Part II, Line 9	The University records the easement in its statement of financial position as part of the cost of the land purchased for the University's law school in Orlando

Supplemental Information

Return Reference	Explanation
Part III, Line 4	The collection of books relates to theology, philosophy, religious studies, and supporting disciplines

Return Reference	Explanation
Part V, Line 4	The University's unrestricted endowments are restricted by the University's Board of Trustees. The Board can appropriate as much of the net appropriation on board-designated endowments as is prudent considering the University's present and anticipated financial requirements, expected total return on investments, price level trends, and general economic conditions. The income derived from permanently restricted endowed funds is to be used for various programs sponsored by the University in accordance with the donor's wishes and is classified as unrestricted or temporary restricted net assets, in accordance with the donor's wishes.

Return Reference	Explanation
Part X, Line 2	The University is exempt from federal and state income taxes under Section 501(a) of the Internal Revenue Code (the Code) as an organization described in Section 501(c)(3) of the Code. Accordingly, the financial statements do not include an income tax provision, except for certain taxable transactions. The University complies with the provisions of Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) 740 (formerly Financial Accounting Standards Board Interpretation (FASB) No. 48, Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes - An Interpretation of FASB Statement No. 109 ("FIN 48")). Under ASC 740, the University must recognize the tax benefit associated with tax positions taken for tax return purposes when it is more-likely-than-not that the position will be sustained. Management of the University does not believe there are any material uncertain tax positions and accordingly has not recognized any liability for unrecognized tax benefits. The University has filed for and received income tax exemptions in the jurisdictions where it is required to do so. Additionally, the University has filed Internal Revenue Service Form 990 tax returns as required and all other applicable returns in those jurisdictions where it is required. The University believes that it is no longer subject to U.S. federal, state and local, or non-U.S. income tax examinations by tax authorities for years before 2015. However, the University is still open to examinations by taxing authorities from fiscal year 2015 forward. For the years ended June 30, 2018 and 2017, there was no interest or penalties recorded or included in the consolidated statements of activities. Earnings from unrelated business activities were not significant for the years ended June 30, 2018 and 2017. Accordingly, no provision for income taxes has been made in accompanying consolidated financial statements.

990 Schedule O, Supplemental Information

Return Reference	Explanation
Form 990, Part VI, Section B, line 12c	On an annual basis, under the conflict of interest policy, each covered person shall execute an annual disclosure statement disclosing the facts related to any covered relationship. Ongoing a covered person shall disclose the existence and nature of any covered relationship and all material facts prior to the consideration of a proposed transaction or arrangement by the board (for a trustee or the president) or the ECA (executive committee of the administration) (for covered persons not trustees). In the event that a potential conflict of interest arises at a board meeting for a trustee or the president, then the covered person having such a covered relationship in any matter shall disclose any material facts as to such covered relationship to the board in the event that a potential conflict of interest arises outside a board meeting and/or for a covered person not a trustee, then the covered person having such a covered relationship in any matter shall disclose any material facts as to such covered relationship to the ECA. After disclosure by a trustee or the president to the board of a covered relationship and all material facts, and after any discussion with the covered person, he/she shall leave the board meeting while the determination of a conflict of interest is discussed and voted upon. After disclosure by anyone other than a trustee to the ECA of a covered relationship and all material facts, and after any discussion with the covered person, the ECA will discuss and vote upon the determination of a conflict of interest. A covered person that is a trustee or the president may make a presentation to the board, but after such presentation, he/she shall leave the meeting during the discussion of, and the vote on, the financial transaction or arrangement that causes a conflict of interest. The chairperson of the board, if appropriate in his/her discretion, may appoint a disinterested person or committee to investigate alternatives to the proposed financial transaction or arrangement. After exercising due diligence, the board shall determine whether the University can obtain a more advantageous financial transaction or arrangement with reasonable efforts from a person or entity that would not give rise to a conflict of interest. If a more advantageous financial transaction or arrangement is not reasonably attainable under circumstances that would not give rise to a conflict of interest, the board shall determine by a super majority vote of the disinterested directors whether the financial transaction or arrangement is in the university's best interest and for its own benefit and whether the financial transaction is fair and reasonable to the university and shall make its decision as to whether to enter into the financial transaction or arrangement in conformity with such determination. A covered person (not a trustee) may make a presentation to the ECA, but after such presentation, he/she shall leave the meeting during the discussion of, and

The ECA, if appropriate in its discretion, may appoint a disinterested person or committee to investigate alternatives to the proposed financial transaction or arrangement. After exercising due diligence, the ECA shall determine whether the university can obtain a more advantageous financial transaction or arrangement with reasonable efforts from a person or entity that would not give rise to a conflict of interest. If a more advantageous financial transaction or arrangement is not reasonably attainable under circumstances that would not give rise to a conflict of interest, the ECA shall determine by a majority vote of the disinterested ECA members whether the financial transaction or arrangement is in the university's best interest and for its own benefit and whether the financial transaction is fair and reasonable to the university and shall make its decision as to whether to enter into the financial transaction or arrangement in conformity with such determination. If a majority vote cannot be attained by the ECA then the conflict of interest will be decided by the board. If the board has reasonable cause to believe that a trustee or president has failed to disclose one or more covered relationships, it shall inform the trustee or president of the basis for such belief and afford the trustee or president an opportunity to explain the alleged failure to disclose. If, after hearing the response of the trustee or president and making such further investigation as may be warranted in the circumstances, the board determines that the trustee or president has in fact knowingly failed to disclose an actual or possible conflict of interest, it shall take appropriate disciplinary and corrective action as it deems proper in its sole discretion. The violation of this policy is a serious matter and may result in the removal of the trustee from the board or the termination of the president's contractual relationship with the university. If the ECA has reasonable cause to believe that a covered employee has failed to disclose one or more covered relationships, it shall inform the covered employee of the basis for such belief and afford the covered employee an opportunity to explain the alleged failure to disclose. If, after hearing the response of the covered employee and making such further investigation as may be warranted in the circumstances, the ECA determines that the covered employee has in fact knowingly failed to disclose an actual or possible conflict of interest, it shall take appropriate disciplinary and corrective action as it deems proper in its sole discretion.
