Manna Tutorial Program This program is in operation during the regular public school system school year for students attending school in grades K-12 to provide academic assistance, and attention for maintaining good grades in their schoolwork, less opportunities for participating in risky behavior, participating in criminal activities, or becoming a victim of crime during the critical hours of 2:30 to 8 p.m. Monday - Friday, Homework assistance Monday - Thursday Homework period is designed to motivate students to independently completed their homework, thereby developing the necessary habit including completing special project assignments. Help and supervision is available from program staff. Students who are unable to complete homework in this period at the discretion of the program coordinator are allowed to finish while others are involved in enrichment activities. The students have access to the computer lab for completing homework that requires computer and Internet. Tutoring Group and individual tutoring is available. Tutoring is provided in Language Arts, reading, mathematics, spelling, phonics, science, geography, social studies and other subjects as request by students, teachers, and parent or by grades students receive. Reading Students receive assistance to enable them to read at their appropriate or above grade level by providing time after homework to read from a rich range of interesting books and other material. The literacy enrichment activity teaches reading, writing and mathematics through games and other exciting activities. The tutors and teachers assist students. Topics change weekly and are chosen by the project director to address students' problem areas and to reinforce concepts concurrently being taught in the regular classroom. Hands-on manipulative and one-on-one tutoring is used to reinforce techniques in punctuation, syllabication and synonyms and homonyms. Expanded academic enrichment opportunities are offered using teaching equipment and supplies, i.e., Leapfrog, and other learning games. These tools provide means of working with mathematics, science and geography. Students learn to master principals for testing in different academic topics in order to pass standardized or other tests they are required to take. Activities are age and grade appropriate. Most material comes from EdHelper, Teachers Created Resources and other educational resources organizations that we have a subscription with permission to print needed material. To advance higher order thinking skills, group problem-solving skills, communications skills and self-confidence, a fun and dynamic setting is used that result in amazing self-discoveries. Students learn team-building skills such as trust, cooperation, and support. The project director leads these activities. Mathematics Caf   each Friday students receive tutoring and mathematics skill building. This activity is designed to increase mathematic abilities and improve degraded. Technology Center Students have access to technology center for research and preparing class assignment. Transportation is provided from school to MTP site, and to home from MTP site as needed by participants. Physical Activities recreational activities or activities that can be accomplished on a playground, such as jump rope, kickball, etc. skating and bowling are physical activities that students participate in away from the site. Field trips take place on days school is not in session. Students participate in the Cherry Blossom activity in the park, Georgia State Fair, attend local movies, and other activities in the city. Only students with good attendance participates in daily activities, receive good grades, and have no behavior problems at the program or at school are rewarded participation in these activities. Return Reference	Explanation
Form 990, Part VI, Section B, Line 12c	Before implementation of any project, all directors are required to complete disclosure forms. Directors normally provide services when all persons are volunteers, or at community forums. Anyone doing work with the organization must complete a Conflict of Interest Statement prior to being accepted to work with the organization for any type of pay. Our programs/projects/services are targeted and criteria must be met in order to participate. Applications are completed by those requesting opportunities to participate for review to negate conflict of interest of clients that are related to directors when requesting free or reduced fees.
