BACKGROUND

We are the co-hosts of the Amata World Podcast.
We came into the AI challenge with one question in mind, how can we make our lives easier using AI?

PROBLEMS

Standing out on the internet is difficult. Whether it is your website or social media account, it's hard to stay ahead when the competition is fierce.

Smaller projects tend to be snuffed out simply because they don't have the time or resources to dedicate to growing an audience

GOALS

- We want it to produce content from our audio transcriptions that will save us hours of editing
- We don't want to commit to expensive infrastructure for what is essentially a side project

SOLUTION

- PoMAIA (Podcast Marketing AI Assistant) is our marketing assistant that runs entirely in the browser. It can take our audio transcriptions and produce content which lets us plug into our social media campaigns, saving us hours of work

THE FUTURE

PoMAIA is a tool that is already proving invaluable to us. We are committed to pursuing this project further. We envision a number of features will make this even more useful:

- Built-in audio transcription tools
- Audio + Video clip generation for social media posts
- Social media integration for one-click scheduling + posting

We hope this project would transform our current audio content library into something that audiences can enjoy in different forms
