NEBRASKA CONTINUES CLIMB IN NACDA DIRECTORS' CUP

Nebraska continued to rise in national prominence across its athletic programs in 2024-25, finishing 21st to achieve its highest final ranking in the NACDA Directors' Cup since 2010.

Season highlights included a Nebraska-best NCAA runner-up finish for Coach Mark Manning's wrestling team that included a pair of individual NCAA champions in Ridge Lovett and Antrell Taylor. The Huskers added top-four national finishes for volleyball led by NU's first female AAU Sullivan Award winner Lexi Rodriguez, bowling led by NTCA Player-of-the-Year Jillian Martin, and men's gymnastics led by Nissen-Emery Award winner Taylor Christopulos.

The Nebraska track and field programs added indoor national champions Tyus Wilson (high jump) and Axelina Johansson (shot put), while the softball team advanced to an NCAA Super Regional behind NFCA Player-of-the-Year Jordyn Bahl. Nebraska football added a bowl victory, and the Husker baseball team captured its second straight Big Ten title.

Husker Nation,
Thank you for your ongoing loyalty and unmatched support of Husker Athletics!

The past year has been a time of historic change and evolution in college sports that will greatly impact many aspects of our enterprise. Rest assured, Nebraska is prepared to adapt and excel in this new environment. We will do so while maintaining our standards of competing for championships, winning in the classroom and preparing our young men and women for life after athletics.

Our results in 2024-25 were a testament to that model. The trajectory of our overall athletic program is excellent, evidenced by our best finish since 2010 in the all-sports Directors' Cup standings. In the classroom, Nebraska continues to set the bar. Our student-athletes finished the spring semester with a record-setting cumulative GPA of 3.464, and we celebrated 11 Academic All-Americans.

At the same time, it is because of your passion and financial investment in Nebraska that we can continue to be a national leader in all these areas. Behind the amazing support of Husker fans like you, we have renewed our commitment to elite facilities, investing more than $20 million the past year. Attendance at our events continued to rank among the top 10 in the nation, and our number of donors and fundraising totals reached all-time highs.

As you can see, the 2024-25 season proved once again that There is No Place Like Nebraska!

Summer heat turned to fantastic fall weather for football, and the Huskers continued to grow in their second year under Head Coach Matt Rhule. The Big Red celebrated a Pinstripe Bowl victory at Yankee Stadium, as freshman quarterback Dylan Raiola emerged as a young leader.

Like the predictable changing of the seasons, Nebraska volleyball continued to win championships. In his final year guiding the Huskers, John Cook led the Big Red to the Big Ten title and the program's 18th appearance in the NCAA Semifinals in Louisville, before former Husker Dani Busboom Kelly took the reins for the future. Four-time All-American Lexi Rodriguez became Nebraska's first female winner of the AAU Sullivan Award. She was also named Nebraska's Female Athlete of the Year and Most Outstanding Female Student-Athlete across all sports. Teammates Bergan Reilly and Merritt Beason joined Rodriguez as All-Americans on the court and in the classroom during their Husker careers.

Sophomore Ali Bainbridge qualified for the NCAA Cross Country Championships after finishing fifth at the NCAA Midwest Regional, while Sarah Weber completed an outstanding Husker soccer career as a three-time first-team All-Big Ten selection.

Jordyn Bahl fueled Nebraska's success on the dirt by being named the Big Ten Player and Pitcher of the Year on her way to NU's first National Fastpitch Coaches Association Player-of-the-Year award for Coach Rhonda Revelle's red team.

Coach Peter Kobelt helped Nebraska earn an NCAA bid on the hard courts for the first time since 2011, as Calvin Mueller finished among the top 75 individuals in the nation for the second straight season.
