

Here at Vintage Real Estate, LLC. your privacy is very important. Our privacy policy is in place to help users better understand the information that we will collect and how we use the information collected. We will not sell or expose your information. By using this website, you are agreeing to the privacy policy currently in place. If you do not agree with this policy, please do not use this website.

Information Collected

All personal information that is collected by Vintage such as name, address, contact info, etc. is voluntarily provided by the user. Vintage will also collect anonymous information such as date and time of website visit, IP address, and the features of the website accessed.

How Information is Used

We use the collected information to maintain and improve the high standard of service that Vintage provides to every customer. All personal information collected is used to help and better understand the wants and needs of the customer. Anonymous information is used to maintain and keep track of the website. This information also helps provide feedback and resolve problems related to our website.

Disclosure of Information

There are times when disclosure of personal information is requested such as sending contact information to an agent or affiliate of Vintage Real Estate. Anonymous information such as preferences regarding a property search may be sent to other websites such as the Multi List when you are redirected to that website. We reserve the right to disclose personal information only when required by the law or to protect our rights.

Third Party Sites

There are times when you will be redirected to a third party site. When visiting that site, you understand that this privacy policy does not apply and you will be following a different privacy policy set in place by that website. Vintage Real Estate is not responsible for the actions of other websites.

Cookies

The use of cookies is a standard practice on most websites. Cookies are certain pieces of information such as the username and password to your website login and other preferences that are saved on our website. These are used to assist you, collect data, and track the site usage.

Policy Changes

We reserve the right to modify this policy at any time without notification. Be sure to check the date of the policy and any possible changes upon site arrival. Any changes made to the policy are effective immediately and until further modification occurs.

Law

Vintage Real Estate, LLC. complies with Pennsylvania law. All agents at Vintage have proper and valid PA certifications and licenses.

Contact

Feel free to contact us with any questions or concerns regarding this policy at 724-941-8000 or email them to sue@vintagerealestatellc.com.