MIAMI SQUARES-OFF WITH RIVAL FLORIDA STATE

The University of Miami women's basketball team will play its second to last home game of the season, when Florida State visits the BankUnited Center on Sunday at 3:30 p.m.

The contest televised on FS South will be Miami's Play4Kay game, an initiative to promote breast cancer awareness and raise money for breast cancer research through the Kay Yow Fund. Fans are encouraged to wear pink to help raise awareness for the cause.

The University is also implementing the Strive for Five campaign for the game, in an effort to break the Canes' all-time attendance record. Tickets purchased before Sunday will only cost fans $1. Tickets purchased the day of the game will cost $5 but four of those dollars will go directly to the Kay Yow Fund.

Those walking into the BankUnited Center might notice two large Pink Snails in front of the arena. The large sculptures made famous during Art Basel are now a beloved invasion in South Florida. They left their home in Miami Beach and will now be nesting in "City Beautiful", Coral Gables for two months. These adored Pink Snails come courtesy of the international artistic collective Cracking Art Group and Italy's renowned Galleria Ca d'Oro, which now has a premier new location in Coral Gable, Florida, on San Lorenzo North of Merrick Park Village, where more Cracking Art can be seen.

STEPPING UP

When Miami's junior forward Morgan Stroman went down with a season-ending Achilles injury, a huge void was left for the Canes. Not one member of the team can completely fill that void, but none has done more than Stefanie Yderstrom to help Miami since.

Before the Stroman injury, Yderstrom averaged 9.1 points per game and scored in double figures in nine of 19 games. In the seven games since, the Swede has scored in double digits six times, twice setting her career high with 22 points vs. Virginia Tech and 26 at No. 8 Maryland. Over that span, the 5-8 guard has averaged 14.9 points and has connected on 17 three-pointers.

CANES MATCH HIGHEST RANKING IN HISTORY

The Hurricanes, who finished the 2010-2011 season ranked tenth in the final ESPN/USA Today Coaches' Poll, moved up three spots in anticipation of their 2011-12 season. The No. 7 ranking in the Coaches' Poll is the highest rank in program history to begin a season.

The Hurricanes were also ranked No. 7 in the pre-season Associated Press Poll.

Miami is currently ranked 6th in both the AP and Coaches Polls - tied for the highest ranking in school history.

PEPPER EMERGES

6-6 junior transfer Pepper Wilson arrived in Miami's 73-61 win over NC State - the program's first-ever win at the Wolfpack's home arena. The powerful center scored a season-high 17 points, while ripping down a season-best 17 rebounds - the first double-double in a Miami uniform.

UM DUO HONORED ON WOODEN AND USBWA LISTS

Miami Hurricanes Shenise Johnson and Riquna Williams have been named to the Women's Midseason Nominee List for the 2011 John R. Wooden Award and the USBWA National Player of the Year Award. The Midseason Lists names the Top 20 candidates for each award.

PROTECTING THE BANKUNITED CENTER

With Miami's season-opening win over Texas-Pan American, the Canes won their 25th-consecutive home contest - setting a new program record.

Miami has extended that record to 38 games after its 61-37 victory over No. 22 North Carolina on Feb. 8. The streak is currently the second-longest active streak in the nation, behind only Stanford (76). The streak began with the team's final regular season home game of the 2009-10 season and continued with a perfect 20-0 home record last season.

The previous record of 24 straight wins at home was set from the 1990-91 through the 1992-93 seasons.

SHENISE DAZZLES IN SCORING 2,000 POINTS

Miami's versatile senior guard Shenise Johnson became the fourth player in program history to reach the 2,000-point plateau. Needing 15 points to reach the milestone heading into UM's Jan. 15 contest at Florida State, Johnson started the game on fire, hitting seven of her first 10 shots. Her final bucket of the half, a layup coming off of a Seminole turnover, proved to be her 15th point of the game. Johnson would finish the contest with a game-best 24 points, leading the Canes to victory - the first win in nearly 25 years at Florida State.

Johnson currently has 2,144 points and needs just 40 to pass Frances Savage (1988-92) for third place on the school all-time scoring list.

SHOWTIME

Miami senior guard Riquna Williams has saved her best performances for the biggest games. Against No. 11 Rutgers, the 5-6 Pahokee, Fla. native poured in a career-high 36 points in the double-overtime victory. Then, against an undefeated and fifth-ranked Maryland team, Williams matched a career-best with eight three-pointers, leading her team to a 75-63 win.

ARE YOU SERIOUS?!

Miami senior Shenise Johnson is having a remarkable start to the 2011-12 season. The Preseason AP All-American and ACC Player of the Year leads the conference in several categories and ranks among the best in others. Johnson is the only player in the conference to rank among the Top 10 in scoring, rebounding and assists. In fact, in all the BCS automatically qualifying conferences, only Colorado's Chucky Jeffery shares that distinction (Pac 12).

Riquna Williams

- All-ACC First Team
- ACC Player of the Week (Dec. 13, Dec. 27, Jan. 17, Jan. 31)

RIQUNA JOINS THE GROUP

The Canes are treated to a pair of offensively gifted guards. In UM's last game against Clemson on Feb. 5, Riquna Williams reached the 2,000-point milestone herself. The Pahokee, Fla. native needed six points to reach the mark and she did so quickly, hitting two first-half three-pointers. She ended the game with 15 points. Miami is the only team in the nation with two 2,000-point scorers.

Williams currently ranks fifth in program history with 2,065 points.

ON THE VERGE OF GREATNESS

With just 30 more rebounds, senior Shenise Johnson will become just the third player in NCAA Division I women's basketball history to score 2,000 points, pull down 1,000 rebounds and dish out 500 assists in a career.

After a nationwide survey, it was found that Stanford's Nicole Powell (2000-04) and Old Dominion's Nancy Lieberman (1976-1980) are the only other women to accomplish the feat. With just 10 more steals, Johnson will join Lieberman as the only two women to also collect 400 or more career steals.

A PAIR OF CAREER GAMES

In Miami's own Holiday Tournament championship game, juniors Morgan Stroman and Stefanie Yderstrom reached then career highs in scoring 23 and 20 points respectively. For their efforts, each was named to the Miami Holiday All-Tournament Team.

BIG-TIME TEAM ON THE SMALL SCREEN

The Nov. 17 meeting with Tennessee was the first of 12 games that will be televised this season - a program record. Miami's next televised contest will be at Duke on Feb 34. ESPN3 will have the coverage beginning at 7 p.m.

DOUBLE-FIGURE STREAK SNAPPED

Shenise Johnson was held to six points against Maryland on Jan. 12, ending her nation-long streak of 87 straight games of scoring in double-figures. In the two games after the streak was snapped, Johnson led the Canes with 24 and 20 points respectively in wins at Florida State and Virginia.

UM GREAT JAMES NAMED AN ACC LEGEND

The Atlantic Coast Conference announced its eighth annual class of ACC Women's Basketball Legends and Miami great Tamara James will be among the honorees. The Legends Class of 2012 will be honored at the 2012 ACC Women's Basketball Tournament, which will be held March 1-4 at the Greensboro Coliseum.

The all-time leading scorer in women's basketball for the Miami Hurricanes, Tamara James set a scoring record for men and women in her four-year career at Miami with 2,406 points. James was named first-team All-ACC in 2005 and 2006 and first-team All-Big East in 2004. She led the ACC in scoring both of years in the conference, averaging 22.3 in 2005 and 21.5 in 2006.

MORE HARDWARE FOR THE TROPHY CASE

With back-to-back double-doubles in the Miami Holiday Tournament, Shenise Johnson led the Hurricanes to wins over Holy Cross and VCU. For her performance in the two-day event, the senior guard was named the Tournament's Most Outstanding Player. Earlier in the season, Johnson was named the Most Outstanding Player of the Great Alaska Shootout.

A QUARTER CENTURY OF FUTILITY... OVER

For the first time since Jan. 29, 1987, the Hurricanes defeated Florida State in Tallahassee. Miami had lost its last nine meetings in the state capital prior to its Jan. 15 win. Miami raced to a 19-point lead early in the second half. However, the Seminoles rallied late to tie the game at 57. Stefanie Yderstrom nailed a corner three with 17 seconds left that proved to be the game-winner.

SWEDISH THREE-BALLS

Junior Stefanie Yderstrom leads the ACC with 57 three-pointers this season. The Ostertalje, Sweden native now has 157 career three-point field goals - second in program history. However, Riquna Williams is far and away the school's most prolific three-point shooter, sinking 260 for her career.

"EPIC" PERFORMANCE

After rolling her ankle in Miami's win at Michigan State on Dec. 1, it wasn't a guarantee that Riquna Williams would play against No. 11 Rutgers on Dec. 5. Not only did Williams play, she scored a career-best 36 points. Williams only had five points at halftime, but poured in 31 in the second half and two overtime sessions in helping the Canes erase a 16-point second-half deficit and defeat the Scarlet Knights, 92-81.

MORE THAN ANY OTHER

After wins over Rutgers (12/5) - 36 points - and Ole Miss (12/10) - 17 points - Riquna Williams was voted the ACC Player of the Week for the seventh time in her career. No other active player has earned the award more than Williams. Second place on that list with six awards is Shenise Johnson.

THE BIG TEN/ACC CHALLENGE

The women's 2011 Big Ten/ACC Challenge ended in a 6-6 draw in its fifth year. The ACC won each of the previous four challenges.

Miami earned its first victory in the challenge in three attempts with its 76-60 victory at Michigan State. The Canes fell to Michigan in 2007 and then Indiana in 2008.

ON THE DOUBLE

Shenise Johnson has recorded seven double-doubles for the Hurricanes this season. Her seventh came in the Canes' 68-47 victory against Clemson, as she finished the game with 19 points and a season-best 15 rebounds. The senior now has 34 career double-doubles - the most among any current ACC player.

GREAT ALASKA SHOOTOUT CHAMPIONS

The Hurricanes won their first Great Alaska Shootout in their third appearance in the event. A win over host Alaska Anchorage in the opening round and then over USF in the final gave the Canes the championship.

Shenise Johnson was named the Shootout Most Outstanding Player and earned Player of the Game honors against UAA. Riquna Williams was named the Player of the Game against the Bulls.

In their previous two appearances, the Canes had a combined 3-3 record.

THREE-POINT STREAK SNAPPED

For the first time in 340 games, Miami went an entire game without hitting a three-pointer. The Canes finished 0-10 from beyond the arc at Georgia Tech on Jan. 9. In their next contest against No. 5 Maryland, the Canes made a season-best 13 threes.

CANES BACKCOURT NAMED TO WATCHLISTS

The University of Miami's Shenise Johnson and Riquna Williams have been named to the Women's Preseason Nominee List for the 2011 John R. Wooden Award. The duo has also been selected to the "Wade Watch" list for the State Farm Wade Trophy Division I Player of the Year, as well as the Naismith Player of the Year List.

MORE TO COME

National Player of the Year candidate Shenise Johnson ranks in the Top 10 of many categories for UM career records including points (4th), assists (5th), rebounds (2nd), and steals (1st). Johnson is the only player in Miami history to be ranked in the Top 10 of all four of those categories.

THE ACC KNOWS

Johnson, the ACC Preseason Player of the Year and a preseason All-American, scored a game-high 18 points in a 72-55 victory over Alaska Anchorage in the Great Alaska Shootout's first round, earning Player of the Game honors. In the tournament final against USF, Johnson nearly recorded a triple-double with 11 points, nine rebounds and nine assists. For her performance in the two games, Johnson was named the tournament's Most Outstanding Player.

The Henrietta, N.Y., native amassed game-highs in points (22), rebounds (6), assists (8) and steals (7) against Longwood in a 92-43 victory to wrap up the week.

HIGH PRAISE FOR THE CANES

After Miami defeated Michigan State in the Big Ten/ACC Challenge, Spartan head coach Suzy Merchant said, "I'm not surprised. We knew what they were going to do. We practiced against six and seven guys on our scout team. But from 1 to 5, that's the fastest, most athletic team we've faced in my career. We've played Duke, and it's not even close."

ULM's Mona Martin had even more praise to hand out, saying, "Last year we played Texas A&M, and they end up winning the thing [NCAA title], and I think this UM team could be a big contender for the national championship if they stay healthy," Martin said. "They have so much depth, play so hard. They're going to be way up there this year. I've watched a lot of film, lot of ballgames, and they run the floor better than any team I've watched from point guard to post. Their transition offense is unbelievable. I can't say we've ever played a team that runs the floor that well, and I've been in this business 36 years. There is a lot of desire and fight in those kids."

JOHNSON TABBED ACC PRESEASON POY

Shenise Johnson returns as the 2011-12 ACC Preseason Player of the Year. The senior was named the 2010-11 ACC Player of the Year, the first Hurricane player to win the award, and voted to last year's All-ACC First Team and All-ACC Defensive team.

MIAMI DUO NAMED PRESEASON ALL-ACC

The Preseason All-ACC Team is highlighted by the Miami senior guard tandem of Johnson and Williams. The two led the Canes to a 20-0 home record last season at the BankUnited Center.

Johnson, the first Associate Press Preseason All-American in team history, earned 2010-11 ACC Player of the Year honors and her second straight selection to the All-ACC First Team. Williams, who led the conference and finished 11th in the nation in scoring, is also coming off a selection to the All-ACC First Team.

CANE NAMED PRESEASON ALL-AMERICAN

University of Miami senior guard Shenise Johnson was one of five players named to the Associated Press Preseason All-America Team.

Johnson, who earned 25 of 40 potential votes, was joined on the preseason team by Baylor's Brittney Griner (40 votes), Notre Dame's Skylar Diggins (37), Stanford's Nnemkadi Ogwumike (37) and Tennessee's Shekinna Stricklen (21).

2010-11 Season Recap

MIAMI FINISHES MEMORABLE SEASON

The 2010-11 University of Miami women's basketball team finished one of the best seasons in program history with an 88-83 loss to 21st-ranked and sixth seeded Oklahoma in the second round of the NCAA Tournament at John Paul Jones Arena in Charlottesville, Va.

The Hurricanes finished 28-5, recording the most wins since the 1991-92 team tallied 30 victories.

STRONG NON-CONFERENCE RECORD

Miami took care of business in the non-conference portion of the schedule, going 15-2 outside the ACC. Their signature win was the 81-72 victory over No. 20/12 Georgetown on Dec. 7 to establish the Canes as a national contender.

Miami won 20 games for the 10th time in program history. Following the 22-14 record in 2009-10, it was the first time the team had consecutive 20-win seasons since the 1988-89 season through the 1991-92.

DANCING

Miami earned a No. 3 seed in the NCAA Tournament in the Dayton Region. It was the first time since 2004 that the program advanced to the "Big Dance."

The Canes won their first round match up 80-62 over No. 14 Gardner-Webb at John Paul Jones Arena in Charlottesville, Va. behind 18 points from junior Shenise Johnson to setup a second-round game against No. 6 Oklahoma. It was the first win in the NCAA Tournament for the Hurricanes since 1993.

WILLIAMS ALSO HONORED

Riquna Williams also picked up a number of accolades throughout the season, including being named to the All-ACC First Team. The guard was named ACC Player of the Week on four occasions throughout the year, and was a finalist for the WBCA/State Farm All-America team.

KATIE MEIER EARNS MAJOR AWARDS

Head coach Katie Meier picked up several high-profile postseason awards for her success on the year. Meier was tabbed by the Associated Press as its Coach of the Year, sharing the award with Connecticut's Geno Auriemma and Stanford's Tara VanDerwever.

In addition, she took home the Atlantic Coast Conference Coach of the Year Award and RUSSELL ATHLETIC/WBCA Region 2 Division I Coach of the Year honors, an award voted on by the Women's Basketball Coaches Association.

Meier also won the Babe Didrickson Zaharias award and gained entrance to UM's prestigious Iron Arrow Society – known as the highest honor attained at the university.

JOHNSON RECOGNIZED FOR SEASON

Shenise Johnson had one of the best seasons of any player in the country, earning a litany of awards for her efforts. Prior to the ACC Tournament, the junior was named ACC Player of the Year, the first Hurricane player to win the award, and voted to the All-ACC First Team and All-ACC Defensive team. In addition, the league honored her with Player of the Week on Jan. 3.

Johnson also earned spots on the Associated Press Third Team All-America, Full Court Press Second Team All-America, USBWA All-America and WBCA/State Farm All-America teams. She was also a finalist for the Wooden Award given to the top player in women's basketball.

ACC TOURNAMENT

Miami earned the No. 2 seed in the 2011 ACC Tournament at the Greensboro Coliseum in Greensboro, N.C., receiving a first-round bye. The Canes drew NC State in the quarterfinals, defeating the Wolfpack 93-85 with four players scoring at least 15 points. In the semifinals, North Carolina jumped out to a big lead and never looked back, routing Miami 83-57 to end the tournament for the Canes.

NOT CLOSE

The Hurricane didn't play too many close games in 2010-11. Here is a breakdown of certain situations from last season.

- 20-0 at home
- 24-0 when leading at the half
- 27-2 when scoring at least 60 points
- 14-0 when allowing fewer than 60 points
- 28-0 when leading with 3:00 left in the second half
- 17-0 when out-rebounding opponents

GIMME THAT

The Canes finished second in the nation with 13.7 steals per game. Morgan Stroman averaged the fifth-most steals per game, 3.7, with Shenise Johnson ranking tenth in the country at 3.2 per contest. Stroman, Johnson and Riquna Williams (2.8/game) were the top three stealers in the ACC. Miami grabbed a season-high 21 steals on three occasions – against Clemson, Lipscomb and Kennesaw State.

Bolstered by their steals, the Hurricanes also finished fourth in the nation in turnover margin (+7.97).

SCORING TITLE

Riquna Williams led the ACC in scoring last season, averaging 21.7 points per game. Williams also totaled the most overall points in the league with 717 on the year. Shenise Johnson finished the season right behind her in scoring, finishing second in the conference at 19.6 points per game.

Head Coach Katie Meier

Katie Meier enters her seventh season as the head coach of the Hurricanes' women's basketball program in 2011-12. A well known and respected figure in women's basketball, Meier has worked tirelessly to put her mark on Miami's program and to build a winning tradition. All of her hard work was rewarded after the 2010-11 season as she was named the Associated Press National Coach of the Year - sharing the award with Connecticut's Geno Auriemma and Stanford's Tara VanDerveer.

Meier led the Hurricanes into the NCAA Tournament for the first time since 2004 and its win over Gardner-Webb in the first round was the first tournament win for the 'Canes since 1993. Miami entered the 2010-11 season with high internal expectations, but were picked eighth in the Preseason ACC Poll and were coming off a season in which it was the No. 12 seed in the ACC Tournament.

However, the Hurricanes exceeded all of the outside expectations and at one point, won 17 straight games. They were a perfect 20-0 inside the BankUnited Center and finished 12-2 in ACC play - earning their first regular season conference title since joining the league in 2004. As a reward, Meier was named the ACC Coach of the Year and later would be selected as the WBCA/RUSSELL ATHLETIC Region 2 Coach of the Year, as voted on by her peers.

Hired on April 19, 2005, then UM Athletics Director Paul Dee announced the appointment of Meier in front of national and local media, fans, alumni and support staff, signifying the beginning of a new era.

Following an unprecedented career as one of the greatest athletes to ever play in the Atlantic Coast Conference, Meier quickly established herself in the coaching ranks. Upon her appointment at UM, following an impressive four-year tenure as the head coach at Charlotte where she helped bring the 49er program into national prominence, Meier made it clear that her goal is to make Miami one of the premier women's basketball programs in the country.

In her first season, Meier wasted little time in making the first steps towards those goals. After receiving little attention in the ACC preseason polls, the Hurricanes posted an impressive overall record of 17-13. After fighting through a conference that would send nine teams to the postseason, including three to the NCAA Final Four. Miami finished with a sixth-place, 6-8 record in ACC play en route to earning a berth into the second round of the 2006 Women's National Invitation Tournament.

Throughout the season Miami posted wins over ranked teams such as Mississippi (No. 25), Boston College (No. 21) and Virginia Tech (No. 25)--and nearly knocked off then-No. 1 Duke in double-overtime. The Hurricanes also recorded wins over two eventual conference champions in Hartford (America East) and Oakland (Mid-Continent). Under her direction, standout Tamara James produced one of the greatest seasons ever seen by a UM player in 2005-06, including becoming the University's all-time leading scorer before being taken as the No. 8 overall pick in the 2006 WNBA Draft by the Washington Mystics.

In Meier's second season in 2006-07, the Hurricanes got off to a strong start, winning seven of their first eight games--including a 79-70 win over Indiana to claim the UM Thanksgiving Tournament title. On Dec. 1, Meier picked up her 100th career victory as the Hurricanes defeated Jackson State, 77-50. However, with only eight healthy players to call upon by the start of the ACC schedule, Miami faced challenge after challenge competing in a league that ranked among the top-three strongest women's basketball conferences nationally and produced two of the NCAA Tournament's four No. 1 seeds in 2006-07.

Regardless, Renee Taylor emerged as the ACC's leading scorer--upholding Miami's streak of producing the league's leading scorer in all three years it had been a member. The All-ACC Second Team selection set school records in single-game scoring with 42 points at Houston and became the 19th Hurricane to score at least 1,000 points--and just the sixth to do so in her first two seasons. In addition, transfer Maurita Reid emerged as a defensive threat, tying the school record with 10 steals versus Wake Forest and finishing among the ACC's leaders and NCAA's top 10 in steals per game.

The 2007-08 season, Meier's third with the Hurricanes, saw Maurita Reid continue her rise among the ACC elite. The senior was nothing short of impressive shooting beyond the arc and picking opponent's pockets. She hit four or more three-pointers on 10 different occasions and finished the season with 110 steals, good for second in the conference and fifth in the NCAA. The Queens, N.Y. native led the team in points (15.3 ppg) and rebounding (5.6 rpg) and was also named the ACC All-Defensive Team.

With a No. 21 incoming recruiting class, Meier and the Hurricanes saw significant improvement during the 2008-09 season. The freshman class was highlighted by McDonald's All-American Shenise Johnson - out of Henrietta, N.Y. and Riquna Williams - from nearby Pahokee, Fla.

Johnson lived up to the hype as she was the team leader on the season in points, rebounds, assists and steals. Under Meier's guidance, Johnson was named the ACC Rookie of the Week on three occasions and was named to the ACC All-Freshmen team as well as ACC Honorable Mention. The versatile guard/forward also led the U19 USA team to a gold medal finish in the 2009 World Championships in Bangkok, Thailand.

The 2009-10 season was one of the most successful in program history. Under Meier's vision, the Hurricanes advanced to the WNIT Championship game. Miami posted a 22-14 overall record - the first 20-win campaign since the 2002-03 season and just the eighth all-time.

In her sophomore season, Johnson was joined by a healthy Riquna Williams and the duo racked up accolades throughout the season. Johnson was named First Team All-ACC, while Williams garnered second-team honors. The tandem led Miami to a 5-1 WNIT record - the deepest postseason run in team history - with both earning all-tournament honors along the way.

Following the 2009-10 campaign, University of Miami Director of Athletics Kirby Hocutt announced that Meier signed a contract extension through 2015.

"We are excited about the tremendous progress our women's basketball team achieved this past season," said Hocutt. "Coach Meier continues to assemble a special group of talented young women at the University of Miami and we look forward to the future success of our program."

MIAMI 83, TEXAS-PAN AMERICAN - NOV. 11, 2011

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) - Miami was leading by 20 points, and coach Katie Meier was steaming mad at halftime anyway.

"You are playing," she said, "as bad as my haircut."

OK, so Meier's locks were a bit out of place Friday. Maybe it was worth a bad hair day to see national player of the year candidate Shenise Johnson come within an assist of a triple-double, have nine different players score and the seventh-ranked Hurricanes open their season with an 83-37 win over Texas-Pan American.

Johnson finished with 20 points, 13 rebounds and nine assists. Riquana Williams scored 16 points and the Hurricanes (1-0) forced 35 turnovers on the way to winning their 25th straight game at home, a program record.

"Not quite sure exactly why we were so awkward to start the game," said Meier, who won the AP's national coach of the year award last season. "I don't know a better word. It just felt very awkward. There was no flow, there was no rhythm, there was no energy and that was really disappointing. ... I'm sure it had to do a lot with Texas-Pan Am."

Say this for Texas-Pan American: The Broncos weren't intimidated early. Miami's lead was only 24-13 with less than 4 minutes left in the first half before the Hurricanes hit five straight shots, the last two by Stefanie Yderstrom.

The Hurricanes were shooting 23 percent late in the half then shot 54 percent the rest of the way.

"We found out what you have to do and how hard to you have to play to play against a team like this," Broncos coach Denny Downing said. "I think we learned from their passion, because obviously they're very passionate about what they're doing."

LaQuita Garner scored 14 for the Broncos (0-1). Texas-Pan American played some of the Big 12's toughest teams last season - Baylor, Texas, Oklahoma and Oklahoma State - and lost them all by an average of 50.8 points.

This one didn't seem as though it would turn into one of those blowouts, not the way the Broncos hung around for much of the first half.

Yderstrom and Morgan Stroman scored 12 each for the Hurricanes, who visit No. 3 Tennessee on Tuesday.

"We had it in mind," Yderstrom acknowledged afterward, when asked about the looming trip to Knoxville. "You can't overlook any competition. I think they gave us a good game, especially in the first half. We needed it."

Johnson was nearly perfect on the day. She shot 6 for 9 from the field, made all eight of her four shots and controlled pace for the Hurricanes.

"The opponent is our opponent," Johnson said. "But if Miami does what Miami is supposed to do, we'll win. I don't think we were looking ahead. I think we were just worried about Miami."

And while it was the beginning of a season with Final Four hopes, Miami's start was more than a little rusty.

Miami was 6 for 26 from the field in the first 16 minutes, an uncharacteristic clip for a team that shot 43 percent last season. Here's a great example of how cold the Hurricanes were in the opener: There was one possession where four players all missed shots and Miami came away empty, a series that had Meier pivoting around and taking a somewhat purposeful walk a few steps down the sideline.

Eventually, the defending Atlantic Coast Conference regular-season co-champions got going, making their final five shots of the opening half. Yderstrom hit a 3-pointer with 1:22 left to push the lead to 33-13, and she converted a nifty reverse layup about a minute later to keep the margin at 20 points going into halftime.

So while Miami couldn't have liked the offensive numbers in the first 20 minutes, the defense made up for at least some of the trouble at the other end. In the first half, Texas-Pan American had 21 shot attempts - and 20 turnovers, unable to handle Miami's pressure.

In the second half, the offensive surge just kept going. The Hurricanes made seven of their first 13 shots after intermission, capped by a three-point play by Pepper Wilson with 13:14 left that gave Miami a 54-28 lead.

"Our bench did a fantastic job of changing our rhythm," Meier said. "And that's fun."

TENNESSEE 92, MIAMI 76 - NOV. 15, 2011

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - Pat Summitt has fielded plenty of questions about her health lately. Certainly nothing has changed about her ability to grill her players at halftime when she's disappointed in their performance.

The third-ranked Lady Vols came into halftime tied at 42 with seventh-ranked Miami after being manhandled on the boards. Summitt got onto them hard during her halftime speech, and they responded with a 92-76 victory on Tuesday night in the State Farm Tip-Off Classic.

"If you ever doubt if Pat Summitt is still coaching, look at how our team responds coming out in the second half," associate head coach Holly Warlick said. "She got on them pretty hard. We all did as a staff about our rebounding effort, our hustle plays that weren't there. We challenged them for 20 minutes, and they responded."

It was the first big test of the season for two veteran teams, and the matchup lived up to its billing in the first-ever meeting for the programs.

Though the game pitted preseason All-Americans Shekinna Stricklen and Shenise Johnson against one another, the spotlight was stolen by Taber Spani and Meighan Simmons, who together hit 7 of 13 from 3-point range.

The Lady Vols (2-0) came out after intermission and unleashed an 18-4 run to take control. Glory Johnson, who struggled in the first half against Miami's inside defense, hit a layup that made it 60-46 with 16:19 to go.

The Lady Vols got sloppy, committing three turnovers that helped the Hurricanes charge back with nine unanswered points to cut the margin to seven, and with 7:31 to go, Shenise Johnson hit a jumper to cut the Lady Vols' lead to 73-68.

Miami (1-1) would get no closer. Two possessions later, Spani took an inbound pass with 10 seconds on the shot clock and launched a 3-pointer that hit nothing but net as the buzzer sounded.

"I thought that was the turning point of the game, as we were struggling kind of to get back in it," Miami coach Katie Meier said.

A couple of minutes later, Spani rebounded a missed 3-point attempt by Shenise Johnson and launched the ball across the court to Simmons, who charged to the basket for a layup to make it 84-68. The basket capped an 11-0 run that began with Spani's trey and sent the orange-clad crowd into a frenzy.

"I think it's more mental than anything else," said Spani, who played 39 minutes. "Obviously all of us have shot millions of shots throughout our careers, so it's just a mindset going in and knowing that you can knock down shots."

Simmons scored 18 points, Glory Johnson finished with 16 and nine rebounds, Stricklen added 15 points and Ariel Massengale had 11 points and nine assists.

"I thought across the board, everybody contributed in certain ways," Summitt said. "It's just a matter of who's coming in. At any given moment, we've got enough people that somebody's going to step up."

The Tennessee coaches expected a strong rebounding effort by the Lady Vols, so they instead asked the players to focus on not turning the ball over. By halftime, Tennessee had just six turnovers but had 13 fewer rebounds than Miami.

By the end of the game, the Lady Vols had put enough an effort on the boards to trail the Hurricanes 45-38 in rebounding, and it was Miami that was struggling to hang onto the ball. The Hurricanes turned the ball over 21 times, leading to 23 points for the Lady Vols - 10 more than Miami got off giveaways.

Riquana Williams, who led the Atlantic Coast Conference in scoring a season ago, sank 24 points for Miami. Shenise Johnson added 17 and Morgan Stroman scored 11.

The stingy defensive play by both teams forced the ball to the hands of the outside shooters during the first half, leading four lead changes and two ties.

Miami took an early edge after scoring eight unanswered points. Williams and Stefanie Yderstrom each had a 3, while Stroman hit a pair of free throws to take an 8-2 lead, their largest margin of the first half.

A few minutes later, Tennessee went on an 8-0 run of its own, capped by a 3-pointer by Simmons off a dish by Massengale. The basket gave the Lady Vols an 18-16 lead - their first since the opening basket. They slowly built their margin to 38-31 on a jumper in the paint by Alicia Manning with 4:52 in the first half, but Miami scored the final five points of the half to tie it at the break.

"Our confidence was high," Shenise Johnson said. "The score was zero-zero."

The teams launched a flurry of long shots during their streaks, and the Lady Vols hit 7 of 13 and Miami 6 of 14 from behind the arc in the first half. Tennessee finished 11 of 22 from long range, while Miami missed all nine of its second-half attempts.

The Lady Vols have now won 38 straight games at home on the court named for Summitt, dating to a 62.54 loss to Duke on Feb. 16, 2009. They travel to Virginia on Sunday before hosting No. 1 Baylor at The Summit on Nov. 27.

MIAMI 107, PRAIRIE VIEW A&M 26 - NOV. 17, 2011

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) - The start of a stretch against top-tier conference teams started dreadfully for Prairie View.

After a season-opening win against Rice, the Panthers lost 107-26 at No. 7 Miami on Thursday night. The Hurricanes (2-1) ran off to a 19-0 start in the opening 5:17 and eventually built a 39-2 lead with 10:30 remaining in the first half. Johnson scored 10 points in Miami's early surge and finished the half with 17 points.

Prairie View, a 2011 NCAA tournament qualifier from the Southwest Athletic Conference, was held without a field goal until Jeannette Jackson's short jumper with 9:40 remaining that made the score 39-4.

"They played at a different speed," Panthers coach Toyelle Wilson said. "The girls were shell shocked a little bit. It's hard to prepare for a team like the University of Miami in practice."

Miami led 60-9 at halftime. The Hurricanes forced 26 Panthers turnovers and allowed three field goals on 22 attempts in the first half. Their pressure defense also resulted in 17 first half steals.

The 81-point margin of victory set a Miami school record, beating the time the Hurricanes beat Homestead Air Force Base, 100-20, on Jan. 14, 1976.

"I thought that was a tremendous performance by our bench but it was initially a statement from our starters," Miami coach Katie Meier said. They played very angry, very determined and with a ton of confidence but with an absolute focus of fixing what we didn't do well at Tennessee."

Tennessee outscored the Hurricanes by 16 in the second half and defeated Miami, 92-76. Meier praised her team's defensive effort against Prairie View.

"We didn't like having 92 points scored against us," Meier said. "So we had a mission we were going to shut down and play defense."

Meier substituted freely early. The Miami reserves played 52 minutes and the starters 48 in the first half.

"Those veterans, the starters, set the tone. They were the teachers."

Johnson struggled offensively against Tennessee and made up for it by shooting 10-of-12, including 5-of-5 from 3-point range. Johnson played only 20 minutes.

"I was disappointed with my effort at Tennessee," said Johnson, who shot 8-of-19 and converted only one 3-pointer against the Volunteers. "I was just focused on hitting shots."

The Hurricanes (2-1) ran off to a 19-0 start in the opening 5:17 and eventually built a 39-2 lead with 10:30 remaining in the first half. Johnson scored 10 points in Miami's early surge and finished the half with 17 points.

Prairie View, a 2011 NCAA tournament qualifier from the Southwest Athletic Conference, was held without a field goal until Jeannette Jackson's short jumper with 9:40 remaining that made the score 39-4.

Miami led 60-9 at halftime. The Hurricanes forced 26 Panthers turnovers and allowed three field goals on 22 attempts in the first half. Their pressure defense also resulted in 17 first half steals.

The Hurricanes outscored the Panthers, 15-2, in the first 8:10 of the second for a 75-11 lead.

Morgan Stroman and Sylvia Bullock scored four points each during the run.

The Panthers reached double figures with 16:07 remaining in the second half after Michaela Burton's jumper for a 68-11 Miami lead. Burton led the Panthers with 14 points.

"I told (the players) we were going to throw them in the fire early," said Prairie View coach Toyelle Wilson coach. "Miami is ranked number seven for a reason."

Johnson's 3-pointer with 4:16 remaining gave the Hurricanes their first 80-point lead, 101-19. Johnson finished 5-of-5 from behind the arc.

For the game, the Hurricanes converted on 10-of-17 3-pointers.

Stefanie Yderstrom scored 13 points and Stroman finished with 12 points for the Hurricanes

Before the game, the Hurricanes players and coaches were presented with their 2010-11 ACC regular season championship rings. Two new banners also were displayed from the rafters recognizing the team's the conference regular season title and its berth in the 2011 NCAA tournament.

MIAMI 72, ALASKA ANCHORAGE 55- NOV. 55, 2011

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) - Shenise Johnson scored 18 points and No. 9 Miami beat Alaska-Anchorage 72-55 on Wednesday night in the opening round of the Carrs-Safeway Great Alaska Shootout.

The Hurricanes (3-1) shot just 27 percent in the first half against the Division II Seawolves (4-1) and trailed much of the period. Alaska-Anchorage's biggest lead of the half was four, but Johnson's 3-pointer just before the first-half buzzer gave Miami a 28-26 lead.

Miami coach Katie Meier said she shared "a few choice words" with her team at halftime, challenging each of them to do what they do best. She also changed up the defense.

"We brought out the full-court pressure," Meier said. "I think that changed the game."

After forcing 10 turnovers in the first half, the Hurricane pressure forced the Seawolves into 18 more in the second half, leading to easy transition points.

The Hurricanes held Alaska-Anchorage to just three field goals over the first 7 minutes of the second half, racing to a 45-35 lead behind Morgan Stroman's five points and Maria Brown's three-point play.

The Seawolves answered with a 3-pointer by Tijera Mathews and a basket by Kaylie Robison to close to 45-40 with 10:49 remaining but could get no closer.

Johnson's 3-pointer led a 10-0 run to put Miami up 57-41 with just under 8 minutes left.

Alaska-Anchorage coach Tim Moser said his team couldn't sustain a plan to slow the pace and make it a half-court game.

"Our game plan was to put everyone in the gym to sleep, except us," he said. It worked in the first half, he said, until the bigger, faster Hurricanes hit them with the stifling full-court pressure, something they're not likely to see the rest of their schedule.

"Our kids got a little nervous because they don't see it."

Meier credited Alaska-Anchorage's physical play for keeping the game close early. The Seawolves outscored Miami 39-33, and Miami adjusted on offense by moving its shooters outside, Meier said. Miami shot 40 percent from the field in the second half.

Johnson was 3 for 6 from 3-point range but Miami shot just 4 for 22 from beyond the arc.

Stroman and Riquna Williams each scored 14 points for Miami.

Robison, Mathews, Hanna Johansson, and Hallie Holmstead had 10 points apiece for Alaska-Anchorage.

MIAMI 92, USF 72 - NOV. 24, 2011

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) - Riquna Williams scored 17 points and No. 9 Miami beat South Florida 92-72 in the final of the Great Alaska Shootout on Thursday night.

Shenise Johnson added 11 points and nine rebounds for the Hurricanes (4-1). Sylvia Bullock, a Miami forward playing in her hometown of Anchorage, scored 10 points.

"We definitely came out here for reasons, one of those was to bring Sylvia home," Miami coach Katie Meier said. "We have five opportunities to win championships this year, there's four to go."

Jasmine Wynne led South Florida (4-3) with 21 points. Kaneisha Saunders added 11 points for the Bulls, and Akia McDonald and Andrell Smith had 10 apiece.

Miami led 44-32 at the break, and blew the game open early in the second half. The Hurricanes went on a 24-7 run during the first 9 minutes to put away the Bulls (4-3). It's the second straight game Miami has come out strong in the second half.

"The biggest growth has been our team's performance in the second half," Meier said. Division II Alaska Anchorage had Miami bottled up in the tournament's first game before a similar strong second half run.

Meier attributes it to the Hurricanes' strong bench. "We're not exhausted at halftime," she said. South Florida was down 75-46 with 8:30 left, but a scrappy performance by the Bulls made the final score a little more respectable, South Florida coach Jose Fernandez said.

"If a game is out of reach, you need to win a game within a game, and I think we did that," he said. "I was disappointed we gave up as many points as we did. We didn't play defense particularly well here in Alaska."

Central Michigan beat Alaska Anchorage 90-84 in overtime in the third-place game.

MIAMI 92, LONGWOOD 43 - NOV. 27, 2011

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) - A 20-hour trip from Alaska failed to affect No. 9 Miami.

Still shaking off jet-lag from their return home early Saturday morning, the Hurricanes were down Longwood in a 92-43 rout Sunday afternoon.

Shenise Johnson scored 22 points on 9-of-11 shooting and had six assists to lead the Hurricanes (5-1). Morgan Stroman finished with 20 points, shooting 8 of 10 from the field.

"We handled a very difficult travel situation, getting home at 1:30 in the morning and having practice later," Miami coach Katie Meier said. "Flying through the night, grabbing a nap wherever you could, I'm really in awe of the maturity of this team. I'm really proud of them for how they handled it."

The Hurricanes, who defeated Alaska Anchorage and South Florida in the Great Alaska Shootout Nov. 23 and 24, dealt with a return flight to Coral Gables that was plagued by delays before takeoff and subsequent flight connections.

"It was chaotic, we were on the plane for two hours figuring out when we were going to leave," Johnson said. "I thought we did a great job of not complaining. Coach did a great job of keeping us calm. We were going to get home at some point."

Longwood (1-5) could not capitalize. The Hurricanes kept the Lancers scoreless for a 7:54 stretch of the first half and built a 48-22 lead with 2:01 remaining. Stroman scored six consecutive points on fast-break layups during the stretch.

"I knew once I had the ball I could beat my defender so I just ran out in front," Stroman said. Miami expanded a 50-28 lead at halftime with a 16-4 spurt in the first 5:08 of the second half. Stroman's two free throws with 8:34 remaining gave the Hurricanes their first 40-point lead at 76-35. Miami had 20 steals and forced 28 Longwood turnovers and increased its home winning streak to 27.

"I challenged the team at halftime to get their legs underneath them a little bit on defense," Meier said. "We had a goal that we wanted to hold Longwood under 40. To regroup at halftime and lock down on a 15-point performance I was very impressed with my team."

Mina Jovanic scored 12 points to lead the Lancers. "They were much better than us," Longwood coach Bill Reinson said. "We couldn't stop them in transition. We didn't quit and fought down to the end. We continued to make plays. I feel we can build from this game."

The Hurricanes enjoyed a 17-2 run early in the first half. Krystal Saunders' basket with 13:22 remaining capped the run and gave Miami a 25-8 lead.

Longwood rallied and outscored Miami 14-5 in the next 5:43. Brittani Billups' layup with 8:39 remaining ended the run and got the Lancers within eight at 30-22.

MIAMI 76, MICHIGAN STATE 60 - DEC. 1, 2011

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) - Morgan Stroman scored 20 points in a near-perfect shooting night to lead No. 9 Miami past Michigan State 76-60 Thursday night in the Big Ten/ACC Challenge.

Stroman had 13 points at the break, hitting all four of her shots from the field and all five at the line for the much quicker Hurricanes (6-1). She finished 7 for 7 and 6 for 7, respectively. Shenise Johnson added 13 points and Stefanie Yderstrom had 11 in Miami's second-closest game this season.

Porsche Poole had 17 points for the foul-plagued Spartans (5-3), who played without starters Lykendra Johnson and Taylor Alton for most of the first half. Michigan State trailed 38-26 at halftime.

Courtney Schiffauer and Jasmine Hines each had nine points for Michigan State, while Becca Mills grabbed nine rebounds, all in the first 20 minutes.

Miami forced the Spartans into 19 turnovers and had 11 steals. That was more than enough when Michigan State shot just 3 for 16 on 3s.

The Hurricanes shot 45 percent from the field, 30 percent on 3s (6 for 20) and 75 percent (12 for 16) on free throws. They had 15 assists and just 10 turnovers while running at every opportunity.

The Spartans shot 42 percent from the field and 78 percent (7 for 9) at the line, and had a 37-34 edge in rebounds.

Miami point guard Riquna Williams went down with a left knee injury and was helped off the court with 1:16 left before halftime. She returned briefly in the second half and finished with nine points.

The Hurricanes built a 36-20 edge with pressure defense, drives to the basket and a steady procession to the foul line. The Spartans had 13 turnovers in the first 20 minutes, when they were outscored 11-3 at the line.

With Johnson and Alton back in the lineup, Michigan State pulled to 46-36 on an off-balance jumper by Poole and made it an eight-point game on a layup by Alton.

Miami kept the Spartans at bay with five of their six 3s in the second half, two from deep in the right corner and one from up top by Yderstrom.

But Michigan State rallied again behind Schiffauer's aggression and Hines' strength inside. Annalise Pickrel's jumper with 6:14 to go pulled the Spartans to 59-52 with 6:14 left.

Stroman finally missed a free throw but made her second attempt, then converted a layup on a pass from Shenise Johnson to make it a 40-point game. On the Hurricanes' next possession, Yderstrom connected again from 21 feet to make it 65-52.

MIAMI 92, RUTGERS 81, 2OT - DEC. 5, 2011

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) - Riquna Williams said her stomach was still burning nearly an hour after the final whistle. Shenise Johnson limped with every step. Miami coach Katie Meier said she was looking for some oxygen.

A comeback for the ages left No. 9 Miami drained - but still perfect at home.

Williams scored a career-high 36 points, Johnson added 25 points and 12 rebounds and the Hurricanes knocked No. 11 Rutgers from the ranks of the unbeaten with a 92-81 double-overtime win Monday night, Miami's 28th straight in its own building. The Hurricanes trailed by 16 points with 17 minutes left in the second half, then started a most improbable rally against one of the nation's top defensive clubs.

"You've got to be really cocky and have some really confident kids to think that you're coming back from that one," Meier said. "You really do. Especially when you look over on the other bench and it's Rutgers, one of the best defensive teams in the history of women's basketball."

A clash of styles - Miami's offense vs. Rutgers' defense - was all Scarlet Knights for the first 25 minutes. Rutgers (8-1) was up 40-24 early in the second half, and Meier acknowledged afterward that she thought the Hurricanes were in real trouble.

Miami outscored Rutgers 68-41 the rest of the way.

"I don't think we played scared at all," Rutgers coach C. Vivian Stringer said. "I don't think we played very smart."

The Scarlet Knights got a layup from Erica Wheeler with 1.5 seconds left in regulation to force overtime and another game-tying shot from Betnijah Laney just before the buzzer and sending it to send it to a second OT.

But Williams took over for Miami in the second OT, hitting a pair of 3-pointers to get the Hurricanes going, and they survived. It was the first time Rutgers allowed 90 points since Jan. 2, 2003, and given the way the first 25 minutes of the game went, no one would have figured that was happening Monday night.

Of course, the next 25 minutes were the ones that told the story.

"Awesome game," Johnson said. "My heart rate is still pumping. Credit goes to Rutgers. It was just a fun, fun game."

April Sykes scored 19 points and grabbed 10 rebounds for Rutgers, Erica Wheeler scored 13 and Khadijah Rushdan added 10.

Miami trailed for all but 2:35 of regulation, and still had plenty of chances to win before the overtimes. Johnson went 2 for 4 from the foul line in the final 38 seconds of regulation, so the Hurricanes' lead was never larger than two - giving Rutgers life.

The Scarlet Knights took advantage. Taking possession with 10.7 seconds left in regulation, Rutgers got the ball down low to Oliver. She missed a layup, but Wheeler was there for the putback with 1.5 seconds to play in regulation, tying the game at 63.

"We made a couple mistakes down the stretch," Wheeler said. "But it's a learning experience. We definitely are getting better from this situation."

Stefanie Yderstrom's 3-pointer gave the Hurricanes the lead with 1:47 left in the first overtime. She appeared to cramp up on the next possession, so Williams simply waited for her chance, connecting from beyond the arc to push the Miami lead to 71-67. And once again, Rutgers rallied - Sykes' 3 with a half-minute to play got the Scarlet Knights to 73-72, and when Laney knotted it, the Rutgers bench leaped for joy.

It was the Scarlet Knights' final celebration of the night.

"They've got to grow up - yesterday," Stringer said, unhappy that the chance was wasted.

Rutgers came into the game having allowed only 70 points once - in the season opener - and on a six-game streak of not allowing any more than 52 points. Opponents were shooting 31 percent and committing more than 20 turnovers a game against the Scarlet Knights through eight games, so the Hurricanes knew exactly what to expect.

So predictably, Rutgers' man-to-man gave Miami fits.

But the Hurricanes did little to help their own cause, missing at least nine shots near the rim in a 9-minute span of the first half alone, falling behind 31-22 going into the locker room - after the Scarlet Knights held them to 27 percent shooting. And when Rutgers started the second half on a 9-2 run, capped by a jumper from Sykes, the lead was 40-24 with 17:23 left.

With that, Meier called timeout, and something clicked, just in time.

"Gutsy," Meier said. "How are you gutsy when you're down 16? ... They were missing free throws they never miss, missing layups they never miss, and somehow still had the confidence. That's beyond me. That's them."

MIAMI 76, OLE MISS 48 - DEC. 10, 2011

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) - A comeback early in the second half gave Mississippi upset hopes - then reality set in with one quick Miami surge.

The Rebels pulled within four points midway through the second half before the No. 9 Hurricanes scored 11 straight points to end the threat and pull away for a 76-48 win.

Riquana Williams scored 17 points, 13 in the second half, to lead the Hurricanes.

"I think we played very well for about 30 minutes against a very good Miami basketball team," Mississippi coach Renee Ladner said. "We changed defenses at halftime and that helped us a little bit and just when we thought we figured it out, Riquana Williams stood up and ignited (Miami)."

The Rebels rallied from a 34-22 halftime deficit and outscored the Hurricanes 11-1 in the first 6:20 of the second half. Whitney Hameth keyed the run with six points.

Nikki Byrd's put-back basket with 10:09 remaining reduced Miami's lead to 44-40.

Williams' second 3-pointer with 9:43 remaining increased it to 47-40.

"It's been a long week with finals and basketball," Williams said. "I know that normally when coach is yelling she's not enjoying the game. We just wanted to make sure she was smiling."

"To be honest I wasn't feeling it tonight because of the pressures of the week. I just went out and did it."

The win was Miami's 29th straight at home, while the loss snapped a five-game winning streak for Mississippi.

"We were flat coming out in the second half," Miami coach Katie Meier said. "Our second wave, our reinforcements, didn't score but went in with some energy and wore the other team down."

"When our starters came back in, we were fresh against a fatigued Ole Miss team and we were able to blow the game open with some special performances."

Byrd scored 10 points to lead the Rebels (6-2).

"This is the real world of college basketball," Ladner said. "Miami has an outstanding team and an outstanding coach. Playing in this type of environment can really help us."

Miami ran off 11 unanswered points and took an 11-3 lead in the first 6:03.

Byrd, the Rebels' leading scorer, sat out 14 minutes of the first half with foul trouble and played only 18 minutes.

"Had that not happened, we would have been in a dogfight the entire game," Meier said. "But it was partially our scouting. We wanted to go at her and get her in foul trouble."

Shenise Johnson's 3-pointer with 8:32 remaining in the first half gave the Hurricanes their first double-digit lead at 18-6.

"They put a lot of pressure and take the offense away from you," Ladner said. "Their game plan is to pick you up full court and beat you the last 10 minutes."

MIAMI 103, ULM 39 - DEC. 16, 2011

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) - Louisiana Monroe absorbed an early blow and never recovered against Miami.

Riquana Williams, Shenise Johnson and Krystal Saunders each scored 16 points, and the No. 7 Hurricanes opened with a 22-0 run to rout the Warhawks 103-39 on Friday night.

"I had a lot of babies out there - seven freshmen - I played them all, what the heck," Louisiana Monroe coach Mona Martin said. "We only have three seniors. It's been a very tough season so far."

The 16 points was a career best for Saunders, who went 6 of 8 from the field, including 2 of 3 from 3-point range. Through the Hurricanes' first nine games, the sophomore was shooting 27 percent from the field and was just 1 of 19 from beyond the arc.

"My teammates always have had confidence in me," Saunders said. "They told me to keep shooting."

Morgan Stroman added 14 points and Michelle Woods had 13 for the Hurricanes in their 30th straight home win.

"It's fun this year; it's not just (Williams and Johnson)," Miami coach Katie Meier said. "We have a balanced team. The upperclassmen did a fantastic job of taking care of the game early. They made sure that we shared minutes like we did."

Johnson scored eight points, including two 3-pointers, during an opening 22-0 run by Miami (9-1), which was never threatened.

The Warhawks broke the scoring drought on Larrie Williams' jumper 4:53 into the game, but Miami scored the next 11 points and took a 33-2 lead on Jessica Capers' jumper with 9:26 to go in the half.

Williams scored 11 points to lead Louisiana Monroe (1-10).

"They are very impressive, they run the ball so well," Martin said. "I've been in this business for 36 years and they run the floor better than any team I've ever seen."

The Hurricanes shot 12 of 16 from the field in the first 9 minutes, while the Warhawks converted only one of 13 shots. Miami used mostly reserves over the second 10 minutes of the first half and built a 55-19 lead at halftime.

"There are a lot of people in our second wave that would be starters somewhere else," Meier said. "It's very hard to break into a starting lineup that brought back every starter."

"I've been very blessed that I've had the same starting lineup for 43 games in a row."

Johnson's put-back 3:51 into the second half put the Hurricanes up by 40 - 64-24 - and Riquana Williams' layup with 10:34 remaining increased the lead to 79-28.

The Hurricanes also outscored the Warhawks 25-6 in fast break points and forced 30 turnovers.

"They've got so much depth and they play hard," Louisiana Monroe coach Mona Martin said. "They run the ball so well from point guard to post."

Miami, which surpassed 90 points for the fifth time this season and topped 100 for the second time, outscored Louisiana Monroe 17-0 in the final 7:18.

"Last year we played Texas A&M and they were ranked 12th at the time," Martin said. "They wound up winning the thing and I thought (Miami) could be a good contender for the national championship if they stay healthy."

GEORGETOWN 71, MIAMI 46 - DEC. 21, 2011

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) - Seventh-ranked Miami and its high-powered offense finally met its match. No. 17 Georgetown held the nation's highest-scoring team to nearly half its average and 21 percent shooting in a 71-46 rout Wednesday night.

"(Georgetown) smacked us in the face and we ran and called our moms and asked for help instead of turning to each other," said coach Katie Meier.

Sugar Rodgers scored 24 points - including a trio of 3-pointers - to lead the Hoyas (10-2), who stifled the Hurricanes (9-2) from the start. Miami had averaged 87 points per game, and its worst offensive outing had been a 92-76 loss at Tennessee on Nov. 15.

"Credit to Georgetown," Shenise Johnson said. "They did a great job of dismantling us."

The Hoyas led 34-21 at halftime while holding Miami to just one field goal in the last six minutes while going on an 11-5 run, and maintained a double-digit lead the rest of the way.

"I think we rattled them a little bit, showed them that we were serious this year, and we got em," Alexa Roche said.

With just over seven minutes remaining, Suriya McGuire hit a 3-pointer to bring Miami within 15. But the Hoyas answered with a 12-0 run, highlighted by Tia Magee's three-point play, to take a 66-39 lead, their largest of the game.

Johnson led Miami with 10 points - her fewest of the season - on 1-for-13 shooting. Georgetown also limited the Hurricanes' second-leading scorer, Riquana Williams, to a season-low six points.

"Every time I got the ball there were two defenders running at me - when I did get the ball," Johnson said. "A lot of times I had to just go get the rebound and try to go back up with it."

Magee scored 13, Rubylee Wright added 10, and Sydney Wilson grabbed 12 rebounds for Georgetown, which snapped a seven-game losing streak to Miami since 2000.

"They handed us a huge lesson," Meier said. "I'm regretful that it happened but I'll be more regretful if we don't take it and learn from it."

MIAMI 89, HOLY CROSS 49 - DEC. 28, 2011

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) - Riquana Williams scored 18 points to lead No. 12 Miami to an 89-49 win over Holy Cross in the first round of the Miami Holiday Classic on Wednesday night.

In their first game since a 25-point loss at No. 15 Georgetown on Dec. 21, the Hurricanes broke the game open with an 18-2 run midway through the first half. Stefanie Yderstrom's second of two 3-pointers capped the spurt and gave Miami a 36-17 lead with 3:47 remaining.

During the run, Miami held Holy Cross without a field goal for 8:39 until Brisje Malone's jumper with 3:13 left in the half.

"My team answered the call," Miami coach Katie Meier said. "We're fixers and you'll notice the record here, we fix it right away. To wait seven days and not being able to fix it right away was frustrating for us."

Yderstrom and Shenise Johnson each finished with 17 points for the Hurricanes (10-2). Johnson also had 10 rebounds and seven assists, and extended her consecutive games double-figure scoring to 83.

"None of us had fun in D.C., we didn't smile, we didn't talk, we didn't communicate," Johnson said. "Tonight, it was a different spirit out there."

Alex Smith scored 11 points to lead the Crusaders (6-6).

Williams' third 3-pointer of the first half with 37 seconds remaining gave the Hurricanes a 47-22 lead at halftime, surpassing Miami's point total in the 71-46 loss against the Hoyas.

Miami outscored Holy Cross 20-6 in the first 6:02 of the second half and built a 67-28 lead. Sylvia Bullock's layup with 9:40 remaining gave the Hurricanes their first 40-point lead at 73-32.

The Crusaders stayed within striking distance of Miami in the first eight minutes of the first half.

Smith's 3-pointer with 11:52 remaining kept Holy Cross within a three-point deficit at 18-15 before the Hurricanes went on their game-deciding run.

The Hurricanes won their 31st consecutive home game and will face Virginia Commonwealth on Thursday for the tournament championship. The Rams advanced to the final with a 73-52 win over Morgan State earlier Wednesday.

MIAMI 91, VCU 61 - DEC. 29, 2011

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) - Morgan Stroman scored 23 points to lead Miami (No. 12 ESPN/USA Today, No. 10 AP) to a 91-61 victory over Virginia Commonwealth in the championship game of the Miami Holiday Classic on Thursday night.

The Hurricanes (11-2) used their pressure defense to go on a 22-3 run during a 5:31 span in the first half. Miami scored 16 unanswered points in the spurt, capped by Stefanie Yderstrom's jumper that gave the Hurricanes a 40-16 lead with 4:59 remaining.

Miami had 14 steals and scored 16 points off Virginia Commonwealth turnovers in the first half and led 49-30 at halftime.

Yderstrom finished with 20 points and Shenise Johnson had 12 points and 13 rebounds for the Hurricanes, who won their 32nd consecutive home game.

Courtney Hurt had 25 points and 16 rebounds for the Rams (8-4).

UNC 65, MIAMI 63 - JAN. 2, 2011

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) - Sylvia Hatchell spent all Monday night telling her North Carolina players to keep believing they could win despite yet another key injury, a bevy of turnovers and the struggle to find any rhythm offensively.

At least her Tar Heels proved they'll still listen to their coach on a rough night.

Chay Shegog hit the go-ahead free throws with 1:11 left, helping No. 25 North Carolina rally past No. 12 Miami 65-63 in the Atlantic Coast Conference opener for both teams.

Shegog finished with 20 points to lead the Tar Heels (11-2, 1-0 ACC), who won despite finishing with a season-high 31 turnovers. North Carolina trailed by eight with about 5 1/2 minutes left before fighting back to take its first lead on Shegog's free throws. Freshman Brittany Rountree added 14 points for the Tar Heels, including two free throws with 16.7 seconds left to push UNC's lead to four.

The Tar Heels held on from there, surviving a missed layup by Miami's Riquna Williams that would've tied it with 2 seconds left as well as Morgan Stroman's hurried heave that fell way short as the horn sounded.

"About the only thing I can say is they never gave up and they played with a lot of heart," Hatchell said. "It wasn't pretty and we had a lot of turnovers, but they kept fighting and playing hard."

It was a victory that's sure to give the Tar Heels some confidence, not to mention show Hatchell that she's got a bunch of fighters despite a rough start.

Williams knocked down 3-pointers on the first two possessions for the Hurricanes (11-3, 0-1) while the Tar Heels missed a pair of layups on their first two trips down the floor. An irate Hatchell had seen enough by that point, calling a timeout 68 seconds in to have an animated discussion with her players in the huddle.

"I said, 'Look, y'all are playing like you're afraid of them,'" Hatchell said. "We're in a battle out here, you know? You've got to be aggressive."

But things got worse. First North Carolina fell behind by 11 points. Then senior guard She'la White rolled her left ankle while driving to the basket in the latest blow to a roster already depleted by injuries. White tried to return later in the half, but her departure looked crippling when freshmen Rountree and Shannon Smith were left as the only true ballhandlers against Miami's pressure - not to mention when Rountree picked up her fourth foul less than a minute into the second half.

At times, the Tar Heels were struggling to get the ball across midcourt against Miami's fullcourt trap. Smith had nine turnovers and repeatedly heard frustrated streams both from the UNC sideline or her own teammates.

Yet the Tar Heels played enough defense to hold Miami to 35-percent shooting, including 6-for-26 from 3-point range. They also took a 41-34 rebounding advantage and finished with a 16-7 edge in second-chance points, including when the 5-foot-7 Smith somehow managed to grab her own miss and score to tie the game at 60 with 1:53 left.

Meanwhile, the Hurricanes were going in the wrong direction.

"We just didn't have that fight that we normally have," said Stroman, who had 13 points. "It's like, I guess, we're depending on everyone to make the big shots at the end of the game and at that time, we just need to step up and ... play with our chest out and play with confidence. And we weren't playing like that."

Miami led 58-50 on Stefanie Yderstrom's third 3-pointer with 5:19 left, but the Hurricanes missed eight of their last 10 shots. The teams were tied on the boards with about 7 1/2 minutes left before the Tar Heels pushed ahead there late.

Williams finished with 16 points, including a driving layup while drawing a blocking foul from Smith for a three-point play that brought Miami to within 64-63 with 11.1 seconds left. Yderstrom added 15 points, though preseason ACC player of the year Shenise Johnson had 11 on 4-for-13 shooting.

That defense helped negate all the turnovers that led to 25 points for Miami - though the Tar Heels didn't have a turnover in the final 4 1/2 minutes.

"You've got to finish games on the road in the ACC," Miami coach Katie Meier said, "and we didn't."

MIAMI 78, NC STATE 68 - JAN. 5, 2012

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) - Riquna Williams scored 22 points to lead No. 12 Miami to a 78-68 victory over North Carolina State on Thursday night.

Williams hit consecutive 3-pointers late in the second half as the Hurricanes (12-3, 1-1 Atlantic Coast Conference) withstood a rally by the Wolfpack and expanded a 66-61 lead with a 12-0 run. Maria Brown's layup with 1:45 remaining ended the surge and gave Miami a 78-61 lead.

The Wolfpack (10-5, 0-2) rallied from a 49-29 deficit early in the second half with 13 straight points. Krystal Barrett scored 10 points during the run and her two free throws with 13:27 remaining cut Miami's lead to 49-42.

Williams' putback with 10:01 left increased Miami's lead to 55-46. North Carolina State got within 55-52 with 8:16 left.

Barrett scored 14 points to lead the Wolfpack.

MIAMI 77, GEORGIA TECH 65 - JAN. 9, 2012

DULUTH, Ga. (AP) - Shenise Johnson scored 24 points, Morgan Stroman added 18 with 10 rebounds and No. 13 Miami beat Georgia Tech 77-65 on Monday night.

The Hurricanes (13-3, 2-1 Atlantic Coast Conference) have won four of five and improved to 3-3 on the road this season.

Sasha Goodlett finished with 20 points and 10 rebounds for Georgia Tech (11-5, 1-2). Chelsea Regins had 16 points and 10 boards.

The Yellow Jackets, who were coming off a three-point loss at No. 5 Maryland last week, have dropped two straight following a six-game winning streak.

Regins' three-point play brought Georgia Tech within four at 54-50, but the Yellow Jackets went 4:29 without a field goal, and Miami took the game's biggest lead at 15 on Shanel Williams' layup at the 7:28 mark.

After Goodlett's two-footer made it 66-60 with 4:55 remaining, Georgia Tech never got any closer. Miami improved to 12-1 when leading at halftime.

Shawnice Wilson's putback gave Miami its biggest first-half lead, 11 points at the 5:33 mark, but the Yellow Jackets went on a 17-6 run that ended with Chelsea Regins' putback and a 36-36 with 1:21 remaining.

Johnson, who had seven assists, one turnover and six steals, extended her streak to 87 consecutive games of scoring in double figures, the best in the nation. Last year's ACC player of the year and a preseason All-American this year by The Associated Press, Johnson used a no-look pass to feed Stroman for a fastbreak layup that made it 58-51 with 10:15 remaining.

The Hurricanes persevered despite going 0 of 10 on 3-point attempts. Johnson and Riquna Williams combined to go 0 of 7.

Miami, which leads the nation in steals with a 16.1 average, outscored Georgia Tech 26-19 in points off turnovers.

Tyaunna Marshall added 12 points, nine rebounds, five turnovers and one assist for the Georgia Tech.

VISITORS: Miami 13-3, 2-1 ACC

MIAMI 75, MARYLAND 63 - JAN. 12, 2012

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) - Celebrating yet another 3-pointer, Riquana Williams hopped along the sideline, faced the stands and waved to coax more cheers from a crowd eager to witness a milestone win for the Miami Hurricanes.

"I've never done that before," the senior guard said.
It was a night of firsts. Williams scored 34 points and No. 13-ranked Miami defeated a top-five team for the first time ever, rallying past No. 5 Maryland 75-63 Thursday.

Williams tied a career high by sinking eight 3-pointers, the last coming with two minutes left to put Miami ahead by 11 points.

"The difference was we had no answer for Riquana," Maryland coach Brenda Frese said. "She was unstoppable. She was definitely in a zone."

The Hurricanes (14-3 overall, 3-1 Atlantic Coast Conference) won despite missing 21 consecutive shots in the first half, when they went 10 minutes without a basket to squander an early 12-point lead. Miami extended its home winning streak to 34 games.

"There's something magical that happens at home - we just have these moments," coach Katie Meier said. "The crowd is in a frenzy, and we're an emotional team. The crowd totally helped."

Maryland (16-1, 3-1) was held 21 points below its scoring average of 84.4 points per game, best in the nation.

Miami outscored the Terrapins by 33 points from 3-point range and won even though Shenise Johnson shot 2 for 15 and had just six points, 10 below her average. That ended her streak of scoring in double figures in 87 consecutive games.

Johnson didn't seem to mind.
"We won. Period," the senior said. "I feel like I'm in some way responsible. This is a great win for our program, and I'm happy to be a part of it."

Williams shot 12 for 24, including 8 for 14 from 3-point range. Stefanie Yderstrom went 4-for-7 beyond the arc and scored 12 points. Morgan Stroman added 10 points and eight rebounds for the Hurricanes, who enjoyed an eight-rebound edge despite Maryland's height advantage.

Alyssa Thomas had 18 points for the Terrapins but committed eight turnovers. Laurin Mincy was held to six points, nearly nine below her average.

The Terrapins went 2 for 11 from 3-point range, while Miami shot 13 for 28. The loss was the first for Maryland since it was beaten in the second round of the NCAA tournament last year.

"We remember how it felt last time," Thomas said. "I know we're going to come back strong."

Miami trailed by seven points early in the second half but regained the lead when a 3-pointer by Williams made it 47-46. She sank back-to-back 3-pointers during a 10-0 run that put the Hurricanes up 64-56 with less than four minutes left.

That prompted her celebration along the sideline as she encouraged the fans' cheers.
"I wanted to let them know, 'You guys are helping us,'" she said. "It was a great emotional feeling, like, 'We want to win, and we're going to go get it.'"

Williams scored 15 points in the first 8 1/2 minutes to help the Hurricanes take a 22-10 lead. They then went cold, and a 15-1 run by the Terrapins put them ahead.

Meier described the Hurricanes' offense in the first half as "horrible."
"I said, 'If our offense is the problem, we're fine,'" she said. "We knew we would click at a certain point."

MIAMI 60, FLORIDA STATE 57 - JAN. 15, 2012

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) - It came down to the final seconds before 13th-ranked Miami finally ended a 25-year jinx in Tallahassee.

The Hurricanes watched a 19-point lead disappear before escaping with a 60-57 win Sunday at Florida State on Stefanie Yderstrom's 3-pointer from deep in the corner with 17 seconds remaining.

"A lot of demons ... were still on our back a little, but she exorcised the demons with that big shot," said Miami coach Katie Meier, who was a freshman at Duke when the Hurricanes last won here on Jan. 29, 1987. "They make it very, very hard to get a bucket. That shot by Stefanie was big."

Miami (15-3, 4-1 Atlantic Coast Conference) led 41-22 a minute into the second half, but Florida State fought back to tie the game at 57 when Cierra Bravard made the second of two tries at the free throw line with 37 seconds left.

Shenise Johnson led Miami with 24 points and became just the fourth player in Miami history to reach 2,000 career points. Morgan Stroman and Riquana Williams added 11 points for the Hurricanes. Yderstrom finished with 9, all on treys.

Yderstrom and Williams — the ACC's top two 3-point shooters — each made three 3-point shots for Miami, which hit 8 of 22 of its long distance tries compared to Florida State's 1 of 5 from behind the arc. The two Hurricanes guards have each made 38 field goals from long range this season.

Sophomore forward Natasha Howard led Florida State (10-9, 2-3) with 22 points and a career-high 17 rebounds, getting 14 points and 10 rebounds in the second half to spark the Seminoles' late rally.

"Seventeen rebounds hasn't been had against a top-25 team here in years," Florida State coach Sue Semrau said.

In fact, it was just the third time since 1993 that it had happened.
"We didn't give up at all," the 6-foot-3 Howard said. "That's the best thing that ever happened. We didn't give up at the end."

Miami was able to hold on for the win despite shooting 36.5 percent compared to Florida State's 43.1 percent, and the Seminoles won the rebound battle 39-32 led by Howard's dominating presence. Chasty Clayton added 12 points and Bravard 10 for Florida State, which was hurt by 22 turnovers.

Johnson scored 15 points in the first half and keyed a 23-6 run that propelled the Hurricanes into the locker room with a 35-20 lead.

"Shenise did a great job of setting the tone very early for us," said Meier said, adding, "Two thousand points ... that's an amazing accomplishment."

Semrau, however, was frustrated with her team's start.

"I hope that after this, we play more grown up in the first half," she said.
A pair of Howard layups sparked an early 8-0 Florida State burst that gave the Seminoles a quick-lived 10-7 lead, but disappeared quickly in the wake of the Hurricanes' 23-6 run capped by a Johnson layup for a 30-16 lead with 4:44 left in the half.

The Seminoles' women weren't able to pull off a second home-floor upset in as many days. Florida State's unranked men's team clobbered No. 3 North Carolina 90-57 just 24 hours earlier.

Semrau's team visits Boston College on Thursday, while Miami is at Virginia that night.

MIAMI 56, VIRGINIA 53 - JAN. 19, 2012

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. - Miami coach Kate Meier typically does not flash a smile after her team turns the ball over 27 times in a contest. Life in the ACC, the coach noted, is merely about surviving and stealing as many victories as possible.

For that reason the cheers that billowed out of the visitor's locker room were fitting for the 11th-ranked Hurricanes after they outlasted Virginia, 56-53, on Thursday night in front of a crowd of 3,161 at John Paul Jones Arena.

"I understand that we return every starter from last year, but the margin for error in this league is so small. That's just how it goes," Meier said. "You come out with any road victory and we are going to celebrate it. That's a heck of a win and a big time RPI win for us.

"We knew we were in for a fight."

Miami (16-3, 5-1 ACC) sealed the win as guard Shenise Johnson nailed two free throws with 18.2 seconds remaining.

Virginia (14-6, 2-4) had a chance to force overtime in the final six seconds, but three attempts at a game-tying 3-pointer did not come to fruition.

Lexie Gerson had a 3-pointer blocked out of bounds by Johnson with 5.4 seconds left, Ariana Moorer missed a 3-pointer wildly a second later and forward Jazmin Pitts could not muscle a desperation 3-pointer from the corner all the way to the basket as the final horn sounded.

"We just ran a play, kind of like an elevator play to kind of run [Gerson] through a double screen and close that off and I don't know, I'll have to go back and look at it, but I don't know if we got the defense off enough to give her time," Virginia coach Joanne Boyle said. "But I thought she had a good look early, but she hesitated.

"You have to be able to come off that elevator screen and just catch and shoot. I thought there was a little bit of a hesitation."

Pitts did not hesitate on her final 3-pointer but admitted that she was trying to make sure she beat the final buzzer and rushed her attempt.

"It just came out and I knew there was like 1 or 2 seconds left so I just kind of had to shoot it," said Pitts, who played 23 minutes as a host of Virginia starters battled foul trouble.

As Boyle noted, the contest would not have had the late drama had the Cavaliers executed better at the free-throw line.

Virginia missed eight of its 10 free-throw attempts in the second half, including three in the final 3:12.

"We just don't have a lot of margin for error," Boyle said.

Despite shooting just 45.8 percent (11 for 24) from the charity stripe in the game, the Cavaliers still led 53-51 after Moorer drove to the basket and connected on a runner off the glass.

Trailing by two and with 12 seconds on the shot clock, Meier called a timeout with 1:12 remaining to set up a play for Johnson.

"I usually have [timeouts]," Meier said. "When I had four left with 4 minutes I thought, 'We won't turn it over. I can prevent that.'"

The decision by Meier worked brilliantly as Johnson drove to the basket, hit a lay up and drew the fifth foul of the game on Virginia forward Telia McCall.

Johnson hit the free throw, pushing the Hurricanes in front, 54-53.

Virginia gave the ball back to the Hurricanes, however, as Moorer was called for traveling near the free-throw line with 47.4 seconds left.

Boyle promptly called a timeout prior to Miami's possession. The decision was made not to foul Miami, but a wild 3-pointer from Johnson was collected under the basket by reserve center Shawnice Wilson and Meier signaled for another timeout with 22 seconds left.

Meier said it was by design that Wilson was positioned for the potential missed free throw.

Successful on the second attempt to get the inbounders in, Virginia fouled Johnson as she attempted to dribble away from pressure with 18.2 seconds left.

Johnson nailed both free throws, pushing the score to the final margin.

"I thought we were in major trouble because what they do is what they struggle with," Meier said. "Virginia was playing people tough and played tough at Duke and up at Maryland."

Moorer paced the Cavaliers with 18 points and three assists, but missed six free throws while playing all 40 minutes. Miami was led by a 20-point effort from Johnson, who also added 13 of the team's 45 rebounds.

Virginia, which led 33-29 at halftime, forced the 27 turnovers by Miami, but managed just 20 points off the miscues.

The Cavaliers return to action Saturday at 7 p.m. at home against Boston College.

MIAMI 79, VIRGINIA TECH 48 - JAN. 23, 2012

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) - The Miami Hurricanes were forced to use a new lineup, and ended up with the same old result.

Stefanie Yderstrom scored a career-high 22 points to lead the No. 10 Hurricanes, who didn't miss a beat in a 79-48 win over Virginia Tech on Monday night despite injury and personal issues altering the lineup Miami had started the previous 52 games.

Miami lost starting forward Morgan Stroman for the season with a torn Achilles tendon in the Hurricanes' 56-53 win over Virginia last Thursday. Riquana Williams, the team's second-leading scorer, also missed extensive practice before the game against Virginia Tech because of a family issue, according to Miami coach Katie Meier.

Williams came off the bench against the Hokies and played 10 minutes.

"We had a tough week with losing Morgan and Riquana had some family issues that kept her away from practice," Meier said. "We're making adjustments."

The Hurricanes (17-1, 6-1 ACC) had little difficulty doing so against the Hokies. Miami was never threatened after opening the game on a 15-1 run in the first 4:10. Shenise Johnson led Miami's early scoring surge with nine points.

Later in the first half, Miami scored 11 unanswered points during a 3:15 span and increased the lead to 38-11. Maria Brown's basket with 4:51 remaining ended the spurt.

"It was strange not having her there," Johnson said of Stroman, who averaged 12 points a game. "She brings energy. But we had a lot of people step up tonight."

The Hokies (6-14, 2-5) were held without a field goal for an 8:15 stretch until Aerial Wilson scored consecutive layups within an 18 second-span that reduced Miami's lead to 40-18 with 59 seconds remaining.

"I couldn't be more proud of how much composure we played with," Meier said. "I thought it was one of our best team games of the year."

Yderstrom shot 7 of 10 from the field, including 4 of 6 on 3-pointers. Johnson finished with 18 points and Shawnice Wilson, who replaced Stroman, scored 12 points for Miami.

"I'm just happy that we won and how we won as a team," Yderstrom said. "I had some open shots and I made them."

Miami won its 35th consecutive home game, hours after returning to the top 10 national rankings for the first time since the week of Dec. 19.

Monet Tellier scored 18 points to lead the Hokies, who lost their fifth straight and third consecutive game against a Top 25 team after previous losses against then-No. 5 Duke and then-No. 25 North Carolina last week.

"I know they were a little discomfited with the injury and with whatever went on with Williams, but I was very impressed with them," Virginia Tech coach Dennis Wolff said. "Conversely, I was very disappointed in our guys, particularly with how we started the game."

Wilson's put-back basket with 27 seconds left gave Miami a 42-18 lead at halftime.

Jessica Capers' basket with 14:11 remaining in the second half gave the Hurricanes their first 30-point lead at 55-25.

MIAMI 64, WAKE FOREST 39 - JAN. 26, 2012

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) - Miami was able to overcome its subpar shooting to pull out another convincing victory.

Stefanie Yderstrom and Riquna Williams scored 14 points each to help the 10th-ranked Hurricanes overcome 37-percent shooting in a 64-39 win over Wake Forest on Thursday night.

Shenise Johnson added 10 points and 12 rebounds as Miami (18-3, 7-1 Atlantic Coast Conference) got its seventh straight win overall and 36th straight at home.

"This wasn't a momentum win at all," Miami coach Katie Meier said. "I'm complimenting Wake Forest when I say it was an ugly win. That's a compliment to their staff and how well they prepare for you.

"It was kind of disjointed, gritty, grimy and scrummy. We had to play it."

Miami led by 13 at halftime and stretched the advantage to 37-20 on consecutive baskets by Shenise Johnson and Sylvia Bullock in the first 1:17 of the second half.

Sandra Garcia's jumper with 7:01 remaining got Wake Forest to 52-39. Johnson and Yderstrom followed with consecutive 3-pointers and extended the Hurricanes' lead to 58-39.

"I try to let the shot come to me and not rush it," said Yderstrom, who hit three 3-pointers.

Williams' layup with 1:59 remaining gave Miami its first 20-point lead at 60-39, and the Hurricanes finished the game on a 12-0 run, holding the Deamon Deacons scoreless after Garcia's basket.

Secily Ray scored nine points to lead Wake Forest (12-8, 2-5), which shot just 25 percent (15 for 60).

"You've got to score to beat Miami," Wake Forest coach Mike Petersen said. "You can't expect to come down here and play in the 50s. We were trying to get to 70s to get it done. We didn't make enough shots and didn't execute well."

The Demon Deacons stayed close until Miami used a 9-0 run to take a 33-18 lead on Williams' jumper inside the lane with 1:18 to go in the first half.

Miami held Wake Forest without a field goal for a 6:03 span until Brooke Thomas' jumper 18 seconds later ended the drought and pulled the Hurricanes within 13 at halftime.

"It was grimy out there; it felt like an ACC game," Johnson said. "I think they messed up our timing a little bit and did a great job of being physical."

Both teams struggled offensively during the first 10 minutes of the first half. The Hurricanes shot 6 for 20 from the field and the Demon Deacons were 4 for 15.

Millesa Calicott's 3-pointer with 7:57 remaining reduced the Hurricanes' lead to 24-18 before Miami went on its late first half run.

"They were matching us point for point and had more energy than us to start the game," Meier said. "But after they got through that our defense just took over."

Johnson missed her first four shots but finished the first half with 10 rebounds and four assists.

"They weren't frustrating me," Johnson said. "My shot wasn't falling so I said, 'let me do something else.' I started to distribute the ball and get my team shots. They did a very good job of knocking them down."

MIAMI 88, BOSTON COLLEGE 57 - JAN. 29, 2012

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass. (AP) - Miami coach Katie Meier knows how lucky she is to have a pair of talented players like Shenise Johnson and Riquna Williams.

Johnson scored 16 of her 22 points in the opening half to lead the 10th-ranked Hurricanes to their eighth straight win, an 88-57 rout of Boston College on Sunday.

Williams had 15 of her 18 in the opening 20 minutes, and moved to six points away from joining Johnson as the fifth in school history with 2,000 points.

The high scoring pair of seniors dominated during stretches early in the game, but it was their leadership skills and rebounding that had Meier especially happy afterward.

"I'm blessed. I know it," she said. "Tonight they wanted to hit the boards early. I could even hear them saying, 'Hit the boards guys. Hit the boards. They're teaching and they're mentoring.'"

And they're helping carry the Hurricanes on a solid run.

Miami (19-3, 8-1 Atlantic Coast Conference) never trailed and pulled to a double digit lead on Williams' basket in the lane 5:44 into the game. The advantage never dropped into single digits the rest of the way.

"It starts on the defensive end," said Williams, who was unsure how many points she needs for 2,000.

"It would be great to achieve something so big," she said after learning how many she's away.

Her coach was smiling next to her.

"We know," joked Meier.

On very likely soon having another member of her exclusive club, Johnson said: "I think it's just going to be a result of our hard work."

Stefanie Yderstrom added 15 points for Miami, which hasn't lost since dropping its conference opener at North Carolina on Jan. 2.

Tessah Holt paced Boston College (5-16, 0-8) with 12 points. The Eagles have lost eight straight.

"They trigger their offense from their defense, from transition baskets," BC coach Sylvia Crawley said. "We talked about, 'Even if we have to eat the ball don't turn it over.'"

The Eagles shot just 36 percent in the game (18 of 50) and many times had trouble getting off decent shots. They had 20 turnovers that led to 29 points.

Williams also grabbed eight rebounds. Johnson, who had a team-leading nine boards, became the fourth to reach the 2,000-point mark earlier this season.

Miami missed its first two shots from the floor before its superior tandem of Johnson and Williams combined with its pressure defense to take charge.

Johnson missed the first shot of the game - a short jumper in the lane - but hit six of her next eight during the first half. She scored eight of her team's initial 16 points as the Hurricanes pulled to a 13-point lead on her 3-pointer.

After Johnson's offensive surge, Williams dominated, scoring 11 straight Miami points and 13 of 16 as the Hurricanes pushed their lead to 27-11 midway into the half.

Johnson's two free throws gave the Hurricanes a 41-16 edge, their largest lead in the opening half. Miami, which forced 15 turnovers in the opening 20 minutes, led 48-27 at intermission.

The Hurricanes pushed their lead over 30 points (61-29) on Williams' basket early into the second half. They came out after intermission and scored 13 of the initial 15 points, making sure the Eagles wouldn't give them any threat.

Williams came down awkwardly after a basket late in the first half and walked to the bench gingerly, but she started the second half and wasn't affected by the fall.

The Hurricanes entered the game leading the conference averaging 14.3 steals per game. They finished with seven.

MIAMI 68, CLEMSON 47 - FEB. 5, 2012

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) - Miami's 37th consecutive home win perhaps came at a big expense. Shenise Johnson scored 19 points to lead the No. 7 Hurricanes to a 68-47 victory over Clemson Sunday afternoon. But the Hurricanes could be missing guard and second leading scorer Riquana Williams for Wednesday's game against No. 23 North Carolina.

Williams, who averages 15.6 points, left the game with 14:53 in the second half after she hit her head as she collided with teammate Michelle Woods while chasing a loose ball. Williams stayed on the floor for three minutes then walked gingerly toward the locker room and didn't return.

"They're going to take some precautionary looks on her because anytime it's a head and neck...,"

Miami coach Katie Meier said in a post-game news conference. "We had three doctors in the locker room right now. We'll know more. They're concerned."

Meier isn't sure about Williams' status on Wednesday.

Johnson picked up the void for Williams, who scored 15 points before her injury - including the 2,000th of her career. Johnson scored 12 points in the second half and finished with 15 rebounds.

"Coach told us in the locker room that we need to be tougher (in the second half)," Johnson said. "I had to change my whole mindset and shots started going in."

The Hurricanes (20-3, 9-1 ACC) broke the game open with a 17-1 run midway through the first half. Williams hit two 3-pointers and Johnson and Shawnice Wilson scored five points each during the Miami surge.

Williams' second 3-pointer with 11:09 remaining gave her 2,000 points in her Hurricanes' career.

Johnson's 3-pointer with 6:24 remaining ended the spurt and increased the Miami lead to 26-8. The Hurricanes held Clemson without a basket for a 9:29 stretch.

"We had really nice ball movement," Meier said. "We played a decent game but there were some individual things that you've got to finish."

"Our one consistent thing has been Shenise Johnson. She absolutely made sure that we won tonight."

Clemson (6-15, 2-8) got to within single digits after an 8-0 spurt late in the first half. Quinyotta Pet-taway's put back basket with 1:00 ended the run and cut Miami's lead to 27-18.

Nikki Dixon scored 16 points to lead Clemson, which has lost five of their last six.

"They pressed us and bothered us in the first half," Clemson coach Itoro Coleman said. "In the second half we handled their pressure better than the first half."

Williams' 3-pointer with 15:24 remaining in the second half gave the Hurricanes their first 20-point lead at 44-24.

The Tigers got no closer than 46-31 after a 5-0 run capped by Shaniqua Pauldo's free throw with 9:57 remaining in the second half.

"There were different points of the game that we fought," Coleman said "I felt Miami was very physical and we were able to withstand some of that. We were able to get some shots that we were looking for. We just didn't knock them down."

MIAMI 61, MIAMI 37 - FEB. 8, 2012

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) - Shenise Johnson and Riquana Williams helped Miami avenge its lone ACC loss. Johnson scored 19 points and Williams added 17 to lead No. 6 Miami to a 61-37 win over No. 22 North Carolina. The Tar Heels beat the Hurricanes 65-63 in Chapel Hill on Jan. 2.

"We felt like we lost it (the last time) and something we could change," Johnson said. "We wanted to make sure we came out and played Miami basketball, and do what we do well for 40 minutes. We didn't do that up in Carolina."

Miami (21-3, 10-1 ACC) forced North Carolina (17-7, 7-4) into a season-high 35 turnovers and scored 39 points off turnovers.

"They've got great guards," North Carolina coach Sylvia Hatchell said. "They come at you, are extremely physical. That was basically the bottom-line."

Stefanie Yderstrom chipped in 10 points and had seven steals for the Hurricanes, who won their 38th straight home game.

The 38-game home streak is the third-longest active streak in the nation. Only Connecticut (98) and Stanford (74) have longer streaks.

North Carolina did not have a player score in double figures as Laura Bloomfield led the Tar Heels with seven points and six rebounds.

Miami did not have a great shooting night at 37.3 percent (22 of 59) from the floor and had 23 turnovers of their own, but they still outshot North Carolina, which was held to 26.8 percent (15 of 56).

"It's never going to always be pretty in February, but gritty is better than pretty right now," Miami coach Katie Meier said.

After North Carolina scored the game's first four points, the Hurricanes went on a 17-0 run sparked by three 3-pointers by Williams. Johnson and Shawnice Wilson each scored four during the run. During the pivotal run, the Tar Heels missed nine consecutive shots and had seven turnovers.

"I've got great upperclassmen," Meier said. "What I love about them is they have that wisdom, besides the talent and capability, that they know how we're going to get this team and when our moment is going to come."

Waltiea Rolle ended the six-minute scoring drought for the Tar Heels with a basket.

However, Miami maintained a steady lead throughout the half, but it was cut to 27-20 after a jumper by Tierra Ruffin-Pratt. However, Miami countered with a pair of field goals including a 3-pointer by Yderstrom from the right wing.

"We didn't play particularly well at North Carolina," Meier said. "We were in control of the game and then they took the lead with a minute to go. That was something that we never do, so we weren't going to let the lead dwindle and I thought we responded at huge times."

Miami led 32-22 at the break.

Yderstrom connected again from long range early in the second half forcing North Carolina to take a timeout down by 15 points.

The Hurricanes led by double digits the rest of the way.

MIAMI 76, MARYLAND 74 - FEB. 12, 2012

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) - Stefanie Yderstrom is giving Miami another threat on offense.

The junior guard scored a career-high 26 points and Shenise Johnson added 20 points and seven steals to help the sixth-ranked Hurricanes rally to beat No. 8 Maryland 76-74 on Sunday.

"Stef had an awesome performance today," Miami coach Katie Meier said. "She was incredible and focused. You've got to talk about her when you talk about the Miami guards being so good."

Miami seniors Johnson and Riquana Williams were already on the top of every opponent's scouting report having scored over 2,000 points apiece in their illustrious careers. Now the Hurricanes have a third option with Yderstrom.

"She's having a tremendous season," Maryland coach Brenda Frese said. "We came into the game wanting to defend the 'Big 3'. We call it the 'Big 3' because she's having a sensational junior campaign. She played a pretty flawless game."

Yderstrom set her previous career-high of 22 three weeks earlier against Virginia Tech and has been in double figures in five of the last six games.

"I feel it's been a few weeks and I've been getting up extra shots with assistant coaches," Yderstrom said. "I want to be aggressive."

The Hurricanes (22-3, 11-1) have won 11 straight games since falling to North Carolina by two points on Jan. 2. They remained a game behind Duke for the Atlantic Coast Conference lead.

Trailing 66-60 with 6 minutes left, Miami rallied behind Johnson. The preseason All-America's jumper from the corner with 2:07 left gave the Hurricanes their first lead since early in the first half and set up a tense finish.

"Just another typical Miami-Maryland game," Meier said. "This was round three or four."

Anjale Barrett's layup with 54 seconds to go put Maryland (21-4, 8-4) ahead 72-71. But the Hurricanes took the lead for good on Sylvia Bullock's jumper 15 seconds later. After two missed shots by the Terrapins, Johnson hit two free throws to make it 75-72.

Laurin Mincy missed a 3-pointer that would have tied the game, and Williams hit a free throw to seal the win.

Tianna Hawkins scored 18 points and Lynetta Kizer added 16 to lead Maryland, which had a season-high 11,000 fans at the game.

Leading by five points at halftime, Maryland was able to extend the advantage to 50-42. The Terrapins had chances to make it a double-digit lead but kept missing layups and free throws that allowed Miami to stay in the game. Maryland missed six layups and seven free throws in the second half.

"Late-game free throws, layups, turnovers, those are costly to put a team away in your building," Frese said.

Yderstrom started the Hurricanes' rally hitting consecutive jumpers. Williams' hit a 3-pointer to get Miami within 50-49.

The teams traded baskets, but Miami couldn't pull ahead. A layup by Hawkins and a free throw by Alyssa Thomas gave Maryland a 66-60 lead with 6:05 left before the Hurricanes' late rally.

It was an entertaining back-and-forth first half with neither team able to build more than a six-point lead. Thomas kept the Terrapins in the game early, scoring eight of the team's first 10 points before Kizer took over. The 6-foot-4 senior's strong three-point play tied the game at 13. She scored four points over the final 1:42 of the half to help Maryland take a 38-33 lead. Kizer finished the half with 14 points and nine rebounds.

Miami won the first meeting between the teams on Jan. 12, handing Maryland its first loss of the season. In that game Kizer had just four points and four rebounds in 16 minutes.

"We felt we gave everything pretty much, it definitely hurts," Kizer said. "This is one we will keep in our back pocket and come out stronger."

Meier was dressed in a pink top and wore pink sneakers in support of the Play4Kay foundation that honors former N.C. State coach Kay Yow, who died of cancer three years ago. The Miami players wore pink sneakers while the Terrapins were dressed in pink uniforms.

MIAMI 73, NC STATE 61 - FEB. 16, 2012

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) - Stefanie Yderstrom is giving Miami another threat on offense.

The junior guard scored a career-high 26 points and Shenise Johnson added 20 points and seven steals to help the sixth-ranked Hurricanes rally to beat No. 8 Maryland 76-74 on Sunday.

"Stef had an awesome performance today," Miami coach Katie Meier said. "She was incredible and focused. You've got to talk about her when you talk about the Miami guards being so good."

Miami seniors Johnson and Riquana Williams were already on the top of every opponent's scouting report having scored over 2,000 points apiece in their illustrious careers. Now the Hurricanes have a third option with Yderstrom.

"She's having a tremendous season," Maryland coach Brenda Frese said. "We came into the game wanting to defend the 'Big 3'. We call it the 'Big 3' because she's having a sensational junior campaign. She played a pretty flawless game."

Yderstrom set her previous career-high of 22 three weeks earlier against Virginia Tech and has been in double figures in five of the last six games.

"I feel it's been a few weeks and I've been getting up extra shots with assistant coaches," Yderstrom said. "I want to be aggressive."

The Hurricanes (22-3, 11-1) have won 11 straight games since falling to North Carolina by two points on Jan. 2. They remained a game behind Duke for the Atlantic Coast Conference lead.

Trailing 66-60 with 6 minutes left, Miami rallied behind Johnson. The preseason All-America's jumper from the corner with 2:07 left gave the Hurricanes their first lead since early in the first half and set up a tense finish.

"Just another typical Miami-Maryland game," Meier said. "This was round three or four."

Anjale Barrett's layup with 54 seconds to go put Maryland (21-4, 8-4) ahead 72-71. But the Hurricanes took the lead for good on Sylvia Bullock's jumper 15 seconds later. After two missed shots by the Terrapins, Johnson hit two free throws to make it 75-72.

Laurin Mincy missed a 3-pointer that would have tied the game, and Williams hit a free throw to seal the win.

Tianna Hawkins scored 18 points and Lynetta Kizer added 16 to lead Maryland, which had a season-high 11,000 fans at the game.

Leading by five points at halftime, Maryland was able to extend the advantage to 50-42. The Terrapins had chances to make it a double-digit lead but kept missing layups and free throws that allowed Miami to stay in the game. Maryland missed six layups and seven free throws in the second half.

"Late-game free throws, layups, turnovers, those are costly to put a team away in your building," Frese said.

Yderstrom started the Hurricanes' rally hitting consecutive jumpers. Williams' hit a 3-pointer to get Miami within 50-49.

The teams traded baskets, but Miami couldn't pull ahead. A layup by Hawkins and a free throw by Alyssa Thomas gave Maryland a 66-60 lead with 6:05 left before the Hurricanes' late rally.

It was an entertaining back-and-forth first half with neither team able to build more than a six-point lead. Thomas kept the Terrapins in the game early, scoring eight of the team's first 10 points before Kizer took over. The 6-foot-4 senior's strong three-point play tied the game at 13. She scored four points over the final 1:42 of the half to help Maryland take a 38-33 lead. Kizer finished the half with 14 points and nine rebounds.

Miami won the first meeting between the teams on Jan. 12, handing Maryland its first loss of the season. In that game Kizer had just four points and four rebounds in 16 minutes.

"We felt we gave everything pretty much, it definitely hurts," Kizer said. "This is one we will keep in our back pocket and come out stronger."

Meier was dressed in a pink top and wore pink sneakers in support of the Play4Kay foundation that honors former N.C. State coach Kay Yow, who died of cancer three years ago. The Miami players wore pink sneakers while the Terrapins were dressed in pink uniforms.

Yderstrom now part of 'Big Three' for Miami women's basketball

Junior guard has become an important scoring option in Stroman's absence

11:12 AM EST, February 18, 2012

CORAL GABLES – After Stefanie Yderstrom scored a career-high 26 points in No. 6 Miami's win against Maryland last Sunday, Terrapins coach Brenda Frese called Yderstrom one of the "Big Three" -- referring to fellow guards Shenise Johnson and Riquna Williams.

It's been that kind of season for the 5-foot-8 junior from Östertälje, Sweden, who with 12 points Thursday against North Carolina State has scored in double figures six of the past seven games entering Sunday's 3:30 p.m. home game against Florida State.

"They have confidence in me and that gives me confidence, too," Yderstrom said. "I feel like I'm more aggressive and more confident on the court as a player, trying to take on the role as a leader more and more."

Yderstrom, fourth on the team in scoring (10.6 points per game) behind forward Morgan Stroman (12.9), Williams (15.9) and Johnson (16.4), has been especially valuable with Stroman's season-ending Achilles injury eight games ago.

"We lost a lot when we found out she couldn't play any more, and that was a little motivation for me, as well," Yderstrom said. "I know I have to score more now."

Yderstrom, who wanted to play college basketball in the U.S., was "inspired to come" to UM because a friend and one-time club teammate from her hometown, Sandra Jansson, was a former Hurricanes player.

"Sure, I was a pretty good player at home, too," said Yderstrom, who has played for Swedish national youth teams since she was 15 and won a silver medal at the 2007 Under-19 World Championships. "But I feel like I'm a different player now – more mature, confident, aggressive."

Added Yderstrom: "I felt I had it in me. But definitely the coaching staff here had really seen the positive in me and encouraged me to really take on a big role in this team. As the time went by, I felt my confidence build up and them trust me more on the court. Coming to Miami, helped me a lot. I don't know where I'd be if I didn't choose to come here."

Miami Hurricanes women's basketball team is doing big things by going small

By Linda Robertson

lrobertson@miamiherald.com

CARL JUSTE / MIAMI HERALD STAFF

UM's Shenise Johnson, races down court in the first half during the Miami Hurricanes' game against North Carolina at the BankUnited Center in Coral Gables, Florida on Wednesday, February 8, 2012.

When the University of Miami women's basketball team lines up toe to toe against opponents, it often looks like a fleet of Ferraris versus a convoy of Mack trucks. The Hurricanes are not imposing if you measure the top players with a yardstick. Only two with consistent playing time stand taller than 6 feet.

But if you measure the No. 6-ranked Hurricanes with a stopwatch, they are the fastest team in the country. If you measure with a basketball IQ test, UM's array of constantly shifting defenses is among the most dizzying in the country.

Speed is beating size. UM (22-3, 11-1 in the Atlantic Coast Conference) has won 11 consecutive games, including a 61-37 demolition of No. 22 North Carolina and a 76-74 comeback at No. 8 Maryland in front of 11,000 fans.

"We have to push the pace because we're so small," said 5-11 guard Shenise Johnson, the 2011 ACC Player of the Year who leads the conference in steals with an average of 3.8 per game. She's the slickest pickpocket on a team full of them; UM ranks fourth in the nation in steals and forces 24.4 turnovers per game that result in 26.2 points per game.

Coach Katie Meier relies on her players' ninja-like quickness to befuddle opponents, who look like they're lumbering against UM.

"We want stops on defense," Meier said. "Sometimes we ambush them with our crouching-tiger, hidden-dragon approach. If we get 20 turnovers, that's 20 fewer shots they take. If we get 70 percent of defensive rebounds and 40 percent of offensive rebounds, we win."

UM lacks a dominant center like Baylor's 6-8 Brittney Griner, who can dunk, or Stanford's 6-2 Nnemkadi Ogwumike, who averages 22 points and 11 rebounds. Nor does it have a bench loaded with hefty reinforcements. The dynamic duo of Johnson and 5-6 Riquna Williams handle the bulk of the scoring.

Meier didn't plan to go small, but 6-2 junior Morgan Stroman, the team's glue in the middle, got hurt and is out for the season. Shawnice "Pepper" Wilson, a 6-6 transfer from Pittsburgh, is still developing her skills and growing accustomed to UM's system while her rebounding has improved considerably.

"I thought no one would be talking about our size this year; I thought they'd be talking about our inside-outside game," Meier said. "We thought Pepper would secure the post for us, but that hasn't happened yet. She's adopted a warrior's mentality on defense. I tell her, 'Take advantage of your size and if you can get a double-double, go for it. If you can't, shut them down.'"

Sylvia Bullock, the 6-2 senior from Alaska, has been a terrific replacement for Stroman and contributed critical plays, including a jumper in traffic against Maryland that sealed it.

"We've had to change some things and despite that, someone is always stepping up," Meier said. "It's a testament to our competitiveness. This is who we are. I love my roster."

UM's electric style was on display at Maryland. While the taller Terps were beating UM in the middle with point-blank lay-ins and rebounds, UM accelerated the tempo, implemented a full-court press and capitalized on Maryland's mistakes in the last several minutes.

Meier's assistants asked her if she wanted to insert a bigger lineup and she said no, "It's magical right now."

"You'd think we would have tried to go big but then we couldn't be Miami," Johnson said. "The funny thing is, we go smaller and it works."

Meier teaches many defenses and frequently switches schemes on the fly to keep opponents guessing.

"It gets to be pretty complicated and it's a lot of scouting work for the assistants and film work for the players, but we make it fun, like a game of chess," Meier said. "We pick on an opponent's star with a stunt scheme — we dictate where they go."

Against taller UNC, Miami held center Chay Shegog to six points and one offensive rebound. Although the Canes were outscored in the paint, they forced 35 turnovers and converted them into 39 points. UM scored 26 points off turnovers to Maryland's seven.

UM will have to keep that pattern humming at full tilt if it hopes to win the ACC tournament and make a run to the NCAA Final Four.

Johnson said she had thought of herself as an offensive whiz until she got to Miami and learned how to beat skyscraper teams. She takes pride in her stealing savvy, reading the eyes and body language of her opponent.

"I don't want people to say, 'She's good on offense but a liability on defense,'" Johnson said.

“Defense is what separates a great player from a good player. It’s the part of your game you can improve, with commitment and lots of energy.”

Meier, Canes feeling good after Maryland win

by: Steve Gorten February 13th, 2012 | 6:20 PM

CORAL GABLES – Miami’s women’s basketball team remained at No. 6 in the latest AP poll, which came out Monday.

While the Hurricanes failed to crack the top-5 for the first time in school history as No. 2 Notre Dame fell just two spots following its loss Sunday, they’re still euphoric in the wake of Sunday’s 76-74 win at then-No. 8 Maryland. I had a chance to speak to Coach Katie Meier today for about 10 minutes. Here’s what she had to say:

Q: What was the emotion of the team after beating Maryland again on Sunday and what’s the mood like today?

A: “You know we’re happy. We don’t even try to pretend like we’re not. That was a big win — a fun way to win, a real fun way to win, a real tough way to win, one of those things you need to show, prove to yourselves.

“I told them before the game, ‘we’ve had everything happen to us, so whatever happens out there, just hang around this team, and we will finish this one. You know that. And we did. ...

“Whenever my team plays tough and gritty, I’m a happy woman, and they were tough and gritty. And so was Maryland.”

Q: With a matchup looming next week against Duke, which you trail by one game in the ACC standings, how significant was this game and did you sense your team your players realized how this game would impact the opportunity ahead?

A: “Yes and no. Very much it was the Maryland matchup, and it was such a great basketball game. We have a real affinity for Maryland and how they play. They have such size and we don’t. it’s just such a good game every time. It’s usually a great spectator game.

“It was just a big moment for us and it was fun to see us rising to the occasion and enjoying it. We truly enjoyed it. We definitely enjoyed the outcome, but with about three or four minutes to go, I looked up at the clock and thought to myself, ‘This is just another awesome basketball game. How fun is this?’”

Q: What’s struck you about the progress of guard Stefanie Yderstrom, who had a career-high 26 points Sunday, and how she has emerged as a scoring weapon?

A: “I said to Coach [Carolyn] Kieger, my assistant coach that develops the guards, ‘Hey, you’ve got to feel pretty good about yourself after that performance.’ Stefanie’s put in a ton of work with Carolyn. She’s always in, watching film. She just is very curious about being great. She came to America because she thought it would make her a much better basketball player. She really wanted the challenge.

“She knew there were some things she wasn’t good at, and in Sweden maybe she wouldn’t face the athleticism as much as she would in America. So she came and challenged herself, started off just as a long-range shooter that would fill in and hit some 3s.

“By the end of the game last night...we actually laughed in the huddle at a very big moment. Carolyn came up to me and said, ‘I know you’re going to think I’m crazy, but we’ve got to get Stef in a dribble iso. And I was like, ‘Oh my God! I had the same thought.’

“Not Bay, not Moe, but Stef. Get her off on a weakside dribble iso. And we did, and she went right to the rim and got it for us. She has just really developed. We would never have done that before. She was staying away from those plays her freshman year. Now we’re calling them for her [as a junior].”

Q: How have you guys dealt so well with the loss of forward Morgan Stroman to a season-ending injury?

A: “I had a meeting with everyone on the team after Morgan went down, individuals up until the point where I had Pepper [Wilson] Krystal [Saunders] together in a meeting and said, ‘Hey, one of you two is going to be filling in and starting: Get yourselves ready to contribute. It might change with the matchup, but you two...have an opportunity to completely impact this team and be a hero for us. So there’s no pressure on you two.

“Then I took the other four – Sylvia, Stef, Bay and Moe — and I was really honest with them. I closed that door and I went after them and they didn’t say a word. Their eyes were as big as saucers. I just told them the blatant truth – none of you four can have a bad game the rest of the way. You can’t have a bad game, you can’t have an off practice. Sorry, but you have to play perfect basketball and we have to get over [Morgan’s loss].

“We all love Morgan. She was huge to the team and I could go on and on and on, but the more I go on and on and on about it, the more it sounds like I’m building an excuse for us not to be as great as I think we are.

“And they really have done everything they can up to this point to try to do that for us.”

Q: What do you like about the way your team has played during this 11-game winning streak?

A: “We’ve played OK during this winning streak. After we lost Stro, we got an opportunity to have some teams that weren’t at the top of the conference be sitting there on our schedule, so we could work through some stuff.

“The last two games were huge challenges for us because they’re the two best rebounding teams in the conference traditionally. Those were our first two challenges in terms of, ‘We could really get exposed here.’

“What I liked about those games is our half-court defense has just been incredible — the amount of energy, and quick decisions we’re making. We’re taking risks and we’re playing with a ton of courage on defense. Just toughness and grit. We really are just scrapping and clawing. That’s who I want to be. That’s how I want Miami basketball to play.”

Q: What has it been like this season playing with expectations and being expected to win games against top-10 teams as opposed to last season when y’all caught some people by surprise?

Canes turn into three-guard threat

 By Graham Hays
 ESPN.com

COLLEGE PARK, Md. -- Leave it to a player whose journey to center stage at the Comcast Center on Sunday afternoon began years ago in a Swedish town to help Miami prove it can win away from home.

And with Stefanie Yderstrom playing the part of Chris Bosh, leave it to a team from South Beach, or at least nearby Coral Gables, Fla., to make a statement of postseason intent on the strength of three star players.

Trailing most of the game on the road against No. 8 Maryland, and with All-Americans Shenise Johnson and Riquna Williams suffering through long shooting days against a tough defense, No. 6 Miami still came away with a 76-74 victory. The result allowed the Hurricanes to stay within a game of first-place Duke in the ACC title race and makes that sprint to the finish strictly a two-team affair.

PLAY 4KAY

As usual, the annual Play 4Kay produced plenty of intriguing storylines, including the biggest upset of the season so far.

The Hurricanes got what proved to be the winning point on a Shenise Johnson free throw with 23 seconds remaining, the last of three lead changes in the final 129 seconds, but it was Yderstrom's 26 points up to that point that gave them a chance to make the final minutes relevant in the first place. While Johnson and Williams needed 38 shots to score a combined 35 points, Yderstrom hit eight of 15 shots from the floor and all eight of her free throws to set a new career high, topping the 22 points she scored just three weeks ago against Virginia Tech.

Yderstrom's offensive surge -- she's averaging 11.8 points over the past 10 games and 15.3 points over the past six games -- came at an opportune time for a team that lost Morgan Stroman, its third-leading scorer, to a season-ending injury just six games into ACC play. Yderstrom, a Swedish guard from a town called Ostertalke, started 17 games as a freshman and all 33 games as a sophomore, but she's a specialist no more.

"Early in her career, she was a fill-in 3-point shooter," Miami coach Katie Meier said. "She has a great head for the game. Her handle has gotten lower, it was kind of high ... so she's really worked on her game. But she's been blessed playing with these backcourt mates that can set her up. She had time to keep her confidence up, impact the team and be very successful, and then grow into other aspects of her ball game."

Junior guard Stefanie Yderstrom discusses Miami's win at Maryland.

Another "Big Three"

Maryland coach Brenda Frese noted that her team entered the game intent on stopping the "big three," emphasizing the nickname that most outside the ACC wouldn't apply to Johnson, Williams and Yderstrom.

"She's just having a sensational junior campaign, and she's really good," Frese said. "She's an energy player for them and I thought played a pretty flawless game."

For much of the game, Johnson and Williams and Maryland's Alyssa Thomas and Lauren Mincy, the top four scorers on the court, went about negating each other. The duel between Thomas and Johnson was particularly intense, the latter effectively shutting down Thomas after Maryland's star scored nine first-half points, most in the opening 10 minutes. Part of what makes Thomas special is the attacking mindset she applies while valuing the ball. In 22 games against teams other than Miami this season, she committed just 38 turnovers. But in two games against the Terrapins, often with Johnson draped all over her or lurking nearby, Thomas has 14 turnovers.

Johnson played like an All-American on the defensive end, finishing with seven steals, and eventually found her way to 20 points. But from the opening minute, when Yderstrom recorded the first of four assists and scored seven of her team's first 13 points, to the end, when she drew a key charge and pulled her team to within a point at 68-67, the "other" guard was the best offensive player on the floor.

"I feel like my teammates are -- they trust me more when I'm on the court, when I'm handling the ball," Yderstrom said. "They rely on me to hit big shots, and I like it; I enjoy every single minute of it. The people around me in my team, my teammates, are making it easy for me because definitely [Williams and Johnson], they pay a lot of attention to them, so it makes it easier for me."

Only the coach seemed eager to downplay the significance of the location of the resulting win for the Hurricanes, who entered the game 14-0 at home but a more modest 5-3 on the road against Division I teams.

"It's funny, people try to find out what's wrong with our team, but we've got a ton of big road wins," Meier said.

Even Yderstrom, more familiar with the metric system, might find fault with that definition of "a ton."

Meier's contention notwithstanding, the record suggests otherwise for Miami, which earned good wins at North Carolina and Georgia Tech last season and good victories at Michigan State and Georgia Tech this season, but nothing along the lines of beating a top-10 team. Those other wins, assuming Meier isn't counting the victory at Alaska-Anchorage earlier this season among the standouts, are good road wins for a team with ambitions to win a game in the NCAA tournament, or perhaps reach a Sweet 16. Miami's ambitions deservedly seem slightly grander, and in that context, the lack of notable road victories against top-tier teams was glaring.

Stefanie Yderstrom hit eight of 15 shots from the field and all eight of her free throws for a career-high 26 points.

That this one came in a game in which Miami had to play from behind only makes it that much more impressive in the long run, even if it wasn't always an impressive showing from either team in the moment.

"It's really important for us, [to] keep our confidence up," Yderstrom said of the win. "We're competitors, and we want to win every single game we play, and ACC is tough every single game, especially on the road. So we're just really happy and proud of our effort."

Miami has its deficiencies without Stroman inside, and on a different day, one in which the Terrapins didn't miss quite so many layups or free throws, even Yderstrom's effort might not have saved the visitors. But even a team with as limited a recent history of postseason success as Miami knows that come March, all that matters is winning the game on that day. And on that count, even Meier was in agreement.

"This is Miami-Maryland, and it's a great game every time it happens -- I mean, earlier in my career, not so much, but ever since [Shenise Johnson] came on board, they've been great basketball games," Meier said. "Both Brenda and I want players to make plays. We give them a lot of space, we give them a lot of freedom. We trust their instincts, and it's usually a pretty awesome basketball game, and I just thought this was round three, round four, round five [of] Miami-Maryland."

As Johnson added with regard to her teammate, it might come as a surprise to those on the outside that Miami has three star guards, but it isn't news to the Hurricanes. They know exactly what they have in Yderstrom.

"She's just an awesome person, an awesome kid to coach, and we just love her," Meier said. "I'm glad she had a game like that tonight."

Defense keys another home victory for Miami Hurricanes

By Michelle Kaufman

mkaufman@MiamiHerald.com

CARL JUSTE / MIAMI HERALD STAFF

UNC's Danielle Butts, left, looks down court as teammate Brittany Rountree gives chase as UM's Riquna Williams dribbles down court in the first half at BankUnited Center in Coral Gables, Florida on Wednesday, February 8, 2012.

That lone "L" looked mighty ugly sitting atop the string of nine consecutive Atlantic Coast Conference "Ws," so the sixth-ranked University of Miami women's basketball team showed up at BankUnited Center Wednesday night with extra fire and a deep bag of defensive tricks.

The Canes scrapped, clawed, stole the ball 22 times, and avenged the conference-opening loss to No. 22 North Carolina with a 61-37 rout that left longtime Tar Heels coach Sylvia Hatchell shaking her head.

It was the school's lowest-ever point total in an ACC game and second-lowest ever. North Carolina committed a season-high 35 turnovers, and UM took advantage, scoring 39 points off those miscues.

"When you score that many points off turnovers, you don't have to do a whole lot of anything else," Hatchell said.

"It came down to guard play. Theirs were extremely physical and did an excellent job," Hatchell said.

UM improved to 21-3 overall and 10-1 in the ACC. It was the Canes' 38th consecutive win at BankUnited Center, the nation's third-longest home win streak.

"We enjoyed the scrum, the physicality," said UM coach Katie Meier. "I'm really happy we don't have to be scoring 85 points to win basketball games. We got a little frustrated offensively, but we didn't lose our composure."

Meier said the team was motivated by the loss at North Carolina on Jan. 2, and the loss to the Tar Heels in last year's ACC tournament.

"The last two times we played them, we lost, and didn't play particularly well," Meier said. "We usually have one tank of fuel. I told them you've got two tanks tonight. When you think the one's about to run out, flip the switch and go to your second tank, that's the other game they beat us and use that as your fuel.”

The way the Canes were grabbing for the ball late in the game, it was clear they had extra fuel in reserve.

Guard Riquna Williams was back in the starting lineup after missing the end of the Clemson game following a hard fall that left her with a sore neck. She showed no signs of injury, nailing three three-pointers in the first eight minutes to help the Hurricanes to a 17-4 lead. She had extra incentive to play well because her grandmother, who had been ill, made the trip from Pahokee. Williams gave her “Granny” 17 points and five steals to cheer about.

Shenise Johnson led UM with 19 points. Stefanie Yderstrom had a career-high seven steals to go with 10 points.

“We didn’t play Miami basketball the last time, so it felt good to win that way,” Johnson said.

The Tar Heels missed 12 of their first 13 shots, and shot 5-of-28 for 15 points in the second half. Miami held Carolina’s 6-5 senior center Chay Shegog to six points on just six attempts. Shegog had been averaging 16.8 points and 13 attempts per game.

“We have so many different defenses that I can tell which ones the other team’s been preparing for,” Meier said. “So we’ll go through our bag of tricks, see how they’re beating the one, and throw one out they haven’t prepared for yet. ... Our team did a lot of film study for this game on our schemes and traps, and it showed.”

UM travels to No. 8 Maryland on Sunday.

Stefanie Yderstrom fits in with Miami Hurricanes

By Michelle Kaufman

mkaufman@MiamiHerald.com

CHARLES TRAINOR JR / MIAMI HERALD STAFF

University of Miami's Stefanie Yderstrom is held by Texas Pan-American's Bianca Torre in the womens' season opener at the BankUnited Center in Coral Gables on November 11, 2011.

Katie Meier will never forget the day she first saw Stefanie Yderstrom in person. It was three years ago, and she had just flown 5,000 miles across the Atlantic Ocean from Miami to Ostertalje, Sweden, to see the promising high school guard. Meier, the University of Miami women's basketball coach, was standing on a balcony above the court when Yderstrom's team jogged out.

One problem: The players were wearing warm-up jerseys so you couldn't see their numbers. And many of them looked alike.

"A bunch of 5-7 blondes come running through there with no numbers, and I saw this little feisty kid running out, and I said to myself, 'Gosh, I hope that's Stefanie,'" said Meier, whose sixth-ranked Hurricanes (20-3, 9-1 Atlantic Coast Conference) play No. 23 North Carolina at BankUnited Center on Wednesday night. "She was passing, demanding things, really vocal, and I was like, 'Please when you take your warm-up off, please be No. 8.' I knew it was between us and Duke at that time, and she was really gritty."

Meier is sold

Yderstrom didn't shoot well that afternoon, but she took five charges, ran the floor intelligently and Meier was sold.

It is no accident that Yderstrom, a 5-8 junior, is athletic. Her father, Dick Yderstrom, was a famous hockey player in the 1970s and 1980s. Her mother, Charlotta, was a soccer player. And her stepfather, Jan Enjebo, who raised her since she was 8, is a professional basketball coach in Luxembourg.

She also comes from a town known for its rich sports history. Among its famous natives: tennis legend Bjorn Borg. Yderstrom became interested in UM because of Sandra Jansson, a former Hurricanes basketball player from her hometown. Once Yderstrom met Meier, her decision was made.

"She is so passionate about the game, and so approachable," Yderstrom said. "I found her easy to talk to, very strong and inspirational.”

The Hurricanes were coming off a 13-17 season and ended the year with six consecutive losses. Meier knew she had a special pair of sophomores-to-be in Shenise Johnson and Riquna Williams, but she thought Yderstrom could provide court vision and leadership.

“At the time, we were really athletic, but not fundamentally sound, and Stef had such a fundamental grasp of passing lanes and angles,” Meier said. “I didn’t have anyone who could keep all that talent together and facilitate. I knew Stef was a deep range shooter and anytime you have slashers like we do, you want have a shooter out there with them.”

In a groove

Yderstrom leads the ACC with 51 three-pointers through 23 games and averages 9.9 points overall. She scored a career-high 22 on 7-of-10 shooting in the win over Virginia Tech, and had 14 against Wake Forest and 15 against Boston College.

She has played on the Swedish national team since age 15, won a silver medal at the 2007 World Championships, and was named last year to the All-ACC Academic team. She was smart enough to know when she got to UM that she’d have to toughen up.

“I was so worried because I thought all the girls here are like super women, so athletic, and when they first saw me, they probably wondered, ‘Is this blonde girl going to be good?’ but I don’t take crap from anybody,” she said. “I was in good shape, played hard, took charges, and they accepted me right away.”

Yderstrom’s roommate is Swedish swimmer Sofia Johansson, but her team roommate on the road is Michelle Woods, who says the Swede is beloved in the locker room. “She is super outgoing, great heart, such a good teammate,” Woods said. “And she listens to Lion King in Swedish, which is really cool.”

UM women's victory comes at painful expense

By Bill Van Smith

Rhona Wise / AP

Miami's Jessica Capers, right defends Clemson's Shaniqua Pauldo during the second half of an NCAA college basketball game Sunday, Feb. 5, 2012, in Coral Gables, Fla. Miami defeated Clemson 68-47.

The seventh-ranked University of Miami's women's basketball team won a game Sunday, but it was not without some pain — particularly for star guard Riquana Williams.

With 14:53 left in the second half of UM's 68-47 victory over Clemson at the BankUnited Center, Williams collided with teammate Michelle Woods and both went to the court hard and remained down sprawled on their backs.

Woods got up relatively quickly but Williams remained prone for almost three minutes while being attended to by a doctor.

When Williams finally was helped to her feet she made her way ever-so-slowly and unsteadily off the court with support from others, and then immediately went into the locker room for more treatment and observation of a head and neck injury.

"We had three doctors in the training room just now, so we'll know more," Canes coach Katie Meier said. "But they're concerned, so we'll see. We're just waiting to hear. They are taking some precautionary looks at her — that's anytime it's a head and neck."

Until the injury, it should have been a night for Williams who has averaged 15.6 points this season — to celebrate. With 11:11 left in the first half, Williams hit a three-pointer to become only the fifth player in UM history to score 2,000 or more points. She finished Sunday's game with 15 points before exiting with the injury.

UM said Williams was walking around following the game, but would not say whether she would be taken to a hospital for further observation and possible tests.

UM (20-3, 9-1 in the Atlantic Coast Conference) had a comfortable margin throughout against Clemson (6-15, 2-8) and was led by Shenise Johnson, who had 19 points and 15 rebounds before 1,620 fans.

"I think one of my favorite things about Shenise Johnson is she had 19 and 15 and she mentions she missed a couple of layups," Meier said. "It's so fun coaching her with how competitive she is and how she challenges herself.

"The one consistent thing about us, and will continue to be, is Shenise Johnson."

Johnson was asked how she, as a 5-11 guard, can manage to pull down a team-leading 15 rebounds.

"I enjoy rebounding," she said with a laugh, holding her arms up and flexing. "I try to watch the flight of the ball and look at where it's going before I go running to get it. I want the ball, and whoever wants it will get it."

Miami did not play at its best, but Meier summed up, "A 21-point victory against an ACC team — I'll take it."

Next up for Miami, which has won 37 home games in a row, is a key conference game against North Carolina at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the BankUnited Center.

The No. 23 Tar Heels (17-5, 7-2), who beat the Canes 65-63 earlier in the season, have won five in a row.

"We'll be prepared no matter what," Johnson promised.

Miami Hurricanes use grit to prevail over Wake Forest

By Michelle Kaufman

mkaufman@MiamiHerald.com

CARL JUSTE / MIAMI HERALD STAFF

UM's Michelle Woods, left, tries to keep possession of the ball under the defense of Wake Forest's Brooke Thomas. UM women's basketball team played against Wake Forest in first half action inside the BankUnited Center at the University of Miami campus in Coral Gables, Florida on Thursday, January 26, 2012.

The 10th-ranked University of Miami women's basketball team won its 36th home game in a row Thursday night at BankUnited Center, and though the 64-39 win over Wake Forest wasn't as thrilling or pleasing to the eye as some of the Hurricanes' other victories during the streak, coach Katie Meier took great pride in her team's grit and defense.

The Canes held the Demon Deacons to 25 percent shooting (15 of 60), outrebounded them 50-40, and no Wake Forest player scored in double digits.

"It was an ugly win for us, and that's a compliment to Wake Forest and what they do," Meier said. "It was really kind of disjointed and gritty and grimy and scrummy, and that's how you have to play them."

Wake Forest coach Mike Petersen said simply, "Miami's a lot better than us." He went on to praise UM's athleticism and coaching.

"They have really good players, Katie's a really good coach, and they play really hard," Petersen said. "Basketball's not a hard game. It's not rocket science. It's five people running around in short pants. You're on the road against the eighth-ranked [in the ESPN poll] team in the country, you shoot 25 percent, guess what? You're not gonna win."

Hurricanes senior guard Riquna "Bay-Bay" Williams did not start for the second game in a row. She has been dealing with an ill family member and has been distracted. Krystal Saunders started in her place, scored the first basket and scored again four minutes later to give UM an early 8-7 lead.

Then Williams came off the bench at 14:52 and showed almost immediately why she is one of the most feared players in the ACC. She grabbed a defensive rebound, raced up the court and hit the Canes' first three-pointer of the night. Two minutes later, she dribbled through traffic and scored on a driving layup to put UM ahead 13-9. By halftime, she led the Canes with nine points, and she finished tied with Stefanie Yderstrom with a team-high 14 points.

Yderstrom was coming off a career-best, 22-point night against Virginia Tech, and she was a key player again Thursday. She made three from beyond the arc, had six rebounds, four assists and an uncharacteristically high three blocks. UM improved to 18-3 overall and 7-1 in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Wake Forest fell to 12-8 and 2-5 in the ACC.

UM All-America candidate Shenise Johnson was held to five first-half points, but she gave the Demon Deacons fits inside with 10 rebounds and three blocks before halftime. She wound up with 10 points, 12 rebounds, seven assists, four blocks and two steals.

“My shot wasn’t falling. I was like 0 for 4 at the start, so I said, ‘OK, let me do something else, distribute the ball and rebound,’” Johnson said. “It was grimy out there, felt like an ACC tourney game, with them riding us with their bodies straight up. We’re not used to that. They messed up our timing on offense.”

Meier noticed Johnson’s effort.

“Seemed like she had 10 rebounds by the first media [timeout],” Meier said. “I kind of yelled at the team, ‘Does anyone else but Mo want to rebound? At halftime she had 10, and no one else had more than three.’”

Two busloads of children from the Miami-Dade Police Athletic League injected the 1,648 fans with energy, and for the 36th time in a row, they went home happy.

Wake Forest center Sandra Garcia, a Miami native who went to Plantation American Heritage, had two points and six rebounds. Secily Ray led the Demon Deacons with nine points.

Role players step up to carry Miami Hurricanes over Virginia Tech

By Michelle Kaufman

mkaufman@MiamiHerald.com

Wilfredo Lee / AP

It came as little surprise that the 10th-ranked University of Miami women's basketball team was well on its way to a 79-48 victory over Virginia Tech within the first 10 minutes Monday night. The more significant news was that two Hurricane starters — guard Riquna “Bay Bay” Williams and forward Morgan Stroman — were on the bench.

Miami had gone 52 consecutive games with the same starting lineup, so the absences were glaring.

Williams is dealing with a family issue, missed practice time and has been distracted. She finally entered the game with 10:57 to go in the first half, but wound up playing only 10 minutes. She went 0 for 2 with four points from the free-throw line and had no assists or steals.

It was her lowest output of the season, coming off her second-worst game, a 2-of-11 night for six points at Virginia. Williams averages 16.2 points per game and scored 36 against then-No. 11 Rutgers and 34 against then-No. 5 Maryland.

Stroman, a junior guard, was in street clothes with a cast on her left leg. She tore her Achilles tendon in the final minutes of the Hurricanes' win at Virginia last week, will undergo surgery Tuesday and miss the rest of the season.

She was one of three Hurricanes averaging double figures with 12.9 points per game and was second on the team with 6.5 rebounds per game.

“We had a tough week, with losing Morgan and Riquna had some family issues that kept her away from practice and we're making adjustments,” coach Katie Meier said. “I couldn't be more proud of how much composure we played with. It was like, OK, just change two starters and click. That's such credit to these two upper classmen [pointing to guards Stefanie Yderstrom and Shenise Johnson].”

Yderstrom led the Canes with a career-high 22 points in 19 minutes on 7-of-10 shooting. She was left alone outside and took advantage with four three-pointers.

“I’m just happy with how we won, as a team,” Yderstrom said.

Johnson kicked in 18 points on 7-of-12 shooting and had six steals and four assists.

“You’ve got the most versatile player in the country here in Shenise, and then you have this unbelievable Steady Eddie in Stef, and we can solve a lot of problems together,” Meier said. “They changed their roles, accepted it, and said, ‘OK, what’s next?’ That’s really special.”

The Hurricanes (17-3, 6-1 Atlantic Coast Conference) also got a big boost — literally — from 6-6 center Shawnice Wilson, starting her first game of the season. She had 12 points and five rebounds. Wilson will be counted on more in the absence of Stroman, one of UM’s most active players in the paint.

UM’s defense was relentless, forcing 22 turnovers and limiting the Hokies to 27 percent shooting and 11 percent from beyond the arc.

“It was strange, and we definitely miss Stro, but she’s not gone, she’s still there in our ear,” Johnson said of Stroman. “With Bay, we miss the energy, the electric threes, the amazing shots. I missed her as a friend. She’s been alongside me the last four years, but we got the W, and she’ll be back.”

Meier added: “Everyone just has to give a little more each, one more tip, one more rebound and we can handle it.”

Monet Tellier led the Hokies (6-14, 2-5) with 18 points and Aerial Wilson added 15.

The Hurricanes are back home Thursday night against Wake Forest.

No. 13 Miami women survives Florida St rally

BRENT KALLESTAD, Associated Press

Updated 06:02 p.m., Sunday, January 15, 2012

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — It came down to the final seconds before 13th-ranked Miami finally ended a 25-year jinx in Tallahassee.

The Hurricanes watched a 19-point lead disappear before escaping with a 60-57 win Sunday at Florida State on Stefanie Yderstrom's 3-pointer from deep in the corner with 17 seconds remaining.

"A lot of demons ... were still on our back a little, bit but she exorcised the demons with that big shot," said Miami coach Katie Meier, who was a freshman at Duke when the Hurricanes last won here on Jan. 29, 1987. "They make it very, very hard to get a bucket. That shot by Stefanie was big."

Miami (15-3, 4-1 Atlantic Coast Conference) led 41-22 a minute into the second half, but Florida State fought back to tie the game at 57 when Cierra Bravard made the second of two tries at the free throw line with 37 seconds left.

Shenise Johnson led Miami with 24 points and became just the fourth player in Miami history to reach 2,000 career points. Morgan Stroman and Riquna Williams added 11 points for the Hurricanes. Yderstrom finished with 9, all on treys.

Yderstrom and Williams — the ACC's top two 3-point shooters — each made three 3-point shots for Miami, which hit 8 of 22 of its long distance tries compared to Florida State's 1 of 5 from behind the arc. The two Hurricanes guards have each made 38 field goals from long range this season.

Sophomore forward Natasha Howard led Florida State (10-9, 2-3) with 22 points and a career-high 17 rebounds, getting 14 points and 10 rebounds in the second half to spark the Seminoles' late rally.

"Seventeen rebounds hasn't been had against a top-25 team here in years," Florida State coach Sue Semrau said.

In fact, it was just the third time since 1993 that it had happened.

"We didn't give up at all," the 6-foot-3 Howard said. "That's the best thing that ever happened. We didn't give up at the end."

Miami was able to hold on for the win despite shooting 36.5 percent compared to Florida State's 43.1 percent, and the Seminoles won the rebound battle 39-32 led by Howard's dominating presence.

Chasity Clayton added 12 points and Bravard 10 for Florida State, which was hurt by 22 turnovers.

Johnson scored 15 points in the first half and keyed a 23-6 run that propelled the Hurricanes into the locker room with a 35-20 lead.

"Shenise did a great job of setting the tone very early for us," said Meier said, adding, "Two thousand points ... that's an amazing accomplishment."

Semrau, however, was frustrated with her team's start.

"I hope that after this, we play more grown up in the first half," she said..

A pair of Howard layups sparked an early 8-0 Florida State burst that gave the Seminoles a quick-lived 10-7 lead, but disappeared quickly in the wake of the Hurricanes' 23-6 run capped by a Johnson layup for a 30-16 lead with 4:44 left in the half.

The Seminoles' women weren't able to pull off a second home-floor upset in as many days. Florida State's unranked men's team clobbered No. 3 North Carolina 90-57 just 24 hours earlier.

Semrau's team visits Boston College on Thursday, while Miami is at Virginia that night.

University of Miami duo projected in WNBA 1st round

By Walter Villa
Miami Herald Writer

CHARLES TRAINOR JR / MIAMI HERALD STAFF

University of Miami's Shenise Johnson shoots over the University of Maryland's Tianna Hawkins in the first half at the Bank United Center at the University of Miami in Coral Gables, Florida, January 12, 2012.

ESPN college basketball analyst Debbie Antonelli predicted earlier this week that the Miami Hurricanes will have two first-round picks in April's WNBA Draft.

In the 15 previous drafts, the Canes have had just three players selected, including only one first-rounder — Tamara James as the eighth pick in 2006. The other draftees were Octavia Blue (No. 15 in 1998) and Tombi Bell (No. 39 in 2001).

Antonelli expects 5-11 senior guard Shenise Johnson to go in the top five to seven picks and said 5-7 senior guard Riquna Williams won't last past No. 10.

"Durability and versatility are the two things that define [Johnson's] game," Antonelli said. "She can stuff the right side of a stat sheet. She's exciting and emotional — in a good way — and when the Canes need a play, they put it in her hands."

Antonelli said Johnson can defend the three perimeter positions and would be a great fit for a team looking for a multi-dimensional guard.

Antonelli also raves about Williams and her explosiveness, which she displayed last year when she jumped over a James Madison player.

"The Indiana Fever have the 11th pick in the draft," said Antonelli, the Fever's TV analyst for the past decade, "and I don't think Riquna will be there when it's our turn."

Antonelli said Williams has great separation skills.

"She can get her shot off on anybody," she said. "She can beat you with a change of pace, she has range, she's quick with the ball and she can handle."

Besides Johnson and Williams, the only other guard regarded as a consensus top-10 pick is Tiffany Hayes of Connecticut.

Antonelli said there is very little to nit-pick about UM's duo. She mentioned Johnson's "decision-making at a high rate of speed can be better."

As for Williams, the analyst said she'd like to see her move to the next play quicker instead of letting mistakes bother her and slow her down.

"They're both ready for the next level," Antonelli said. "I'd like to see the Miami team as a whole show its character by beating ranked teams on the road, but Johnson and Williams have the complete skill set."

FIU

The Panthers have actually had more WNBA draft picks than Miami with five. But FIU has not had a player selected since 2002 and has yet to send a first-rounder to the league.

FIU's highest overall selection was Gergana Branzova, who was taken 24th in 1998. Also selected were Albena Branzova (29th, 1998), Andrea Nagy (25th, 1999), Dalma Ivanyi (39th, 1999) and Gergana Slavtcheva (30th, 2002).

It will be interesting to see if 5-7 point guard Jerica Coley gets drafted in a couple of years. If so, the St. Petersburg native would be FIU's first American-born draftee.

Miami Dade College

Kesheria McNeil, a 5-8 point guard from Raleigh, N.C., scored 42 points in one game and 33 in another. She earned Florida Junior College Player of the Week honors.

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP)- Celebrating yet another 3-pointer, Riquna Williams hopped along the sideline, faced the stands and waved to coax more cheers from a crowd eager to witness a milestone win for the Miami Hurricanes.

"I've never done that before," the senior guard said.

It was a night of firsts. Williams scored 34 points and No. 13-ranked Miami defeated a top-five team for the first time ever, rallying past No. 5 Maryland 75-63 Thursday.

Williams tied a career high by sinking eight 3-pointers, the last coming with two minutes left to put Miami ahead by 11 points.

"The difference was we had no answer for Riquna," Maryland coach Brenda Frese said. "She was unstoppable. She was definitely in a zone."

The Hurricanes (14-3 overall, 3-1 Atlantic Coast Conference) won despite missing 21 consecutive shots in the first half, when they went 10 minutes without a basket to squander an early 12-point lead.

Miami extended its home winning streak to 34 games.

"There's something magical that happens at home - we just have these moments," coach Katie Meier said. "The crowd is in a frenzy, and we're an emotional team. The crowd totally helped."

Maryland (16-1, 3-1) was held 21 points below its scoring average of 84.4 points per game, best in the nation.

Miami outscored the Terrapins by 33 points from 3-point range and won even though Shenise Johnson shot 2 for 15 and had just six points, 10 below her average. That ended her streak of scoring in double figures in 87 consecutive games.

Johnson didn't seem to mind.

"We won. Period," the senior said. "I feel like I'm in some way responsible. This is a great win for our program, and I'm happy to be a part of it."

Williams shot 12 for 24, including 8 for 14 from 3-point range. Stefanie Yderstrom went 4-for-7 beyond the arc and scored 12 points. Morgan Stroman added 10 points and eight rebounds for the Hurricanes, who enjoyed an eight-rebound edge despite Maryland's height advantage.

Alyssa Thomas had 18 points for the Terrapins but committed eight turnovers. Laurin Mincy was held to six points, nearly nine below her average.

The Terrapins went 2 for 11 from 3-point range, while Miami shot 13 for 28. The loss was the first for Maryland since it was beaten in the second round of the NCAA tournament last year.

"We remember how it felt last time," Thomas said. "I know we're going to come back strong."

Miami trailed by seven points early in the second half but regained the lead when a 3-pointer by Williams made it 47-46. She sank back-to-back 3-pointers during a 10-0 run that put the Hurricanes up 64-56 with less than four minutes left.

That prompted her celebration along the sideline as she encouraged the fans' cheers.

"I wanted to let them know, 'You guys are helping us,'" she said. "It was a great emotional feeling, like, 'We want to win, and we're going to go get it.'"

Williams scored 15 points in the first 8 1/2 minutes to help the Hurricanes take a 22-10 lead. They then went cold, and a 15-1 run by the Terrapins put them ahead.

Meier described the Hurricanes' offense in the first half as "horrible."

"I said, 'If our offense is the problem, we're fine,'" she said. "We knew we would click at a certain point."

HOME COURT DEFENSE

The 27 points scored by Maryland in the first half against the Canes were the fewest by the Terrapins of any first period this season.

TWICE AS NICE

With her 34-point performance, Riquna Williams now has the two best individual scoring performances of the 2011-12 season. She scored 36 points in a 2OT win against Rutgers on Dec. 5.

TALENT ON THE COURT

Miami's Shenise Johnson and Riquna Williams, along with Maryland's Lynetta Kizer and Alyssa Thomas, make up four of the 30 players named to the 2011-12 John R. Wooden Award Preseason List.

ONE STAYS, ONE GOES

The Hurricanes stretched their win streak at home to 34 consecutive games, the third longest in the nation. Shenise Johnson's nation-leading 87-game streak scoring in double figures came to an end.

UNDER CAREFUL WATCH

Scouts from two WNBA teams, the Connecticut Sun and the Seattle Storm, were on hand to take in the action between Maryland and Miami tonight.

Miami Hurricanes need active Morgan Stroman against Maryland

BY MICHELLE KAUFMAN

mkaufman@MiamiHerald.com

CHARLES TRAINOR JR / Miami Herald Staff

Miami's Morgan Stroman drives for a layup against Wake Forest during an NCAA women's basketball game at the BankUnited center in Coral Gables, Monday, February 21, 2011.

If the goose is loose, the 13th-ranked University of Miami women's basketball team tends to win, says coach Katie Meier.

The goose, for those who aren't privy to the Hurricanes' inside jokes, is junior forward Morgan Stroman, who also goes by "Stro". When she is loose, energetic and crashing the boards for rebounds, the rest of the Hurricanes follow suit. She had 18 points and 10 rebounds — seven of them offensive — in a road win at Georgia Tech last week, a "Herculean effort," in Meier's words.

Energy and rebounding will be critical Thursday night at home against fifth-ranked Maryland (16-0), one of four unbeaten teams.

The Terrapins average 84.4 points per game, which is tied with Notre Dame for best in the NCAA. The Hurricanes rank fourth in that category at 82.4 ppg and lead the nation with 16.1 steals per game, so expect a lot of fast breaks. Maryland will have a height advantage with only one starter under six feet. The Hurricanes start 5-6 Riquna Williams, 5-8 Stefanie Yderstrom, and 5-11 Shenise Johnson.

"They've got a ton of size, so it's going to come down to how do they guard our guards, and can we keep them from pounding us inside," Meier said. "We will need Stro to be loosey-goosey and get our team energized. Whenever I feel we're not playing with enough spark, I look right at Stro and she makes it her business to get everyone going."

Stroman relishes the role. She has been a team leader for as long as she can remember. She made varsity as a seventh-grader in Hopkins, S.C., and by the time she graduated from Lower Richland High, she had won four state titles and been named South Carolina Player of the Year and a McDonald's All-American. Her mother, Debbie, was her high school coach, and Stroman credits her mom for instilling her with passion for the game.

Defensive Miami Hurricanes execute their gameplan, take out Wolfpack

By MANNY NAVARRO

mnavarro@MiamiHerald.com

Create turnovers on defense, and get Shenise Johnson and Riquna Williams to score a whole bunch of points.

That was the formula the University of Miami used on its way to its first Atlantic Coast Conference title. Coach Katie Meier — with a few new parts in her arsenal — isn't tinkering with that. She's just trying to develop other ways for the Hurricanes to win games and become more diverse come March.

And Thursday night, she saw progress as 12th-ranked UM relied on some old-fashioned, half-court offensive execution to hold off N.C. State 78-68 in their ACC home opener at BankUnited Center.

Senior Riquna "Bay Bay" Williams, battling flu-like symptoms, led the way for the Canes (12-3, 1-1 ACC) with 22 points and a pair of clutch, back-to-back three-pointers that provided some cushion after the Wolfpack (10-5, 0-2) trimmed a 20-point deficit to as little as three and then had it 66-61 with 4:38 remaining in the game.

But it was the way her team passed the ball and set itself up for good shots — with center Pepper Wilson getting involved — that made Meier happy.

Sharp Execution

"It wasn't just, 'Hey, we're athletic and we exploded.' Those were well really well-executed possessions of offense," Meier said of her team's late 13-0 run that made it 78-61 with 1:45 to play. "That's probably the first time this year that we went to our [set] offense to rely on getting us the win and came through."

Wilson finished with a season-high 11 rebounds and played with a lot more fire than she did in Chapel Hill, N.C., when she was pulled after just one minute of action by Meier for not showing enough fight for an inbounds pass that was stolen away from her. Wilson also scored seven points and blocked a season-high three shots in Thursday's win.

"I played with a lot more confidence," Wilson said. "When I project confidence and my team sees it we can play confident. I realized with UNC that if I would have played that way I could have made an impact. That hit me hard. I know it's important for me to grow up and mature as a person mentally."

N.C. State (10-5, 0-2) led 23-21 before UM closed the first half on 23-2 run.

'Phenomenal' play

"Thank goodness we played a phenomenal last five and a half of minutes of that first half, which was spirited, ferocious, inspirational basketball. We needed it," Meier said. "We've had quite a history with N.C. State the last couple times we played them so we were not surprised with their comeback. It's the third game in a row we've gotten a lead on them, and then they [fought] back and really cut the lead."

Meier said she was happy with Williams' shot selection Thursday.

Williams, who was 6 of 19 at North Carolina, finished 9 of 17 Thursday. Meier also praised the lift sophomore Krystal Saunders provided off the bench: six points, three rebounds and two steals in 18 minutes.

Mixing it up

"They only gave her credit for one offensive rebound, but I think she generated five fouls scrumming in there for us in huge moments when we were really on the ropes, and then hit a very composed little runner that was huge — a pressure-release jumper," Meier said. "We've got a lot to work on — and that's OK. We're going to get exposed a lot each game we play and we're going to learn from that."

"We're just going to keep putting together this season because we want to be exposed now and be good in late February and March. So, we were lucky to get some lessons and a win."

Hurricanes cruise past VCU, await much bigger tests

BY WALTER VILLA
Miami Herald Writer

Perhaps it's a credit to the recent progress the Miami Hurricanes have made in women's basketball that Thursday night's 91-61 win over unranked Virginia Commonwealth cannot be seen as overly satisfying.

The 12th-ranked Canes (11-2) never trailed as forward Morgan Stroman led the way with 23 points in just 24 minutes.

Coupled with their win over Holy Cross on Wednesday, the Canes won their annual holiday tournament.

But tougher tests await the Canes, starting with Monday's trip to Chapel Hill to play No. 24 North Carolina in an ACC opener.

"It's bunker-down mentality," coach Katie Meier said of the Canes' plans for the next few days, interrupted to some extent by the New Year's holiday.

Stroman, who made 9 of her 12 shots from the field and 5 of 7 from the line, was not the Canes' only star against VCU (8-4).

Canes guard Shenise Johnson was named the tournament's MVP. She had 12 points, 13 rebounds, six assists and six steals against VCU.

For the two games, she had 29 points, 23 rebounds, 13 assists and eight steals, and has now scored in double figures in 84 consecutive games, the longest active run in the nation.

Stroman, with 35 points in two games, and point guard Stefanie Yderstrom, who had 20 of her 37 tournament points against VCU, were the other Canes on the all-tournament team.

As a team, the Canes had 23 steals and outscored VCU in the paint, 50-22.

"I appreciate the term 'easy bucket,'" Meier said, "but there is a lot of work that goes into those plays."

The Canes also extended their school-record home win streak to 32 games. Only Connecticut (91) and Stanford (68) have longer streaks, and Miami is just ahead of Duke (30) and Baylor (29).

The Canes appear to have the talent to make a deep run in the NCAA Tournament.

But to do that, they will have to beat ranked teams away from the BankUnited Center.

So far this season, that has been a problem for the Canes, who are 1-2 against ranked teams, with both losses (Tennessee and Georgetown) coming on the road and by a combined total of 41 points. Miami's one win over a ranked team (Rutgers) came in overtime.

"We thank the people who taught us those lessons," Meier said, referring to the losses. "When someone beats us at anything, if it's our fault, we're going to fix it."

The Canes will get a chance to make those corrections Monday at UNC.

Miami women rout Holy Cross 84-49

Hurricanes bounce back from 25-point loss after watching inspiring video montage

5:41 PM EST, December 29, 2011

CORAL GABLES — When the 12th-ranked Miami women's basketball team gathered the day after Christmas for the first time since its jarring 25-point loss at Georgetown five days earlier, coach Katie Meier showed her players a 25-minute video montage. advertisement

It included a clip of former Hurricanes linebacker Ray Lewis. Meier also spliced in images from the team's game against Georgetown she felt showed lack of toughness, as well as clips of her team grinding away in the weight room and training on the track.

"It was stone quiet" while players watched, Meier said.

And on Wednesday night, the players who looked like "zombies" against Georgetown returned to being their old passionate selves.

The Hurricanes, who dropped five spots in the Associated Press poll, routed Holy Cross 89-49 Wednesday at BankUnited Center in the UM Holiday Tournament.

"It definitely instilled a little more passion inside of us," Johnson said of watching Meier's video montage.

"Nobody giggled. Nobody smiled. Nobody smirked. It really hurt us to see us putting in all that work and then go out on the court and not show who we are. The Ray Lewis film ... all we kept saying in practice and before the game was, 'Effort, effort.' We were quoting some of the lines."

Miami (10-2) will play Virginia Commonwealth (8-3) in the final Thursday at 7 p.m. VCU beat Morgan State 73-52 in the first semifinal Wednesday.

"Obviously my team answered the call," Meier said. "We didn't have a great time away from each other after that horrible performance up in D.C."

"We're fixers. You'll notice the record here lately — we don't lose two in a row. But we usually can fix it right away. And to have to sit on that for seven days and not be able to fix that right away was frustrating for us."

The Hurricanes put themselves firmly back together against Holy Cross. Riquna Williams led four scorers in double figures — all of whom played no more than 22 minutes — with 18 points.

Fellow guards Stefanie Yderstrom and Johnson had 17 points and forward Morgan Stroman had 12 points, including the team's first six. Johnson also posted 10 rebounds and seven assists, with just one turnover.

Williams scored 15 of her points in the first half, draining a 3-pointer in the final minute that gave the 'Canes a 47-22 lead heading into halftime. That basket topped the Hurricanes' point total from their previous game — the stunning 71-46 loss at then-No. 17 Georgetown on Dec. 21.

The Hurricanes took a while to shake off the Crusaders (6-6) on Wednesday.

They led just 18-16 before Johnson's layup with 10:52 left in the first half. Johnson then made another layup and a free throw for a three-point play to ignite a 22-3 run that included eight points from guard Yderstrom and seven apiece from Johnson and Williams.

The Hurricanes ambushed the Crusaders to start the second half. A 20-6 run coming out of the locker room boosted their lead to 67-28 with 13:58 left, and the lead eventually ballooned to as many as 44 points, 79-35, on Yderstrom's 3-pointer with 8:42 left.

"I feel like we're back," Yderstrom said. "That's the good thing about basketball. When you fall down like we did, you can rise up and be better. I think we showed that tonight."

Miami Hurricanes women bounce back from blowout

By Michelle Kaufman

mkaufman@MiamiHerald.com

It was 18 degrees in Worcester, Mass., on Wednesday night, and most residents of that city would be delighted to be traveling in relatively-balmy South Florida. But the Holy Cross women's basketball team was here to play the 12th-ranked University of Miami, and freezing temperatures might have been more pleasant than what they encountered.

The Hurricanes were coming off a 25-point loss at Georgetown last week and a fuming coach Katie Meier welcomed the team back from Christmas break on Monday with a grueling practice and a 25-minute motivational video that included clips of Ray Lewis' "Effort" speech to the UM football team and footage of the UM women playing "like zombies," in Meier's words, against the Hoyas.

"They answered the call," Meier said.

Miami shook off the Crusaders early and cruised to an 89-49 victory in the evening game of the UM Women's Basketball Holiday Tournament. The Canes led by 25 late in the first half, went on a 43-10 run, and were never threatened. It was their 31st consecutive win at the BankUnited Center.

Meier said the film room was "stone quiet" during the video.

"After that horrible performance up in D.C., to have to sit on that for seven days and not be able to fix it right away was frustrating," Meier said. "My message was don't say a word. We did a little montage, spliced in Ray Lewis, some of our lack of effort at Georgetown, and clips of when we did bust our tails in the weight room and track. At the end, I said, 'Message heard?' They said, 'Yeah.'

“It’s not the end of the world that we lost that game, but we’re a passionate, emotional team and to see the zombies walking around out there, that had to change. ... All of a sudden one day this unbelievably fun, passionate, energized, wonderful group of young ladies had no passion for the game.”

The Hurricanes (10-2) will play Virginia Commonwealth (8-3) in Thursday’s 7 p.m. championship game. VCU beat Morgan State 73-52 in Wednesday’s early game. The Canes will have to key in on Rams senior forward Courtney Hurt, who scored 32 against Morgan State, and senior guard Andrea Barbour, who scored 23.

Morgan State (2-8) plays Holy Cross (6-6) in the 5 p.m. consolation game.

The Crusaders kept things close early, held UM scoring leader Shenise “Moe” Johnson scoreless for the first nine minutes, and they trailed by just two, 18-16. But then Johnson came to life, scored seven points in a Canes’ 13-0 run, and in the blink of an eye UM led 31-16.

Riquna “Bay Bay” Williams played only 20 minutes and led UM with 18 points on 7-of-12 shooting. Fifteen of those points came before halftime. Stefanie Yderstrom tied a career high with five three pointers and finished with 17 points. Johnson nearly got a triple-double with 17 points, 10 rebounds, seven assists (and just one turnover) in 22 minutes. Morgan Stroman kicked in 12 points and seven rebounds in 15 minutes.

“The video definitely had an impact on us,” Johnson said. “It really hurt us to see those clips. [Wednesday] we showed that passion and were high-fiving again.”

University of Miami basketball player Pepper Wilson feels at home

By Lee Castro and Nicole Fernandez

Nicole Fernandez / South Florida News Service

Shawnice "Pepper" Wilson on the court for the UM Hurricanes.

University of Miami women's basketball player Shawnice "Pepper" Wilson did not plan on playing basketball when she was younger. Now 6 feet 6 inches tall, she is taking the Hurricanes to the next level as one of the new players of the season.

"I actually wanted to be a cheerleader, and that didn't work out," said Wilson, 21. "I looked like I was supposed to be a part of the sport I was cheering for."

Wilson remembers trying out for her middle-school basketball team in seventh grade and only scoring 11 points the whole season. But by the next year, she scored about 25 points the first game. By high school, Wilson — who attended Westinghouse High School in Pittsburgh — scored 1,540 points and ranked 23 out of the top 50 seniors in the 2008 High School Slam Magazine, a basketball publication.

She was recruited in high school by the University of Miami, but chose the University of Pittsburgh since it was close to home.

Wilson originally played center for the Pitt and averaged 6.9 points and 5.3 rebounds.

Then, after her sophomore year, she transferred to Miami. "When Pitt wasn't it for me, and I didn't see myself succeeding to the best of my ability, I was like, Miami."

Katie Meier, her coach at UM, as well as players and fans, say her decision brought Miami an advantage the team never had before.

"She stabilizes us offensively," said Meier. "She's a real nice anchor for us."

Miami guard Shenise Johnson agrees.

"We don't have to dribble drive all the time," Johnson said. "We can slow it down. We can play a little bit of half court and throw it to her and still be efficient.”

Wilson’s decision to come to Miami meant a year off the courts because of NCAA rules concerning student athletes transferring schools. Though frustrating, she said it was worth the wait. “I was able to cater to my knee and rehab it more,” said Wilson. “I was able to become healthier. I lost a lot of weight coming into this program. I think it was the best thing, having the year off.”

Wilson also said she got a chance to get a feel for the team and how Meier coaches.

“I feel she’s real about what she says and she has so much passion,” Wilson said. “I feel that I can learn from her because one day I would like to become a coach.”

Throughout her basketball career, Wilson has kept her nickname and jersey number.

After Wilson was born, her grandmother started calling her “Pepper.”

Wilson was never told the reason for her nickname because she was only 4 when her grandmother died. But she continues to use the nickname in honor of her grandmother.

“In remembrance of her, I kind of carried the name on, so when they say, ‘would you rather be called Shawnice?’ I’ll be like, ‘Call me Pepper.’” Wilson’s number 40 is another constant in her life. She has a tattoo on the top of her left shoulder with the number, which doesn’t have a story behind like her nickname but has a special meaning for her. “I just started my career with it, and I’m going to end with it,” said Wilson, who is enjoying her life in Miami. “I love the fact that I can go to the beach in November,” she said. And her Miami fans love her back.

“With Pepper, they’ve never had a player like that,” said Hope Kaiser, a fan. “It changes the game.”

Wilson, who is majoring in criminology with a psychology minor has two years left at the UM. During her time at the school she wants to take her team to a national championship.

“I just hope to become the best player and lead my team to a national championship,” Wilson said. “That’s the ultimate goal. I feel if you’re not in it to get something out of in the future, you’re wasting your time.”

Big run sparks UM women's demolition of Louisiana-Monroe

By Michelle Kaufman

mkaufman@MiamiHerald.com

Sebastian the Ibis was in the holiday spirit Friday night, dressed in a Santa Claus suit. Jingle Bell Rock played over the loudspeakers at the BankUnited Center.

But the seventh-ranked University of Miami women's basketball team was not in a giving mood. The Hurricanes trounced Louisiana-Monroe 103-39 in a game that was lopsided from start to finish.

The Hurricanes opened with a 22-0 run and closed with a 16-0 run to win their 30th consecutive home game (third-longest streak in the nation). They improved to 9-1 and left Warhawks coach Mona Martin shaking her head and gushing about her opponent.

"Last year we played Texas A&M, and they end up winning the thing [NCAA title], and I think this UM team could be a big contender for the national championship if they stay healthy," Martin said. "They have so much depth, play so hard. They're going to be way up there this year. I've watched a lot of film, lot of ballgames, and they run the floor better than any team I've watched from point guard to post. Their transition offense is unbelievable. I can't say we've ever played a team that runs the floor that well, and I've been in this business 36 years. There is a lot of desire and fight in those kids."

How dominant were the Canes?

UM led 22-0 in the first 4:20 before the Warhawks scored their first basket. Jennifer Capers' jumper at 9:17 gave the Canes their first 30-point lead, 33-2. By halftime, they led 55-19. They took a 40-point lead, 64-24, on a Shenise Johnson put-back with 16:10 left in the game and a 50-point lead, 79-28, six minutes later on a Riquna Williams layup. Krystal Saunders made it a 60-point gap with the 100th UM point in the closing minutes.

The Hurricanes made 12 of their first 16 shots (75 percent) while the Warhawks missed 12 of their first 13. The South Dade High band played the Na-Na-Na-Na-Goodbye song when UM went up 7-0.

Johnson had scored 10 points at the three-minute mark, extending her nation-leading streak to 81 games in double digits. By the middle of the first half, she was resting on the bench while UM coach Katie Meier got a look at her reserves.

The bench, nicknamed "The Second Wave" and "The Reinforcers," wound up playing more combined minutes than the starters. Meier pulled her starters for good with 6:10 to go. Johnson and Williams finished with 16 points apiece, and Morgan Stroman added 14. Krystal Saunders kicked in a career-high 16 off the bench, and Michelle Woods 13.

The Hurricanes head to Washington, D.C., to face Georgetown on Wednesday and are back home Dec. 28-29 for their Holiday Tournament, which includes Holy Cross, Virginia Commonwealth and Morgan State.

Women's basketball locals: Former CSN star Michelle Woods making most of time at Miami

By BARBARA BOXLEITNER

Monday, December 12, 2011

Michelle Woods doesn't get many minutes in University of Miami women's basketball games.

When she does play, though, she makes the most of her time.

The true freshman out of Community School plays behind All-American Shenise Johnson and Riquana Williams, senior guards who were invited to the USA Basketball Women's World University Games Team Trials in May.

Woods usually is the first player off the bench, Miami coach Katie Meier said. Through 10 games (9-1), she has averaged nearly 11 minutes, 3.7 points and 1.6 rebounds.

In 10 minutes during the season opener, she had a season-high seven points and added three steals. She had seven points in 12 minutes against South Florida. She had a season-high six steals along with five points and three assists in 18 minutes against Prairie View A&M.

"It's very hard for freshmen to catch on," Meier said. "She really, really gets it. She is so well-coached."

The two-time Class 2A player of the year came into the program with an advantage because her father, Mitch Woods, coached her during high school. Mitch Woods, who played basketball for Rollins College, has been to all the home games and some of the away ones, she said.

The experience of being part of a program that won two state titles has allowed her "to mentally have the capacity to comprehend multiple offensive systems," Meier said.

Woods reported to Miami in June and started working out and playing pickup with teammates.

"It helped," she said. "I'm just adapting to the quickness and playing against all-around good players everywhere."

Woods hasn't been intimidated by the caliber of players she faces. And because she plays smart, Meier is confident she will make the right choices.

"She takes very good shots. She doesn't make mistakes," the coach said. "She makes great entry passes into the post."

Woods brings energy and aggressiveness to the court, qualities that help keep her in the game. She is fifth on the team in steals.

"I always like to play hard because that's what she's looking for," she said. "I just play good defense."

Miami Hurricanes' 'Pepper Project' makes major progress in win over Ole Miss

BY WALTER VILLA
Miami Herald Writer

Alan Diaz / AP

Miami's Riquana Williams (1) goes to the basket as Mississippi's Danielle McCray (21) defends in the first half of an NCAA college basketball game in Coral Gables, Fla., Saturday, Dec. 10, 2011.

Mississippi coach Renee Ladner was finished with her news conference and walking out the door. But the last question posed to her — about University of Miami center Pepper Wilson — had lingered.

"I'll take her," Ladner said. "Six-six? Oh yeah."

UM coach Katie Meier wasn't offering, however, especially after Wilson scored a season-high 15 points in the Hurricanes' 76-48 victory over visiting Ole Miss on Saturday night.

The Canes, ranked ninth in the nation, improved to 8-1. Ole Miss, which entered on a five-game winning streak, fell to 6-2.

Miami, which has won 29 consecutive home games, will return to the BankUnited Center on Friday for a game against Louisiana-Monroe.

Against Ole Miss, Miami led by as many as 14 points in the first half. The Rebels cut the deficit to 35-33 with 13:42 left in the game, but Miami regained its composure and cruised from there.

The Canes were led by guard Riquana Williams, who had a game-high 17 points. But because Williams came in averaging 17.6 points, her performance was hardly a revelation.

Wilson's effort, meanwhile, was something Meier has been eagerly anticipating, which was made clear soon after the coach walked into her portion of the news conference flanked by Wilson and Williams.

"Pepper gets the big-time media," a delighted Meier joked. "That's what I'm talking about!"

Wilson, a junior who sat out last season after transferring from Pittsburgh, is accustomed to being a starter if not a star.

But with the Canes an established power and returning all five starters, she has made the adjustment to coming off the bench and to Miami's faster style of offense.

"Before coming in Miami, I was used to setting up half-court," Wilson said. "There's a lot of stuff I'm learning, even things I thought I knew.

"I'm trying to be not so robotic in the post. I never knew how important my hips were to my footwork. I'm glad to have coaches who tell me I'm good but that I can be much better."

Wilson said she realizes that not starting is "nothing personal — I'm not mad."

Meier said Wilson is not the only one adjusting. She called it "The Pepper Project," which is, in essence, Miami's guards learning how to get the ball to Wilson after not having played with a true post presence the past several years.

Two other Miami players scored in double figures Saturday — starters Morgan Stroman (14) and Shenise Johnson (11). The Canes held Ole Miss to 35.1 percent shooting, forced 23 turnovers and were plus-eight on the boards.

The Rebels' stars — 5-4 sophomore point guard Valencia McFarland and 6-4 senior center Nikki Byrd — were shut down. The Canes pressed and denied McFarland the ball, holding her to six points, nine below her average.

Byrd, who came in sixth in the nation in rebounds (11.7) and second on the team in scoring (14.6), was held to 10 points and five boards in 18 minutes. The Canes went right at her and got her out of the game with two fouls in the first three minutes of action.

Meier also made sure to praise her bench — including Wilson — for providing "energy" and allowing her starters to come in fresh to finish off a fatigued Rebels team.

"We could think of a thousand reasons why we didn't play very well," Ladner said. "But the truth is Miami is a better team."

Miami Hurricanes' Williams a cerebral star playing at warp speed

By Michelle Kaufman

mkaufman@MiamiHerald.com

CHARLES TRAINOR JR / MIAMI HERALD STAFF

University of Miami's Riquana Williams leaps past Texas Pan-American players in the womens's season opener at the BankUnited Center in Coral Gables, Fl, November 11, 2011.

The average spectator who never has spent time with University of Miami guard Riquana "Bay-Bay" Williams might assume it is pure athleticism that commands her to dribble 100 mph, juke defenders like former NFL star Barry Sanders and then drive for an acrobatic layup or step back for a perfect three-pointer.

No way the electrifying 5-6 senior can possibly make decisions at that speed, right? Those 36 points she chalked up in the double-overtime victory over Rutgers the other night, the steals on the run, the emphatic block ... pure instinct, right? Think again.

"Bay-Bay is one of the most misjudged athletes I have ever coached," said UM coach Katie Meier, whose ninth-ranked team hosts Ole Miss at 7 p.m. Saturday. "She plays so fueled, with so much passion and speed that she sometimes forces shots, and it may seem she's not thinking, but she is. Bay has amazing basketball IQ and doesn't get enough credit for that. She'll come into timeouts with suggestions. She has a strong drive to not only outplay but outsmart her opponents."

In fact, Meier said, Williams has to think more than most because she has so many options at her disposal. Her quick thinking is a big reason UM is 7-1 and on a 28-game home win streak.

"Imagine being blessed with the ability to be successful in 10 different ways, like an artist who could do realism, impressionism, cubism ... and you have one second to decide which way you're going to go," Meier said. "That is Bay-Bay. She's sometimes 10 feet from the basket and in the blink of an eye has to dig through her huge bag of tricks and decide if she's going to drive to the basket, shoot a three, change direction, hesitate, hook shot, post up, pass. She can do it all.

"She's over-talented, and sometimes that can retard player development because there are too many options in front of her. When I was in college, I had one move and one countermove and that was about it. It's harder to have choices."

Since she arrived at UM from the McClure Projects in Pahokee, Williams has reshaped her body and refined her game. She slimmed down from 186 pounds to 150 and shed her "Microwave" nickname.

"They called me that because I'd be super hot for five to 10 minutes, and then the bell would go off and, it's a wrap. I'm done," Williams said.

Last season, she averaged 31.4 minutes per game.

Williams credits guards coach Carolyn Kieger for "nagging and motivating" her to be more than a scorer. Kieger is Marquette's all-time assists leader and has pushed Williams to shoot less and pass more. This season, Kieger is tutoring Williams in the fine art of altering speed.

"Coach Kieger is taking my game to the next level," Williams said. "Start fast, slow down. Start slow, speed up. If the opponent steps up, I hesitate and blow past them."

Last season, Williams led the ACC and ranked 11th in the nation in scoring with 21.7 points per game. She has loftier goals this season after researching the stats of recent All-American players. Most of them didn't lead their conferences in scoring, but were good rebounders, assist leaders and shot 50 percent or better.

She is averaging 17.6 points, 3.5 assists and 2.5 steals, and is determined to be more well-rounded, like her backcourt partner, Shenise Johnson, who is averaging 18.9 points, 8.3 rebounds, 6.0 assists and 4.9 steals.

"Bay is so much fun to coach," Meier said. "She is wise, insightful, funny, an old soul. I have learned so much from her and so has everyone on this team."

Stroman scores 20 to lead No. 9 Miami women in 76-60 win over Michigan State

By Associated Press, Published: December 1

EAST LANSING, Mich. — Morgan Stroman missed a free throw for No. 9 Miami and no one minded.

She hit everything else and scored 20 points on a near-perfect night to lead the No. 9 Hurricanes past Michigan State 76-60 Thursday in the Big Ten/ACC Challenge.

“Morgan is so underrated,” Miami coach Katie Meier said. “Our junior class has some perfect student-athletes. And she can stay in the shadows, then say, ‘I’m a McDonald’s All-American, too.’”

Stroman had 13 points at the break, hitting all four of her shots from the field and all five at the line for the much quicker Hurricanes (6-1). She finished 7-for-7 and 6-for-7, respectively.

“Coach has been telling me we need more energy,” Stroman said. “When I’m hyped, everyone else is hyped, too.”

Shenise Johnson added 13 points and Stefanie Yderstrom had 11 in Miami’s second-closest game this season.

Porsche Poole had 17 points for the foul-plagued Spartans (5-3), who played without starters Lykendra Johnson and Taylor Alton for most of the first half. Michigan State trailed 38-26 at halftime.

“I get frustrated talking to Lykendra about that at this stage of her career,” Michigan State coach Suzy Merchant said of the Big Ten’s leading rebounder. “She has to learn not to let her frustrations carry over. But those are our two seniors. They need to play at a higher level.”

Courtney Schiffauer and Jasmine Hines each had nine points for Michigan State, while Becca Mills grabbed nine rebounds, all in the first 20 minutes.

Miami forced the Spartans into 19 turnovers and had 11 steals. That was more than enough when Michigan State shot just 3 for 16 on 3s.

“We absolutely had to turn them over,” Meier said. “That had 36 points in the paint, so what’s our choice?”

The Hurricanes shot 45 percent from the field, 30 percent on 3s (6 for 20) and 75 percent (12 for 16) on free throws. They had 15 assists and just 10 turnovers while running at every opportunity.

“To only have 10 turnovers the way we play was big,” Meier said. “We average 95 possessions a game, so that means we’re keeping 85 of them.”

The Spartans shot 42 percent from the field and 78 percent (7 for 9) at the line, and had a 37-34 edge in rebounds.

Miami point guard Riquana Williams went down with a left knee injury and was helped off the court with 1:16 left before halftime. She returned briefly in the second half and finished with nine points.

The Hurricanes built a 36-20 edge with pressure defense, drives to the basket and a steady procession to the foul line. The Spartans had 13 turnovers in the first 20 minutes, when they were outscored 11-3 at the line.

With Johnson and Alton back in the lineup, Michigan State pulled to 46-36 on an off-balance jumper by Poole and made it an eight-point game on a layup by Alton.

Miami kept the Spartans at bay with five of their six 3-pointers in the second half, two from deep in the right corner and one from up top by Yderstrom.

“I absolutely love this team,” Meier said of a group that lost to Tennessee by 16, then beat Prairie View A&M by 81. “And we had a great experience playing up in Anchorage. If not for that, I think we would’ve lost this game. That was a great lesson for us.”

But Michigan State rallied again behind Schiffauer’s aggression and Hines’ strength inside. Annalise Pickrel’s jumper with 6:14 to go pulled the Spartans to 59-52 with 6:14 left.

“We cut it to seven but just didn’t make a couple of plays when we needed to,” Merchant said. “I liked our fight in the second half and the way we competed. We just couldn’t get over the hump.”

Stroman finally missed a free throw but made her second attempt, then converted a layup on a pass from Shenise Johnson to make it a 10-point game. On the Hurricanes’ next possession, Yderstrom connected again from 21 feet to make it 65-52.

Williams leads No. 9 Miami to Alaska title

By MARK THIESSEN

The Associated Press

Updated: 5:39 p.m. Friday, Nov. 25, 2011

Posted: 10:51 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 24, 2011

Both the Miami and South Florida women's teams had to fly nearly 5,000 miles to meet on the basketball court.

No. 9 Miami won the all-Florida final in the Great Alaska Shootout on Thursday night, downing its in-state rivals 92-72 while light snow fell outside the arena.

"It's kind of ironic," said Miami coach Katie Meier, who didn't know the other teams in the tournament when the school signed the contract.

"I don't think either AD is happy," she joked.

"This is what being an NCAA student-athlete is all about," South Florida coach Jose Fernandez said. "It's about going to play a couple of games and experiencing a beautiful part of the country."

Meier said there's never any guarantees in the Great Alaska Shootout, and noted the host team, Division II Alaska Anchorage, gave the Hurricanes a tough game in the opening round.

But Meier's Hurricanes (4-1) used two strong second-half performances to win both of their games in the Shootout.

In the final against South Florida (4-3), Miami led 44-32 at the break, but blew the game wide open to start the second half.

The Hurricanes went on a 24-7 run during the first 9 minutes to put away the Bulls.

"The biggest growth has been our team's performance in the second half," Meier said.

Meier attributes it to the Hurricanes' strong bench.

"We're not exhausted at halftime," she said.

Riquna Williams scored 17 points to lead Miami, and was voted the player of the game.

Shenise Johnson added 11 points and nine rebounds for the Hurricanes (4-1). She was selected the tournament MVP.

Sylvia Bullock, a Miami forward playing in her hometown of Anchorage, scored 10 points.

"We definitely came out here for reasons, one of those was to bring Sylvia home," Meier said. "We have five opportunities to win championships this year, there's four to go."

Jasmine Wynne led South Florida (4-3) with 21 points. Kaneisha Saunders added 11 points for the Bulls, and Akila McDonald and Andrell Smith had 10 apiece.

South Florida was down 75-46 with 8:30 left, but a scrappy performance by the Bulls made the final score a little more respectable, Fernandez said.

"If a game is out of reach, you need to win a game within a game, and I think we did that," he said. "I was disappointed we gave up as many points as we did. We didn't play defense particularly well here in Alaska."

Central Michigan beat Alaska Anchorage 90-84 in overtime in the third-place game.

UM women's basketball to get big test against Vols

By Michelle Kaufman

Steve Helber / AP

They are ranked No. 7 in the Associated Press poll, mentioned on the cover of Sports Illustrated this week and breezed past their first two opponents by 52 and 46 points.

Tuesday night in Knoxville, Tenn., the University of Miami women's basketball team — and a national TV audience — will find out just how good these Hurricanes really are as they take on third-ranked Tennessee in the State Farm Tipoff Classic.

“This is a huge event for women's basketball, a very big deal,” said UM coach Katie Meier, the co-National Coach of the Year last season. “And with Tennessee as the opponent, it's an even bigger deal. We are in the ACC, have been in NCAA tournament, have played in big games. But to start the season with this celebration of these two programs on national television is really special.”

It is particularly meaningful for Meier because it is her first time coaching against legend Pat Summitt, a longtime mentor who helped Meier land her first head coaching job.

Summitt is in her 38th year at Tennessee and announced in August that she is battling early onset Alzheimer's disease. Her team, determined to win her a ninth national title, has adopted the motto: “Time for 9.”

The game figures to be played at a breakneck pace.

“Tie your shoes tight,” Meier said. “My God, there is a ton of speed on the court when these two teams match up. You know about their defense and rebounding, but they can really score in open court.”

The Vols have four starters back from last season's 34-3 team, including Southeastern Conference preseason Player of the Year Shekinna Stricklen, a 6-2 guard/forward.

Freshman Ariel Massengale won three consecutive state titles at Bolingbrook (Ill.) High and is the point guard Tennessee has been waiting for. In fact, she started the season opener against Pepperdine, becoming just the 14th player in Summitt's tenure to start her first collegiate game.

Summitt said the Hurricanes remind her of her team.

“They're a lot like us,” she said. “This Miami team is very athletic. They have very good team speed and quickness. And they returned everyone back from last year, so I have a lot of respect for them.”

Although Tennessee beat Pepperdine by 32 points in the opener, Summitt and her staff were not satisfied with their defensive effort.

“I think our defense just has to get so much better, especially when a team like Miami comes into town,” associate head coach Holly Warlick said. “You talk about quick, they're quick on quick, and those are the things that we need to get better on — one-on-one defense and taking care of the basketball.”

Said Summitt: “We've got to start out stronger ... put the pedal to the metal and keep it there. We've got a big challenge ahead of us playing Miami on Tuesday night. They looked very polished in their opening game.

“I can tell you, we are going to learn a lot about us in that game. We have to go into the game with great preparation and focus.”

The Hurricanes rely on the backcourt senior duo of Shenise “Moe” Johnson and Riquna “Bay-Bay” Williams, both of whom are on the Wade Trophy watch list. They combined for 41.3 points per game last season. Junior forward Morgan Stroman and guard Stefanie Yderstrom have elevated their games, and Sylvia Bullock will share time with 6-6 Pitt transfer Shawnice “Pepper” Wilson in the paint.

This is the deepest UM team Meier has had since she took the job seven years ago, and she is eager to see how her team matches up against one of the nation's best.

“We're seeking information from this game, information about our team,” she said. “We will find out in November if we're ready for a game like that, and that's when you want to find that out. You don't want to find out in March that you're not prepared for a game of that caliber. This is the time to find out, when you still have time to fix things.”

Miami disappointed in first big test of season, 92-76 loss to No. 3 Tennessee

Beth Rucker

Associated Press

10:29 PM EST, November 15, 2011

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.

In the past, Miami coach Katie Meier would have been thrilled for her Hurricanes to play Tennessee to a tie after the first half. Now she's just disappointed.

advertisement

The seventh-ranked Hurricanes tied the game at 42 points just before halftime only to see the No. 3 Lady Volunteers launch a flurry of scoring to open the first half. Tennessee held off Miami's comeback effort midway through the second half to win 92-76 on Tuesday night in the State Farm Tip-Off Classic.

"We didn't schedule the game to say, 'Oh gosh, what a great opportunity,'" Meier said. "We schedule the game to come in here and play big-time basketball and figure out where we are, and we've got a ways to go."

It was the first big test of the season for two veteran teams, and the matchup lived up to its billing in the first-ever meeting for the programs. It was also a shot for Miami to prove it belongs among the top teams in the nation a year after winning a share of the Atlantic Coast Conference title and reaching the second round of the NCAA tournament.

Though the game pitted preseason all-Americans Shekinna Stricklen and Shenise Johnson against one another, the spotlight was stolen by Spani, and Meighan Simmons, who together hit 7 of 13 from 3-point range.

The game was tied 42-all at halftime before the Lady Vols (2-0) unleashed an 18-4 run to open the second half. Glory Johnson, who struggled in the first half against Miami's inside defense, hit a layup that made it 60-46 with 16:19 to go.

The Lady Vols got sloppy, committing three turnovers that helped the Hurricanes to charge back with nine unanswered points to cut the margin to seven, and with 7:31 to go, Shenise Johnson hit a jumper to cut the Lady Vols' lead to 73-68.

Miami (1-1) would get no closer. Two possessions later, Spani took an inbound pass with 10 seconds on the shot clock and launched a 3-point attempt that hit nothing but net as the buzzer sounded.

"I thought that was the turning point of the game, as we were struggling kind of to get back in it," Meier said.

A couple of minutes later, Spani rebounded a missed 3-pointer by Shenise Johnson and launched the ball across the court to Simmons, who charged to the basket for a fastbreak layup to make it 84-68. The basket capped an 11-0 run that began with Spani's trey and sent the orange-clad crowd into a frenzy.

Simmons scored 18 points off the bench, Glory Johnson finished with 16 points and nine rebounds, Stricklen added 15 and Ariel Massengale had 11 points and nine assists.

"I thought across the board, everybody contributed in certain ways," Tennessee coach Pat Summitt said. "It's just a matter of who's coming in. At any given moment, we've got enough people that somebody's going to step up."

The Tennessee coaches expected a strong rebounding effort by the Lady Vols, so they instead asked the players to focus on not turning the ball over. By halftime, Tennessee had just six turnovers but had 13 fewer rebounds than Miami.

By the end of the game, the Lady Vols had put enough of an effort on the boards to trail the Hurricanes 45-38 in rebounding, and it was Miami which was struggling to hang onto the ball. The Hurricanes turned the ball over 21 times, leading to 23 points for the Lady Vols -- 10 more points than Miami got off giveaways.

Riquna Williams, who led the Atlantic Coast Conference in scoring a season ago, scored 24 points for Miami. Shenise Johnson added 17 and Morgan Stroman scored 11.

The stingy defensive play by both teams forced the ball to the hands of the outside shooters during the first half, leading four lead changes and two ties.

Miami took an early edge after scoring eight unanswered points. Williams and Stefanie Yderstorm each had a 3 while Stroman hit a pair of free throws to take an 8-2 lead, their largest margin of the first half.

A few minutes later, Tennessee went on an 8-0 run of its own, capped by a 3-pointer by Simmons off a dish by Massengale. The basket gave the Lady Vols an 18-16 lead -- their first since the opening basket. They slowly built their margin to 38-31 on a jumper in the paint by Alicia Manning with 4:52 in the first half, but Miami scored the final five points of the half to tie it at the break.

"Our confidence was high," Shenise Johnson said. "(The score) was zero-zero."

The teams launched a flurry of long shots during their streaks, and the Lady Vols hit 7 of 13 and Miami 6 of 14 from behind the arc in the first half. Tennessee finished 11 of 22 from long range, while Miami missed all nine of its second-half 3-point shots.

The Lady Vols have now won 38 straight games at home on the court named for Summitt, dating back to a 62-54 loss to Duke on Feb. 16, 2009. They travel to Virginia on Sunday before hosting No. 1 Baylor at The Summitt on Nov. 27.

Miami Hurricanes-Tennessee battle about to get personal

By Michelle Kaufman

mkaufman@MiamiHerald.com

Head coach Pat Summitt of the Tennessee Lady Volunteers celebrates with the trophy after Tennessee's 59-46 win against the Rutgers Scarlet Knights to win the 2007 NCAA Women's Basketball Championship Game at Quicken Loans Arena on April 3, 2007 in Cleveland, Ohio.

When Katie Meier shakes the hand of Tennessee legend Pat Summitt in Knoxville on Tuesday, she will be thinking about far more than the nationally-televised State Farm Tipoff Classic between the seventh-ranked Hurricanes and third-ranked Vols.

Meier will be thinking back to 2001, when Summitt helped her get her first head coaching job at Charlotte. Meier was a Tulane assistant at the time, and knew Summitt and her staff through recruiting and coaches' gatherings. It turned out that Summitt had been the graduate school roommate of Charlotte athletic director Judy Rose, so when Rose leaned on Summitt for a recommendation for the 49ers' opening, Summitt made a strong push for Meier.

Meier also will extend her hand with compassion, as Summitt faces her public battle with early onset Alzheimer's. The 59-year-old Tennessee coach, in her 38th year at the school, revealed in August that she had been diagnosed with the disease and has vowed to continue coaching and use her platform to raise awareness.

"It's personal," Meier said of coaching against Summitt for the first time. "Pat's done a lot for my career. She had a very large hand in me getting my first head coaching job. She obviously saw something in me. I sat with her the first summer after I got the Charlotte job, and she asked: 'How does it look?' And I said, 'I feel good about it. I think I can do a good job.' She said, 'You better, 'cause I put my name on you.' I'll never forget that. Those steely eyes were there. She meant it. She was serious. And you're not going to let her down. I've felt that connection with her ever since."

Meier said she remembers the day in August when Summitt disclosed her medical condition.

“We were in a staff meeting, and I remember getting a text,” Meier said. “We got very quiet. Very solemn. We were concerned with how she’s feeling. It took watching her statement to deal with it, to see she’s a fighter, she’s prepared for this, under control, doing what she needs to do.

“You think about lifting her up, and it’s like, OK, she lifts you up. She’s going to get everyone through it. The coaching community is very struck by it, and really concerned, and nobody could have handled it as perfectly as she has.”

Staying sharp

In order to keep her cognitive skills sharp, Summitt does 12 brain teasers on her iPad every morning over breakfast. Then, she heads to the office. Although she has given up some of the peripheral parts of her job, she remains fully engaged with the team and practices.

“That’s what I want to talk about — basketball, not dementia,” Summitt said. “I don’t want a pity party, because it is what it is.”

LSU coach Nikki Caldwell, a former Vols player and assistant, said her perception of Summitt hasn’t changed with the news.

“I see her as ‘Coach,’ ” Caldwell said. “I don’t see her any different than that. I see her as somebody who is still hungry as a teacher for the game, someone who still loves the game, someone who is still passionate about preparing her team for greatness. You’re going to literally have to put Coach in a wheelchair and get her out of there. ... Only she’ll know when it’s time.”

Summitt reiterated on a conference call Thursday what she has been saying since August. Her mind is on basketball as much as it can be.

“Things haven’t changed,” Summitt said. “I love being in practice. I love our team. I love motivating every day. This senior group has pulled together. I’m excited about the season.”

Vols a favorite

The Vols will be the sentimental favorite this season, as they try to win a ninth national title for their coach. Meier said although she hopes to beat Summitt on Tuesday, she will root for Tennessee the rest of the season.

Asked what Summitt has meant to the sport, Meier paused and said: “I could spend two hours on that. It’s one thing to be the best at your profession. And she is obviously, obviously the best. When Pat wins, women’s basketball is happy. You know she’s special because when Tennessee wins, you’re happy for them. Even though it’s a sickening amount of time that they win, you say, ‘That’s good for women’s basketball.’”

Summitt’s generosity is what stands out, Meier said.

“Pat and her staff have been so helpful to so many of us,” she said. “They’re cheering for you, supporting you. If you ask, ‘Can I come to a practice and see how you work?’ they let you. They’re all about women’s basketball, especially coach Summitt. I am lucky enough to have had exposure to them and how they operate. I hope everyone in our profession appreciates what that program means to our sport.”

Canes cruise, look to Tennessee matchup

By Bill Van Smith
Miami Herald Writer

CHARLES TRAINOR JR / MIAMI HERALD STAFF

University of Miami's Stephanie Yderstrom breaks away from Texas Pan-American's players in the season opener at BankUnited Center in Coral Gables, November 11, 2011.

Call it a 2-for-1 game. The University of Miami women's basketball team, ranked No. 7 in the nation, pretty much scored two points for every point its opponent, Texas-Pan American, scored en route to a season-opening 83-37 victory Friday at the BankUnited Center on UM's campus.

Cause for celebration? Not really.

A sloppy first half by UM had coach Katie Meier ranting and raving at her players at halftime.

Then, during the scolding, Meier yelled at them, "You're playing as bad as my haircut. I was yelling with everything coming out of my mouth and then that comes out," Meier said. The players' reaction was pure silence.

Finally, Meier told them, "You can laugh — that was funny."

The tension was broken and Miami came back to play a much smoother, efficient second half.

Friday was one of those early season games where your opponent is little-known, outmanned and usually has a hyphen in its name.

Texas-Pan American, even though being scrappy, fit the bill on all accounts. Make no doubt about it, though, there's no hyphen in the name of Miami's next opponent, and instead of being little-known, the next opponent is one of the best-known programs in women's college basketball history — Tennessee. The 6 p.m. game on Tuesday in Knoxville will be nationally televised on ESPN2.

Meier was asked if UM could beat Tennessee if the Canes played like they did Friday.

Meier quickly answered: "No."

Against Pan American's Broncs, Miami had four players in double figures, led by Shenise Johnson with 20 points. Riquna Williams added 16, and Meier said the easy victory over Texas-Pan Am served a valuable purpose.

“It’s just fantastic to have struggled in this sort of game and then have Tennessee looming. I will have their attention in practice.”

Meier also called the early season showdown with Tennessee “perfect.”

“When you coach in this profession, you want an opportunity to be tested,” she said. “To be challenged. I want to be exposed. I’m fine with it. What are we missing here at Miami? We can go into that game and figure out what we have to work on for the rest of the season.”

Miami Hurricanes women get tuneup in exhibition rout over Barry

By Michelle Kaufman
mkaufman@MiamiHerald.com

If Monday night's exhibition is any indication, opponents of the seventh-ranked University of Miami women's basketball team better put in some extra wind sprints. Hurricanes coach Katie Meier emptied her bench early, and UM still ran away (literally) with a 96-44 win over Barry University.

The Hurricanes played fast and furious from the start and raced to a 35-4 lead in the first 11 minutes on 73 percent shooting, while the Buccaneers missed 15 of their first 17 shots — largely because of UM's relentless defense. It was clear early on that it would be a long night for the Division II Bucs.

UM led 51-15 at halftime, and 12 of the 13 women on the roster had scored by that point. The Canes shot 67.9 percent from the field in the first half and an eye-popping 75 percent from three-point range (6 of 9). The Buccaneers shot 15.6 percent from the field.

"It was our first time out, we were working a bunch of players, and you don't often see those great offensive percentages in that situation," Meier said. "It's a real testament to how focused this team is and how much they care about each other. They're raising the bar."

Asked what the game revealed about the Hurricanes, senior guard Riquna Williams smiled and said: "It's gonna be a fun season."

Williams and Shenise Johnson, the other half of the Hurricanes' dynamic backcourt duo, combined for 41.3 points per game last season. Monday night, they played 21 minutes apiece and combined for 26 points, 12 assists.

Pepper Wilson, a 6-6 junior transfer from Pitt, made her much-anticipated debut. She finished with 10 points and nine rebounds.

Barry coach Bill Sullivan, who spent 15 years as the Coral Gables High boys' coach, admitted he had reservations about bringing his team to play the reigning Atlantic Coast Conference champs.

"I was debating whether it was a wise choice," he said. "We were intimidated and shell-shocked the first half. Their height, athleticism and experience made it a difficult matchup. But it was good for us. I just hope Coach Meier got something out of the game. I don't know how much we helped them, but I look forward to following them this year. I'm a big Miami fan."

Yvonne Houston, a senior guard from Miami Krop High, scored 12 for Barry. Shanna Suttington led the Bucs with 16.

Miami Hurricanes women among the elite

By Michelle Kaufman

Steve Helber, File / AP Photo

FILE - In this March 22, 2011 file photo, Miami guard Shenise Johnson (42) drives to the basket as Oklahoma guard Jasmine Hartman (45) defends during the first half of the second-round NCAA women's basketball championship game, in Charlottesville, Va. Johnson was selected The Associated Press' AP's preseason All-America team in women's college basketball.

"I'd watch an opponent get a rebound or block, and I'd say, 'That was mine.' I will be the big body inside, and the sky's the limit for this team. I think we're a Final Four team and no one can stop us

Bring on the national rankings. Bring on the preseason awards. Bring on Tennessee and the ESPN cameras.

This is exactly what University of Miami women's basketball coach Katie Meier and her seventh-ranked Hurricanes have been craving, and they feel perfectly comfortable sitting among the nation's elite programs.

Every player is back from last season's 28-5 team, including dynamic senior duo Riquna "Bay-Bay" Williams and Shenise "Moe" Johnson, a preseason All-American and ACC Conference Player of the Year. They combined for 41.3 points per game last season.

As if that weren't enough to excite Meier, 6-6 Pitt transfer Shawnice "Pepper" Wilson, a junior, will provide the one piece that was missing last year — a big, reliable player in the paint.

"We gave up a double-double to a post player off the bench against Oklahoma, Joanna McFarland, in the NCAA second round and that's why we lost," Meier said.

"That would not have happened if Pepper was in the game. She is in all senses of the word an anchor. She has sat out far too long and is very serious and very driven, and on a tremendous mission to prove she came to the right place."

Wilson said it killed her to watch from the bench

but ourselves.”

In addition to Johnson, Williams and Wilson, the Hurricanes will rely on veterans Morgan Stroman, Stefanie Yderstrom and Krystal Saunders, who have been playing “out of their minds” in practice, Meier said. Rangy freshman Suriya McGuire also has impressed, and the coach expects her to be a fan favorite.

Talented roster

Meier, a 2010-11 AP Coach of the Year, said the national exposure and high expectations haven’t changed her approach, except that she has raised the recruiting bar and will have more game-day decisions because she has top talent from the top to bottom of her roster.

“Do I make the right rotations, keep people in their rhythm, does the hot shooter stay in or do I make a mistake and oversub,” Meier said. “Those are the things I’ve got to deal with. Depth creates another set of issues.”

But she relishes the challenge, and so do her players. She said that “extra carrot” of being a Top 10 team motivates them.

“They’re aware of it, and it’s just a responsibility that comes with it,” she said. “We don’t want to show up on any court and lay an egg. Not that we did before, but every time we put a uniform on now, AP is going to be there. I don’t think that’s a negative. We are ready for it.”

“Last year was the hunger year, chip on shoulder and proving yourself, but we’re still hungry because we upped the schedule. We can’t rest because we’ve added another level of challenge.”

The Hurricanes play an exhibition Monday night against Barry University and open the regular season 1 p.m. Friday in a Veteran’s Day matchup against Texas-Pan American. Meier is hoping for a big crowd because school is out and it’s a holiday.

Big game

Then, on Nov. 15, they travel to Tennessee to face the No. 2 Lady Vols in a nationally-televised game sure to get a lot of attention. Legendary coach Pat Summitt is battling early-onset dementia, and determined to continue winning games. Summitt helped Meier land her first head-coaching job at Charlotte, so the game will have personal meaning for her.

Major turnaround

There were times, in her first few years at UM, when Meier wondered whether she would ever reach this point. But the Hurricanes went from worst-to-first in the ACC last year, and Meier was rewarded with a five-year contract extension through 2016.

“I don’t think it’s any shock to say, you gotta have some grit to you to do well at Miami,” Meier said.

“You have to have a really strong sense of self, an absolutely clear vision. And you have to be very bold. When you do all that is required of you and you start feeling momentum turn in your favor, you have complete ownership and that’s how I feel right now.”

Miami picked to win 1st ACC women's hoops title

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)

Times are changing in Atlantic Coast Conference women's basketball; it's out with the old and in with the new.

The favorite to win the ACC championship is Miami, the best preseason projection for the Hurricanes since they joined the league in 2004. The preseason all-league team announced Tuesday includes players from Miami, Maryland and Florida State - but not bluebloods Duke or North Carolina.

"It just shows that this is a great conference, that the sport is always evolving," said Miami guard Shenise Johnson, the league's preseason player of the year.

"It's about time," she added. "You need new faces, new teams, different colleges. You don't want the same people winning all the time, so it's actually good that we have different people around."

The Hurricanes received 30 of a possible 40 first-place votes by the league's panel of school representatives and media members. Two-time reigning ACC tournament champion Duke was picked to finish second and received the other 10 first-place votes.

It's the first time since 1995 - and only the fourth time since the league began preseason balloting in 1991 - that a school other than Duke, North Carolina or Maryland was the preseason pick to win the league. And it represents a remarkable turnaround for a Miami senior class that finished tied for 10th in the ACC when they were both freshmen and sophomores.

"They deserve that spot," North Carolina State coach Kellie Harper said. "As far as preseason polls are concerned, that's probably as accurate as you can get it."

It's certainly hard to argue with the Hurricanes' resume.

Reigning national coach of the year Katie Meier returns all five starters - and, for that matter, the entire team - after Miami went 28-5 last season and shared the ACC regular-season title with Duke before suffering a pair of surprising postseason losses. The Hurricanes were knocked out in the semifinals of the ACC tournament by North Carolina before Oklahoma eliminated them in the second round of the NCAA tournament.

"It's been a climb. It's been really arduous and it's been difficult," Meier said. "It's been stressful and scrappy, and everything that you think it has been. It has not been easy. It's not easy now, either. That same mentality, that same effort, that same scrappiness - if I see any of that missing, we're going to have a problem, but so far, I don't see any of that missing."

Maryland was picked to finish third, followed by Florida State, Georgia Tech, North Carolina, N.C. State, Virginia, Boston College, Wake Forest, Clemson and Virginia Tech.

Johnson, the reigning ACC player of the year after averaging 19.6 points last season, could become the 12th three-time all-ACC first-team selection and first since 2008. She was joined on the preseason all-conference team by teammate Riquana Williams. They were joined by Maryland's Lynetta Kizer and Alyssa Thomas, and Florida State's Cierra Bravard.

"I think it kind of shows that anything is possible. I think where we are ... that's OK," Bravard said. "It just shows how tough and how competitive it's going to be this year."

The preseason projections aren't only about who's returning - but who's not around anymore at the league's traditional powers.

Duke lost do-it-all-guard Jasmine Thomas, who led the Blue Devils to four straight ACC championship games and victories in the last two. The Tar Heels must replace three mainstays over the past four years - Jessica Breland, Cetera DeGraffenreid and Italee Lucas - with a handful of first-year players.

North Carolina also will be without two key players until at least mid-December - shot-blocking center Waltiea Rolle is pregnant and is due Nov. 3, and guard Tierra Ruffin-Pratt had shoulder surgery in July. Coach Sylvia Hatchell said it's possible that either or both could be redshirted.

"We have a lot of uncertainties, I guess you could say," coach Sylvia Hatchell said, adding that "those young kids have just got to have some time. But it's going to be fun, because ... we're going to be better than people think we're going to be, especially as we move along, get people back out there and get experience under our belts."

University of Miami women defeat Florida State after 'very intense basketball game'

BY BILL VAN SMITH

Rhona Wise / AP

In basketball, height often is a difference-maker. But that's not always the case when you're playing the University of Miami women's team, as Florida State found out Sunday.

Physically, the Canes had to look up at the much-taller Seminoles, but at the end of the game it was FSU looking up at a scoreboard that said it had lost. Miami, ranked No. 6 in the nation, used its speed and athleticism, particularly down the stretch, to down the Seminoles 67-60 and win its 39th consecutive home game in front of 3,016 fans at BankUnited Center.

Doing most of the damage for the Hurricanes was the guard duo of Riquna Williams (24 points) and Shenise Johnson (23). The two seniors also were essential in forcing Florida State to commit 24 turnovers, prompting FSU coach Sue Semrau to say, "We will be very happy to see Shenise and Riquna graduate."

Of the turnovers, Johnson said: "That has to happen for us to win. We have to create turnovers and push the tempo in the game. We're a lot smaller than anybody else, so we try to speed the game up. That's what we do. That's Miami basketball."

Said UM coach Katie Meier: "It was a very intense basketball game. Way more so than the first time we played them [a 60-57 UM win]. This game was just brutal. Physical. We're very fortunate to have this win. The game 15 feet in was advantage, Florida State. The other 75 feet had to be advantage, Miami."

The Canes (24-3, 13-1 Atlantic Coast Conference) are likely to move up to No. 5 in the polls because Duke, currently ranked fifth, lost 63-61 to Maryland on Sunday. The two teams can actually settle it on the court when Miami travels to play the Blue Devils on Friday in its next-to-last regular-season game.

Meier said a possible move up in the rankings is nice but insignificant.

"It really doesn't matter," she said. "It's great for building the program and generating interest. But does that make us hit more free throws? It does nothing for us. We love having a very narrow focus, and we have a mission and our next game is Duke."

The Maryland upset of Duke was announced during the second half of UM's victory, drawing a loud cheer from the crowd.

"I was kind of wondering why the crowd was cheering so loud for nothing," Meier said, tongue firmly planted in cheek. "I didn't see a dog catching a Frisbee. I figured it might be good news."

For most of the game, Meier had to endure the Seminoles (13-15, 5-9 ACC) getting easy baskets underneath.

Did she think FSU was exploiting her team in the paint?

"Yes," Meier said. "You could tell they weren't going to shoot many threes, and you could tell they would throw the ball inside, and you could tell we had to turn them over. They were getting to their strength and we were getting to our strength. And in the end, when we were able to establish a more powerful front line and turn them over at the top — that was the ballgame."

Miami's inside play was hindered when 6-6 center Pepper Wilson got into early foul trouble and logged only four minutes of playing time in the first half.

"We had to pick and choose when we could throw Pepper back in," Meier said. "We had to come back and grind the game down."

The triumph marked Meier's 200th in 11 years of coaching, four at Charlotte and seven at Miami.

How did the milestone feel?

"It feels like I'm old," she said with a laugh. "No, it's great, but this is all about this team and these kids."
