

WE WORK FOR YOU!

So now you have hired the McKnew Realty Group to sell your home. We thank you for putting your faith and trust in us and look forward to exceeding your expectations.

What is next? What can you expect during the process? What steps are being taken to keep your property secure during showings? What can you do to prepare for the professional photos that will be taken for the listing? What are the benefits of having a lock box on your home? How do we schedule and track showings of your home in order to get feedback from potential buyers? What websites will your home be listed on? How do buyers normally search for a new home?

These questions and more will be answered on the pages found in this section of our website. If we did not answer a particular question or you need clarification on anything, please feel free to call us. We are always glad to help and look forward to working with you.
