New York, New York

Dear Reb Norman:

Along with so many others who form your company of admirers, I am delighted over the exciting news of Yeshiva University's decision. It's a courageous and wise action - courageous because there no doubt was an easier (though less wise) course to take and it is wise, well, because it is right.

As for you, your challenge just begins. I won't burden you with gratuitous advice which cannot affect either your thinking or Y.U.'s direction. Maybe I'll write a column after the summer. In any event, along with my best wishes, elation, etc., you have my sincere willingness to be of help to you as you take the leadership of a great and vital institution of American Jewish life.

Sincerely,

Marvin Schick
