

HAIKU Poet, Maeve O' Sullivan

Newbridge College Library presents Maeve O'Sullivan, an Irish poet based in her home city of Dublin. Her poetry and haikai (haiku and related forms) have been widely published, anthologized and translated since the mid 1990s.

Maeve is a former prize-winner of the Brendan Kennelly Poetry Competition, the Listowel Writers' Week Poetry Competition and the Haiku Museum of Literature Award (via Blithe Spirit). Her work has also been nominated for both a Forward Prize and a Touchstone Award.

Maeve will visit our school on Tuesday 23rd September 2025 and host a Haiku workshop with 1st year students.

Writing for Screen

A workshop with Richie Conroy

We are delighted to announce that Richie will be visiting our school on Wednesday, January 14th, 2026, to deliver a screenwriting workshop for our students.

This exciting opportunity will allow students to explore the art of storytelling for screen, learn practical tips for developing characters, dialogue, and structure and gain insight into the creative process from a professional.

Richie Conroy has written feature films and television scripts for Disney, RTE, BBC, TG4 and broadcasters all around the world. Specialising in comedy, some of Richie's credits include Two by Two, Fran: Assistant Manager, The Wild Adventures of Blinky Bill, Roy and Drop Dead.
