Form 990, Part III, Line 4a:

Green Team Through hands-on, people-to-people community engagement, Green Team Groundwork RVA is helping teens innovate important strategies to support resiliene and health in the City of Richmond. Due to the pandemic, 2021 saw Groundwork RVA continue its scale back activity in the National Park Service immersion program for safety reasons. Green Team members were able to travel relatively locally to Shenandoah National Park in service learning capacities. They continued to work locally in small groups with a focus on urban agriculture and learning how to grow their own food. An important partner in this effort was Happily Natural Day and Virginia Commonwealth University's Institute for Contemporary Art. Working remotely, Groundwork RVA made sure that Richmond youth were connected to other, outdoor and environmentally motivated young people from around the country in a number of ways. 2021 also saw the planning for a first season of an innovative, community-based urban agriculture installation, a mini-farm at the Hillside Court public housing community. The Green Team served over 40 youth in 2021.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4b:

Green Workforce In 2021, Groundwork RVA's Green Workforce program continued its expansion into a full year, workplace-based workforce training program. Green Workforce provided over 5,000 hours of paid work to Richmond young adults in 2021. Utilizing many of the spaces they had helped to build-out in 2017 at the Six Points Innovation Center in Richmond's Highland Park neighborhood, the teens continued building their skills and training in the safe use of tools and equipment, while learning valuable leadership, critical thinking and project planning and management skills. Green Workforce teens designed and installed over 2,500 square feet of permeable pathways in community gardens and other facilities around the city, to help manage storm water run-off and improve the health of the James River. The teens also cut grass and maintained the landscaping at multiple Richmond Public School sites. These teens - showed up every day, collaborated in designing the day's and week's tasks, drove to sites, loaded and unloaded the necessary tools and equipment, and used those tools and equipment safely to build, install, or maintain elements of the built environment and often managed the volunteers who came to help. Through the Green Workforce, Groundwork RVA helped prepare teens for careers in carpentry and building trades, landscaping and green infrastructure as well as created opportunities for teens to build skills in financial management. The Green Workforce worked on 15 different sites in 2021.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4c:

Bellemeade Community Bike Shop The Bellemeade Community Bike Shop is a program of Groundwork RVA that began in 2018 with goal to bring more access to biking and biking resources, education, and opportunities to the black and brown youth of Richmond's Southside communities. What started out with the goal of mainly getting youth on bikes has grown into a multi-faceted program that offers youth opportunities to volunteer in their community to earn a bike, participate in bike trips and activities, and have access to free bike repairs, where they also get hands-on instruction on how to fix their own bike. Through the bike shop, students took part in an after-school bike club, which in time of the pandemic was a welcome respite to days filled with online learning. In 2021 the "bike or walk to school" program continued being suspended, but the "AAA Bikes For Success" giveaway program continued. In 2021 the Bike shop started a new program, Camp Spokes, targeted specifically at young women and gender-nonconforming youth, who experience had shown, often were in need of safe space to really experience the world of bikes and biking comfortably. The week-long camp was free and served 15 middle-school aged young people. The bike shop made over 250 bikes accessible to South Richmond young people and their families.

Other	Vision: Groundwork RVA works with Richmond youth to increase environmental, economic, and social well-being in neighborhoods by transforming blighted and neglected open spaces into vibrant public assets. Groundwork RVA seeks four tangible results, which are deeply inter related; success in one of these factors leverages success in the other three. 1. YOUTH ARE PREPARED FOR SUCCESS. Groundwork RVA helps youth prepare for educational and/or career success by designing, interpreting, building, and maintaining Richmond's green network. Youth leave our programs with knowledge and job skills that will serve them. Some will successfully enter the green workforce, and over time, move into new or advanced roles. Some will go to college, and over time, may find work in conservation, environmental science, or a related field. 2. RACIAL EQUITY. Groundwork RVA promotes racial equity and social justice by cultivating the participation of Black and Brown youth leaders in conservation, recreation and the civic life of Richmond. Our work centers people who have typically been marginalized or excluded from environmental benefits and forced instead to live with environmental harms from pollution, toxins, climate change impacts, and lack of green space in their neighborhoods. 3. A GREENER RICHMOND. Groundwork RVA collaborates with public and private partners to maintain and expand access to Richmond's network of green spaces and sustainable infrastructure; enhance the health of the James River and urban tributaries; and address the impacts of climate change and environmental neglect in Richmond's impacted neighborhoods. We're making our city landscape a healthier, more resilient urban environment for all its residents. 4. IMPROVED HEALTH AND QUALITY OF LIFE FOR ALL RESIDENTS. Groundwork RVA works with Richmond youth to advocate for better quality of life and improved health for all Richmond residents. Young leaders expand awareness of environmental impacts on community life and help neighbors have a voice in creating equitable solutions. From increased bicycle, pedestrian, and transit accessible recreational spaces and jobs to the installation of urban gardens and greenways, our work helps improve the social determinants needed for health and wellness.
