Part VI, Question 12C

The Board of Directors has adopted a written conflict of interest policy for the organization. It applies to officers, directors, and key employees. Each year, each covered person is required to review the policy and disclose any conflicts of interest and any relationships which could give rise to a conflict of interest. Under the conflict of interest policy, the person with the potential conflict must disclose it and either recuse him or herself from all aspects of the decision making process or absent him or herself from the meeting at which the determination of whether a conflict exists is made. participate in the discussion of the transaction or the decision of whether to enter into the transaction. Potential conflicts at the Board level are reviewed by the Board; conflicts at the staff level are reviewed by senior management.

Part VI, Question 15

The Board of Directors has appointed a compensation committee and retained the services of a compensation consultant for the purposes of determining employee compensation. Upon the recommendation of the consultant and the committee, the Board has adopted salary ranges for each position in the organization based on the market conditions at comparable peer organizations for such a position. These ranges are updated annually based on the recommendations of the compensation consultant. The Board approves the compensation of the executive vice president of the organization, who also serves as the chief executive officer of the District of Columbia Bar, a related organization. The executive vice president recommends to the Board of Directors the compensation for the organization's executive director and key employees. This recommendation is then approved by the Board.
