Season Preview

The University of Iowa's women's golf team is evenly split among classes after competing with no seniors last season. The team is made up of two seniors, three juniors, two sophomores and one freshman. Everyone's contributions will be crucial to having a successful season.

In her first season as Iowa's head women's golf coach, Kelly Crawford is quickly getting to know her team as her players are getting to know her. She has already taken note of the chemistry the 2006-07 Hawkeye squad possesses.

"Underclassmen always look up to the seniors, even from a non golf standpoint. They help freshmen find their classes," Crawford said.

The Hawkeyes improved from fall to spring last year, and Coach Crawford hopes that streak continues this season.

"I think I have higher expectations than the girls have seen in the past. We need to get out and get it done," said Crawford. "A combination of effort, commitment and desire will drive the 2006-07 squad to be strong competitors in the Big 10."

Three of the top 25 teams are in the Big Ten Conference and Coach Crawford sees no reason why Iowa cannot be top contenders. Some of the team's goals are to improve from last year, move up in Big Ten rankings, lower the team scoring average and make it to Central Regionals.

Coach Crawford hopes the two seniors, Karla Murra and Amy Riepma, leave the program in better condition than when they started.

Murra's best finish was at the Illini Spring Challenge, where she placed eighth. Her low round of 72 came in the fall at the Legends of Golf Shootout. The native of Sioux Falls, SD, tied for 19th at the Big Ten Championships.

Riepma, a native of Clear Lake, IA, recorded three top ten finishes throughout the season and marked her name in the Iowa record books four times. At the Big Ten Championships, Riepma led the team, tying for 15th while registering her name for top individual performances for 36, 54 and 72-holes.

Juniors Jill Marcum, Melanie Boyles and Maggie Gelber return as upperclassmen for the Hawkeyes. Marcum ranked second on Iowa's overall averages last season, with 77.4. The Clarinda, IA, native finished in the top ten in three tournaments, with a season-best fifth-place finish at the Illini Spring Challenge.

Boyles, Iowa's second junior, started the season off strong with a second place finish at the Hawkeye Intercollegiate. The native of Tempe, AZ, posted an 80.3 scoring average.

Gelber, a native of Winnetka, IL, tied for eighth at the Hawkeye Intercollegiate, posting a season low round of 76. At the Illini Spring Challenge Gelber tied for 19th, also tying her season low round.

Crawford said the underclassmen's contributions will be significant to build a core as Iowa becomes stronger competitors in the Big Ten.

"The underclassmen's contributions will be crucial from a recruiting standpoint because the next couple of classes will be huge," said Crawford. "This includes returning sophomores Tyrette Metzendorf and Becky Quinby."

Metzendorf excelled in her first collegiate competition, finishing first at the Hawkeye Intercollegiate. The Winter Haven, FL, native led the team with an average of 76.4. She finished in the top ten in three tournaments and holds Iowa's all-time record for individual performances for 36-holes, achieved at the Legends of Golf Shootout last fall.

Quinby competed in four tournaments for the Hawkeyes. The native of Plymouth, MN, tied for 19th at the Hawkeye Intercollegiate, carding 244.

One newcomer was added to the squad, Alison Cavanaugh. Cavanaugh hails from Littleton, CO, and can benefit Coach Crawford's goal of building a strong core of younger players.

I o w a opens its season at home with the Hawkeye Intercollegiate on September 9-10. The Hawkeyes will also play in the Lady Northern, Notre Dame, Shootout at the Legends and GSU/Pelican Preserve tournaments this fall.

Amy Riepma is the team captain for 2006-07.

Why Iowa?

"I chose Iowa because I've been bleeding black and gold since the day I was born. I grew up a Hawkeye, so when I had the opportunity to represent the University of Iowa, it wasn't even a question whether or not I would come here. The tradition of the university and Big Ten was something I wanted to be a part of. I knew I could

"Iowa is a great place to go to school. It was the perfect location for me, not too far and not too close. Compared to the other schools, Iowa had the best academic and athletic atmosphere. Going to the football and basketball games have been a blast. Besides, the friends I've made over the years, have proven to me that I made the right choice. My best friends are find the right balance of strong academics, competitive athletics, and have the best four years of my life while attending Iowa. Becoming a Hawkeye was the best decision I could have made!

on the golf team and I enjoy working on our games and hanging out outside of golf. These years have been the most enjoyable of my life and each day is filled with more memories that I will cherish forever.”
 Karla Murra
 Senior

“I chose Iowa because of the incredible tradition. The Hawkeyes are not just representative of the University, but of Iowa as a whole. Whether I am going to classes, playing on the course or cheering at a game, being a Hawkeye brings an immense feeling of pride. People here do not just love Iowa, they live and breathe black and gold. I wanted to be a part of a program that has support from the faculty, staff, students and alumni. Iowa has more spirit and support than any other school I know.

That is why I chose Iowa.”
 Sophomore

“I remember walking around during my campus tour and asking my dad, ‘do you see me here?’ I did not need to hear the answer because I already knew it was the school for me. The school is a perfect balance between a big school and a small school. With the addition of genuine, smiling, Midwestern faces all around, there was nowhere else I wanted to go. No college visit after that compared to the beautiful campus of the University of Iowa.”
 Maggie Gelber
 Junior

“When I came to Iowa on my recruiting trip I immediately felt welcomed by the girls. My student host, Karla Murra, gave me her honest opinion of the school, the program and the girls. I realized right then that Iowa was the school for me, not just because of the strong academic program and the team’s desire to get better, but because I knew I had found a family in the team.”
 Jill Marcum
 Junior

“The University of Iowa had everything that I wanted in a university. A beautiful campus, amazing teammates and a great coach. There just isn’t any comparison to Big Ten athletics.”
 Tyrette Metzendorf
 Sophomore

“What ultimately sets Iowa apart from other schools is the abundance of resources available to you as a student-athlete. All the tools you need to be successful are at your fingertips. You also can’t beat the community here. The amount of pride and school spirit at Iowa is unmatched.”
 Alison Cavanaugh Freshman

“I would have to say that I chose to come to Iowa because of the diversity of the college atmosphere. But most of all, I came to Iowa because of the team here. I love these girls and think of them as family. College is stressful enough and everyone needs good friends to help you survive it.”

2005-06 Season Review

After a slow start to the fall season, the Iowa Hawkeyes followed with a remarkable spring. The team finished in the top five in four of its ten tournaments.

FALL

Although Iowa's squad was young, with no returning seniors, the Hawkeyes were able to etch their names in the record books 13 times. The squad opened the season with a first place finish at the Hawkeye Intercollegiate.

Iowa's victory at the Hawkeye Intercollegiate marked its only first place finish for the year. Freshman Tyrette Metzendorf placed first in her first collegiate appearance, carding 220 over 54-holes. Sophomore Melanie Boyles finished second and junior Amy Riepma rounded out the top three. Junior Karla Murra had her season best finish, 15th.

In their second tournament, the Hawkeyes struggled, finishing 12th at the Mary Fossom Invite. Sophomore Jill Marcum led Iowa, tied for 26th.

At the opening tournament of the spring season, the East/West Rio Verde Invitational, the squad finished sixth, carding 928 over 54-holes. Metzendorf had her best spring finish, tying for seventh, with a 225.

Iowa excelled at the 19-team Pinehurst Challenge with a fourth place finish. Riepma led the Hawkeyes, carding 230, for tenth place. Marcum finished 12th and Metzendorf finished 14th.

In their third spring tournament, the Hawkeyes tied for fourth place at the BYU Dixie Classic in St. George, Utah. Iowa carded 948 over 54-holes. Marcum finished tied for seventh, carding 14-over par, 230. Murra finished 19th, while Metzendorf continued to shine as she finished tied for 23rd in the 101-player field.

Following their fourth place finish, the Hawkeyes had another impressive showing at their fourth and final tournament before the Big Ten Championships. At the 36-hole Illini Spring Challenge, Iowa finished third. Marcum was in first after the first

A week later, Iowa finished 10th at the Lady Northern Invitational held in Bloomington, IN. The tournament was highlighted by Iowa's season best 18-hole score of 300. Marcum finished 23rd with a low-round 72 and Riepma followed tied for 29th.

Following the Lady Northern, the Hawkeyes placed 11th in the Legends of Golf Shootout. Metzendorf led Iowa, firing a five-over par, 221, to tie for ninth. It was the second time in four tournaments Metzendorf finished in the top ten.

The Hawkeyes' best fall score came in their last competition, the 16-team Lady Razorback Invitational. Iowa carded a season-low 917, for 54-hole tournaments, which placed them eighth on Iowa's all-time team performance. The team's seventh place finish was its best since the Hawkeye Intercollegiate. Riepma led the Hawkeyes in 10th place and Metzendorf finished 12th.

SPRING

Iowa came to life in the spring, finishing in the top ten in all five tournaments. The Hawkeyes etched their names in the record books with four top team achievements, all attained at the Big Ten Championships.

round of play, with one-over par, but finished fifth, carding 150 (+6). Murra continued to do well as she finished eighth, carding eight-over par, 152.

To top off a stellar spring season, the 2006 Iowa team made its mark with a school best score at the Big Ten Championships. With a score of 1,223 the Hawkeyes rank first on team performances for 72 holes. The team carded a season low round of 300 for the second time in the season. Their eighth place finish was led by Riepma, who tied for 15th, and Murra, who tied for 19th. Metzendorf followed, tied for 23rd. FINKBINE GOLF COURSE

Home of Hawkeye Golf

Located on the western edge of The University of Iowa campus, just walking distance from Kinnick Stadium and Carver-Hawkeye Arena, is Finkbine Golf Course. It is the full-time practice and competition site for the Iowa women's and men's golf teams.

The course was renovated in the fall of 2003, with the addition of bent grass fairways and parking lot improvements.

The par-73 layout is prized by the University and Iowa City golfing community. Finkbine was the site of the Amana VIP Pro-Am for more than 20 years, and in 1991 became the site of the Ben Hogan Hawkeye Open. As well, Finkbine was also the site of the 1993 and 2003 Big Ten Women's Golf Championship, and served as the 2002 men's league championship.

The course usually opens to the public in early April and remains playable well into November.

The University maintains Finkbine's lush tees, fairways and greens with its totally automated irrigation system. The system features dual row piping, which not only streamlines the irrigation to the center of the fairways, but supplies water to the outlying areas, as well as to much of the rough.

Indoor practice equipment available to the UI women's golf team in the UI Fieldhouse includes hitting nets and an artificial putting area, a large-screen television for videotaped practices and lessons, and a digital camera/computer system.

Finkbine challenges a golfer virtually every time she addresses the ball. Seventeen holes have bunkers that come into play, and the lone hole that does not, the par-three 13th hole, is surrounded by water. Tee-to-green distance can vary from 5,800 to 6,500 yards.

Hawkeye Administration

Gary Fethke Interim President

Interim President Gary Fethke is the former dean of The University of Iowa Henry B. Tippie College of Business and the Leonard A. Hadley Professor of Leadership. A professor of management sciences and economics, he received both his B.A. and Ph.D. degrees in economics from The University of Iowa.

He was appointed dean in 1994 after serving one year as interim dean. From 1988 to 1993 Dean Fethke served as the senior associate dean of academic affairs in the Tippie College of Business, and before that he served as chairman of the department of management sciences.

In the years between receiving his Ph.D. at Iowa and returning to the College as a faculty member, he served on the faculty at Bradley University (1968-74). In addition, he taught at the London School of Economics for one year (1981-82) and several summers (1984, '86, '88 and '90). He has published numerous articles in the areas of industrial organization, macroeconomics, and labor economics. His recent research interest focuses on the economics of public higher education.

Dean Fethke spearheaded the expansion of the Evening and Executive MBA Programs. The Evening MBA is currently being offered in Cedar Rapids, Newton, Des Moines, and the Quad Cities. The Executive MBA Program is now available both on campus and in other Iowa cities, as needed, and internationally, in Hong Kong and Beijing, China. A dual degree (MBA-Master's in Systems Engineering) EMBA Program has been taught in Cedar Rapids. During his tenure as dean, the undergraduate program of the College raised the academic profile of entering students and began an early admissions program to admit outstanding high school students directly into the Tippie College in their first year on campus.

Fethke headed the planning and coordination of construction for the John Pappajohn Business Building and the Pomerantz Center on The University of Iowa campus, the UI-Cedar Rapids Area Conference and Education Center in Cedar Rapids, and the MBA facilities at the Des Moines W. A. Krause Center and the Newton Polytechnic Campus.

In his role as dean, Fethke was responsible for coordinating the fundraising endeavors of the College with UI Foundation staff. These efforts led to the development of the John Pappajohn Entrepreneurial Center in 1996, the Hawkinson Institute of Business Finance in 1998, the naming of the Henry B. Tippie College of Business in 1999, and a major commitment from Jerre and Mary Joy Stead in 2003. The Tippie College of Business raised $125 million in the recent University campaign.

His wife, Carol, is a faculty member of the economics and marketing departments at The University of Iowa. They have two grown sons.

Gary Barta Director of Athletics

Gary Barta became the University of Iowa's 11th Director of Intercollegiate Athletics on August 1, 2006. His selection was announced on June 23, 2006.

A native Midwesterner, Barta signed a five-year contract to lead one of the most successful athletic programs in the nation. His wife Connie is a native of Waterloo, IA.

Barta has 19 years of university and athletic administration experience. Before accepting the Iowa position he had been the Wyoming AD since October of 2003. From November 1996 to October 2003, he was senior associate athletic director for external relations and sports programs at the University of Washington in Seattle. From 1990 to 1996, he was associated with the University of Northern Iowa in Cedar Falls, where he was director of athletic development and external relations. He also served as associate director of development at North Dakota State University in Fargo, from 1988-90, where he was responsible for fund raising for athletics, the colleges of business and engineering, and the University's annual fund.

Wyoming received the NCAA Division I-A Program of Excellence Award earlier this year, which honors athletics programs that are superior athletically, academically, and in student-athlete life skill preparation.

The Barta led program at Wyoming was credited with a number of significant accomplishments. The Cowboys played in the 2004 Las Vegas Bowl and posted a victory over UCLA. The women's basketball team won 21 games during the 2005-06 season, a top 20 placing by the women's track team in the NCAA championships in 2005; and a top 25 finish in men's NCAA swimming in 2004. During his three-year tenure, seven Wyoming coaches won Mountain West Conference Coach of the Year awards.

The new Iowa Athletics Director has been a successful fund raiser, having helped secure more than $150 million in private contributions and corporate sponsorships over the past 10 years.

Prior to taking over at Wyoming, he served as Washington's Senior Associate Athletics Director for External Relations and Sports Programs. He was responsible for generating revenue to fund Washington's $40 million annual intercollegiate athletics budget. While at Washington, Barta was directly involved in a variety of duties including: hiring of coaches and administrative staff; coordinating the schedule for men's basketball; initiating and managing sponsorship relationships and negotiating radio network contracts.

Barta earned his Bachelor of Science degree in mass communication and broadcast journalism from North Dakota State University in 1987. He was an option quarterback for Bison football squads that won the Division II NCAA National Championships in 1983, 1985 and 1986. He returned to NDSU to begin his career in 1988 as an associate director of development and later director of development.

Barta, and his wife, Connie, have a son, Luke (8) and a daughter, Madison (6). He was born Sept. 4, 1963 in Minneapolis, MN.

A Total Program

The University of Iowa Athletic Department, under the direction of Athletic Director Bob Bowsby for the past 14 years, is regarded as one of the top intercollegiate programs in the nation.

The men's and women's departments, operating separately for over 25 years, merged in 2001 under Bowsby's direction. It combined nationally recognized programs for both genders into one successful and progressive athletic unit.

Combining their successes on the playing fields with continued success and recognition in the classroom, UI student-athletes practice and perform in some of the best facilities in the nation, while knowing the support of their efforts and attendance by Hawkeye fans ranks among the best in the country.

While the Hawkeyes continue to compete with the best in the nation in a variety of sports, Iowa continues to boast some of the most impressive athletic facilities in the nation, operated by one of the most respected departments.

Several new projects are underway on the Iowa campus. Some of the latest additions to the UI campus are the Roy G. Karro Athletics Hall of Fame and Visitors Center and the Russell and Ann Gerdin Athletic Learning Center.

Kinnick Stadium received a major upgrading and renovation that was completed just prior to the 2006 season. The $90 million project includes the replacing of the south end zone stands and building a four-level press box that will house 47 guest suites, along with new scoreboards, video walls, concession stands and restrooms.

Additional priorities for the Iowa program include the establishment and development of endowments for all sports programs, the continued enhancement of graduation rates, and the implementation of a long-range plan to ensure Iowa's financial, academic and competitive future. As an example, all of Iowa's 13 scholarships for men's basketball are fully endowed.

The graduation rate of Iowa's student-athletes has improved in each of the past 10 years and has consistently ranked above the graduation rate of all UI students.

Hawkeye athletes have garnered more than 70 academic All-America honors since 1992. The 2005-06 school-year saw the University of Iowa produce 138 academic all-Big Ten athletes.

Iowa athletes have been recognized as all-Americans in their sport on 207 occasions during the past 15 years.

Iowa's athletic teams during the 2005-06 athletic year continued its trend of success, on the playing fields and in academic pursuits.

The Hawkeye football team enjoyed another good year on the gridiron, going 7-5 and making it's fourth-consecutive January bowl game when it was selected to play the Florida Gators in the Outback Bowl.

Iowa followed its 11-2 mark of 2002 with a 10-3 record in 2003 and a 10-2 mark in 2004, finishing each of those seasons ranked eighth nationally.

Iowa's men's and women's basketball teams have advanced to post-season play in each of the last six seasons. The men's squad finished with a 25-9 record and won the Big Ten Tournament. They earned a No. 3 seed in the 2006 NCAA tournament.

Iowa has hosted many postseason championships, including the 2005 Big Ten wrestling championships.

The women's team advanced to the NCAA tournament for the 16th time.

The Iowa wrestling squad will be under new leadership this season as former Hawkeye three-time NCAA Champion and Olympic Gold Medalist Tom Brands returns to his alma mater as head coach. He will be joined on his staff by the legendary Dan Gable, who led Iowa to 15 NCAA titles and 21 Big Ten Championships in his 21 seasons as head coach.

Iowa's men's and women's and gymnastics teams continue to rank among the best in the nation. The men's team again advanced to the NCAA Championships and the women's gymnastics squad has been in the NCAA meet two of the last four years.

The Hawkeye men's cross country team advanced to the NCAA Championships for the second-consecutive year in the fall of 2004, while sophomore Kineke Alexander won the NCAA Championship in the women's indoor 400-meters.

Iowa's women's softball team advanced to NCAA regional action for the 11th time in 13 seasons. Iowa has advanced to the softball World Series on four occasions over the past 12 seasons and Coach Gayle Blevins is one of three coaches to reach 1,000 career victories.

From the rankings on the courts and playing fields, to the rankings in the classroom, to the rankings in fan and community support, to the ranking as a program that boasts some of the best athletic facilities in the nation, it's easy to understand why Iowa fans everywhere truly believe, "It's great to be a Hawkeye."

Kinnick Stadium completed a $90-million renovation this past summer.

Since its inception in 1979, Athletics Student Services has evolved from a two-person, academic support service to a broad-based, nationally prominent student support services operation. Its purpose is to assist student athletes to become tomorrow's leaders by offering academic and personal support services to assist them in making timely and satisfactory progress toward their degrees.

Athletic Student Services focuses on four important areas — academic counseling and monitoring, educational and support

University. Along with focusing on academic planning matters such as goal-setting, plans of study, choosing majors and degree requirements, athletics coordinators also help student-athletes understand NCAA, Big Ten and University academic policies. They also solicit feedback from instructors on academic progress made by student-athletes.

programs, retention programs and compliance services — when working with student-athletes. Following are descriptions of some of the programs, services and opportunities available to student-athletes in those areas.

Athletics Learning Center

The $4.6 million Russell A. and Ann Gerdin Athletics Learning Center opened in August of 2003 and gives all Iowa student-athletes a state-of-the-art facility to help them with their educations.

The Athletics Learning Center is a multi-level, 20,000 square foot facility which will provide a computer center, study areas, classes and meeting places for all Hawkeye student-athletes.

The Learning Center will feature an auditorium that converts into two classrooms, separate study rooms for under and upper-class student-athletes that feature 28 study carrels, a computer lab, five tutorial rooms, the book loan repository, office space for Iowa's Student Services staff and a display area to recognize the academic accomplishments of Iowa's student-athletes.

Academic Counseling and Monitoring

Athletics coordinators work closely with student-athletes and their university-assigned advisors from the time they arrive on campus until the time they leave the athletes and teachers help with course content as well as study strategies and are available in virtually all general education program subjects.

Retention

A full-time staff member directs the retention program, which identifies student-athletes who may need tailored academic assistance and structure, and implements individualized learning plans to help them succeed. Such plans may include daily and weekly planning sessions with athletics coordinators and retention staff, tutoring, study groups, mainstreaming into on-campus services like the writing center, math labs and services for students with learning disabilities.

Transition Seminar

All new student-athletes attend an eight-week transition seminar during the fall semester that is geared toward helping them make the transition from high school to college successfully. Seminar topics include time management skills, learning and study strategies, the culture and rules of the university, and life skills concerning alcohol and other substances, relationships and intimacy, diversity, tolerance, values and character.

fulfilling life is an ongoing process of expanding and narrowing choices, beginning when student-athletes arrive on campus and continuing throughout their college career and lifetime. The professional staff works with other career development professionals on campus to offer individual consultation, career development seminars, workshops, referrals to other campus offices and special events like the Senior Recognition Banquet for graduating student-athletes.

Minority Enrichment Program

This program offers a culturally supportive environment in which minority student-athletes have the opportunity to develop friendships and a support network in the university. A core focus group of students and staff coordinate programs such as guest speakers, holiday celebrations, community service activities with the local neighborhood centers, events with Cultural Centers and networking with minority faculty, staff, professional and business leaders.

Compare the Numbers

Iowa's student-athletes have outperformed the University's entire student population each year since the NCAA started requiring a report of student-athlete graduation rates.

Distinguished Alumni

When student-athletes consider their future, they should consider prospects beyond athletics. A list of all University of Iowa alumni who have distinguished themselves professionally would be difficult to assemble and could never be complete. However, some are truly outstanding in their area of expertise.

Sports Medicine and Athletic Training

Strength and Conditioning

The University of Iowa has two 2,000-square-foot facilities for strength and conditioning training of Olympic sport athletes. One facility is located in Carver-Hawkeye Arena and the other is located in the Recreation Building. Each facility has eight squat racks, eight Olympic platforms, multiple physio- and medicine balls, padded plyometric boxes and over 10,000 pounds of free weights. Iowa Strength and Conditioning staff Bill Maxwell, David Marmon and Damon Davis oversee the programs.

The major goals of the University of Iowa strength and conditioning program are the enhancement of athletic performance while reducing the risk of injury through a progression of free weight, multi-joint exercises. Those goals are achieved through Olympic lifts, squats, plyometrics, medicine ball and physioball exercises. These multi-joint movements improve synchronization of movement, intramuscular coordination and stabilizer muscle groups.

Continuing to set the standard in Sports Medicine Service, The University of Iowa provides the student-athlete with the most up-to-date and highest-quality medical care available.

Services from the UI Hospitals and Clinics, among the world's largest university-owned teaching hospitals, support the efforts of a dedicated sports medicine staff. Located next to Kinnick Stadium, the hospital creates a cutting-edge environment where staff physicians, interns, and residents can care for student-athletes with successful outcomes. Dedicated research and education result in outstanding care.

Athletic Training Services connect student-athletes to the various resources and specialty areas. Iowa's staff of 10 full-time athletic trainers are committed to providing quality health care, injury rehabilitation programs, and prevention programs. With physical conditioning as one of the major components of a prevention program, the athletic trainers work closely with strength coaches to pave the way for safe and effective participation.

SKILLS LABS

Many academic departments offer skills labs to help students improve skills necessary to succeed at Iowa, such as writing, speaking, math, science, and foreign language. Assistance with skills such as student-athletes live at least two years on campus. The residence halls have full-service dining rooms, study lounges, laundry facilities, recreational facilities, vending, and bank machines. Each room has high-speed computer connections for e-mail and Internet access. Iowa also offers wireless networking in 52 buildings and several outdoor areas, providing more than 265 access points across campus.

OLD CAPITOL

One of the most recognizable sites in Iowa City is the gold dome of the Old Capitol which is situated in the heart of downtown. Built in 1840, it is Iowa City's most historic building. The Old Capitol was the site of the first governor inauguration as well as the first six Iowa General Assemblies. It is also where the state's Constitution was drafted. When the capital was moved to Des Moines in 1857, the Old Capitol was dedicated to The University of Iowa, becoming the first building owned by the University.

CORALVILLE LAKE

Just north of Iowa City is Coralville Lake, an outdoor recreational area that offers a variety of opportunities for the public.

Rockwell Collins, American College Testing and Procter & Gamble help keep the city booming. In Coralville, a branch office of Geico Auto Insurance has provided many residents with employment opportunities.

Culturally, Iowa City is alive with concerts, art exhibits, readings, plays and art events of all kinds. Located on the University of Iowa campus, Hancher Auditorium is a nationally-known performance center that brings in the best of Broadway, classical and jazz music, dance and other performances. Hawkeye Traditions

THE HAWKEYE NICKNAME

The University of Iowa borrowed its athletic nickname from the state of Iowa many years ago.

The name Hawkeye was originally the name of the hero in the fictional novel, The Last of the Mohicans, written by James Fenimore Cooper. Cooper had the Delaware Indians bestow the name on a white scout who lived with them.

In 1838, 12 years after the book was published, people in the territory of Iowa acquired the nickname, chiefly through the efforts of Judge David Rorer of Burlington and James Edwards of Fort Madison.

Edwards, editor of the Fort Madison Patriot, moved his paper to Burlington in 1843 and renamed it the Burlington Hawkeye. The two men continued their campaign to popularize the name, and territorial officials eventually gave it their formal approval.

HERKY THE HAWKEYE

The Hawkeye nickname gained a tangible symbol in 1948 when a cartoon character, later to be named Herky the Hawkeye was hatched. The creator was Richard Spencer III, instructor of journalism at Iowa.

The impish Hawk was an immediate hit and acquired a name through a statewide contest staged by the athletic department. John Franklin, a Belle Plaine alumnus, was the man who suggested Herky.

Since his birth more than 45 years ago, Herky has symbolized Iowa athletics and epitomized University life. He even donned a military uniform during the Korean War and became the insignia of the 124th Fighter Squadron.

During the mid-1950s, Herky came to life at a football game as the Iowa mascot. Since that time, Herky has been a familiar

SCHOOL FIGHT SONG

The Iowa Fight Song was written in 1950 by Mason City, Iowa, native Meredith Willson. Best known as the creator of Broadway's "The Music Man," Willson was awarded a 1963 University of Iowa Alumni

Association Distinguished Service Award for "setting the spirit of Iowa to music." The lively cheer is sung hundreds of times during Iowa athletics events the year around.

SCHOOL COLORS

For 40 years Iowa was without school colors, but in 1887 a group of 50 seniors met on the steps of the Old Capitol to decide what are now the school official colors. They chose Old Gold, the color of Iowa's vast corn fields and Black, the color of the rich soil.

*The word is Fight, Fight,
Fight for IOWA
Let every loyal Iowan sing;
The word is Fight, Fight
Fight for IOWA
Until the walls and rafters ring
(Go Hawks!)
Come on and cheer, cheer, cheer
for IOWA
Come on and cheer until you hear the final gun.
The word is Fight, Fight, Fight for IOWA
Until the game is won.*
