA Tournament appearances and two Big Ten Tournament championships. We embrace the Hawkeye tradition and look forward to the challenges ahead."

FRAN MCCAFFERY
Head Coach
University of Iowa

Fran McCaffery, who has 33 years of Division I basketball experience, took over the Iowa basketball program in 2010 after rebuilding three basketball programs as a head coach. McCaffery became just the 31st coach (15th active) to take three different programs to the NCAA Tournament. He is the first to do so with three programs (Lehigh, UNC-Greensboro and Siena) from one-bid leagues.

McCaffery has one of the most experienced coaching staffs in the nation at the University of Iowa. Kirk Speraw, Sherman Dillard and Andrew Francis have over six decades of combined coaching experience.

During his most recent stint at Siena, McCaffery led the Saints to three straight regular season championships and NCAA Tournament appearances. In doing so, Siena became the only program in the nation to win its regular season and postseason title the last three years.

McCaffery guided Siena to three consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances the last three seasons, advancing to the second round in 2008 and 2009, notching wins over Vanderbilt and Ohio State.

In five seasons as the head coach at Siena, McCaffery led his team to an average of better than 22 victories per year, including back-to-back 27-win campaigns in 2009 and 2010. McCaffery was recognized for his team's success being named 2009 MAAC Coach of the Year and 2010 NABC District I Coach of the Year.

McCaffery has served as a head coach for 15 seasons. Ten of his 15 teams boasted third place or better finishes in their respective conference, including capturing league titles four times. McCaffery coached teams have competed in five NCAA Tournaments and one NIT.

CONSIDER THESE FACTS ABOUT FRAN M'CAFFERY AND HIS COACHING CAREER:

He was named MAAC Coach of the Year in 2009 and District I Coach of the Year in 2010 by the National Association of Basketball Coaches

In 15 seasons as a college head coach, Fran McCaffery's teams have averaged 18 wins per year. While at Siena, the Saints averaged over 22 victories during his five-year tenure.

Every student-athlete that completed their eligibility under Head Coach Fran McCaffery has graduated and earned a degree.

In 15 seasons as a head coach, has led his teams to five conference tournament championships and six postseason appearances.

Fran McCaffery's first head coaching position was at Lehigh. Hired in 1985 when he was 26 years-old, McCaffery was the nation's youngest Division I head coach.

He led Siena to perfect 17-0 home records in each of his last two seasons. Also, McCaffery is the only coach in UNG history to win 11 games at home in a single season.

Melsahn Basabe was named to the All-Big Ten Freshman team and was an honorable mention all-conference honoree his first year in a Hawkeye uniform.

PLAYER DEVELOPMENT

Commitment to Excellence

The Iowa basketball program is committed to excellence. The Iowa coaching staff provides the teaching, resources and total commitment necessary for Hawkeye student-athletes to reach their fullest potential, both on the court and in their pursuit of a complete education.

Working with the coaching staff on a daily basis throughout the year, members of the Iowa basketball program are able to take advantage of the state-of-the-art facilities, all located within Carver-Hawkeye Arena, so that full potential is reached.

Head Coach Fran McCaffery, along with all members of the coaching staff, strength and conditioning staff, athletic training staff, and academic advisors, work with Iowa student-athletes on a daily basis, assuring that each individual receives the assistance they need to meet and exceed their goals and expectations.

This commitment to develop Hawkeye players to their fullest potential begins immediately at the start of each fall semester. Prior to the official start of practice in October, players and coaches work on basketball fundamentals and strength and conditioning right from the start of the semester.

The Iowa commitment to reach full potential continues at the end of each season. During the spring semester, following a short break at the end of the season, strength training and conditioning and basketball fundamental drills continue through the spring and summer.

Iowa has one of the most experienced coaching staff's in the country. Coach McCaffery has nearly 30 years of Division I college basketball coaching experience, while he is complemented by over six decades of combined coaching experience from assistant coaches Kirk Speraw, Sherman Dillard and Andrew Francis.

Assistant Coach Kirk Speraw gives direction during a preseason workout.

Coach Fran McCaffery works with the Hawkeye players on a daily basis throughout the season.

Assistant Coach Sherman Dillard works with Iowa's perimeter players in preparation for the 2011-12 season.

BASKETBALL & THE BLACK & GOLD

The Black and Gold have held a big part in representing the Red, White and Blue over the years. Twenty former Hawkeye standouts have enjoyed the opportunity to represent the United States of America. These former Iowa basketball players were selected to play for one of eight USA teams. The list is highlighted by Carl Cain and Charles Darling, who comprised one-sixth of the 1956 U.S.A. Olympic team. The duo helped lead the United States to the 1956 Olympic gold medal.

In addition, three former Hawkeye coaches, Tom Davis, Lute Olson and George Raveling, have coached for U.S.A. Basketball. Davis and Olson both served as U.S. Olympic Festival head coaches and Raveling was an assistant coach on the 1984 U.S.A. Olympic team that won the gold medal.

Most recently, Hawkeye sophomore Melsahn Basabe was invited to the USA U19 Training Camp in Colorado Springs in the summer of 2011.

PROFESSIONAL BASKETBALL

and the Iowa Hawkeyes

Former Hawkeyes Matt Bullard, B.J. Armstrong and Bob Hansen have all won NBA championships. A successful career in the NBA and professional basketball is an opportunity that awaits Hawkeye basketball players.

The Iowa basketball program has been well represented in the NBA championship over the years. In fact, former Hawkeyes have won 13 world championships while in the NBA. That list includes Don Nelson, Fred Brown, John Johnson, B.J. Armstrong, Bob Hansen and Matt Bullard. From point guards to the big guys in the middle, Iowa basketball continues to prepare its student-athletes for an opportunity to compete in the NBA and professional basketball leagues around the world.

More than 10 former Hawkeye players are currently active in professional basketball leagues in foreign countries and as many as 40 former University of Iowa players have played overseas in the last 25 years.

Continuing the tradition, Iowa has had five players selected in the first two rounds of the NBA Draft over the past 14 years, including 2007 senior Adam Haluska, a first team all-Big Ten selection who was selected by New Orleans. Furthermore, Iowa is also one of five major basketball programs to have as many as three former players who have had their NBA jerseys retired.

CONSIDER A PROFESSIONAL BASKETBALL CAREER

When a student-athlete excels on the basketball court at the University of Iowa, he gets noticed. He gets noticed by the thousands of fans in Carver-Hawkeye Arena and arenas where the Hawkeyes play; by the vast number of media who follow the Iowa basketball program; by the millions of college basketball fans watching the Hawkeyes on nationally televised games; and by scouts for the franchises of the National Basketball Association.

1 - B.J. ARMSTRONG, AN NBA ALL-STAR

B.J. Armstrong had an outstanding career at Iowa, ranking second in career assists and three-point field goals. B.J. was a 1989 first round draft choice of the Chicago Bulls and the 18th player selected overall. Armstrong was a three-time all-Big Ten selection and 1989 all-American.

Armstrong moved into the starting line-up as Chicago's point guard in 1993 as the Bulls won their third straight NBA championship. Armstrong led the NBA in 3-point field goal percentage (.453) that season and was a starting guard in the NBA All-Star Game in 1994. Armstrong retired from the NBA following the 2000 season. He is a member of Iowa's all-Century team.

Armstrong is currently the Vice President of Basketball for the Wasserman Media Group, where his role includes assisting potential NBA Draft selections in preparing for the NBA Draft and assisting in developing WMG's NBA Draft strategy.

"Playing in the Big Ten as a member of the basketball team at the University of Iowa certainly enhanced my opportunities for an NBA career. The Big Ten Conference offers a student-athlete the very best in facilities and competition."

Bullard's career 3-point field goal percentage ranks among NBA leaders.

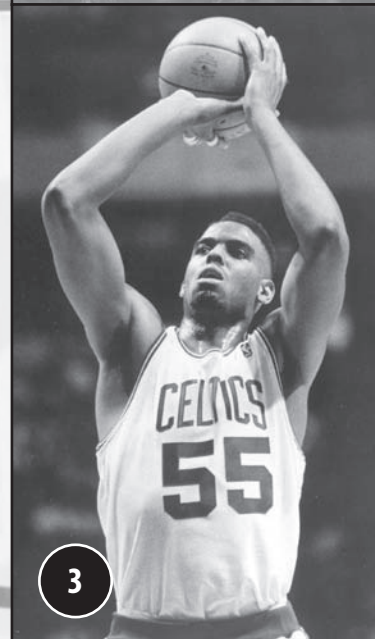

Now retired from the NBA, Bullard serves as an analyst for Houston Rocket games, putting his University of Iowa communications degree to good use. He reached the finals of ESPN's "Dream Job" competition, in which ESPN interviewed former professional athletes for the opportunity to be an ESPN anchorman.

3 - ACIE EARL

3 - REGGIE EVANS

Signing as a free agent with Seattle prior to the 2002-03 season, Reggie Evans made an immediate impact in the NBA. Working his way into the starting line-up, Evans started 60 games as a rookie. In his second season he played in 75 games averaging 5.4 rebounds per outing.

In 2005, Evans started all 79 games in which he played, including 11 playoff games, averaging 9.3 rebounds per game. He ranked 12th in the NBA in rebound average and for the second time in three seasons led the league in rebounds per minute (18.8).

Overall, Evans has averaged 6.7 rebounds per game in his nine-year NBA career.

A CAREER IN THE NBA

Additional Iowa basketball standouts have enjoyed NBA careers beyond their playing days. Former Hawkeye Don Nelson, a long time general manager and head coach of the Dallas Mavericks, returned in 2006-07 as the head coach of the Golden State Warriors. Nelson retired as the Dallas head coach following the 2005 season after leading his team to the NBA playoffs in each of his last five seasons. Nelson led the Warriors to an excellent season in 2007, including a playoff series win over the Dallas Mavericks, marking the first win ever for an eight seed over a top-seeded team.

Former Iowa all-American Ronnie Lester served as vice-president of the Los Angeles Lakers, while former Hawkeye Jimmy Rodgers was an assistant coach with the NBA world champion Chicago Bulls.

DON NELSON

Don Nelson, Iowa's MVP in three successive seasons, also had a great career as a player in the NBA, scoring more than 10,000 points for the Boston Celtics. In 31 years as an NBA coach he was honored as Coach of the Year three different times. Nelson is the NBA's all-time winningest coach (1,335) and ranks second in games coached (2,398).

Nelson was the head coach of Dream Team II, guiding the United States to the Gold medal at the 1994 World Championships. In 2001, he was selected to Iowa's all-Century team.

"The Big Ten was rated the No. 1 conference in the country when I played at Iowa and is still considered the premier league to NBA scouts."

DON NELSON

3 - RONNIE LESTER

Ronnie Lester earned all-American honors at Iowa while leading the Hawkeyes to the 1979 Big Ten title and the 1980 Final Four. Following his NBA playing career Lester remained in the NBA. He was an NBA scout for 14 years and later became vice-president for the Los Angeles Lakers. Lester, the 10th player selected in the 1980 NBA Draft, is a member of the National Iowa Varsity Club Hall of Fame and Iowa's all-Century team.

4 - BRAD LOHAUS

Brad Lohaus found new life as a Hawkeye senior in 1987. The seven-foot Lohaus led Iowa in rebounding and blocked shots, in addition to being one of five Hawkeyes to average in double figures as Iowa posted a school-record 30 victories.

Lohaus was drafted by the Boston Celtics in the second round of the 1987 NBA Draft. Lohaus enjoyed a lengthy NBA career, spending five seasons in the middle of his career with the Milwaukee Bucks. He concluded his playing career with the San Antonio Spurs. The Lohaus family has established an endowed scholarship that goes to a member of the Hawkeye basketball team each season.

GREG STOKES

UI GRAD ALL-TIME WINNINGEST COACH IN NBA HISTORY

When Don Nelson left the University of Iowa after the 1962 season, his 1,522 points were the most ever scored by a Hawkeye men's basketball player. When Nelson retired from coaching in the National Basketball Association, his victory total is also unmatched.

When the Golden State Warriors defeated Minnesota, 116-107, on April 7, 2010 in Minneapolis, Nelson surpassed Lenny Wilkins as the NBA's winningest coach. In 31 seasons with Milwaukee, Golden State, New York and Dallas, Nelson has compiled a career record of 1,335-1,063 (55.7 winning percentage). He was named coach of the year three times.

"It's such a great feeling," Nelson told reporters after the milestone win. "This is probably why we end up coaching, for moments like this."

Nelson remains No. 10 on the UI career scoring charts and his points per game average (21.2) is better than any former Hawkeye in the top 21 in career points. Sam Williams (No. 22 in points, 1,176) averaged 24 points per game from 1966-68 and John Johnson (No. 23 in points, 1,172) averaged 23.9 points per game from 1968-70.

Playing for head coach Sharm Scheuerman, Nelson led the Hawkeyes to a 14-10 record in 1959-60 and followed that with an 18-6 mark in 1960-61. During Nelson's senior season (1961-62), Iowa posted its third consecutive winning season at 13-11.

Nelson was born in Muskegon, MI, and moved to Rock Island, IL, where he had a successful high school playing career. He was a two-time All-American at the UI and was drafted by the Chicago Zephyrs with the first pick of the third round in the 1962 NBA Draft. He also played for the Los Angeles Lakers and the Boston Celtics. It was with the Celtics where Nelson was part of five NBA champion teams: 1966, '68, '69, '74 and '76. His jersey No. 19 was retired by Boston in 1978 (Nelson wore No. 15 with the Hawkeyes).

Nelson's first head coaching job in the NBA was with the Bucks in 1976. He coached there for 11 seasons (nine winning seasons, 43 playoff victories) before joining Golden State for the 1988-89 season. The Warriors made the playoffs four times from 1989-94. Nelson coached one season with the New York Knicks, but he resigned after 59 games (and 34 wins). From 1997-2005 Nelson was on the bench in Dallas before resigning during the 2004-05 season while the Mavericks had a record of 42-22. He began his second shift with Golden State in 2006.

With Nelson as head coach, the Bucks won seven straight Midwest/Central Division championships from 1979-86. The Mavericks won the Midwest Division in 2002-03. Nelson coached Milwaukee in three conference finals and Dallas in one. In 2003, Nelson and the Mavericks were ousted by eventual champion San Antonio, 4-2.

Nelson still holds the UI record with 21 free throw attempts against Indiana on Feb. 17, 1962. His career-high in points was 39 against Wisconsin in 1962. During his final two seasons, Nelson led the Hawkeyes in points, rebounds, field goal percentage and free throw percentage.

Former Hawkeye, Don Nelson, became the all-time winningest basketball coach in the National Basketball Association on April 7, 2010. Nelson has collected 1,335 NBA victories in his 31 seasons on the sidelines.

SUCCESS IN THE POST SEASON

Along with winning Big Ten Conference tournament titles in 2001 and 2006, the Iowa Hawkeyes have posted an overall 13-12 record in the postseason tournament. Along with the two championships, the Hawkeyes also reached the title game in 2002. The 13 tournament victories are the fifth most in the league.

Under the direction of Coach Fran McCaffery, Siena won three consecutive MAAC regular season and tournament championships, earning automatic berths to the NCAA Tournament. In doing so, Siena became the only program in the country to win its regular season and postseason title the last three years. Coach McCaffery led the Saints to 23 victories in 2008, and 27 in both 2009 and 2010, advancing to the NCAA Tournament Second Round in 2008 and 2009.

The University of Iowa basketball team has proven it knows what it takes to be ready to play when tournament time approaches at the end of the season. As the second seed in 2006, Iowa defeated Minnesota and Michigan State to advance to the title game. In the championship, Iowa defeated regular season champion Ohio State for the second time in two meetings, as the teams met just once during the regular season. In the title game, Iowa rallied from a 37-34 halftime deficit for a 67-60 win.

Iowa is one of five Big Ten teams to have won more than one tournament title and only four teams have earned more appearances in the title contest.

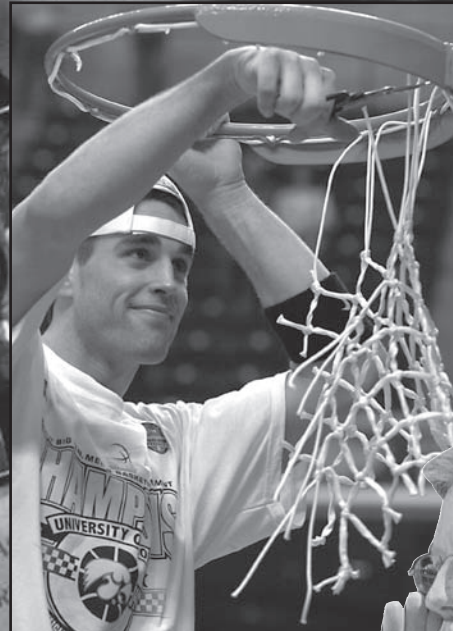

Not only did the Hawkeyes win four games in four days to win the 2001 Big Ten Tournament in Chicago, but they nearly repeated the feat in 2002 in Indianapolis, reaching the championship game for the second straight season before falling to Ohio State in the title game.

Iowa's run to the 2001 Big Ten Tournament championship saw the Hawkeyes become the first team in the history of the event to win four games in four days. The sixth seed at the start of the event, Iowa became the lowest seed to earn the tournament title.

In 2002, as the ninth-seeded team at the start of the tournament, the Hawkeyes almost repeated their remarkable run through the rest of the Big Ten. Iowa began play in the 2002 tournament with an 87-72 win over Purdue, and followed that with a 58-56 win over Wisconsin in the quarter-finals. The third win was a 62-60 decision over Indiana, a team that had defeated Iowa twice during the regular season and would go on to play in the NCAA championship game. The streak ended with an 81-64 loss to Ohio State.

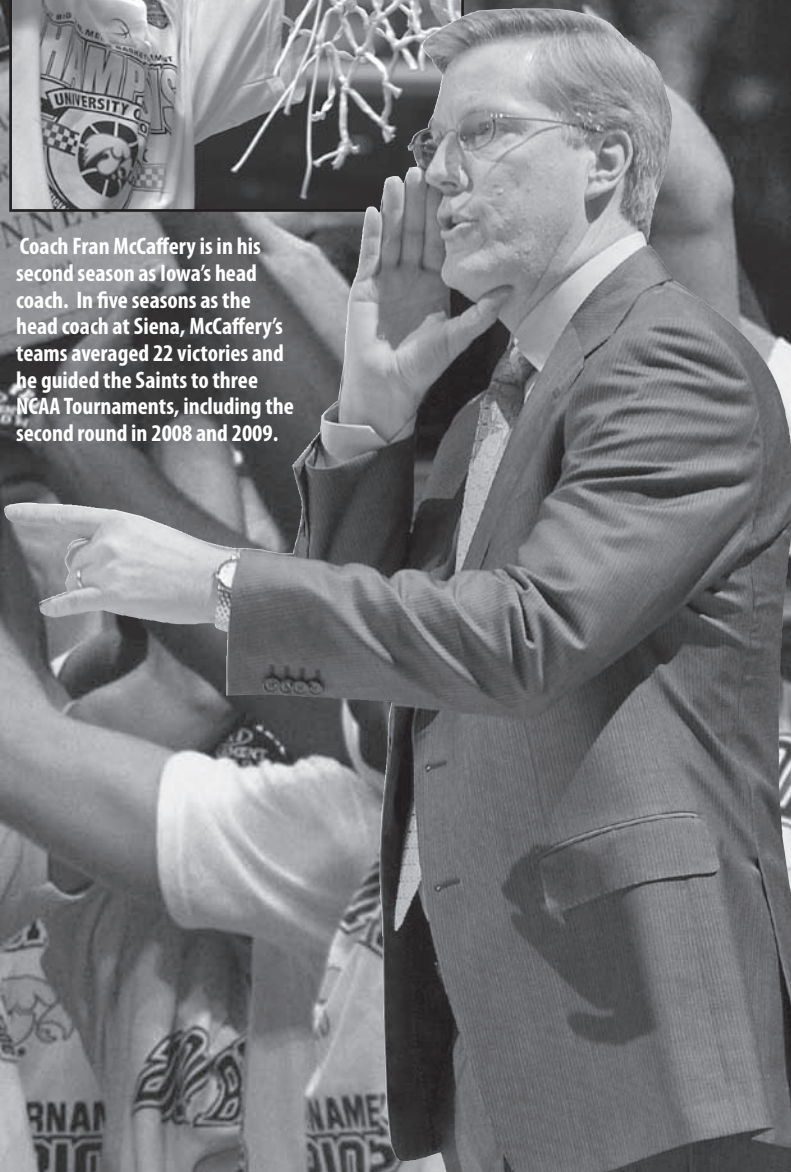

The Hawkeyes nearly returned to the final game in 2005. After opening with a convincing 71-52 win over Purdue, Iowa advanced to the semi-finals with a 71-69 win over Michigan State, one of two Big Ten teams that would advance to the Final Four. It was more of the same in the semi-finals as Iowa rallied to tie Wisconsin in the final seconds. Only a last-second, 30-foot heave for the winning basket by the Badgers kept Iowa from overtime and a possible win that would have matched the Hawkeyes against top-ranked Illinois in the tournament championship.

McCaffery, in his second season at Iowa, knows what it takes to win. He became just the 31st coach (15th active) to take three different programs to the NCAA Tournament after winning their conference tournament. Furthermore, McCaffery is the first to do so with three programs (Lehigh, UNC-Greensboro and Siena) from one-bid leagues. In his 15 seasons as a head coach, he has led his teams to five conference tournament championships and six postseason appearances.

Senior guard Jeff Horner was named tournament MVP as Iowa defeated Minnesota, Michigan State and top-seeded Ohio State to win the 2006 Big Ten Tournament.

Coach Fran McCaffery is in his second season as Iowa's head coach. In five seasons as the head coach at Siena, McCaffery's teams averaged 22 victories and he guided the Saints to three NCAA Tournaments, including the second round in 2008 and 2009.

BIG™

IS BIG TIME

The Big Ten Conference personifies big-time college basketball. The Big Ten has always been considered one of the premier basketball conferences in America. An average of six teams from the Big Ten have been invited to the NCAA Tournament over the past 11 years, including a high of seven Big Ten Conference teams in 1994, 1999, 2001 and 2009.

Two Big Ten teams advanced to the Final Four in 1999, 2000 and 2005. Furthermore, the Big Ten has been represented at the Final Four, four of the last seven seasons. Michigan State has reached the pinnacle of college basketball four times the last decade, including winning the championship in 2000 and finishing runner-up in 2009. Three other Big Ten squads earned runner-up honors the past decade: Indiana (2002), Illinois (2005) and Ohio State (2007).

The Big Ten Conference has had 208 teams participate in the NCAA Championships since the tournament's inception. Big Ten Conference teams have made 41 Final Four appearances, which ranks second close behind the Atlantic Coast Conference (42 appearances) for the most among all leagues. The Big Ten ranks second with 314 NCAA Tournament victories and second with 10 NCAA titles. The conference boasts a winning percentage in NCAA Tournament play that is well over 60 percent. In a testimony to the balance of power in the Big Ten, the Big Ten is the only conference, since 1990, to advance five different programs to the Final Four.

The Big Ten has led the nation in attendance each year since 1977, a streak of 35 straight years. In each of the past 19 years, well over two million fans have watched Big Ten basketball games, with the total reaching more than 2.4 million in each of the past five seasons.

Overall, a staggering nine Big Ten schools ranked among the top 50 in the country in home attendance last season, including the Iowa Hawkeyes.

Iowa Consistently Among Nation's Best

Over the past 32 seasons, Iowa has been a fixture in the Associated Press Top 20, making an appearance in the national rankings in 25-of-32 seasons. In fact, only six teams in the nation have appeared in the AP Top 20 each year more than the Iowa Hawkeyes.

The Big Ten Conference: An NCAA Tournament Leader

While some conferences boast recent NCAA Tournament success, the Big Ten has long been a dominant force in postseason play. The Big Ten ranks among the leaders in NCAA Tournament victories, Final Four appearances and NCAA Tournament winning percentage. Just take a look at the numbers and judge the strength of the Big Ten as an NCAA Tournament leader yourself.

The Big Ten announced that starting in 2012 the conference tournament will rotate locations. Indianapolis and Consecration Fieldhouse will host exciting tournament action in 2012, 2014 and 2016 while the United Center in Chicago will entertain all 12 teams in 2013 and 2015.

Quality Competition: Another Big Ten Bonus

It is often said that in order to be the best, you have to play the best. If one of your goals is to develop your athletic talent to its fullest potential, you'll probably never be successful unless you seek the highest level of competition. That competition is available at the University of Iowa.

At Iowa, you'll compete in the Big Ten Conference -- annually one of the toughest college basketball conferences in the country today -- and face the challenge of matching your talents against the toughest competition in collegiate basketball week in and week out. Furthermore, the league becomes even stronger this season as the Big Ten has added Nebraska to the conference.

"The addition of Nebraska is an extremely exciting development for the Big Ten, and especially for Hawkeye student-athletes, coaches, and supporters. I expect Iowa and Nebraska to quickly develop a healthy athletic rivalry that will stir the passions of our respective fans and captivate the region and the nation. Much of what makes college athletics great involves the rivalries that develop over the years, and the Hawkeyes and Cornhuskers are a natural to grow into one of the nation's next marquee rivalries."

LEADERS

The Big Ten Conference has annually been regarded as the strongest basketball conference in the nation. Iowa's regular season schedule, as well, ranks as one of the strongest in the nation.

Each year, the Big Ten Conference showcases its strength, and its depth. Big Ten co-champion Michigan State advanced to the Final Four for the second consecutive year in 2010.

Big Ten teams won 12 games in the 2005 NCAA Tournament, advancing two teams to the Final Four for the third time in the last 12 years. Big Ten teams won eight NCAA Tournament games two of the last three years.

Iowa's non-conference schedule is always filled with challenging tests. Along with taking part in the annual Big Ten/ACC Challenge, Iowa annually plays additional college basketball powers from other major conferences. Below are a few of the teams the Hawkeyes have faced recently:

Alabama	Iowa State	Stanford
Arizona	Kansas	Tennessee

Hawkeyes Annually Appear in Nation's Best Tournaments

Throughout the years, Iowa has made its mark in "Big Time" tournaments around the world. The Hawkeyes won the Maui Invitational in 1987-88, the Great Alaska Shootout in 1986-87, the San Juan Thanksgiving Shootout in 1992-93 and the San Juan Christmas Shootout in 1997-98. Iowa was second at the Maui Invitational in 2005, the Rainbow Classic in 1994-95, The Great Alaska Shootout in 1995-96, the IKON Coaches vs. Cancer Classic in 2000 and the Guardians (CBE) Classic in 2002 and 2006.

The Hawkeyes participated in the Paradise Jam in the Virgin Islands in 2007 and returned to the island in 2010, and competed in the Last Vegas Invitational in 2008.

In 2005, Iowa placed second in the Guardians (CBE) Classic, falling to second-ranked Texas in the championship game. Iowa had advanced to the title game with a 67-63 win over ninth-ranked Kentucky.

In 2004, Iowa placed second in the EA Sports Maui Invitational, falling to North Carolina, the eventual national champion, in the title game after defeating Louisville and Texas, respectively, in the first two rounds.

As part of the Big Ten/ACC Challenge in 2002, Iowa met defending NCAA champion Duke at the United Center in Chicago, playing in front of a crowd of over 17,000 fans and a national television audience. The Hawkeyes hosted NC State in the 2005 Big Ten/ACC Challenge and Wake Forest in 2006. Iowa will once again entertain an ACC opponent this season when Clemson visits Mediacom Court and Carver-Hawkeye Arena. The contest will be televised to a national cable audience on ESPNU.

Iowa opened the 1999 season in New York's Madison Square Garden by taking part in the IKON Coaches vs. Cancer Classic. Along with the Maui Invitational early in the 2005 season, Iowa competed in the Rainbow Classic in Honolulu in 2002.

CONSIDER THE TELEVISION EXPOSURE

"Having the conference's own television network is fantastic on so many different levels. It allows our loyal and passionate fan base to follow the Hawkeyes, and the conference, throughout the country. The network has a positive impact on our fundraising and national recruiting efforts. It's beneficial for a recruit's family to know that they can watch their son play anytime and watch additional and archived content on the network's website."

"Fans have the opportunity to follow the Hawkeyes like never before with games televised nationally on CBS, ESPN, ESPN2, ESPNU and the BTN. Also, the creation of new and enhanced media has given the Hawkeyes even more exposure, like the recent additions of espn3.com and bigtennetwork.com."

FRAN MCCAFFERY
Head Basketball Coach
University of Iowa

The Iowa Hawkeye basketball program annually ranks among the national leaders in home attendance. In addition to the fans in Carver-Hawkeye Arena, Hawkeye basketball on television is also very popular around the state, the Midwest and the country.

Every home game of all 11 Big Ten teams will appear on television for the fifth straight year. Overall, no fewer than 200 men's basketball games, including home, away and neutral sites, will be featured on CBS, an ESPN platform (ESPN, ESPN2 or ESPNU) or the Big Ten Network, beginning with exhibition games in November. Hawkeye fans will be able to watch every Hawkeye game (home and away) either on television or streamed online.

Under current contract agreements, Big Ten Conference men's basketball is guaranteed the following:

Through the 2016-17 season, Big Ten teams will have a minimum of 24 regular season appearances on CBS, plus the semifinals and championship of the Big Ten Tournament.

In 2007, the Big Ten Conference signed a 10-year national rights contract with ABC/ESPN. The current agreement includes approximately 60 men's basketball games to air on an ESPN network.

Beginning with the inaugural year in 2007-08, more than 105 regular season men's basketball games will be televised on the Big Ten Network each season.

"The Big Ten Conference has been our highest-rated college basketball conference for the last decade."

LOREN MATTHEWS
Senior vice-president, ESPN

While the centerpiece of Iowa's television package is live coverage of Hawkeye games, "Iowa Basketball with Fran McCaffery" is a very successful spin-off show that debuts locally in Iowa and then is rebroadcasted during the week on the Big Ten Network. The weekly show featuring Iowa's head coach offers fans of the Iowa basketball program across the state the opportunity to view highlights from previous games and meet the coaching staff and student-athletes.

Television exposure is one of the keys to developing and maintaining a program of national stature, and at the University of Iowa a student-athlete is guaranteed virtually unparalleled attention from regional and national television audiences.

HAWKEYES ARE IN THE SPOTLIGHT

The spotlight of media coverage follows the Iowa basketball team throughout the year.

With no professional sports teams in the state of Iowa, Hawkeye athletes are in the spotlight around the state and the Midwest. All Hawkeye games are covered by newspaper, radio, web sites and television outlets throughout the state, along with the exposure of having all games televised on regional and national telecasts.

Hawkeye basketball players learn to handle the exposure on almost a daily basis, improving their communication skills throughout their careers while dealing with the media throughout each season.

With the creation of the BTN and the conference's extensive basketball television contract with CBS and the ESPN family of networks, an unprecedented number of Iowa games have national television coverage. Hawkeye fans can expect to see nearly every game on national television once again in 2011-12. Without question, the Big Ten Conference is the most visible league in the country.

A large media contingent fills the Media Room in Carver-Hawkeye Arena. Iowa home games draw media attention on a local, regional and national scale.

Jarryd Cole talks about Iowa's thrilling 67-65 win over sixth-ranked Purdue with ESPN's Dan Dakich last season in Iowa City.

AN OPPORTUNITY TO SEE THE WORLD

As a member of the basketball program at the University of Iowa, education often expands beyond the classroom to various parts of the United States and the world.

Over the years, the Iowa basketball team has visited Alaska, Australia, Greece, Hawaii, London, Paris, Hong Kong, San Juan, Puerto Rico, the French Riviera, Switzerland, Italy, Belgium, Amsterdam, England, the Great Wall of China, the Virgin Islands and other exciting parts of the world.

Three years ago, Iowa competed in a tournament in Las Vegas and traveled to Greece and Italy over the summer for a tour of exhibition games.

Every four years the Iowa basketball team is permitted to take an overseas exhibition trip during the summer. On their most recent trip, members of the Iowa program traveled to Italy and Greece during a three-game, 10-day exhibition tour, visiting Rome and Athens. Because a trip can be taken every four years, every Hawkeye player has the opportunity to experience travel abroad as part of their total University of Iowa experience.

During the regular season, Iowa annually takes part in some of the top college basketball tournaments in the nation. Last year the Black and Gold returned to the Caribbean and competed in the eight-team Paradise Jam held in St. Thomas, Virgin Islands. Iowa played three games against challenging competition.

The Hawkeyes participated in the Paradise Jam in the 2006-07 campaign. Iowa started the 2005-06 season by competing in the Guardians Classic for the second time in five seasons. After winning two games on their home floor, the Hawkeyes advanced to the Final Four of the event that also included Kentucky, Texas and West Virginia. Iowa advanced to the title game with a win over ninth-ranked Kentucky before second-ranked Texas handed Iowa its first loss of the year in the title game.

The Hawkeye basketball team returned to Hawaii during the 2005 season, placing second in the EA Sports Maui Invitational. Facing a tournament field that included Louisville, North Carolina, Stanford, Texas, Tennessee and Brigham Young, the Maui Invitational is one of the top tournaments of the year. The Hawkeyes defeated Louisville and Texas in the first two rounds before a loss to North Carolina, the eventual national champion, in the championship game.

Iowa took part in the Rainbow Classic in 2001, placing third in the eight team tournament in Honolulu, Hawaii. The Hawkeyes won the Maui Invitational in 1987, placed second in the Rainbow Classic in 1995 and also competed in the Maui Invitational in 1997.

In 1999-2000, Iowa opened the season in the IKON Coaches vs. Cancer Classic, playing two games in Madison Square Garden in New York City, competing against Connecticut, Stanford and Duke. Iowa defeated Connecticut, the defending NCAA champion, in the first round before falling to Stanford in the championship game.

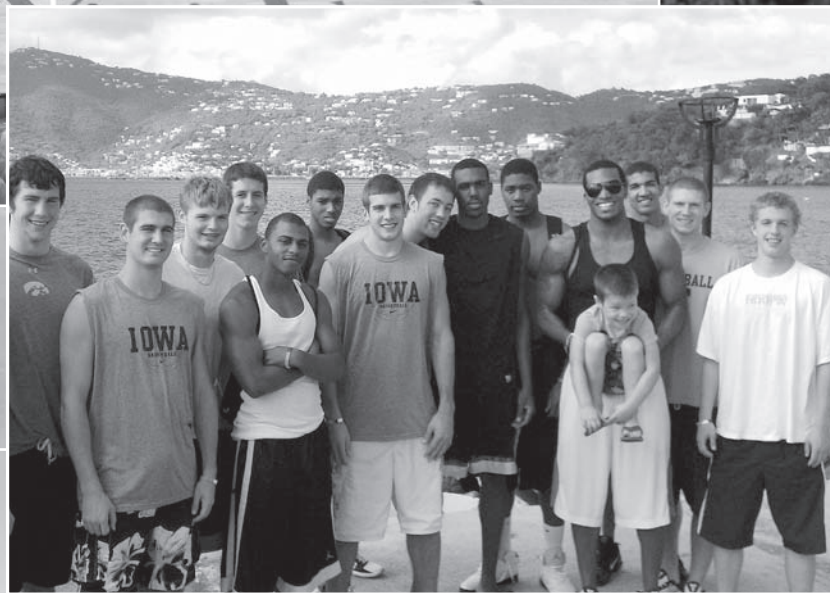

During the 1998 summer, the Hawkeyes spent nearly two weeks in England, playing games against professional clubs there. Yet, more than basketball was being played. The Hawkeyes were able to develop relationships and experience cultures that transcend beyond the basketball court.

When the Hawkeyes travel they do so by charter flight, which allows for the safest and easiest travel possible to and from road games. The Hawkeyes are able to return to Iowa City immediately following road contests.

Iowa saw action against Xavier, Alabama and Long Beach State at the Paradise Jam. About 100-200 Hawkeye family and friends followed the team to the Virgin Islands.

Andrew Brommer (left) and Matt Gatens (right) and their teammates enjoyed a snorkeling trip in the Virgin Islands last year.

The Iowa Hawkeyes returned to St. Thomas last November to compete in the Paradise Jam. In addition to playing three games, the Hawkeyes were able to tour the island.

Hawkeye players and fans routinely can expect visits to exciting and fun destinations for holiday tournaments.

A TOTAL PROGRAM

IOWA RANKS AMONG BIG TEN LEADERS

Some universities have successful teams. At the University of Iowa, you'll be a member of one of the most successful, most progressive athletic departments in America today. Iowa's athletic facilities are constantly being improved and upgraded, including a $47 million renovation project in Carver-Hawkeye Arena, the home of Iowa basketball. The project was completed in September 2011.

The men's basketball team has had seven winning seasons in the past 11 years, making six postseason appearances in that time. Iowa's women's basketball team shared the Big Ten Conference regular season title in 2008, finished runner-up at the 2010 Big Ten Tournament and has advanced to postseason play in 10 of the last 11 seasons, including advancing to the second round of the NCAA Tournament two years ago.

The Hawkeye football team has won 78 games over the past nine seasons, competing in eight bowl games during that span, six of which were premiere January bowl games in the state of Florida. The football team has won a school record three consecutive bowl games (Outback, Orange and Insight). Last year, an interception return for a touchdown was the difference in Iowa's thrilling win over Missouri.

The Hawkeye wrestling squad dominated its sport three of the last four years, winning Big Ten Conference regular season dual and postseason tournament titles in 2008, 2009 and 2010. The Hawkeyes, under fifth-year Coach Tom Brands, marched through the national tournament, claiming their 21st, 22nd and 23rd national team crowns the past 38 seasons.

In addition to women's basketball and wrestling, Iowa's nationally-recognized field hockey program won its third-straight Big Ten Tournament title three years ago and advanced to the NCAA Final Four. Iowa's track and field squad had a tremendous run in 2010 and 2011, winning the Big Ten outdoor championship and placing eighth at the NCAA indoor championships. Furthermore, the Iowa men's golf team finished second at the Big Ten Championships and advanced to its second NCAA Championships in three years, placing 10th in 2011.

Along with the success on the playing fields, Iowa's student-athletes also excel in areas of academics and community service. In 2006, Iowa was the only Division I football program in the nation to have three players named to the academic all-America first team. In men's basketball, 2007 senior Adam Haluska, a second round selection in the NBA Draft, was named the Division I Academic all-American of the Year.

IOWA BASKETBALL

Iowa basketball has posted seven winning seasons in the last 11 years, capped by NCAA Tournament appearances in 2005 and 2006. The Hawkeyes have posted a 71-31 home record over the last six seasons.

IOWA WRESTLING

Led by 10 all-Americans, the Hawkeye wrestling squad repeated its accomplishments of 2008 and 2009, winning Big Ten Conference and NCAA team titles. Iowa has won 12 NCAA titles in the past 21 years and has claimed 30 Big Ten titles over the past 37 seasons. Head Coach Tom Brands was tabbed Big Ten Coach of the Year for the second-straight year, while Matt McDonough was honored as the league's top freshman in 2010.

IOWA FOOTBALL

The Hawkeye football team enjoyed another successful season under Coach Kirk Ferentz, who was recognized as Big Ten Coach of the Year for the third time in the last nine seasons in 2009. Ferentz and the Iowa Hawkeyes are one of only four college football programs in the nation to win a bowl game in each of the last three seasons. Iowa's 78 victories over the last nine seasons are second most in the Big Ten and 16th best in the country.

1 - Carver-Hawkeye Arena has served as the home of Iowa basketball since 1983. The Hawkeyes are 71-31 in home games over the past six seasons.

2 - Kinnick Stadium, the home of Iowa football, is one of the toughest stadiums to play in in the country for visitors. Iowa boasts the 11th-best home winning percentage (.816) in the country over the past nine seasons.

3 - Iowa's track and field squad won the Big Ten outdoor championships and placed eighth at the NCAA indoor championships.

4 - The Iowa men's golf team surged last season, winning five tournaments, placed third at the Big Ten Championships and 10th at NCAA's.

The backcourt duo were two of five Big Ten players who played on the squad. Cartwright and Gatens joined Anthony Johnson of Purdue, Minnesota's Elliott Eliason and Mike Bruesewitz of Wisconsin.

In addition to sightseeing and experiencing a different culture, the Hawkeye duo saw action in four games, splitting time with their other eight teammates. Gatens averaged 8.8 points, 3.8 rebounds, 1.8 assists and 1.8 steals, while Cartwright averaged 6.8 points, 2.5 assists and 1.5 steals.

HAWKEYES INVOLVED IN THE COMMUNITY

COMMUNITY ACTIVITIES

Members of the University of Iowa basketball team and members of the basketball staff are very involved in charitable events and organizations throughout the Iowa City community.

The Iowa staff and players are frequent visitors to patients at the UI Hospitals & Clinics and the Ronald McDonald House, located next to Carver-Hawkeye Arena on the Iowa campus. The basketball program provides hundreds of autographed items each year (such as basketballs, schedule cards, schedule posters, etc. . . ), which generate funds for a variety of charities.

In addition, Iowa's preseason exhibition game each season is presented by the Children's Miracle Network to benefit the Children's Hospital of Iowa.

"I believe community service activities are very important. The state of Iowa does so much to support our program, we believe community service activities are a great way to give back and show how much we appreciate their support."

We have a saying in the UI Department of Athletics, 'Today's Hawkeyes Are Tomorrow's Leaders' and we take great pride in helping mold our student-athletes into leaders, on and off the court."

Jarryd Cole and Matt Gatens, and women's basketball student-athlete Kachine Alexander, had a fun afternoon visiting Camp Courageous in Monticello, Iowa interacting with campers.

Coach McCaffery and a number of Iowa basketball players participated in last summer's Relay For Life, which is a benefit for the American Cancer Society.

Former Hawkeye Adam Haluska (left) and his New Orleans Hornets teammates were involved in a reading program with elementary school children in the New Orleans area. Haluska was selected in the 2007 NBA Draft by the Hornets.

IOWA STUDENT-ATHLETES TAKE PART IN DAY OF CARING

Each year, University of Iowa male and female student-athletes take part in the Hawkeye Day of Caring. The student-athletes join with Iowa coaches, administrators and staff in performing service projects for many agencies around the Iowa City area.

The Iowa Day of Caring has provided assistance to Chatham Oaks, Glenwood Manor, Elderly Services, Senior Dining, Iowa City Crisis Center, Iowa City Parks and Recreation Department, Neighborhood Centers and the Iowa City Care Center. Last year, Iowa basketball student-athletes visited patients and assisted on a landscaping project at the VA Hospital.

Iowa Day of Caring is the brainchild of the Iowa Student Athlete Advisory Committee, whose goal has been to increase the level of community service among its teams and individuals. Iowa Day of Caring is an annual opportunity for Iowa's student-athletes to offer their support to service organizations throughout the community.

Iowa's campus is set right in the city's downtown area, where you'll find dance clubs, movies, coffeehouses, and restaurants to suit every taste. Iowa City businesses are convenient and geared toward student tastes and needs.

A CAMPUS ON THE MOVE

The University of Iowa campus caters to pedestrians and bicyclists; it's compact enough to cross in a 20-minute walk. A free ride on a campus bus can cut that time in half. Entertainment on campus and in Iowa City is geared toward student budgets, with many events offered at no charge.

Iowa City has more bookstores, coffee shops, restaurants, record shops, and movie theaters in its downtown area -- right next to campus -- than you'll find in cities many times its size.

Local service agencies combine with campus programs to provide a wide range of helping services for students and student families.

Hancher Auditorium brings the world's finest musicians, dancers, actors, and entertainers to the University. It is part of the Iowa Center for the Arts, which includes the Museum of Art and cultural/educational programs in music, theatre, art and art history, dance, and literary arts.

Iowa City is alive with festivals and ethnic celebrations. Music, drama, and dance can be found on stage or on street corners. Sculptures adorn campus green spaces and plazas, and work by local artists and craftspeople entice visitors to outdoor markets.

The University of Iowa offers more than 400 student organizations, extensive recreation facilities, 50 fraternities and sororities, and a broad schedule of arts performances, lectures, cultural celebrations and club sports and intramural athletic contests to go along with the intercollegiate competition within the Big Ten Conference.

The University of Iowa can help put enthusiasts on board a hot air balloon or a sailboat. Weight lifting, tennis, fencing, the martial arts, handball, soccer, rugby, football, spelunking, horseback riding, gymnastics, or golf -- Iowa students do them all.

CULTURAL DIVERSITY AT THE UNIVERSITY OF IOWA

The University of Iowa has worked hard to assure that students of all races, creeds, and backgrounds are represented in the student body. The Center for Diversity and Enrichment is a coordinated university-wide resource for creating and maintaining this campus diversity and providing opportunities for all University students interested in other cultures. Scholarships, fellowships, and support programs help to make this possible. International Programs bring together scholars from around the world and UI students looking to expand their perspectives by studying abroad or exploring global issues on campus.

The University of Iowa has been recognized by Kaplan/Newsweek College Catalogue as one of the top schools in the country for supporting diversity.

U.S. News & World Report, in its yearly rankings, has ranked the University of Iowa 24th among American public national universities for undergraduate education. Iowa ranks in the top 15% of some 161 public universities across the country.

A quality education is one of the highest priorities at the University of Iowa. Just over 90 percent of Johnson County residents have graduated from high school, and in Iowa City nearly half of all residents have earned bachelor's degrees. In fact, census statistics indicate Johnson County is the 10th "smartest" county in the nation, based on percentage of residents holding bachelor's degrees.

The University of Iowa represents a strong presence in the community while enhancing the quality of life in Iowa City.

Your aspiration may be a career in medicine, law or education. Regardless of the specific career field, it's important to identify the college basketball program that places a high priority on academics and allows you to take full advantage of the tremendous educational opportunities available.

At the University of Iowa, student-athletes learn quickly that academic success is the highest priority.

"We expect our student-athletes to perform at the highest level not only on the court, but in the classroom. An education is of the utmost importance at the University of Iowa and leaving the University of Iowa with a degree and becoming community leaders is paramount for our student-athletes.

"Student-athletes have all resources available to them on campus to excel in both athletics and academics. Our student-athletes are surrounded by support from our administration, academic advisors, teachers and coaches, in an effort to provide an elite learning environment that is conducive to reaching the highest level of success in all phases of their academic pursuits."

WINNING IN THE CLASSROOM

Adam Haluska, a Hawkeye senior in 2007, earned national recognition as a University of Iowa student-athlete, both on the basketball court and in the classroom. A native of Carroll, Iowa, Haluska elevated his game in his final year, leading the Big Ten Conference in scoring while earning first team all-Big Ten recognition.

While he averaged over 20 points per game on the court, Haluska was even more impressive in his academic pursuits. He was a three-time Academic All-American, concluding his college career by being named the Academic All-American of the Year for Division I men's basketball. Along with earning his degree from the University of Iowa, Haluska was drafted in the second round of the 2007 NBA Draft.

In 2006, Iowa was the only Division I program in the nation to have two players earn academic all-America status, as Greg Brunner joined Haluska in earning the national honor.

Annual graduation rates released by the NCAA show that Iowa annually ranks among the leaders in the Big Ten Conference in graduation rates among its student-athletes. Iowa's graduation rate among student-athletes has ranked above the graduation percentage compiled by the entire student body in each of the past 15 years.

Under the direction of Fran McCaffery, academic performance of the members of the men's basketball program is monitored closely.

"Education is a priority at the University of Iowa. Our student-athletes' academic performance is constantly monitored by academic advisors and the coaching staff. The resources are available for our student-athletes to succeed in the classroom and reach their academic potential.

The coaching staff is in constant communication with our student-athletes to make sure they are on the right academic path."

From the first visit for any prospective student-athlete, to the completion of their academic and athletic career at Iowa, academic personnel play a large role in the career of Hawkeye student-athletes. Beginning with the on-campus visits, student-athletes are introduced to professors in their selected field of study, and are able to establish a relationship and develop an understanding of the academic setting in which they will be involved.

THE RUSSELL AND ANN GERDIN ATHLETIC LEARNING CENTER

The University of Iowa Russell and Ann Gerdin Athletic Learning Center, opened in the fall of 2003, is the latest project to be added to Iowa's facilities. The Learning Center features an auditorium, two classrooms, study lounges for freshmen and upper-class student-athletes, a computer lab, a teaching lab, the athletic library, office space for Iowa's Academic Student Services staff and a display area to recognize the academic accomplishments of Iowa's student-athletes.

"The University of Iowa's diverse educational fields appeal to students with varied interests. Earning a degree from such a distinguished University is an accomplishment that can open a number of doors. There is a national respect for University of Iowa graduates."

LIFE SKILLS PROGRAM

The University of Iowa Athletic Department is committed to provide educational experiences and services to develop well-balanced lifestyles for student-athletes. The Athletic Student Services staff is committed to help the student-athlete derive maximum benefits from their athletics and college experience. Learning about who you are, acquiring self-understanding, a positive self-image, learning decision-making and coping skills to deal with the pressures and stresses of growing up all lead to a high quality of life as a student and an athlete at Iowa.

TRANSITION SEMINAR

The Transition Seminar runs for 12 weeks (90 minutes per week) at the beginning of the fall semester. This seminar, which is attended by all new students, explores personal and academic issues stemming from the transition from high school to college and adjustment issues that are unique to student-athletes. Its purpose is to help student-athletes improve their performance and persistence at Iowa.

These are highly interactive sessions with emphasis on group discussion in order for the student-athletes to learn from each other. Some of the topics are: introduction to the University library, personal and academic goal-setting, time management, personal responsibility and accountability, substance abuse, relating to professors, study skills, diversity and ethics.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS

Throughout the year, Athletic Student Services sponsors and conducts educational programs. These are seminars, speakers, workshops and short courses on issues of personal growth and life skills, with a primary focus on alcohol and other drugs. These programs, which are often topics suggested by student-athletes, appeal to a variety of audiences, including specific teams, age groups (i.e., freshmen, fourth-year seniors) or department-wide.

Subjects that have been addressed in the past include alcohol and self-esteem, healthy intimacy, sexual assault, personal responsibility and accountability, communicating with coaches, stress management, racial diversity, time management, learning strategies and transitions from college to professional life.

CAREER GUIDANCE AND DEVELOPMENT

Planning a meaningful career and a fulfilling life is an ongoing process of expanding and narrowing choices, beginning when the student-athlete arrives on campus and continuing throughout their college career and lifetime. This process includes learning about who you are (e.g., your values, abilities and interests) and using that information to choose courses leading eventually to an academic major by the end of the second year.

The process continues with "building a resume" and exploring other college and community activities (e.g., campus organizations, student government, community service, church involvement). An important step is to learn about the world of work, growing industries, employment forecasts and how the student-athlete interests and abilities fit. Summer internships, fieldwork and volunteering are all valuable experiences that lead to reasonable decisions about a career.

As the student-athlete approaches their senior year, they need to explore their options for life after graduation (i.e., full time work, graduate or professional school or professional sports). Those decisions will require further planning, whether it is to develop a job strategy and resume, or to apply to graduate schools and take entrance exams.

Athletic Student Services offers individual consultation, career development seminars and workshops, referrals to other campus offices and special events, such as the Senior Student-Athlete Recognition Banquet in Des Moines for graduating student-athletes. This event is an opportunity for graduating seniors to be recognized by the governor for their contributions to the people of Iowa and to meet and network with professional and business executives across the state of Iowa.

Athletic counselors and staff members from Athletic Student Services help student-athletes identify their choices, clarify their plans and refer them for further assistance to other student service offices on campus.

A COMMITMENT TO ACADEMIC SUCCESS

To many, the members of the University of Iowa basketball team are simply campus celebrities who play before fans packed into arenas across the country.

However, to the staff in Iowa's Office of Athletic Student Services, these young men are individuals confronted with the same routine problems of the ordinary college student. Instead of talking jump shots and slam dunks, the Student Services staff works alongside the student-athletes in dealing with their "off-the-court" problems.

The staff works with faculty advisors scheduling classes for each student-athlete, making certain each course is geared toward the educational and professional goals of that specific student-athlete. The office also provides tutors for student-athletes as well as assistance in finding summer and permanent employment opportunities in the area of their career ambitions.

Once on campus, every first-year student-athlete attends a series of lectures that investigate the academic sphere at the University of Iowa. These discussion sessions help prepare the student-athlete on subjects as diverse as relaxing prior to an exam to the most effective way to study for an essay test.

First-year student-athletes are also involved in special study sessions. The Student Services staff oversees the program, but the entire coaching staff is actively involved in its day-to-day operation.

The Office of Student Services has proven most beneficial to student-athletes at the University of Iowa. For the student-athlete, the staff is a group of men and women who look beyond the immediate interests of college and athletics, concentrating instead on the long-term interests of the student-athlete.

"Athletic Student Services assist student-athletes in handling academic and social problems they may face. We want the student-athlete to feel comfortable with our staff to the extent that they can come to us and talk about anything.

We also push the student-athlete to excel, and on many occasions after a student-athlete leaves the University of Iowa, he'll call back and say how he appreciated the help and support we gave him when he was here."

PREPARING FOR THE FUTURE

"For today's Hawkeyes to become tomorrow's leaders, securing meaningful work after football requires knowledge about the work world; mastering writing, speaking, research, problem solving and computer skills; summer work experiences, professional contacts and a job search plan. We offer programs and services that help the student-athlete acquire all of these."

Getting the most out of your educational experience means preparing for the life that follows after basketball and college. At the University of Iowa, student-athletes have access to support services which will assist them in securing employment in the career field that matches their interests, skills and education.

Working with the staff of the Iowa Athletic Department's Office of Student Services and the University's Career Center, student-athletes identify their interests and career options, select a program of appropriate academic study and explore the world of work through internships and the many resources available.

The Iowa Athletic Department assists student-athletes in making the transition from college to full time employment by introducing them to business and professional leaders during the annual Senior Student-Athlete Recognition Banquet in Des Moines. This "networking" often results in job interviews and, for many student-athletes, permanent employment.

University of Iowa student-athletes are encouraged to participate in the Career Center's Career Leadership Academy, a variety of workshops on job search skills, resume writing, interviewing, relocation, employment and industry trends, conducted by staff from the Career Center and Athletic Student Services.

Former student-athletes and potential employers are invited to the University of Iowa to discuss with student-athletes the world of work and how to effectively "market" themselves in an increasingly competitive workplace.

"There are countless resources on this campus for student-athletes. The Gerdin Athletic Learning Center is a wonderful place to get help on academics and get your work done in a quiet study area. The staff is incredible and does a great job of making sure we are on top of school work and will get us tutors and study groups when needed. The building is very modern; full of many computers available to you at any time throughout the week.

It's our responsibility to do the work and stay on top of things, but there is a great support system at this University that makes it that much easier to be successful at the college level. The team has structured study hours that help us bond, achieve more in the classroom and push each other towards excellence in academics."

STUDENT RETENTION PROGRAM

The graduation rate of student-athletes at the University of Iowa each year has been higher than the national average, exceeding that of the student body as a whole and ranking among the best in the Big Ten Conference and the nation.

However, the Iowa Hawkeyes aren't known for resting on their laurels. That's why the Iowa Athletic Department continues to seek ways to enhance existing academic support programs to increase the chance that all student-athletes at the University will reach their academic goals.

Essential to Iowa's approach to this complex problem is a pro-active retention program. The program is founded on a strong principle: the longer a student-athlete attacks his academic challenges as hard as he attacks his daily practices and competition, the more likely that student-athlete will achieve academic success.

The goal of the retention program is to move a student-athlete from a passive to a pro-active position in the retention process; from observer to participant. The Retention Program has been designed to assist student-athletes who need extra support services in order to achieve academic success.

There are several reasons why the UI's retention program has been successful. First, the program is under the direction of one full-time staff member.

Mrs. Susan Walker, who joined the Iowa staff in 1982, earned both her bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Iowa. Prior to heading the retention program Walker served 14 years as a counselor for Iowa's football athletes.

Walker spearheads a support team which works directly with students, faculty and other academic staff members. Iowa's student-athletes benefit from the ongoing efforts that one full-time specialist can put toward the program and their needs.

The UI program includes an "early warning system" which helps identify potential difficulties for the student-athletes. This process begins upon receipt of the college entrance exams and high school transcripts, and continues throughout the student-athletes' entire academic experience at the University of Iowa.

The Office of Student Services looks to other offices for assistance in providing a fully-integrated approach to student retention. Staff members encourage student-athletes to also take full advantage of the expertise available from faculty members and the numerous excellent campus-wide academic support systems.

"In order to achieve academic success at the University of Iowa you need focus, organization and most of all hard work. Being a student-athlete makes that challenge even more demanding. Getting off to a good start and getting established academically is very important. As a freshman last year, I quickly realized how helpful my academic coordinator could be. He helped me with time management, scheduling tutors and answering questions.

It is a real advantage for us, as athletes, to have the assistance we do from the Student Services staff and the facilities at the Gerdin Learning Center. We are blessed to have the amount of resources here at Iowa to prepare us for academic success."

ROY DEVYN MARBLE
Sophomore Guard/Forward
Southfield, Michigan

"The Iowa Retention Program has been broadened each year as we have developed new initiatives in addressing the academic needs of the student-athletes. We spend a large amount of time in one-on-one meetings and developing individual educational plans."

When a student-athlete considers his future, he should consider prospects beyond basketball. He should consider where he wants to be in five, 10, 15 years from today and the best course of action for getting there. Also, he should decide early on to commit to excellence in every challenge undertaken.

Without a doubt, the men and women listed here took time to consider their future and the ways to get there. These former University of Iowa undergraduates have gone on to become leaders in their chosen fields. They also pursued their academic studies as strongly as the Iowa Hawkeyes go after a loose ball or rebound.

TAKE A CLOSER LOOK

Serious about taking advantage of your educational opportunity and earning a degree? At the University of Iowa, the numbers are stacked in your favor.

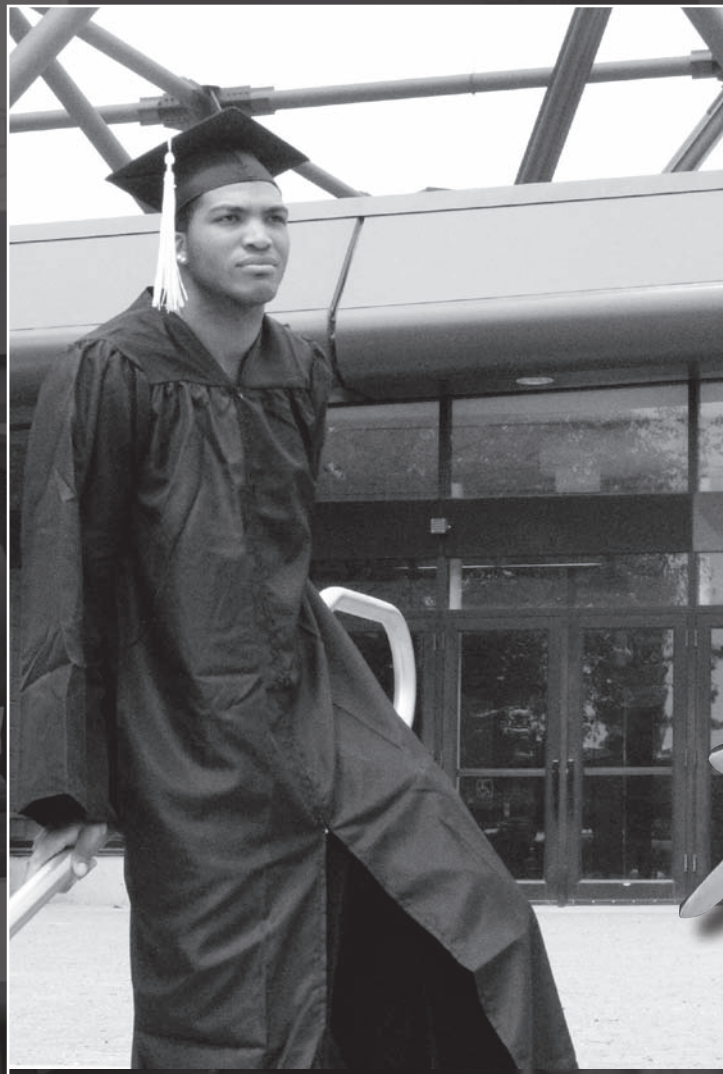

Iowa's student-athletes have outperformed the University's entire student population each year since the NCAA started requiring a report of student-athlete graduation rates.

Student-athletes with scholarships who enrolled in the University of Iowa in 2000-2001 graduated at a higher rate (72%) than non-student-athletes, according to a report filed by the University with the NCAA last spring. And, when Iowa students get their degree, they are finding a quick start to their careers. In recent years, graduates in Iowa's largest colleges have had an 88 percent placement rate.

Over the past 26 years, basketball players at the University of Iowa have earned their degrees at a very high rate of success. From 1979 through 2011, over 88% of basketball players on scholarship at the University of Iowa have earned their college degree.

Greg Brunner (left) and Adam Haluska each earned CoSIDA academic all-America recognition in 2006. Haluska, as a senior, was named the 2007 CoSIDA Academic All-American of the Year for Division I men's basketball. He also earned first team all-Big Ten honors after leading the conference in scoring and was a second round selection in the NBA Draft.

Senior Jarryd Cole graduated from the University of Iowa in 2010. Cole earned his bachelor's degree in English.

HAWKEYES EARN ACADEMIC HONORS

When Luke Recker joined the Iowa basketball program for his final two seasons, he brought more than his basketball skills. Recker, as a junior and senior, earned academic all-America honors. Recker was a three-time honoree on the academic all-Big Ten team.

Jared Reiner, who led the Big Ten in rebounding in 2003, earned academic all-Big Ten honors in each of his final three seasons, earning his business degree in four years.

Adam Haluska, a senior in 2007, is the latest example of a dedicated student-athlete. Haluska was a three-time academic all-Big Ten selection. He earned academic all-America honors for three consecutive years and as a senior was named the Division I men's Academic All-American of the Year.

In 2006, Haluska and Greg Brunner were members of the CoSIDA academic all-America team, giving the Hawkeye program the distinction of being the only Division I program in the nation with two players earning academic all-America recognition.

HERKY AND THE HAWKEYES

The University of Iowa borrowed its athletic nickname from the state of Iowa many years ago.

The name Hawkeye was originally applied to a hero in a fictional novel, The Last of the Mohicans, written by James Fenimore Cooper. Author Cooper had the Delaware Indians bestow the name on a white scout who lived with them.

In 1838, 12 years after the book was published, people in the territory of Iowa acquired the nickname, chiefly through the efforts of Judge David Rorer of Burlington and James Edwards of Fort Madison.

Edwards, editor of the Fort Madison Patriot, moved his paper to Burlington in 1843 and renamed it the Burlington Hawk-Eye. The two men continued their campaign to popularize the name and territorial officials eventually gave it their formal approval.

The Hawkeye nickname gained a tangible symbol in 1948 when a cartoon character, later to be named Herky the Hawk, was hatched. The creator was Richard Spencer III, instructor of journalism.

The impish hawk was an immediate hit and he acquired a name through a statewide contest staged by the athletic department. John Franklin, a Belle Plaine alumnus, was the man who suggested Herky.

Since his birth over 50 years ago, Herky has symbolized Iowa athletics and epitomized University life. He even donned a military uniform during the Korean War and became the insignia of the 124th Fighter Squadron.

During the mid-1950s Herky came to life at a football game as the Iowa mascot. Since then Herky has been a familiar figure at Iowa athletic events.

Great fans help produce great programs and that's true at Iowa. Hawkeye fans are legendary.

THE HAWKEYE SPIRIT

The Hawkeyes established a record by winning all 17 home games in 2005-06, compiling the first perfect season in Carver-Hawkeye Arena. Iowa was nearly as impressive in 2006-07, posting a 14-2 home record. Iowa boasts a 71-31 home mark over the past six seasons.

Great fans help produce great programs and that's true at Iowa. Hawkeye fans are legendary.

Sometimes you can look at attendance figures and determine whether a basketball program has the support of the community. And sometimes you have to experience the atmosphere, color and pageantry in person. Rest assured, there's no lack of support or interest in the basketball program at The University of Iowa.

You've heard the phrase "standing room only." Well, there isn't even standing room when the Hawkeyes take the floor in Carver-Hawkeye Arena. Fans travel to Iowa City from all over the state to fill Carver-Hawkeye Arena and be a part of "Hawkeye Hysteria."

Iowa is one of the few basketball programs in America where a 15,500-seat arena has often been sold out on a season ticket basis. In addition, Iowa is one of very few universities where basketball and football have often sold out on a season ticket basis. And there probably isn't another campus in the country where the fans have greater love and enthusiasm for their university and basketball team than Iowa.

The love affair between the Hawkeyes and their fans never fails to amaze people unfamiliar with the Iowa basketball program and the loyalty of the people of Iowa.

Along with attracting over 70,000 fans for football games in Kinnick Stadium and over 15,000 for home basketball games, Iowa wrestling also ranks among the national leaders in home attendance. Iowa wrestling has led the nation in dual meet attendance in each of the last four years. Iowa's dual meet against Iowa State in 2008 in Carver-Hawkeye Arena drew a national collegiate dual meet attendance record of 15,955 fans.

Iowa also has drawn sellout crowds when playing exhibition and regular season games in the Quad Cities and Des Moines.

Featuring a senior dominated team in 2005-06, the Hawkeyes were bolstered at home games by a student section that more than doubled from the previous season and grew as the unbeaten home season gained momentum throughout Big Ten Conference play.

"The Hawks Nest can really influence the game by bringing volume to Carver-Hawkeye Arena. Carver-Hawkeye is a mad house. It is one of the toughest places to play in the Big Ten."

DAVE BARNETT
Former ESPN Commentator

Every Iowa basketball game at Carver-Hawkeye Arena offers a great night of excitement and entertainment. The 15,500 Hawkeye fans, led by the "Hawks Nest" student section, the Iowa pep band, cheerleaders and dance squad, provide a great home court advantage for the Hawkeyes.

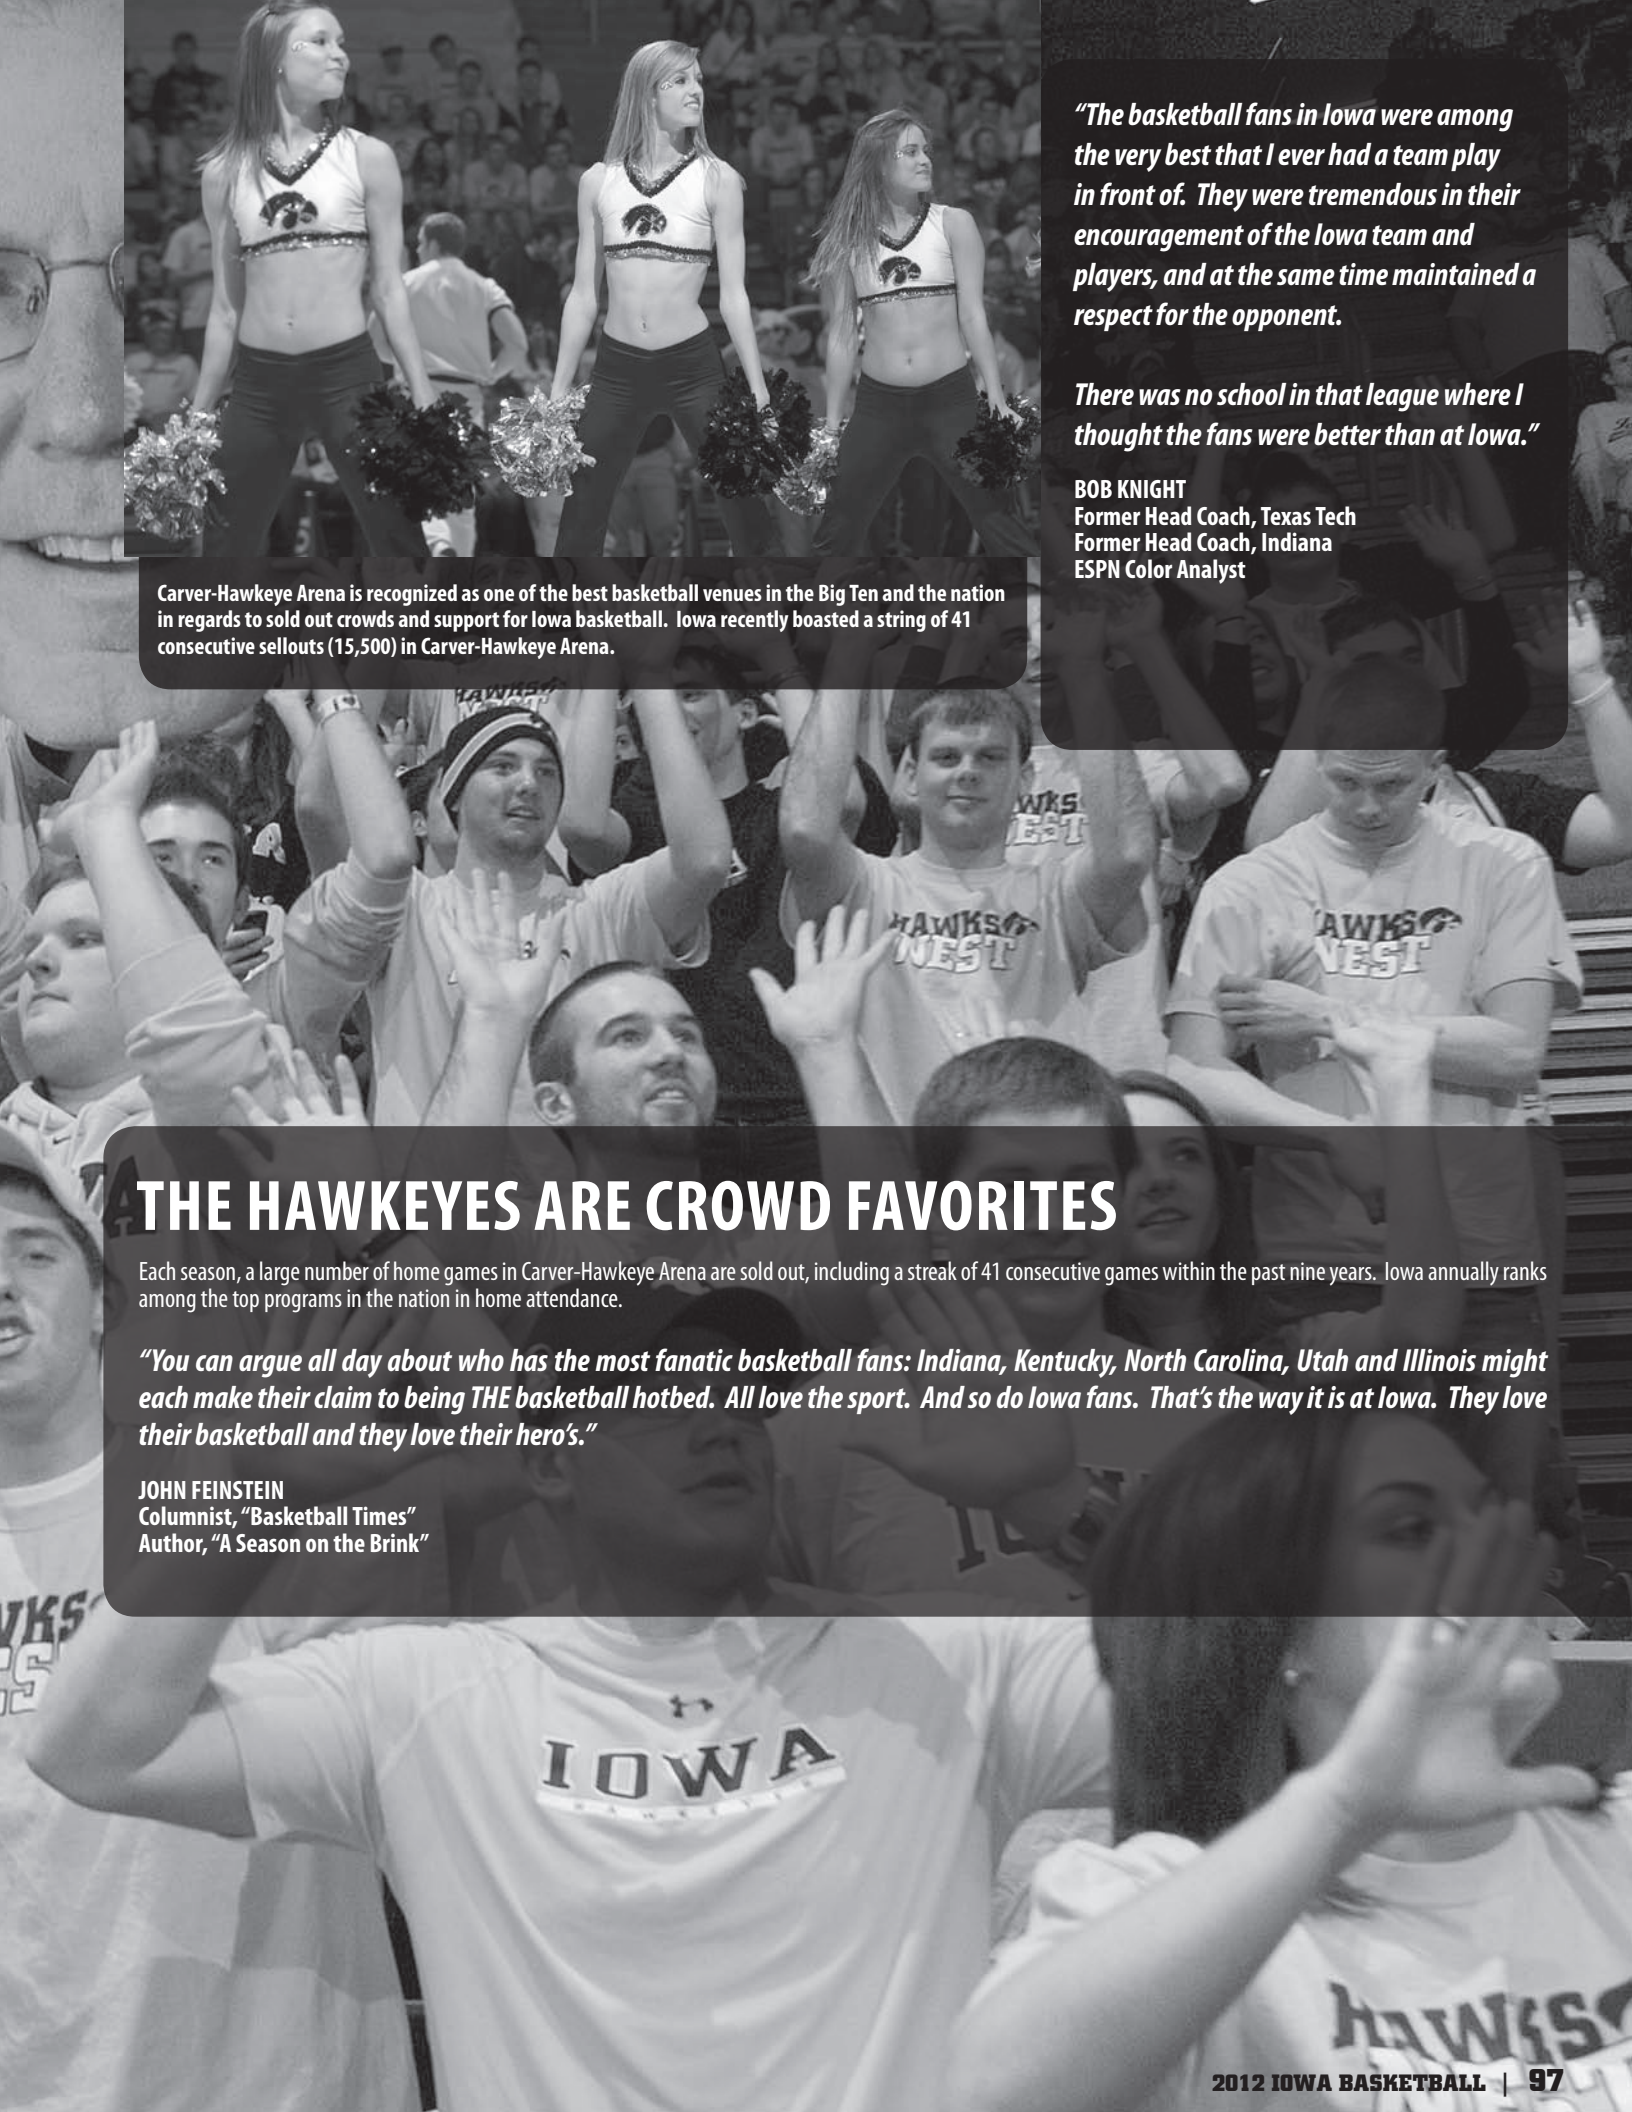

Carver-Hawkeye Arena is recognized as one of the best basketball venues in the Big Ten and the nation in regards to sold out crowds and support for Iowa basketball. Iowa recently boasted a string of 41 consecutive sellouts (15,500) in Carver-Hawkeye Arena.

"The basketball fans in Iowa were among the very best that I ever had a team play in front of. They were tremendous in their encouragement of the Iowa team and players, and at the same time maintained a respect for the opponent."

"There was no school in that league where I thought the fans were better than at Iowa."

THE HAWKEYES ARE CROWD FAVORITES

Each season, a large number of home games in Carver-Hawkeye Arena are sold out, including a streak of 41 consecutive games within the past nine years. Iowa annually ranks among the top programs in the nation in home attendance.

"You can argue all day about who has the most fanatic basketball fans: Indiana, Kentucky, North Carolina, Utah and Illinois might each make their claim to being THE basketball hotbed. All love the sport. And so do Iowa fans. That's the way it is at Iowa. They love their basketball and they love their hero's."

SUPPORTS IOWA BASKETBALL

When Sports Illustrated magazine polled the people of Iowa as part of its 50th anniversary, 58% of the fans named the Iowa Hawkeyes as their favorite team.

Since the beginning of the 1999-00 basketball season, Iowa's student cheering section has been known as "The Hawks Nest" and has occupied eight sections around the south and west areas of Carver-Hawkeye Arena, with student seating beginning at floor level in all eight sections. In addition, approximately 50 seats have been placed on the floor of the Arena in front of the student sections to be used by student season ticket holders.

The "Hawks Nest" in 2011-12 once again consists of all University of Iowa students who purchase season tickets. The development of the student support group has been fostered by the UI athletic department and the UI Student Alumni Ambassadors.

Iowa students have shown their loyalty over the past five seasons, as the size of the "Hawks Nest" more than doubled during that time. Over 1,000 Iowa students were members of the group as the Hawkeyes have posted a 71-31 home record over the last six seasons, including the first ever undefeated season in Carver-Hawkeye Arena (17-0) in 2005-06.

Iowa boasted the fifth-highest bump in average attendance last season, increasing its attendance by 23 percent from the previous year. The "Hawks Nest" is the place to be for students cheering on their Hawkeyes over the winter.

"The University of Iowa has one of the most loyal, passionate and sophisticated fan bases in the country. Our basketball fans are extremely knowledgeable, support our team and understand good sportsmanship.

I remember bringing two of my former teams to Iowa City, and Carver-Hawkeye Arena was as loud as any arena I had ever coached in. We want Carver-Hawkeye Arena to be rocking again! We want to instill the home-court advantage and make it a challenge for visitors. Our boisterous Hawks Nest provides the excitement, energy and enthusiasm of crazed Iowa students supporting Hawkeye basketball.

Fans will have fun and take great pride in wearing Black and Gold at games in Carver-Hawkeye Arena!"

HAWKEYE PLAYERS APPRECIATE SUPPORT

(Above) Few other student sections around the Big Ten match the intensity and passion as the "Hawks Nest".

"The Hawks Nest has a lot of passion and enthusiasm. Being in a state without a pro team, there is a lot of attention and support thrown at us.

Playing in Carver-Hawkeye Arena is something I dreamed about since I was a little kid and has been an incredible experience thus far. We truly have a home court advantage inside Carver with the fans being located close to the court and very loud. When the arena is full it is like no other atmosphere in America. The students in the Hawks Nest do a great job of supporting us and throwing off the visiting teams. I truly appreciate all the support the Iowa fans give us.

Our facilities will be even better this next year adding our practice facility and renovations to Carver. It will make training much easier and better with improved facilities and increased workout space. We are eager to take advantage of the state-of-the-art amenities."

A WINNING TRADITION

From the first five-player basketball game ever played on the Iowa campus in 1896, to Iowa's winning Big Ten Tournament championships in 2001 and 2006, Iowa basketball has maintained a winning tradition and ranking among the top programs in the nation.

Iowa's basketball success has included the following accomplishments over the past 109 years:

Seven winning seasons in the last 10 years, including Big Ten Tournament titles in 2001 and 2006. The Hawkeyes also finished second during the regular season in 2005-06. The Hawkeyes have advanced to postseason play in six of the past 10 years.

A record of 25-9 in 2006 as Iowa posted the second-most victories in school history. That record included an 11-5 record in Big Ten play and the championship of the 2006 Big Ten Conference Tournament.

Seventy-three winning seasons in 109 years, including 23 seasons of at least 20 victories.

Participation in both the 2006 and 2005 NCAA Tournaments as Iowa posted back-to-back seasons of 20 or more wins, earning 46 victories over the two year period.

The championship of the Big Ten Conference postseason tournament in 2001 and a total of 23 wins, a total that ties the fourth highest victory total in school history.

A league-record winning streak of seven-straight games in the Big Ten Tournament in 2001 and 2002 as Iowa played in the championship game in consecutive seasons.

Nine regular season Big Ten Conference championships, including back-to-back titles in 1955 and 1956.

Three appearances in the NCAA Final Four, including back-to-back appearances in 1955 and 1956.

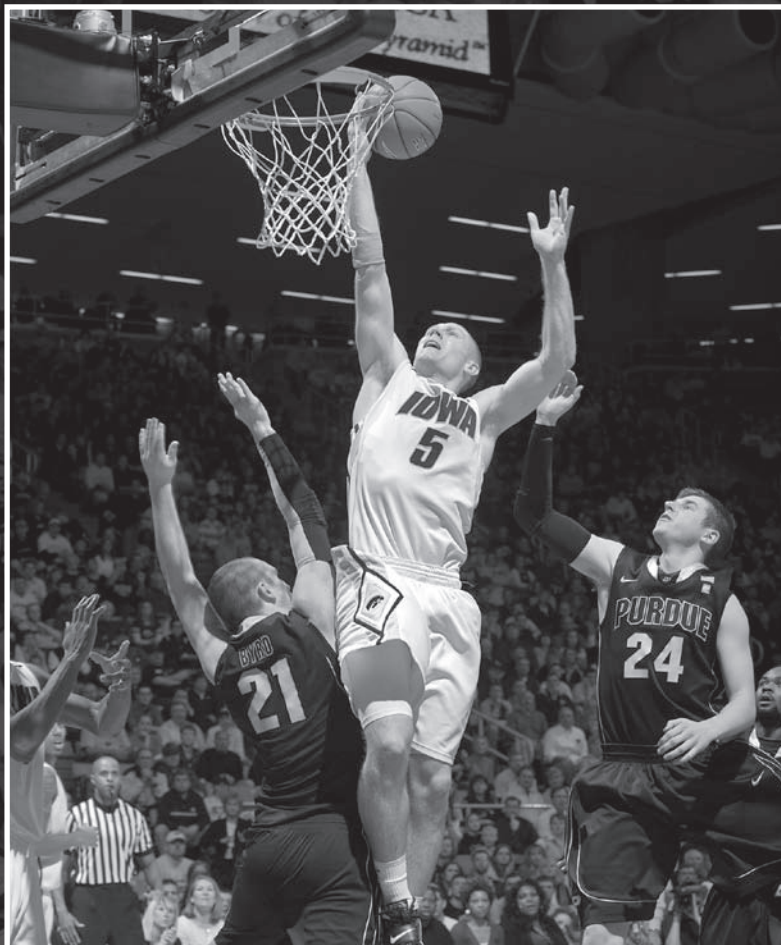

An undefeated Big Ten title in 1970 with a perfect 14-0 conference record. That team averaged 102.9 points per game in Big Ten games, a league scoring record that still stands.

A Big Ten championship team in 1980 that saw Iowa fight through injuries and make its third appearance in the NCAA Final Four.

A 30-win season in 1987 that saw the Iowa Hawkeyes reach the No. 1 ranking in the national polls while advancing to the regional finals and just missing a fourth trip to the Final Four.

In the 1980's Iowa basketball teams won at least 20 games in nine different seasons.

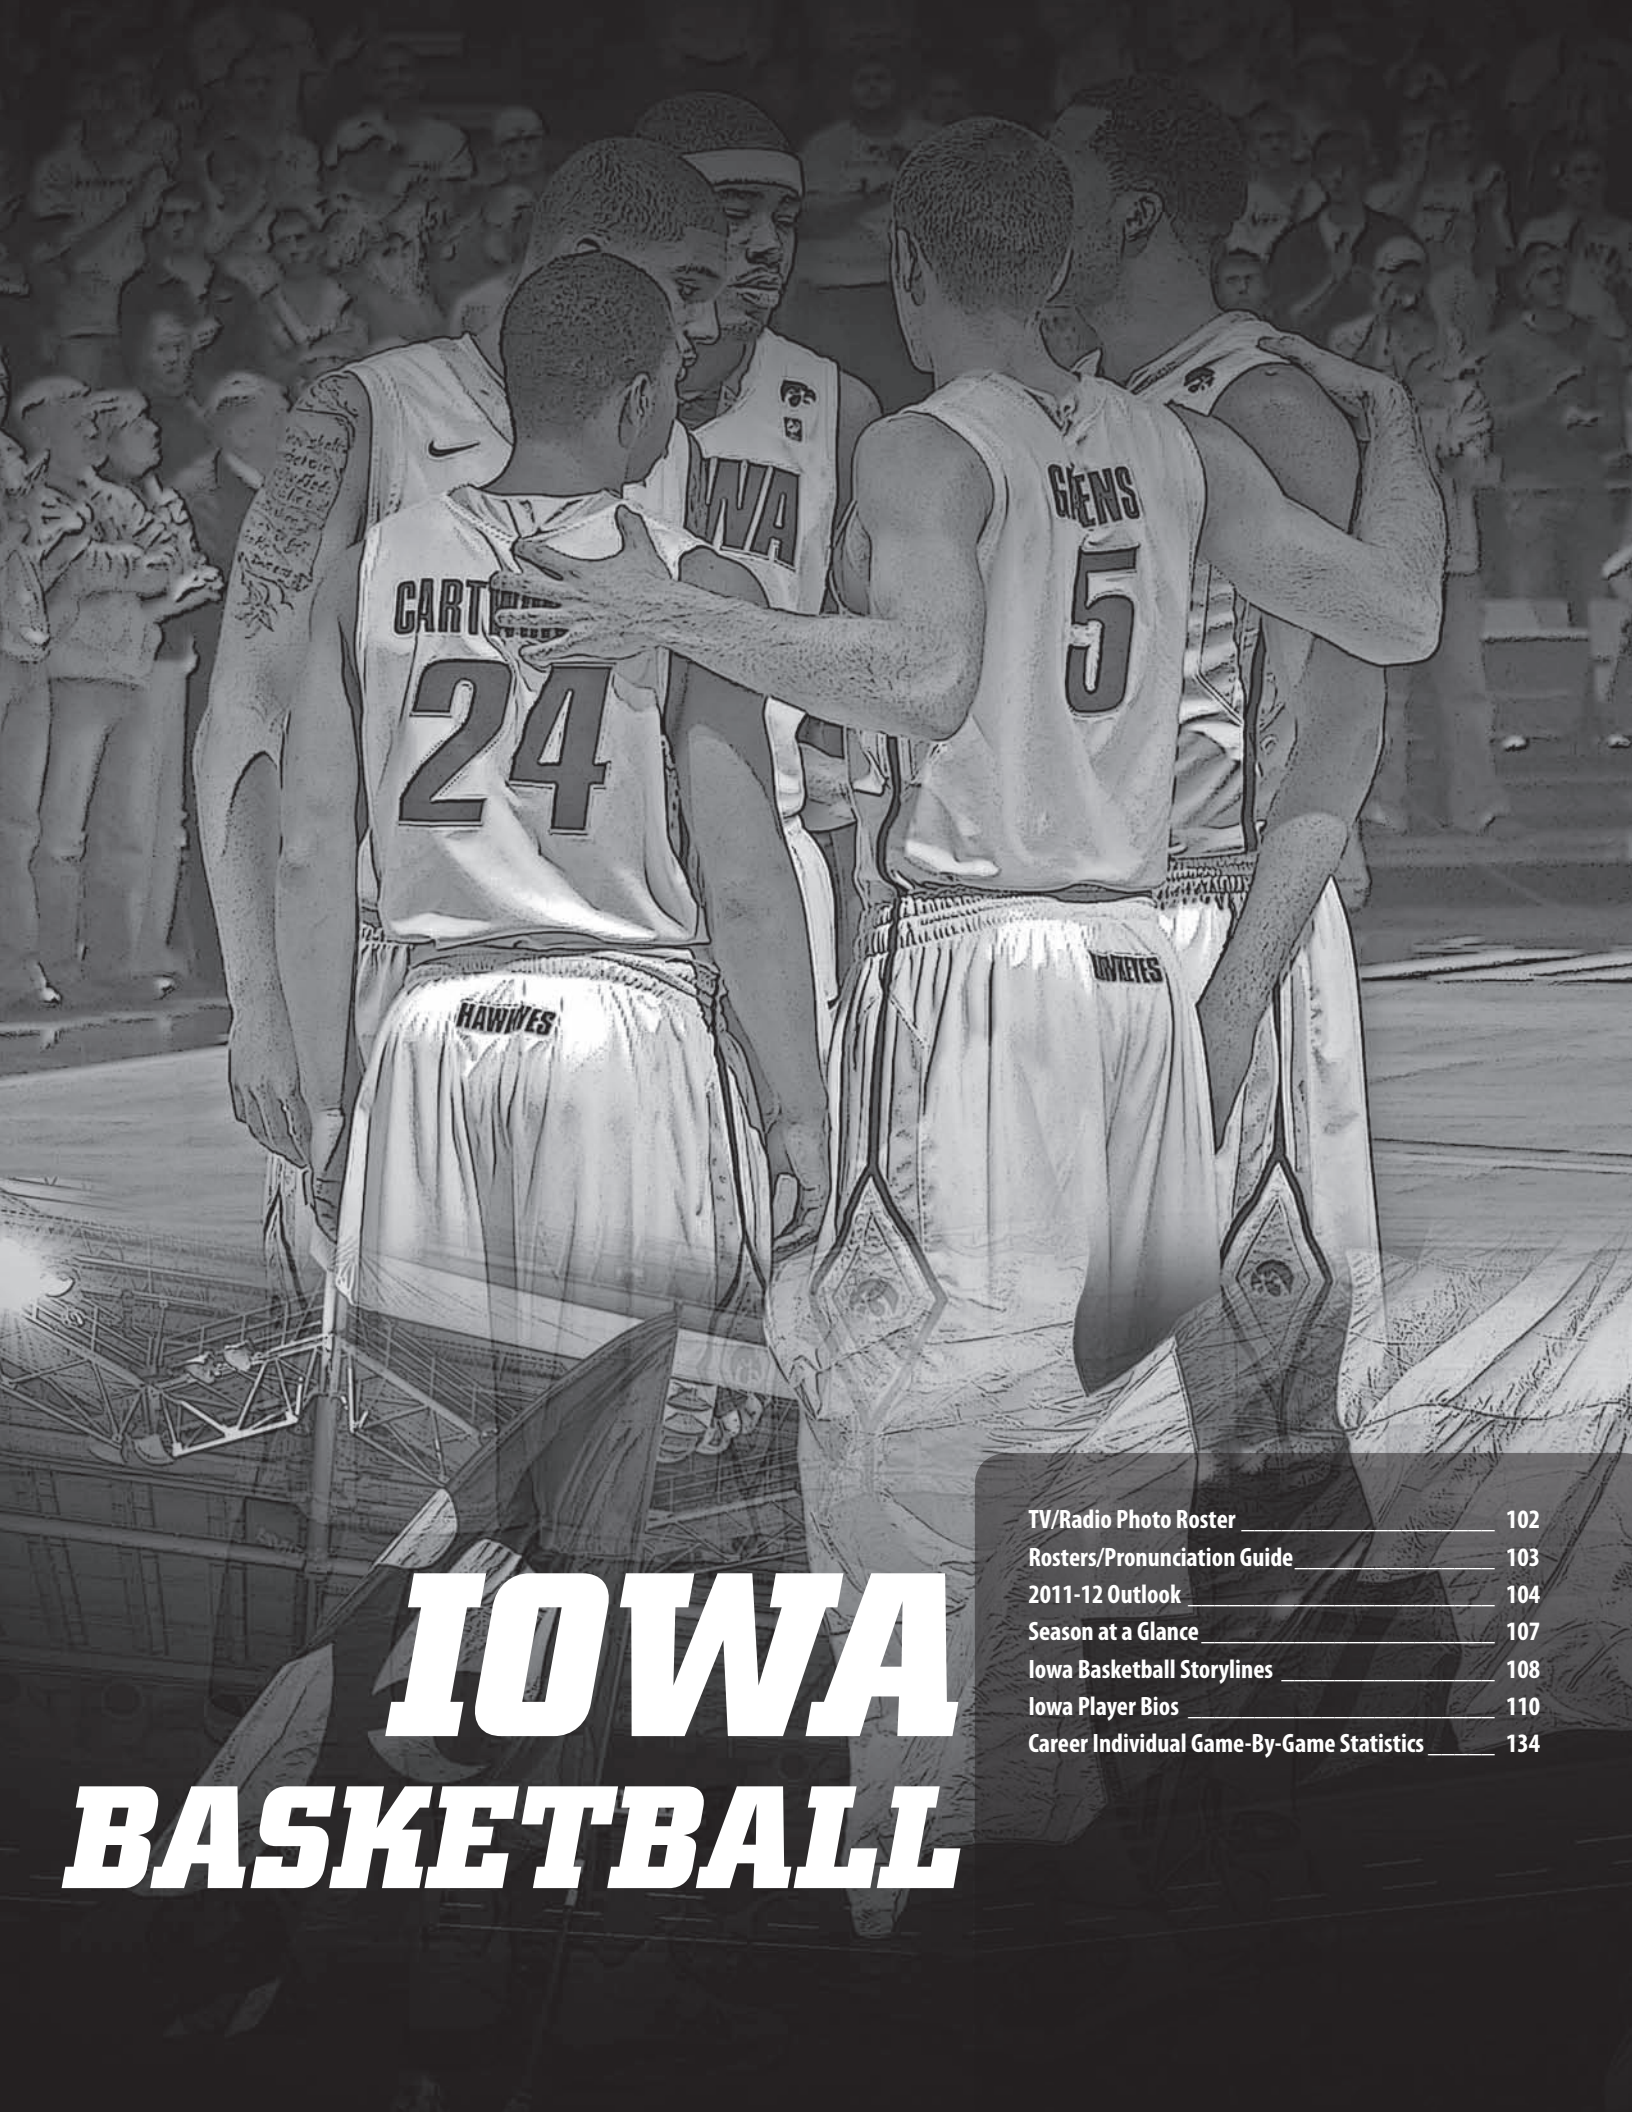

In the 1990's Iowa basketball teams won at least 20 games in seven different seasons, including five straight seasons from 1995-99.

Matt Gatens and the Iowa Hawkeyes beat sixth-ranked Purdue 67-65 last season in the regular season finale in Iowa City.

Former Hawkeye football all-Americans, including TE Dallas Clark (left), PK Nate Kaeding (center) and OL Robert Gallery (right) returned to Carver-Hawkeye Arena to cheer on the Hawkeyes.

2011-12 IOWA SEASON PREVIEW

"It's an exciting time for Iowa basketball."

It's easy to note that head coach Fran McCaffery is looking forward to his second season in Iowa City. All signs point to the Iowa basketball team being on the rise.

Last year attendance increased by 23 percent, which was the fifth-best average attendance bump in the country. Iowa's win total and statistics improved from 2010 to 2011. In addition to the Hawkeye fan base being energized by McCaffery's style of play, the University completed its $47 million practice facility and renovation project of Carver-Hawkeye Arena in August.

"This is a first class facility top-to-bottom," said McCaffery. "It's a great asset for our players to be able to get in there and work on personal development. They can come in at any time to get shots up, work on their ball handling, post moves or anything basketball related."

Iowa returns a wealth of experience in 2011-12, including 10 lettermen, and four starters. The Hawkeyes return 87 percent of their offensive production, including their top three scorers. Iowa also returns 81% of its rebounding and 92 percent of its assists.

Nineteen of Iowa's 31 regular season games will be played on Mediacom Court at Carver-Hawkeye Arena. In fact, the Hawkeyes will not leave the state of Iowa until their first Big Ten road game.

McCaffery praised Hawkeye fans for their support and believes 2011-12 will be even better.

"I thought our home crowds were terrific last season," said McCaffery. "The fans responded to how hard our kids worked, and I believe their support will be even better this year. With that many home games it is incumbent upon us to play well on our home court and collectively get off to a good start as we head into Big Ten play."

Getting off to a good start is imperative if the Hawkeyes want to make the postseason, which McCaffery says 'has to be the goal'.

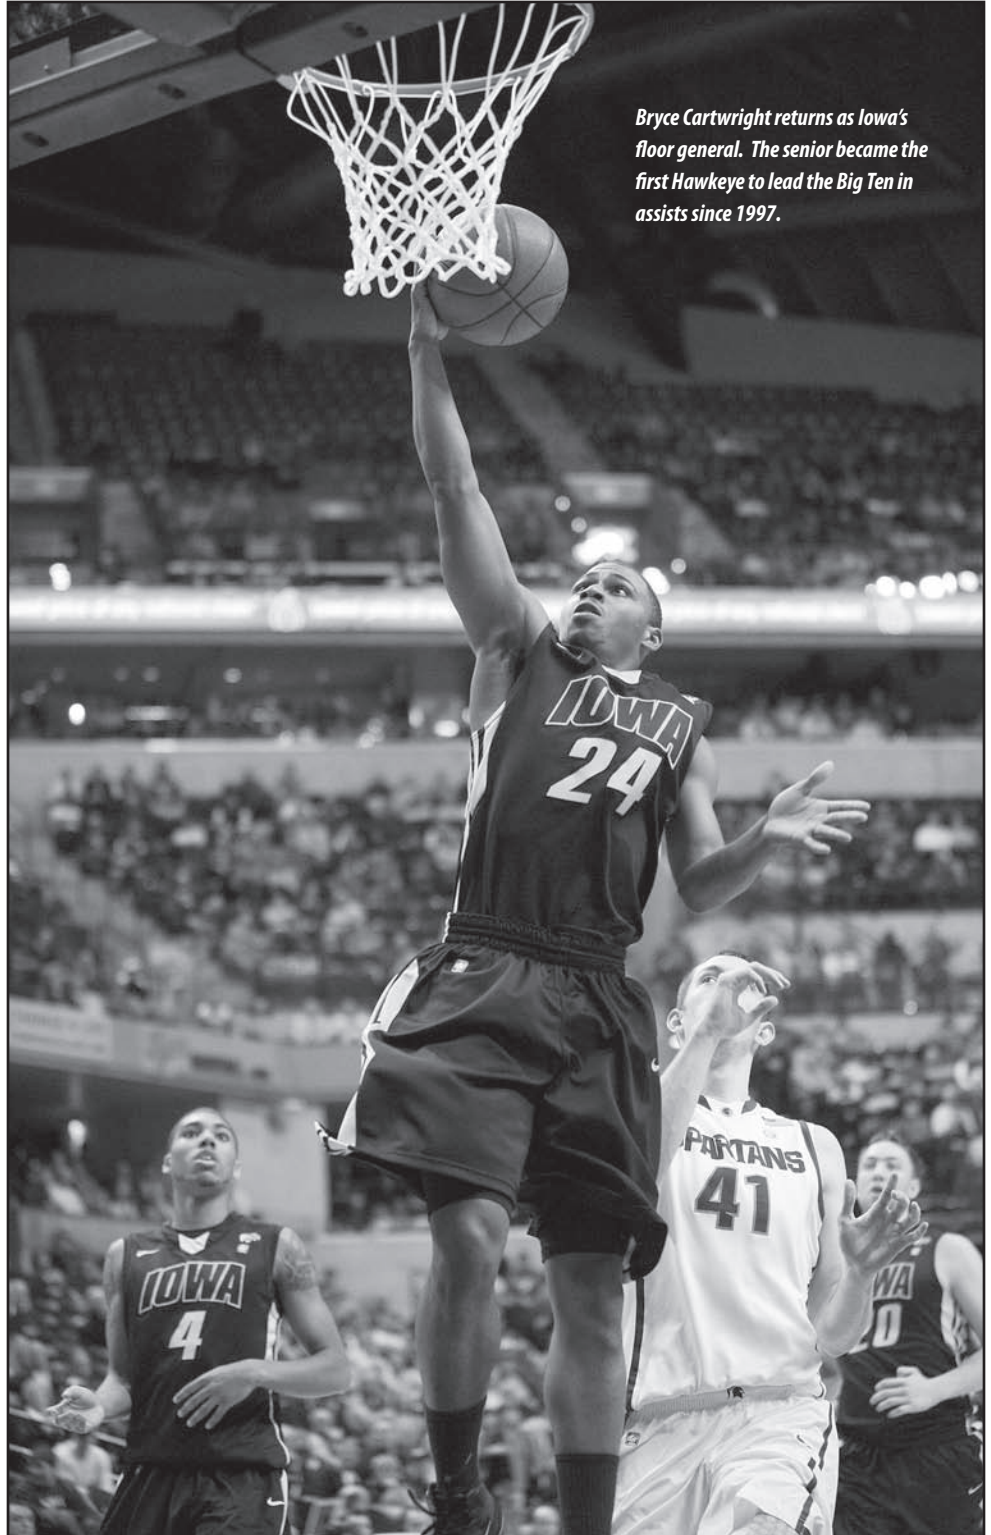

Despite posting 11 wins, Iowa made significant improvements and strides in a number of areas a year ago. The Hawkeyes lost five games by three points (two in overtime) and another two by five.

"We haven't been to the postseason in a few years, but we were able to compete with, and beat tournament teams," said McCaffery. "If we could do that last year, then certainly we can do it this year; we just have to perform on a more consistent basis."

Leading the Hawkeyes in 2012 will be a pair of senior guards and a sophomore forward. Point guard Bryce Cartwright (6-1, 188) and shooting guard Matt Gatens (6-5, 212) combined for 705 points (22.7 ppg) and 235 assists (7.6 apg), while forward Melsahn Basabe (6-7, 225) contributed 11 points and 6.8 rebounds per contest in 2011.

Gatens enters his senior campaign ranked 30th in Iowa career scoring (1,103), sixth in career 3-pointers made (164) and Big Ten career free throw percentage (235-271, .867). McCaffery says the Iowa City native had a great spring and summer and is primed for a terrific senior season.

"Matt's in the best shape of his life," said McCaffery. "As long as he stays healthy, I think his confidence is at an all-time high. He's not a turnover guy and he defends well. I believe you are going to see him shoot the ball better from three this year."

Bryce Cartwright returns as Iowa's floor general. The senior became the first Hawkeye to lead the Big Ten in assists since 1997.

Cartwright, who transferred to the Hawkeyes from Paris JC (Texas), directed Iowa's offense a year ago and hit his stride when conference play began. The native of Compton, Calif., averaged 6.8 assists during Big Ten action to become only the sixth Hawkeye to lead the league in assists. Leading the Big Ten in assists in a year that had so many talented point guards was a testament to his growth and maturation. He was rewarded, being recognized as an honorable mention All-Big Ten selection.

"Bryce did everything we asked of him a year ago," said McCaffery. "He did so with a great attitude and unselfishness about him. We asked him to have the ball in his hands and be a late-clock guy and a late-game player. Bryce pushed the ball and attacked the rim extremely well. This year, we want Bryce to be a better defender. He needs to put more pressure on the basketball.”

Basabe burst onto the scene in his inaugural season, earning All-Big Ten Freshman team laurels and honorable mention all-league praise. The native of Glen Cove, N.Y., became the first Hawkeye freshman to amass over 340 points, 200 rebounds and 40 blocks in a season. McCaffery believes Basabe has what it takes to take his game to the next level.

“Melsahn has consistently been hitting the 16-17-foot jump shot this offseason, which I believe will be very helpful,” McCaffery said. “The thing for Melsahn is to stay humble, hungry and become more consistent. If you look at his numbers, they were phenomenal last year. He has to take advantage of the experience he garnered and not get in foul trouble. We need him on the floor. I think you’ll see his numbers increase significantly.”

Speaking of rising numbers, McCaffery believes there are a handful of returnees who will see a spike in their statistics and have an impact on Hawkeye success in 2012.

“We have a few guys who I believe are in the position to have increased numbers this year,” said McCaffery. “Roy Devyn Marble and Eric May had terrific springs and summers and their numbers are going to go up. Andrew Brommer’s numbers are also going to improve.”

Brommer (6-9, 247) played in all 31 games, averaging 3.1 points and 2.4 rebounds in 2011. The native of Rosemount, Minn., had offseason knee surgery, but has since recovered, putting himself in position for a breakout year.

“Andrew had a good summer, considering he had knee surgery, and really didn’t get to start off with everybody else,” McCaffery said. “He recognizes the opportunity he has to have a productive senior year because he had some great games for us last season.”

May (6-5, 217) and Marble (6-6, 194) combined to start all 31 games at the three position a year ago. May, who started 25 games, averaged 7.8 points, 2.9 rebounds and ranked sixth in Big Ten steals (1.27). The Dubuque, Iowa, native was an Academic All-Big Ten honoree and entertained fans with his speed, quickness and dunking ability.

Marble came on strong as the season progressed, starting six contests, including the last five. The Southfield, Mich., native averaged five points, 3.3 rebounds and 1.5 assists as a starter. Marble has bulked up and improved his versatility.

McCaffery enjoys the versatility on his roster and likes the different options it gives the team.

“We have a number of guys who can play more than one position,” McCaffery said. “We have the ability to have many different combinations on the floor. You look down the bench and we can go any number of different ways.”

With the luxury of having a deeper bench and more experienced guys, McCaffery will look for his team to press and run more than it did a year ago.

“I want to play faster and do more things defensively,” said McCaffery. “That’s always going to be a function of how deep we are and also how healthy we are as the season progresses.”

Iowa also returns sophomore Zach McCabe (6-7, 232) and senior Devon Archie (6-9, 222) who add depth to the front court. Archie saw action in 23 games, while McCabe played in all 31, with two starts. McCabe averaged 5.8 points and was the team’s second-best free throw shooter, shooting at an 80 percent clip (37-46).

“The thing I like about Zach is that he has really worked on his body this summer,” said McCaffery. “I wanted him to concentrate on getting inside, rebounding the ball and utilizing his low-post game.”

Iowa has three talented newcomers on its 2012 roster. They are guard Josh Oglesby (6-5, 190), center Gabe Olaseni (6-10, 225) and forward Aaron White (6-8, 225). McCaffery says each will make a contribution to the team.

“We’ll take advantage of Aaron’s skill set and play him at both forward positions,” said McCaffery. “He has the versatility to play the perimeter and the post. Josh is going to play both guard positions because he can handle it, pass and can really shoot. He’s going to be an integral part of what we are doing. Gabe, depending on how quickly he picks things up, can be a real factor early. The real beauty of it is that if he doesn’t pick it up as quickly, we still have Brommer and Archie to get a lot of those minutes.”

The Hawkeyes also return three non-scholarship student-athletes and welcome two more. Cody Cox (6-4, 190), Darius Stokes (6-7, 190) and Branden Stubbs (6-2, 190) return for their second year with the Black and Gold, while Kyle Denning (6-2, 175) and Steven McCarty (6-0, 160) join the team this season.

McCaffery is excited to start practice in October and year two in his rebuilding.

“It makes me feel a lot better this year because not only do we have a number of guys returning we know we can count on but its year two with our system,” McCaffery said. “Every drill, play call, motion offense, our transition game -- everything is not being taught from the very beginning. We can simulate our young guys into it, and I believe they will pick it up pretty quickly.”

Melsahn Basabe averaged 11 points and 6.8 rebounds as a freshman last season. Basabe had six double-doubles a year ago, the second most of any league rookie.

IOWA STORYLINES

TEAM

Iowa boasted the fifth-largest increase in average attendance in 2011, averaging over 2,000 more Hawkeye fans per game than the previous year.

Iowa returns 87% of its offensive production, including its top three scorers. The Hawkeyes also return 81% of their rebounding and 92% of their assists.

Iowa returnees have totaled a combined 226 starts; that number includes Bryce Cartwright's 20 starts at Fresno State his freshman season.

Iowa's 2011-12 roster is comprised of 16 players: four seniors, one junior, six sophomores and five freshmen. The Hawkeyes added two non-scholarship athletes this season: Kyle Denning (6-2, 150) and Steven McCarty (6-0, 155).

Iowa will play Ohio State, Michigan, Illinois and Michigan State once this season, while playing the remaining seven conference teams twice.

Iowa will play 19 regular season home games and will not leave the state of Iowa until its first conference road game at Wisconsin on Dec. 31. The Hawkeyes will play 10 of their 13 non-league games at home.

The Hawkeyes will be televised on an ESPN network seven times this season, the most since 2006-07. Iowa will be televised on ESPNU six times and ESPN or ESPN2 once during the regular season.

Iowa has had a player named to the All-Big Ten Freshman team the last three seasons: Matt Gatens (2009); Eric May (2010); Melsahn Basabe (2011).

Iowa swept Indiana for the second consecutive year in 2011, marking the first time the Hawkeyes accomplished the feat in back-to-back seasons since 1944-45.

Iowa's bench was a major contributor in 2011. The Hawkeye reserves averaged 16.7 points, which ranked second best in the Big Ten.

The Hawkeyes had three players post double figures in 21 games, including four players netting 10 points or more in 13 contests in 2011.

Iowa had a number of near-misses in 2011, losing five games by three points (two in overtime) and another two by five points.

Iowa was 11-3 last year when having a better field goal percentage than its opponent.

INDIVIDUAL

Senior Bryce Cartwright, who was an honorable mention All-Big Ten honoree, ranked 19th in the nation in assists last year. He became one of only two Hawkeyes to be credited with eight assists or more in nine games (Andre Woolridge was the other Hawkeye).

Matt Gatens enters his senior season ranked sixth in Big Ten career free throw percentage (.867). He scored his 1,000th career point in a home game vs. Michigan State last season. Gatens led the team in scoring and 3-pointers, and ranked second in assists in 2011.

Matt Gatens has led Iowa's free throw percentage the last three seasons. He can become the first Hawkeye to ever lead the team in that statistical category for straight years if he leads the team in 2012.

Sophomore Roy Devyn Marble started six games as a rookie, including the last five. He averaged five points, 3.3 rebounds and 1.5 assists as a starter.

Andrew Brommer, who is one of four seniors on the team, was a key contributor off the bench in 2011. He posted 12 points and blocked three shots at top-ranked Ohio State last year.

Junior Eric May collected a single-season best and led the team with 38 steals in 2011. He had seven steals vs. SIUE, which are the fourth most by an Iowa player in a game.

Sophomore Zach McCabe played in all 31 games last year. McCabe ranked sixth in team scoring (5.8), third in rebounding (3.6) and was the team's second-best free throw shooter (80%).

Redshirt senior Devon Archie played in 23 games last year, providing valuable minutes off the bench. Archie notched his first career double-double vs. Xavier.

Sophomore Melsahn Basabe was named to the Big Ten All-Freshman team and was an honorable mention all-league honoree. He became the first Iowa freshman to amass over 340 points, 200 rebounds and 40 blocks. Basabe was also one of only four freshmen in the country to have four or more 20-point, 10-rebound outbursts.

Freshman Josh Oglesby was the Class 4A Player of the Year and first team all-state, all-conference, all-metro and all-area his senior season. Oglesby led the state with 87 triples in 2011.

Freshman Aaron White averaged a double-double his senior year with 23.1 points and 10 rebounds per contest. White is the second-leading all-time scorer in Strongsville High School history.

Freshman Gabe Olaseni helped lead his team to the National Association of Christian Athletes national title. Olaseni was a NACA All-American, averaging 10 points, eight rebounds and four blocks.

SEASON REVIEW

HAWKEYES CONCLUDE FIRST SEASON UNDER COACH FRAN MCCAFFERY

Iowa ended its 2010-11 season with an 11-20 record and a 4-14 mark in conference play.

Freshman Melsahn Basabe, junior Bryce Cartwright and senior Jarryd Cole earned all-Big Ten recognition. Basabe was named to the coaches' all-freshman team and earned honorable mention all-conference laurels from both the media and coaches. Cartwright was tabbed honorable mention all-Big Ten by the media voters, while Cole earned the team's Big Ten Sportsmanship Award for the second consecutive season.

It marked the third straight year that Iowa has had a student-athlete named to the coaches' all-freshman squad. In 2009, Matt Gatens was honored, while Eric May was recognized in 2010.

Iowa's schedule, again, proved to be demanding, ranking 49th in the nation in schedule strength. Nineteen of Iowa's 31 games were against teams that advanced to postseason play, including 14 contests against teams that advanced to the NCAA Tournament. Overall, 12 of Iowa's 20 opponents advanced to postseason play, eight in the NCAA Tournament and four in the NIT.

Iowa recorded Big Ten victories over sixth-ranked Purdue (67-65), Michigan State (72-52) and Indiana twice (91-77 and 64-63). The sweep of Indiana marked the first time the Hawkeyes swept the Hoosiers, in two games, in back-to-back seasons since 1944-45.

The Hawkeyes had a number of near-misses in 2011, losing five games by three points (two in overtime) and another two by five points.

Gatens led the team in scoring (12.6) and steals (1.3). Gatens has led the Hawkeyes in scoring the last two seasons. Basabe led the team in rebounding (6.8) and blocks (1.3), while Cartwright had the most assists (5.8).

Basabe and Cole were the only two Hawkeyes to start all 31 games.

DEFENSE STEPS UP IN VICTORIES

Defense was key in Iowa's 11 victories, with 10 of the 11 teams scoring 65 points or less. Hawkeye opponents averaged only 54.2 points, shooting 35% from the field, including 23% from 3-point territory, in the 11 Iowa wins. Furthermore, Iowa averaged 8.4 steals, and boasted a +6.5 rebounding margin in victories.

BALANCED SCORING

Iowa featured a balanced scoring attack, with at least three players scoring in double figures in 21 games, including four players scoring 10 points or more in 13 contests.

Seven different players led Iowa in scoring and seven averaged more than 5.7 points per outing. Matt Gatens led Iowa in scoring (12.6), followed by Melsahn Basabe (11.0), Bryce Cartwright (10.9), Jarryd Cole (8.0), Eric May (7.8), Zach McCabe (5.8) and Roy Devyn Marble (5.7).

Iowa's bench was a major contributor in 2011. The Hawkeye reserves averaged 16.7 points, which ranked second-best in the conference. Iowa's bench put up 58 points vs. SIUE, 42 against Long Beach State and 32 vs. Iowa State.

Basabe shot a team-best 57% from the field, May shot a team-best 39% from 3-point range, while Gatens led the team in free throw shooting (87%).

IOWA INVOLVED IN CLOSE GAMES

Iowa was 2-7 in games decided by five points or less, with five of the defeats coming by three points. Three of those losses came in the last five Big Ten games. Iowa stunned sixth-ranked Purdue (67-65) in the regular season finale in Iowa City on March 5 and clipped Indiana (64-63), in Bloomington, on Feb. 5 for its two narrow victories. The Hawkeyes also had possession with an opportunity to tie (Northwestern) or win (Wisconsin and Michigan), but ultimately fell short in those contests.

TWO HAWKEYES EARN ACADEMIC HONOR

It was announced after the season that senior T.J. Sayre and sophomore Eric May earned academic all-Big Ten accolades.

GATENS RANKS AMONG BIG TEN'S BEST FT SHOOTERS

Matt Gatens has converted 86.7% (235-271) of his free throw attempts. He currently is tied with Purdue's Jerry Sichting (.867, 273-315) for sixth in Big Ten career free throw percentage (minimum 200 made) behind Indiana's Steve Alford (.898, 535-596), Penn State's Joe Crispin (.885, 448-506), Wisconsin's Rick Olson (.870, 260-299) Penn State's Pete Lisicky (.868, 223-257) and Ohio State's Jamar Butler (.868, 231-266).

BASABE RANKS HIGH ON HAWKEYE ROOKIE CHARTS

Melsahn Basabe had a stellar rookie campaign in 2011 and ranks among some of the best Iowa freshman of all-time in a number of statistical categories. Basabe scored 342 points (11.0 avg.), pulled down 210 rebounds (6.8 avg.) and blocked 41 shots (1.3 avg.). Also, he was 131-229 (.572) from the field and 80-112 (.714) from the foul line. Below is where Basabe ranks among Iowa freshmen:

RANKING BASABE AMONG IOWA FRESHMEN

Rebounding	210	1st
Blocks	41	3rd
FG%	.572	3rd
FT Attempts	112	4th
FT Made	80	5th
Scoring	342	8th
FT%	.714	9th

COLE FINISHED HIS COLLEGIATE CAREER STRONG

Senior Jarryd Cole put up the best numbers of his career the last seven games, ranking first in team scoring (12.6), rebounding (6.9) and steals (1.0). He shot at a blistering 63% clip from the field (32-51) and 73% (24-33) from the foul line during that span.

The Kansas City native finished his home career by leading the Hawkeyes to a 67-65 upset win over sixth-ranked Purdue in Iowa City on March 5. Cole notched his seventh career double-double, collecting 16 points and 10 rebounds.

Cole was the only senior scholarship athlete on the team. He played for two different head coaches and was recruited by a third at Iowa.

BASABE ETCHED HIS NAME IN HAWKEYE RECORD BOOKS

Melsahn Basabe is the only Hawkeye rookie to ever amass over 340 points, 200 rebounds and 40 blocks. The native of Glen Cove, NY, finished his rookie campaign with 342 points, 210 rebounds and 41 blocks.

In fact, he is the first Iowa player -- regardless of class -- to accomplish the feat since Ryan Bowen totaled 447 points, 271 rebounds and 41 blocks his senior season in 1997-98.

IOWA TIP-INS

- Iowa returns 87.1% of its offensive production, including its top three scorers, in 2011-12. The Hawkeyes also return 81.4% of their rebounding and 91.5% of their assists.
- Iowa saw an increase in its attendance numbers in 2010-11. Compared to 2009-10, the Hawkeyes averaged 2,085 more fans than a year ago, an increase of 20%. Iowa averaged 9,550 fans in 2010, compared to 11,635 in 2011.
- Iowa collected two victories over top-50 RPI teams: Purdue (8) and Michigan State (48).
- Bryce Cartwright led Iowa in scoring (14), rebounding (7) and assists (6) in Iowa's Big Ten Tournament loss to Michigan State. The junior became the first Hawkeye to ever lead the team in those three statistical categories in a Big Ten Tournament contest. Cartwright became the first Iowa player to accomplish that feat, in any game, since Matt Gatens paced the Hawkeyes in scoring (15), rebounding (8) and assists (4) in a loss at Northwestern in 2010.
- Only two points separated Matt Gatens (236) and Melsahn Basabe (234) during conference play. Both shot the basketball exceptionally well from the foul line in Big Ten action: Gatens ranked fourth (.868, 46-53), followed by Basabe in 12th (.789, 56-71).
- Matt Gatens (1,103) ranks fourth among Big Ten seniors-to-be in career scoring. Ohio State's William Buford (1,415) ranks first followed by Northwestern's John Shurna and Indiana's Verdell Jones III (1,115).
- Eric May averaged nine points (14-22, .636 FG and 8-12, .667 FT) and 3.3 rebounds in Iowa's four Big Ten wins. Conversely, May averaged 4.4 points (19-66, .288 FG and 9-16, .563 FT) and 1.5 boards in Iowa's 14 regular season conference defeats.
- Iowa was 11-3 when having a better field goal percentage than the opposition and 8-2 when dishing out more assists.
- Iowa ranked 38th in the country in fewest fouls per game (16.5). Individually, Bryce Cartwright ranked 18th in the country in assists (5.9), while Matt Gatens ranked 31st in free throw percentage (.871).

CARTWRIGHT TIES SCHOOL RECORD

Bryce Cartwright is one of only two Hawkeyes to ever dish out eight assists or more in four straight games. The junior collected eight or more at Penn State (8), at Michigan (9), vs. Michigan State (10) and at Indiana (8). The only other Hawkeye to record eight assists or more in four-straight contests was Andre Woolridge during the 1994-95 season. Woolridge was credited with eight helpers vs. Hawaii, nine vs. Arkansas, nine vs. Indiana and nine against Michigan State.

ATTACKING THE BASKET

Iowa took advantage of strong post play and attacked the basket more in 2011. The Hawkeyes averaged 29.8 points per game in the paint. Iowa scored 30 or more paint points 18 times, including 11 of the last 14 outings -- at top-ranked Ohio State (36), Indiana (34), Michigan (30), Michigan State (30), Illinois (30) and Northwestern (40), and home vs. Michigan (40), Indiana (46), No. 13 Wisconsin (32), Michigan State (34) and Purdue (34). In 2009-10, the Hawkeyes averaged 23.2 points in the paint.

REVIEW NOTES

SEASON REVIEW

HAWKEYE FRESHMEN GRAB TOP SPOT

Iowa freshmen Melsahn Basabe, Zach McCabe and Roy Devyn Marble averaged 12.7 rebounds per game, which is the best rebounding average by a Hawkeye freshman class. Jared Reiner, Glen Worley, Sean Sonderleiter, Courtney Scott and Brody Boyd averaged 11.7 boards in 2001. Michael Payne, Greg Stokes and Todd Berkenpas averaged 11.6 in 1982.

Additionally, the Hawkeye rookie trio averaged 22.5 points per game, which is the fifth-highest average of a Hawkeye freshman class since 1972-73. Ricky Davis and Dean Oliver rank first, averaging 23.8 points in 1997-98; Jess Settles and Chris Kingsbury are second, averaging 23.5 points during the 1993-94 campaign. Cully Payne, Brennan Coughill, Eric May, John Lickliter and Nick Neari averaged 22.7 points in 2010 to rank third, while Brian Garner, Wade Lookingbill, James Moses, Troy Skinner, Ray Thompson and Brig Tubbs are fourth with a 22.6 average in 1989.

IMPROVED STATISTICS

Comparing 2011 statistics to 2010, Iowa put up improved numbers. The Hawkeyes averaged 6.7 more points, 3.0 rebounds, 2.5 steals and 0.9 blocks.

Statistic	10-11	09-10	Differential
Scoring	67.2	60.5	+6.7
Rebounding	35.0	32.0	+3.0
Steals	6.7	4.2	+2.5
Blocks	2.9	2.0	+0.9

CARTWRIGHT JOINS SELECT GROUP

Point guard Bryce Cartwright dished out 123 assists, during Big Ten play, becoming only the sixth Hawkeye since 1975 to lead the league in assists. Cartwright finished with 10 more assists than second place Darius Morris of Michigan (113).

Cartwright's 6.83 assists average is the highest by an Iowa player since Cal Wulfsberg's 7.7 average in 1975.

Cartwright, who averaged 10.9 points and 5.8 assists, is one of only two Iowa players to ever average better than 10.5 points and 5.8 assists in a single-season. Andre Woolridge is the other Hawkeye to accomplish the feat. Woolridge averaged 20.2 points and six assists in 1997; 13.1 points and six assists in 1996 and 14 points and 5.8 assists in 1995.

BASABE AMONG BIG TEN FRESHMEN ELITE

Melsahn Basabe was one of the Big Ten's top freshmen, being named to the coaches all-Big Ten Freshman team and earning honorable mention all-conference accolades by the media and coaches. He ranked first among conference rookies in blocks (1.3), second in rebounding (6.8) and double-doubles (6), and third in scoring (11.0). Basabe was one of only three Big Ten freshmen to average 10 points or more.

The rookie from Glen Cove, NY, put up 20 points or more a team-best five times, all against Big Ten squads (Ohio State - 22, Minnesota - 20, Indiana - 20, Michigan - 25 and Indiana - 20). The last time a Hawkeye freshman scored 20 or more in at least five games was Tyler Smith in 2006-07, only two of which came against Big Ten opponents. Furthermore, the last time a Hawkeye -- regardless of class -- posted five or more 20-point scoring outbursts against Big Ten competition was Adam Haluska, as a sophomore, in 2004-05 (Michigan State - 24; Northwestern - 20; Illinois - 20; Penn State - 22; Ohio State - 22).

The 6-7, 225-pound power forward reached double-digit rebounds in eight games, also the second most by a Big Ten freshman (Ohio State's Jared Sullinger had 19). He snagged a team-best 210 boards. Basabe corralled eight rebounds in the regular season finale to surpass Jess Settles as Iowa's all-time leading freshman rebounder.

Not only is he Iowa's all-time leading freshman rebounder, but he became only the fourth freshman to lead the Hawkeyes in rebounding (Tyler Smith led Iowa in rebounding in 2007, Jess Settles in 1994 and Michael Payne in 1982). Basabe grabbed 210 rebounds in 2011.

Basabe, who was one of five Big Ten freshmen to start every game, was Iowa's leading shot blocker (41) and rebounder (6.8). He led the team in rebounding a team-best 13 times, including eight of the last 18 outings.

Basabe rejected a team-best 41 shots, a total that is third best by a Hawkeye freshman.

Basabe shot 57.2% from the field, which led the team in 2011 and ranks third all-time by an Iowa freshman, is the best shooting percentage by a Hawkeye -- regardless of class -- since Ryan Bowen shot 60.3% in 1998.

LEADING THE TEAM

Following is the number of times a player led Iowa in scoring, rebounding, assists and steals. If two or more players tied for the team lead, all were credited for that game:

Iowa had a Big Ten-best four players record double-doubles: Melsahn Basabe (6), Jarryd Cole (4), Bryce Cartwright and Devon Archie. Illinois was the only other team with four players to have posted double-doubles, while Wisconsin and Minnesota had three in 2011.

Basabe and Cole were two of 17 Big Ten players with multiple double-doubles. Furthermore, Basabe was one of only seven players with six or more double-doubles in the league, while Cole was one of 10 student-athletes with at least four double-doubles.

Cartwright notched his first career double-double, posting 12 points and a career-high 10 assists in a win over Michigan State (Feb. 2). Archie was credited with 10 points and 11 rebounds vs. Xavier (Nov. 19) for his first career double-double. Basabe collected 12 points and 14 rebounds against Iowa State (Dec. 10), 22 points and 13 rebounds vs. No. 2 Ohio State (Jan. 4), game highs in points (20) and rebounds (13) at No. 25 Minnesota (Jan. 16), was credited with team highs in points (20) and rebounds (10) in Iowa's home win vs. Indiana (Jan. 23), posted 20 points and 13 rebounds in Iowa's victory at Indiana (Feb. 5) and registered 13 points and 11 rebounds vs. No. 13 Wisconsin (Feb. 9). Cole notched his double-doubles vs. Northern Iowa (Dec. 7) with 10 points and 15 boards, against Louisiana Tech (Dec. 21) with 10 points and 12 rebounds, 13th-ranked Wisconsin (Feb. 9) with 10 points and 12 boards, and against sixth-ranked Purdue (March 5) with a team-high 16 points and 10 rebounds.

FIRST BASKETBALL GAME PLAYED IN IOWA CITY

Iowa City was the site of the first college basketball game played with five players on a side. The historic event took place in Close Hall on the University of Iowa campus on January 18, 1896.

In that first game, the University of Chicago defeated Iowa 15-12, with neither team using any substitutes.

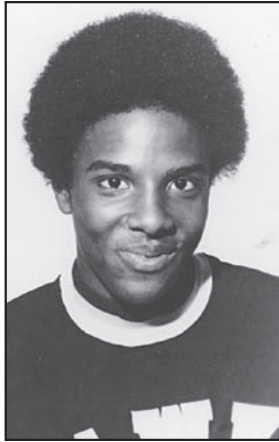

The game was arranged by Iowa professor H.F. Kallenberg, who had earlier attended Springfield College, and wrote James Naismith for a copy of the rules of the game, and Amos Alonzo Stagg, a friend of Kallenberg who had become the athletic director at Chicago.

RETIRED NUMBERS

10 B.J. ARMSTRONG

B.J. Armstrong's jersey was retired in 1992. Iowa's career assist leader, B.J. ranks third in career scoring and was a two-time Hawkeye MVP. A first round draft choice of the Chicago Bulls in 1989, B.J. played a vital role in Chicago's NBA titles in 1991 and 1992. Armstrong moved into Chicago's starting line-up in 1993 as the Bulls won their third straight NBA title. Armstrong concluded his NBA career with Chicago in 1999-00. Armstrong is a member of Iowa's All-Century team.

12 RONNIE LESTER

Ronnie is Iowa's fifth all-time leading scorer with 1,675 points. Lester started 3 1/2 seasons before a knee injury shortened his senior season. He was the Hawkeyes' MVP three times, an All-Big Ten selection twice and an All-American in 1979-1980. He played in the NBA for Chicago and Los Angeles. Ronnie won a World Championship with the Los Angeles Lakers in 1985 and served as vice-president of the Laker organization. Lester is a member of Iowa's All-Century team.

21 CARL CAIN

Carl was a 1956 first team All-American and All-Big Ten for the Hawkeyes' national runners-up. A 1956 Olympian, Cain was forced into a reserve role for the United States because of a back injury. Carl was a two-time Iowa MVP and finished his career with 1,054 points. Cain is a member of Iowa's All-Century team.

22 BILL SEABERG

Bill was a starting guard on the "Fabulous Five" team that ended up as the NCAA runner-up in 1956. He was third team All-America by Helms and the Hawkeyes' MVP in 1955, when he averaged 13 points. Seaberg is a member of Iowa's All-Century team.

31 BILL LOGAN

Bill, a member of the Hawkeyes' 1,000-point Club, topped the squad in scoring three times. A two-time All-Big Ten selection, Logan was second team All-America in 1956 according to Helms and Converse-Taylor. Bill helped Iowa to a second place Big Ten finish as a sophomore and consecutive Final Four appearances his last two seasons. Logan is a member of Iowa's All-Century team.

33 BILL SCHOOF

Bill played forward on the "Fabulous Five" team and scored 6.3 points per game. A three-year letterman, Schoof was a starter on Iowa's 1955 and 1956 Final Four teams. In those two seasons he helped the Hawkeyes to a record of 39-13.

40 CHRIS STREET

Chris Street's number was retired following his untimely death in 1993. Street died in an auto accident 15 games into his junior season. A fixture in Iowa's starting line-up since midway through his freshman season, Street was averaging 14.5 points and 9.5 rebounds per contest through 15 games and had recently earned MVP honors at the San Juan Shootout. Chris established an Iowa record by making 34 consecutive free throws.

41 GREG STOKES

Greg, a three-year starter in the pivot, is the school's third all-time career scorer (1,768 points). Greg owns the school record for field goal percentage in a game (1.000, 11 of 11). After an All-Big Ten senior season (19.9 scoring norm), Greg was selected in the 1985 NBA draft by Philadelphia. Stokes is a member of Iowa's All-Century team.

46 SHARM SCHEUERMAN

Sharm made his mark at Iowa as an athlete and coach. He started on the "Fabulous Five" basketball team and lettered three times in basketball and baseball. After graduation in 1956, Sharm returned to coach his alma mater in 1959. His 1961 squad finished 18-6.

MEDIA INFORMATION

Iowa's Carver-Hawkeye Arena is located on the west campus in the University's athletic complex, approximately one-quarter mile northwest of Kinnick Stadium. It is a few minutes' drive from Interstate 80 and 380 and about 30 minutes from the Eastern Iowa Airport in Cedar Rapids.

The press and radio section at the Arena is located on the west side of the floor. The television and camera platform is located overhead on the east side.

A hospitality room for the media is located through the main exit ramp off the playing floor. Soft drinks are available to the media, along with concession stand food vouchers.

Postgame conferences with the head coaches are held in the Press Room. Iowa player interviews are conducted in the press room following the coach's interviews.

COACH MCCAFFERY CONFERENCES/INTERVIEW REQUESTS

Coach Fran McCaffery holds media conferences in Carver-Hawkeye Arena and tele-conferences throughout the season. Requested Iowa players are available on days Coach McCaffery meets with the media. Coach McCaffery also participates in the Big Ten coaches tele-conferences on Monday's during the conference season. All Iowa practice sessions are closed to the public and media.

All interview requests for members of the Iowa coaching staff and Hawkeye student-athletes should be directed through athletic communications (319) 335-9411. Please refrain from contacting members of the basketball program directly.

CREDENTIALS

Requests for game credentials should be directed in writing or e-mail to Matt Weitzel, 5300 Carver-Hawkeye Arena, Iowa City, Iowa 52242. Requests should be filed early enough to allow time for processing. Credentials that are not mailed can be claimed at the Will Call window at the Carver-Hawkeye Arena ticket office, located at the north entrance to the arena. Photo identification is required.

The athletic communications fax number is 319-335-9417 and Matt's e-mail address is matthew-weitzel@uiowa.edu.

PARKING

Requests for parking should be made when requesting credentials. Media parking is located in lots 40 and 33 near the East side of Carver-Hawkeye Arena.

SERVICES

Complete play-by-play, halftime statistics, final individual and team statistics and quotes from both head coaches are available following each home game. Statistics will be either faxed or e-mailed when requested. This information is filed in PDF format and sent within 30 minutes following home games. Box scores are also posted on the Iowa website, hawkeyesports.com, following each Iowa game throughout the season. Postgame player interviews can also be found at facebook.com/hawkeyehoops.

HIGH SPEED INTERNET ACCESS

High speed internet access is available in the media area in Carver-Hawkeye Arena, as the majority of seats in the media area are hard-wired for access at no charge. Wireless internet is also available. Check with a member of the athletic communications staff for a username and password card that is good for the entire 2011-12 season.

ACCOMMODATIONS

A directory of hotels, motels, restaurants and available transportation can be found on page 203.

MEDIA GUIDE SUPPLEMENT

A supplement to the 2011-12 Basketball Media Guide, containing additional series history and results, Iowa records, year-by-year results, postseason box scores and a composite Big Ten Conference schedule, can be obtained through the UI Athletic Communications office.

THE HAWKEYE RADIO NETWORK

Fans of the University of Iowa following the Hawkeyes on radio can tune in on their favorite station throughout the state of Iowa and the Midwest.

The radio voice of the Hawkeyes is Gary Dolphin, a Cascade, Iowa, native who handles all play-by-play action of both Iowa men's basketball and football. In addition, Dolphin also serves as the host of the weekly radio and television coach's shows during the seasons with men's basketball Coach Fran McCaffery and football Coach Kirk Ferentz. Dolphin, in 2001 and 2011, was named the Iowa Sportscaster of the Year. He is in his 16th season of broadcasting Iowa basketball and football on the Hawkeye Radio Network. Dolphin, overall, is in his 39th year of play-by-play broadcasting, which also includes six years of broadcasting basketball games for Northwestern University.

Dolphin is joined on all University of Iowa basketball broadcasts by former Hawkeye and NBA veteran Bobby Hansen. Hansen was a four-year letterman and a member of Iowa's 1980 Final Four team. Hansen enjoyed a lengthy career in the NBA and earned an NBA championship while playing for the Chicago Bulls.

The Hawkeye Radio Network, a production of Learfield Communications, Inc. of Jefferson City, Mo., blankets the state of Iowa and bordering states with more than 50 stations providing live coverage. The Hawkeyes can also be heard online (hawkeyesports.com) and on Sirius XM Satellite Radio.

ROE was named Director of Athletic Communications in July. He joined the Hawkeye staff in 1990 and was named associate director in 1997. The Iowa City native earned his bachelor's degree from Buena Vista University and his master's degree from Northeast Louisiana University. He is the author of "HAWKEYES FOR LIFE," published in 2007. Steve and his wife, Janet, have a daughter, Nike, and a son, James, one granddaughter, Teagan (7) and a grandson, Jack (1). Both Nike (law degree) and James (bachelor's degree) earned degrees from the University of Iowa.

HADDY served as Iowa's sports information director from 1993-2010. He is in the second and final year of phased retirement, which will be complete in June, 2012. He became part of the Hawkeye Sports Information staff in 1971 and was named Director of Sports Information in July, 1993.
