Dear Na, Evtach Israel

Dear Shalom:

Forgive us for the delay in answering your letter. It took your letter about two weeks or more to get to us and, with our own rush at this season, the present response is naturally delayed.

Mindy and I are really delighted at the progress you are making, and the personal attention you are getting from the na'el elon.

For your sake, I hope you will be learning something other than lofba leon this term. But even if so, I am sure that la mazzanot m'et la elot p' m'et

I am sorry that I have to be so brief, but you know what na'el elon is for a practicing rabbi. As a matter of fact, one of my colleagues translated that term not as "days of awe" but as "the awful days"...

I have been receiving wonderful reports about you from the Millers, from Dov, and from all your correspondents here in the States.

Please keep in touch and let me know how you are progressing. Meanwhile, and Mindy and the children join me in sending our good wishes to you, for a year of health and satisfaction and especially good progress in na'el elon.

Please do me a favor and convey our personal wishes for a na'el elon to the na'el elon, to Eli Klein and to the friends of Manny Adler.

Cordially,

RABBI NORMAN LAMM
