

Malala Yousafzai

A Fight for Education for Girls

Malala Yousafzai is a courageous young woman known for her public support for girls' education. Born in 1997 in Mingora, a town in the Swat Valley of northern Pakistan, Malala grew up in a region where girls' education faced a lot of challenges. Her father, Ziauddin Yousafzai, ran a school and was a passionate advocate for education, believing that everyone, regardless of gender, deserved the right to learn. Influenced by her father's values, Malala developed a strong belief in the power of education.

At the age of 12, Malala began writing a blog under a different name for the BBC Urdu. This blog detailed the difficulties she and other girls faced in attending school due to the ongoing conflict in her area and the threats from the Taliban, a militant group opposed to girls' education. Through her writing, Malala highlighted the obstacles that girls encountered in accessing education, drawing international attention to their plight.

In October 2012, Malala's actions put her life at great risk. She was shot in the head by a Taliban gunman while riding a school bus home. The attack was meant to silence her, but instead, it amplified her message. Following the shooting, Malala was flown to the UK for treatment, where she faced a long recovery. Despite her severe injuries, Malala's voice only grew stronger. She spoke at global events, appeared on television, and used social media to share her story. She co-authored her autobiography, "I Am Malala," and continued to advocate for girls' education, using her platform to inspire millions around the world to fight for their right to learn.

Malala's remarkable recovery and resilience turned her into a global symbol of the fight for education and women's rights. In 2013, she gave a powerful speech at the United Nations asking for education for all children, regardless of their gender. In her speech, Malala talked about the importance of books and pens as the most powerful weapons against violence and ignorance. Her words got worldwide praise and made people aware of the importance of education as a basic human right. In 2014, at the age of 17, Malala was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize, the youngest-ever recipient of this prestigious award.

Through the Malala Fund, an organisation she co-founded, Malala has continued to champion education for girls in underprivileged regions around the world. The Malala Fund works to provide educational opportunities and support to girls facing barriers to education, aiming to break down the obstacles that prevent them from learning and achieving their full potential.

Malala Yousafzai's legacy is a testament to the power of bravery, perseverance, and the belief in the transformative power of education. Her story illustrates how one person's voice can create a powerful impact, inspiring others to stand up for their rights and work towards positive change. Malala's dedication to education continues to inspire people globally, reminding us of the importance of fighting for what we believe in and striving to make a difference.

1. Why did Malala Yousafzai start writing a blog, and what was it about?
2. What happened to Malala in 2012, and how did it change her life?
3. How did Malala continue to speak up for education after she got better?
4. Why was Malala's speech at the United Nations in 2013 important?
5. How does Malala's story encourage people to support education and speak up for their rights?

Use the dictionary  to find the meanings of these words and then use them in a sentence.

Word	Definition
Courageous
Advocate
Militant
Highlighted
Amplified
Resilience

Word	Use it in a sentence
Courageous
Advocate
Militant
Highlighted
Amplified
Resilience

If you would like different questions or words to define, then use these next two pages to create your own. Use Split and Merge to make your perfect resource.

Don't forget you could also as Questions AI to write questions for you based on the reading comprehension.

Use the dictionary  to find the meanings of these words and then use them in a sentence.

Word	Definition

Word	Use it in a sentence

Name: _____ Date: _____

Malala Yousafzai

Use the Voice Comment Tool  to explain the following: Name, Date of Birth and Date of Death.

Use the Media Tool  to insert an image of Malala.

Use the Media Tool  to insert a YouTube video about Malala.

Use the Text Tool  to provide four facts about her life and background.

Why do we celebrate her?

Famous Quote:

Why did you choose to research Malala?

Create a timeline of Marie Curie's life

Who or what influenced her in her life and work?

How is she remembered or thought of today?