What is Avandra

AI Powered Trip Planner, assist users in creating personalized itineraries for their trips.

Why we need it!

Trip planners do exist but they provide generic information and the user does all the planning. However Avandra will be personalized AI generated trip planner for each individual. It will assist users based on their personal choices and desires, along with considering real time factors like weather, online reviews etc.

How it works

It will leverage natural language processing and machine learning algorithms, AI will understand and interpret user queries to provide accurate and relevant recommendations.

What will Avandra do ?

It will boast an array of features and capabilities designed to enhance the travel planning experience. Typically offer intelligent itinerary creation, suggesting optimal routes, accommodations, attractions, restaurants, and activities based on user preferences. Factors considered such as weather, budget, travel dates, location, and personal interests to generate highly customized recommendations.
