Supplemental Information

Return Reference	Explanation
Part X : FIN48 Footnote	RMI is exempt from federal income taxes under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and the application of state law. The accounting standard on accounting for uncertainty in income taxes addresses the determination of whether tax benefits claimed or expected to be claimed on a tax return should be recorded in the financial statements. Under that guidance, RMI may recognize the tax benefit from an uncertain tax position only if it is more likely than not that the tax position will be sustained on examination by taxing authorities based on the technical merits of the position. The tax benefits recognized in the financial statements from such a position are measured based on the largest benefit that has a greater than fifty percent likelihood of being realized upon ultimate settlement. Examples of tax positions include the tax-exempt status of RMI and various positions related to the potential sources of unrelated business taxable income (UBIT). There were no unrecognized tax benefits identified for the years ended. RMI files Form 990. RMI is generally no longer subject to examination by the Internal Revenue Service three years after the forms were filed.
