

ATTENTION PERMIT APPLICANTS

An erosion control permit and/or storm water management permit may be required from the Rock County Land Conservation Department if your project includes the following land disturbing activity:

Land filling or excavation of four thousand square feet or more (or one thousand square feet or more near a navigable body of water).

Examples include:

- Site preparation for buildings (shops, sheds, office space, etc...) not associated with one and two-family dwelling construction when a building permit has been issued;
- Construction of parking lots/areas;
- Construction of ponds.

Construction of a new access road or driveway exceeding 100 feet in length.

Disturbing 100 feet or more of road ditch or drainage ways.

Post construction sites that have land disturbance 1 acre or more, needs a Storm Water Management Permit.

Land disturbing activities associated with land divisions.
