Name: The Barbara Bush Foundation
For Family Literacy Inc

Form 990 (2017)

Form 990, Part III, Line 4a:

The Barbara Bush Foundations two-generation family literacy programs provide parents and their young children, typically birth through age five, the opportunity to improve their literacy skills in the same learning environment. The most recent evaluation determined that parents enrolled in the programs, on average, improved their literacy skills by two grade levels in one year. Nearly half of all preschoolers entering the programs were at risk for developmental delays. By the end of the program, only 14% remained at risk, representing a 70% decrease in the number of children at risk for developmental delays. Programs funded in 2017-18 served more than 50 families and include the SPICE program in Thorndike, Maine, Learn Tampa Bay in Plant City, Florida, and Food Brings Hope in Daytona Beach, Florida. The Foundations early literacy efforts also include working with Talk With Me Baby, an early childhood language development program based on the latest science in brain development. This public action campaign is aimed at coaching parents and caregivers on ways to nourish children neurologically, socially, and linguistically through high-quality, engaging language. The Foundation worked with the Florida Childrens Council to translate this material for early literacy providers and delivered several training workshops on language nutrition in Florida. The Barbara Bush Foundation partnered with Pi Beta Phi, a national sorority, to develop and present training on literacy advocacy to Pi Beta Phi members in five locations across the U S. Pi Beta Phi members then used the materials and training resources to advocate for literacy in their own communities. The Barbara Bush Foundation contracted with vendor MDR to create a digital platform called Story Mentors for first graders, which includes 25 online books accompanied by mentor and parent guides. The materials have been reviewed by teachers across the nation and are now available for free to the public.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4b:

The Foundations Teen Trendsetters(TM) program engages both parents and volunteer teen mentors to support literacy skill development in 1st, 2nd, and 3rd graders who are, on average, half a year behind in reading. Parents sign a contract agreeing to read with their child at least twice a week, and over the course of the program, children receive 15 books to add to their personal home libraries. Each student is also paired with a teen who has been trained as a reading mentor, and the pairs meet weekly to practice reading during one-on-one mentoring sessions. The 2016-17 Teen Trendsetters evaluation report shows that, on average, mentees increase their reading by 1.24 grade levels. In addition, the five-year aggregate evaluation report from 2011-2016 shows that, on average, students in grades 1-3 achieved 18 to 31 percent more growth in their reading skills than one would expect for children their age. The Barbara Bush Foundations two-generation family literacy programs provide parents and their young children, typically birth through age five, the opportunity to improve their literacy skills in the same learning environment. The most recent evaluation determined that parents enrolled in the programs, on average, improved their literacy skills by two grade levels in one year. Nearly half of all preschoolers entering the programs were at risk for developmental delays. By the end of the program, only 14% remained at risk, representing a 70% decrease in the number of children at risk for developmental delays.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4c:

Today, 36 million Americans cannot read above a basic level, and only 2.1 million of those without a high school diploma are served by in-classroom programs through government funding. Nearly 15 percent of America's adult population is low-literate. These adults are more likely to be unemployed, to go to prison, and to be hospitalized. Their children are at a significantly higher risk of being low-literate themselves, perpetuating the cycle. The negative consequences affect not only individuals and their families, but our nation as a whole. Even a slight rise in literacy skills can boost labor productivity exponentially and decrease health care costs significantly. In response to this crisis, the Barbara Bush Foundation joined with the XPRIZE Foundation and the Dollar General Literacy Foundation to launch the world's first-ever Adult Literacy XPRIZE competition. Designed to encourage mobile application developers to focus on adult literacy, the competition will award up to $7 million in prizes to winning mobile learning applications able to improve reading levels for low-literate adults in just one year. The apps will enable adult learners to learn at any time and in any place, through use of their smartphones and tablets. The competition field, which originally numbered 109 teams from 15 countries, has been narrowed to five finalist teams. The applications created by these teams are now being field tested with nearly 12,000 adult learners in three cities across the country: Dallas, Los Angeles, and Philadelphia. In addition to increasing the development of educational technology through the app development phase of the competition, the Foundation is playing an integral role in increasing reach to low-literate adults. This year the Foundation and its partners nationwide are engaging communities in a competition aimed at placing the winning Adult Literacy XPRIZE apps into the hands of as many low-literate adults as possible, with $1 million in prizes to the participating communities.
