Direct shall not enter into any transaction which the board of directors is aware that any director has a material interest by virtue of his other association with the other party to the transaction unless the board of directors has determined in good faith that the following tests have been met: 1. Direct is entering into the transaction for its own benefit, 2. The transaction is fair and reasonable to Direct, 3. The transaction has received the approval of the board, acting in good faith, by a vote of a majority of the directors then in office without counting the vote of interested directors, 4. Such vote has taken place with knowledge of all of the material facts concerning the transaction and of the interest of the directors possessing a material financial interest, and 5. Prior to the vote the board has determined in good faith and after reasonable investigation that direct could not have obtained a more advantageous agreement with reasonable effort.
