Form 990, Part III, Line 4a:

Health & Safety Immigrant Survivors of Partner Violence (ISPV) Through a partnership with 20 agencies, ISPV reaches across cultural and language barriers to assist immigrant women experiencing domestic abuse, providing supportive services, securing documents, legal services, job training, and training community partners. In 2017, ISPV served 116 individuals. Transform Adult, formerly Amend is a program for adult males who engage in domestic violence that helps them take responsibility for their actions, examine and confront the values, beliefs and attitudes that contribute to violence, and develop non-violent alternatives for dealing with conflict and managing anger. 586 adults participants were served in 2017. Amend Adolescent is a prevention/intervention program for youth involved in or at risk for violent behaviors. In 2017, 209 adolescents and 265 parents were served. Child Welfare Domestic Violence Connection Program (CWDVCP) The YWCA partners with Hamilton County Job & Family Services (JFS)-Children's Protective Services to provide support and services to families and children exposed to domestic violence. In 2017, the program served 706 parents and children. Co-Ed Fitness Center is a downtown facility managed by TriHealth that offers comprehensive, medically based fitness services, including personal training and group fitness classes. In 2017, 410 members were served. Non-Residential Domestic Violence Services help survivors of domestic violence, sexual assault, and stalking in Brown and Clermont counties and nonresidential case management services are offered in Adams and Brown counties. 165 clients were assisted in 2017. Domestic Violence Impacts the Workplace Project offers technical assistance and crisis intervention to area corporations, agencies, and professionals about domestic violence's effects on the workplace, as well as consultations on policies and procedures in human resources, security, and legal liability. Family Violence Prevention Project is a collaborative of over 40 partners dedicated to preventing all forms of family violence: child abuse, children exposed to domestic violence, bullying, teen dating violence, abuse of people with disabilities, and intimate partner violence. In 2017, 253 individuals were trained through the FVPP Children Exposed to Domestic Violence (CEDV) training, 86 individuals were served through Project CARE and 872 youth were served through prevention services in Hamilton County schools. Project CARE is a groundbreaking, national model that provides life-saving solutions for women and men with physical, cognitive and mental disabilities who are threatened by caregiver, partner and sexual abuse. Prevention & Intervention Services include court advocacy, case management, and support group services for adults impacted by domestic violence, sexual assault, and stalking as well as school-based prevention programs for middle and high school students in Clermont, Brown and Adams counties (2,629 students served in 2017). Hamilton County Domestic Violence Shelter provides safe protective shelter, crisis line assistance and necessary supportive services for adults and their children to move them toward self-sufficiency, independence and freedom from abuse. In 2017, 596 adults and children were served and the 24-hour crisis hotline logged approximately 10,706 calls. Margaret's Place is a school-based program that focuses on supporting the social and emotional health of young people impacted by domestic violence, child abuse, and community violence. A full-time counselor serves students in a dedicated room at Riverview East school providing individual, and group counseling as well as schoolwide education. 65 students were served in 2017. House of Peace Domestic Violence Shelter provides domestic violence emergency shelter for individuals and their children in Clermont, Brown and Adams counties. In 2017, 140 adults and children were sheltered and the 24-hour crisis hotline logged approximately 5,454 calls. Transitional Living Program provides services to adults and their children who have moved beyond the emergency phase of domestic violence and are making the transition to independent living. Short and long-term housing, case management, job readiness training, and advocacy are provided. 150 adults and children were served in the TLP program in 2017, 83 were served in the TLP Rapid Re-Housing program and 145 were served in the TLP Aftercare program.
