HIGH-OCTANE OFFENSE

Mark Gottfried has brought a fast-paced, high energy offense to NC State as evidenced by the team's scoring numbers. The Wolfpack currently ranks second in the Atlantic Coast Conference and is tied for 10th nationally in scoring with 78.6 points per game.

The Pack's offensive production has improved dramatically since Gottfried took over the program prior to last season. In 2010-11, the campaign prior to his arrival, State ranked 115th nationally and sixth in the ACC in scoring with 70.7 point per game. Last year, his first season with the Wolfpack, the average was up slightly to 72.9 points per game - the nation's 59th-best mark at season's end.

The NC State single season record for points per game is 92.9, set in 1973. However, the Pack's current mark would rank as the highest in over 15 years (81.2 in 1996) if the season ended today. State has already scored at least 80 points in 12 contests this season - the highest total for a Wolfpack squad since 2005-06 (13).

RECRUITING PROWESS

Mark Gottfried is bringing top-level talent to Raleigh, as both of his recruiting classes have been ranked in the top-10 nationally. Last year, having just seven months till the fall signing period, Gottfried brought in the No. 5 recruiting class in the nation, including three McDonald's All-Americans. It marked the first time the Wolfpack had three McDonald's All-Americans in the same class since 1979. Gottfried followed up with three more recruits signed in November and that class currently ranks ninth nationally.

Gottfried came to NC State with the reputation of being a first-class recruiter. In three of his final four seasons at Alabama, Gottfried's recruiting classes were nationally ranked: 10th in 2005, 27th in 2007, and 16th in 2008.

THE MIAMI SERIES

NC State has faced Miami fewer times than any other current member of the ACC - just a dozen times. The two teams met for the first time in 1940 and the other eight meetings have all come since the Hurricanes joined the league in 2004-05.

The Wolfpack has won four in a row in the series and all four games in the PNC Arena. Miami is the only league opponent to have never won on NC State's home court.

A TREND WILL END

One streak will come to an end in the battle of ranked opponents, when NC State hosts Miami at PNC Arena on Saturday.

NC State posts a perfect 4-0 record in home ACC games this season, while Miami is 4-0 in road conference action. The Pack sits tied atop the conference with three other teams that have already recorded four home conference wins, while Miami has four of the ACC's 12 total road victories so far in 2012-13.

Both squads have improved in these categories from a year ago, as NC State was 4-4 in home ACC action under first-year head coach Mark Gottfried and Miami was 3-5 in road ACC action in Jim Larranaga's first season last year.

Another streak that will end on one side or another is that the Wolfpack has won all 12 of its home games in 2012-13 and Miami has won eight games in a row.

LAST SEASON VS. THE HURRICANES

NC State swept the two meetings with Miami last season - victories which could have been the deciding factor in which team earned an NCAA Tournament berth and which one received an NIT bid. The Wolfpack win also gave State the tiebreaker with Miami for final seeding in the ACC Tournament.

In the first meeting, NC State made a January, 22 trip to Miami to face the 'Canes at Bank United Center. Scott Wood was the Pack's player of the game with a contest-high 21 points, going 5-for-9 from the field, including 4-for-6 from 3-point range to help State to a 78-73 victory. Wood was also 7-of-7 from the charity stripe, a performance that would help him set the ACC consecutive free throw record at 58, four more than the previous mark set by J.J. Redick (2003-04).

The Feb. 29 meeting in the Pack's home finale was crucial, as NC State entered the game with four consecutive losses. The Wolfpack came away with a 77-73 victory shooting 5-of-8 from the free throw line in the final minutes to secure the win.

HARBOWL HAS PACK CONNECTION

Not only will the Feb. 3 Super Bowl be a family affair between brothers Jim and John Harbaugh as they coach the San Francisco 49ers and Baltimore Ravens, respectively, but it will also have a family connection with NC State ties.

Wolfpack coach Mark Gottfried is the Harbaughs second cousin, as their grandmothers were sisters. In other words, Gottfried's father, Joe, and Jim and John's dad, Jack, are first cousins. Jack Harbaugh is the Wolfpack head coach's godfather.

Gottfried's oldest son Brandon also played football for a season under Jim Harbaugh at Stanford before he left to coach the 49ers. Gottfried's uncle, Mike, coached football at Pitt from 1986-89 and both John and Jack were on his staff in 1987.

The Harbaughs have one other basketball connection: their sister, Joani, is married to Indiana coach Tom Crean.

DOUBLE TROUBLE

Senior Richard Howell enters the Miami game tied for third nationally with 13 double-doubles this season, just two away from the top mark nationally of 15 by Mike Muscala of Bucknell and Jerrelle Benimon of Towson.

Howell has posted double-digit point and rebound totals in each of the last four games and is looking to become the first Wolfpack player since Kenny Carr in 1977 to record a double-double in five straight contests. Carr is also the last player to average double figures in both points and rebounds in the same season (1976).

For the season, Howell has posted 13 double-doubles, which ranks as the most for a Wolfpack player since center Todd Fuller had 13 as a junior in 1994-95 and ties as the eighth-highest mark in school history.

The most for any Wolfpack player over the last four decades is 7-foot-2 center Tommy Burleson's 26 during the Wolfpack's 1974 NCAA championship season. Burleson also had 21 as a sophomore and 19 as a junior for a total of 66 in his three-year career.

CUTTING IT CLOSE

Six points. That's all that separates the 2012-13 Wolfpack from its current 5-3 mark in ACC action and a perfect 8-0 slate.

NC State's ACC losses at Maryland, at Wake Forest and at Virginia were decided by a combined six points, and all were decided in the final 10 seconds.

STARTING OUT STRONG

Over the last four games, the Pack has come out firing and grabbed early leads. NC State has led virtually the entire way in each of the last four first halves of action. In the 80 minutes of action in the first half of the last four games, the Pack has only trailed for 1:29, when Wake Forest scored the game's first basket.

The Pack has shot 48.8 percent from the floor, and an even more impressive 51.9 percent from three-point range in the first half of those contests. In each of the last four games, the Pack has built a double digit lead (Clemson 11, Wake Forest 16, North Carolina 23, Virginia 11), and has gone into the half up by an average of 11.5 points.

In the second half, the numbers have been a little different. The Pack has been outscored in the second half of the last four games by an average margin of 9.8 points.

In those four contests, the opponents have combined to shoot just 38.8 percent (50-129) in first half action, but that percentage jumps to 52.1 percent (61-117) after the break.

LESLIE PULLS TRIPLE DUTY

NC State's C.J. Leslie is definitely counted on by his team for his scoring. Leslie leads the Wolfpack with 15.6 points per game, the fifth-best mark in the ACC heading into the game with Miami. He has posted the Pack's high point total in seven contests this season.

Leslie is also counted on for rebounding. Although his rebounding numbers sometime go unnoticed because of Richard Howell's prowess in that category, he ranks 10th in the league with 7.3 boards per game.

The junior has also been counted on for accuracy. His .557 field goal percentage ranks fourth in the current league rankings.

Leslie, Duke's Mason Plumlee and UNC's James Michael McAdoo are the only players in the ACC to rank in the top 10 in scoring, rebounding and field goal percentage.

Leslie is tied with Howell for the team lead in blocked shots with 21.

EARLY AND OFTEN

Senior sharpshooter Scott Wood has played in a team-high 124 career games and has started 122 of those contests.

In NC State history, only 2004 ACC Player of the Year Julius Hodge started more contests. Hodge got the nod 125 times.

ALL ABOUT THE OFFENSE

NC State currently ranks second in the ACC in scoring at 78.6 points per game, which ties as the 10th-best mark nationally. The Pack is one of six teams with five double-figure scorers, so it's probably safe to say that the offense is the driving force behind State's success.

In the Pack's 16 wins, Mark Gottfried's squad is averaging 83.3 points per game while shooting 53.1 percent from the field (474-893). In those 16 wins, NC State has been held under 70 points only once.

However, when the Pack's offense has stalled, the results have not been positive. In its five losses, NC State averaged just 63.4 points a game, shooting 42.1 percent from the floor (127-302). In three of those five games, NC State was held under 60 points.

MILLENNIUM MEN

The game at Wake Forest on Jan. 22 may have marked the first time in school history that two players have reached the 1,000-point total for their career in the same game. Senior Richard Howell and junior Lorenzo Brown both reached that milestone and now boast 1,036 and 1,025 career points respectively. Now, all four of the Wolfpack's superclassmen are members of the 1,000-point club.

Scott Wood scored his 1,000th point in last season's opening-round win over San Diego State in the NCAA Tournament and now has 1,270 career points.

Junior C.J. Leslie earned his place in the fraternity in the first half in NC State's win over Western Michigan on Dec. 29. He became the 46th player in NC State's storied basketball history to score his 1,000th point and now boasts 1,159 for his career.

The last time NC State had three 1,000-point scorers on the same team was in 2008-09, with Brandon Costner (1,273), Ben McCauley (1,138) and Courtney Fells (1,060).

The 1982-83 squad also had a trio of 1,000 scorers led by Thurl Bailey (1,495), Dereck Whittenburg (1,272) and Sidney Lowe (1,048). That squad went on to win the national title.

SHOULDA, WOOD-A, COULDA

Senior Scott Wood now has 284 career 3-pointers for the Wolfpack, which leads all active ACC players. He ranks second in NC State history behind Wolfpack career-scoring leader Rodney Monroe's 325 career treys and 14th in ACC history.

Wood has averaged more than 76 baskets from behind the arc in his first three seasons with the Wolfpack, which means he has a chance to become one of 10 players in ACC history to hit 300 or more 3-point baskets since the bonus shot was introduced experimentally for the 1982-83 season and permanently in 1986-87.

If he matches his career high of 95, set last season, Wood could eclipse Monroe's school record of 322, which ranks sixth in ACC history.

Only 10 previous times have a pair of players in the same recruiting class each scored 1,000 point during their careers, the last was the trio of Costner, Fells and McCauley. Howell and Wood became the 11th and Brown and Leslie are the 12th.

THE CLEANER

Early in the Wolfpack's win over top-ranked Duke on Jan. 12, Mark Gottfried asked his team during a time out if anyone was going to rebound. Senior Richard Howell spoke up quickly and told his head coach not to worry - that if nobody else got any, he would get them all.

Howell lived up to his word in that game and in the five games since, as he has been active on the glass more than ever before. He currently ranks a close second in the ACC in rebounds per game with 11.0 (just behind Duke's Mason Plumlee at 11.1).

In games against ACC competition, his average is an even more impressive 13.4, which leads all league players. Howell also leads the conference in offensive boards, pulling down 4.0 a contest, 5.4 vs. league opponents.

In each of the past nine games and 13 of the last 15, Howell has rebounded in double digits. That nine-game streak of double-digit rebound games is the most for a Pack player since All-American Tommy Burleson did it in 10 straight games in 1972-73.

Howell also continues his climb in the NC State record book. He now ranks sixth in school history in that career category with 907. He ranks second in school history in offensive rebounds with 345, just 25 from tying the school record.

FREE WOOD

With the game close in the final minute, there is nobody NC State coach Mark Gottfried wants more to go to the free throw line than senior Scott Wood.

Wood's .912 mark from the line would lead the ACC if he had enough makes to qualify (he averages 2.476 made FTs per game and the minimum is 2.5).

Over the last 13 games, Wood has shot 38-of-40 (.950) from the charity stripe, and in the final minute of ACC games this season, has sunk 18-of-20 (.900) attempts.

For his career, Wood has hit 88.1 percent from the free throw line. He is well ahead of the pace to establish a new school record, as the current school record holder for career free throw percentage is Terry Gannon (1982-85) at 85.4 percent.

Last season, Wood set the ACC record for consecutive free throws made with 66 straight during the season. That streak is the fourth longest in NCAA history.

SHARP SHOOTERS

NC State continues to be among the national leaders in field goal percentage. The Pack led the nation for several weeks and now ranks fourth with a .503 mark.

The Pack boasts three of the top five shooters in the ACC. Freshman T.J. Warren leads the league and ranks 11th nationally with a .633 mark, while Richard Howell is third and C.J. Leslie is fourth with marks of .575 and .557 respectively.

After posting a .529 (474-895) mark in the first 16 games of the season, State has shot just .423 (127-300) in the last five games - all versus ACC competition.

In 14 of 21 contests this season, State has shot .500 or better, including a season best .614 in its season-opening victory over Miami of Ohio. In its first three games against ACC competition, State hit .500 from the field.

State has shot .531 (442-828) in its 16 wins and just .421 (127-302) in its five losses.

Another common factor in the five losses has been that they all occurred away from the friendly confines of the PNC Arena.

1,000-POINT QUARTETS

NC State is only the ninth team in ACC history to have four players who have reached 1,000 career points on the same team.

Here's a look at the other league groups who have reached that mark:

BROWN LIKES BLUE

NC State's victory over North Carolina last Saturday gave the Wolfpack victories over both of its triangle neighbors in blue - Duke and UNC - for the first time at home in the same season since 2003. One major similarity in both of those contests this year has been the play of junior point guard Lorenzo Brown.

Brown has six double-doubles (points-assists) for his career, including for in ACC play this season. He tallied a double-double against then-top-ranked Duke on Jan. 12 with 12 points and 13 assists and had 20 points and 11 assists Saturday in the win over UNC. That's an average of 16 points and 12 assists in those two contests.

The junior became the first Pack guard since Chris Corchiani in 1991 to post a double-double against UNC and Duke in the same year.

TRIPLE DOUBLE-DOUBLES

In last Saturday's victory over North Carolina, senior Richard Howell and juniors Lorenzo Brown and C.J. Leslie all recorded double-doubles. It marked the first time in 22 years that a trio of Pack players had hit double digits in two categories in the same game.

On Saturday, Howell had 16 points and 14 rebounds to record his 12th double-double of the season and the 25th of his career. Brown posted 20 points and 11 assists for his fifth double-dip of the year and the sixth of his career, while Leslie had 17 points and 10 rebounds for his fourth this season and the 16th in a Wolfpack uniform.

The last time a Pack squad had turned the double-double hat trick was on March 14, 1991, vs. Southern Miss in the opening round of the NCAA Tournament at Cole Fieldhouse. NC State came away with a 111-85 victory over the Golden Eagles. In the 29-point win, Tom Gugliotta had 16 points and 11 rebounds, Kevin Thompson recorded 13 points and hauled down 11 boards and Chris Corchiani scored 25 points and handed out 11 assists.

BATTING .500

Since the beginning of the ACC in 1953-54, the NC State men's basketball team has finished the season shooting over 50.0 percent from the field just five times. The Pack's current season total is 50.3 percent, while the school record is 52.1 set by the 1981-82 squad.

In 14 of the Pack's 21 games this season, NC State has shot over 50.0 percent in the game. The last time the Pack shot over 50.0 percent in that many games was during the 2006-07 season, when NC State shot 50.0 percent or better in 19 of the 36 contests.

Here is a look at the seasons in which the Pack has shot over 50.0 percent:

Year	Pct.	Record	Postseason
1988-89	.501	22-9	NCAA 1st Rd.
1987-88	.514	24-8	NCAA 1st Rd.
1981-82	.521	22-10	NCAA 1st Rd.

THE SELFISH SHARER

Junior point guard Lorenzo Brown was very giving in the Wolfpack's win over top-ranked Duke on Jan. 12. He was also extremely selfish.

Brown generously passed the ball to his teammates in that epic Wolfpack win - dishing out 13 assists to tie his career high in that category.

The oddest thing about that statistic is that Brown had every assist in the game. Nationally, only three times since 1996-97 has a team tallied more than 10 assists in a game with every one going to a single player.

Brown now ranks third in school history with 493 assists. He had one other 13-assist game in his career prior to the Duke victory and that one also came against the nation's No. 1 team, as he handed out a baker's dozen when top-ranked Syracuse visited the PNC Arena on Dec. 17, 2011.

Here's a look at players who have tallied all of their teams assists when their team had more than 10 in a single game since 1996-97:

Name, School	Assts	Date	Opp.
Lorenzo Brown, NCSU	13	1/12/13	Duke
Derek Williams, SMU	10	1/27/10	UCF
Ben Drayton III, GaSo	10	2/16/11	Davidson

KNOCKING OFF NUMBER 1

NC State's 84-76 win on Jan. 14 against top-ranked Duke was the program's first over the nation's No. 1 team since Feb. 2, 2004. On that date, the Wolfpack also knocked over the No. 1 ranked Blue Devils, 78-74, snapping an eight-game winning streak.

The most recent victory was NC State's sixth over a No. 1 team. The Wolfpack is one of 18 programs to boast multiple wins over No. 1 teams and joins Indiana with six wins against top-ranked squads. That mark ranks 12th nationally.

Here's a look at the all-time leaders in wins over top-ranked teams:

POINTS FOR ALL

NC State and Duke are the only two ACC teams with five or more players averaging in double figures. Only six other teams nationally have five or more double-digit scorers: Detroit, Duke, Indiana, Iowa State, Oregon and Oregon State.

The Pack is led by junior C.J. Leslie with an average of 15.6 points per contest. Senior Richard Howell and junior Lorenzo Brown are both averaging 12.7 ppg, although Howell has one more points. Brown's average dropped after he played just 10 minutes at Virginia before exiting with an injury and only two points.

Freshman T.J. Warren is adding 12.1 and senior Scott Wood chips in 11.6 ppg.

The Wolfpack spreads its scoring responsibility around the lineup, with five different players leading the team in scoring more than once, Leslie leads the way with seven times as the Pack's top scorer.

Here's a breakdown of how many times a

Tradition + Transformation

NC STATE UNIVERSITY | 125 YEARS

Celebrate the past. Create the future.

North Carolina State University was founded in 1887 to fulfill the land-grant university mission: opening the doors of higher education to the citizens of North Carolina. Since then, NC State has grown into one of the nation's top research institutions, becoming an engine for educational innovation and economic growth. Throughout 125 years of groundbreaking work in fields ranging from engineering to economics, soil science to social work, we've not only changed lives; we've transformed the world.

Wolfpack player has led the team in scoring this season:

Name	Leading Scorer	High Pts.
C.J. Leslie	7	33
T.J. Warren	4	22
Lorenzo Brown	5	24
Rodney Purvis	4	19
Richard Howell	2	23

MAKIN' THREES

When senior Scott Wood has success from beyond the 3-point arc, NC State has success in the win category.

Since Mark Gottfried took over the program, whenever Wood hits three or more 3-pointers in a contest, the Wolfpack's record is 23-4. Its record improves to 13-0 when Wood connects on four or more 3-pointers in a contest.

In his career, Wood has nailed three or more threes 49 times. State posts a 36-13 mark in those contests.

Wood knocked down big shots when NC State needed them the most in the Pack's ACC opening win at Boston College on Jan. 5.

He was 0-for-4 for the first 36:14 of the game and had gone to the bench with four fouls, but exploded for 12 points over the final 3:46 of the contest to seal the win for the Wolfpack.

He scored his first six points on consecutive 3-pointers. Then in the final 27 seconds of the game, Wood connected on all six of his free throw attempts, including two with a second remaining to seal the victory.

HEAD COACHES

Mark Gottfried brings 16 years of experience as a head coach to the Wolfpack, but he isn't the only one on the NC State staff who has run his own program.

Three other members of his staff have also served as head coaches: Associate head coach Bobby Lutz, Assistant coach Orlando Early and Director of player development Larry Farmer.

Lutz was a head coach for 25 years, guiding the program at Charlotte from 1999-2010 and at Pfeiffer from 1986-95. He took Pfeiffer to six NAIA Tournaments and Charlotte to five NCAA appearances.

Early was the head coach at Louisiana-Monroe from 2005-10, earning Sun Belt Coach of the Year honors.

In his 12 seasons as a head coach, Farmer won 166 games in stints at UCLA (1981-84), Weber State (1985-88) and Loyola-Chicago (1998-2004). He led the 1982-83 Bruin squad to a 23-6 mark, the Pack-10 title and a No. 7 final ranking.

Second Time's The Charm

Last season, Mark Gottfried became the third coach in NC State history to take his first team to the NCAA Tournament, joining Press Maravich and Les Robinson in achieving that feat in his first year leading the Wolfpack.

This year, Gottfried is attempting to accomplish a feat only one other coach in school history has done by taking his second edition to the Big Dance.

Jim Valvano guided the 1981-82 Pack to a 22-10 overall record and a 7-7 mark in the ACC, earning his first berth into the NCAA tournament in his second year. It was a short trip, however, as the Wolfpack lost to Tennessee-Chattanooga 58-51 in a first-round game in Indianapolis.

The next year, in Valvano's third season, the Pack won nine consecutive postseason games (three in the ACC tournament and six in the NCAA tournament) to win the 1983 national championship.

Legendary Everett Case, who brought big-time basketball to the South, had the second most wins of his 16-year NC State career in his second season, 1947-48, posting a 29-3 overall mark. The Pack also won both the Southern Conference regular-season championship and the Southern Conference tournament title. At the time, however, conference champions did not automatically qualify for the tournament.

The eight-team field was selected by district representatives and Kentucky was chosen over Case's Wolfpack. Instead, NC State made its second consecutive trip to the National Invitation Tournament, where it lost in the first round to DePaul in New York.

Here's a look at every other's coaches second-year record in the NCAA Tournament era.

shooters in the ACC. Freshman forward T.J. Warren currently leads the league, connecting at a .653 (112-177) clip this season, the 11th-best mark nationally.

If the season ended today, Warren's mark would be the Pack's single-season record by a landslide. Kevin Thompson shot .624 in 1992 for the current best mark.

The last Wolfpack freshman to lead the ACC in field goal percentage was J.J. Hickson, who shot .591 for the 2007-08 season.

The ACC's third-best marksman this week is senior Richard Howell with a .575 mark while C.J. Leslie ranks fourth at .557.

No other ACC team has more than one player ranked in the league's top 10 in field goal percentage.

NO SUB FOR YOU

Mark Gottfried's starters and top reserve are definitely seeing the bulk of the action for 18th-ranked NC State in 2012-13. The Wolfpack is the only team in the ACC that has six players averaging over 25 minutes of playing time a game. Duke and Miami each have five players seeing that much action.

Beyond the Pack's top six of Leslie, Brown, Howell, Wood, Purvis and Warren, no other player is averaging double digit minutes.

In league play, all five regular starters are averaging 30+ minutes.

BENCH POINTS

Against Maryland, all 50 of the Wolfpack's points were scored by starters. It marked the first time since a 2007 NIT win at Drexel that there were no points scored from the bench.

For the season, only 17.8 (374) points per game have come from the bench - just 23 percent. Out of those few bench points, 68 percent has come from who Mark Gottfried has referred to as the Pack's 'sixth starter' - T.J. Warren.

In ACC games, .817 of the team's scoring has come from the starting lineup (483 of 591).

HEAD OF THE CLASS

T.J. Warren is one the top scoring freshmen in the ACC with an average of 12.1 points per game. Only Boston College's Oliver Hanlan has a better average among rookies (14.1 ppg).

Warren, whose father Tony played for the Pack from 1977-79 under Coach Norm Sloan, has led the Pack in scoring five times, with four of those performances coming as a reserve. He has hit the 20-point mark on four occasions, becoming the Wolfpack's first freshman since J.J. Hickson in 2007-08 to score 20 or more points multiple times in a season.

Hickson scored at least 20 points on seven occasions in his only season with the Pack, including 33 in his first game.

C.J. Leslie had a season-high 21 in his first game with the Wolfpack in 2010-11 and Scott Wood surpassed 20 once with his 31-point performance against Florida State in his inaugural season.

Brandon Costner had nine 20-point performances as a redshirt freshman in 2006-07.

PAINT PRODUCTION

The Pack has outscored its opposition, 836-679, in the paint this season, an average of 39.8 points per game. The opposition is scoring just 32.3 points per contest in the lane, giving the Pack a 7.5-point advantage.

That equates to 50.7 percent of the Wolfpack's scoring production coming from the Post, compared to 46.4 percent of the scoring output for its opponents' post players.

GIVING ASSIST-ANCE

Seven times this season and in four of the past seven games, junior Lorenzo Brown has recorded double digits in assists.

All of last season, Brown had two performances with 10 or more assists, including a career-best 13 in the Pack's loss to top-ranked Syracuse. Against the Orange, he also registered his first career double-double, adding 10 points.

Brown, who leads the ACC in assists per game at 6.86 (he was averaging 7.1 before leaving the Virginia game after only 10 minutes with an ankle injury), is the conference's active leader for double-digit assist games with nine. Brown's assists per game are the most by a Wolfpack player since Chris Corchiani averaged 9.6 per game during the 1990-91 season.

CHAIRMEN OF THE BOARDS

Senior Richard Howell and junior C.J. Leslie are both on the ACC list of career double-digit rebound games.

Howell is second among active players with 38 10-plus rebound contests, while Leslie is fifth with 19.

Howell also ranks second in the league for career rebounds with 907 and Leslie is sixth with 618.

Howell's rebounding total places him in sixth all-time in program history.

ON THE BREAK

One of the points of emphasis in NC State's offensive style is to score points in transition.

This season, the Pack has outscored its opponents, 343-150, on fast break points. Through 21 games, NC State is averaging 16.3 points per game on the fast break, compared to 7.1 per contest for its competition.

PACK IN THE POLLS

NC State has been ranked in the Associated Press poll since the preseason, opening the year at No. 6 and dropping to as low as 25th. This week marks the 14th straight that the Pack has been in the poll.

The marks the longest stretch that NC State has been ranked by the AP since spending 15 weeks in the poll during the 2005-06 season.

The most time NC State has spent in the polls in a season is 19 weeks during the 1974-75 season and the most consecutive weeks it has been ranked is 67 weeks beginning with the 1972-73 season and going through March 2, 1976 of the 1975-76 season.

BROWN IS FINALIST FOR COUSY

NC State junior point guard Lorenzo Brown has been selected as one of 20 finalists for the 2013 Cousy Collegiate Point Guard of the Year Award.

Brown's 6.9 assists per game lead the ACC and he is second in the conference in steals with 2.1 per game. His assist per game average is the highest since Chris Corchiani averaged 9.6 per game in 1990-91. Brown is tied as the Wolfpack's second leading scorer at 12.7 points per contest and averages a team-high 33.1 minutes per game.

The annual honor, named for Hall of Famer and former Boston Celtic Bob Cousy, recognizes the top point guards in men's college basketball.

WATCH OUT

Juniors Lorenzo Brown and C.J. Leslie were both named to the preseason 'watch' list for the Naismith Award.

The 50-player Naismith Award watch list was compiled by the Atlanta Tipoff Club's Board of Selectors, which bases its criteria on player performances from the previous year and expectations for the 2012-2013 college basketball season. The Naismith Men's College Player of the Year presented by AT&T will be awarded on April 7, 2013, in Atlanta.

OUR STATE, IN-STATE

The 2012-13 NC State roster includes eight players from North Carolina, the most for a Wolfpack team in a decade.

The three-player freshman class, all of whom were McDonald's All-Americans, are North Carolina natives. Rodney Purvis hails from Raleigh, T.J. Warren is from Durham and Tyler Lewis comes from Statesville.

Sophomore walk-on Staats Battle comes from Raleigh's Broughton High School, which is less than two miles from the NC State campus. Junior C.J. Leslie is a native of Holly Springs, just outside of Raleigh, and senior Jay Lewis is from Greensboro.

Two recent additions to the roster are also native North Carolinians. Freshman Chase Cannon is from Morehead City, N.C., and sophomore Jevoni Robinson is from Charlotte, by way of Jamaica. Robinson played high school basketball at Charlotte's Independence High.

It's the most in-state players on the roster since the 2002-03 team had seven North Carolina natives, plus another N.C. high school product in the lineup: Cameron Bennerman (Greensboro), Clifford Crawford (Winston-Salem), Dovonte Edwards (Chapel Hill), Marcus Melvin (Fayetteville), Will Roach (Raleigh), Scooter Sherrill (Mount Ulla) and Adam Simons (Burlington).

For good measure, Sofia, Bulgaria, native Ilian Evtimov, played at Bishop McGuinness High School in Winston-Salem and listed that Triad city as his hometown throughout his career.

TOP 10 CLASS

NC State head coach Mark Gottfried inked his second consecutive top 10 recruiting class with the signings of BeeJay Anya (Gaithersburg, Md.), Anthony "Cat" Barber (Hampton, Va.) and Kyle Washington (Champlin, Minn.), who will play for the Wolfpack beginning with the 2013-14 season.

The trio is ranked eighth by Scout.com and ninth nationally by ESPN.com. Last year's class of Tyler Lewis, Rodney Purvis and T.J. Warren was ranked the No. 2 signing class by ESPN.

Here's a look at the Wolfpack's signing class:

BeeJay Anya

Center

6-9, 275

DeMatha Catholic

Gaithersburg, Md.

Prep: Averaged 13.3 points, 10.5 rebounds and 6.8 blocks per game as a junior at DeMatha Catholic High School ... Member of the gold-medal winning USA Basketball U-17 team last summer ... Averaged 6.3 points and 3.8 rebounds per contest for the U-17 squad ...

ESPN.com ranks him as the 32nd best high school prospect in the nation ... Rivals.com rates him the fourth-best high school center and gave him a four-star rating ... Scout.com rates Anya as the 45th-best prospect and the fifth-best center coming out of high school ... Comes from a long line of Wolfpack recruits from DeMatha Catholic, dating back to Kenny Carr and including Charles "Hawkeye" Whitney, Dereck Whittenburg, Sidney Lowe and, most recently, Jordan Collins.

Gottfried on BeeJay Anya

"We're excited about BeeJay because he has a chance to be a great player. A lot of people talk about his wingspan length, which is amazing. He's a big, strong, athletic guy that I think is very well coached. What I like about BeeJay too is that he wins. His high school team, his AAU team and he played with USA Basketball and they won (U17 championship). Everyone seems to win, those teams he plays on. So we're excited about him."

Anthony "Cat" Barber

Guard

6-2, 165

Hampton High School

Hampton, Va.

Prep: The Virginia Group AAA Player of the Year ... Guided Hampton High to the 2012 Virginia High School League state championship ... Averaged 21.3 points per game as a junior for the Crabbers ... Has scored 1,530 points during his prep career ... Ranked 14th among ESPN.com's top 100 prospects ... Rivals.com and Scout.com both rate him as a five-star recruit and the No. 3 point guard in the nation ... Both sites also tout Barber one of the nation's top 20 players.

Gottfried on Anthony "Cat" Barber

"The first thing that jumps out with Cat is the fact they won the (Virginia) state championship last year. As the point guard and as the leader, you like it when their teams win and he understands winning. He's an electric player with his speed and there's not going to be many players in America that are faster than him. He has a chance to become a terrific player as well."

Kyle Washington

Forward

6-9, 215

Brewster (N.H.) Academy

Champlin, Minn.

Prep: Playing this season at Brewster (N.H.) Academy ... The same prep school freshman T.J. Warren attended last year ... Played his junior season at The Hotchkiss School in Lakeview, Conn. ... Averaged 15 points, 10 rebounds and five blocks a game ... Helped the Bearcats to 13-10 mark last season ... Ranked 69th in the ESPN.com top 100 high school players ... Scout and Rivals.com both rate him as a four-star prospect. Rivals.com has him listed as the 21st -best at that position. ... Plays for the same school that produced current NC State freshman T.J. Warren, though the two did not play together.

Gottfried on Kyle Washington

"We're really excited about Kyle's upside and the improvement he's made over the last year and half has been tremendous. I like his ability to score around the rim. He's left-handed, he's long and he's very active. For a young player defensively, he communicates as well as anybody I've ever had. There are a lot of things about Kyle we're excited about, but we think he has the chance to improve and become an even better player."
