Form 990, Part III, Line 4b:

Economic Impact our programs are built with sustainability in mind, as we refurbish donated computers for resale to income-qualified consumers, and we offer tech support and internet service support to community centers and non-profits serving the urban core. In 2016 we sold nearly 300 computer and connected over 1400 internet subscribers in low-income housing. With growing demand from residents and non-profits for more computers and Internet service, we are targeting a 50% increase in earned income from computer sales and tech support, helping to defray the costs of our services to the community.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4c:

Environment Through our donation centers, computer refurbishing, and responsible recycling of any unused computer equipment, our communities benefit from the planet-friendly impact on our environment. Through a partnership with Surplus Exchange, a certified recycler of tech equipment, we have prevented several tons of landfill from claiming unused computers. In 2016, with our new Linwood Center, and a planned expansion of our attended donation center customer service and remote scheduled pickups, we are looking to increase the number of donated computers we service and the amount of recyclable material we generate.
