Vermont State Law (Title 7 Chapter 3 Section 61) makes it very clear that alcoholic beverages may not be sold or provided to others by a private individual unless it is in their own private dwelling. The only legal way to have alcoholic beverages at a Community Center event is to have a "Bring your own beverage" (BYOB) party, or to hire a caterer with a first class liquor license.

BYOB means just that - each individual must bring their own alcoholic beverages - no extra for sharing. No kegs of beer or casks of wine are allowed because no one individual could safely consume that amount of alcohol. Individuals may not by law share alcoholic beverages they have brought in a facility that is not their own personal dwelling. The law is very clear on these issues.

The local liquor control inspector and the Town Constables will be notified of events with alcohol scheduled for the Community Center. The Town of Tinmouth reserves the right to allow access to the party to any local or state official for purposes of ensuring that the liquor control laws are being followed.
