» Freshman Paolo Banchemo had his second double-double this season with 17 points and 11 rebounds in Tuesday's win. He leads all power conference true freshman in scoring at 17.1 points/game.

» THE OPENING TIP

- » The teams with the two longest active winning streaks in the ACC square off Saturday night at Cameron Indoor Stadium when No. 2 Duke welcomes Miami with first place on the line.
- » The Blue Devils enter on a five-game winning streak, while the Hurricanes storm in having won eight in a row. Saturday's game marks the first time Duke and Miami are meeting with each team undefeated in ACC play, not including an ACC season opener.
- » Duke has had a bumpy start to 2022 as games versus Clemson (Dec. 29) and Notre Dame (Jan. 1) were postponed due to the University's health and safety protocols. The team had just one day of practice on Jan. 3 before beating Georgia Tech, 69-57, on Tuesday.
- » Junior Wendell Moore Jr., is second in the ACC in assists (4.8), fourth in assist/turnover ratio (+2.58), eighth in scoring (16.3) and fourth in field goal percentage (.556) -- Moore and Wake's Alondes Williams are the only players ranked in the top 10 in each category.
- » Saturday's game matches up four of the ACC's top 10 leading scorers in Duke's Moore and Paolo Banchemo (17.1, 6th) and Miami's Kameron McCusky (18.3, 5th) and Isaiah Wong (16.3, 7th).
- » Banchemo leads all power conference true freshmen in scoring at 17.1 points. The Seattle native is sixth in the ACC in rebounding (7.5), 11th in field goal percentage (.487) and 12th in free throw shooting (.767).
- » Over Duke's five-game winning streak, freshman AJ Griffin is averaging 12.0 points and 4.2 rebounds, while shooting .645 from the field, .500 (8-of-16) from three-point range and .800 at the free throw line, with five blocks, 10 assists and one turnover in that span.
- » One of the nation's best ball-handling teams, Duke ranks third in the NCAA in assist/turnover ratio (+1.84), eighth in fewest turnovers (9.4), 16th in turnover margin (+5.3) and 17th in assists (17.2).
- » Duke ranks fourth in the ACC in free throw shooting and have made an ACC best 54 more free throws than opponents have attempted.
- » Cameron Indoor Stadium celebrated its 82nd birthday on Jan. 6, and Duke has won 85 percent of its games all time at the historic venue.

It does not take long for a conversation about the highest levels of success in the basketball world to turn to the name Krzyzewski. In 41 seasons at Duke, Mike Krzyzewski - a Naismith Hall of Fame coach, five-time national champion and 12-time Final Four participant - has built a dynasty that few programs in the history of the game can match.

No coach in Division I men's basketball history has won more games than Coach K's 1,182.

Announcing his retirement in June ahead of his 42nd season at Duke, and 47th overall as a head coach at both Duke and Army West Point, Krzyzewski owns an 1,182-362 record as a head coach, including a 1,109-303 mark at Duke.

The numbers that illustrate Coach K's career are simply staggering:

- Five national championships (1991, 1992, 2001, 2010, 2015)
- Six gold medals as head coach of the U.S. Men's National Team
- Nine National Players of the Year (11 honors)
- Six National Defensive Players of the Year (nine honors)
- 10 consecutive top-10 AP poll finishes (1997-06)

- 565 weeks ranked in the top 10 of the AP poll (most by a coach in poll history)
- 658 weeks ranked in the AP poll (most by a coach in poll history)
- 1,109 victories at Duke (most in NCAA history at one school)
- 1,182 career wins (most in NCAA history)

Coach K became the Division I men's career wins leader on Nov. 15, 2011, at Madison Square Garden, moving past his former coach Bob Knight with his 903rd victory. His historic 1,000th career victory came against St. John's at The World's Most Famous Arena on Jan. 25, 2015, as he became the first Division I men's basketball coach to achieve a four-figure win total.

Krzyzewski's 1,109 victories at Duke are an NCAA record by a coach at one school. With 1,109 of the Blue Devils' 2,226 all-time victories, Coach K has presided over nearly half (49.6 percent) of the men's basketball wins in Duke history.

Krzyzewski has won a league-record 519 ACC games (regular season and tournament), passing former North Carolina head coach Dean Smith (422) on Feb. 4, 2015. He has also won an ACC-record 192 conference road games.

Coach K's five national championships are the second-most in NCAA history. Krzyzewski and former Connecticut coach Jim Calhoun are the only coaches in NCAA history to win national championships in three different decades.

Coach K has led the Blue Devils into the NCAA Tournament 35 times - more than any other coach in history. His streak of guiding Duke to 24 consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances from 1996 to 2019 ranked as the longest streak in NCAA history, surpassing Dean Smith's 23 consecutive appearances from 1975 to 1997.

Krzyzewski holds NCAA Tournament records for games coached (127) and wins (97) while ranking second all-time and leading active coaches with a .764 NCAA Tournament winning percentage (min. 20 games). He has reached the Sweet 16 on 25 occasions, six more than any other coach in NCAA history, and has advanced to the Elite Eight 16 times.

Of the 1,412 games Krzyzewski has coached at Duke, 1,251 - 88.5 percent - have been as a ranked team. The Blue Devils are 1,019-232 (.815) as a ranked team under Coach K.

Coach K has taken top-ranked Duke teams into games on 255 occasions and compiled a 219-36 (.859) record as the AP's No. 1 team, ranking first in poll history in both number of games and wins as coach of a top-ranked squad.

Krzyzewski has tutored 68 NBA Draft picks during his time at Duke, including a total of 42 first-round selections that leads all active coaches. Duke has had at least one player taken in 34 of the 41 NBA Drafts during the Krzyzewski Era.

Since the inception of the NBA Draft Lottery in 1985, Coach K and Duke have produced 28 lottery picks - a draft-record total for both a school and a coach.

Through the 2020-21 season, Coach K's former Duke players have accumulated more than $2.5 billion in NBA contracts. Lottery selections who played for Krzyzewski at Duke have combined to earn more than $2 billion in contracts, an average of nearly $70 million per individual.

Under Coach K's watch, Duke has produced multiple All-ACC Academic selections in 12 of the last 13 years. The 2015 NCAA championship team featured a program-high five All-ACC Academic honorees. Quin Snyder, Amile Jefferson and Grayson Allen are the only players in Duke history to earn All-ACC Academic honors four times. Jefferson, a three-time captain, departed the university in 2017 with both bachelor's and master's degrees.

Krzyzewski has had six players collect a total of nine CoSIDA Academic All-America honors, headlined by two-time first-team honorees Battier (2000, 2001) and Mason Plumlee (2012, 2013). Allen became the sixth in 2016 when he garnered second-team accolades.

Fittingly, Coach K has earned nearly every award imaginable. The crown jewel of that haul, however, came in 2001 when he was inducted into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame.

Since his enshrinement in Springfield, Mass., Krzyzewski has also been inducted into the Army Sports Hall of Fame (2009), the Chicagoland Sports Hall of Fame (2010) and the Duke Athletics Hall of Fame (2011).

While establishing Duke as one of college basketball's dynastic programs, Krzyzewski simultaneously spent more than a decade as one of the architects of the revitalization of USA Basketball. During his tenure at the helm of the program, the U.S. National Team amassed an extraordinary 88-1 record and claimed gold medals at the 2007 FIBA Americas Championship, 2008 Beijing Olympics, 2010 FIBA World Championship, 2012 London Olympics, 2014 FIBA World Cup and 2016 Rio Olympics, as well as a bronze medal at the 2006 FIBA World Championship.

Coach K was 24-0 in the Olympics as head coach of the USMNT and his time at the helm ended with the team in the midst of a National Team-record 76-game winning streak that began in 2006.

Sustained success under Coach K has resulted in coaching opportunities for several of his former players, as well as his former assistant coaches from both Duke and Army. More than 25 of Coach K's former players or assistants are currently either coaching or working in front office roles across professional and college basketball.

The Coaching Tree

Ten of Coach K's former players or staff are currently Division I head coaches: Tommy Amaker (Harvard), Kenneth Blakeney (Howard), Mike Brey (Notre Dame), Jeff Capel (Pittsburgh), Chris Collins (Northwestern), Johnny Dawkins (Central Florida), Bobby Hurley (Arizona State), Nate James (Austin Peay), Greg Paulus (Niagara) and Mike Schrage (Elon). James assumed the Austin Peay position following the 2020-21 season.

Quin Snyder is currently the head coach of the NBA's Utah Jazz, headlining a long list of former players, staff and managers that are connected to the NBA. That list also includes Grant Hill as part-owner of the Atlanta Hawks, Elton Brand as general manager of the Philadelphia 76ers, Trajan Langdon as general manager of the New Orleans Pelicans and Shane Battier as vice president of analytics and development for the Miami Heat.

Krzyzewski has shown a firm commitment to taking care of his own, having at least three former Duke captains on his staff every season since 1996-97. The Blue Devils have won three NCAA titles, 12 ACC Tournament championships and eight ACC regular season crowns during that time.

The 2020-21 staff of Jon Scheyer, Chris Carrawell and Nolan Smith all held the captain role during their playing careers at Duke.

Giving Back

Krzyzewski has been diligently committed to public service, both locally and nationally, throughout his coaching career. He is currently serving on boards for, while also assuming vital roles with, the Duke Children's Hospital, the Jimmy V Foundation for Cancer Research, the NABC Foundation, the CEO Roundtable on Cancer and the Emily Krzyzewski Center.

Coach K's philanthropic activities also include the establishment and funding of the Emily Krzyzewski Center, a community center in Durham named in honor of his late mother. The Center's mission is to inspire economically disadvantaged students to dream big, act with character and purpose, strive for academic excellence and reach their highest potential as future citizen leaders.

In May 2018, Coach K and his wife Mickie announced their single-largest philanthropic gift, a $3 million donation to the Emily K Center to kick start a $15 million fundraising campaign for the Durham-based Center. That campaign concluded on December 31, 2020 and raised $18.85 million to exceed the goal.

46 years of family: Coach K on and off the basketball court

By Sasha Richie, The Chronicle (November 4, 2021)

When Duke men's basketball head coach Mike Krzyzewski announced his forthcoming retirement in a press conference in early June, he said, "My family and I view today as a celebration."

It was a celebration of an illustrious career, one that has seen five NCAA championships, three Olympic gold medals as head coach of the United States men's basketball national team and 1,170 collegiate wins, the most of any head coach in college basketball history.

However, the day of Krzyzewski's retirement was also a celebration of a four-decade long tapestry woven with the threads of the entire Krzyzewski family. Duke men's basketball and the Krzyzewski name have become synonymous, and as Duke faithful everywhere reflect on 41 years of Coach K, it also becomes time for the Krzyzewskis to reflect on the program that they have been so intimately tied to.

"For us, there is no greater joy than being part of our players' respective endeavors through basketball, and more importantly, their lives off the court," Krzyzewski said at his retirement press conference. "Our family is eternally grateful to everyone who contributed to our career for the past 46 years. So, to the countless members of our extended family, thank you very much."

'Our career'

While the announcement of Krzyzewski's imminent retirement sent shockwaves through the basketball world, it was really the final step of a career that has prioritized family since the very beginning, even when their family was a small one of just two, Krzyzewski and his wife Carol "Mickie" Krzyzewski.

The two met when Krzyzewski was still a cadet at West Point, and, though they humorously recall that Mickie was Krzyzewski's third choice for their first date to a Chicago Bears game, they have been a team for 52 years now, having wedded in 1969. Three daughters and nine grandchildren later, it's still the two of them at the head of the table both in the family and in Duke men's basketball.

"It's always been, for the two of us, our career," Krzyzewski said, referencing him and Mickie, at the Blue Devils' media day in September. "When [then-athletic director] Tom Butters, God bless him, hired me, he mentioned to Mickie, 'I just want you to know, I'm not hiring your husband, I'm hiring your family,' and that was a really big-time thing to say to a 33, 34-year-old couple getting ready to take a real big jump into the ACC."

Krzyzewski joined Duke as head coach in 1980 with his wife and three young daughters in tow, a quintet he, according to his grandson Michael Savarino, lovingly refers to as "the starting five." However, though the Krzyzewskis had each other by their sides, braving a new environment was not all smooth sailing for the young family. Despite Krzyzewski having been head coach at West Point for five years, the Blue Devils were a whole new mountain to climb.

In an interview with The Chronicle from 2015, Mickie recalled how, after moving into their first house in Durham, she had picked a wallpaper for the bathrooms, but when installers came to put it up, they questioned her choice. At first, Mickie was surprised, thinking the men were criticizing her interior decorating taste, but then they explained and it turned out that the wallpaper she'd chosen was Carolina blue. In that moment, for the first time, she understood the gravitas of joining a program like Duke with such rich traditions and realized the long road they had ahead of them.

"To all of that, we were a little naive. I was not familiar with North Carolina, I hadn't ever really been here," Mickie said in that earlier interview. "We moved in and were just really kind of bright eyed about everything."

'Part of everything'

Beyond the history, simply adjusting to the intensity of the ACC while raising a family was a journey for them, but looking back, Krzyzewski says that, because of his family's unwavering support, that journey has, "been pretty easy, really."

While Krzyzewski credits his family's support, Mickie credits Krzyzewski and his proactive effort to bring the family into the program from the start and carrying on throughout his entire tenure at Duke.

"He let us be part of everything. When the girls were little and they were on a team trip, they were allowed to ride on the team bus. We still, to this day, go into the coach's locker room," Mickie said in the 2015 interview. "Our daughters and our grandkids, we see him as soon as possible after a game and no matter what, win or lose, he's got a hug and a kiss for each of the grandkids."

She believes that openness was key to not only surviving what could have been a difficult situation, but thriving in it.

"He allowed our family to be a part of his career...I credit him for being smart enough, secure enough and loving enough to let us in," Mickie said.

However, while an intentional effort, involving his family in his career as a coach was also a labor of love, as Krzyzewski got to share his passion with his daughters.

"Debbie [Savarino] was young, really young, and when they used to have Super Eight projectors, I'd be home watching, and she would watch film with me, and at the end I'd do all those figures on the wall," he said at the Blue Devils' media day.

Years later, Krzyzewski is still proud that all his daughters know the game of basketball, and his oldest, Debbie Savarino, even serves as an assistant athletic director at Duke today. But it all stemmed from that early decision to, as Mickie called it, "open the door" between his career and his family, and that decision has paved the way for a lifelong relationship between the Krzyzewski family and the program.

'I just break down crying'

Given how profoundly family has influenced Krzyzewski's career, it's fitting that he is sharing his final season with his grandson Michael.

"I was blessed to be able to grow up around the program, and I'm blessed to be in it," Michael said, reflecting on his time with Duke men's basketball since joining the team as a walk-on in 2019. "I feel like I know [Krzyzewski] so much better, as a coach and as a grandfather, just from being around him every single day. Like, I literally see him everyday. So having little interactions like that is something I'm incredibly, incredibly grateful for, and I wouldn't have it if I didn't come here."

It wasn't always a given that Michael would join his grandfather at Duke despite demonstrating basketball prowess from a young age, but when it came time to decide, the decision was obvious.

"I visited a ton of schools. But everything I was looking for was right in my backyard, like everything I wanted in a school," Michael said.

Now, he's glad he made that decision, as the experience of sharing three years with his grandfather, including Krzyzewski's final season, has been "bittersweet," and he points to the day before Krzyzewski announced his retirement as being "one of the best days of [his] life," as it was a turning point in their relationship.

Michael says that on that day, Krzyzewski called him into his office and told him two things: that he was going to announce his retirement the next day and that he was putting Michael on scholarship.

"He just told me how important I was to the team and the role, the specific role I've been playing and how good of a job I've been doing and how he wanted me to elevate that role even more, and how I need to be a little more vocal, I need to be a leader," Michael recalled. Then Krzyzewski told him he was putting him on scholarship, and "I just break down crying. I probably cried for about 10 minutes," Michael said.

Still, despite the bond they've formed over three years with the Blue Devils together, Michael joked, "I'm definitely not his grandson when we walk into the gym, or when we're on Duke's campus at all."

"When we walk in the gym, he's 'Coach.' When we walk out...he's completely different. And that just shows how he can turn it on and off. And not many people can do that," he said.

'No Duke hanging in the house'

It's that line that Krzyzewski has been able to draw between family and basketball that has made the family so strong. Even as the Krzyzewski family has grown in and with Duke men's basketball, family has always come first.

"The things that we would hang in our house or on our fridge was stuff that the girls had accomplished. So there was no Duke hanging in the house. We tried to make sure that they knew that they came first to us and that they were more important to us," Mickie said of drawing that line from the moment they joined the Blue Devils and had to decorate their new home in Durham. To this day, Michael says there is "never, ever" basketball at the family dinner table.

Still, even as he built a home filled with "lace and pink" for his daughters instead of Duke blue, Krzyzewski's family has guided his career at every step.

In an interview for Time Magazine in 2001, Krzyzewski said, "Over the years, the girls have exposed me to an environment where they share their feelings, and I've tried to teach my players to do the same thing. I tell them it's not guys doing girl things; it's being a real person—to hug, to cry, to laugh, to share. If you create a culture where that's allowed, all of a sudden, you have some depth," speaking on the influence his daughters and family have had on his coaching.

That family legacy continues. Aptly named "The Brotherhood," Duke men's basketball is head-to-toe a family affair. Aside from the Krzyzewski family's involvement at every level of the organization, Krzyzewski has made sure that family is a priority for not only himself, but for his players and staff.

In his interview with Time Magazine, Krzyzewski said he looks for how recruits treat their parents as a way to discern character, and he makes sure that players know they are not just joining a team but joining a family.

In his book "Leading with the Heart," Krzyzewski writes, "As a basketball coach, I have no problem telling a team, 'I love you guys,'" a lesson he says he learned from his own family growing up.

Now, with just one more season of Krzyzewski-led basketball, all of the Duke community can reflect on those lessons too, lessons borne out of Krzyzewski's intense and intentional love for his family.

Even as the Blue Devils say goodbye to arguably the greatest college basketball coach ever, they will always carry the legacy of the Krzyzewskis, every single one of them.

MOORE DOES IT ALL

- » Moore is proving to be among the nation's most complete -- and improved -- players as the co-captain is the only player nationally averaging 16.0+ points, 5.0+ rebounds and 4.0+ assists on .550+ shooting from the field.
- » Moore has six games this season with at least 10 points, five rebounds and five assists (10-5-5 games) -- tied for the second-most nationally and the most among power conference players.
- » The Charlotte native is second in the ACC in assists (4.8) and has 5+ assists in seven games this season.
- » He also went a career-best 4-of-4 from three-point range vs. App State and finished 8-of-11 overall for 21 points with five boards.
- » With his 19-10-10 vs. Army, he has one of the 10 triple-doubles in the nation this season. It marked just the fifth triple-double in Duke history and the third under Mike Krzyzewski.
- » Moore's 10 assists were a career high and he committed just one turnover in the game.
- » The junior flirted with another triple-double against The Citadel, dropping 22 points, eight rebounds and nine assists.
- » He had 20+ points in three straight games from Nov. 19-26, marking the first stretch of consecutive 20-point performances in his career.
- » Moore's versatility was on full display in the win over No. 1 Gonzaga, as he finished with 20 points, six boards, six assists and a career-high six steals to earn MVP honors in the Continental Tire Challenge.
