

Instantly Accessible External Threat Intelligence

As the pace of cybercrime continues to accelerate, gaining combative advantages over your adversaries is essential. Organizations can no longer focus only on blindly protecting the corporate network. Cyber defense must extend beyond the perimeter to identify threats early, understand new hacker TTPs, and take action to discover, analyze, and mitigate threats before they cause damage to your company, employees, brand, and customers.

Taking the Complexity out of Threat Intelligence

Delivered through an elegant single pane of glass and deployed in a matter of hours, IntSights provides enterprise-grade external threat intelligence capabilities that enable security teams to defend against a rapidly evolving threat landscape. When compared with other TI solutions, IntSights significantly reduces the workload on security teams by taking the complexity out of threat intelligence. Customers, on average, enjoy an ROI of $2.1 million after three years using the IntSights platform.
