A LETTER FROM THE ATHLETICS DIRECTOR

Whether it's succeeding on the field of play, excelling in the classroom, reaching out to serve our community or standing up for equality, we continue to Build Champions at The U.

The Hurricanes just wrapped up another remarkable – and in many ways unprecedented – school year in 2019-20. Our accomplishments are a tribute to the hard work and dedication of our student-athletes, coaches and staff, as well as the continued support we receive from donors, alumni and fans to make it all possible.

Obviously, our spring sports seasons were cut short on March 12 due to the COVID-19 pandemic. While it proved to be a challenging stretch for our athletic department, I was continually inspired by the commitment and dedication of our student-athletes, coaches and staff, who worked together to ensure that we stayed connected to each other and to our loyal Canes supporters around the world.

I was also heartened by the way our U Family came together to support Black Lives Matter. Our student-athletes have used their platform to generate awareness, spark discussion and enact meaningful change that we can all be proud of as we continue to work together.

This past year marked another year of outstanding performances by Hurricanes student-athletes both on and off the field. Defensive end Gregory Rousseau had a phenomenal season, earning ACC Defensive Rookie of the Year honors. Beatrice Mompremier earned honorable mention All-America honors and was selected in the second round of the WBNA Draft. David Dinsmore captured the ACC platform diving title and Randy Ableman was named ACC Men's Diving Coach of the Year for the fourth time in six years. Debbie Ajagbe won the ACC Indoor shot put and weight throw titles and was named ACC Indoor Track Scholar-Athlete of the Year. Our baseball team, ranked seventh in the country when the season was shuttered, had three players – pitchers Slade Cecconi and Chris McMahon and shortstop Freddy Zamora – selected in the first two rounds of the Major League Baseball Draft.

The NCAA awarded track and field standout Brittny Ellis a $10,000 NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship for both her academic and athletic achievements. Estela Perez-Somarriba, the defending NCAA women's singles champion, continued to rack up honors, earning the ITA Southeast Region's Arthur Ashe Leadership & Sportsmanship Award as well as its Senior Player of the Year accolade. Renate Grimstad won the 2020 Dinah Shore Trophy, cementing her status as one of the top collegiate female golfers who has made an impact both on the golf course through her leadership and on society through charitable endeavors.

Despite the pivot to online classes in the spring our student-athletes posted remarkable academic numbers. We placed a school-record 237 student-athletes on the ACC Honor Roll. Every team posted at least a 3.0 grade point average in the spring semester.

Our football team's spring semester and cumulative GPAs set a team record. Nine of our programs were recognized for perfect single-year scores of 1,000 in the latest NCAA Academic Progress Report. And five programs -- men's and women's cross country, golf, and men's and women's tennis teams -- earned Public Recognition Awards for teams finishing in the top 10 percent of their respective sports based on the most recent multi-year APR. Our student-athletes continue to excel in the classroom, and our dedicated coaches and academic staff members work tirelessly to help them achieve these results.

Our mission to give back to the community that so strongly supports us continues to grow. UM student-athletes placed fourth nationally in the NCAA Team Works Helper Helper Community Service Competition, our third consecutive Top 10 finish. Our rowing, soccer and men's track & field/cross country teams each finished second in their respective competitions, while our football team finished third.

On the fundraising front, despite a challenging climate, our Hurricane Club donors continue to step up in support of our student-athletes. Through your generosity, the Hurricane Club raised close to $11 million in 2019-2020, including $1.5 million in commitments to support our endowed scholarship fund, 10 new Golden Canes Society Members and three seven-figure gifts -- one being the largest gift in UM baseball history from a former student-athlete. In addition, we received major-gift commitments to our baseball program from MLB standouts Ryan Braun, Yonder Alonso, and Manny Machado. We are also excited to announce the opening of our new state-of-the-art Jimmy and Kim Klotz Baseball Player Development Center.

This past February we held our Sixth Annual Celebration of Women's Athletics in the Carol Soffer Indoor Practice Facility, raising a record $650,000 with a record attendance of more than 550. Your financial support helps provide our student-athletes with the opportunity to achieve their academic and athletic goals at the highest levels in a world-class environment.

Thank you to everyone who has invested in our athletic department over the past year. Your generosity has helped our student-athletes meet the present challenges with renewed determination and continue to succeed in the classroom, in competition -- and in life.

Go Canes!

Blake James

BASEBALL

• Miami proved to be one of the top teams in the country during a shortened 2020 season. The Canes went 12-4 and finished the season ranked as high as No. 5 by Baseball America and in the top 15 of all six major polls.

• The Hurricanes began the 2020 season as a consensus top-10 team, ranked as high as No. 3 by D1 Baseball and climbed to No. 1 in that poll after an opening weekend sweep of Rutgers. Miami entered the 2020 season with multiple top-5 preseason rankings for the first time since 2007.

• A preseason pick to win the ACC Coastal, Miami went 3-0 in conference play before the COVID-19 pandemic ended the season prematurely. The Hurricanes swept Coastal foe Pittsburgh and were the only undefeated team in the ACC Coastal division.

• The 2020 Hurricanes featured a pair of All-Americans, as standout right-handed pitchers Brian Van Belle and Chris McMahon were both selected to Collegiate Baseball's All-America Second Team.

• After the season, three Hurricanes were selected in the MLB First-Year Player Draft. Sophomore right-hander Slade Cecconi was taken with the 33rd overall pick by the Arizona Diamondbacks, becoming the 29th Hurricane to be selected in the first round of an MLB Draft. McMahon, a junior right-hander, went in the second round to the Colorado Rockies and junior shortstop Freddy Zamora was taken in the second round by the Milwaukee Brewers.

• With three players drafted, Miami tied with Mississippi State and Texas A&M with the most selections among the top 60 picks in the 2020 MLB Draft. Van Belle and fellow right-hander Tyler Keysor signed free agent contracts following the shortened five-round MLB Draft, joining the Red Sox and Reds organizations, respectively.

MEN'S BASKETBALL

• Despite playing the entire season with nine or fewer available scholarship players—including as few as six in one game—and, per ESPN, boasting a top-20 strength of schedule, the Hurricanes finished 15-16 (7-13 ACC) and earned a bye through the first round of the ACC Tournament.

• Head coach Jim Larrañaga earned the 650th win of his illustrious career on Dec. 2 when Miami earned an 81-79 victory at Illinois, an eventual top-25 team, in the Big Ten/ACC Challenge, making him the 39th coach all-time with Division I experience to reach that milestone.

• Miami went 3-1 in overtime games, including a 102-95 road triumph on Feb. 19 at Virginia Tech in the first triple-overtime affair in program history, as Isaiah Wong finished with 27 points and 12 rebounds, Keith Stone tied Miami's single-game ACC rebounding record with 18 and the Hurricanes eclipsed 100 points in an ACC game for the first time.

• DJ Vasiljevic concluded his career with the second-most made 3-pointers in program history (272) and joined Chris Lykes, who finished No. 10 in the ACC in scoring (15.4) and posted 20-plus points six times in 2019-20, in surpassing 1,000 career points during the 2019-20 campaign.

• Miami guards Harlond Beverly and Isaiah Wong combined for four 20-point games, the highest combined total by Hurricane true freshmen since 2000-01, with Wong's 27 at Virginia Tech ranking as the ninth-most by a Miami true freshman since the program rebirth.

EIGHT CANES COMPRISE 2020 UM HALL OF FAME CLASS

The University of Miami Sports Hall of Fame will be inducting an eight-member class when it holds its banquet honoring the 2020 inductees.

The event, which was set for April 2, 2020, was postponed due to COVID-19; it will be held as originally planned at the DoubleTree by Hilton Miami Airport Convention Center.

"What an amazing 2020 class we are inducting into the University of Miami Sports Hall of Fame," said UMSHoF President Richard Horton. "These outstanding athletes will be honored at our induction banquet next spring. We invite all Hurricane fans to join us in welcoming this latest class."

The University of Miami Sports Hall of Fame is a non-profit organization founded in 1966 by eight Dade County Circuit Court judges, all University of Miami alumni. The founders wanted to establish an organization that would recognize those student-athletes, coaches and administrators who excelled at their sport and brought acclaim to the University through their achievements and championships.

With the addition of the Class of 2020, only 334 student-athletes who have worn the Orange, Green and White have been inducted into the UM Sports Hall of Fame.

ACADEMIC SUCCESS IN APR

Nine University of Miami Athletics programs were recognized for perfect single-year scores of 1,000 in the 2018-19 Academic Progress Report (APR).

MULTI-YEAR APR RATE

(2015-16 to 2018-19 school years)

Baseball: 976

Men's Basketball: 968

Men's Cross Country: 1,000

Football: 973

Men's Diving: 978

Men's Tennis: 1,000

Men's Track and Field: 991

Women's Basketball: 995

Women's Cross Country: 1,000

Golf: 1,000

Rowing: 994

Soccer: 997

Women's Swimming & Diving: 982

Women's Tennis: 1,000

Women's Track & Field: 992

Volleyball: 995

The Miami programs earning perfect scores for the 2018-19 school year were men's basketball, men's and women's cross country, men's diving, golf, rowing, men's and women's tennis, and women's track and field.

"It is once again a remarkable achievement for nine of our teams to post perfect APR scores for the 2018-19 academic year," Director of Athletics Blake James said. "I am exceedingly proud of our student-athletes and their desire to excel in the classroom, as well as our coaches and academic staff members who work tirelessly to help them achieve these results."

UM's football program posted its highest single-year APR in program history (987) for 2018-19. In addition, the Hurricanes' men's basketball (968), women's basketball (995), men's cross country (1,000), women's cross country (1,000), football (973), golf (1,000), rowing (994), soccer (997), men's tennis (1,000), women's tennis (1,000), men's track and field (991), women's track and field (992) and volleyball (995) teams each topped their respective sports' multi-year national averages.

The report came a week after the Hurricanes' men's and women's cross country, golf, and men's and women's tennis teams each earned Public Recognition Awards from the NCAA. The Public Recognition Awards each year are bestowed upon teams finishing in the top 10 percent of their respective sports based on the most recent multi-year Academic Progress Rate.

The APR, created to be a more real-time measurement of academic success than graduation rates, is a team-based metric through which scholarship student-athletes each term earn one point for remaining eligible and one point for staying in school or graduating. This report is based on NCAA Division I APR data submitted by the institution for the 2015-16, 2016-17, 2017-18 and 2018-19 academic years.

In the fall of 2011, the Division I Board of Directors approved tougher academic standards, including setting a new standard that teams must meet to participate in postseason competition. The goal of the NCAA's academic performance program is improvement, not punishment.

To compete in the 2019-20 postseason, teams had to achieve a four-year APR of 930. NCAA members chose the 930 standard because that score predicts, on average, a 50 percent graduation rate for teams at that APR level. Additionally, teams must earn a four-year APR of at least 930 to avoid penalties. APRs for each team, lists of teams receiving public recognition and those receiving sanctions are available online through the NCAA's searchable database.

ACC NETWORK

The University of Miami's broadcast video department was on pace for a record number of digital broadcasts for ESPN during the 2019-20 school year before the COVID-19 pandemic. UM's video services department produced 56 digital broadcasts for ESPN last season for use on ACC Network Extra and other platforms.

In the past four years, Miami has generated over 392 live ESPN events through its in-house broadcast crew.

UM completed multi-million dollar renovations of its broadcast facilities in preparation for the launch of the ACC Network in the fall of 2019. The renovations allow for the broadcast of linear events on various ESPN networks while simultaneously producing video board and digital events in our secondary control room.

All home soccer, volleyball, men's and women's basketball and baseball games were broadcast either digitally via ACC Network Extra or on a linear network (ESPN, ESPN 2, ESPNU, FSN or Raycom).

Among the digital broadcasts from the 2019-20 school year:

- Six women's soccer matches
- Nine volleyball matches
- Two men's basketball games
- 10 women's basketball games
- 12 baseball games
- One men's tennis match
- Two women's tennis matches

Additionally, UM's new linear control room was used to broadcast 16 events across ESPN's linear networks, which provided a great opportunity to prepare for the launch of the ACC Network this fall:

- Nine men's basketball games (ACC Network)
- Four women's basketball games (ACC Network)
- One women's soccer match (ACC Network)
- One women's volleyball match (ACC Network)
- One baseball game (ACC Network)

In addition to the ESPN productions, Miami also managed in-house video board shows for all on-campus events:

- 15 men's basketball video board shows
- 19 women's basketball video board shows
- 14 baseball video board shows

JIMMY & KIM KLOTZ PLAYER DEVELOPMENT CENTER A GAME CHANGER FOR CANES BASEBALL PROGRAM

The University of Miami boasts one of the best baseball programs in the country, with four national championships, 25 trips to the College World Series and 46 NCAA tournament appearances.

But the Hurricanes are adding another impressive item to their arsenal: the Jimmy and Kim Klotz Player Development Center.

My first thought was, 'This is unbelievable.' It's been a long time coming and it's a game changer for our program," head coach Gino DiMare said of the new state-of-the-art facility the Hurricanes are set to open this summer.

"It's something that's been in the works for a long time and to finally see all the hard work come to fruition is amazing," DiMare continued. "We are certainly very appreciative of Jimmy and Kim Klotz for being our lead donors in this, as well as all of our loyal supporters who made a gift to this project. It's going to change everything for us.

The Jimmy and Kim Klotz Player Development Center ensures that the Hurricanes will have a world-class facility to master their craft on a daily basis.

"The Jimmy and Kim Klotz Player Development Center is a critical addition to our athletic department and for our baseball program," Miami director of athletics Blake James said. "We offer our sincere gratitude to Jimmy and Kim for their generosity and to all of those who helped make this project a reality. Our storied baseball program will take a big step forward with this facility and, most importantly, our incredible student-athletes will benefit for years to come."

The Jimmy and Kim Klotz Player Development Center, an approximately 6,800-square foot facility which sits down Mark Light Field's right field line, features batting cages, three pitcher's mounds and a multi-purpose area, along with the latest state-of-the-art technology. Miami's new facility features a camera system that allows for video analysis and data tracking.

The Jimmy and Kim Klotz Player Development Center is just the first step in the University of Miami's Baseball Facility Enhancement Campaign.

"Knowing that we do have phases, this is part one and we have other phases that are in the works," DiMare said. "We're going to stay very aggressive trying to do those things because we want to be one of the top programs in the country and, in order to do that, you've got to have top facilities. The Light is a great place and we're keeping the historical tradition from the stadium that we have here but we've got to add some things with that to stay up with the times."
