Head Coach Steve Houghton

Steve Houghton Head Coach 26th Season

Steve Houghton, the dean of Big Ten coaches, is in his 26th year as head coach of the Hawkeyes. He has compiled a career record of 277-286 (.492), recording the most wins of any coach in Iowa men's tennis history.

Since taking over the program in 1982, Houghton has led the Hawkeyes to 10 winning seasons. His best season came in 1984 when Iowa won a school record 21 matches and finished fourth in the Big Ten Conference. Mike Inman and Sunil Reddy earned all-Big Ten honors. In 1989, Houghton was named NCAA Region IV Coach of the Year and picked up his 100th career dual win.

Houghton has coached many outstanding student-athletes at Iowa, including Tyler Cleveland, Claes Ramel, Martin Aguirre, Tom Derouin, Klas Bergstrom, Mike Inman and Stuart Waters.

Cleveland became the first player in conference history to earn consecutive Big Ten Player of the Year awards in 2000 and 2001. He is only one of two Hawkeyes in school history to earn all-Big Ten honors all four years of his career (1998-2001). He was also the first men's tennis player to be named University of Iowa Male Athlete of the Year, earning the honor in 2000. Cleveland's other honors include 2001 Region IV ITA Farnsworth Senior Player of the Year, 2000 Big Ten Sportsman of the Year, 1998 Big Ten Freshman of the Year and 1998 Region IV Rookie of the Year.

The doubles team of Ramel and Aguirre earned Iowa's first-ever national ranking, climbing to as high as 25th, by the Intercollegiate Tennis Coaches Association. In 1989, the duo became the first Hawkeyes to play at the NCAA Championships. They still hold the school record for best doubles record at No. 1 in a season (17-6).

He has coached two Davis Cup players at Iowa - Aguirre from Ecuador and Rudy Foo from Malaysia. Bryan Crowley won the Rolex Region IV championship in 1995 and was ranked first in regional singles action, before falling to career-hampering injuries.

Not only are Houghton's players students of the game, as their victories attest, but they are also students in the classroom. Houghton's players have consistently maintained a grade point average above 3.0 (on a 4.0 scale). Since the Big Ten started awarding academic all-conference honors in 1987, 74 Hawkeyes have earned the honor. Former Hawkeyes Ben Bamsey, Neil Denahan and Todd Shale were four-time award winners.

Houghton also had a successful playing career at Iowa, lettering three years and winning the No. 5 singles championship at the Big Ten meet. His career Big Ten singles record was 21-6, and his career winning percentage of .727 (40-15) is the second best in Iowa history.

The Hawkeye coach was a member of the 1971 Iowa tennis team that recorded a 3.53 team GPA, the highest of any NCAA team in any sport that year. That team also qualified for the NCAA meet after a third place Big Ten finish.

A member of the Iowa Tennis Hall of Fame, Houghton completed his sixth year as a member of the Region IV Ranking Committee. He is also involved with the Iowa City Tennis Association and has worked with the Iowa sports school's tennis program since its inception. He has also served on both the NCAA ranking and selection committees.

An Iowa City native, Houghton was a nationally ranked junior player at City High School. He earned his bachelor's (1971) and master's (1973) degrees from the University of Iowa.

Houghton was born January 9, 1949. Steve and his wife, Leora, have four children: Cari, Jeff, Jon and Scott.

Coaching & Support Staff

Matt Brothers Assistant Coach Sixth Season

Matt Brothers is in his sixth season as assistant coach of the Iowa men's tennis program. In just five seasons, Brothers has provided a significant impact on the team.

Brothers played two years at the University of Wisconsin – Green Bay before transferring and competing at Marquette University. He received numerous accolades including Freshman of the Year and first team Mid-Continent Conference (1993-1994), UW-Green Bay team captain and MVP (1994), Marquette University team captain and MVP (1996), second team Conference USA (1995, 96) and the Marquette University Senior Leadership Award (1997).

In addition, Brothers has a wealth of post-college competitive experience, having played satellites, futures and prize money tournaments throughout Europe and the United States over the past six years.

While on tour, Brothers distinguished himself by earning a #1 ranking in doubles and a #3 ranking in singles in the Midwest Section in 1997. Perhaps even more impressively, he was ranked #4 in singles nationally (men's 25) in 2000 and 2001.

Brothers also has a strong background in the teaching/coaching arena. He has taught at all competitive levels in Florida, Texas and Wisconsin. He has also coached on the collegiate level at the University of Wisconsin – Whitewater and Marquette.

"Matt adds a great deal to our program," said Head Coach Steve Houghton. "He is a student of the game, has successfully competed at both the collegiate and professional level and pushes our guys to be as good as they can be. He definitely knows what it takes."

Brothers, a native of Kenosha, WI, received his B.A. from Marquette in 1997.

Big Ten Honors

Iowa Men's Tennis Student-Athletes Achieve Academic Success

Academics have always been stressed by student-athletes at the University of Iowa. In the scheduling of both tennis meets and practice sessions, every attempt is made to insure a minimal number of missed classes. The goal is to give each player the best opportunity to succeed in the classroom as well as on the court.

Since the Big Ten Conference began naming an all-academic team in 1987, 36 Hawkeyes have earned Iowa's 74 honors. Iowa has had three four-time honorees, 10 three-time honorees, nine two-time honorees and 16 players earn the honor once. Hawkeyes Mat Sawin and Bart van Monsjou were the most recent additions, earning academic all-Big Ten honors in 2006. The tennis team has consistently set the pace for all men's athletic teams at Iowa in terms of team grade point average.

Iowa has also earned all-American status as a team for their academic achievement. The 2000-01 and the 2005-06 Hawkeyes were honored as national academic teams by the Intercollegiate Tennis Association, the only Big Ten school to receive that honor. In addition, Aaron Schaechtle, Scott Elwell, Mat Sawin and Gregory Holm were named ITA Scholar Athletes for the 2005-06 season. Such recognition requires a minimum 3.5 GPA.

The 1971 Iowa squad (which Coach Steve Houghton was a team member) posted a combined GPA of 3.53, the highest average of any NCAA team in any sport that year. That team also played in the national meet.

The academic success of the members of the Iowa tennis program is a long standing tradition - a tradition that the Iowa tennis program takes great pride in upholding.

Iowa Men's Tennis Student-Athletes Garner Individual Honors

From 1987-2002, the Big Ten named a Sportsman of the Year for men's tennis. Starting in the 2003 season, the Big Ten Sportsmanship Award was created to encompass male and female student-athletes from all sports. Four Hawkeyes earned the original honor during its 16-year existence. They were Klas Bergstrom (1993), Marcus Ekstrand (1996), Tom Derouin (1997) and Tyler Cleveland (2000).

"The Sportsman of the Year Award was a great honor," said Iowa Coach Steve Houghton. "It was based both on a high level of competitive success and exemplary sportsmanship. As a coaching staff, we emphasize sportsmanship and are very proud to have dominated that selection those eight seasons."

Cleveland was the first player in Big Ten history to be named Big Ten Sportsman of the Year and Big Ten Athlete of the Year in the same season (2000). He was also the first student-athlete in conference history to have earned Big Ten Athlete of the Year honors in two consecutive seasons (2000, 2001). He was also named Big Ten Freshman of the Year in 1998.

Tyler
Cleveland

Former Hawkeyes Stuart Waters and Tyler Cleveland have been doing quite well on the professional circuit. Both have earned ATP points with Cleveland now standing at 93 points and a world ranking of 366. Tyler was also named USTA Pro Circuit Player of the Year in October 2005. Both players have had success in futures, challenges and money tournaments.

Both have had wins over former top NCAA players, as well as ATP ranked international competitors. Cleveland, for example, defeated Jeremy Wurtzman, a former #1 ranked NCAA player from Ohio State.

Waters and Cleveland had stellar careers for the Hawkeyes, earning multiple first-team all Big Ten honors. Cleveland was selected Big Ten Player of the Year in 2000 and 2001. Iowa's MVP award is named in his honor.

"All of us at Iowa are very proud of Stuart and Tyler," said Head Coach Steve Houghton, "not only for their success on the court, but also for the classy way they represent our program."

Valuable experience should pay off for top three

The Hawkeyes return their top three singles players from the 2006 season. These three gained a wealth of experience from being challenged last season and the growing pains that came with it.

Bart van Monsjou played very competitively at the #1 singles spot last year in the Big Ten and has continued to build on that success this fall. He enters the spring season well-equipped to compete against the best players in the Big Ten.

Christian Bierich proved himself as one of the top three or four freshmen in the Big Ten last year as he posted a .500 record playing at the #2 and #3 spots in Big Ten dual matches. Although he struggled in the early part of the fall season, he finished strong and is well-positioned for an even better sophomore season.

J.P. Ritchie proved he is capable of playing in a top three position in the Big Ten. Developing consistency from match to match is the key for Ritchie and he is quite capable of having a break-out year.

Returnees continue to improve

Iowa returns four additional players - three letterwinners and one redshirt freshman - all who should make significant contributions.

Sophomore Gregory Holm garnered some valuable experience playing at #6 singles as a freshman. Holm continued his improvement this fall in both singles and doubles and should enter the spring season with a great deal of confidence.

Scott Elwell is the lone senior on the team and gained experience last year playing in the #6 singles spot. Elwell made significant improvement over the summer and carried that into an outstanding fall season in both singles and doubles.

Sophomore Mat Sawin also got a dose of experience at #6 singles as well as other opportunities this fall. He is a very hard worker who will also be in the mix.

Walker Grimes is a redshirt freshman who saw his first action this fall. Grimes is particularly strong in doubles and certainly has an opportunity to get significant playing time.

Newcomers make immediate impact

The freshmen class is a strong one with all three members likely to have an immediate impact. The class includes Tommy McGeorge, Patrick Dwyer and Reinoud Haal.

"Tommy had a great fall season," said Head Coach Steve Houghton. "He stepped right in like a seasoned veteran and won a title at the Louisville Invitational. He has established himself as a very strong singles and doubles player."

"Patrick, like Tommy, is a very experienced national junior player. He improved as the fall season progressed and put himself in a strong position to challenge for a spot in the lineup."

"Reinoud is a very strong player from the baseline and has improved tremendously in his net play. He should be a major factor this year."

Keys to the season

"We are capable of having a very good season," said Houghton. "We are very young in many ways and therefore, we will need to make quick improvement leading up to the Big Ten season."

"I like the make-up of our team from the standpoint of chemistry and work ethic. That should be a strength for our team. We did some good things this fall competitively and that seemed to give us some needed confidence," said Houghton.

The Big Ten race

"Having said all of this the Big Ten keeps getting stronger and stronger," explained Houghton. "Nothing comes easy as the conference is clearly one of the top in the nation. Every match is a battle and every win a good one."

"I would rank Ohio State and Illinois as the two teams to beat, but there are no weak teams."

Why Iowa?

"The first thing you will see at the University of Iowa is the enthusiasm that everyone has. It's hard not to succeed in your school work and tennis with all the support you receive. The coaches will always support you, and they have all the knowledge to help you achieve your goals. All the guys on the team have strong personalities and that makes the team very special. You can't find better team spirit than here at the University of Iowa. The only thing that can stop your dreams is you! Go Hawks!!!"

Christian Bierich

"Until entering the city limits of Iowa City, one has no idea of how great of an institution the University of Iowa is. It is a hidden palace among the cornfields of the Midwest. If someone is given the opportunity to be a student-athlete at the University of Iowa, it is the chance of a lifetime. Being successful is inevitable if one takes advantage of what the university has to offer. To train everyday with some of the best players in the country, play under such a distinguished coach and to compete in such a powerful conference makes the experience of playing tennis at Iowa even more incredible. Our team motto is 'all for one and one for all.' This proves how much the players care for each other and strive to succeed not only on the court, but also in the classroom."

Scott Elwell
Senior - Lawrence, KS

"Why not? Iowa has the full package. I wanted a school that could challenge me in all aspects of my life, and being Hawkeye definitely achieves that on a daily basis. Nothing can compare to the Big Ten Conference. It's an amazing thing to be a part of as a student-athlete. The coaches are really supportive and I couldn't ask for better teammates. To me, Iowa feels like home."

Patrick Dwyer
Freshman - Franksville, WI

"My family connection to Iowa first got me interested in the University of Iowa. Once I started to look more into the school, I started to like it even more. I feel the tennis and academics push me to do my best. After making my visit, I knew this was the school for me. The coaching staff and the players were exactly what I was looking for. The team is a very tight knit group of guys that get along very well together. The coaching staff pushes you on the court to try your best every day. It is hard not to succeed at Iowa if you take advantage of the opportunities student-athletes have on and off the court."

Walker Grimes
Redshirt Freshman - Chicago, IL

"Iowa City is a great place to be for a student-athlete. It provides you with tons of opportunities to be successful in athletics and academics. The combination of a brand new facility and supportive coaches, advisors and trainers gives you the motivation you need to do your best all the time. Plus, my teammates are the best guys I know. We are all proud to compete in the Big Ten Conference as a Hawkeye."

Reinoud Haal
Freshman - Heenstede, Netherlands

"I chose the University of Iowa because of the potential both within me to become a better tennis player and the potential of the tennis program here. I always wanted to compete at the Division I level, and attending the University of Iowa gave me that opportunity. The Big Ten is a very strong and competitive conference, and the competition and incentive to get better is always available. The team atmosphere here is great and the willingness of the coaches and advisors to help makes Iowa the best choice for me."

Gregory Holm
Sophomore - Omaha, NE

"The decision to come to the University of Iowa was an easy one for me. The school is in the famed Big Ten Conference and is unquestionably an athletic and academic powerhouse. What makes the school stand out though is how the staff and the university are committed to more than just your athletic well being. The facilities and services provided to the student-athlete make sure that there is no limit to your success both on and off the court. Great teammates, great coaches and a caring athletic staff all lead to a successful and enjoyable college experience."

Mat Sawin

"What caught my attention the most about Iowa was the loyalty people have for the university. Once you become a Hawkeye, you will remain one for life. The idea of playing Big Ten tennis at a school where the bar is set very high for academics, as well as athletics, made me want to come to Iowa. The combination of coaches, teammates, advisors, and facilities gives you the necessary elements for success in all aspects of college. Iowa City has the feel of a small-town college and an atmosphere that is hard to beat. The enthusiasm for Hawkeye sports and the university in general is something that I feel privileged to be a part of."

Tommy McGeorge

"I already knew at the age of 16 that I wanted to go to an American university to combine my studies with tennis. I have always been very excited playing tennis and the University of Iowa has really exceeded my expectations. Here in Iowa City I am able to get a degree at a solid institution and be able to play tennis and compete at a very high level in the Big Ten Conference."

Bart van Monsjou
Junior - Oirschot, Netherlands

"I chose the University of Iowa because it provides the opportunity to achieve excellence in athletics and academics. Being a Hawkeye means being the best and that is something that you must strive to achieve daily. Being in the Big Ten Conference gives you the opportunity to play the best of the best every time out and gives you a great chance to succeed."

2006 Season Review

Injuries, tough schedule lead to disappointing year

Key injuries and extremely strong Big Ten competition led to a disappointing season for the University of Iowa men's tennis team. Injuries to returning #1 and #2 singles players, Chaitu Malempati and Kyle Markham, hurt the Iowa cause, as did a schedule that featured a majority of ranked teams. The Hawkeyes finished with an overall record of 6-14 and tied for 10th in the Big Ten.

Underclassmen step up

Two sophomores and a freshman manned the top three singles positions for the Hawkeyes. Sophomores Bart van Monsjou and J.P. Ritchie along with freshman Christian Bierich acquitted themselves well. Bierich led the way with a 5-5 record in the Big Ten at the #2 and #3 singles spots combined.

Iowa fared well in doubles competition as van Monsjou and Malempati were 7-6 at the #2 doubles spot. Bierich and Aaron Schaechterle teamed to record a 9-9 record at #3 doubles.

A Year for the Seniors

The 2006 season was a disappointment for the Hawkeye seniors as they hoped to finish their careers on a high note as a team. However, according to Head Coach Steve Houghton, their contributions over the past years were greatly appreciated.

"All four seniors, Chaitu Malempati, Aaron Schaechterle, Brett Taylor, and Kyle Markham, made positive contributions in different ways," he said. "We will always be grateful for their efforts."

Gary Fethke Interim University President

Interim President Gary Fethke is the former dean of The University of Iowa Henry B. Tippie College of Business and the Leonard A. Hadley Professor of Leadership. A professor of management sciences and economics, he received both his B.A. and Ph.D. degrees in economics from The University of Iowa. He was appointed Dean in 1994 after serving one year as Interim Dean. He will step down on June 30, 2006, but will continue on the faculty.

From 1988 to 1993 Dean Fethke served as the Senior Associate Dean of Academic Affairs in the College, and before that he served as Chairman of the Department of Management Sciences. In the years between receiving his Ph.D. at Iowa and returning to the College as a faculty member, he served on the faculty at Bradley University (1968-74). In addition, he taught at the London School of Economics for one year (1981-82) and several summers (1984, '86, '88 and '90). He has published numerous articles in the areas of industrial organization, macroeconomics, and labor economics. His recent research interest focuses on the economics of public higher education.

Dean Fethke spearheaded the expansion of the Executive MBA and the MBA for Professionals and Managers (MBA-PM) Programs. The MBA-PM program is currently being offered in Cedar Rapids, Newton, Des Moines, and the Quad Cities. The Executive MBA Program is now available both on campus and in other Iowa cities, as needed, and internationally, in Hong Kong and Beijing, China. A dual degree (MBA-Master's in Systems Engineering) EMBA Program has been taught in Cedar Rapids. During his tenure, the Undergraduate Program of the Tippie College has raised the academic profile of students entering the College and has begun an Early Admissions Program that admits outstanding high school students directly into the Tippie College in their first year on campus, rather than their junior year.

The Sioux City, IA, native headed the planning and coordination of construction for the John Pappajohn Business Building and the Pomerantz Center on The University of Iowa campus, the UI-Cedar Rapids Area Conference and Education Center in Cedar Rapids, and the MBA facilities at the Des Moines W. A. Krause Center and the Newton Polytechnic Campus. He continues an active teaching presence in the EMBA Program.

He is responsible for coordinating the fundraising endeavors of the College with UI Foundation staff. These efforts led to the development of the John Pappajohn Entrepreneurial Center in 1996, the Hawkinson Institute of Business Finance in 1998, the naming of the Henry B. Tippie College of Business in 1999, and a major commitment from Jerre and Mary Joy Stead in 2003. The Tippie College of Business raised $125 million in the recent University Campaign.

His wife, Carol, is a faculty member of the Economics and Marketing Departments at The University of Iowa. They have two grown sons.

Gary Barta Athletics Director

Gary Barta became the University of Iowa's 11th Director of Intercollegiate Athletics on August 1, 2006. His selection was announced on June 23, 2006.

A native Midwesterner, Barta signed a five-year contract to lead one of the most successful athletic programs in the nation. His wife Connie is a native of Waterloo, IA.

Barta has 19 years of university and athletic administration experience. Before accepting the Iowa position he had been the Wyoming AD since October of 2003. From November 1996 to October 2003, he was senior associate athletic director for external relations and sports programs at the University of Washington in Seattle. From 1990 to 1996, he was associated with the University of Northern Iowa in Cedar Falls, where he was director of athletic development and external relations. He also served as associate director of development at North Dakota State University in Fargo, from 1988-90, where he was responsible for fund raising for athletics, the colleges of business and engineering, and the University's annual fund.

Wyoming received the NCAA Division I-A Program of Excellence Award earlier this year, which honors athletics programs that are superior athletically, academically, and in student-athlete life skill preparation.

The Barta led program at Wyoming was credited with a number of significant accomplishments. The Cowboys played in the 2004 Las Vegas Bowl and posted a victory over UCLA. The women's basketball team won 21 games during the 2005-06 season, a top 20 placing by the women's track team in the NCAA championships in 2005; and a top 25 finish in men's NCAA swimming in 2004. During his three-year tenure, seven Wyoming coaches won Mountain West Conference Coach of the Year awards.

The new Iowa Athletics Director has been a successful fund raiser, having helped secure more than $150 million in private contributions and corporate sponsorships over the past 10 years.

Prior to taking over at Wyoming, he served as Washington's Senior Associate Athletics Director for External Relations and Sports Programs. He was responsible for generating revenue to fund Washington's $40 million annual intercollegiate athletics budget. While at Washington, Barta was directly involved in a variety of duties including: hiring of coaches and administrative staff; coordinating the schedule for men's basketball; initiating and managing sponsorship relationships and negotiating radio network contracts.

Barta earned his Bachelor of Science degree in mass communication and broadcast journalism from North Dakota State University in 1987. He was an option quarterback for Bison football squads that won the Division II NCAA National Championships in 1983, 1985 and 1986. He returned to NDSU to begin his career in 1988 as an associate director of development and later director of development.

Barta, and his wife, Connie, have a son, Luke (8) and a daughter, Madison (6). He was born Sept. 4, 1963 in Minneapolis, MN.

Iowa Men's Tennis

Hawkeye Athletics

The University of Iowa Athletic Department, under the direction of Athletic Director Gary Barta, is regarded as one of the top intercollegiate programs in the nation.

The men's and women's departments, operating separately for over 25 years, merged in 2001. It combined nationally recognized programs for both genders into one successful and progressive athletic unit.

Combining their successes on the playing fields with continued success and recognition in the classroom, UI student-athletes practice and perform in some of the best facilities in the nation, while knowing the support of their efforts and attendance by Hawkeye fans ranks among the best in the country.

While the Hawkeyes continue to compete with the best in the nation in a variety of sports, Iowa continues to boast some of the most impressive athletic facilities in the nation, operated by one of the most respected departments.

Several new projects are underway on the Iowa campus. Some of the latest additions to the UI campus are the Roy G. Karro Athletics Hall of Fame and Visitors Center, the Russell and Ann Gerdin Athletic Learning Center and the West Campus Tennis-Recreation Center and Sports Activity Fields.

Kinnick Stadium received a major up-grading and renovation that was completed in August 2006. The $89 million project included replacing the south end zone stands and building a four-level press box that houses 47 guest suites, along with new scoreboards, video walls, concession stands and restrooms.

Additional priorities for the Iowa program include the establishment and development of endowments for all sports programs, the continued enhancement of graduation rates, and the implementation of a long-range plan to ensure Iowa's financial, academic and competitive future. As an example, all of Iowa's 13 scholarships for men's basketball are fully endowed.

The graduation rate of Iowa's student-athletes has improved in each of the past 10 years and has consistently ranked above the graduation rate of all UI students. Hawkeye athletes have garnered more than 70 academic All-America honors since 1992. The 2005-06 school-year saw the University of Iowa produce 138 academic all-Big Ten athletes.

Iowa athletes have been recognized as all-Americans in their sport on 207 occasions during the past 15 years.

Iowa's athletic teams during the 2005-06 athletic year continued its trend of success, on the playing fields and in academic pursuits.

The Hawkeye football team enjoyed another good year on the gridiron, going 7-5 and making its fourth-consecutive January bowl game when it was selected to play the Florida Gators in the Outback Bowl.

Iowa followed its 11-2 mark of 2002 with a 10-3 record in 2003 and a 10-2 mark in 2004, finishing each of those seasons ranked eighth nationally.

Iowa's men's and women's basketball teams have advanced to post-season play in each of the last six seasons. The men's squad finished with a 25-9 record and won the Big Ten Tournament.

They earned a No. 3 seed in the 2006 NCAA tournament. The women's team advanced to the NCAA tournament for the 16th time.

The Iowa wrestling squad will be under new leadership this season as former Hawkeye three-time NCAA Champion and Olympic Gold Medalist Tom Brands returns to his alma mater as head coach. He will be joined on his staff by the legendary Dan Gable, who led Iowa to 15 NCAA titles and 21 Big Ten Championships in his 21 seasons as head coach.

Iowa's men's and women's and gymnastics teams continue to rank among the best in the nation. The men's team again advanced to the NCAA Championships and the women's gymnastics squad has been in the NCAA meet two of the last four years.

The Hawkeye men's cross country team advanced to the NCAA Championships for the second-consecutive year in the fall of 2004, while sophomore Kineke Alexander won the NCAA Championship in the women's indoor 400-meters.

Iowa's women's softball team advanced to NCAA regional action for the 11th time in 13 seasons. Iowa has advanced to the softball World Series on four occasions over the past 12 seasons and Coach Gayle Blevins is one of three coaches to reach 1,000 career victories.

From the rankings on the courts and playing fields, to the rankings in the classroom, to the rankings in fan and community support, to the ranking as a program that boasts some of the best athletic facilities in the nation, it's easy to understand why Iowa fans everywhere truly believe, "It's great to be a Hawkeye."

Iowa has hosted many postseason championships, including the 2005 Big Ten wrestling championships.

Since its inception in 1979, Athletics Student Services has evolved from a two-person, academic support service to a broad-based, nationally prominent student support services operation. Its purpose is to offer academic and personal support services that will assist student-athletes in making timely and satisfactory progress toward their degrees and becoming tomorrow's leaders.

Athletics Student Services focuses on four important areas — academic counseling and monitoring, educational and support programs, retention programs and compliance services — when working with student-athletes. Following are descriptions of some of the programs, services and opportunities available in those areas.

The $4.6 million Russell A. and Ann Gerdin Athletics Learning Center opened in August of 2003.

Athletics Learning Center

The $4.6 million Russell A. and Ann Gerdin Athletics Learning Center opened in August of 2003 and gives all Iowa student-athletes a state of the art facility to help them with their educations.

The Athletics Learning Center is a multi-level, 20,000 square foot facility which provides a computer center, study areas, classes and meeting places for all Hawkeye student-athletes.

The Learning Center features an auditorium that converts into two classrooms, separate study rooms for under and upper-class student-athletes with 28 study carrels, a computer lab, five tutorial rooms, the book loan repository, office space for Iowa's Student Services staff and a display area to recognize the academic accomplishments of Iowa's student-athletes.

Academic Counseling & Monitoring

Athletics coordinators work closely with student-athletes and their university-assigned advisors from the time they arrive on campus until the time they leave the University. Along with focusing on academic planning matters such as goal-setting, plans of study, choosing majors and degree requirements, athletics coordinators also help student-athletes understand NCAA, Big Ten and University academic policies. They also solicit feedback from instructors on academic progress made by student-athletes.

Transition Seminar

All new student-athletes attend an eight-week transition seminar during the fall semester that is geared toward helping them make the transition from high school to college successfully. Seminar topics include time management skills, learning and study strategies, the culture and rules of the university, and life skills concerning alcohol and other substances, relationships and intimacy, diversity, tolerance, values and character.

Retention

A full-time staff member directs the retention program, which identifies student-athletes who may need tailored academic assistance and structure, and implements individualized learning plans to help them succeed. Such plans may include daily and weekly planning sessions with athletics coordinators and retention staff, tutoring, study groups, mainstreaming into on-campus services like the writing center, math labs and services for students with learning disabilities.

Minority Enrichment Program

This program offers a culturally supportive environment in which minority student-athletes have the opportunity to develop friendships and a support network in the university. A core focus group of students and staff coordinate programs such as guest speakers, holiday celebrations, community service activities with the local neighborhood centers, events with Cultural Centers and networking with minority faculty, staff, professional and business leaders.

CHAMPS/Life Skills

Life skills programs are conducted throughout the year with and for student athletes on quality of life issues critical to personal growth, such as personal accountability, responsible use and nonuse of alcohol, diversity and gambling.

Tutoring

Tutoring is available free of charge to all student-athletes. Tutors, who are post-graduates and teachers, help with course content as well as study strategies and are available in virtually all general education program subjects.

Career Guidance & Development

Planning a meaningful career and a fulfilling life is an ongoing process of expanding and narrowing choices, beginning when student-athletes arrive on campus and continuing throughout their college career and lifetime. The professional staff works with other career development professionals on campus to offer individual consultation, career development seminars, workshops, referrals to other campus offices and special events like the Senior Recognition Banquet for graduating student-athletes.

Compare the Numbers

Iowa's student-athletes have outperformed the University's entire student population each year since the NCAA started requiring a report of student-athlete graduation rates.

Iowa Men's Tennis

Distinguished Alumni

When student-athletes consider their future, they should consider prospects beyond athletics. A list of all University of Iowa alumni who have distinguished themselves professionally would be difficult to assemble and could never be complete. However, some are truly outstanding in their area of expertise.

Athletic Training & Sports Medicine

Continuing to set the standard in athletic training and Sports Medicine Service, The University of Iowa provides the student-athlete with exemplary medical care. Athletic Training Services connect student-athletes to University Hospitals & Clinics (UIHC) resources and specialty areas. Iowa's staff of 10 full-time licensed athletic trainers and 7 graduate assistant licensed athletic trainers provide health care services within of five athletic training rooms: injury rehabilitation programs and prevention programs. With physical conditioning as a major component of a prevention programs, the athletic trainers combine with strength and conditioning coaches to pave the way for safe, effective, and enhanced participation in intercollegiate athletics.

Services from the UIHC, among the world's largest university-owned teaching hospitals, support the efforts of the athletic trainers and other specialty sports medicine staff. Located next to Kinnick Stadium, the hospital offers a cutting-edge environment where staff physicians, sports medicine fellows, sports physical therapists, and athletic trainers care for student-athletes and produce successful outcomes. Dedicated research and education result in outstanding care.

Athletic trainers form a team with orthopaedic and primary care physicians for every Hawkeye sport. Many of the physicians are fellowship trained in their specialty area and lecture locally, nationally, and around the world. In addition each athlete has access to orthodontists, nutritionists, psychologists, and specialty physicians at the UIHC. Immediate accessibility to see physicians and other health care professionals provides expertise for comprehensive health care that returns the student-athlete to practice and competition.

Men's Tennis Athletic Training Facilities

The University of Iowa men's tennis team utilizes the Hawkeye Tennis and Recreation Complex Athletic Training Room as the practice and competition athletic training room. The Hawkeyes also use the Recreation Building Athletic Training Room along with the Iowa baseball, cross country, track and field and soccer teams. The athletic training staff for the both facilities consists of associate director Doug West, PhD, LAT, CSCS and three graduate assistant licensed athletic trainers.

The Hawkeye Tennis and Recreation Complex Athletic Training Room has excellent facilities to conduct evaluations, treatments, and rehabilitation for men's tennis student-athletes.

Both facilities have excellent spaces to conduct evaluations, treatments, and rehabilitation for the student-athlete. Within the Hawkeye Tennis and Recreation Complex is a spacious room with equipment to enhance treatment, rehabilitation, cardiopulmonary, and strength performance. Equipment utilized by the student-athletes includes: ellipticals, treadmills, and bikes by Precor, strength equipment and open space to conduct rehabilitation and prevention techniques. There are also traditional electrical stimulation, ultrasound, and moist heat treatment options. The Recreation Building Athletic Training Room offers the LeMond independent pedal bike with PowerCranks, and the Keiser Functional Trainer, as well as TENS, hydrocollator, and hydrotherapy treatment options in addition to the treatment and strength performance equipment available in the Hawkeye Tennis and Recreation Complex. The treatment, rehabilitative and preventive options in both facilities keep the Hawkeyes on the court for practice and competition.

The Hawkeye Strength Training Program

The program is designed to develop strength, explosiveness, speed, coordination, balance and flexibility. All qualities are developed through progression of exercises in four phases of training:

1. work capacity - ability to perform work for a prolonged time and recover quickly
2. strength - ability to exert force
3. power - ability to exert strength quickly
4. speed - ability to move the body in shortest time possible

The highest level of performance is achieved by training under close supervision, in a year-round program. Improvement is monitored closely through the newest and best technology. Electronic timing devices are used to measure sprints, while a microcomputer device is used to monitor peak velocity and power outputs in weight training movements. With this technological support, the athletes are constantly receiving immediate feedback on their development.

Strength & Conditioning Mission

"The mission of our strength and conditioning program is performance enhancement, while reducing the risk of injury through a detailed progression of exercises."

The 1,800-square foot Recreation Building strength training facility is equipped with eight Olympic platforms, squat racks, medicine balls, physio balls and over 10,000 pounds of free weights.

The Hawkeye Nickname

The University of Iowa borrowed its athletic nickname from the state of Iowa many years ago. The name Hawkeye was originally the name of the hero in the fictional novel, The Last of the Mohicans, written by James Fenimore Cooper. Cooper had the Delaware Indians bestow the name on a white scout who lived with them. In 1838, 12 years after the book was published, people in the territory of Iowa acquired the nickname, chiefly through the efforts of Judge David Rorer of Burlington and James Edwards of Fort Madison. Edwards, editor of the Fort Madison Patriot, moved his paper to Burlington in 1843 and renamed it the Burlington Hawkeye. The two men continued their campaign to popularize the name, and territorial officials eventually gave it their formal approval.

Herky The Hawkeye

The Hawkeye nickname gained a tangible symbol in 1948 when a cartoon character, later to be named Herky the Hawkeye was hatched. The creator was Richard Spencer III, instructor of journalism at Iowa. The impish Hawk was an immediate hit and acquired a name through a statewide contest staged by the athletic department. John Franklin, a Belle Plaine alumnus, was the man who suggested Herky. Since his birth more than 45 years ago, Herky has symbolized Iowa athletics and epitomized University life. He even donned a military uniform during the Korean War and became the insignia of the 124th Fighter Squadron. During the mid-1950s, Herky came to life at a football game as the Iowa mascot. Since that time, Herky has been a familiar figure at Iowa athletics events.

School Colors

For 40 years Iowa was without school colors, but in 1887 a group of 50 seniors met on the steps of the Old Capitol to decide what are now the school official colors. They chose Old Gold, the color of Iowa's vast corn fields and Black, the color of the rich soil.

School Fight Song

The Iowa Fight Song was written in 1950 by Mason City, Iowa, native Meredith Willson. Best known as the creator of Broadway's "The Music Man," Willson was awarded a 1963 University of Iowa Alumni Association Distinguished Service Award for "setting the spirit of Iowa to music." The lively cheer is sung hundreds of times during Iowa athletics events the year around.

*The word is Fight, Fight,
Fight for IOWA
Let every loyal Iowan sing;
The word is Fight, Fight
Fight for IOWA
Until the walls and rafters ring
(Go Hawks!)*
*Come on and cheer, cheer, cheer
for IOWA
Come on and cheer until you hear the final gun.
The word is Fight, Fight, Fight for IOWA
Until the game is won.*
