Hanlons Traineeship Programme

A better way to live & learn.

Kick start your career with a traineeship in Engineering/Surveying! This is the perfect opportunity for a current engineering/surveying student to get paid while they study and gain valuable experience in a leading regional surveying and engineering firm.

- Earn while you learn and kick start your career!
- Attractive benefits including part-reimbursed tuition fees
- Gain valuable on-the-job experience with our experienced team

Located half way between Brisbane and Sydney, the New England region of NSW boasts the best of urban bustle and rural quiet. It offers that true sense of community, natural beauty, and enviable lifestyle only rural/regional living can offer. At Hanlons, we strive to make regional communities a better place to live. That's our vision. This is your chance to be a part of it.

About the role

Under the guidance of experienced engineers and surveyors, the Trainee will have the opportunity to develop the necessary skills and experience.

Salary for this position will be dependent on the Trainees current level of study and will be negotiated per applicant.

Attractive benefits of traineeship include:

- 50% of tuition fees will be refunded upon successful completion of subjects
- Flexible working arrangements around your study – up to 7 hours per week
- Exam and study leave
- Salary progression throughout the traineeship
- Gain experience while you study!

About You

You will be currently enrolled in a Surveying or Engineering degree course, and have a keen interest in gaining on-the-job experience in Surveying/Engineering.

You will have basic knowledge of the surveying and engineering industry, as well as a high level of oral and written communication skills. You will enjoy mathematics, the outdoors and working in a diverse team environment.

If this sounds like you, apply now!
