

Andrew Pudewa

Please Register at WiHomeschool.org

Thursday, April 19

WiHomeschool Event | FREE Event | 2 speakers Program opens at 6:00pm

Andrew Pudewa Program begins at 7:30 p.m.

Brookfield Lutheran Church
18500 W. Burleigh Rd. Brookfield, WI 53045

7:30-8:30 pm Nurturing Competent Communicators (Free event)

Many parents and teachers assume that good readers will naturally or automatically become good writers. Others think that writing talent is just a natural ability—some have it, others don't. Both are myths. History and observation show very clearly how good writers have developed, and what are the two most critical things parents and teachers can do to nurture a high level of aptitude—from a young age through high school. With humor and insight Andrew Pudewa will share the two easy but unbelievably powerful things that must be done at home and in the classroom to create confident communicators.

Friday, April 20

WiHomeschool Event | Milwaukee Area Technical College

MATC - Oak Creek Campus

6665 South Howell Avenue. Oak Creek, WI 53154-1196

1:00-3:00 pm Opening Keynote

Andrew Pudewa and other speakers

3:00-5:00 pm | Student Writing Clinic (Parents welcome to observe)

2-Hour Student Writing Clinic, taught LIVE by Andrew Pudewa

Intro to IEW for Students IEW (Grades 6–8+)

Units 1 and 2: Introduction to IEW

Students will be taught to create a Key Word Outline—the foundation for all IEW writing—and retell, represent, and dress up that work using various stylistic techniques.

Saturday, April 21

WiHomeschool Event | Milwaukee Area Technical College

MATC - Oak Creek Campus

6665 South Howell Avenue. Oak Creek, WI 53154-1196

9:00 – 10:50 am | Student Writing Clinic (Parents welcome to observe)

2-Hour Student Writing Clinic, taught LIVE by Andrew Pudewa

Advanced Student Workshop Unit 7: Inventive Writing

Students will learn to tackle the “blank page” by retrieving information from their brains, creating a key word outline, writing a multiple paragraph essay, and applying selected stylistic techniques. Students should have had at least one year of IEW experience.

11:00 – 11:50 am | Keynote Andrew Pudewa

Freedomship and Entrepreneurial Education

Many of us realize that we value home education not only because it often results in better academics, superior social environments, and enriched family life, but because it builds a better community and country. The result of true liberal education—a freedomship education—will be not only young men and women who know how to think and communicate, but who think evangelically and entrepreneurially. To revive a culture of self-sufficiency and freedom requires more people with the owner/entrepreneur mindset and fewer with the employee mindset. Join Andrew for a discussion of how to cultivate an entrepreneurial, or georgic, aptitude in our children. The future of freedom may depend on it.

2:00- 2:50 pm | Workshop with Andrew Pudewa

Teaching Boys & Other Children Who Would Rather Make Forts All Day

Children like to do what they can do, they want to do what they think they can do, and they hate to do what they think they cannot do. If you want excited and enthusiastic children who learn well, you must understand these key laws of motivation, and focus on the essential requirement of relevancy. If it matters, children will learn it, and if it doesn't, they won't. This session will enlighten you with specific ways to find and create relevancy for children, even when they have no apparent interest.

3:00-3:50 pm | Workshop with Andrew Pudewa

Strategies for Winning the College Writing Game

Is your high school student planning to attend college? This workshop will provide invaluable insights for achieving success in college-level writing. Applicable to college course work as well, you'll learn techniques for generating excellent content, writing compelling essays, and mastering style variations so that the final product appeals to the audience—in this case, the college professor! Parents, teachers, teens: Don't miss this workshop filled with strategies for successful college writing!