HOSPICE

We believe in living each day to the fullest, because every day matters.

A John Knox Village service in your community.

Hospice care guided by dignity and grace.

At the heart of Village Hospice is the belief that each person deserves to live each day to its fullest, and each family deserves to be fully supported and informed. This is our passion, and we take it very seriously.

Facing a life-limiting illness requires strength and unwavering support. The professionals of Village Hospice maintain a great regard for the dignity of their patients and a thorough understanding of the emotional needs of family members.

When it's time for care

Our interdisciplinary hospice team responds to the needs and desires of the patient, the family and the physician.

After evaluating the patient's current condition, we make time to answer questions and ensure that everyone feels fully informed before we work with the physician to develop a plan of care. Nurses can help provide guidance, and our medical director is always available to provide any needed medical oversight.
