with the underpinning skills they need to build their confidence, unlock potential and seize opportunities to get involved in our community, gain meaningful employment and achieve career goals.

Trainee, Gabby with her Trainer Assessor Julie at Tamworth Community College.

From Uncertainty to University, with TCC

There's an undeniable power in a story of transformation, resilience, and success—a story like Gabby Siddons'. After completing Year 12, uncertainty loomed large over Gabby's path forward. With aspirations clouded by indecision, she considered a gap year as the next step. Little did she know that employment at Parry Logistics and a fortuitous partnership with Tamworth Community College (TCC) would reshape her educational journey.

"I was unsure of what to do after leaving school," Gabby shares. "But the Certificate III in Business Administration at TCC turned out to be much better than just completing Year 12. It was the stepping stone I needed."

With guidance from TCCs approachable and knowledgeable trainers, whom Gabby fondly describes as "friends who help you," she unearthed a hidden passion for payroll—a segment of the course that not only piqued her interest but also charted a clear course for her career. Today, Gabby proudly processes payroll in her workplace along with other tasks, showcasing skills that have earned her employer's appreciation and support.

Gabby's dedication never wavered despite her initial reservations about subjects like Workplace Health and Safety (WHS). Her fortnightly sessions at TCC turned into seeds of confidence, blossoming into her bold decision to pursue an Accounting degree at Charles Sturt University.

Gabby's trainer, Julie Bevvitt, reflects on her trajectory with admiration: "Gabby's hard work radiated in her assignments and eagerness to apply what she learned. Observing her growth and enthusiasm for her new responsibilities was a gratifying experience for all of us at TCC."

Gabby's experience is a testament to TCC's commitment to nurturing talent and facilitating transitions—creating pathways to further employment, education, and opportunities. The opportunity to earn while learning adds a sweetener to the pot. 'TCC is not just a cost-effective alternative to university; it equips you with skills that truly make a difference in a flexible way,' Gabby affirms.

Her final message to those standing at life's crossroads resonates with genuine endorsement: "If you're uncertain about your future after Year 12, you can't go wrong with a traineeship completed in partnership with Tamworth Community College."

WorkForce Assist

Being a Jobseeker in a competitive market Order (WDO) isn't easy. We can assist you in updating or formalising your existing skills or developing new ones to get you into work whilst helping you meet or exceed your points targets to keep on track with your Workforce Australia obligations.

You can earn 20 points for getting a work-related licence, like a white card. You can report the completion of a work-related licence by updating your profile.

By enrolling in one of our eligible courses, you can earn:

- 20 points per week if your contact hours are over 15 hours each week, or full-time study.
- 15 points per week if your contact hours are 15 hours or less each week, or part-time study.

If you wish to undertake longer, formal education and training, you should check your eligibility for student payments with Centrelink.

Work and Development Order (WDO)

Can't Pay Your Fines?

A Work and Development Order allows you to clear or pay off your fine through approved activities such as:

- unpaid or volunteer work,
- education or life skills courses,
- medical, mental health or drug and alcohol treatment,
- or financial counselling.

We can help you to find an 'approved sponsor organisation' to support your application.

Once you have a WDO, we offer courses that are approved WDO activities. Educational, vocational or life skills courses can reduce your fines by $50 per hour or $350 per 7-hour day.

A WDO can reduce your fines by up to $1000 a month!

MEET TROY

Certificate I in Access to Vocational Pathways

After months of dedicated study, Troy has successfully completed a full qualification in Certificate I in Access to Vocational Pathways.

Motivated by a desire to improve his reading and writing skills, Troy decided to return to education, marking his first time in a classroom in more than a decade. "I came to the College to improve my reading and writing so that I would get a car licence. I also think that improving my reading, writing and maths will help me get a better job," he shared.

Despite some nerves, Troy found the friendly atmosphere at TCC made his return to studying a happy experience. "I have enjoyed the lessons and the people have been supportive and friendly," he noted.

Every Tuesday at 10 am, Troy arrives at the College, warmly greeted by friendly faces at the reception. After grabbing a coffee from the kitchen, he heads straight to the classroom, where Trainer Miles awaits. "In the past six weeks, we have focused on 10 minutes of maths before delving into other topics. Some of the work is a bit hard, some of it is easy, but I am taking it day by day and I think I am improving," Troy shared.

Encouraging others, Troy says, "Come into a local community college – they're friendly people who'll support you and help you achieve your goals." His learning journey doesn't end here; he is now gearing up to pursue a white card.

Did you know that around 44% of Australian adults lack the literacy skills required in everyday life? That three million adults, representing one-fifth of the working age population, have low literacy and/or numeracy skills?

TCC and our dedicated Language, Literacy and Numeracy (LLN) Trainers can support you in gaining the skills you need to join or advance in the workforce, participate in family and community life or undertake further study.

Generally, students are coached one-on-one or in small groups, focusing on individual support. Importantly, our Vocational Pathways qualifications and accredited short courses are fee-free or low-fee for eligible students. Call or visit the College to find out more.

Food Safety Supervisor & FSS Recertification

Food laws in NSW require businesses in the hospitality and retail food service sectors that process or sell food at the retail level, to appoint at least one trained Food Safety Supervisor (FSS).

This course is designed for students who have been working in the hospitality or retail food sectors and have successfully completed the Food Handling Level 1 course and hold SITXFSA001 Use hygienic practices for food safety, or SIRRFA001 Handle food safely in a retail environment, and also for students who already hold a FSS certificate that is due to expire.

This course will equip students with the skills and knowledge in the key focus areas of food handling, cleaning and sanitising, safe egg handling and allergen management.

When a FSS holder's certification expires, a food business has 30 days to ensure:

- The FSS renews their training within 30 working days.
- Another FSS with a current qualification is appointed.

Upon successful completion of assessment task(s) students will be awarded a Statement of Attainment for the unit: SITXFSA006 Participate in safe food handling practices.

Certificates are valid for 5 years.

CUSTOMISED TRAINING SOLUTIONS FOR YOUR BUSINESS

At Tamworth Community College, we understand the importance of providing customised training solutions to meet the unique needs of different industries. We were thrilled to collaborate with BMR Quarries and Roadwork Industries to develop a specialised Safe Work Near Powerlines course.

Our experienced trainers worked closely with BMR Quarries to identify the specific hazards and challenges their employees face when working near powerlines. By tailoring the course content to address these specific concerns, we were able to provide a comprehensive training program that focused on the safety protocols and best practices necessary to mitigate risks in this particular industry.

The custom course covered a range of topics, including identifying powerline hazards, understanding electrical safety principles, implementing effective communication strategies, and developing emergency response plans. Through a combination of theoretical knowledge and practical exercises, participants gained the skills and confidence needed to navigate their work environment safely.

We are proud to have been able to deliver this custom training program to BMR Quarries and Roadwork Industries. By investing in the safety and professional development of their employees, they have demonstrated their commitment to creating a secure work environment.

If your organisation has specific training needs, reach out to TCC. Our team of experts is dedicated to designing and delivering customised training solutions that meet your industry's unique requirements. Together, we can ensure the safety and success of your workforce.

We recently joined Bath Stewart Associates to deliver First Aid training to their staff. Here's what they had to say: "A massive thank you to the team at Tamworth Community College for delivering our annual First Aid Course. We really appreciated your insight around small business funding which allowed us to access this for our course. Would recommend to anyone! Thanks again!" - Helen

TRAINEESHIPS

We provide traineeships in administration, business, human resources, management and WHS, to suit a wide range of workplaces and individuals.

Trainees have the option to study qualifications from Certificate II to Diploma level, so there is a traineeship to suit every skill level.

Traineeships are an ideal way to provide employees with opportunities to learn the skills required within industry, formalise existing skills and combine the flexible delivery of nationally recognised training with everyday work. Trainees earn a salary while they learn.

Traineeships can be undertaken part-time or full-time depending on what best suits your workplace and your employee, and generally take 1 - 2 years to complete. Trainees can elect the qualification and the units that are relevant to their needs and interests to ensure they're getting the most out of their training. Trainees will complete a combination of on the job training, assessments and skills recognition under the support and guidance of their dedicated trainer. Both school-based and work-based traineeships are available.

"I was first introduced to Tamworth Community College when I commenced a School Based Traineeship in Year 11. Through this school-based traineeship, I undertook a Certificate III in Business with the College, which assisted me immensely in furthering not just my career skills but also my interpersonal skills.

I found myself significantly more equipped to take on problems and present myself as a valuable member of a work team, and these skills gained also gave me practical solutions to other aspects of my life."

Older Person's Mental Health First Aid

Good mental health is an important factor in facilitating senior Australians to live full, active and healthy lives. In older age, mental illnesses can particularly occur in association with physical illnesses, loss of independence, bereavement and brain changes that occur with ageing. Confusion and dementia are much more common in older people, but they are not a normal part of ageing.

This course is designed for families and carers assisting people aged 65+, with an aim to train the community to respond appropriately as early as possible to older people developing mental health problems, rather than wait for a mental health crisis before taking action.

Requirements: Students must provide proof of age 18+.

Italian Cooking - Gnocchi Making

Making Gnocchi by hand is a most rewarding experience for you, as the person making this wonderful traditional Italian dish, and your family and dinner guests who will be enthralled by your skills, developed with a little ongoing practice.

Once you've learned the basics, you can experiment with different sauces or try flavouring your Gnocchi with other flavoured ingredients.

In class, we will make the traditional Gnocchi Matriciana. The Gnocchi is made from potato, flour, butter and eggs, hand-rolled to create the traditional shape. We will make, from scratch, an authentic Italian sauce using fresh tomato, Guanciale (Smoked Pork), garlic, chilli and Parmesan cheese.

During the lesson, you will assist our Chef in making the Gnocchi and the sauce. Then sit down to eat and experience these wonderful authentic Italian flavours with a glass of Chianti and your new culinary friends.
