

Presenting with impact

INSPIRATIONAL SESSION

How to make your message stick?

Everyone knows the feeling... It's almost upon you to present at a meeting or event. You feel nervous, your heart is racing, you pull yourself together and start the first slide in good spirits. Until ... you notice that the audience is staring at you, as if you were speaking another language. What a nightmare! You start to doubt yourself: am I really that boring?

The answer is simple: no, you are not boring. But the way you tell your story could probably be better. In this inspirational session, you will learn how to present with impact.

Rest assured; we won't call you to the front. As you sit safely in your own chair, the speaker will inspire you with numerous presentation techniques, such as eye contact, powerful silences and varied intonation to create a bond with the audience and make the message resonate. Some basic lifehacks that you too can apply to engage listeners in your story. The goal? To make you a confident speaker. So that from now on your audience will participate enthusiastically and interactively. Let's make the sky the limit!
