Return Reference	Explanation
Statement of Program Service Accomplishments	During 2015, the Tennessee Justice Center handled 919 new cases for low-income clients in the resolution of their legal problems, some of which involved administrative appeals procedures outside the judicial system. The Center also conducted training for private attorneys to enable them to handle such appeals on a pro bono basis. These cases served the public by promoting the rule of law by holding government programs and contractors accountable for compliance with the law, and affording access to Equal Justice under Law to indigent clients who would not have otherwise been able to vindicate their legal rights. In addition to those services, the organization litigated the following cases in the judicial system in 2015: Wilson v. Gordon, Doc No. 3:14-CV-01492 (MD Tenn.) This suit was filed in July 2014 to address serious barriers to enrollment and medical care for low-income Tennesseans eligible for Medicaid, which is known as "TennCare" in Tennessee. Beginning in January 2014, Tennessee refused to accept and process applications for almost all types of Medicaid coverage, forcing Tennesseans to rely exclusively on the federal Marketplace as the sole point of access to TennCare. In-person assistance is no longer available, as required by federal law, and the state is in violation of a legal requirement authorizing hospitals to enroll some eligible families on an expedited basis. These violations have resulted in massive delays in the processing of applications for TennCare and have disrupted or delayed necessary medical care for hundreds of thousands of Tennesseans of all ages. On September 2, 2014, the court certified the case as a class action and granted a preliminary injunction to the Center's clients. The injunction provides the class interim protection until the trial, which is expected to occur next year. The preliminary injunction requires the state to provide an administrative appeal, including a fair hearing, upon request to anyone whose TennCare application has been delayed without a decision beyond the federal time limit, which is 45 days in most cases. Over twenty thousand people have appealed since September, and the majority have been enrolled in TennCare. This case serves the public interest by protecting vulnerable individuals and vindicating their rights under federal statutes and the Constitution. Binta B v. Gordon, No. 79-3107 (U.S. District Court for the Middle District of Tennessee). TJC serves as class counsel for 1.4 million Tennesseans enrolled in TennCare in a federal class action lawsuit now known as Binta B v. Gordon. Over a 30-year period, this case has produced a series of rulings protecting the constitutional due process rights of TennCare enrollees when their TennCare managed care contractors refuse to pay for medical care. The consent decrees subject medical service denials by TennCare's managed care contractors to heightened scrutiny and create special due process protections for vulnerable populations, such as people with disabilities and children in state custody. The decrees have been hailed as landmarks for managed care patients. In 2014, the state asked that the orders be set aside and the case closed, claiming that it had fully complied with the law and Constitution. During 2015, TJC negotiated an agreement in which the orders' key features remain in effect through December 2016, and TJC will continue to monitor compliance. This case serves the public interest by ensuring that vulnerable patients receive medically necessary care, and that a publicly funded program complies with federal laws and the Constitution. Doe v. Henderson, No. A-7980-1 (Davidson County, Tennessee Chancery Court) is a class action in which a series of agreed orders govern the state's treatment of juvenile offenders with intellectual disabilities. The orders were entered in the 1980s and established operational protocols for children committed through the juvenile justice system to the custody of what is now the Department of Children's Services (DCS). TJC is responsible for monitoring compliance. In 2015, TJC investigated complaints from Juvenile Court officials in Memphis that children committed to DCS from that community were being warehoused without programs or treatment required by Doe. Negotiations with DCS officials led to corrective action. This case advances the public interest by ensuring that juvenile offenders are treated humanely and receive education and treatment that reduce the risk that they will recidivate. TJC sought and received attorneys' fees in a single case in 2015. TJC received an award of $10,819 in 2015 in a case brought under the Civil Rights Act of 1871 to enforce the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution, as well as provisions of the federal Medicaid Act. The award was authorized by the terms of a confidential settlement. The case involved the wrongful denial of Medicaid (known in Tennessee as "TennCare") coverage to TJC's client, who was a new born infant with multiple serious medical conditions. The settlement was wholly favorable to TJC's client, and provided TennCare coverage for over $100,000 of medically necessary care. The case served the public interest by increasing the accountability of a taxpayer-supported program and ensuring that the program conformed its actions to the law.
