SCOUTING THE UNC WILMINGTON SEAHAWKS

First-year head coach Nicole Woods leads UNC Wilmington to Nebraska with a 2-5 record after suffering an 85-58 loss at Iowa State on Sunday.

The loss to the Cyclones was the second game in a four-game road swing that began with a 66-58 overtime win at Winthrop last Wednesday. The Seahawks jumped to a 15-2 lead in the first five minutes, but scored just 36 points in the next 35 minutes as the two teams went to overtime tied at 51. UNCW then outscored Winthrop 15-7 in the extra period.

The Seahawks are led by senior Evan Miller, who is averaging a team-best 13.1 points to go with 4.9 rebounds after a 19-point effort at Iowa State. The 5-11 guard leads UNCW with 10 three-pointers on the year. Miller carried the Seahawks to victory at Winthrop (Nov. 29) with a career-high 26 points on 9-of-16 shooting, including 3-of-5 from long range. She scored 18 in regulation, including a three in the right corner with five seconds left to trim the UNCW deficit to 49-48 before sinking three straight free throws with less than one second left to send the game to OT tied at 51. She added eight points in overtime to account for the final margin.

Redshirt freshman Taylor Henderson has added 12.9 points, 5.9 rebounds, 1.9 assists and 2.1 steals. The 5-11 guard is hitting just 26.2 percent (28-107) of her shots from the field, including 4-of-25 three-pointers. Henderson had 11 points, eight rebounds, nine turnovers and five fouls in the win at Winthrop. She banked in a 30-footer from the left wing to cut the UNCW deficit to 47-45 with 12 seconds left. She had 12 points and five rebounds at ISU.

Britany Range (4.7 ppg, 3.4 rpg) and Mary Ferrito (1.9 ppg, 3.1 rpg), a Wisconsin transfer, round out a group of four starting guards for the Seahawks. Range has hit a team-best 34.8 percent (8-23) from three-point range, but Ferrito has hit just 4-of-24 shots overall from the field, including 0-of-10 threes. Ferrito is averaging a team-best 3.3 assists per game.

• Freshman Kylah Silver gives UNCW a third double-figure scorer by averaging 11.3 points and 4.3 rebounds off the bench. The 5-7 guard averages more than five free throw attempts per game and is shooting 86.5 percent (32-37) at the line. She also ranks second on the team with 2.0 steals per game. Silver had 12 points in the loss at Iowa State.

• Sophomore McCall King gives UNCW more backcourt depth with the 5-10 guard averaging 4.1 points and 2.4 rebounds per game. Lexi Jackson, a 6-4 senior, leads UNCW inside with 5.1 points and team bests of 8.7 boards and 1.9 blocks.

HUSKERS CLOSE HOME STAND WITH UNCW

Nebraska hopes to cap a 3-0 home stand with a win over the UNC Wilmington Seahawks tonight at Pinnacle Bank Arena.

The Huskers improved to 2-0 on their current stand with a thrilling 80-72 come-from-behind victory over Georgia Tech on Saturday afternoon.

Jaz Shelley led Nebraska with game highs of 22 points and eight assists, as the Huskers turned a 15-point third-quarter deficit into an eight-point win behind sizzling second-half shooting.

The Huskers, who erupted for 33 points on 13-of-15 shooting from the field in the third quarter, finished a 58-point second half by hitting 75.9 percent (22-29) from the floor. Nebraska knocked down 8-of-12 three-pointers in the second half after going just 2-for-14 from beyond the arc in the first 20 minutes.

Alexis Markowski helped power the Huskers inside by notching her third straight double-double with 15 points and 10 rebounds. Markowski owns four double-doubles on the season and 25 in her career. The Lisa Leslie Award candidate leads the Big Ten in rebounding (9.3 rpg) and ranks seventh in scoring (17.1 ppg) through eight games. On Monday, Markowski earned her third spot in four weeks on the Big Ten's Weekly Honor Roll of the conference's top players.

Natalie Potts also continued her outstanding start to her career by adding 13 points, four rebounds and two assists in the win over the Yellow Jackets. Potts, a two-time Big Ten Freshman of the Week, leads the Big Ten in field goal percentage (.667), including a remarkable 79.5 percent (35-44) of her two-point attempts. She also has connected on 80 percent (16-20) of her free throws.

The 6-2 forward from O'Fallon, Mo., who was a two-time Missouri State Player of the Year, is putting up similar numbers through her first eight games to former Husker all-time great power forwards Kelsey Griffin, Jordan Hooper and Emily Cady.

Nebraska got big contributions off the bench against Georgia Tech from freshman Logan Nissley. The three-time North Dakota High School Player of the Year notched her third double-figure scoring effort of the season with 11 points, including a trio of three-pointers.

Freshman Jessica Petrie added five big points for Nebraska off the bench, while supplying important minutes at both the center and power forward positions to help the Huskers. Junior Kendall Coley pitched in five points of her own on back-to-back buckets in a 25-second span in the third quarter to ignite Nebraska's comeback against Georgia Tech.

The Huskers will try to continue building momentum against UNCW tonight as the Big Red prepares to open Big Ten Conference play on Saturday at Michigan State. Nebraska debuted at No. 37 in the first NCAA NET rankings of the season on Monday, while the 7-1 Spartans begin the year at No. 7 in the NET.

NEBRASKA VS. UNCW SERIES

• Tonight's game marks the first meeting in history between Nebraska and UNC Wilmington in women's basketball.

• Nebraska's last meeting against a team from North Carolina came in 2021-22, when the Huskers ran to an 84-60 victory over then-unbeaten Wake Forest in Winston-Salem (Dec. 1, 2021). Earlier in the 2021-22 season, the Huskers rolled to a 113-58 win over North Carolina Central at Pinnacle Bank Arena (Nov. 20).

• The Huskers are 4-0 against teams from North Carolina under Coach Amy Williams, including an 83-79 win over Duke in Lincoln (Dec. 4, 2019) and a 55-47 victory over Coastal Carolina in Daytona Beach, Fla. (Nov. 24, 2017).

THREE THINGS TO WATCH

1 Graduate guard Jaz Shelley became the 37th Husker in history to join Nebraska's 1,000-point club on Saturday. Shelley's banked, three-point hook shot from near the top of the key as the shot clock expired late in the fourth quarter not only sealed the win over Georgia Tech, it put her over 1,000 points as a Husker. Shelley also moved into the top five on Nebraska's career three-point list with 175, and moved into the top 10 on the Husker career assist list during the Georgia Tech game. She needs five assists against UNCW to reach 400 assists as a Husker.

2 Alexis Markowski is tied for fifth in Nebraska history with 25 career double-doubles, including four through eight games in 2023-24. Markowski needs eight double-doubles to catch Emily Cady (33) in fourth on the Nebraska career list. The only other players ahead of Markowski on the career list are first-team All-Americans Karen Jennings (36, 1990-93), Kelsey Griffin (40, 2006-10) and Jordan Hooper (40, 2011-14).

3 Natalie Potts reached 100 career points in her eighth career game, putting her in line with some of the best Husker freshmen in recent history in terms of their pace at reaching 100 points, including Jordan Hooper (6th game), Kelsey Griffin (7th), Kate Cain (10th), Sam Haiby (10th), Alexis Markowski (12th), Emily Cady (14th) and Isabelle Bourne (20th).

• Nebraska owns an eight-game winning streak overall against teams from North Carolina dating back to a 75-62 loss by the No. 15 Huskers at No. 18 North Carolina (Dec. 4, 2013). NU's winning streak started with a 60-54 win by the No. 12 Huskers over No. 9 Duke at PBA (Dec. 3, 2014) before an 83-57 win over High Point in Lincon (Dec. 20, 2014). In 2015-16, NU added an 88-47 win over North Carolina Central at PBA (Nov. 21, 2015) before an 88-67 victory over NC State in Lincoln (Dec. 3, 2015).

• The Huskers have never lost at home to a team from North Carolina, posting a perfect 9-0 record dating back to an 82-63 win over East Carolina at the Devaney Center on Dec. 30, 2000.
