Kienbaum on top of two recent consulting rankings

Kienbaum ranked as the best consultants for executive search, organization, and HR consulting

Gummersbach, 3 May 2016 Two industry rankings recognize Kienbaum as the leading provider for HR and organizational consulting services: This year's consulting industry report by brand eins Wissen and Statista places Kienbaum at the first place for HR consulting and organization, while Kienbaum also defends last year's top spot as the best executive search provider in the ranking of FOCUS Spezial.

Jochen Kienbaum, Chairman of the Executive Board of Kienbaum Consultants International, has reason to celebrate: "These top results show us: Our competitors and our clients know what makes us unique and what our special strengths are. People and organization are the key success factors for private enterprises and public institutions alike – and these are the two categories that our Kienbaum consulting concept revolves around."

The business magazine brand eins Wissen teamed up with the statistics portal Statista for the third run of its detailed check-up of the consultancy industry in Germany. For the purpose, they asked about 1,500 executives of large consulting businesses and approx. 1,500 clients which consultants they would recommend, distinguishing between different sectors of industry and consulting services.

FOCUS and Statista spoke to just under 3,000 HR managers and candidates about their experiences with HR consultancies (FOCUS Spezial Issue 5/2016).
