ALJOSA PIRIC

EIGHTH SEASON | RICHMOND, 2000

Aljosa Piric was named the head coach of the Miami men's tennis program on June 22, 2016. Piric (Al-O-sha PEER-itch) came to Coral Gables after five seasons with Old Dominion University, where he was named the 2016 Wilson/ITA Coach of the Year for the Atlantic Region. In his last two seasons in Norfolk, Va., he led the Monarchs to a 37-8 record, propelling the mid-major team from unranked to a season-high No. 28 ITA mark in 2016.

A native of Bosnia and Herzegovina, Piric is familiar with the Atlantic Coast Conference after serving as an assistant coach at Georgia Tech for three seasons, where he helped the Yellow Jackets to the NCAA Sweet 16 and a No. 13 ranking in 2011. Piric also has been a Bosnia and Herzegovina Davis Cup Team member, directed the Stamford Indoor Tennis Academy in New England and was the top singles and doubles player for the Richmond Spiders while in college.

In his second season at Miami, Piric led the Hurricanes back to the NCAA Team Championship for the first time in seven years, where the Canes blanked in-state foe North Florida to cap their winningest season since 2011. Miami finished the season 15-13 overall, picked up four ACC victories - most since 2014 - and posted a phenomenal 12-2 home record for its highest win percentage at home since 2006. The Hurricanes notched four ranked victories, two against top-25 opponents, and were ranked top-50 nationally eight times over the course of the season before closing out the year at No. 42 in the Oracle/ITA rankings. For the first time in program history, three Hurricanes earned All-ACC honors - freshman Adria Soriano (Second Team), senior Christian Langmo (Third Team) and freshman Bojan Jankulovski (Third Team).

Piric, who was hired by ODU in June 2011, led the 2015-16 Monarchs to the championship match of the 2016 Conference USA Tournament, posting a 21-5 overall record and ending the season ranked No. 48 in the Oracle/ITA Collegiate Tennis Rankings. Old Dominion took down a total of four nationally ranked opponents that season: No. 25 NC State (4-1), No. 34 Dartmouth (4-3), No. 69 UNCW (6-1) and No. 70 William & Mary (4-0).

In 2015-16 Adam Moundir was named Conference USA Player of the Year and Most Outstanding Singles Player of the C-USA Championship, while garnering All-First Team honors for both singles as well as doubles. Teammate Jacob Nicolussi was named the C-USA Newcomer of the Year. Michael Weindl and Aziz Kijametovic represented the Tennis Monarchs on the All-Conference USA Singles Second. Kijametovic also earned All-Conference USA Doubles First Team with Moundir. In the fall, ODU's doubles tandem of Adam Moundir and Aziz Kijametovic claimed the Regional title and advanced to Nationals at the Billie Jean King Center in Flushing, New York.

Piric and the Monarchs were clicking on all cylinders during the 2014-15 season, as he led Old Dominion to a 16-3 overall record, while knocking off three nationally ranked opponents in the process: No. 60 Elon (7-0), No. 66 South Alabama (4-3) and No. 75 Rice (4-2). Piric had his Tennis Monarchs nationally ranked throughout the season.

That season, Piric placed two players on the All Conference USA singles teams (Carlos Lopez Villa and Adam Moundir), placed two squads on the All C-USA doubles teams (Carlos Lopez Villa/Javier Jover Maestre and Adam Moundir/Michael Weindl), as well as possessed the Freshman of the Year (Adam Moundir). Lopez Villa was also named to the Conference USA All-Academic Team, while five student-athletes garnered All C-USA Honor Roll recognition for having a 3.0 or higher cumulative grade point average.

Only adding to the esteemed coach's resume, Piric was tabbed to help out the 2014 Bosnia and Herzegovina Davis Cup team. In an impressive showing on April 10, while serving as team captain, Piric's Bosnian squad defeated Finland in the quarterfinals of group play in thrilling fashion by the score of 3-2.

In the spring of 2014, Piric led the Monarchs to another winning season with a 12-10 overall record, including an impressive 11-6 mark at home. The team took down the No. 64 ranked College of Charleston. Piric's team showed their resiliency by posting a 7-1 record following a loss, and had only lost two in a row once all season. He also helped guide Carlos Lopez Villa to the 2014 All-Conference USA Singles First Team. Piric's leadership proved to be influential off the court as well, as the team was honored for academic accomplishments in numerous ways. Lopez Villa was named to the C-USA All-Academic Team and also received the Arthur Ashe Leadership and Sportsmanship Award. As a whole, the men's tennis team was recognized by the NCAA for a perfect APR performance.

COACHING STAFF

In the fall of 2013, Piric guided junior Carlos Lopez Villa to a USTA/ITA Regional crown, as he became just the second male in school history to accomplish such a feat. Lopez Villa went on to win his first round match at the USTA/ITA National Indoor Intercollegiate Nationals before dropping his second round match to the eventual champion.

During the 2012-13 campaign, Piric's squad won its first match over a ranked opponent since 2009 by defeating No. 27 Harvard 4-3 (2/4). Piric coached Carlos Lopez Villa to First-Team All-Conference USA honors in singles and a ranking of No. 93 by the season's end. He also helped Lopez Villa and Can Cetinel achieve All-Conference USA Second-Team honors in doubles. The duo was ranked as high as No. 23 during the season.

Under his leadership, the men's tennis program has not only achieved success on the courts but also in the classroom, as the team posted a cumulative 3.1 GPA for the 2012-13 season. Additionally, Carlos Lopez Villa was named to the 2013 C-USA Men's Tennis All-Academic Team after posting a 3.75 GPA. Aljosa and 2012-13 Tennis Monarchs also captured Old Dominion's coveted Monarch Cup, which is given to one team at the school each year for their outstanding work in the community and service to those in need.

Before taking over at Old Dominion, Piric spent three years as assistant coach at Georgia Tech. At Georgia Tech, Piric was an assistant coach for Kenny Thorne, the 2011 ITA Men's Coach of the Year. During his three years in Atlanta, Georgia Tech improved its national ranking from 49th in 2009 to 13th in 2011. He coached three-time All-American in Guillermo Gomez, the ITA National Indoor Championship finalist, ranked fifth nationally in 2010, and 13th in 2011. He also coached Juan Spir and Kevin King who were All-Americans in 2011 and NCAA doubles tournament semifinalists, with a national ranking of ninth.

Piric has coached numerous sectional champions and top level U.S. junior players while working at the Stamford Indoor Tennis Academy.

Piric coached the Bosnian National boys 18-and-under junior team at the team European Championships in Catania, Italy. In 2015 he coached the Bosnian National boys 18-and-under junior team at the European individual championships in Closters, Switzerland.

Piric graduated from the University of Richmond in 2000 with a bachelor's degree in business management. As a member of the Spiders tennis team, Piric played at No. 1 singles and doubles and served as team captain his senior season.

In 1999, Piric was selected to the Bosnian Davis Cup National team that competed against Egypt and Luxembourg in Cairo, Egypt. He attended Mills Godwin High School in Richmond, Va., where he won the Virginia High School State Championship in both singles and doubles.

He and his wife, Jessica, have two children: daughter, Mila, and son, Luca.

HUNTER CALLAHAN

Hunter Callahan joined the Miami men's tennis staff in August of 2022.

Callahan joined the Hurricanes after spending two seasons at Ohio State as a volunteer assistant coach. During his two years in Columbus, Callahan coached a Buckeye team that was among the best in the nation, finishing the 2020-21 and 2021-22 seasons at No. 21 and No. 5 in the final ITA rankings, respectively.

Ohio State posted a 50-8 overall record over the two seasons and made a pair on NCAA Team Championship appearances, highlighted by a Final Four showing in 2022. Callahan worked with four All-Americans while at Ohio State, with Matej Vocel and Robert Cash finishing as the 2022 NCAA Doubles Championship national runners-up after one of the finest seasons by any duo in college tennis history.

Miami was a member of the BIG EAST Conference from 1991-2004, but did not play a conference schedule during the regular season. Conference finish was determined by the outcome of the BIG EAST Tournament. The Hurricanes have competed as members in the ACC since 2005.

* The current dual match playoff for the NCAA Tournament was instituted in 1977

+ The championship match was suspended due to weather and Miami earned the NCAA bid based on conference policy

^ In 2006, Miami finished in a three-way tie for the regular-season ACC with Duke and Virginia

$ Advanced to the ACC Tournament finals.

% Andrew Burrow, who played at the No. 2 position, was declared ineligible for the 1984 season. Miami forfeited wins over Minnesota, Florida, Clemson, and Texas because Burrow's participation affected the outcome of those matches. Miami was 21-8 but is now 17-12.

A HISTORY OF EXCELLENCE

The University of Miami tennis program is one of the most successful in the country. The storied history of Hurricane tennis has been highlighted by one of the best dual match records in collegiate sports.

Since 1930 the Hurricanes have compiled a record of 1,198-455-9 for a .725 winning percentage. In fact, from 1957-1964, the Hurricanes rolled up 137 consecutive dual match victories, one of the most impressive winning streaks in collegiate athletics.

Through the years, the Hurricanes have also produced winning streaks of 72 and 57 straight dual match victories and have fielded only seven non-winning seasons since 1950.

The program's presence on a national level has been quite dominating as the Hurricanes have qualified for the NCAA Championships 29 times since 1977.

The University of Miami tennis program officially became a member of the BIG EAST Conference in 1991 and went on to dominate the league during its tenure, winning the BIG EAST title eight times.

Miami then joined the Atlantic Coast Conference in 2004-05. The Hurricanes quickly rose to the top of the ACC ranks and in 2006, won a share of the regular-season title, while producing the league's Coach, Player and Freshman of the Year for the first time in conference history.

Throughout its history, the Hurricanes have produced great players, collecting four NCAA Championship singles titles and producing 28 All-Americans (52 selections) including Johan Donar (1987-89), Luigi D'Agord (2006-07), and Daniel Vallverdu (2006-08), UM's only four-time tennis All-American.

Three players have achieved the coveted No. 1 national ranking - Francisco "Pancho" Segura in 1936 and 1937, Conny Falk in 1990 and Srđan Muskatirovic in 1994.

Francisco "Pancho" Segura was the forerunner of the brilliant success of the program becoming one of the only two players to win three consecutive NCAA Singles Championships (1943-44-45). He captured his fourth NCAA Championship title, pairing with Thomas Burke to win the 1945 doubles championship.

All-Americans Pat Cramer and Luis Garcia brought home the second NCAA doubles title in 1970, while another All-American, Andrew Burrow, delivered the Hurricanes fourth single crown in 1987, defeating Michigan's Dan Goldberg in the title match.

I37: A LOOK BACK ON MIAMI'S WIN

In 1957, one of the more amazing streaks in collegiate athletics ended, the University of Miami's 137-match win streak in men's tennis.

The streak began the third match into the 1957 season with a 7-2 win over Presbyterian (S.C.). Seven years and 137 wins later it ended with a 5-4 loss to Princeton in the third to last match of the '64 campaign. This remarkable string of victories actually came on the heels of a 72-match win streak, giving the program a 209-1 record over the course of a decade.

Bill Lufler and Dale Lewis were the two men who coached the Hurricanes during this era. Lufler was coach for the first 20 victories and retired at the end of the '57 season. He started at Miami in '49 and also coached win streaks of 59 and 72 during his eight-year stint there. Lewis, who would coach through the '79 season, was at the helm for victories 21-137.

Both coaches are now in the Intercollegiate Tennis Association (ITA) Men's Hall of Fame where there is a permanent display commemorating the streak they collaborated on. There's no better authority on college tennis than Dan Magill, the legendary Georgia coach for 34 years and ITA Hall of Fame curator, who calls the win streak "virtually unbreakable."

Magill, who coached Georgia to the '85 and '87 NCAA titles, lost to Miami six times during the streak, but was indirectly involved with it ending. "I can remember the streak ending well because my son, Ham, was on the Princeton team that ended it on those red clay courts in Coral Gables."

KEYS TO SUCCESS

Dave Harum was on the '57 Hurricane team that started the streak. Harum, an architect in Key Largo, Fla., who has designed several tennis facilities, including Miami's, credits much of his team's success to the atmosphere Coach Lufler fostered. "Bill Lufler kept us in a highly-competitive state," remembers Harum, an All-American in '57. "He was always 'sicking' us on one another during practice and that competitiveness would carry over to the matches."

Another Miami All-American John Skogstad (1960-61) credits some of the program's success to geography. "One of the keys to our success was being in South Florida," says Skogstad, who played a year at Baylor before transferring. "There was an abundance of organized tournaments throughout the year with great competition for us against college and pro players."

CHANGES IN THE NCAA FORMAT

How safe is this streak in tennis? In terms of NCAA Division I men's tennis it does appear unbreakable. It was the change to the NCAA championship format in 1977 that makes 137 in a row hard to top. Prior to '77 the NCAA Championships consisted of singles and doubles tournaments where schools received points towards an overall team score based on their players advancement in the singles and doubles draws. Starting in '77 a 16-school dual match tournament was added and used to determine the team champion. Since '77 only four teams have gone through a season unbeaten.

EAST VS. WEST

While Miami was piling up the wins, Southern California and UCLA were piling up the titles. USC and UCLA finished either first or second in the final NCAA tournament point standings every year from 1960-64. Miami finished fourth at the NCAA tournament four straight years from 1960-63 and tied for 13th in '64.

But doing well in the NCAA tournament didn't necessarily translate to doing well in the team format and vice versa. Skogstad and Harum both felt their Hurricane teams could have challenged the powerhouses in the West.

"Miami was the best in the East during this time, but unfortunately we did not go West and play UCLA or USC," Harum says. "All we could do was wonder. It would have been terrific to play them and I think we would have had very competitive matches."

"The prevailing thought was that we had a chance to beat those teams," says Skogstad, who lives in Atlanta and is in the steel industry. "We could have played with them on the (clay) courts and they'd have the advantage on the hard courts."

In addition to Skogstad and Harum, seven other players on those Miami teams, which actually had its best NCAA showing of second place in '65, earned All-America honors: Ed Rubinoff, Johann Kupferberger, Jerry Moss, Allen Quay, John Karabasz, Rod Mandelstam and John Hammill, who later coached the Hurricanes.

Miami's run came during a magical era for collegiate tennis. A sampling of the great players during this 1957-64 era includes: Barry McKay (Michigan), Crawford Henry (Tulane), Donald Dell (Yale), Alex Olmedo (USC), Allen Fox (UCLA), Larry Nagler (UCLA), Ramsey Earnhart (USC), Rafael Osuna (USC), Marty Riessen (Northwestern), Dennis Ralston (USC), Arthur Ashe (UCLA), Charles Passarell (UCLA) and Bill Bond (USC).

MIAMI GREAT: GARDNAR MULLOY

Gardnar Mulloy. Although the name might not be familiar to the current crop of Miami tennis players, they might not be Hurricanes if not for this man.

A Miami native, Mulloy organized the first University of Miami men's tennis team in 1935 and went on to great success as a tennis professional.

In 1939, he won his first U.S. Championship with his father in the Father and Sons doubles, but it certainly was not his last title. Teaming up with Bill Talbert, the duo was ranked No. 1 and won US Open doubles titles in 1942, 1945, 1946 and 1948. Pairing with Budge Patty in 1957, he set the record as the oldest player to have won men's doubles at Wimbledon. One year earlier, he advanced to the finals of mixed doubles at Wimbledon with Althea Gibson.

In addition, Mulloy was ranked among the world's top 10 in singles play for 14 years — including a No. 1 world ranking in 1952. He helped the United States win three Davis Cup trophies — in 1946, 1948 and 1949 — and played for the US in 12 Davis Cup ties.

The tennis legend won a men's record 122 national and 19 international tennis titles and has won the World Senior Championship three times.

Mulloy has been inducted into nine sports hall of fames, including the International Tennis Hall of Fame in 1972.

In 2013, the City of Miami renamed a section of road near the 99-year-old's longtime home in Spring Gardens, calling it "Gardnar Mulloy Way."

In September of 2015, Mulloy was awarded the French Legion of Honour, the highest distinction in France, by the consulate general of France.

The French Legion of Honour, or in full the National Order of the Legion of Honour, was founded by Napoleon Bonaparte in 1802 to recognize eminent accomplishments of service to France.

In his late 20s, Mulloy served in the navy four years during World War II, earning the rank of lieutenant and commanding officer of a tank-landing ship, the USS Alameda County. His ship participated in the invasion of Southern France in August 1944.

Mulloy, who earned both his undergraduate and law degrees from the University of Miami, played football and boxed for the Hurricanes before starting the tennis program. As the head coach, he recruited Pancho Segura, a three-time NCAA singles champion.
