Name: CHILD ABUSE PREVENTION ASSOCIATION

Form 990 (2017)

Form 990, Part III, Line 4a:

Counseling Child Abuse Prevention Association (CAPA) Counseling Program provides trauma-focused individual and group therapy and case management services for child victims of abuse and their non-offending family members. The Counseling Program is designed to help children, youth, and their families overcome the negative effects of traumatic life events such as child sexual abuse, physical abuse or exposure to family or community violence. Counseling increases the protective factors of stress-management skills, affect regulation, problem solving, safety skills, communication skills, self-esteem, and interpersonal trust. One of the benefits of receiving counseling services at CAPA is there is no limit on how long counseling clients can be enrolled. In 2017, the average counseling client was on track to be seen by a CAPA therapist for 18 months. Annual numbers served is also impacted by CAPA's low attrition rate, which has a direct correlation to the high rate of client satisfaction. CAPA maintains. In 2017, this program served a total of 448 individuals. Donated specialized services for this program totaled $154,848 and donated volunteer hours were valued at $3,640. In addition to the previously mentioned clinical services and accomplishments, CAPA provides prevention education. Prevention Education CAPA's abuse prevention education programming is designed to empower communities to create healthy and safe homes for children. The goal of this service is to prevent child abuse by giving parents, caregivers, educators and children the tools and knowledge needed to keep kids healthy and safe. As part of its prevention strategy, CAPA provides educational programming to the community which includes parenting classes, mandated reporter training to area childcare workers and school district employees, and safety-skills training to elementary-aged children designed to give children the tools needed to protect themselves from abuse. In 2017, this program served at least 245 individuals with prevention education programming. CAPA's programs and operations were supported in 2017 by 86 volunteers who generated more than 5,000 hours of service.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4b:

Family Support Services CAPA's prevention efforts includes on-going family support services designed to keep kids safe from abuse by strengthening families through in-home case management as well as an intensive parenting support group. These services prevent child abuse by increasing family resiliency, knowledge of parenting and child development, and to increase the presence of social supports within the family. They also help to increase bonding and attachment between parents and children. CAPA bases its home-visiting program on the Healthy Families America model and the parenting support group on the Strengthening Families curriculum created by the University of Iowa. These tools give CAPA a powerful and verifiable strategy for helping to keep kids safe from child abuse. In 2017, this program served 119 individuals. Donated specialized services totaled $45,835.09 and donated volunteer hours were valued at $24.
